Miss Jennie Collins, so well known in connection with Boffin's Bower, in great 40 foot well at the Adrian water works Boston, has just sent out her thirteenth annual report. She gives many pitiful instances of the straits to which working women are reduced by the keen competition of trade, which keep wages down. In the course of the past year, she says, five young women in whom she was particularly interested died of consumption, and one committed suicide by drowning all under twenty.

A large frame barn belonging to Wesley J. Post, in township of Argentine, Genesee county, burned recently. It contained 300 bushels of wheat, a quantity of oats and have and most of the implements of the farm. It is supposed to have been fired by some tramp down. It would be impossible for them to get twenty-one of the plainest meals for less than three dollars, consequently they had to resort to one meal, or a meal and a half, a day." Exhaustion and consumption soon followed. One item in the work of Boffin's Bower shows its usefulness to this unfortunate class. For nine years it has furnished free dinners to women out of employment during the hard part of the winter. During the past year 3,150 meals were furnished, and in many cases this dinner was the only meal they had during

An intimate personal friend of Senator Anthony visited Washington recently. He said that the Senator was looking forward with some impatience to the reassembling of Congress, when he hopes to be able to take his seat in the Senate Chamber, where for a quarter of a century he has been a familiar figure. "I want to go to Washington and die in the harness," it is said, has been a frequent remark of Mr. Anthony since he rallied from his severe illness of last summer. "While Senator Anthony is likely to die suddenly any day," said his friend, "it is fairly probable that his desire to come to Washington and enter formally upon his fifth term of service will be gratified. His friends all hope so and he seems to expect it. There is no man in the Senate now who was a member of it when he wassworn, March 4, 1859, and of the eight Senators who began their first term of service on that day, he and Willard Saulsbury, of Deleware, are the only survivors. Robert Toombs and James Chesnut, jr., of South Carolina, who are both living, were sworn in on the same day, but Toombs had served one term of six years and Chesnut had already served one year under an appointment from the Governor of South Carolina. Judah P. Benjamin also is yet living and he began a new term in the Senate, March , 1859, but was not sworn until the folowing day. He was first elected for the term which he began March 4, 1853. The King of Siam, who is only a boy of twenty years, has allowed his finger nails, it is said, to grow until they are more than a foot in length. This deformity reduces the monarch to a state of absolute helplessness, and for that reason, probably, the Siamese regard long nails as one of the peculiar attributes of sovereignty.

A. V. Monroe, a well-to-do farmer of Cooper township, Kalamazoo county, recently committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor at his residence in the presence of his family. It was a most ghastly spectacle. He went to the buttery, got up on a chair, reached for the razor, took it in his left hand and durpose that the neck was almost severed from his body, the blade cracking against the bone. Then he got down and ran about the room, a great stream of blood spurting out, and finally he fell exhausted and died before his horror stricken family. He has before had symptoms of insanity, and once attempted to drown himself. His family are all grown up. He was one of the earliest settlers of

For President in 1884. GEN. WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK.

THE leaders and organs of the republi can party are fond of showing wherein the grand old party has reformed itself; but the masses of the party are fast coming to conclusion that it has not done and never can do what no party ever accomplished. It will improve and repent out of power and in sackcloth and ashes. Its abuses will be reformed only when another party takes its place. For all the republican talk about civil service reform during Grant's two terms, with Grant as its advocate theoretically while practically he was debauching the service, what did it accomplish? After Hayes' promises of reform in the civil service, and orders issued only to be violated, what reforms were accomplished? None, as everybody knows. In Garfield's brief term Conkling's partisans were ousted to give way to those of Blaine. The claim that the party has instituted reforms, only means, when sifted, that criminality has become so open and flagrant that it can not be ignored. Dismissals follow, but new disclosures follow these, and the public is continually advised of enough to show that more remains behind. Grantism was followed by Hayes and fraud, by the reward of the vile tools by which the fraud was consummated and the induction into office of the worst set of rogues that ever disgraced the civil service of any counthat the first time I am sent to the legistry, the growth of the star route ring to such proportions that it was able to se- to go in for the "speedy repeal" of this cure entire control of the canvass of 1880 and to entangle into its toils the Editor, at the absurdity of this idea, for candidate for president and vice president; whether with knowledge of the full measure of its criminality, is of no consequence. Bad as was the political ring which controlled Grant and intellect, and good legislative abiliand his administration, it was at least political and looked better. Bad as was the Zack Chandler rule which ushered in Hayes, and detestible as was the corrupt carpet bag ring that demanded and received payment for its services, it was at least, low and sordid as it was, a ring of political adventurers. The worst state was reached when a low, sordid, and corrupt gang of contractors secured control of what was left of a great party. Such was the end of reform within the

CROUP, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

, Healthy People Sometimes Laugh At the sufferings of dyspeptics, and say that their pains and distresses are imaginary. This is not meant for cruelty, but it is cruelty, all the same. A person who has a crooked foot, or a wounded hand, or a sightless eye, calls forth sympathy by the exhibition of the defective member. If the dyspeptics sufferer's stomach could be placed on exhibition, the cause of his distress would be apparent.

The man with a troublesome stomach often suffers quite as much as the man with a broken leg, but is far less likely to receive sympathy. Sympathy is good for sufferers, as far as it goes. But Brown's Iron Bitters is better, for it strikes at the root of these troubles, and cures disease. Disappointed dyspeptics, weary of having tried many experiments in seeking cure, will do well to make one fair trial of Brown's Iron Bitters, and report the result. That this well-tried family medicine will thus diminish the quantity of human suffering is an established fact.

WOLCOTT, N. Y., Aug. 2, 1882.

Gentlemen—I have been a great sufferer with rheumatiism and constipation; have been almost helpless and unable to dress myself alone. I, like thousands of others, tried many remedies I had seen largely advertised, in the hope that I might find some relief, but never until I used the Rheumatic Syrup did I find anything that seemed to hitmy case in the least, and I confess that when I did finally consent to try your remedy I had no faith at all in its merits, but I was very happily disappointed. To-day I am entirely free from pain, and can dress myself alone, and can get around better than I have for a long time, and I have used the medicine less than four weeks, and can irrubfully through my system for the pain.

An Open Secret. The fact is well understood that the MEXICAN MUS-TANG LINIMENT is by far the best external known for man or beast. The reason why becomes an "open secret" when we explain that "Mustang" penetrates skin, flesh and muscle to the very bone, removing all disease and soreness. No other liniment does this, hence none other is so largely used or does such worlds of good.
