TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

"ALL-wooL" blankets, according to The Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette, are and support of our best citizens." often mainly composed of hair that once pranced over the praries on the flanks of a long-horned Texas steer. The hair having been taken from the hides and thoroughly cleaned, is then mixed with enough wool of a low grade to enable the manufacturer to card it and work it into blankets and rough cloth. The test, it is said, is very simple: when short hairs can be pulled out of an "all-wool" blanket probably threefourths of it is cow's wool.

"I am willing to help you," the professor said, with chilling courtesy, but of course, you know that my time is fully occupied, and that I can't rive special attention to every student. What is your difficulty?"

The student stated what had perplexed him. "Oh, that's nothing!" answered the professor. You don't need my help to get out of that difficulty. Still, when you really need assistance, I will cheerfully give it to you. But you won't forget that my time is valuable."

The fire broke out under the stairway of the second floor cutting off escape, as the fire spread rapidly. The persons on the second floor escaped with difficulty.

The student bowed his thanks and departed, without receiving the bely he eally needed. The icy end of the plank was held out to him. From that day he bitterly, though unjustly, classed all the professors together, as cold and unsympathetic. He carried this prejudice through his college course, because he had been denied a little timely sympathy.

and artificial. The substance and spirit of the recent an endments to the Constitution have been sacr acid by ingentious verbal criticism. Constitutional provisions, adopted in the interest of liberty and for the purpose of securing, through national legislation, if need be, the rights belonging to American citizenship have been so construed as to defeat the ends the people desired to accomplish, which they at eople destred to accomplish, which they at-entied to accomplish, and which they suppos-d they had accomplished by changes in their and mental law. The court has departed from fund imental law. The court has departed from the familiar rule requiring in the interpretation of constitutional provisions that full effect be given the intent with which they were adopted. The power conferred by the thirteenth amendment does not rest upon implication or inference, and the power to enforce it by appropriate legislation was expressly granted. Congress therefore may enact laws to protect the colored people against deprivation on account of their race of any civil rights enjoyed by other free men in the same State, and such legislation may be, if of a direct and primary character, operative upon the States, primary character, operative upon the States, their officers and agents, and upon those wield-ing power under the State. ne entire roof, inside walls, iron and stone olumns of the new south wing of the capitol at Madison, Wis, fell in the other afternoon, burying a large number of workmen in the ruins. The cause of the terrible accident is somewhat uncertain, but the most plausible theory is that the heavy iron pillars supporting the roof of the second story baleony sunk into the plank on which they rested, thus pulling the sound wall outward which in turn caused the roof of the entire wing to cave in. These columns were made of large pieces of boiler iron rolled into circular form, stove pipe fashion, the jointures not being belted together. THE MURDERER'S FATE. Jacob Nelling, the murderer of Ada Atkin-son, was taken from the jail at Fowler, Ind., the other night, placed in a carriage, and driven to a spot about a quarter of a mile from the scene of his horrible crime. After being re-noved from the vehicle he was told that he must die. He was given five minutes in which must one. He was given nive minutes in which to make a confession, but stolidly refused to do so, saying that as he had already acknowledged committing the murder, it was unnecessary to repeat the former story. A rope was quickly thrown over a limb of a large oak tree, and the doomed man escorted beneath it. Auother attempt to make him recite the story of the murder was reasonable. he murder was rewarded by a sucer from the defiant man. Two men then stepped forward and placed the noose around the old man's neck In doing this the collar which he wore was torn off. Fifty hardy farmers then grasped the rope and the body of Jacob Nelling swayed in the night air.

The report sent forth regarding the anti-con federation or anti-Canadian movement in Mani-toba has very little fact for foundation. A strong feeling of hostility exists throughout the country to the monopoly provision of the Canadian Pacific railway charter. Since the farmers have commenced to market grain they are largely persuaded that the transportation rates charged are excessive, and that the railway favors one large milling firm in various ways. TEMPERANCE TALK

The Pope-Conway Controvesy.

A Little of Everything Relating to the Question,

And a Ceneral Report of the Week's Doings. An immense congregation was present at the M. E. church Sunday evening, having been called together more out of a morbid curiosity to hear how the Rev. R. B. Pope would treat the temperance question, after having invited the saloon men out to hear him. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Stalker of Pontiac, which was in strong contrast with the sentiments afterwards advanced. Mr. Pope said he had for years longed to speak on an occasion like the one which had called so many together. I believe in fair play, said the speaker, and you like to hear an honest man state his honest convictions. When I go to the Catholic church I like to hear catholicism talked when I go the Baptist church I love to hear the splashing of the waters; when I go to the Congregational church I like Arbor, appeared in the Detroit Evening to hear their doctrine preached, and News Tuesday: when I go to the Unitarian church I like to hear preached their creed (if they have any). I am here in behalf of decency, to tions of the earth. Mahomed denied his after his speech, to defend himself. It owe to them for their assistance. Give in the same time, 120,000 persons, and ter with interest. worse than this 240,000 innocents are murdered every year. In view of these startling facts is it not time that some man should speak? In referring to the prohibition party he said he respected men who were conscientious, but there were a great many who showed more zeal than charity. He couldn't see the propriety of denouncing men who would not vote as they did. No man believes in the total abolition of the liquor business von believe in regulating it. Under what restrictions is the question which presents itself? As for me I favor local option and high taxation—as heavy a tax as can be put upon it.

But somehow his table had with an air that betokened no acquaintance with "rules," when Mr. Rush, whose heart had been a trifle softened by memories of a certain grave in Mount Auburn which would be decorated that day, handed out three trade dollars, and in ten minutes Molly was in the Common, "with all the world before her where to choose." Molly did some hard thinking. "There's one thing sure," she thought "I won't tend store again, and I won't sew for a living, and I won't be cooped up in a shop." The chances are narrowing fast. Suddenly came an idea.
"I'll do it," said Molly; and what it was, the Advertiser told next morning: WANTED, by an American girl, who is a good plain cook, a situation to do housework in a small family. Country preferred. Address M. P., Advertiser office, Boston.

Well, the answers fairly poured in. It seemed as though all womankind had been waiting for "an American girl who is a good plain cook;" but Molly resolved to be critical, and waited. In the meantime, seeing that a way was open, she dressed herself in her best and went shopping. She chose to pat-ronize Rush & Crush, where her high and mighty airs gave unbounded satisfaction to the clerks, with whom she was a favorite. woman who touched the Savior's garments, Mr. Talmage said: "In the midst of the crowd was a very sick woman, Martha, or Veronica, I do not know which her name was. She had been sick for twelve years, and had tried all sorts of remedies; the with medicines; I suppose she had been blistered from head to foot, had tried the compress, drank decoctions of astringent herbs, been mauled, backed, cut and lacerated, until she was nearly dead. Her doctors' bills had run up frightfully, she had paid money for medicine, attendance and hygenie apparatus till her purse was exhausted as well as her body. With face distorted with suffering, biting her lips to repress her pain, and was only able to stand because the crowd kept her up, she just touched the blue fringe of Christ's outer garment. Quick as an electric shock a thrill of robust, rubicund health went back through her exhausted system over the suspension bridge of nerves | relief and finally cure you. and through the tunnel of bones. Christ recognized somehow that magnetism and healthful influence had shot out of him.

"In this account St. Mark gives us a dramatization of the Gospel. As infectious diseases are spread by clothing, garments may be surcharged with health and so filled with physical magnetism that it permeates all of a robe down to the fringe, and maybe transmitted to others. A Report by the Board of Utah Commissioners. The annual report of the board of

Utah commissioners has been submitted to the Secretary of the Interior. After making a statement of the former legislation of Congress in relation to bigamy or polygamy, they say the duties of the commission appertain only to matters of registration and election and eligibility to office, while the punishment of the crime of polygamy is left as under the former law to the courts of justice. Under the anti-polygamy act the commission had good success at the general election in August 1883, in excluding polygamists from the polls, and as far as advised very few if any illegal votes have been cast in Utah since the commission took charge of registrations | Canada, avers that St. Jacob's Oil will and elections in August 1882. The enforcement of the present law against the 12,000 polygamists who have been mark every time. excluded from the polis shows that the act has been fully and successfully ex-ecuted. It is thought that discrimination between those Mormons who practice polygamy and those who do not, while not likely to have much effect upon the elderly men who already have a plurality of wives and several here, one in page 1. fect upon the elderly men who already have a plurality of wives and several families must have great weight with young men of the Territory, many of whom are ambitious and aspiring, and whom are ambitious and aspiring, and would not like voluntarily to embrace political ostracism. The very existence of a law disfranchising polygamists must tend to destroy their influence, day a distance of a mile and a half. Respectfully whenever it is understood that it is to be permanent discrimination, The fact also that it will be necessary to the preservation of the political influence of the "people's party" (as the Mormons style themselves), to have a large body of their members who are not polygamists, must tend in time to weaken the practice of polygamy; for every married Mormon who takes but one plural wife loses three votes for his party; his own and those of his two wives (woman suffrage being established by law in Utah)

Concerning plurality of wives, the report says that a doctrine and practice the measure of manhood; scholarship, so odious throughout Christendom save by accident, is never the measure should have been upheld so many years of a man's power. against the laws of Congress and the entiment of the civilized world is one of the marvels of the nineteenth century and can be scarcely appreciated even by those familiar with the world's history in relation to the difficulties of governmental control or suppression of religious fanaticism. Certainly no government can permit a violation of the laws under the guise of religious freedom, and while Congress may not legislate as to the mere matter of opinion, late as to the mere matter of opinion, 'Brown's Iron Bitters is the best medicine i yet it may denounce and punish as the world and is effecting miraculous cures. erimes those actions which are in violation of the social duties or subversive of good order. The right of Congress to suppress this great evil is undoubted. It is equally plain that the dignity and good name of this great government among the nations of the earth demand such Congressional action as shall effectually eliminate this national dis-

The commission renews the recommendations contained in the report of November 17, 1882, notably the one regarding the enactment of a marriage law by Congress declaring all future marriages in the territory null and void unless contracted and evidenced in the manner provided by the act. If the next legislature shall fail to adopt measures in conformity with the provisions of the act of 1882 for the suppression of polygamy, the commission prepared to recommend, and Congress certainly will not delay the adoption of, nost stringent measures compatible with the limitations of the Constitution that may be considered necessary for the suppression of this great evil. The report refers to the various municipal elections, and says the most im-883. The total number of votes cas in this contest was 21,969, against 27,-923 on the last November election. The principal falling off was on the part of the "Gentiles," or "Liberal party. November the total vote of the People's (or Mormon) party was 23,039; Liberal, 4,884. In August, 1883, the vote of the People's party was 20,508; Liberal, 1,453, from which it appears that large numbers of the Liberals refrained from voting, a fact much to be regretted for the reason that it is believed that by proper effort and good management, one or more non-Mormons might have been elected to the Legislative Assembly who would have an opportunity of putting the majority on record. In conclusion the commission say that recently some ten suits were instituted in the Third District Court of Utah by Mormous against members of this commission, claiming that they had been unjustly deprived of the right to register and vote. These are understood to be test cases, designed to contest the constitutionality of the "Edmunds act" as well as the legal construction which we put upon its pro-visions. These suits are still undecided and are likely to be appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States

It has been asserted that polygamic marriages have increased since the passage of the Edmurds act. On the contrary, we have the opinions of many Mormons and non-Mormons that they have comparatively decreased since the passage of said act. After diligent in-quiry we believe the latter conclusion to be correct. But the Utah Legislature will have an opportunity of satisfying the country on this particular subject by passing such a public marriage act as that which we have suggested to congress. By this and such other legislation as we have indicated shelves of her humble home were filled they will give the government assurance of their loyalty and patriotism and avert a contest that cannot but result in their discomfiture. A MUSICAL INSTRUMEN that will play any tune, and that any one, even a child, can operate,

Like an Evil Spirit.

In olden times it was thought that evil spirits came in through cracks and keyholes. The generally approved way to keep them out was to plug up the keyholes and stop the cracks with cotton. Notwithstanding these preventive measures, the evil things had their own way and often came in as they pleased. So comes malaria now-a-days. We try to keep it out of the keyhole and it comes in by the crack. We stop up the crack, and lo! it comes from a leak in the plumbing, or an opening from some neglected drain, or from some unsuspected source and unguarded direction. We cannot always keep malaria out, but we can give it battle and drive its effects from our systems. If Brown's Iron Bitters is taken in time, malaria has not a ghost of a chance. This is the great family medicine. Your druggist sells it, and you ought to keep a bottle in the house. Vital Questins!!
