

Ann Arbor Democrat.

Entered as Second Class matter at the Post office at Ann Arbor, Mich.

FRIDAY..... OCTOBER 10, 1884

Democratic Nominations.

FOR PRESIDENT,
CROVER CLEVELAND,
Of New York.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
THOMAS A. HENDRICKS,
Of Indiana.

ELECTORAL TICKET.

WILLIAM B. MORAN
JOHN W. FLANDERS
HERM. ANGUS GOESCHEL
HAROLD M. ROBERTSON
ANDREW H. HARSHAW
ALFRED L. MILLARD
PHEBEAUX T. THOMAS
WILLIAM D. THOMPSON
AARON S. DICKMAN
ANDREW J. KELSEY
JOHN A. WATKINS
JOHN R. SAVAGE
WILDMAN MILLS

STATE TICKET.

For Governor—
W. B. BEGOLE, of Genesee.

For Lieutenant-Governor—
MARTIN H. MAYNARD, of Monroe.

Secretary of State—
WILLIAM SH. KEEPEARE, of Kalamazoo.

State Treasurer—
JAMES ALLEN, of Kent.

Attorney-General—
GEORGE P. SANFORD, of Ingham.

For Auditor—
FRANCIS C. COOK, of Muskegon.

For Commissioner of State Land Office—
JOHN H. DENNIS, of Barry.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—
DAVID PARSONS, of Wayne.

For Member of State Board of Education—
CHRISTIAN V. VILLENEUVE, of Ottawa.

For Representative in Congress—
NATHANIEL B. ELDREDGE.

DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATIVE TICKET.

For Senator—
DENSMORE CRAMER,
For Representative 1st district—
NATHAN E. SUTTON,
For Representative 3rd district—
EDGERTON P. HARPER.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET.

For Judge of Probate—
W. D. HARRIMAN.

For Sheriff—
W. H. WALSH.

For County Clerk—
JOHN J. ROBINSON.

For County Treasurer—
FRED C. BELSER.

For Register of Deeds—
JAMES KEARNES.

For Prosecuting Attorney—
EZRA A. NOYES.

For Clerk of Circuit Commissioners—
PATRICK K. MCKERNAN.

For Coroners—
FRANK ROSLYN.

For Clerks—
DR. J. J. SULLIVAN,
DR. CHRISTIAN KAPP.

"It is my deliberate opinion that Mr. Blaine acts as the attorney of Jay Gould. Whenever Mr. Thurman and I have settled upon legislation to bring the Pacific railroads to terms of equity with the government, up has jumped Jas. C. Blaine, musket in hand, from behind the breastworks of Gould's lobby to fire in our backs." —Senator George F. Edmunds in a letter written in 1880.

NEXT Tuesday the battle will be decided in Ohio and West Virginia.

JUDGING from the speech of people, and from newspaper reports, it is safe to say that Capt. Allen is meeting with uphill work in his district.

VOTED for a man for the senate who believes it a greater crime to wrongfully take a dollar from the public treasury, than to pay him in dividends. Such a man is D. Cramer.

VOTED for a man for the state senate who will guard the public treasury and who does not want a board of supervisors to pay him anything until he has first earned it.

GO and hear our nominee for state senator. He is able to give a reason for the hope the people have repudiated in him. D. Cramer is announced to speak in different places in the county.

AN enthusiastic gathering of democrats and independent republicans assembled in Dexter Monday night to hear D. Cramer and P. McKernan discuss the political questions of the day.

THE Germans of the county almost to a man favor the election of Fred H. Belser for county treasurer. He will receive the full strength of the democratic vote and the republicans know what that means.

THE people of Washtenaw county want a man in the senate who will intelligently examine every bill, and know what it means and what its effect will be on the public welfare, then let them be sure and vote for D. Cramer.

THE re-election of John J. Robinson to the office of county clerk will be a deserved compliment to a most deserving official. The office of clerk is the most important one in the county and it is very essential that a democrat be elected. As John has done a good deal for the party during his present term he is entitled to and should receive the unanimous support of every democrat in old Washtenaw.

AS election day draws nigh the republicans give up all hope of electing a candidate on their county ticket. At first they felt a little encouraged, hoping that there would be disaffection in the democratic ranks, but in this they are doomed to disappointment. The democracy will present a united front on the fourth of November next, which means large majorities for the national, state, congressional and county tickets.

SEVERAL hundred copies of the Irish World, which has been bought up by the Blaine managers, are gratuitously distributed to Irishmen in this county for the purpose of influencing their votes in the coming presidential election. How can they support Blaine when he has always been an enemy to their race? The effort of the World to hoodwink Irishmen, we will, opine, fall short of the mark.

JUDGES Beakes, Cheever and Harriman each received per year $1,500. Harriman received no more than his pedescors. Judge Beakes' term began 20 years ago next January and the business of the probate court is nearly one-half greater now than it was then, while the salary is no longer. The Washtenaw Post attempts to deceive its readers by making them believe that Judge Harriman has got $2,400 more pay than his predecesors, when the truth is he has received the same pay and done a great deal more work. Honest Post!

The Adrian Press says: One of our leading republicans met Mr. Allen a short time since and plumped the following questions to him:

"Are you a prohibitionist? I want it from you, for I am a republican who won't vote for any man who is a prohibitionist."

Allen promptly replied, "No sir! I am not a prohibitionist. I am a temperance republican."

We can give names if needed and if Mr. Allen denies the conversation.

Those prohibitionists who think of pasting Allen's name over that of Michener should consider his utterances.

As to the fitness of Mr. Fred H. Belser for the office of county treasurer, we quote the following from the report of the proceedings of the board of supervisors made to the January session a year ago. The report which is signed by two republicans, Lee Yost and Ben Brown and Fred A. Howlett, democrat, is as follows:

Your committee take pleasure in saying that we find the books of the treasurer neatly, and we believe, correctly kept. We doubt that a set of books can be found in this city more systematically kept than the set in the treasurer's office.

The above testimonial will have its influence at the coming election.

The Washtenaw Post last week under cover of a pretended correspondent attacks Harriman's religion. That false and slanderous game was tried eight years ago by a certain Ann Arbor paper, and the result was to the great disgust of that paper, that Harriman was triumphantly elected. The old know nothing days when a respectable citizen could be safely attacked for his nationality or his religion has passed away. The Washtenaw Post will not succeed in mixing the subject of religion with the politics of Washtenaw county this time to serve its meercenary and wicked purposes. The citizen is responsible to God for his religion, not to the Washtenaw Post.

MR. HONEY is none the worse for holding the postoffice in Dexter for 16 years in succession. Four full presidential terms. But it is little funny for his supporters to object to Harriman for being nominated by his party for a third term. But of course a fourth term is all right for republican postmasters, republican judges, republican supervisors, republican senators, republican justices of the peace, but it is a terrible thing for the democracy to nominate a democrat for a third term. The republicans elected Edwin Willets to congress from this district a third term. Did you hear the republicans now howling against a third term for Harriman object to Willets on account of a third term? Not much. Consistent and disinterested patriots these are!

HARRIMAN's salary as judge of probate—the same that Judges Beakes and Cheever received—$1,500 per year was ordered paid by the board of supervisors, first unanimously, then when the roll was less than one-fifth of the cost of arranging the papers in the clerk's office, a job which cost the county more than $1,600, but the work in the clerks office was done by a republican, one of the pets of the Post. It is conceded by those who know that the probate office of Washtenaw county is in better condition than any probate office in the state. The cases are so arranged that in one moment you can find the papers in any estate that has been settled in the last fifty years. Several other counties have adopted the system which Harriman adopted here. When the people remember that the papers in the probate office involve millions of dollars and affect the title to two-thirds of the real estate in the county, they will see the wisdom of the board of supervisors in ordering the papers to be so arranged that they can be preserved and found. Yet the shallow and ignorant Post criticizes the board of supervisors for its conduct and superintended the work.

BUCKENHORN'S Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, blisters, Ulcers, Salt Rashes, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Eberbach & Son.

Second-class master — The average Blane editorial.

A WALKING SKELETON.—Mr. E. Springer, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., writes: "I was afflicted with lung fever and abscesses in lungs and heart, and was unable to walk a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which did me so much good that I bought a dollar bottle. After using three bottles I found myself once more a man, completely restored to health, with a healthy appetite, and a gain in flesh of 48 pounds!" Call at Eberbach & Son's Drug Store and get a free trial bottle of this certain cure for all Lung Diseases.

LITTLE Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, blisters, Ulcers, Salt Rashes, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Eberbach & Son.

All the signs indicate the re-election of Col. Eldredge by increased majorities over two years ago. The truth is he has made many friends in all parties by his manly and straightforward course in congress. His vote to restore the duty on wool after it had been taken off by the republicans has satisfied the farmers that he will let no pedantic theories upon the tariff govern his sense of justice or supersede his plain blunt common sense. Farmers are for him, old soldiers are for him, intelligent republicans disgusted with the republican machine are for him. A thorough canvass of Lenawee county shows that he will get from six to seven hundred majority there. He will get a thousand in Monroe and at least seven hundred in this county. Hurrah for Eldredge!

ALL IN THE LINE OF NATURE.—There is nothing in the line of magic or mystery about that wonderful and popular medicine, Parker's Balsam. It is simply the best and most scientific combination possible of the essential principles of those vegetable curatives which act powerfully and directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. But there neither is, nor will be, any successful imitation of it. It is all the t'me curing well, that had despaired of ever getting well. For yourself, your wife and children.

A trying situation—The district-attorney.

DOES NOT LOOK LIKE A WRECK—When a man is going down hill everybody is afraid of him. The democrat would have marred him to a towering house with a bell and chain upon his legs and stripped coat upon his back. The bouncy junior takes a great interest in the office of judge of probate just now. But Harriman need not fear the result for this honest gentleman has the honor of being the only systematic bounty jumper in Washtenaw county produced during the war, and it would take a platoon of them to beat Harriman.

MANY in eloquent republicans are disgusted with the purpose of three or four republicans in this city to trade off the republican voters of the county to the very men who are trying to defeat the republican, national and state tickets. Many republicans refuse to be treated as chitlins and can't be delivered. They look upon the fusion or co-operation of republicans and greenbackers as a species of political farce and turn from the spectacle with disgust. The union of democrats and nationalists—the main object of both parties being to oust the party in power seems reasonable and consistent, but the union of republicans and nationalists on a county ticket, simply to secure spoils or gratify the whims of two or three men, is too absurd and ridiculous to satisfy or inspire the enthusiasm of honorable republicans or honorable greenbackers.

AS black as he's painted—The African.

A POPULAR FALAFALY.—Many people think that Rheumatism cannot be cured. It is caused by a bad state of the blood which deposit poisonous matter in the joints and muscles, causing lameness, stiffness and swelling of the joints and exercising pains. Kidney-Wort will cure this.

Ladies, are you suffering? Kidney-Wort cured me of rheumatic trouble of several years standing. Many girls and maidens are troubled with rheumatism.

Are you tormented with Piles? Kidney-Wort cured me of bleeding piles. Dr. G. K. Miller recommended it to me.

Are you Rheumatism racked? Kidney-Wort cured me of rheumatic trouble of several years standing. Many girls and maidens are troubled with rheumatism.

Ladies, are you suffering? Kidney-Wort cured me of rheumatic trouble of several years standing. Many girls and maidens are troubled with rheumatism.

If you would Banish Disease and gain Health, Take

KIDNEY-WORT THE BLOOD CLEANSER.

Evergreen—The newly-landed Irish.

Heating and Ventilation. Keep this in Mind. In the Diamond Dyes more coloring is given in any known dyes, and they give faster and more brilliant colors. 10c. at all druggists. Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt. Sample card, 32 colors, and book of directions for 20 stamp.

A Cimicider—Matsuda Sorakichi.

If you wish to know what you eat in the winter, Animal Soda, alum, also tastes bitter; starch, flour, oil, filling of any kind, which is dead weight, will be left in the cup, while if made from Cream Tartar and soda, like DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder, it will leave the water clear.

CITY Locals. Thompson & Herbert, who are running Hacks together, attend to all orders promptly. Leave word at C. Rinsey's, R. Granger's, State-st., or at residence of Thadd Thompson, 10 Maynard-st.

WANTED.—Girl wanted at boarding house, 49 Washington-st., east.

Over 200 buildings have been painted in this city in the past nine months with Shewin Williams & Co.'s Mixed Paints. This is sufficient to tell you that there is no better paint in the market. For sale by Oscar O. Sorg, 60 South Main street, Ann Arbor.

To RENT—Finely furnished Rooms to rent within three minutes walk of the university. Call at the corner of Catherine and Ingall-st.

To Musicians.

Several genuine old Italian and German Violins for sale at a bargain. For particulars address Prof. B. Faeder, 273 Front street, West Detroit.

Go and see the prices given with goods at Emanuel Wagner's grocery, South Main street.

LAMPS—A large assortment at Emanuel Wagner's, Sout Main-st.

For California dried fruits call on Chas. E. Wagner, No. 17, Ann-st.

The only pure Cider Vinegar is at Chas. E. Wagner's, No. 33, South Main-st.

Everything is first-class bought at Chas. E. Wagner's, the grocer, No. 17 East Ann-st.

I pay cash for Butter and Eggs, at 33 South Main-st.

EMANUEL WAGNER.

ARGAIN.—First-class chamber and parlor set. Chairs, stands, etc., new. Inquire 10-12 Huron-st.

For all kinds of Salted Fish call on Chas. E. Wagner, No. 17 East Ann-st.

A full line of Crockery Ware at Emanuel Wagner's.

Chow Chow and Mixed Pickles, Dried Beef, Smoked Sugar-Cured Meats at Chas. E. Wagner's.

No. 17 East Ann-st.

Oranges and Lemons cheap, at Emanuel Wagner's store, No. 33 South Main-st.

Stoves and Furnaces!

I have also a full line of

Cook Stoves and Ranges

—And the celebrated—

"EVER READY" VAPOR STOVES;

The latest thing out, 32 EAST HURON STREET.

ANN ARBOR.

RINSEY & SEABOLT,

NO. 6 & 8 Washington St.

Have on hand a complete stock of every thing in the Grocery Line.

Teas, Coffees and Sugars.

In large amounts, and at

Cash Prices

And the celebrated—

MASONIC DIRECTORY.

ANN ARBOR - COMMANDERY, NO. 13-Meets first Tuesday of each month. W. G. Doty, E. C. A. - A. T. Steele, Secretary.
WADSWORTH HAMPTON, NO. 6, R. A. N.-Meets first Monday of each month. T. P. Wilson, M. V. Z. Roath, Secretary.
GRAND LODGE OF MICHIGAN, - Meets first Thursday of each month. John A. Gates, W. M., N. D. Gates, Secretary.
FRATERNITY LODGE, NO. 392, F. and A. M.-Meets first Wednesday of each month. W. D. Harriman, W. M., E. J. Johnson, Secretary.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Unplotted, uncarved & the plodded alone
A creature of God for aken unknown.

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

Saturday Evening Oct. 11, 1884.

Engagement extraordinary of the eminent actor and author,

John A. Stevens

The Favorite of both Continents.

Supported by the New York Park Theater Co. in his great success.

UNKNOWN'

A River Mystery.

As played by him over 2,000 times. With its wealth of scenes, novel mechanical effects, starting scenes, unexpected surprises, etc., including the beautiful illuminations.

New York & Brooklyn Bridge at Night.

Admission 50, 75 and $1. No extra charge for reserved seats now on sale at Boughton's News Depot, post office.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

Monday Evening, Oct. 13, 1884.

The Fifth Ave. Comedy Co. of N. Y.

Second year of the thrilling and emotional sensation,

Only a Miner's Daughter.

With the beautiful and gifted artist,

MISS EMMA HENDRICKS,

As Rosalie, Great Creation [Miner's Daughter]

"An actress of great ability."

Baltimore Evening Day.

"A drama of intense interest."

Buffalo N. Y. Courier.

Supported by her own carefully selected

New York Co.

See the life-like pictures:

THE EXPLOSION.

THE SNOW FALL.

And all appropriate effects, wardrobe, etc.

Admission 35, 50 and 75 cents. Reserved seats now on sale at Boughton's News Depot without extra charge.

Ann Arbor Democrat.

FRIDAY.....OCTOBER 10, 1884.

Friends of the DEMOCRAT who have business at the Probate Court, will please request Judge Harriman to send their printing to this office.

JOTTINGS.

Eli W. Moore was in Jackson Monday.

Election in four weeks from next Tuesday.

Corn socials are now the rage in Sarnia.

Buyers are paying $1 per barrel for apples.

Potatoes are selling for 25 cents per bushel.

There are seven divorce cases on the calendar.

Considerable wheat is being marketed. Price 87 cents.

Mrs. G. E. Guinon is visiting friends in East Saginaw.

D. Henning, of Chicago, was at the Cook house over Sunday.

Stephen Adams has again resumed the janitorship of the M. E. church.

The jurors for the present term of court have been excused until Nov. 17.

Phoebe C. Stevens has been appointed guardian of Ann Eliza M. Stevens.

W. Foot Hall has gone to Marquette, where he will make his home.

Thos. Clarkson is repairing his residence on First-st. at a cost of $700.

Harvest Home was celebrated at St. Luke's church in Ypsilanti, Sunday.

John A. Stevens in "Unknown" at the grand opera house to-morrow evening.

Dr. Boylan, of Brighton, was the guest of his brother John over Sunday.

Mrs. B. F. Granger has gone to Texas to spend the winter with her daughter.

The annual session of the board of supervisors will commence next Monday.

Jas. G. Blaine's messenger will be on exhibition in this state only three days.

The regular monthly meeting of the school board will be held Tuesday evening.

Hon. S. B. Thompson will address a democratic gathering Wednesday evening.

Nat Goodwin's comedy company were entertained by Landlord Stone, of the St. James.

Republican representative convention, first district, will be held in this city tomorrow.

Jacob Jedele, Jr., has purchased for $9,000 the Jesse Scott farm in Dexter township.

Jas. Galick is building a $2,000 house on Bowery-st. Wm. Biggs is doing the joiner work.

The T. A. A. & N. W. R. is preparing to build a new passenger depot at South Lyon.

Geo. W. Fuller, clerk at the Russell, Detroit, has been home on a vacation for several days.

Rev. Mr. Mayo, of Boston, occupied the Unitarian pulpit Sunday morning and evening.

The power for the new electric light will be furnished by the engine in the Courthouse.

Geo. Wacker, of Freedom, died Friday after only a two days illness. He was 50 years of age.

The Saline band furnished music on the fair grounds Friday. In the evening the boys celebrated.

The prohibitionists raised a pole at Saline Station Wednesday. Prof. Steere addressed the crowd.

Fall & Hendrickson took two first premium clothing and gent's furnishings goods at the county fair last time.

The army hall hop on Thursday of last week was well attended and all participants had a grand time.

A few loads of gravel would be quite an improvement to Main-st. from the St. James hotel to the postoffice.

Clas. Braun, a German living in Ypsilanti, got gloriously full Sunday and attempted to blow his brains out.

Mr. Will F. M. Bolles, editor of the Western Newpaper & Union, paid the DEMOCRAT a friendly call Friday.

Robert Wilson, many years a resident of this city and son of the late Judge Wilson, died recently in Chicago.

The campaign and bad results of the present campaign is the subject of Rev. Dr. Steele's discourse Sunday evening.

The play of "Only a Miner's Daughter" will be rendered at the grand opera house next Monday evening, Oct. 13.

A member of the Saline band had a $30 overcoat stolen Friday. With a number of others it was left in a wagon.

The German Lutherian society of Saline elected Michael Michael and Geo. Hertler trustees and Geo. Ehman, Secretary.

In the absence of Mr. H. H. Green from the annual meeting Monday evening Ald. Lawrence occupied the chair.

Watson Snyder and family who have been living at Fetoskey for some time, have returned to their old home, Ypsilanti.

Lucas & Walker will build the stone culvert on Fifth-st. over Allen's creek for $195,50. The Walker Brothers bid $215,30.

There will be a re-union of the 20th Michigan Infantry at Chelsea next Wednesday. Gov. Blair will deliver the oration.

The superintendents of the poor settled with the county treasurer Monday evening at Ald. Lawrence's residence at small expense.

Some persons are attempting to make capital against Egbert P. Harper, democratic nominee for representative in the second district. He has been before the Saline board who had been playing during the day at a prohibition meeting. The truth is the boys had been to a wedding after the meeting and on their way home they gave Mr. H. a serenade. Was there anything criminal in that?

The play of Unknown will be produced with special scenery and mechanical effects, and will be the beautiful illumination scene of the New York and Brooklyn bridge at night, illuminated steamers and ferry boats passing to and fro upon the East river, New York, as realistic as life, special attention being given to every detail for the proper representation of this, one of the most popular dramas on the American stage.

Woodruff's red is a new grape, propagated by Clas. Woodruff of this town. It has a fine flavor and of very large growth.

Col. Geo. Sanford, of Lansing, Hon. N. R. Eldredge of Adrian, addressed a democratic meeting in Saline Friday night.

Mr. A. W. Ames and daughter, who have been visiting friends in California for the past two months and a half have returned home.

Unknown when presented by Mr. Stevens at the Survey theatre, London, England, made the greatest hit ever made by an American artist.

Manager Sheehan will open his new dancing academy in the old Baptist church on Catherine-st. with a grand seance this evening.

A. W. Porter has been appointed deputy marshal. His beat will be around the national guard depot and the fifth street.

Unknown, John A. Stevens in this great play, supported by a powerful company, will appear at the grand opera house to-morrow evening.

The horse and carriage stolen from Norman Dwight, of Delhi, was recovered in Ypsilanti. The thief, who proved to be a young lad, has been arrested.

After the presidential election many students who have remained home to vote, are expected to swell the number already attending at the university.

Unknown has been played for more than a month, and the audience of drama ever written being now in its eighth year and has been played nearly 2,500 times.

A petition signed by all the business men and many citizens asking for the reinstatement of Milo Penlue in the telegraph office, has been forwarded to the headquarters.

Geo. D. Irish of Cheboygan is the proprietor of the Commercial hotel in the city for the purpose of settling up the estates of his father and mother and disposing of the property.

Goldmining camps are asked to be listed on the corner of Madison and South Fifth-st., and on the north side of Voland-st. The matter is in the hands of the general fund committee.

The total number of students in all departments last year was 1,377.

Assessments are being made to have a field day the last of this month.

The Cass club beat the Universities in Saturday game by a score of 7 to 6.

Van Valkenburg, lit '84, was in the city Monday the guest of D. J. Hart, law '86.

Campbell, lit '87, will not be back this year; he will probably next year join '88.

Owing to illness Prof. C. K. Adams was not able to meet his classes Monday.

Rosenthal, lit '82, has returned to the university to enter the law department.

H. D. McMurtry, formerly lit '84, has returned to college and will try to graduate with '85.

Graves is the temporary president and Walker the temporary secretary of the lit of '83.

Owing to the absence of Prof. Payne his classes did not meet on Tuesday and Thursday.

O. L. McMurry, formerly lit '84, has returned to college and will try to graduate with '85.

H. H. Clayton, a special student in meteorology, has been appointed assistant in the observatory.

H. C. Fairbank, formerly lit '86, who graduated with A. of the law department Saturday.

Prof. Morris left last week for Baltimore, where he will lecture at Johns Hopkins University the first semester.

Mr. Frank Burbank, of the Ypsilanti Normal school, was the guest of Joe McLean, lit '87, the latter part of last week.

J. H. Blanchard, a graduate of the law department was married to Miss L. Shackleford at Los Angeles, Cal., on Sept. 30.

Lawn tennis is becoming the most popular game among students and the university grounds are covered with tennis courts.

A. C. Copperthwaite, recently appointed professor of Materia Medica in the therapeutic college, has entered upon his duties.

Sam Burroughs, who addressed a temperance meeting in the opera house during the red ribbon excitement, is a candidate for prosecuting attorney in Wayne county.

Frank Robinson, son of John J. is a candidate.

The personal property belonging to the estate of the late Thos. Earl was divided among his heirs Tuesday, C. H. H. Knobell, the administrator, paying the following sums: Jas. - Earl $825.83; John Quigley, $412.91; Mrs. F. O'Connor, $142.01.

Rev. Mr. Mayle will preach Sunday at the Unitarian church. Subject of the sermon is "How to Read the Bible." Mr. Mayle is one of the most accomplished and eloquent Unitarian clergymen in this country.

The residents on the south side of Orlean-st. have petitioned for a four foot sidewalk between South University-ave and Forest-st. Also at the south west corner of West First and Madison-st. and on Second Line, fifth ward. Requested to widen sidewalk.

Sergeant Edward Earl, lit '81, a member of the Greek organization, adorns the last of the year.

The freshman class has been practicing at the conduct of the Washburn Post for the past week and has been well received by the students.

The 5th Avenue comedy company of New York, consisting of an eminent array of well known artists, and the play one of artistic excellence entitled, "Only a Miner's Daughter" - a strong plot - laughable comedy situations and sensational pictures interested all the elements of the play, exciting all the emotions of the audience, and sustained by so excellent a company, it will surely be received in our city by a large house. Tickets can be procured at Boughton's ticket office.

On Monday evening next will be an important and interesting meeting of the women of the community, the occasion being the appearance of that powerful organization, the 5th Avenue comedy company of New York.

Cha les Blair, son of ex-Gov. and Regent Blair, a graduate of the literary department, is candidate for prosecuting attorney of Jackson county on the republican ticket.

The Saline band is up arms at the full Sunday hop on Thursday of last week was well attended and all participants had a grand time.

The Saline band furnished music on the fair grounds Friday. In the evening the boys celebrated.

The prohibitionists raised a pole at Saline Station Wednesday. Prof. Steere addressed the crowd.

Fall & Hendrickson took two first premium clothing and gent's furnishings goods at the county fair last time.

The armory hall hop on Thursday of last week was well attended and all participants had a grand time.

James Cramer and M. Kerman speak at Saline Station to-night, and to-morrow evening at Sylvan Center.

A few loads of gravel would be quite an improvement to Main-st. from the St. James hotel to the postoffice.

Clas. Braun, a German living in Ypsilanti, got gloriously full Sunday and attempted to blow his brains out.

Mr. Will F. M. Bolles, editor of the Western Newpaper & Union, paid the DEMOCRAT a friendly call Friday.

Robert Wilson, many years a resident of this city and son of the late

MEMORIES OF THE PAST.

One thinks of those days,
Or she the song's gladness;
Na' merrie thoats can drive awa'
The ghaistly shades o' sadness.
Ik bird upon the leafy tree,
The bitt'r thoats o' other years,
Came to my mind and Jeers me wif'.
The mem'ries o' the past.
Na' muckin' bird, like that I hear,
Soft warbling on you tree,
In bonnie Scottie singe, and yet
It is a bitt'r thoat.
The bitt'r thoats o' other years,
When in that auld lang syne,
She sang to me the song so dear,
He little hand in mine.

I ken the flowers are blawin' now;
That bloomins' so sweetly now;
The bitt'r thoats flow
Still thro' the silent glen;

I ken the birds are building nests

Frauds are cast as death,

That all is not thin.

The blushing dala blooms the same

The mossy braes abornin'.

The golden sun, still frae the East,

Proclaims the comin' mornin';

Na' muckin' bird, like that I hear,

Made it so sweet and fair,

Now sleeps beneath the mossy braes,

Ast left me lone and sare.

The muckin' bird's sweet song to day,

Breath tear-drown my 'ee,

With that auld lang syne,

We aye our love should last thro' life,

By its burn and tree;

And 'ere I wad run on my troth,

I'd lay me down and die.

—[G. A. Custer, in the Chicago Inter-O can.

MARRIED FOR FUN.

BY ALFRED CRAYON.

What has been planned for to-morrow evening?" cried a chorus of voices, as a small company of young people, camping out among the New Hampshire mountains, were about to separate for the night.

The question brought two or three early birds, who were hovering near the camp, to disperse some new pleasure or sport for the next evening's entertainment. Several plans were suggested, but none of them met with the approval of the whole party.

"Mr. Carlson you have as yet suggested nothing. What do you think it would be pleasant to do to-morrow night?" asked one of the young ladies.

"Miss Mary?" answered the young man addressed, who until this moment had been leaning indifferently against a tree, and going to the village to-morrow, and probably will not return until the following day.

The faces of the whole party fell, while it was evident from their tones of regret that Mr. Carlson was a great favorite in camp.

"Mr. Carlson must have found some modern Maud Muller, who offers attractions much superior to ours, else he would not make such frequent journeys to the large metropolis of Metropolis." This remark was made in a very sarcastic tone by a young lady who was stirring the dying embers of a camp fire, thereby causing a shower of sparks to fly over her.

The blithe mounted high into the face of the gentleman addressed, and reaching out his hand to brush off a spark which had fallen on the young lady's dress, Mr. Carlson said in a low tone: "Miss Thurston, what matters it to you if you go or stay?"

But before his question could be answered, Carlson's sister cried pettishly:

"Oh, friends let him go. He told me he had a business appointment, and Arthur will never break an appointment, no matter how trivial, unless, perhaps, for a wedding or funeral."

"Well, a funeral we will not have, even though we are the only ones in Art's class," cried a gay voice. "We might have a wedding," the owner of the voice continued: "I wouldn't mind being part to that, myself," and the speaker looked mischievously at one of the ladies, who her visitor was. Mr. Carlson checked the impetuous words which rose to his lips, and spoke in a voice of strained coldness. "Margie," he said, advancing to her side, "I desire a few moments' conversation if that almost had no beginning; and now, thank God, it will never know an ending."

Nugget Jewelry.

The rage just now is a rough, crusty gold, eighteen carats fine, studded with minute jewels, which stand out like the plums in a Christmas pudding.

The chain and ball seems to be the leading style in the novelties sent out by Durand, the famous New York fashioner. The chain is very fine and the ball perfectly round, and about the size of an English sugar plum. These are attached to ladies' fib' chains, an elegant new trifl'e, and the ends of bracelets, and are also worn as ear-rings. The rings are studded with rubies, or were, and diamonds, and many of the chains have fine jewels worked into them. The barbare and stylish hoop ear-rings has returned in the shape of a semi-circle of nugget gold, and is now in high favor. A new engagement ring is a lover's knot of dead rough gold. A popular style of pin is a gold horse-shoe on one end of a wrought-gold nail—good luck. The Langtry bracelet is composed of several strands of fine gold chain, each one ending in a ball pendant gemmed or enamelled. The new styles are elegant, and not entre; flower and insect jewelry is entirely passe.

Water as a Fat Producer.

A discovery of vital interest in social science is alleged to have been made in the recent assertion of some anonymous scientist that it is not food but water which makes us fat. If this is true it would seem to throw a new light on a large number of disputed questions.

If adipose tissue is a desirable thing, then the work of the prohibitionists should be supported with unanimous approval, that we may become a sleek and well-contented people.

There is however, room for dispute as to whether mere fat should be encouraged. Carlisle reported by Shakespeare as wanting none but men about him. But there is every reason for belief that the great Roman preferred fat men because they would take things easily and would not disturb his rule by any restless attempts at liberty. This would indicate that lean men will be better for the leadership of a free people. There is room for suspicion that the professional politicians have had a secret knowledge of this discovery for many years, and in order to keep themselves in condition for the fight for freedom have guarded against the accumulation of fat by drinking no water at all, and keeping strictly to whisky.

You mistake, Mr. Carlson," interrupted his wife, icily. "It is the easiest and most appropriate thing that could be done."

Arthur looked down at the figure before him. The darkness and the way masses of hair hid her face, else he surely would have seen the white lips and dark eyes.

"Do not cry, my Margie," he said, gently, but sadly. "I only wonder that you can bear me here at all. I crave your forgiveness and I pray God that I may not utterly blight your happy life."

Arthur waited a moment as if to hear one word of farewell, but the figure before him never moved or spoke. Then, gazing intently at his wife, to imprint upon his mind a picture that he never forgot, he turned and left the room.

All night long Margaret sat in the little, low chair where Arthur had left her. Only once or twice, when alone in her tender cheeks paled as she watched what Arthur Carlson would do, for he had looked determined the night before.

"Well," said Miss Thurston to herself, "your word is given now, Margaret Louise Thurston, and a Thurston was never known to break a word."

In the late afternoon her friends came to dress her for the wedding. They draped her in some fluffy, white dress, which outlined the girlish white form to the best advantage, and had a hair around her head, and placed a bunch of simple mountain flowers on her belt. Never before had she looked so beautiful nor so debonair. A comment outside the tent announced Carlson's return, and Miss Thurston, surrounded by laughing friends, went out to meet him.

"Margie," said her cousin John, striking up to her angrily, "you have got far enough. Carlson is certainly a good man. He is a full-fledged person with him without even mentioning that this is all jest. You must put a stop to it at once, for it is a downright shame to trifl'e with such serious things to this extent."

At these words Miss Thurston grew

AMERICAN COATS-OF-ARMS.

Labor Recognized in the Heraldry of the New World.

There is a young gentleman in there, Miss, who is not long for this world. He is an American, also. It is very hard to die so, Miss—so great a distance from one's people, and with no kind friends."

"You are right," Margaret answered gravely. "It is indeed hard. My father spoke yesterday of going in to see the gentleman. He is out just at present, but if I may I will go in now."

After a moment's absence the doctor returned and conducted Margaret into the room. The curtains were closely drawn, and coming from the light into the darkness she was blinded for a moment. Not so with the sick man. Looking up to greet his visitor he uttered a sharp ery and the one word "Margie!"

Margaret stood as if stunned, and then, advancing rapidly to the bed she kneeled down beside it and buried her face in the pillows. The poor doctor with a groan looked turned and left the room. There was a moment's stillness, broken by Margaret's low sobbing. The form before her seemed to be the wreck of a once strong and beautiful manhood. The sick man was Arthur Carlson. He raised his thin, wasted hand and tenderly stroked the bright locks on the pillow beside him. "Poor little Margie," he said faintly, "you will soon be free now."

Then, Margaret never knew how, she forgot everything connected with the past, she only remembered that the man lying there, sick unto death, was her husband. At last the poor spirit who had kept so jealously guarded in her heart for so long "On Arthur," she cried in her agony, "my husband, I will marry you for fun."

"Margie, this cannot go on. What will your father say and fear?" and her cousin stepped to Carlson's side, her eyes upon Margaret's face, and his voice said: "You and I have lived for fun all our lives; let us now be married for fun."

The very demon of recklessness took possession of Miss Thurston's spirit. "It can't be fun," she said to them all, to marry him for love, she would have turned away, shocked and grieved—but for fun; yes, she would dare as much as he, and she immediately stepped to Carlson's side, remarking in a laughing tone, "Yes, Mr. Carlson, I will marry you for fun."

"Margie, this cannot go on. What will your father say and fear?" and her cousin stepped to Carlson's side, her eyes upon Margaret's face, and his voice said: "You and I have lived for fun all our lives; let us now be married for fun."

The silence fell over the little group as the solemn words of the beautiful Episcopal service fell upon their ears. Then rang out the responses: From the bride, low and defiant; from the groom, clear and determined.

"That ye may so live together in this life that in the world to come ye may have life everlasting."

Margaret never forgot those words. In coming days she repeated them over and over herself until she almost prayed to have them blotted out from her memory.

By the time the ceremony was finished the audience had concluded that the affair had been planned beforehand in secret, and that they were the dupes of the joke. Accordingly, never was company gayer than theirs that night, and the merrymaking was continued into the morning hours.

The camp broke up in a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson parted from their friends in apparently high spirits.

Mr. Carlson must have found some modern Maud Muller, who offers attractions much superior to ours, else he would not make such frequent journeys to the large metropolis of Metropolis."

This remark was made in a very sarcastic tone by a young lady who was stirring the dying embers of a camp fire, thereby causing a shower of sparks to fly over her.

The blithe mounted high into the face of the gentleman addressed, and reaching out his hand to brush off a spark which had fallen on the young lady's dress, Mr. Carlson said in a low tone: "Miss Thurston, what matters it to you if you go or stay?"

But before his question could be answered, Carlson's sister cried pettishly:

"Oh, friends let him go. He told me he had a business appointment, and Arthur will never break an appointment, no matter how trivial, unless, perhaps, for a wedding or funeral."

"Well, a funeral we will not have, even though we are the only ones in Art's class," cried a gay voice. "We might have a wedding," the owner of the voice continued: "I wouldn't mind being part to that, myself," and the speaker looked mischievously at one of the ladies, who her visitor was. Mr. Carlson checked the impetuous words which rose to his lips, and spoke in a voice of strained coldness. "Margie," he said, advancing to her side, "I desire a few moments' conversation if that almost had no beginning; and now, thank God, it will never know an ending."

Then, Margaret never knew how, she forgot everything connected with the past, she only remembered that the man lying there, sick unto death, was her husband. At last the poor spirit who had kept so jealously guarded in her heart for so long "On Arthur," she cried in her agony, "my husband, I will marry you for fun."

"Margie, this cannot go on. What will your father say and fear?" and her cousin stepped to Carlson's side, her eyes upon Margaret's face, and his voice said: "You and I have lived for fun all our lives; let us now be married for fun."

The silence fell over the little group as the solemn words of the beautiful Episcopal service fell upon their ears. Then rang out the responses: From the bride, low and defiant; from the groom, clear and determined.

"That ye may so live together in this life that in the world to come ye may have life everlasting."

Margaret never forgot those words. In coming days she repeated them over and over herself until she almost prayed to have them blotted out from her memory.

By the time the ceremony was finished the audience had concluded that the affair had been planned beforehand in secret, and that they were the dupes of the joke. Accordingly, never was company gayer than theirs that night, and the merrymaking was continued into the morning hours.

The camp broke up in a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson parted from their friends in apparently high spirits.

Mr. Carlson must have found some modern Maud Muller, who offers attractions much superior to ours, else he would not make such frequent journeys to the large metropolis of Metropolis."

This remark was made in a very sarcastic tone by a young lady who was stirring the dying embers of a camp fire, thereby causing a shower of sparks to fly over her.

The blithe mounted high into the face of the gentleman addressed, and reaching out his hand to brush off a spark which had fallen on the young lady's dress, Mr. Carlson said in a low tone: "Miss Thurston, what matters it to you if you go or stay?"

But before his question could be answered, Carlson's sister cried pettishly:

"Oh, friends let him go. He told me he had a business appointment, and Arthur will never break an appointment, no matter how trivial, unless, perhaps, for a wedding or funeral."

"Well, a funeral we will not have, even though we are the only ones in Art's class," cried a gay voice. "We might have a wedding," the owner of the voice continued: "I wouldn't mind being part to that, myself," and the speaker looked mischievously at one of the ladies, who her visitor was. Mr. Carlson checked the impetuous words which rose to his lips, and spoke in a voice of strained coldness. "Margie," he said, advancing to her side, "I desire a few moments' conversation if that almost had no beginning; and now, thank God, it will never know an ending."

Then, Margaret never knew how, she forgot everything connected with the past, she only remembered that the man lying there, sick unto death, was her husband. At last the poor spirit who had kept so jealously guarded in her heart for so long "On Arthur," she cried in her agony, "my husband, I will marry you for fun."

"Margie, this cannot go on. What will your father say and fear?" and her cousin stepped to Carlson's side, her eyes upon Margaret's face, and his voice said: "You and I have lived for fun all our lives; let us now be married for fun."

The silence fell over the little group as the solemn words of the beautiful Episcopal service fell upon their ears. Then rang out the responses: From the bride, low and defiant; from the groom, clear and determined.

"That ye may so live together in this life that in the world to come ye may have life everlasting."

Margaret never forgot those words. In coming days she repeated them over and over herself until she almost prayed to have them blotted out from her memory.

By the time the ceremony was finished the audience had concluded that the affair had been planned beforehand in secret, and that they were the dupes of the joke. Accordingly, never was company gayer than theirs that night, and the merrymaking was continued into the morning hours.

The camp broke up in a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson parted from their friends in apparently high spirits.

Mr. Carlson must have found some modern Maud Muller, who offers attractions much superior to ours, else he would not make such frequent journeys to the large metropolis of Metropolis."

This remark was made in a very sarcastic tone by a young lady who was stirring the dying embers of a camp fire, thereby causing a shower of sparks to fly over her.

The blithe mounted high into the face of the gentleman addressed, and reaching out his hand to brush off a spark which had fallen on the young lady's dress, Mr. Carlson said in a low tone: "Miss Thurston, what matters it to you if you go or stay?"

But before his question could be answered, Carlson's sister cried pettishly:

"Oh, friends let him go. He told me he had a business appointment, and Arthur will never break an appointment, no matter how trivial, unless, perhaps, for a wedding or funeral."

"Well, a funeral we will not have, even though we are the only ones in Art's class," cried a gay voice. "We might have a wedding," the owner of the voice continued: "I wouldn't mind being part to that, myself," and the speaker looked mischievously at one of the ladies, who her visitor was. Mr. Carlson checked the impetuous words which rose to his lips, and spoke in a voice of strained coldness. "Margie," he said, advancing to her side, "I desire a few moments' conversation if that almost had no beginning; and now, thank God, it will never know an ending."

Then, Margaret never knew how, she forgot everything connected with the past, she only remembered that the man lying there, sick unto death, was her husband. At last the poor spirit who had kept so jealously guarded in her heart for so long "On Arthur," she cried in her agony, "my husband, I will marry you for fun."

"Margie, this cannot go on. What will your father say and fear?" and her cousin stepped to Carlson's side, her eyes upon Margaret's face, and his voice said: "You and I have lived for fun all our lives; let us now be married for fun."

The silence fell over the little group as the solemn words of the beautiful Episcopal service fell upon their ears. Then rang out the responses: From the bride, low and defiant; from the groom, clear and determined.

"That ye may so live together in this life that in the world to come ye may have life everlasting."

Margaret never