MICHIGAN NEWS.

A Fishy Statement:
The Jackson Citizen of March 28 says: A
W. Marks of Petoskey, of the State Fish Commission, was in the city yesterday, on his way home, after planting 10,000 brook trout at Tekonsha at the request of Hon. A.
D. Edred, and also 10,000 at Union City, ordered by Hubbard & Wilkins. The trout were placed in Cold River and Tanbark Creek, which are fed by springs and contain all the requisites for the successful culture of brook trout. Mr. arks also has two orders from Jackson County for 40,000 brook trout and will bring them next week, the first A Fishy Statement: trout and will bring them next week, the first order ever made by Jackson for this species of fish. Mr. Marks tays the fish are as free as water to all counties in the state where the conditions are favorable for their culture. He is an enthusiast on the subject and knows more about the nature, habits and tricks of fish than some whole families. To the Citzens' representative he cheerfully describcitizens' representative he cheerfully described the location and progress of the shatchery at Paris, near Big Rapids. This, he says, is the season for planting brook trout. He delivered two large orders at Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor this week, besides those mentioned at Union City and Tekonsha. It is no sinecure job to distribute fish through the country successfully, that is juvenile and baby fish, for they are as much trouble to the manager as a first class opera trouble to the mansger as a first class opera singer. They must have constant attention—neither too warm nor too cold and fresh water every hour. The little fish are shipped in twelve or fitteen gallon cans and carried tree by the railroads in their express cars. Supt. W. G. Marks intends to hatch 45,000,000 wall-eyed pike at once for distribution among the inlands lakes, and Jackson County can have as many of them as they want. Our lakes are well adapted to that variety of pike. On March 24 the Fish Commission received 50,000 eggs of landlocked salmon from Maine, a gift from the United States Fish Commission.

These eggs will be hatched and the fish ready for delivery by May 1. They will then be placed in the inland lakes. The commission will also have 350,000 lake trout ready for delivery in April, to be placed in the in-

At his rate it seems probable that our fisher-men will not run short of bites in the years Foundered on Lake Michigan.

The propeller Michigan, which left Grand Haven on the 9th ult, in search of the pro-peller Oneida, and which has been ice-bound ever since, is no more, having been crushed by the heavy ice, and tunk, on the 23d inst., about 18 miles off Holland. Her crew made a desperate effort to save her, but all efforts were lutile. The crew took temporary refuge on the tug Arctic which was anchored about four miles off. After resting a few hours the brave men started for shore, walk-hours the brave men started for shore, walking 14 miles over shifting ice, reaching Holland on the morning of the 23d.

The Michigan had been ice-bound for 42 days. Had not the Arctic been near, the man must certainly have perished, as they were exhausted by cold and hard work, and to have reached land by means of shifting ice in their present exhausted condition would have been impossible.

would have been impossible.

The steamer Michigan was built by the Detroit Dry-Dock company at their Wyandoute yard and was launched about midsummer in 1881. She is 212 feet long, thirty-four inches deep. She was constructed with a spoon-shaped bow, especially modeled for crushing through heavy ice. In order to render her more safe she had a double bottom, with a space between the two bottoms of three feet her entire length. She had five water-tight compartments, and was built of heavy iron in a substantial manner. After her from work had been completed she was placed in charge of the leave to the completed she was placed in charge of the leave to the section in his approach to the section in his permanently injured.

Miss Stella Seaman of Drummono's Island, left her home on Friday morning with a team of six dogs and arrived at St. Lypace at 5:30 Sanday evening, having traveled a distance of three feet her entire length. She had five water-tight compartments, and was built of heavy iron in a substantial manner. After her from work had been completed she was placed in charge of the leave to the incorporating the societies: Incorporating the establishment of health institutions; incorporating the stablishment of health institution her iron work had been completed she was placed in charge of the late k. L. Montgomery, or the Etar Line, who superintended the building of her cabins, which were among the finest on the lakes, and decorated without regard to cost, with oil paintings and the finest of carpets and furniture. Niles Peterson built the cabins. During her first winter the work done in the ice was quite satisfactory, but the present winter, and that of 1883

-4 were both too severe for successful navigation, and the company must have lost a great deal of money by attempting to keep the route open. The fact that the steamer had five water-tight compartments, and little cargo would go to show that the damage received from the ice must have extended pretty well along her side so as to water into more than one compartment. Capt Prindiville is an experienced and capable sailor and well qualified for winter work.

Services will be held in the Episcopal church Sunday at 7.30 a. M., at 10.30 a. M., and for children at 4 p. M., in the chapel. Rev. Dr. Pitken will conduct the exercises.

Judge Harriman has been presented with a cane by iDavid Depew of Pittsfield, which is made from a piece of a mulberry tree, planted by him over half a century ago.

We are in favor of water-works, but we are opposed to the scheme of the leading, the scenes depleted are by turns stirring, passionate and tender, and in the development of the leading characters there is ample scope for acting of a high order. It is reassuring, after witnessing so much in modern dramatic literature that is occupied in airing the seamy side of domestic life and the dealing with trivial things, to find ourselves confronted with personages who seem to have a genuine motive for their actions, and whose speech and movements possess a living human interest. There is not a dull passage in the play, there is no needles verbiage.

In this dealing the s picted are by turns stirring, passionate and tender, and in the development of the play, there is no needles verbiage, the dialogue is nearly always good, and fall of the curtain is rapid, brilliant, and rising into most effective climaxes.

THE UNIVERSITY.

Carl Schurz tonight in university hall.

Nearly all of those students who spent the spring vacation at their homes, have resumed college work.

No portion of the university has as yet been removed from the campus. The M. D.'s who favored the scheme were most beautifully sat down upon. It is their turn now to resign.

P. H. Dolan, law '84 and who was admitted to practice at the Washtenaw county bar, will leave for Lausing next week, to enter the well known law firm of Montgomery Bros. Poison at the Front Door.

No article entering so generally into the food of every family has been found so villainously adulterated than baking powder. For the purpose of underselling those powders of absolute purity We have had the privilege of looking for use in food, hundreds of dealers are over a copy of the names on the petition to do away with saloons within five and adulterated cream of tartar, which contains lime, earth, etc , adding strengt by the free use or alum. These adulterated powders are shoved upon the public with the greatest persistency. They are first given away—left in samples at private residences, with circulars containing bogus analyses and certificates and false representation as to their value, etc. This fact of itself is sufficint to condemn them. Thos. Kenneck, for many years a faithful employee of the Ann Arbor agricul-tural Co., died Saturday at the Diehl house, of consumption, at the age of 52

Free samples of articles of food left at the house should be regarded with sus-picion. There is no guarantee of their wholesomeness, while there is real danger that they contain a fatally poisonous compound. Many instances of poisoning from the use of such sample are re-

The only safe way is to consign all such samples immediately to the ash bar-rel, and to turn a deaf ear to the statements made by their venders. It is not worth while to trifle with the life and health to the extent of testing every doubtful baking powder that come along. Better to rely upon an old and reliable brand, like the Royal, which has proved is perfect wholesomeness and efficiency, or some other brand that is not so worthless and cheap that its proprieter known as Billy Pinkerton, the detective. "Tell me, gray-headed sexton;" I said, "Where in this field are the wicked folks laid? I have wandered the quiet old graveyard And studied the epitaphs, old and new; But on monument, obelisk, pillar or stone I read of no evil that men have done."

The old sexton stood by a grave newly made, With his chin on his hand, his hand on a spade; I knew by the gleam of his eloquent eye That his heart was instructing his lips to reply. 'Who is to judge when the soul takes its flight!
Who is to judge 'twixt the wrong and the right!

Truth Seeker. THE SILK DRESS

"There's Annie Beldon!" said Aunt Jane, looking up from her knitting as she heard the sound of footsteps on the plank walk which lay along the front fence. "Poor soul! I never see her that I don't think of that verse in the Bible which says that "from him that hath not shall be taken even that which he hath," and she sighed deeply.

I looked from the window just in ime to see Annie Beldon before she turned the corner of the next street. She was a faded, careworn looking woman, a little past middle age, with dark-brown hair thickly sprinkled with gray. Her dress was a rusty black cashmere, her black shawl was decidly shabby, and her erape bonnet was shabbier still. She looked neither attractive ror interesting, and 1 turned from the window and took up my crocheting again, remarking only that "she looked as if she had had her share of

"Sometimes I think she has had a good deal more than her share," said Aunt Jane. "I know dozens of women would have sunk into the grave under only half as much. The Average Cost of Living. Philadelphia Bulletin.

How many persons have even a rough idea of the average sum upon which by far the larger part of the citizens of the United States are fed, clothed and housed? A recent statistician estimates that eighty per cent. of the population of this country is supported by from forty-five to fifty cents per capita a day.

lowing notice was posted in the streets At the latter figure this makes $163 25 as the average annual cost of living but, as by average we mean the balance between extremes, there must be many persons who have not even this sum to live upon. That fifty cents a day is a generous estimate will be admitted when it is remembered that many mill operatives earn only from $5 to $7 a week, and that the wages of farm hands run from $20 to $30 a month and that on these sums several persons are often supported. When it is re membered, too, that some other human beings have a yearly income equal to what is necessary for the subsistence of 500 to 1,000 of these "average" mortals, the startling contrast between the extremes of our modern society must be most evident.
