Ex-Senators Bruce and Bogy. Ren. Porley Poore's Reminisconces

Blanche K. Bruce, whose s'gnature as Register of the Treasury now graces eve y national bank bill, was very popular while he was in the senate, al-though he is of African descent. Unobtrusive, attentive to business, and modest, he conquered the prejudices aga nst his race, and was treated with marked courtesy by his associates.

A DETRATER'S FATE. Ida Kimball, aged 15, the beautiful and ac-formplished daughter of Hiram Kimball, the banker of Beiford, Ia, shot and Killed T. M. Giles. Miss Kimball called on Giles at his music store and after a few monents conversa tion suddenly drew a revolver from her dress and fired two shots into his head. Giles died within an hour. After the shooting the girl walked swiftly to her home. She told her mother that Giles had betrayed her two years before and that she could bear it no longer. On hearing her daughter's confession Mrs. Kimball fell insens ble and has remained un-constitues ever since. Mr. Kimball is nearly crazy with grief, but the girl remains apparently free rested. Giles wife is completely prostrated by the blow. One day after he had been a Senator for two years or more, Senator Bogy, the aristocratic des endant of one of the old French families of St. Louis, took a seat by his s de saving: "Mr. Bruce. I have a bill here I want you to vote for. It is one in which I have a great personal interest. It has nothing political in it. Look at it and tell me what you think." Bruce laughed as he said: "Senator Bogy, I hope we shall arrange this more satisfactorily than our last busine's tran action." by the blow. "Our last business transaction? What do you mean?" AN OLD-TIME "OBSERVER" GONE. AN OLD-TIME "OBSERVER" GONE. The Rev. Samuel Irenaeus Prime, D. D., editor of the New York Observer, for the past 45 years, died at Manchester, Vt., a few days ago aged 73 years. Dr. Prime was attacked by paraly-sis last Sunday and since then be has been steadi-ly sinking. He was born at Ballston, N. Y., 1812, graduted at Williams college when 17 and immediately began his studies for the ministry at Princeton, entering the ministry of the Presbyterian church. He preached for several years, but in 1840 gave up the ministry to be-come editor of the New York Observer, in which he has written as "Irenaeus." He has written upwards of 40 books. He was made a D. b. by Hampden Sidney college, Va. He comes d a brilliant family, his brother Edward D. Griffin Prime, being associate editor of the colored boy put the valise behind his back and called for his 25 cents. You hunted, fished out 25 cents, and tossed it ashore; but the gap was too wide to toss the valise. The captain had to stop the boat and back up before you could get your valise. Do you remem-ber that?" "Well, I should say I did." "I was that colored boy."

In express train running between Atlantic City and Philadelphia ran through an open switch at Frankville and struck a lumber car. The Pullman car which was next to the engine, turned around, its hind tracks being left on the track. Its occupants were badly shaken but none seriously hurt. The passengers of the smoking car were compelled to climb out of the window. The rest of the train remain-ed on the track. Geo. Murphy, engineer, had ample time to jump and save his life, but he bravely remained at his post, put on the air braker reversed, and threw open the throttle. The engine crashed into the lumber car and with the tender turned completely over bury-ing Murphy under it. Murphy died in a few moments after the accident. There were about 150 passengers on the train, who say their lives were saved by the bravery of the engi-neer. A rigid investigation will be made to switch. Professor Mantegazzi found that nearly all the essences used in perfum-

by the perfumer, when exposed to the air and light develop ozone. He says that "the oxidation of these essences is one of the most convenient means of producing ozone, since, even when in a very minute quantity, they can ozon-ize a large quantity of oxygen, while their action is very persistent; that in the greater number of essences, in or-

"Called Back." There is no marked change in the situation in the Saginaw Valley. While a few mills are running on the 10-hour plan, the majority of the mills are sitent, and the employers still de-termined. The mill owners, too, refuse to make any concessons, although to a close ob-server there is a manifest desire on the part of the leaders to settle. The objectionable Pinkerton men have been were needed. The state troops, however, with their well-fitting suits and brightly polished arms, are still on duty, and seem to be enjoy-ing the situation immensely, save a few who fear losing the more profitable sit-uation which they were called upon to leave in order to "protect" the property of the mill-wners.

CAROLINE HEALY DALL, a veteran advocate of woman's suffrage, declares that she has seen for a long time "that the feeling of more highly educated people is less favorable to an extension of suffrage than it was twenty years ago," and that the consummation which she desires and anticipates has been set back at least another generation by the indiscretions and short

Rules for Getting a Pardon.

Rules for Getting a Pardon. The advisory board in the matter of pardons is now permanently established at room No. 9, Telegraph block, Detroit, where the secretary, James B. Willson, attends to the routine busi-ness of the office. The board has adopt-ed a set of rules of procedure, to which those making applications for pardons must con-form. The rules require that all applications must be filed with the secretary at least ten days previous to a meeting of the board, and no applications handed to individual members of the board will be considered. Each applica-tion must be accompanied by a certified copy of the whole record of the case, a brief state-ment of the grounds upon which the applica-tion is based, the facts to sustain the request in the form af a history of the case, notes of the evidence taken at the trial and letters from exponsible persons in the community where the crime was committed.

A notice of the making of the application must be given to the judge and prosecuting attorney who tried the case and to the present prosecuting attorney. Proof must be furnished that the notice of application has been published for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper printed in the city or county where the crime was committed. All facts relied up-on to sustain any allegation as a ground for pardon must be proved by depositions taken within the jurisdiction of the court where the conviction took place, or by the statement of the judge who tried the case, or officers or per-sons connected with the prison in which the ons connected with the prison in which the pplicant shall be confined.

n applications for pardon based upon a mis trial or improper conviction, the allegation shall be sustained by such reasons and evidence as would have been good grounds for a new trial, and which upon a second trial should have produced an acquittal. Where the court has overruled the same reasons for a new trial, or a metric has a the same reasons for a new trial, has overruled the same reasons for a new trial, on a motion based thereon, they will not be re-considered, except on the recommendation of the judge before whom the case was tried. All applications properly on file will be considered by the board, whether the applicant is repre-sented by council or not. No application that has been refused by the board will be reheard or reconsidered unless substantial grounds for reconning the case are presented to and apreopening the case are presented to and approved by the board, and when the application is again submitted all the rules must be complied with the additional reasons filed with the

A PLUCKY WARDEN.

A heavy storm prevailed in Kalamazoo county on the 19th. A large tree was shivered near the asylum in Kalamazoo, and a hickory tree struck near the house of Myron Latta of Oshtemo. Mr. Latta and wife were rendered unconscious. At Grand Junction lightning entered the chimney of Mr. Stout's house, hit the stove, glanced off and struck Mrs. Stout on the knews, burning her limbs badly and her stockings and shoes entirely off her feet. Her-self and husband were rendered unconscious. For several days there has been serious rouble in the Brooklyn penitentiary, which ulminated in a plot by several convicts to kill culminated in a plot by several convicts to kill the warden. Learning of this the warden, with eight assistants armed with revolvers, went into the ward. The cells are so arranged that to open one, all must be opened. Stat.on-ing an onicer at each cell, with an order to shoot the first convict who left his cell, the warden took the ringle ader of the revolt and gave him 15 lashes on the bare back. This promptness on the part of the warden effectual-ty onelled the revolt. on the knees, burning her limbs badly and her stockings and shoes entirely off her feet. Shipments of iron ore from the four ports of the Marquette district for the seven days end-ing with and including July 13 show an ag-gregate of about 90,000 gross tons. The total shipments of the year to date have been about 74,000 tons, as against 1,015,776 tons at a cor-responding date last year. This remarkable shrinkage shows pretty plainly what hard lines miners are having in the Upper Peninsula. Owing to the closing of many heavy producing mines lately, the shrinkage for the next two months will be even greater, and foreshadows for the carrent year a very plached eutput. De Graaf, Vrieling & Co.'s planing mill in Grand Rapids was discovered to be on fire about 10 celock the other night, and before it was checked had completely gutted the manu-facturing portion and badly damaged a large amount of completed work for the Adrian and Kalamazoo court honse, which was ready to abip. The loss is about $35,000 and the hisur-ance $6,000. The building had been occupied for twelve years and the company was driven with work. It is probable that the fire was of incendiary origin. About fifty men are thrown out of employment. Two fi emen were in ured. N. H. Clark's unoccupied building, two miles out of Novi, was burned to the ground the oth-er morning, at a loss of $900. The circum-stances of the burning were peculiar. It was at first supposed the place was struck by lightning, but there was no lightning until long after the fire. Since the shooting of a tramp by Win. Jones the town has been infest-ed by a horde of tramps, who have been mut-tering venzeance on Jones. The latter had a quelled the revolt.

26 and 28 E. Washington-st., - Ann Arbor, Mich

Chicago Herald: "Carried to this logic end this practice of employing large forces of armed men from detective agencies in remote cities to be used in the various states at the will of employers would invariably result in serious difficulties. If a Chicago firm may send 200 armed men into Michigan to usurp the police authority of the state, what is to prevent a New York firm from marching 10,000 men into Chicago to annoy its citizens and disturb the peace? It is of supreme importance that the law should be enforced, but it is also desirable to have the work done by the proper authority, which is always accessible and always ample."

SPEAKING of prohibition in Iowa, the Dayenport Democrat says that "in response to inquiries a large number of cities and towns in the state have given their testimony as to the practical workings of the law, which has now been in force a little over a year. The responses come in most cases from mayors, and in the remainder from the clerk or marshal for whom the Democrat vouches as trustworthy. Fully half the mayors, including those of all the larger cities, report that the liquor traffic is carried on openly in spite of the law. Nearly all others report that it is carried on with unsuccessful attempts at concealment. In most of the large cities the number of saloons was largely increased. Davenport has 150, where before the prohibition law it had only 130. Burlington has 108 instead of the 68 which met the popular demand a year ago. In Council Bluffs the increase during the year has been from 50 to 75; and in the entire state the reported present number is 916, while before the law went into operation there were but 770."

little moral courage to do this; but there was no element of fear in the make-up of any member of the family. At first their home was within the Confederate lines, and communication with Washington was very difficult and hazardous. Mrs. Gayes was ridi-culed, and sometimes threatened, but it availed nothing. After the Confederate lines were driven back a few miles in 1861, fortitications were constructed around ington Heights and some distance below, recrossing the river about half way between Long Bridge and Alexandria, and so on around until the circle was complete. Within this line, and about a mile and a half from Fort Smith, situated on a little eminence. was Mrs. Gayes' modest home, pro-tected now from the enemy, but suffering more, perhaps, from her friends. Many regiments were en-camped near by; and little by little her timber and fences and stock and the beating of "the long roll," the shouting of words of command, and the tramping of regiments as they swiftly formed in line of battle to meet the expected enemy. On such occas-ions all the mombers of the family would hastily dress, secure about their persons what valuables they had, and patiently wait. During all these try-ing years she and her daughter were devoted friends of the Union cause, and their willing hands were untiring in doing something for the soldiers. It was a midsummer morning in 1864. Out in the field and over in the city it was scorehing hot. But in Mrs.

Gayes' house, protected as it was from the rays of the sun by the abundant foliage of the great oaks which surrounded it, the heat was not oppressive. Mrs. Gayes was in the sitting room reading a paper. The elder daughter was in Washington.

WHEN SPRING COMES. stood still for an instant-and there was cause for it. One of the flying fragments struck poor Charley and he fell to the ground with a cry of "Oh, mamma!" Down in the cellar the mother heard the cry of her wounded boy, and in a moment she was kneeling by his side. It was a sad sight for a mother to look upon. The cruel piece of iron with its ragged edges had stripped a great piece of flesh from the back of his ankle upward, completely severing the cord and lay-ing bare the bone. He was lying upon his face, and the blood was already staining the green grass where he had fallen. Speaking words of encourag-ment, she removed his shoe and the fragment of stocking, and hastily bound up the wonnd with strips torn from her clothing. In this way she staunched the flow of blood and Some time before the war a Presby-terian clergyman from New Hamp-shire went South, with his family, for quieted his fears, through she could not alleviate his pain.

"Now, Charley, I must go up to Mr. Pierson's myself, for a shell may strike the house, and then Mary and Robby will be burned. I'll put you behind that tree, and you will not be

And the tears trickled down Charin 1861, Mrs. Gayes and her elder daughter, who was about fifteen years of age, took a decided stand in favor of the Union cause. It required not a little moral courses to do this, but tion against the shells, two of which had struck near by while Mrs. Gayes was binding up the wound. Arriving at Mr. Pierson's, she dispatched him in great haste to the fort, while she, with swift feet, returned to Charley. Becky and Berty Pierson, aged seventeen and eighteen, with true girlish heroism, returned with her notwithstanding the bursting shells. On the way they passed several negroes shelt-ered behind stumps and stones, and Washington for the protection of the National Capital. They consisted of a chain of forts arranged in nearly a circle. The line crossed the Potomac near Chain Bridge, above George-town, extending thence down to Ar-list the could not walk at all, and mamma! I'm so glad you've come back." He could not walk at all, and he was weak from pain and loss of blood. So his mother and the two girls carried him in their arms as best they could. Down the hill, half blinded by the smoke and stunned by the awful explosions, slowly moved the strange procession. They waded the little stream in the hollow, stopping a moment to bathe Charley's face and hands, and carried their burden up the hill to Mr. Pierson's house By this time Mr. Pierson had reached the fort, and the firing ceased. The crops disappeared, until there was other children were sent for, and in a scarcely anything left save the house and the land. Even the cook stove was missing one morning. Very fre-quently at night she was aroused by had happened and to render assistance. The surgeon's proffered services were most gladly accepted. When he was ready to examine the wound, the mother said:

"Now, Charley, it will hurt you to have the wound dressed; but it must be done; and you must try and bear It will soon be over."

"I'll try," said Charley, "if you'll be sure, mamma, and not let my leg be cut off." She pressed him to her heart, and assured him with loving words that there was no occasion for so serious an operation.

an operation. "Sing to me, mamma! Sing to me!" "Why, Charley—I—I—don't believe I can sing now," she faltered. "You must, mamma, you must! Please sing to me just the same as yon always do and I'll keep awful still." And he reached up and put his arms pleadingly around her neck. There was a silence in the room as the little sufferer porsisted in his strange request. Then the mother closed her eyes and tried to sing. The Old Hoop Skirt.

An item is going the rounds of the papers to the effect that the old fash-ioned hoop skirts are coming into style again, and that within a year the hoop skirt factories that have been lying idle for years will be running full blast, and the ladies will grow larger around as the fashion is recognized as the thing. Who that was on earth twenty-five years ago, does not remember the first hoopskirt craze? Hoops came into fashion suddenly, and all women, whatever their condition. adopted the fashion at once. There were few regular manufactured hoop skirts at first, and only those who were very tony had elaborate hoops, but as hoops were the fashion everybody had to have something that would make the dress stick out. Merchants sold wire and rattan, and whalebone, and strips of brass, and ladies made them

BARTHOLDI'S BIG GIRL. Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Mandrake, Dock, Pipsissewa, Juniper Berries, and other wellknown and valuable vegetable remedies. The combi-nation, proportion, and preparation are peculiar to Hood's Sarsaparilla, giving it curative power not pos sessed by other medicines. It effects remarkable cures where others fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla ares Scrofula, Sait Rheum, Bolls, Pimples, all Hu-ors, Dyspepsia, Billousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, General Debility, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Kidne and Liver Complaints. It overcomes that extreme tired feeling, and builds up the whole system. Now is the time to take it.

was a shell from some heavy gun. "Is it possible the rebels are making an attack?" she said.

The children now came running in from their play, and one of them cried out, "Oh, mamma! the lightning has struck the trees." Mrs. Gayes went out on the porch and looked and listened, but nothing unusual could be seen or heard.

The boy was right in his surmise, and in a few moments another mis-

"No, mamma, I'm not afraid," answered the brave little fellow as he clasped his mother's hand a little tighter. "I knew you would not be; and now as soon as the next shell comes I want you to go." When it came she kissed him and said, "Now my brave boy, run!'

She would gladly have gone herself, but she thought it better to remain that she might be with the other two children in case the house should be struck and burned. It cost her a
