Clara Michalshetta traveling under an alias, was arrested at Reed City recently, charged with murdering her child in Mil-waukee on July 5. An officer took the woman to Milwaukee. As a Result of a Village Fight Bertie Mc-Connell is Killed.

Conneil is Killed. Saturday evening, September 4, Charles Schnidt went into a saloon and pool-room kept by Joe Murphy in Belleville, and after shaking dice with the bartender and taking several drinks of beer a game of pool was agreed upon between him and a young man of about his own age named John Smith. While the game was in prog-ress Ben Smith, a brother of John, out of a spirit of mischief, picked up some of the balls which Charles had pocketed and placed them in the rack in such a manner as to acore for his brother.

C. W. Jones of Richland, Kalamazoo county, exhibited a 965-lbs Poland China hog at the Iowa state fair. The animal is eight feet long and a yard wide.

Barney Daley, employed in F. Butler's meat shop in Emmet, on returning home the other evening, was run over by a C. & G. T. freight half a mile west of the village. His body was cut in pieces. He was 50 years old and was the support of an aged mother. Crowded with people afraid to re-enter their homes. More than 60 persons were killed or wounded. Among the whites killed and fatally injured are: M. J. Lynch, Dr. R. Alexander Hammond, Ainsley Robinson. The principal business portion of the Tile, the Greatest Labor-Saving Machine of the Age." To the Editor of The Chicago Trimune.

Dwient, Ill., March 16 .- One of the strongest and most convincing facts that I have yet seen with regard to tile drainage is brought out in the December report of the Agricultural Depar ment of Illinois. It is this:

ACREAGE. A senge in corn in Livingston County, 1881. Acreage in corn in Logan County, 1881. 140,850

Livingston over Logan 127,738

takes all the risks of drouth and nuch besides. It is not fair, then, to conclude that the greatest labor-saving machine to-day of the age is the tile drain? From the same source of information gather the following as regards the progress of sile-drainage in these two counties:

placed them in the rack in such a manner as to score for his brother. Three times he is alleged to have done this, until at last Charles Schmidt, out of patience at being defrauded of the points he had scored, struck at Ben and there was a sharp fight, lasting some minutes. The two brothers, John and Ben, how-ever, proved more than a match for Charles single-handed, and he came out of the fight with a black eye. Ben Smith, who was with them, stepped squarely in front of Charles Schmidt and demanded to know if Charles had applied a certain opprobious epithet to him. Charles denied using the language, when Ben struck at him viciously. Charles jumped back, he says, drew his revolver and fired at Ben. Negaunee's Mines. The new iron range discovered in May The new irou range discovered in May just east of Negaunee has already develop-ed into a very valuable district. For many years the land had been regarded as entirely valueless, geological and mining experts concurring for once in saying au-thoritatively that the iron formation ex-tended no further east than the Jackson mine, the iron mine first opened in the peninsula. About eight years ago this be-Gus Gustavsen, aged 60, was struck by the engine of the Kalamazoo accomoda-tion near Porter Junction, and instantly killed. A whisky bottle was crushed through his clothing, and the theory in that some of the arteries surrounding the heart were severed by the broken glass. Other injuries were also sustained. tended no further east than the Jackson mine, the iron mine first opened in the peninsula. About eight years ago this be-lief was disturbed by the discovery of the Pendill, McComber and Rollingmill mines, all of which are east of the Jackson. It was decided then that the iron belt certainly went no further east. Last spring some time about the 1st of May Messrs. A. Anderson, county sheriff: H. H. Mildon, judge of probate; S. S. Mitchell, an experienced Cornish miner, Ed Labb, a moneyed man of Negaunee, secured an option on forty acres of land about two miles east of the city. Within two weeks they uncovered a fine body of hematite ore. Pits to the north and south were sunk and the vein was found to have the wonderful width of 100 feet. The profits will all stay at home and help build up the city, and further, next spring from 500 to 1,000 more men will be working there than last year. That means a rapid increase in population. In fact, real estate already feels the effects of the new finds. Later From the Earthquake.

Specials from points in South Carolina, ranging from the extreme northwest to the seacoast, report severe earthquake shocks with more or less resulting damage shocks with more or less resulting damage to property, though without loss of life so far as known. In Orangeburg people be-came so much alarmed that many moved to Columbla. As the details of the calam-ity in Charleston are gathered its effects become more and more alarming. It is feared also that much distress will prevail, as by far the larger part of those whose property has been wracked or seriously damaged belong to the poorer classes. People are as cheerful as possible under the terrible curcumstances, and are trying to restore order out of chaos. The aggregate loss is expected to reach $3,000,000. The wharves

THE agricultural college at Lansing has been in existence twenty-five years, and as a result it only claims 375 alumni, or a yearly average of 15. Is not this a very costly experiment for our state, and should not our future legislators see that the enormous expense of running that institution be largely curtailed? -----

WE have no doubt but Prof. Dickie will receive a warm reception from the prohibitionists and their friends this evening. He speaks at Firemen's hall, on the issues of the campaign. As he is a logical and convincing talker, a good reasoner, and thoroughly conversant with the great subject of temperance, his remarks will be well worth hearing, even to an unbeliever in the doctrine of total abstinence.

"DEAR GUS-I drop you a hasty line to catch the 6 o'clock mail. Minnie Gray is with us, and I want you to come up with-out delay and see what you can do in the way of winning an heiress. She is just from hoarding school-a simple, unsophisticated boarding school—a simple, unsophisticated girl of 18—and if you enter the field at once I don't see why, with your advanta-ges, yon should not succeed in making an impression. If uncle can't spare you from the office before Saturday at least, come up then and stay till Monday. In a quiet country house a great deal can be done in that time. I've spoke of you to Minnie— judici usly of course—and I'm sure she is already interested in you. She will be with us but a week or so longer, and will with us but a week or so longer, and will en leave with her family for their Western home, so you see there is no time to be lost.
