The various political parties have made their nominations. With three tickets in the field there will, of course, be some lively work done all along the line until the day of election.
Walter Thomas Mills, of the New York Voice, on the subject of prohibition papers published in this country, addressed the convention Tuesday, and made a telling speech for temperance and reform.
On account of being unable to make connections for Dundee, on the day of the senatorial convention, Geo. W. Turnbull and other delegates from the west drove across the country from Chelsea a distance of nearly 50 miles.
Mr. Chas. L. Sanford and Miss Minnie Tesmer were married Thursday, Sept. 30, by Rev. Dr. Haekel, at the residence of the groom's father, R. F. Sanford. The happy couple left on the early train followed by the best wishes of their many friends.
For years citizens of Chelsea and vicinity have given Ann Arbor the go-by and patronized the Ypsilanti fair. It is the same old story this year. What do they get in return. Ypsilanti county completely ignores the Chelsea fair, while a car load of people from Ann Arbor patronized it. Enough said.
The republican county convention, was a tame affair. There was no enthusiasm and the delegates looked as if they had been attending a funeral. Never mind, for Martin Clark and Dr. O. C. Jenkins, the democratic nominees for coroners, will, after the second of November, hold an inquest on the g. o. p. in this county.
E. Duff, T. J. Keck, L. W. Taylor, Z. P. King and J. E. Beal, are the stockholders in the proposed street railway company. The amount subscribed is $25,000 of which 25 per cent. has been paid in. If the council will grant the franchise three-fourths of a mile of the road is to be completed and running within a year. The line will be extended to meet the demands of the public as business increases.
The Globe office company of Cincinnati, with a branch at Detroit, are selling some of our citizens their worthless watches, putting in them brilliant diamonds, gold watches, etc. One of our old citizens, wishing to get something for nothing, invested one dollar, and found in his purchase a diamond ring, which he offered as a present to one of our grocers, who declined the offer as he had lots of toy rings for children at five cents, far more valuable.
Amy Gordon's Cassino opera company Monday evening, Oct. 11. The citizens of Ann Arbor will have the pleasure of hearing two new operas by this famous company, which is one of the best on the road. The operas to be given will be as follows: Monday, Gioffe-Girolia; Tuesday, Mikado; Wednesday, the greatest of all successes, Queen's Lace Handkerchief, as was played by this company over 500 nights. Each opera will be produced with a full orchestra and a powerful chorus. The company are playing in Detroit houses everywhere, so go early and secure your seats. Remember the prices, 25, 35, and 50. Christian Frey, for several years a resident of Ann Arbor town, died Saturday, in the 86th year of his age. He was the father of Adam and John Frey and step-father of Jno. Koepfer.
The business men's association had a meeting Monday evening, when the committee reported in favor of the city street light for this city. The matter will come before the council Monday evening.
Lansing Journal: The fusionists of the First Washtenaw district have nominated that one-armed soldier and sterling democrat, Capt. Chas. H. Manly, for representative in the state legislature. A good selection.
A dancing club of some 40 members, has been organized in this city, of which Frank Hangarter is president, Geo. Apfel secretary, and Jas. Fogarty treasurer. It is proposed to hold the hops every three weeks.
C. E. Meyers, a prominent young business man of this city, and Miss Rosa Schrader, are to be married the last of the month. Charley has a host of friends hereabouts who wish him well in the new partnership.
Geo. Haviland and wife are home again, after successfully running a summer resort hotel in the upper peninsula. The railroad company, owners of the hotel, at Lake George, have engaged their services for another year.
In mentioning the exhibitors of agricultural implements at our county fair the name of Jno. Finnegan was overlooked. In justice it should be said his display was the largest on the grounds, for which he received first premium.
Peter Gorman, father of Hon. Jas. S. and Edward Gorman, of the township of Lyndon, died Friday at the residence of his son James, of paralysis. He was a respected citizen, and a kind and indulgent father. The funeral Sunday was largely attended.
The Washtenaw Post celebrated its seventh birthday on Thursday last. From the start the paper was a success and it has continued to increase in favor among the Germans until now the subscription list is some 1,600 or more. The advertising columns of the Post are well patronized also.
Mrs. Barakat, the Syrian woman, drew 1,400 people to the Presbyterian church last Sunday night, to hear the wonderful story of her adventurous life. A collection of $68 was taken up to assist her in establishing an orphan asylum on Mount Lebanon for the benefit of the homeless children in that region.
The following is taken from the Grand Rapids Leader: "Powers opera house was packed to witness the first performance of the Amy Gordon opera company in that charming opera, Gioffe-Girolia, and we must say a better performance was never given in the opera house. Miss Amy Gordon appeared as Gioffe-Girolia and was in splendid voice. The company as a whole is fine. A word must be said for the chorus as a better one was never heard in this city. Their performance equal those of many charging $1 admission." This company will appear at the Grand opera house next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, at popular prices—25, 35 and 50c.
News of the death of W. G. Hughes, a graduate of the law department, class of '85, has been received here. After leaving this city he went to Wallace, Kas., where he engaged in the practice of his profession. He soon after followed, and warrants ordered drawn for the various amounts. The saloon bond of Michael B. Schabtle was accepted and approved.
An ordinance granting exclusive right to Thos. J. Keck, Z. P. King, E. Duff, J. E. Beal and L. W. Taylor to operate and maintain a street railway was presented, and after some discussion the question of its adoption was deferred until next Monday evening to which time the council adjourned.

Prohibition Convention.
Of the two conventions held in this city Tuesday, the prohibitionists outnumbered the republicans almost two to one. When the republicans learned that the prohibitionists had secured an eminent gentleman to address the convention, they forthwith called their convention for the same day, and also announced as their speaker Senator Blair of New Hampshire. They had hoped to draw from the former party, but the prohibs could not be hoodwinked. They realized that while they were in the minority in the county, as far as democrats were concerned, they were fast gaining ground and were a thorn in the side of the republicans.
At 11 o'clock the prohibition convention was called to order by chairman Conrad. After prayer by the Rev. Dr. Ramsey, Judge Dexter was chairman and was elected temporary presiding officer. He thanked the convention for the honor conferred, for it afforded him pleasure to preside over such a convention. "You all know," continued the speaker, "that I have been in the temperance work for years. Not politically, but actively. New issues will arise, new questions will come before the people, and if our organizations will not take them up and carry them out, it is time for the formation of another party. He had been reliably informed that, during the recent session, first held here, the laws were virtually suspended, and saloons were kept open long after the time for closing under the state law. The necessity for a change must be apparent to all. The saloons to-day control the great cities of Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, Philadelphia and New York, as well as other cities of the country. Self-government has been come a failure on account of the ruling spirit of the liquor power in these cities. It is well understood that those who desire political influence must secure the liquor interests. The evil of the traffic need not be discussed. It is an evil and nothing but an evil. It causes crime and pauperism and increases taxation at least one-third. Next week we will commence tearing down his old ice houses preparatory to re-building. He will have storage for 7,000 tons of ice.
Christian Frey, for several years a resident of Ann Arbor town, died Saturday, in the 86th year of his age. He was the father of Adam and John Frey and step-father of Jno. Koepfer.

Said a Man!
To us recently:
"You advertise that you want people to come in to see and price your goods."
We replied: "We are glad you come, wish to show you what we can do, and do not ask you to buy unless you become convinced it will pay you to place your order with us." And we say the same to every reader.
The great volume of our fall trade we ascribe directly to the powerful attraction of a large stock of what is most desirable in Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, etc., offered at the very lowest prices. Try us.
