MICHIGAN MATTERS.

An Oakland County Tragedy.

A frightful shooting affray occurred on the railroad track of the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee Railroad, two miles east of Davidsburg about 10 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Young Hollister has been quarreling with his brother-in-law, Henry E. Fiske, almost constantly during the past two months.

After the shooting, Hollister and Fiske agreed to meet yesterday morning at 9 o'clock on the railroad track and "light it."

They met yesterday, according to the agreement, and Fiske was present and Van Statten, according to the report, entered into a fearful fight.

From now until election day let democrats be up and doing. PRIVATE Lester H. Salsbury will be elected representative in congress if the democrats give him their united support.

In Bay county the republicans and greenbackers have named on state senator. Please notice the fact in your next issue, Mr. Courier.

It is astonishing what grasping fellows some republicans are. Some half-dozen candidates for the various county offices are residents of this city.

The candidates for office in this county seem to be on the still hunt. It is remarkable that this is the case, since we have ever witnessed in old Washtenaw.

If "hoodle" will give Allen a big majority in Hillsdale county, he hopes to have it. He is making a big fight there and his friends are shelling out the money with a lavish hand.

The republicans don't expect to elect a man on the county ticket, but will work for the success of the legislative candidates. What they are after is the legislature. This they hope to capture, because a United States senator is to be chosen.

The republicans will make a great effort to have every one of their voters registered, and it is safe to say they will make a great effort to vote their full strength at the coming election. It is, therefore, the duty of every democrat to register, and to see that his fellow democrats are registered. A little care had attention now to the work in hand, and all will be well.

We have nothing to say individually or collectively against the republican county nominees. They are good citizens; the trouble is they are running on the wrong ticket. As the democrats have made no mistakes in their nominations, each candidate is entitled to and should receive his full party vote. This means that every democrat of the entire democratic county ticket.

AFTER the republican county convention there was a disposition on the part of several of the nominees not to accept and they so informed the county committee. But they have finally been persuaded to make the canvass. Of course, it is not very encouraging to run when the odds are largely against them, but it seems that the gentlemen are willing to stick, notwithstanding defeat stares them in the face.

REPUBLICAN papers are just now quite busy in abusing Geo. L. Yaple, the fusion nominee for governor. They charge him with being a copperhead during the late war, when the truth is he was only eight years of age at the time. They pitch into him on account of his religion and call him hard names, but vituperation and abuse will only react on the party who stoops to such practices to bolster up their sinking cause.

It is generally admitted that Sheriff Walsh has been a faithful and painstaking official. Of course, there has been very little, if any, money in the office during his term, because he has not resorted to tramp-catching to replenish his exchequer. He has done only legitimate business. The young men of the people of Washtenaw county will endorse his administration by giving him their suffrages, and that he will be re-elected by a larger majority than he received two years ago. He deserves it.

The question of building a street railway to be owned and controlled by Ann Arbor capitalists, is one in which every citizen is interested. While a large number favor the project, there are not a few who ridicule the idea of a railroad. It is this class who also cry jobbery, schemes, etc. They have never done anything for the city and never will, if it is safe to say. They will put their money in enterprises outside of Ann Arbor, but just the moment an improvement is to be made, in which enterprising citizens are willing to invest their means to benefit the place, these old fossils crawl out of their holes and commence to throw dirt.

If every democrat votes his ticket this fall, every nominee of the party will be elected by rousing majorities. The republicans don't stand the ghost of a chance of electing any man on their ticket except by securing democratic votes. Every democrat who votes for a republican thereby casts, practically, two votes against the nominee of his own party. As a rule a republican never gets his ticket, and certainly a democrat ought not to do it, as every official who gets into office, if he belongs to the republican party, must use that office in the interest of those who vote for him. His influence and money to defeat us in elections hereafter. Our nominees are all worthy men and deserve the full support of their constituents. Vote the democratic ticket and you will have done your duty.

ONLY two more issues of THE DEMOCRAT before the November election. From now on let the democracy of Washtenaw present a solid front and victory will be ours. It will simply be a question as to how large a majority each candidate will receive.

The democratic nominee for state senator, Jas. S. Gorman, was born in the township of Lyndon, Dec. 28, 1850, and was raised on a farm. When 18 years of age he had his left arm taken off, near the elbow, in a threshing machine. He received his primary education in a country school, and at the age of 17 began attendance at the Chelsea union school, where he continued his studies during the winter of 1874 and 1875, and was graduated in 1874, and began the study of law with the Hon. A. J. Sawyer. Having entered the law department of the University of Michigan, he graduated therefrom in March, 1878, and immediately began the practice of law in the office of Hammel & Parkinson of Jackson. He was admitted as a partner with Jas. A. Parkinson in November, 1876, and was assistant prosecuting attorney of Jackson county for two years from Jan. 1, 1887. He removed to Dexter in November, 1879. In November, 1880, he was elected to the house of representatives by a majority of over 500.

L. H. Salsbury. The democratic nominee for congress, in every sense of the word, a self-made man, and one such ranks with the brilliant array of able men in our country's history whose prominence has been self achieved.

Born in Dover, in this county, and living on a farm till nearly 20 years of age, he had the limited facilities for education that the district school afforded, and the ample opportunity to develop his muscles that farm work in those days guaranteed.

The rebellion came over him reached his majority, and his name was promptly enrolled as private in the Fighting 69th infantry, in which he served with the most distinguished credit from the left, in June, 1861, until his discharge. His service was marked by most gallant bearing in every emergency. When Gen. Salsbury was ordered to march his regiment from their camp to a hazardous investigation of the enemy's works, L. H. Salsbury was one of the first to lead the charge, and he was successful in his efforts. He was wounded and many of the men were killed. In the battle of Gettysburg Salsbury fell, desperately wounded, having been shot squarely through the body and he was borne to the hospital and given up for dead. But his strong constitution enabled him to rally, and he finally rejoined his regiment in Virginia the following fall, and in the winter after he enlisted as a veteran. His wounds, however, were so severe that he was prevented from muster, and in February, '64, he was discharged, having participated in all the pitched battles that the old 4th had seen up to that time. He returned home, found his wounds precluded him from farm labor, and he began to look about him to see what he could do.

He had always been a young man of more than ordinary aptness for study and reading, and at the age of 24 he began the work of securing a thorough education. It was the oft told story of a hard hand struggle with adverse circumstances, where, alone and unaided, a young man strives for a college course. But never for a moment did he falter. He at first entered Oberlin college, and afterwards the college at Hillsdale. In the time of his college course he taught school winters, keeping up his college studies, and in June, 1870, he was graduated with high honors, and at once entered the university law school, from which he graduated. He also resumed post graduate studies at this university, and studied law in the office of Sawyer & Bean, at Hudson. He was one of the most successful teachers in the county, as his work as principal of the Clayton schools can attest.

In six and a half years he had completed his college courses, and earned $2,000 by teaching.

Since his admission to the bar his history is well known. He has proven one of the foremost lawyers in the state, and for four years has discharged the difficult duties of prosecuting attorney with a judgment and fidelity that has won the respect and confidence of all. There has never been a dishonorable act on his part, either officially, professionally or personally. His life is above criticism or reproach.

As an orator he has no equal in Michigan and in saying this we believe every unprejudiced hearer will bear us out. In the discharge of his duties he has never been influenced by any feeling or unworthy motives, nor has swerved one iota from the path of duty.

He has sound judgment, broad views on all national questions, cultivated talents, a commanding presence, and is, withal; dignified, genial and courteous, and will be an honor to the district which he is so well worthy to represent.—Adrian Press.

Political Pointers. The high-handed betrayal of their trust by the secretary and master of the state grange in this state, in their base attempt to drag down the order of patrons of husbandry into the mire, filth and bitterness of partisan strife, should receive the early attention of the master of the national grange.—Grand Rapids Leader.

"The beneficiaries of the lumber tariff are the timber land owners. It is said three persons in Detroit own ninety-nine one-hundredths of Michigan timber lands. God planted great Michigan forests and a few capitalists own them. For every foot of timber put into a cheap home tribute must be paid to the protection blackmsters."—Geo. L. Yaple.

The republican press epithet of "the kid from Mendon" is the insult which the young men of Michigan will resent at the polls. Hardly a young man was visible among the political fossils at the republican state convention, while the democratic gathering was full of young life and youthful bloom. The young men of the state will remember this.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

There has been no man in the presidency so popular as President Cleveland since the days of Abraham Lincoln. President Lincoln's popularity came from the loyal spirit of the people rallying about the man who was defending the nation's existence. President Cleveland arises from his sturdy and steadfast effort to follow his own convictions of right, and his statesmanlike appreciation of the needs of reform in the government.—Boston Herald.

Twenty years is enough for any one man to sacrifice in public office. In the last thirty-eight years of his life Cyrus G. Luce has held office twenty of them. When he went to get the nomination for State Senator or Governor he would accept that ticket. This, together with the profits derived from his bank stock at Midwater and Lagrange, Ind., explains very clearly how it happens that he found farming such profitable business. He has spent enough of his life in the capacity of public servant, and it will be so decreed by the voters of the State November 2 next.—Paw Paw Free Press and Courier.

W. H. Sheldon who stole jewelry and other articles from Wm. Denman's house, which robbery was mentioned in this paper, was arrested in Detroit the last of the week, and returned to the county jail to await his trial in the November term of the court in November.

Chicago Journal: Mr. Kendall possesses an unlimited fund of dry, quaint and irresistible humor, and his awkward movements are most comical. So many incidents occur in which Mr. Kendall takes a hand that it is impossible to enumerate them. They must be seen to be appreciated. The company on the whole is a good one.

"The democratic party is a party without a single principle—a party which fell from power in its opposition to human rights, and which now asks power for the sake of plunder and spoils."

This is what M. H. Brewster said in his speech at Holly, and yet the republicans have the cheek to ask democrats to vote for such as they. Will you do it, fellow democrats?

Early in the spring a petition for a sidewalk, signed by three thirds of the property owners, was presented to the council, asking that a walk be ordered on the east side of Spring street, from Miller avenue to McIntyre's place. And that is the last of it. The owners of the property are willing to construct the walk and why do not the council take some action?

Chicago Herald: "A Pair of Kids," by Ezra F. Kendall and the C. D. Hess comedy company, has proved one of the most enjoyable and popular attractions of the season at the Standard Theatre during the present season. A more successful carnival of merriment has seldom been produced on the local stage. The hearty and rippling laughter pervading the well packed house brought out the entire performance bore ample evidence of the patronage awaiting this contagious comedy during its current season at the Standard. Of this popular and enjoyable class of entertainment "A Pair of Kids" is one of the most promising of its type.

Kalamazoo Telegraph: Editor Holmstrom of the Chelsea Herald, when in Rome 30 years ago, bought a Greek lexicon with Latin definitions, published at Basel, Switzerland, in 1655. Every page has annotations showing that some one in the long past went through the book at immense labor. When he finds out the history of the book he will present it to the university. Over a year ago Frank Howard of Ann Arbor, while in Detroit, ran across an inventory of lexicons, and one which convinced him that there was money in it. The result of this chance meeting has been a large factory, employing 100 men, the body of the barrel is made of two pieces, and one firm has just contracted for 10,000 barrels a day for three years.

Stephens, Mrs. John Sherwood, Edgar Fawcett, Frank Lee Benedict, Mrs. M. V. Spencer, and Agnes Bowman—and one hundred smaller original stories, etc. The terms are only Two Dollars a year. Every lady should take this magazine. It is really a household necessity. Address Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Blizzard or no blizzard, it seems that the announcement of Ezra Kendall's appearance in a new conceit, entitled "A Pair of Kids," at Havlin's Theater, was enough to crowd the auditorium of that cozy house both at the matinee and night performance yesterday with an audience which fairly howled itself hoarse with laughter. Ezra Kendall is the new departure in comedy characterization, and in his distinct line is as much a shining light as Harry Dixey or Nat. Goodwin. As "Jiles Button" Mr. Kendall furnished his audience with a modern "Solon Shingle" which kept them in a roaring good humor during the entire performance. There is a quaintness about him that is perfectly irresistible, and you laugh before you really know what it is all about. If there is any magnetism in a man's humor during the entire performance, it is certainly irresistible, and you laugh before you really know what it is all about. If there is any magnetism in a man's humor during the entire performance, it is certainly irresistible, and you laugh before you really know what it is all about. Council Proceedings.

A special meeting of the council was held Monday evening. The mayor stated that the first business to be considered was the passing of an ordinance relative to a street railway. It having been intimated that the adoption of an ordinance of this kind smacked of jobbery, Z. P. King, one of the incorporators of the company, was given permission to speak on the question. He said that to the honesty of the corporation he lavished the closest criticism. One of the chief reasons why the company was anxious for the passage of the ordinance at once, was that if anything was to be done this fall they could lay their plans and commence work immediately. As there didn't seem to be much of a disposition to rush the ordinance through, action was deferred until the november meeting.

On motion of recorder Pond it was voted to raise $18,320 for the following purposes: court house aid bonds $3,000; interest on the same same $320; court house $10,000; streets, $2,000, and $5,500 for ward purposes. And the supervisors of the city were instructed to have same spread on the assessment roll.

The joint committee of the council and business men's association made their report which can be summed up as follows:

1. That the city be lighted by electricity.

2. That 60 electric lights be used.

3. That the lights be are lights of the numeral or trade value, of 2,000 candle power, and hang on the low light system.

4. That a contract be entered into with the city with an electric lighting company, by which said company agrees to put in all necessary lamps and machinery free of expense to the city and to light them 25 electric lights in a year, for a fixed period of three years.

5. That as between the Wayne-Jenny light and the Thompson-Houston light, the committee favored the latter on account of the superior steadiness of their lights.

The report was adopted, Alds. Kearns and Herz voting in the negative.

A committee consisting of Mayor Robinson and Alds. Martin, Polard, Allmendinger and Swift, was appointed to confer with the street railway company and report at the next regular session, when the ordinance will probably be disposed of one way or the other.

Ald. Martin moved that a contract be entered into with the Thompson-Houston company.

This motion called forth discussion from citizens present and members of the council.

Ex-Ald. Hutzel took the ground that, while he believed electricity to be the light, the council should take no hasty steps. He thought that if the Cornwell Bros. would furnish the necessary power from their pulp mill, to run the dynamos, a great saving would result from water over steam.

Ald. Swift favored the system of electric lighting, and in a fifteen minutes' speech fully set forth his views on the subject. No one could fail to understand how he stood.

The question of entering into a contract with the Thompson-Houston Co. was referred to Alds. Allmendinger, Swift and Kearns.

A committee consisting of Ald. Steere, to which the mayor was added, was appointed to confer with the regents as to how many lights they would be willing to have placed on the campus to be paid for by the university.

The council then adjourned.

THE UPPER DEEP.
Are three eyes too many to read Azuro pages with the need Mayhap, eyes like thine need All the star-vision
On the pages of creation Glowing words, thrilling thought, Wonders so divinely wrought, Fused in masses of light Read the wonders of the skies, Poems of the islands golden Twining in the upper deep, Where each thought seems imaged, holden In the eyes that never sleep; Past laws of opinion plains Where the star-writ glows reins.

A FATHER'S LETTER.
My Dear Son—We are still peering along here at home in the same old way, your mother and me. We are neither of us real well, and yet I suppose we are as well as folks are at our time of life could expect to be. Your mother has a good deal of pain in her side all the while and I am of my feet more or less in the morning. Doc has fixed me some condition powders that he says will straighten me out right away. Perhaps so. Doc has straightened out a good many people in his time. I wish I had as many dollars as he has straightened out our people.

Most every spring I've had to take a little dandelion root, limbered up with ginger, but this year that didn't seem to get there, as the boys say. I fixed up a dose of it day and night for a week till I wore that dandelion root clear down to skin and bone, but in ten days my appetite was worse than ever and I had a head on me like a two-year-old colt. Dandelion root never served me that way before, and your mother thinks that the goodness is all out of it, may be. It's the same old dandelion root that I've been using for twenty years and I believe what you've got tried a thing and proved it's good, you orient to change off.

I tried to get your mother to take a dose of it last week for the pain in her side. Fixed up a two-quart jug of it for her, but she can't bear the smell of ginger, so I had to take it myself. Dandelion is a great purifier of the blood, Henry. Some days after I have been taking this dandelion root for an hour or two I feel as if my blood was pretty near pure enough. I feel like a new man.

You know I wrote you last winter, Henry, that I was going to buy some new-fangled hens in the spring and go to the egg business. Well, I sent you in March for a couple of boys, one of each sex. They came at $9 per pair over and above railroad charges, which was some $4.50 on top of that.

I thought that as soon as the hen got to the egg business, I'd send you a goat, but she can't bear the smell of ginger, so I had to take it myself. Dan-the City of Mexico.

A San Jose, Cal., wife recently gave birth to a child in a condition that she should leave the state.
A sunflower 17 inches in diameter and 53.4 inches in circumference is one of the vegetable wonders of Los Angeles, Cal.
Seven Green Ibis were brought to San Diego, Cal., lately. The birds are seldom seen in this vicinity except in winter.
An Indian runner recently traveled from the Clip mine to Yuma, Cal., a

The political "straw" nuisance has once more made its appearance, and travelers are warned to provide themselves with "chestnut balls." Santa Rosa, Cal., Chinamen make a loving-nest of the court-house in that city. One moon night the jailer found no less than a dozen of them asleep in various rooms.
Owing to the exceptionally large crops of hay and grain on Senator Stanford's Palo Alto, Cal., ranch this season, it has been found necessary to build several capacious new hay and straw sheds, which now are in course of erection.
Grover Cleveland McQueen won a handsomest baby boy under 2 years old.

There were seventeen entries, but Mas-

The senate of congress adjourned Representative Henry's complaint of malarial symptoms. "Take 'em," said a friend.
"Well, I will," replied Henry, "but I don't think I'll be able to do so." When the misapprehension of the word "strychnine" in a murder indictment will cause the reassembling of a grand jury in special session for its correction, it looks as though it were possible to cause a "straw" nuisance.
A Georgia farmer has a goat that joins gleefully with a hound in hunting rabbits. When on the trail he imitates the dogs and runs with his nose to the ground, but when the quarry is in view he bays like a dog and howls like a wolf after the unfortunate bunny regardless of his companions.
Policeman Heaney, of Nanticoke, Pa., was recently arrested on a charge of assault and battery preferred by A.
Herskovitz, a banker of that place. He was fined $200 but while he was in jail he had to get, and was about to be locked up, when the plaintiff himself came to his rescue and became his surety.
Two young men at Newport, R. I., found a board in the water and of several well known liquor-dealers in that city for the purpose of obtaining evidence with which to prosecute them for illegally selling liquor. Tuesday evening an officer of the Newport police department was called to the scene and found the two young men in the water and the board in their hands. They were arrested and taken to the police station.
McCarthy is doing well. He's the Boston man upon whom a wonderful surgical operation was performed a short time ago. He was unfortunate enough to swallow his teeth while out-riggering an opponent in a boxing ring.
His side, took out his stomach, in which the teeth had lodged, and removed them from it. The stomach was then sewed up and replaced.
There is a tendency in London and New York to build up a new style of architecture. In London dingy old squares are changing into clusters of fantastic high dwellings built of light-colored bricks, with gables curved in Dutch fashion, and in New York gables are being replaced by mansard roofs.
Previous architectural fashions, the style will probably be overdone.
A Troy, N. Y., policeman reports having seen a remarkable looking animal in the dam near that city. He says it strongly resembles the famous serpent which so much has been written lately, but that instead of having feet its sides were dotted by large fins, which it kept constantly flapping. The serpent was nearly twenty-four feet long, and had a head larger than a barrel.
During a railroad extension from Lafayette, Ind., to Dayton, O., the other day, the train was stopped as it crossed the state line, and David Clark, alighting, stood in Indiana, and Mrs. Mary Mary stood in Ohio, and a minister who was present, traded the line and married them; and then the eight hundred excursionists formed around the pair and gave them three cheers while the band played.

offered to do the marriage duty free of compliments to the bride-to-be in the shape of everything from a rattle-bone to a bed-room set.

Henry Donnelly, of New Haven, Conn., heard of a ship coming from Mill River, ran quite a distance at full speed, reached the water in time to see a small boy sink for the third time, plunged in, breathless as he was, without removing his shoes, failed to get the boy at the first attempt, dived again, and just managed to bear the apparently lifeless body ashore when his strength gave out. Donnelly was dragged out fainting, the boy was resuscitated and so he was able to get back in the meantime arrived and fainted.

kingdom is the enclaxon or candle-fish (Thalichthys Pacificus) of the north-eastern Pacific. It is about fourteen inches long, resembles the smelt in appearance, and is caught in large quantities in the early spring. It is the fattest of all known fishes, for which reason its dried and smoked flesh is highly esteemed as a warming food for winter by the Indians, by whom the fish is also dried. So fat is the fish that when dried it burns with a bright flame until entirely consumed, forming a candle which will burn for several days.
In the evening, it is dried, and with or without a wooden wick passed through the body.
It is a general belief that bass that have been once hooked and have escaped will never bite again. The error of this belief was proven a few days ago on two different occasions. A fisherman near Newark, N. J., hooked a bass, but before he could haul it in the hook became detached from the line and the fish escaped. A few days later the same fisherman was out on the same spot and caught the identical fish with the treacherous hook sticking in his lip. On the same afternoon one of the guides struck a three pounder with a treble hook baited with a frog. The bass came out of water and sent the frog spinning through the air, then he sounded and broke the gang above the hook, which was embedded in the lower jaw. Another guide came on during the evening, and remarked that he had caught a bass with a treble hook fast in his mouth. A glance at the hook assured him that the fish was the one that he had lost.
