

Death of J. White.

Edward J. White died Nov. 12, at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, of inflammation of the bowels after a four-days' illness. Deceased was a quiet well-behaved and well-beloved young man who has been employed for several years in the B. & M. pant shop. He was a lover of music, and was noted as an expert of no common ability upon a variety of instruments. Those who enjoyed his acquaintance speak of him as a friend long to be remembered for his many admirable qualities and accomplishments. Before coming to Plattsmouth, he lived in Ann Arbor, Michigan, where his father now resides, his mother being dead. He was 22 years old.

The funeral obsequies occurred Nov. 14, under the auspices of the A. O. U. W., of which he was a member. The services were attended by a large concourse of the members of the several lodges of the order and other sympathizing friends. The remains were escorted from the residence of his uncle, Will White, to the M. E. church, where a beautiful and appropriate discourse was preached by the pastor, Rev. Alexander, and followed by the choir. At the close of the service an opportunity was given to take a last look at the remains and then the funeral cortege began its march to Oak Hill cemetery, to the music of a dirge by the B. & M. Band. Following the band were the members of the A. O. U. W., to the number of 350, on foot, marching in the procession, followed by the house and the relatives and friends in carriages. Arriving at the grave the beautiful burial ceremony of the order was read, a hymn was sung by the choir, and the service concluded by an invocation by Rev. Alexander, and earth closed over the final resting place of all that was mortal of one who a week ago was bright and promising young man, whose years of usefulness had apparently just begun.—Plattsmouth Daily Journal.

The deceased was a son of Jas. D. White of the fifth ward, and brother of Mrs. Abner Moore.

Good Advice.

An exchange contains the following most excellent remarks, which mothers and daughters cannot too carefully read: Young girls cannot be too cautious about selecting their company for every day frolics, and they should be careful of picking up with men who are perfect strangers to them cannot help but lead to harmful results. In nine cases out of ten forwardness leads to some distressing trouble. They are not the kind either, that honest young men are looking for when seeking like companions. The young lady who respects herself sufficiently to demand respect and make the gentleman seek her out is the one who makes the happy wife and mother. But the girls are not altogether to blame for this state of affairs. The generally are quick enough for most of their forwardness. When children they are seldom allowed their little playmates because it makes so much trouble around the house and leads to the mother holds on to the same rule. She will not allow her daughter to have gentlemen call on her at home, and consequently the girl rebels against the unnatural restraint placed upon her and generally loses her love for home, and with it slip away her finer feminine feelings; she becomes careless in her manners and bold, and at the same time she should be made to become honest young man who would willingly work life out for her, she is running the streets, being spoken carelessly by all, and if she ever does marry she will find herself a fellow without aim in life and one whom she would not recognize had the influence of her home been of a proper kind. Mothers, look this thing square in the face, and if you have been one of the kind depicted above and have young daughters growing up, try the other way. Encourage them in having company at home, only asking them to be modest and to be as they think are worthy of coming into their mother's presence.

Wire Fence Swindle.

The "wire fence man" is a swindler among the farmers. His modus operandi is thus described: He wants the privilege of exhibiting his wire fence, stretching a line to farmers in your township on your farm, and for which privilege he will build you thirty or forty rods of good fence for exhibition, and all he asks of you is to board him, go after the machine at the nearest depot, and pay the charges, not to exceed $5, for the fence all set up where you want it. In order to have all satisfactory, and as a warrant of the machine, he will give you a receipt for the money, and he requires him to sign a written contract on a postal card, which he mails to his partner, and proves to be an order for the machine, price $200, worth $250. After the machine comes a new man turns up with his postal order for the machine, and requires the note for $200, as per agreement on card. He claims to be a son of the company and threatens to sue in the United States court until he gets the note.

In one of our exchanges we noticed an article in regard to a merchant employing a clerk at a salary of one cent the first month and to be increased each month thereafter for the period of three years. NEW GROCERY HOUSE!

The business men of Toledo are to be given a ride over the T. A. A. & N. M. R. R. to Mt. Pleasant, for the purpose of becoming acquainted with the business men along the line of the new road. The object of course, is to solicit trade, and by offering inducements to those men to pay Toledo a visit, with a view, ultimately, of securing a large share of the business.

At the last meeting of the board of superintendents the bids for furnishing beef according to the proposals advertised, were opened and were as follows: Christian Froy, $4.87 per hundred; Jos. Demoh, $6.24; J. C. Lane, $5.50; C. Smith, $4.95; J. G. Stroble, $4.80; W. W. Walces, $4.90; A. Strang, $4.90. The contract was awarded to Mr. Froy, he being the lowest bidder.

The Toledo road crossing on Huron street, is protected from in-coming and out-going trains by a gate, which is supposed to be under the charge of the tender, but as he is often away from his post during train time, there is no protection afforded. It is only a few days ago that a teamster came within an arm's length of the gate, and was about to cross, when the engineer, who was also careless, and neglect to ring the bell or blow the whistle when passing crossings in the city limits. They, of course, are violating the rules of the company.

The case of the people against Wells, the wife murderer, was called in the circuit court on Thursday afternoon of last week. Considerable difficulty was experienced in empanelling a jury, but toward evening the 12th man had been secured and the trial was commenced.

A large number of witnesses were sworn on both sides, the defense aiming to prove that Wells was insane. Considerable testimony was introduced on this point and a number of M. Ds. were called as experts. During the trial which lasted until Tuesday afternoon, a large crowd was present. Hon. E. D. Kinne assisted prosecuting attorney Norris, and the defense was ably conducted by congressmen-elect, the Hon. J. W. Babbitt, who presented as strong a case as possible for Wells. The jury after deliberating a short time, agreed that Wells was guilty of the crime charged, and Judge Joslyn sentenced him to the state prison for life. During the trial the prisoner appeared to be the most desperate person in the court room. With bowed head he paid little attention to what was going on, and after the verdict, when Judge Joslyn asked him if he had anything to say why he had been married, and one afternoon, pronounced on him, he simply asked the court to be as lenient as possible. The murder for which Wells was tried was a most brutal one. For some years he had been running a saloon at the corner of the city, and one afternoon, according to the testimony, he had some little difficulty with his wife, and becoming enraged he with a razor deliberately cut her throat from ear to ear, for which crime he is now doing the state service.
