A Hero of the Lakes. The particulars of the beaching of the trace of the daring act of Lineman Henry Danforth in a most heroic light. The gale was blowing flercely and there was a blinding snow storm raging. When the tug struck she rolled over on her side. The came the battle for life. The crew consisted of five men, Capt. Sam Johnson, Engineer Thomas Vaugh. Lineman Henry Danforth. Fireman August Hegerson, Steward Harry Darrell. The men clung to the wreck as best they could, urging each other to he brave and not give up in despair, and at one time when young Dar-rell was about to relax his hold the engineer put his arm around him and held him up Freezing seas were sweeping over them PUBLICHED EVERY FRIDAY AT ANN ARBOR, - MICHIGAN, BY JOHN L. BURLEIGH. THE PEOPLE'S PAPER. TERMS: Preczing seas were sweeping over them and their clothing became rigid with ice. For the Protection of Game. During the session just passed two deer hunters, who went to Munising from the lower part of the state, killed 284 deer within nimety days. The saddles, which are worth on the average, $5 each, were shipped out of the state. The hunters subsisted almost entirely on the meat they killed and their only outlay was for am-munition. Their net profit was therefore nearly $1,400. Other pot hunters at other points have done the same, and in conse-quence game in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan is gröwing scarce. There is a law to prevent shipping deer out of the state, but it is not enforced. There is also a law to restrain hunters from killing deer

Owen of New York, who has been working up the scheme for the past 15 years. The colony will be organized after the plan of the Mormons, with the religion left out. They will own farms of their own, but all other considerations will be in common. The promoters of the scheme have secured an extensive tract of land and it is proposed to make the colony a community of several thous-and people. Topolobampo bay is one of the finest in Mexico, but the shores are sandy and barren. The principal town will be situated about four miles north of the lake. It is understood that a large number of New York capitalists are inter-ested in the scheme. The cost of member-ship is $10.

No failure ever occurred in this city that has caused such universal comment and wide publicity as that of Jno. Keck & Co. For years Mr. Keck has been a co. For years Mr. Leck has been identified with the business interests of Ann Arbor. He first engaged in busi-ness in a small shop on Washington street. Here he continued for a time, when wishing to branch out larger, he bought ought O. M. Martin, then the largest dealer in this city. The Keck furniture company was the next venture. He afterwards retired from this concern and started a factory in Krapf's shop on Detroit street. At that time he continued to retail as well as wholesale furniture. Requiring more commodious quarters for his increasing business he built what is known as the Keck block, corner of Main and Liberty streets. Branching out still further he engaged in business in Detroit, which seems to have been the commencement of his troubles. Of course the failure is a bad one, and the liabilities of the firm cannot be figured up to a certainty. but from what we have been able to learn will amount to $115,000 or perhaps more. There are all sorts of rumors and much speculation as to the final outcome, and if the creditors get 50cts on the dollar they may consider themselves fortunate. Already a number of suits have been commenced in this city and Detroit involving very large amounts. Many poor persons will suffer in consequence of this failure. There are a number of Germans in this section who have endorsed for the firm, and their principal business just now is with the lawyers. Wm. Aprill, who is the largest endorser closed the store on chattle mortgages, as trustee for the several mortages, himself being the largest motgagee. There are on file in this city chattle mortgages aggregating $123,000, and Miss Salina Bunting holds Jno. Keck's note for $12,300. The creditors are nu-merous here as well as in New York and Boston. Next week we will probably be able to give the exact status of affairs. Mrs. Annie M. Baesler, who held a note of nearly or quite $1,800, signed by John and Frederick Keck is probably the only home creditor that is sure of realizing anything near like 100 cents on the dollar. And she can thank deputy sheriff Leonard for bringing about this result.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Cleve-land's message, read to congress this after-noon, begins with the usual survey of foreign relations, and one-third of the mes-sage is devoted to discussion and review of foreign relations. "Our government," he says, "has consistently maintained its relations of friendship toward all other powers, and of neighborly interest toward those whose possessions are contiguous to our own. Few questions have arisen dur-ing the past year with other governments, THE SURPLUS IN THE TREASURT. "There is also a suspicion abroad that the surplus of our revenues indicates ab-normal and exceptional business profits, which, under the system which produces such surplus, increases without correspond-ing benefit to the people at large. The vast accumulations of a few among our citizens, whose fortunes rival the wealth of the most favored in anti-democratic nations, are not the natural growth of a steady, plain and industrious republic. "Our farmers, too, and those engaged directly and indirectly in supplying the products of agriculture, see that day by day, and as often as the daily wants of their household recur, they are forced to pay excessive and needles taxation, while their products straggle in foreign markets with the competition of nations which, by allowing a freer exchange of productions than we permit, enable their people to sell for mices which distress the American former our own. Few questions have arisen dur-ing the past year with other governments, and none of those are beyond the reach of settlement in friendly council." The cruel treatment of inoffensive Chinese in the far west is alluded to, and in speaking of a remedy he says: "The paramount duty of maintaining public order and defending the interests of our own people may re-quire the adoption of measures of restric-tion, but they should not tolerate the op-pression of individuals of a special race."

THE CUTTING CASE. Referring to the Cutting case. Mr. Cleve-land says the incident has disclosed a claim of jurisdiction by Mexico, novel in the place of its commission, and of which a Mexican is the object, may, if the offend-er be found in Mexico, be there tried and mushed in conformity with Mexican haws. This jurisdiction was sustained by the courts of Mexico and approved by the courts of Mexico and approved by the executive branch of that government, up-on the authority of a Mexican statue. crime committed in the lovergh land, a fair and open trial, conducted with decent regard for justice and humanity, will be demanded for them. With less than that this government will not be content when the life or liberty of its citizens is at stake.

Whatever the degree to which extra-terri-torial criminal jurisdiction may have been formerly allowed by consent and recipro-cal agreement among certain of the Euro-pean states, no such doctrine or practice was ever known to the laws of this coun-try, or of that from which our institutions have mainly been derived. In the case of Maxico, there are reasons generically strong ginning to understand that capital, though sometimes vaunting its importance and clamoring for the protection and favor of the government, is dull and sluggish, till, touched by the magical hand of labor, it springs into activity, furnishing an occa-sion for federal taxation and gaining the value which enaltes it to hear its burden. clamoring for the protection and favor of the government, is dull and sluggish, till, touched by the magical hand of labor, it springs into activity, furnishing an occa-sion for federal taxation and gaining the value which enables it to bear its burden. And the laboring man is thoughtfully in-quiring whether, in these circumstances, and considering the tribute he constantly pays into the public treasury as he sup-plies his daily wants, he receives his fair share of advantages.

THE POSTAL SERVICE.

THE POSTAL SERVICE. Total service affairs showed a marked and gratifying improvement during the past year; the increase in revenue is in a gaining ratio over the increase of cost, demonstrating the sufficiency of the pres-ent cheap rates of postage to ultimately sustain the service. The differences with certain ocean steamship companies were terminated by the acquiesence of all in the policy of the government, thus afford-ing a service generally adequate to the needs of our intercourse. The question of establishing ocean postal service to Brazil and the Argentine Republic is commended to the consideration of congress, and the suggestion is offered that, as distinguished from a grant or subsidy for the mere ben-ption any line, whatever outlay may be required to secure additional necessary and proper service should be regarded as within the limit of legitimate compensa-tion for such service. tion for such service.

THE PENSION BUREAU.

THE PENSION BUREAU. Referring to the satisfactory exhibit of the operations of the pension bureau dur-ing the last fiscal year, and to pension matters generally, the president says: "The usefulness and the justice of any system for the distribution of pensions depends upon the equality and uniformity of its operations, and as long as we adhere to the principle of granting pensions for service and disability as the result of the service, the allowance of pen-sions should be restricted to cases present-ing these features. and well, are reduced to destitution and dependence, not as an incident of their service but with advancing age or misfor-tune. We are all tempted by the contem-plation of such a condition to supply relief and are often impatient of the limitations of public duty. Yielding to no one in the desire to indulge this feeling of considera-tion, I cannot rid myself of the conviction that if these ex-soldiers are to be relieved, they and their cause are entitled to the benefit of an enactment under which re-lief may be claimed as a right, and that such relief should be granted under the sanction of law, not in evasion of it; nor should such worthy objects of care, all equally entitled, be remitted to the une-qual operation of sympathy, or the tender mercies of social and political influence with their unjust discrimination."

With their unjust discrimination." INTERSTATE COMMENCE. Of the Pacific railroad debt extension proposition he says that congress is con-sidering the plan suggested by the secre-tary of the interior and indersed by the board of government directors. The sole matters which should be taken into ac-count are the situation of the government as a creditor, and the surest way to secure the payment of the principal and interest of its debt. the protection of well paid labor, and these Of interstate commerce he says that by considerations suggest such an arrange nent of government revenues as shall re ent decision of the supreme court o United States it has been adjudged that the laws of the several states are in operative to regulate rates of transporta-tion upon railroads, if such regulation interferes with the rate of carriage from reduce the compensation of American la-bor, and injuriously effect its condition and the dignified place it holds in the esti-mation of our people. This important field of control and regulation having been thus left entirely unoccupied, the ex-pediency of federal action upon the sub-ject is worthy of consideration. And yet for many of the necessaries and comforts of life, which the most scrupulous economy enables them to bring into their homes, and for their implements of husbandry, they are obliged to pay a price largely in-creased by an unnatural profit which, by the action of the government, is given to the more favored manufacturer. to the settlement of controversies of less extent, and not necessarily within the do-main of federal regulation. REDUCING THE REVENUE

Reaching domestic affairs, the first sub-ject discussed is the tariff, and to this the president devotes a great deal of space, arguing that the necessity for a reduction of the tariff is more urgent than ever. "The income of the government," he says, "by its increased volume and the thorough economy in its collection is now more "by its increased volume and the thorough economy in its collection, is now more than ever in excess of public necessities. The application of the surplus to the pay-ment of such portion of the public debt as is now at our option subject to extinguish ment, if continued at the rate which has lately prevailed, would retire that class of indebtedness within less than one year from this date. Thus a continuation of our present revenue system would soon result in the receipt of an annual income much greater than necessary to meet government expenses, with no indebted ness upon which it could be applied. We should then be confronted with a vast quantity of money, the circalating medi-um of the people, hoarded in the treasury when it should be in their hands, or we should be drawn into wasteful public ex-

The continued opperation of the civil service law, he asserts, has added the most convincing proofs of its necessity and usefulness. At what time of day was Adam bornl A little before Eve. And at that hour we are more apt to conract coughs and colds. Do not neglect them, but take Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mul-Verokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mul-DUMUT FUIGUATION OF STATEM with medicines you know nothing about. Nearly every so-called remedy for Rheu-matism and Neuralgia now offered to the public contains powerful and poisonous-medicines that injure the stomach and leave the patient worse off than before. Do not use them, but take "the old re-liable" one that has stood the test for twenty-five years. One that is free from anything injurious to the system, com-posed wholly of roots and herbs, the medical properties of which are particular-ly adapted to blood diseases.
