THE STATE. SHOOTS HIS LANDLADY.

Because She Asked for His Board Bill—The Murderer Suicides.

Charles J. Wernan of Paterson, N. J., shot and instantly killed Mrs. Susan Bonfrey of Grand Rapids, and then shot himself.

The awful tragedy is the subject of much talk, and the best clue to the trouble is told by the son and daughter. The son says: "Wernan is a man 54 years of age, and has boarded with the family for over a year, coming here from Paterson, N. J., where he leaves an invalid wife and five children. This morning he had some words with mother about his board bill, as she wanted him to pay up some back account. At breakfast table he had exhibited a $100 check, which she said he was going to get cashed and would then pay his bill. For this reason it was not thought he would cause any trouble, although of late he has been drinking some and seemed despondent. She told me he had been drinking, as she smelt his breath. About 8 o'clock he came to the house, and both he and mother had had some words, and he looked over the account. I was asked by mother to go with her, as she expected to see the doctor. She had had some words with mother, and she threatened to leave without getting up at all. I therefore refrained from entering the room and went down to the store. This is the last I saw of my mother alive. Her setting was not committed the dead. There is no other cause for the crime."

Wernan had been known to carry a weapon for some time, and friends of his had feared it might result in some tragedy, and were not greatly surprised when they heard what had done.

The daughter corroborates the story in detail as given by her brother, and attributes the cause of all the trouble to the murder. She says she had seen her father while the unfortunate woman bore a good reputation among those who knew her.

Mrs. Bonfrey was a widow and kept boarders for her support. She had lost her husband by being killed in a coal mine, and the other by a fall which broke his neck.

When the check which the murderer claimed to have found since the tragedy not to have been signed and was made on a New Jersey bank just show.

TRAGEDY NEAR HOMER. A Wife Murdered by Her Husband, Who Then Shoots Himself.

A terrible tragedy took place about two and a half miles south of Homer the other day. About three o'clock in the afternoon George Burton murdered his wife, wounded his mother-in-law, and shot himself.

The family consisted of George Burton, aged 31; Marian, his wife, aged 23, and two children, a boy and a girl, aged 9 and 5 years respectively. Burton first shot his wife twice, the first time in front of the house, and the second time in the kitchen. She had fallen to the ground, then ran up behind Mrs. D. P. Hatch, his mother-in-law, and shot her. She immediately fell, and he, evidently supposing that he had killed her, shot himself, the ball entering on the right side of the head and passing entirely through it.

A jury was impaneled by Justice Webster. The evidence being taken out of the fact that Burton and his wife had parted, and that she had instituted proceedings for a divorce. She had come to the house with the intention of getting her wearing apparel. He began to pick a quarrel with her as soon as she got into the house, shutting her into a room, and finally letting her out, when he jumped through a window to the ground, and fired on the carriage, when he followed and shot and killed her, as above stated, in a lane.

Burton had evidently premeditated the deed, as evidence was brought out by his son, who testified that his father had been practicing all the morning shooting at a mark with his revolver, which evidently was loaded for the deed, as four shots were fired and one chamber was still loaded.

A Deplorable Accident. Chas. Whitbeck was driving in Lakeview the other morning with Fred Han, Miss Hatcher, and Miss Lettie Shaver, and a little Lottie Shaver as his companions.

Though the 10 o'clock eastern train was in sight and had properly signaled the crossing, Whitbeck endeavored to drive across the track. The engine struck the wagon, and the latter left the roadway and landed what was left of their bodies down the embankment. The little girl was carried almost an equal distance and was so horribly mangled that her recovery is impossible. Whitbeck and Hatch were thrown over a pile of fence-posts, but were not seriously injured.

Strewn along the track were parts of the remains of the ladies, both of whom were estimable girls, and one, Miss Shaver, a social beauty. The death of the little girl is felt not only by the relatives and immediate friends of the dead, but by the whole community.

Lottie Shaver, aged 30, resided about four miles north with her parents, Lottie Reynolds, a cousin, aged 15, resided at Terre Haute, Ind., and was visiting her cousin.

Witchcraft at Lansing. Charles W. Stoughton and wife of Lansing were tried the other day for assaulting an old lady, Elizabeth Lee, with darning needles. Stoughton claims to be a practicing attorney and presents a very intelligent appearance. They moved to Lansing from Cassopolis last May. The prisoners' testimony is to the effect that Mrs. Lee bewitched them. Soon after making her acquaintance their house was overrun with toads and slimy flying lizards. When ever they saw her they had a great roaring in the head and became deathly sick. Mrs. Stoughton became salivated with greenish slime, and they were terribly oppressed in various ways. In their extremity they sought the Lord in prayer and in a few days they were released, and in a few days they were released, and in a few days they were released.

Another Murder in Detroit. Peter W. Bursha, a well known engineer on the Bay City division of the Michigan Central road, whose home is in Detroit, was shot and instantly killed the other evening by R. W. Landon, a heartless youth aged about 30 years. Landon had for some time previous to the shooting made his home with Bursha, until the latter charged him with intimacy with Mrs. Bursha, and ordered Landon to seek other quarters, whereupon Landon took room not far from the Bursha home, and it is alleged confined his visits in the absence of Mr. Bursha. Returning from his trip the other evening Bursha met Landon, words ensued, when the latter drew his revolver and shot Bursha dead. The murderer at once gave himself up, claiming that he only shot in self-defense.

The State Paid It. The board of state auditors has allowed the Northwestern manufacturing company $7,335.60 for the oleomargarine factory which was seized and destroyed by the sheriff of Wayne county under the law of 1855. This act prohibited the manufacture of oleomargarine, but it was afterwards declared unconstitutional, and the last legislature authorized the board of state authorities to compensate those who had suffered damages under the act.

ALASKA CANNOT PARTICIPATE.

Gov. Swineford of Alaska, has written a letter to the secretary of the constitutional celebration in which he says:

"I am in receipt of your letter of June 10th, enclosing a copy of the resolutions of the governors of the thirteen colonial states and requesting me to appoint a commissioner to represent Alaska at the celebration, and in reply I have to state that Alaska, being denied the right to send a commissioner, by the terms of the constitution, the celebration of the centennial anniversary of which it is proposed to celebrate, feels that she would be entirely out of place were she to be represented by a commissioner, or otherwise at such celebration. Her people are patriotic and government renders it impossible for them to provide the ways and means with which to defray the cost of sending either a commissioner or any portion of its militia to represent them at the proposed celebration."

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1887. FIRE! FIRE! No Water With Which to Quench it.

A Man on Horseback Sent to Notify the Engineer that Water We Must Have. Great Excitement. Hamilton Cursed, etc.

A little after four o'clock Wednesday morning the bell in the city hall rang for fire. The switch engine on the Toledo road joined in the chorus.

When the water gave out there was hurrying to and fro. The fire started in Sheriff Walsh's barn, who lost his valuable black mare, two buggies and a cutter.

It was not until 6:15 Snow dispatched a man on horseback that there was a supply of water. The Courier pertinently says: "From an investigation of the water supply by some of our city officials, the whole difficulty appears to be that the water company are attempting to supply about 1,000 customers with pumping and water supply facilities for about 600.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR. Platform and Declaration of the Principles of the Order. The alarming development and aggressiveness of the power of great capitalists and corporations, under the present industrial system, will inevitably lead to the pauperization and hopeless degradation of the toiling masses.

Therefore, we have formed the order of the Knights of Labor, for the purpose of organizing, educating and directing the power of the industrial masses.

It is not a political party, it is more, for it is crystallized sentiments and measures for the benefit of the whole people, but it should be borne in mind, when exercising the right of suffrage, and most of the objects herein set forth can only be obtained through legislation, and that it is the duty regardless of party, of all to assist in nominating and supporting with their votes such candidates as will support these measures.

building industries, and for indemnification of those engaged in the work for the fire. The recognition, by incorporation, of orders and other associations organized by the workers to improve their condition and protect their rights.

The enactment of laws to compel corporations to pay their employees weekly, in lawful money, for the labor of the preceding week, and giving mechanics and laborers a first lien upon the products of their labor to the extent of their full wages.

The prohibition by law of the employment of children under 15 years of age. To prohibit the hiring out of convict labor.

To establish co-operative institutions such as will tend to improve the wage system, by the industrial system. To secure for both sexes equal pay for equal work.
