THE STATE.

The C. L. S. C. Hand-books and circulars are out des cribing the coming year's work in the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle. The studies this year have a special interest as they include United States history, American literature and American industries. The C. L. S. C. is for everybody, high school and college graduates and Sept. 22, and the engineers of both trains those who never entered a high school or college; for young, middle-age and old people; for teachers, merchants and meful and pleasant reading with a diploma | ing Wednesday, October 19. 81.50 PER ANNUM. at the close, and for those who can attend

We have a Michigan department the only one in existence—and this year the three or four hundred Chautauquans present at Bay View Assembly organized a Michigan branch of the C. L. S. C., with headquarters at Bay View. Henry Johnson, D. D., of Big Rapids is president, John M. Hall of Flint, superintendent and Miss Carrie E. Skillman of Mt. Clemens, secretary. The C. L. S. C. is one of the most useful societies ever organized and nothing better can be formed in any place for the winter. Write Mr. Hall and he will furnish circulars giving information and help.

His Dinner Killed Him. all the readers in the place a compromise having been effected.

His Dinner Killed Him. Edward Spencer, proprietor of the Spencer house in Novi, purchased a quantity of meat from a Farmington pedler and had piece of corn beef taken from the lot nd cooked with cabbage for dinner. Besides the landlord, his wife and daughter, Edward Pierson of Detroit, a traveling doctor who lives in Wayne, and Mrs. C L. McCrumb of Novi sat down to the table. Shortly after dinner all were taken violently ill. A doctor was summoned and succeeded in giving relief to all but Mr. Spencer. In spite of all the medicinal agents used he sank, and the same afternoon he died. to attend the stricken family. He found that they were undoubtedly victims of poisoning, but the character of the poison he was unable to determine without first making an analysis. He secured some meat and cabbage from the remains of the meal and brought them to Detroit. Dr. Brodie says that the theory of paris green having been the cause of death because used on the cabbage while growing will not hold water, as he learned positively that no paris green had been used upon it. The rest of the family, he says, will pull through all right.

Said to be Unconstitutional. State Senator J. W. Babcock has filed with the supreme court a mandamus which involves the constitutionality of the state swamp land law passed at the recent session of the legislature. Ex-Judge Marston and Col. Atkinson are associated with Senator Babcock in the important with Senator Babcock in the important case. The abolishment of this law would result in a loss of $54,465 to Wayne county, and would also involve ten other hichigan counties in a lesser degree. Senator Labcock has a letter from Judge Cooley which states that in his opinion the new law cannot affect moneys that are the proceeds of swamp lands which, under the act amended, the several counties had become entitled to before the recent act was passed. In all such moneys, Judge Cooley thinks, the counties had ac-

Julge Cooley thinks, the counties had acquired a vested right and the legislature could not divest them of it.

The swamp land law was hotly contested in the last legislature. The old counties of the state, having disposed of their swamp lands in railroad grants, favored the law, while the younger counties, where the swamp lands were still unsold, worked tooth and nail against it. The present movement is instigated by the defeated faction.

Mrs. Fiske's Fortune. Mrs. Fiske of Detroit, who was formerly Mrs. Frank Sibley of Marshall, has come into possession of a fortune which is estimated all the way from $300,000 to $500,-000, by Judge Hooker's decision in the famous Perria-Sib.ev will case, which has Burning Oil.

There is great excitement among oil and gas operators in Toledo, Ohio, over the reports of an immense oil conflagration in the Wood county oil fields. The fire was caused by an explosion in Parker well No. 1, the greatest oil well in the world, a well that has been uncontrollable for days and which flows 10,000 barrels every twenty-four hours. The oil caught fire from the engine and rapidly spread to the other derricks and tanks.

It is in its worst and virulent form, and death was the sure quick result of an attack. The Alesia sailed from Naples on September 3. When nine days out from that port, the first case, that of Luiga Maria, a steerage passenger, was discovered by the ship's doctor. He lingered along for three days in great agony and died. On the following day Paul Antonio Baldageria, another steerage passenger, died of the plague. Both were promptly buried at sea. From that time almost every day until the ship arrived in port a death occurred and a arrived in port a death occurred, and al received the same sea burial. There were eight deaths in all. The others were Jean de Nivolin and Jean Somma, sailors, and

OUR MAN ABOUT TOWN.

He Sees About Everything and Prints About Everything He Sees.

That tall, pale-faced, black whiskered man who is annoying the residents in the Sixth ward by peeking in the windows of their residences in the evening, had better "look a leedle ouat." A trap has been set for him, and if he is not careful, he may fall into it.

As I was perambulating on Washing ton street early Sunday morning, I saw near the old cemetery a donkey and a cow pasturing. To my surprise I also saw several boys, and men old enough to know better, pelting these dumb animals with stones, and I then said, Oh, for a society for the prevention of such cruelty

I have been informed that the officers of the county fair are having the grounds put in good condition, and the buildings in good shape to hold the exhibits. In each department a large increase of entries is expected, and if the weather is only pleasant, a large crowd may be expected. One of the finest exhibits will e the large number of Holstein cattle I hope that this year we shall have a regular old-fashioned fair, and that there will be thousands of persons in attendance. Don't forget that the fair begins

It was an amusing sight the other day when they were flushing the hydrants in the Fourth ward, to see the numerous children called together by such an unusual sight. One little boy, who had a slice of bread and butter thickly spread with jam, was anxious to cross the water on his stilts and so gave his bread to a little playmate to hold while he mounted his wooden legs. The l. p. surreptitiously took several large mouthfuls and handed the lunch back with a look which seemed to say, I like that and would like to hold

It is disgusting, in the extreme, to see able-bodied young men begging for money lupon our streets. I saw two well-dressed men Tuesday, asking for money, saying they wanted to get something to eat. I do not know whether they received any, but it is to be hoped they were refused it. I saw these same two men go into a saloon, so if money was given them a saloon man was the real and true beneficiary of the money received. No one ought to give such men a cent. There is plenty of work for these men if they were not too lazy to do it. I say let them go to work.

I do not know but what it will be a good thing to have the leaves all off from the trees, for then the city will be better lighted. On Ann, between State and Division streets, it is very dark, At Baxter's Old Stand, even with the electric light on State street. Ladies, I am told, feel a little nervous in walking this narrow street after 7 p. m., as lately a man has at-tempted to frigdten a number of young women between the hours of seven and eight in the evening. It is a pity the rascal cannot be caught and severely punished. Several are on to his "racket," now, and he better look out or some fine evening he will find himself in the arms of a burly policeman.

In walking about the city last Sunday, my steps turned towards the new cemetery, which I soon reached. In wandering over the grounds. I could not help but notice the lack of care in all about me. In a city, one the size of Ann Arbor, and which has so many wealthy residents, it is a shame that the city of the dead is not better cared for. I know at this season of the year no place looks as well as in the summer months, and so make due allowance for all that, but one can see in the cemetery that much can and ought to be done to make it more beautiful. Its natural advantages are great, and with a few hundred dollars spent upon it, it could be made one of the most beautiful cemeteries in the state. It will be the final resting place for most of us, and I think we ought to make it as beautiful as it can possibly be made, so the living will love to visit the place, and silently com-mune with their departed dead.

I saw in one of our city papers last week an article saying, "what Ann Arbor needs is a first-class restaurant, where a man can go and take a lady and get a palatable meal or dish of oysters." Now REPAIRING, man can go and take a lady and get a what is the matter with Hangsterfer? Where can you find a neater, more retired place for a man to take a lady than there. Everybody knows, or ought to know, that you can get oysters served in many styles, an excellent cup of coffee, and in fact if you want steak, eggs, etc., you will get them at Hangsterfer's South Main St., Ann Arbor. I think this gentlemen who made the remark, even if he does visit Ann Arbor trequently, perhaps he does not frequent a restaurant with a lady, or he would know we had a suitable place to take any one to. I say let us be thankful for what we have, and in due time, when our Business Men's association shall have done great things for Ann Arbor, then we shall have a restaurant such as this man so badly wants. We have a number of minor places, besides Hang-sterfer's, where a very palatable meal can

THE PANIC AT PERDIDO.

From the Atlanta Constitution. Just how or when Perdido entered upon an era of "flush times," is a matter of small importance.

The village was connected with the outside world by a stage making daily trips to a river landing, a distance of about a dozen miles.

With the rarity of the large bug comes the unsatiated desire to excel in "one's bug," as is the case with diamonds. It will therefore not be long before we shall see stealthy glances cast in the dance at our opposite's bug, or the en-vious comparison of bugs in quiet corners. The fortune-hunter will "size up'' the debutante, not by the size of her diamonds, but by the size of her bug. The educated jewelled-bug will supply a long-felt want.

A Great Wonder. There lived near Alexandria, in Virginia, an old colored man and woman, whom tional advantages, and could read in a she often displayed in a manner that was very irritating to her husband. When she came particularly fractious Daddy would take the Bible and open to that chapter in Revelation begining, "And there appeared a great wonder in heaven, a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under With impressive solemnity he would read as follows: "An' dere 'peared a great wonder in heben, a woman!" Slowly closing the book, he would gaze sternly at his now subdued wife, for the passage never failed to produce the desired effect.—Harper's Magazine.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH

Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and infiamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of diziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. However, only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians.

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."
