Fast Mail Service. Postmaster-General Dickinson has entered into a new contract with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad company bill to outline the facts bearing upon each item. The resolution directing an inquiry into the cause of bad mail service was discussed but not acted upon, and the Blair educational bill was considered for a time, Mr. Hawley of Connecticut speaking in opposition to it. At the cone usion of Mr. Hawley's speech the bill went over. A bill was passed for the relief of David L. Brainard and eighteen others of the for fast mail service between Chicago and Council Bluffs, to take effect March 13. The present contract calls for fast mail service on a schedule of sixteen bours west only six times a week. The new contract is for a daily service both east and west upon a schedule of fourteen and one-half hours, the leaving time at either end to be controlled by the postoffice department. By this arrangement California mail leaving San Francisco in the evening after business hours and arriving at Council Bluffs in the afternoon of the third day will there be taken up by the new fast train and will reach Chicago in time for the first morning delivery on the fourth day from the Pacific coast. It is the purpose of the department to secure if possible, a fast mail from Chicago east, to leave Chicago on the arrival of the Pacific coast train and to make New York in about twenty-five hours from Chicago and about 112 hours from San Francisco. contract is for a daily service both east

LOCAL OPTION.

PROHIBITION prohibits in any locality, whether in Maine or Kansas when public sentiment sustains prohibition; prohibition does not prohibit in any locality in Mnine, Kansas, or anywhere else when the public sentiment of that locality does not sustain the law. This fact accounts for the conflicting reports we get from the prohibition states. Whisky is free in tain the law. In all civilized countries, after all, public opinion is the great engine of government—the right arm of the law. Even in Russia when public opinion finds expression, and cries "On to Constantinople!" the Great White Czar has to obey.

All experience proves that any law is a than useless—unless it is based upon the moral sense of the community and has same afternoon. the steady, persistent backing of public opinion; absolute prohibition could be enforced, indeed it now exists in several towns in Washtenaw county. There is absolutely no liquor selling in Superior, or Pittsfield, or Webster, or Lyndon, or Sharon and several other townships. Public opinion in these localities would enforce prohibition or the local option law. But how is it in Ann Arbor, Manchester, Dexter and Chelsea? The German population is practically unanimous against it. Is it a wise or sensible thing for the temperance people of Washtenaw county to saddle this local option law upon us and then depend upon the Germans of Ann Arbor and Manchester to when every one of these Germans believes from the bottom of his heart that the law is an outrage and deserving only of contempt?

The Chronicle of Feb. 11, laments the fact that there are no Sunday afternoon talks now as in times gone by and says. When Dr. Cocker was a member of the ulty he used to give lectures on Sun day afternons expository of some of the fundamental doctrines of christianity The custom was a good one and i would be well to revive it. There are many students in the university who are very naturally, in an unsettled state of SAFE AND CONVENIENT mind in regard to the fundamental doc trines of the christian faith. If mem pers of the faculty could arrange to give such a series of lectures they would rereceive the thanks of a great many ap preciative students."

THE LADY OF LONE LAKE.

One beautiful summer evening I was rowing with a friend on one of those romantic lakes in the west of Ireland. The day had been a hot one, and the midsummer sun looked like a ball hiding somewhere among her native of fire, as it slowly sank behind the rocks, though how she managed to horizon. It was a beautiful scene. The lake lay like a sheet of silver. To the right were high banks fringed with fact that the body had never been redark trees, and perpendicular cliffs al- covered, though the old lord had offerleft stretched level meadows, dotted with grazing cattle. Above us was the mellow sky, while from the east arose the full moon to replace the fierce rays of the day-god with her mild radiance. In the distance we could see the dark outlines of an old baronial castle, almost hidden by intervening trees. This, my companion informed me, was Larrimoor Hall.

We lav aside our oars, and for a time floated silently over the glassy surface of the lake, enraptured by the beautiful scene. I was a young artist, living in London at that time, and now taking my summer vacation. It was my first visit to the "Emerald Isle," and I had been wandering with delight among the romantic mountains, glens, and lakes, filling my soul with beauty and my portfolio with sketches. My companion was the young Lord of Glendale, whose acquaintance I had made while traveling on the continent.
