THE STATE.

The Women's Appeal. TO THE ELECTORS OF THE STATE OF MICHI-

To the Electors of the State of Michigan:

Fellow Citizens:—We, the Equal Suffrage association of Michigan, desire to bespeak your consideration for the principle which we advocate and which we believe fundamental in a representative government. The question of equal political rights for every intelligent, law-abiding citizen of mature years has outgrown its infancy. It has been actively discussed for forty years in this country. It is an established fact in two territories—in one of them re-enacted after its abrogation by the supreme court, thus showing that it is no longer considered an experiment in that territory—and in one state it is so far established as to make Kansas to-day the best governed state in the Union. With pride you call this country the home of liberty and espouse for yourselves the principle that taxation without representation is tyranny. Now, we call upon you to accept and act upon this principle in its entirety, which can mean nothing less than impartial representation for all citizens, irrespective of sex. When adopting a platform which shall avow your choice of policy, we ask you to disabuse yourselves of sex prejudice, and to supersede it with the broad idea of absolute right. Wendell Phillips said "It is always expedient to do and of this body we affirm that women are a component part, and should have the power of expression on the same terms as men. We protest against all declarations that the will of the people is manifested at the polls so long as one-half of the people is debarred the right of suffrage. We declare it to be our firm conviction that, if the moral sentiment of the women of this country were crystalized into legislation, some of the political problems which are now the despair of statesmen would find an easy solution. We believe that the enfranchisement of women would enfranchise the nation from the foreign idea of the subjection of women.

women would enfranchise the nation from the foreign idea of the subjection of women, and substitute the American idea that gov-ernment rests upon the consent of the gov-erned, and not upon brute force. We be-lieve that the declaration in our national constitution of entire political freedom for every citizen, irrespective of class, color or sex, would advance the United States as far in the van of liberty in this century as did their first declaration of independence in the last century.

A State Geologist Named.

Dr. M. E. Wadsworth, superintendent of the Michigan mining school at Houghton, has been appointed state geologist to succeed the late Charles E. Wright of Marquette.

Dr. M. E. Wadsworth was born in Maine in 1841, graduated at Bowdoin college in 1869, afterward teaching for some years in Minnesota and Wisconsin. From 1873 to 1885 he was an instructor in Harvard university and Agassiz's museum, being largely engaged in original investigation and publication, particularly in connection with the material collected by the California survey under the direction of Prof. J. D. Whitney, state geologist of that state, and formerly United States geologist in Michigan.

Dr. Wadsworth received the degree of Ph. D. from Harvard in 1879. He has served on the geological surveys of New served on the geological surveys of New Hampshire and Minnesota and other parts of America. He has traveled and studied in Europe, and is well known as one of the sarliest as well as one of the most advanced workers in petrography in the United States, having published over eighty articles and works.

In the spring of 1871 James Rock of East Saginaw, a logging contractor, drew a large sum of money on the completion of a job and went to Bay City to pay a debt. He entered a saloon in that place and since then nothing has been heard of him. It was believed he had been murdered and a resident of Saginaw was suspected of the crime. The Liquor Law Again. The Liquor Law Again.

In March last complaint was filed in the circuit court of Newaygo county against a druggist for selling whisky as a beverage. It was quashed by the judge upon the ground that the supreme court had declared section 3 of the liquor law of 1887 unconstitutional. A motion was argued in the supreme court to compel the circuit judge to withdraw the order. This has been granted by the court, and in connection says that: "The circuit judge misapprehended the effects of the decision. We held the forfeiture of the business clause to be invalid, but further held that the new taxes and penalties not involving the peculiar d penalties not involving the peculiar sabilities named are valid as well as the w method of prosecution in the upper in-ead of the police courts. APRIL 26, SENATE.—The conference report on the house joint resolution accepting invitation of the French Republic to agroad land forfetture out and Mr. Palme gued against all amendments affecting ands granted to the state of Michigan for tilroad purposes, and afterwards deede the Lake Superior Ship Canal Company fr. Dolph made a speech on the general and policy of the government and to refut the assertions of Senator Kenna on the floot party was responsible for the policy. The administration of the public domain by the republican party, he said, had been wise and judicious, in the interest of the settlers and the public. At the close of Mr. Dolph's speech the bill was laid aside. Several bills were taken from the calendar and passed. Mr. Hale desired to call up and pass the senate bill for the appointment and retirement of John C. Fremont as a major general in the United States army, but as Mr. Reagan said that he desired to speak against it, and was not now prepared, Mr. Hale did not insist. Mr. Hale offered a resolution which went over, calling on the secretary of the interior for statements as to the appointments made in his department since March, 1885. The senate then at 5:25 adjourned until Monday.

House.—Four tariff speeches occupied most of the time of the house to-day. A resolution was adopted calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to the number of persons engaged in manufacturing and agricultural pursuits who are subject to foreign competition. The house then went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill.

April 27, House.—The day was devoted of a discussion of the tariff question by depresentatives Brewer and Ford of Mich-

APRIL 28, House.—Representative Tarsney spoke upon the tariff to an audience of less than forty members, the remaining congressmen being absent upon a trip to the launching of the war ships at Philadelphia. The discussion then took a colloquial turn and the subjects of free trade, protection, the wages of laboring men, the fisheries, ship-building, etc., were touched upon and at times the questions and answers caused reeat morriment among the few members

April 30, Senate.—Mr. Stewart introduced a bill to make the silver coinage $4,000,000 monthly; also a resolution of inquiry as to the amounts of bullion purchased by the government, prices and sellers. The resolution offered by Mr. Hale last week, calling on the secretary of the interior for information as to appointments in his department below the civil service grade, since March, 1885, was adopted. Mr. Spooner offered a resolution, which was laid over, calling on the secretary of the treasury for information in regard to the appointments in the New York custom house since March, 1885. Senate bills for public buildings at Youngstown, O. ($100,000), and Akron, O. ($75,000), were passed. The unearned land grant forfeiture bill was taken up and discussed a short time when it went over, and the international copyright bill was taken

The motion to refer the president's message was up and Mr. Voorhees proceeded to address the senate thereon. At the conclusion of Mr. Voorhees' speech the matter went over. On motion of Mr. Frye the conference report on the joint resolution for a conference of the American nations was non-concurred in and a new conference was ordered. The animal industry bill was laid aside and the bill to forfeit unearned land grants was taken up but went over without action and the senate adjourned.

House.—Three tariff speeches by Messrs. Bynum, Brown and Dockery consumed most of the time of the session. At the conclusion of Mr. Dockery's remarks, the house took a recess till eight o'clock in the evening, for further discussion of the tariff bill. At the evening session, Mr. Shaw of Maryland spoke in favor of the bill, and was followed by Mr. Glass of Tennessee on the same side. The house adjourned at 10.25. OUR MAN ABOUT TOWN.

He Sees About Everything and Prints About Everything He Sees.

Once in a while you will hear of strange things being done, and one of the strangest I heard of was when all the refuse and every such thing, together with dish many persons are doing nothing towards cleaning up their premises. It seems to me that such persons are mighty indolent or else something worse. It is now time to remove unsightly piles of refuse have known huge ash piles to remain from year to year as living monuments of such amilies thrift and industry.

"Bologna" proceeded with much deliberation to cut it into, and, after handing half of it to his companion they both be-gan to eat as if they enjoyed it, entirely oblivious of those around them who could hardly repress a smile.

I was amused Saturday evening while upon the street a young couple passed me riding in a carriage. A little ahead was an electric light, and just as they drove nearly beneath it the young man put his her. I wondered why he did not wait until they had passed the light, but my companion remarked, "I presume she looked so pretty he couldn't wait."

I was amused the other day to see sev. eral boys loaded with empty tin cans and other refuse looking for some place to deposit their load without taking too long a walk. Finally on Division street they espied a cellar where the house had just been moved from and they thought that a good place to dump their refuse. In an instant a woman appeared upon the scene from an adjoining house, and it is safe to say that the boys went on still looking for a hole in the ground.

I notice in walking around the city these miserable little nuisances, pet dogs, which, before you are aware of it, are snapping at your heels. The other day I saw a lady nearly frightened out of her wits by one of those little curs who folowed her for some distance barking and attempting to bite her. The owner of the dog tried to quiet him but it was no go. I say muzzle the dogs. Now is the time to kill off a hundred or more of worthless curs which run the streets.

The tramp is becoming very numerous. He is here, there, and everywhere, always wanting something to eat but never wanting to work. I heard of one the other day calling at a house and asking for his breakfast. A gentleman or- May 12th. dered something for him to eat, and then said: "I should think an able-bodied man like you would prefer to work and not beg." The tramp replied: "I did not come here to be lectured. I will not do all kinds of work, and if I cannot get what I want, I will not work at all," and turning upon his heel indignantly left without eating his breakfast. In talking with one of our board of health last week the gentleman said that there would be rigorous precautions taken to keep the city in a good sanitary condition this summer. That vast auditorium of the Academy of Music was crowded to the doors last evening, and the famous actors, whose visit has been looked forward to by countless theatregoers with pleasurable anticipations, were received with a mighty storm of cheers as they stepped upon the stage as Noble Romans in the first scene of "Julius Cæsar." In all their travels together since early autumn Mr. Booth and Mr. Barrett have nowhere met with a wellcome equal in warmth to that which greeted them on their return to the metropolis. Their tour has been a series of great triumphs, and there is reason to believe its greatest triumph will be here in New York. The performance of Shakespeare's tragedy last night was followed with deep interest and often interrupted with spontaneous applause. It was, in many respects, a noble rendering of a noble work; the two principal actors were in good health and spirits, and their acting was vigorous and moving; the subordinate parts were all sensibly treated and a few of returned for the same cause. The Industrial Educational association of New York city has been making inquiries into the methods of man- Aman who has practiced medicine for 40 years ual training as conducted in the public schools of various cities. A committee of experts was appointed to examine into and report the best system for the progress and extension of the work. The report of the committee has been made public, and it is valuable for its and its effect is wonderful, and would say in cluston that I have yet to find a case of Can that it would not oure, if they would take it as too much to do with words and the memorizing of symbols, and too little to do with things; that the education of our youth should include a training to express thought by the labor of the to express thought by the labor of the hand as well as to express it by language. Manual training to be of practical benefit should be brought into the tical benefit should be brought into the primary departments, where the child should be trained to observe and to extend to observe and to extend the primary departments. Where the child in a southern tour, and is accused of trying to nurture a Vice-Presidential boom. should be trained to observe and to express his ideas in clay and with pencil as well as abstractly in language.

The next step in the child's education is to drill him less in the technicalities of grammer groography and the pressure of the grammer groography and the grammer groography and the grammer group of the grammer group o of grammer, geography and the puz-zling problems of arithmetic; and to bring him more in contact with materithings and forces which will still further g've him the ability of express-ing his thoughts by handiwork. Then would follow the manual training school which would admit pupils at an age when they could profitable take up the use of wood and machine tools. Here would be the opportunity for the pupil to advance in the use of edge tools rather than to enter a high school. And the course of training at this stage combined with the study of English, higher mathematics and kindred subjects should be made equivalent to a three or four years' course in the high school. A graduate of such a training school would then be fully equipped to engage in trades requiring a trained at present? In almost every city the department s attached to the high school. But the high school pupil has too many studies on hand already to give manual training its proper attention. So that while he may ta e one of two lessons a week in the workshop, his untrained hand and his slow progress is more apt to discourage than to encourage his efforts. And as now in operation the manual experiment has little opportunity for future development or increased usefulness.
