THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

York World.

The Alaskan boundary question has had a large share of the attention of wide-awake Americans this week. This matter is of no little importance to the United States, when Great Britian claims to own over 600 miles of Alaska's coast line-the very part of that peninsula which is of the most value for commerce. The mining properties along the Yukon river near the city of to a great degree the remarkable Jun'eau are the spoils which attract growth of musical appreciation in this England's greed. This territory was everywhere recognized as belonging to our territory of Alaska, from 1825 until 1894, when the first claim was made that Canada covered this island in her boundary. The people of Alaska are unwilling to concede this point which has lain dormant so long, and they are naturally just as anxious to keep the property for Uncle Sam because of the mining prospects, as the Canadians are to take it for John Bull. England's threatening attitude toward Venezuela, Brazil, and Russia has forced those nations to prepare for self defence, and if she tries to press her claims in Alaska, the United States will be very loth to yield what she justly owns. THE G. O. P. IN UTAH.

The campaign policy adopted by the Republican leaders in Utah is meeting with deserved condemnation. The following editorial from the Boston Post shows that paper's opinion:-The position of the Republican party in Utah is perhaps more contemptible than in any other part of the country. Utah is undoubtedly Democratic on a free vote. To secure an advantage in the choice of State officers at the approaching election, the Republican managers procured the interference of George A. Cannon and Joseph E. Smith in their capacity as officials of the Mormon church, to detach Democrats from allegiance to their party. They approved the action of Mormons in accepting the nomination on the Republican ticket, censured those who took places on the Democratic ticket, and laid the heavy hand of the church on the people in aid of the Republican party This is a shameful record with which the Republican party enters upon its career in the State of Utah which is to be. And it is also likely to be a record of defeat, for Mormons as well Gentiles revolt at this intolerable alliance of Church and State.

God meant us to be well and not sick. His Health Decalogue is as binding as as the Ten Commandments. When a human being is not well and strong, the only question in order is,

"Who did sin, this man or his parents?" In the encounter of two sets of opinions, each striving for the mastery, war may be compared to two engines bumping each other, thereby to decide the disputed question of rights; while the war of words, of resolutions, of parties and parliaments is like two storm-clouds in which the tendency is like an equilibrium, and the outcome is a purification of the air.

It remains forever true that not until the duty of Christian citizenship become part and parcel of the daily religion of the household, shall we have reached the level of the simple demand made by the Gospel.

The influx of an illiterate foreign population is the chief menace of the republic. There should be held before them the inducement of mastering our language, and they should be hedged away from the ballot-box by a probation of at least ten years.

What the world waits for is not the new woman alone, but the new man. We need a new man in the editor's sanctum who will not dip up dirt along with his ink. We need a new man in the labratory who will not as the ultimatum of his studies, rule God out of the universe; we need a new man in the medical profession who will not administer alcoholics nor practice vivisection; we need a new man at the bar who will make peace instead of pocket fees; we need a new man in the legislature and cabinet who really believes in the Ten Commandments and supremely seeks the welfare of the

> Marvin Davenport, the janitor of the court house, has been re-elected to that position by the board of supervisors, for another year. The board stipulated, however, that Mr. Davenport be responsible for the cleaning of the walks around the court house, this winter. Our Man is glad that this matter is now likely to receive attention. On former winters, snow and ice has collected on the stone walks around the court house, and been either packed like polished marble, or allowed o melt into slush and water. When the walks have been in either of these conditions, one has to be in danger of and elegant scenery. It will be given severe falls, or else of contracting a bad cold from damp feet. the calmest man nervous. Speaking of University hall reminds Our Man that he long ago registered a solemn vow to protest against the miserable seats with which that auditorium is furnished. It is the wonder if all visitors to Universty hall, that a place of such prominence, where the most celebrated lecturers and musicians of the world speak to crowded houses of cultured people, should be furnished with seats more uncomfortable than those of a county fair grand stand. I say more uncomfortable, because the rows of seats are built so close together that one is obliged to sit as straight as a ramrod through the whole hour and a half, or two hours that each entertainment lasts. If one ould leave the hall when he is tired of sitting there or could move about as he can in a grand stand, he could stand the seats better. But it is hardly allowable to do these things in University hall. All of the board seats should be removed, and opera chairs furnished in their place. If this is thought to be too expensive, the seats should at least makes me unwilling to more than hint be furnished with cushions.

Our Man was greatly amused by an incident which happened last Friday night near the corner of State st. and S. University ave. An elderly gentleman who resides in that neighborhood had started from his house to take an after-supper stroll when he saw several young men sitting on his horse block. This appeared to him as rather strange and before he had walked a block from the house, he determined to return and protect his house from burglary and his family from murder at the hands of the suspicious characters. When the young men saw him turn back, they ran around the corner as fast as their legs could carry them. If any doubt as to the villians' motives had existed in the house owner's mind, it was quickly dispelled by this action. the bleaching of every banner until it during the illness and death of his If the men were innocent why should daughter, May E. They were evidently bent on mischief, so the house owner raised a window and challenged them in stentorian tones, while the pug dog joined in with lusty barks. The words had hardly been spoken before one of the ghostly figures who was being led by the others, broke into a hearty laugh and was promptly gagged by his guards. Then a masked figure tiptoed over to the window and informed the irate man of the house that he and his fellows were a body of fraternity students in the act of initiating a candidate into the secrets of their order. He added that the mystery of the occasion was decidedly interrupted by the pug's barks and the gentleman's practical directions to get out of his back yard. Of course the trespass was readily forgiven, but the spell was broken, as the candidate could not believe that he was perambulating through the lower regions, when he was in one of Ann Arbor's heavenly

Home Culture.

There has come to our notice recently, an enterprise which has been organized for the purpose of educating, in their own homes, the class of people who either have not had opportunity in the past or who do not now have an opportunity to study in the public schools. To this beneficent organization we are more than pleased to extend our hearty greeting, and wish it all the success undertaking deserves. The one thing which this country needs is a more general education for the working people It is this idea that has led many great thinkers to advocate home study, particularly where outside instruction is It is the man that devotes a few spare minutes each day to study, who dvances from day laborer to foreman;

who becomes the master mechanic; the head of the office. Few persons seem to be aware, in regard to the subject of education, how largely a willing student can dispense with external aid. The opinion, also common, that to learn anything in science, art, or any of the higher branches, beyond the first rudiments, the learner must place himself in the hands of a gifted professor, and carry on his labor in the atmosphere of the class-room, is a mischievous delusion.

While we would not decry our magnificent system of public schools, we believe that some system of home training is absolutely necessary in order that men in all classes and conditions of life may fit themselves for life's work. Not only is it necessary for our citizens to understand something of what is comthe M. E. church sheds, on E. Washington st. The livery barn of Wm. W. Wallace adjoining the shed. thorough training in business methods including business laws, business arith metic, shorthand, and book-keeping In short, to achieve success in life, it i necessary that men be trained in that which will prove the most serviceable to them in their vocations.

Within the past few years many prom inent educators have endeavored to devise means which would supply this great public need. The remarkable movement known as University Extension, the formation of Chatauqua circles, the establishment of night schools for laboring men, are all evidences of this desire to bring self-education within the reach of every citizen. The most recent attempt to solve the great problem of home education is the establishment of the Co-operative Educational Association, at Ann Arbor, Michigan, the seat of the great University of Michigan. This Association having for its purpose the aid and encouragement of those who desire to pursue home study, is desirous of extending its work over the greater part of the United States, and in order that it may do so, desires the hearty co-operation of educators and studious people everywhere. Its officers will be pleased to correspond with any who may be interested, and to furnish all information in regard to the work they propose to carry on. This association is the outcome of four years' work by Mr. George O. Turk, of this city. Mr. W. B. Phillips, receiver of the Register Pub. Co., is One needs to begin with his father. There is so close a relation between the wantonness of the destroyer and the darker deeds of the criminal that perhaps we are justified in keeping a suspicious watch on any man, woman or child who will destroy plants, books and pictures or throw stones at helpless animals. The excessive aggression that mutilates and makes ugly will trespass on others' enjoyments, rights and properties with but little more development. This is seen particularly in the case of burglars. These fellows, not content with stripping a house of all they can get, not infrequently destroy what they cannot carry away. They burn papers, tear paintings from their frames, smash furniture, break glass and otherwise act like incarnate fiends. It might not be a bad idea in case of the capture of these men to impose sentences graded to accord with the amount of damage they had worked. THE USE OF WIRE.

The Multiplication of Purposes to Which It Is Being Put. A marked increase in the demand for wire has been noted of late as a feature in the general revival of trade This is of especial interest and importance, as it not only means better wages for more men in the great wire mills but it also proves renewed activity in the manufacture of electrical devices, an already great and constantly growing one, upon which almost every phase of commercial and mechanical activity is nowadays more or less intimately dependent. Increased prosperity in the electrical business can mean nothing else than a widespread demand for new trolley lines, lengthened or duplicated telegraph and telephone plants, more dynamos and motors, added messenger circuits, the multiplication of the push button in all its endless uses-in short. the awakening of the industrial world from its recent state of suspended animation. The people of this period have a thousand uses for wire not thought of fifteen or twenty years ago, and the news that many of the establishments where it is made are forced to run twenty-four hours a day, and that some of them are even then unable to fill all the orders they receive, is as good an indication as could be desired that calamity howling will not be numbered among this fall's styles.

Florence Nightingale's Message. Florence Nightingale recently sent the following message to the girls of Great Britain. It will apply to American girls as well: "My 'message' to girls would be: 1.

Train yourselves to your work, to your life. The last twenty-five or thirty years has recognized beyond everything this necessity of training. 2. Have a higher object than the mere undertaking in all you undertake. When we fail or are disappointed, we lose heart and perhaps 'strike work.' But if we have recognized ourselves as (I will not say only) a wheel or a tool in the hands of that Almighty highest and truest and best, we have that blessing of being a part of the whole, and, whatever our own failure, are never cast down. 3. OHIO LYNCHERS SHOT DEAD.

A Bloody Battle at Tiffin Between Officers and a Howling Mob. Lee Martin, a farmer near Watson, O., tried to strangle a small boy to death. The lad's screams brought cue. Burkhart swore out a warrant for Martin's arrest, but when Marshal Shultz and Officer Sweeny tried to make the arrest Martin shot Shultz dead and seriously wounded Sweeney. The murderer was captured, and locked up at Tiffin. When the news of this dastardly crime became known there was great ndignation expressed on every and lynching became one of the chief topics of conversation throughout the ounty and culminated in a mob of about 350 men, mostly farmers, but headed some of the toughest citizens of the county, surrounding the jail about 1:30 a. m. They had sledge nessey who were on guard on the outand beating them, they proceeded to a side door of the jail and with wild stantly filled with blood thirsty men, but an iron door barred progress to the cells. Sheriff Vannest begged the mob to disperse, but this only sheriff and his two deputies, who then schler and Chris Matz, who the mob and they left the jail cursing mite and blow up the jail.

Three hours later Martin, the murderer, was smuggled from the jail by officers and taken in a carriage to Sandusky county and then by train to Cleveland. For almost 20 hours the jail was surrounded by the howling mcb, and it was feared that they might repeat their attempt to break to be called out, and 400 soldiers were soon prepared for any emergency. The Sixteenth regiment, O. N. G. was placed under marching orders.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Dun's says: Two weeks ago gold exports seemed very near. But the break in cotton which then began ripened into a collapse sufficient to justify hope of a free movement. Hides have also dropped sharply, leather is weaker, and the adjustment of prices to real instead of imaginary conditions progresses. Already the lower prices of iron have brought out some important contracts. Money markets cause remarkably little trouble. Cooler weather has generally helped retail trade and with increased consumption by the millions the way will be clear for better business. Already payments through clearing houses closely approach for October those of the best year in history, though reflecting in part past transactions, and new orders are still much needed by the great industries. Cotton exports improve but little because foreign stocks are so large and the lower prices give more confidence to mills which feared to purchase and manufacture when decline was reasonably expected. Wheat has risen, but small exports show plainly a slack demand from abroad. Nobody can give a reason for higher corn, and pork declines without reason. Textile manufacturers have for the moment been disturbed rather than helped by the decline in cotton, because it checks buying of some fabrics with lower prices. The demand for worsteds and dress goods is encouraging while in woolen goods the situation does not improve. Dun's says: Two weeks ago gold exports

American Missionary Association at Detroit-Strange Death of a St. Clair Lady -Train Robber Smalley Didn't Shoot Detective Powers but His Double Did

A Notable Missionary Gathering. The forty-ninth annual session of the American Missionary association was held at Detroit. The reports showed a grand work among the Negroes in the south, the American Indians, and the Chinese in America. The expenditures for the year were $337,334. The association now controls 117 hools, with 13,732 pupils, 212 churches 11,831 members, and 15,289 Sunday chool scholars, and 649 missionaries under its direction. Of these 74 schools are in the south, for the emancipation of the Negro by education, employing 405 teachers, and are attended by 981 pupils. They embrace every kind of school up to the university.

Among the many prominent speakers were President J. B. Angell, LL. D. and Gen. O. O. Howard, U. S. A. ynching outrages of the south were strongly denounced. Boston was chosen as the place for holding the next convention. Officers elected: President, Merrill E. Gates, Mass.; corresponding secretaries, Rev. A. F. Beard, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Rev. F. P. Woodbury, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Rev. C. J. Ryder, Stamford, Conn.; recording secretary, Rev. M. E. Strieby; treasurer, Henry W. Hubbard, New York.

The body of a woman was found in the Detroit river at Amherstberg, Ont., on Sept. 30. It was not identified, but after three weeks was exhumed by a Pinkerton detective from Chicago, in, but Sheriff Vannest appealed to who had been working up the matter Gov. McKinley who ordered the troops and it was identified as that of Miss Olive Carleton, of St. Clair. Itappears that she bought a ticket at St. Clair for Detroit, and there purchased a korea attracted much attention among ticket for Chicago. Her baggage was checked through to Chicago, and was checked through to Chicago, and was there called for, but not by Miss Carleton. The fact that they contained a number of valuables strenghthens the theory of murder. She had $200 with trated at Tonawanda, N. Y., to be her, a gold watch and jewelry, which are missing. The woman was not known to have any enemies or alliwould lead anyone to think it a case of suicide. Miss Carleton was a woman who was widely respected in her home community, and apparently she was happy and contented.

Smalley Did Not Murder Powers. Officers have been steadily at work on the C. & W. M. train robbery at Fennville and as the result of careful nvestigation at Brinton, McBain, ennville and other points some startng disclosures have been made. It is said that John Ambrose Smalley, who was shot and killed by detectives at MeBain really had nothing to do with the killing of Detective Powers the ight after the robbery. A perfect alibi has been undoubtedly proved and the officers admit it, but it is just as certain that he planned the entire affair and thus had a guilty knowledge of it. I'he startling fact, however, is the assertion made that Smalley has a double, and it was he who shot Powers. For reasons best known to themselves, the officers think it best not to sclose his name just now. The petition to Gov. Rich to investigate the cilling of Smalley, and signed by 35 names, will be forwarded soon. Meanwhile the toils tightening about the double of Smalley's and his youthful companion, and when they are captured the entire plot will be laid bare.

RUSSIA, ENGLAND AND JAPAN NOW IN A STEW.

Sussia is Making Big Preparations to Seize Kores and Has Hypnotized China-England and Japan May Unite to Oppose

London: The Times correspondent were fired into the cab, but hurt no t Hong Kong, learns from the a reliable source that by the new Russo-Chinese treaty Russia obtains rights to anchor her fleet at Port Arthur and to construct and work under Russian adninistration, railways from Nertchinsk Vladivostock, and and Tsitsihar to from Tsitsihar to Port Arthur. But the Chinese reserve the option to purchase the railways 20 years hence at a price to be arranged hereafter. In an editorial the Times says: "Russia cannot possibly imagine that the great powers will view with indifference such an audacious destruction of the balance of power. China's option to purchase the railway is a jest almost too cynical to find a place in any serious diplomatic transaction. the indicated conditions Manchuria would practically become a Russian province while Pekin would be within Russia's grip. Russian statesmen can-not possibly execute them unless they have definitely resolved to plunge into vast and dangerous activities." Another distatch says; A Russian squadron of 15 ships has left Vladivostock for Chemulpo and Fusan. The Japanese fleet in Formosan waters has been recalled and several British warships have been ordered to sail for Korea. It is stated that Japan's reply to the demand of Russia to evacuate St. Clair Woman Murdered and Robbed. Korea is a pacific but firm protest against dictation by Russia. It is regarded at Shanghai as certain that ussia will permanently occupy Fusan. The dispatch also says that the situation is most grave and that preparations for the expected struggle are visible on all sides. Washington: The cable reports that a fleet of 15 vessels was on its way to Korea attracted much attention among east. It is regarded as presenting grave conditions. The latest advices from Vladivostock indicate that Russia intends to forcibly protest against the further occupation of Korea by Japan. London cables assert that following the lead of Russia, England has ordered pective trouble. In diplomatic circles t is freely asserted that England intends to prevent the occupation of any Korean port by the Russians, and it is elieved that an alliance between Great Britain and Japan may result from the present situation.

Spaniards Badly Whipped-800 Killed. The Cuban junta in the United States has received advices of a heavy battle in the province of Puerto Principe in which the Cubans won a great victory, which gave them control of that province. The dispatch says:

Gen. Maceo, acting under orders from the war minister, started to march from Santiago de Cuba to join Gen. Sanchiez in Las Billas, in the province of Santa Clara, where they were to unite forces and ravage the sugar plantations. The Spanish got wind of Gen. Maceo's intentions and immediately dispatched a formidable column of 2,800 men under Gen. Echague to prevent the junction of the Cuban armies. This column found Gen. Maceo as far advanced on his way as the San Juan valley, in the south of Cuba, between Polguin and Barajugua. were cavalry and 2,500 infantry. Spanish had 200 men less, but this diference was more than compensated for by the possession of three excellent sieces of artillery. The battle began at once and was fought by the Cubans with great fury. After four hours of terrific fighting, Gen. Echague was overrun Puerto Principe and have affected a junction with Gen. Sanchiez

Unnoticed, the sleeves filled with a mirror, a silver watch, a silver snuffgas generated from the gasoline, and before she knew it she began to float buckles, a silver tie-pin, three silver to the ceiling. She screamed for as- studs, a gold seal ring, a knife and fork, sistance, but, being alone in the house with silver handles, a sewing case, an and quite remote from neighbors, nobody heard her, and she was obliged to remain aloft in the room until the toothpick, a sword, a silver-mounted gas escaped, when she gently descended. Except a slight bruise on the forehead she escaped uninjured.

TWO MOTHERS.

Tormented Woman Through Her Child When the well-to-do boarder's lit tle boy died she called in the womar who swept and scrubbed halls, attended to the furnace and did scullery work in general about the place and showed her the little fellow as he lay in his flower-decked coffin, so sweet and pretty in his last peaceful sleep. The scrubwoman had a boy of her

The Mad Speculation in English Road

emanated from a madman's brain would, during this memorable year (1836) have found credulous English investors. It is difficult, in fact, to be-not insane. In Durham, for instance, three railways, all running in parallel lines, not far apart, were projected. At Greenwich speculators were eager to tunnel the park, and lest the vandalism should arouse indignation, proposed to erect marble arches adorned with marble busts. One inventor, confident that wind was a better motive power than steam, endeavored to propel his engine by means of sails Another was certain that by the aid of rockets he could drive his locomotive at the rate of 100 miles an hour. Even more delirious was the rush for fortune in 1845-46. The number of prolects was enormous. The number of lines, on paper, duplicated everywhere, or carried into the remotest localities. One was advocated because it passed through a country "celebrated for its genial climate;" another because it ran across ground that had been invaded by the Danes, and the London and Exeer was actually thrust upon the market on the plea that it ran along the road used by the Romans. It is estimated that £100,000 per week were

she said bitterly. "It's always such as yours that goes and such as mine that stays. He's never been well, and he never will be well. He's a torment to himself and to me, and to everybody about the place. It's a continual scratching to keep body and soul together, and if I should die what would become of him then? It ain't that I'm unnaturally hard-hearted, but pinching and scraping along makes brutes

"You'll be sorry some day," the other replied, turning again to her little one. The boarder moved away, and it was three years before the women met again.
