Good Health

And a good appetite go hand in hand. With the loss of appetite, the system cannot long sustain itself. Thus the fortifications of good health are broken down and the system is liable to attacks of disease. It is in such cases that the medical powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are clearly shown. Thousands who have taken Hood's Saraparilla testify to its great merits as a purifier of the blood, its powers to restore and shapen the appetite and promote a healthy action of the digestive organs. Thus it is, not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story and constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Why not take Hood's Saraparilla now?

Ann Arbor High School Reunion.

One of the pleasantest reunions ever held in this city occurred Monday afternoon and evening of this week in the parlors of the Presbyterian church, The officers of the Ann Arbor High covering a period of twenty years, school alumni for ensuing year are as from 1856 to 1876. Quite a number at-At 6.30 the company sat down to an excellent banquet furnished by the ladies of the Presbyterian church.

The toastmaster for the occasion was Judge A. V. McAlvay, of Manistee, and a better one could not have been selected. Judge McAlvay was full of wit and his friends can testify that he is the same old "Dock" as in his boynood days.

Rev. J. M. Gelston pronounced the nvocation and the audience sang oue of the old class songs, "O, Come, Come Away" after which the wants of the inner man were gratified.

At the close of the banquet another ong, "Never to be Late" was sung after which Judge C. B. Grant called the "roll." Prof. O. B. Briggs was to respond to he toast. 'The Opening of the Ann Arbor High School," but as he was absent, Hon. E. B. Pond responded, and as he was a school trustee at that time, he gave an interesting account of the opening and struggle of the school. Judge C. B. Grant responded to "The 876." Judge Grant was one of the old

Ann Arbor High School from 1856 to teachers, and is beloved by the old scholars. He responded in a manner which showed his earnestness and his interest in the school to be as great now as when he was its principal. Judge Grant is a forceful speaker and holds the attention of his audience.

"Teachers of the Ann Arbor High School," was responded to by Irving K. Pond, class of '75, of Chicago, Ill. of this city maintains its usual high Mr. Pond is full of wit and his treat was one of the best of the evening.

Prof. Perry gave an account of 'Noted High School Students," and it was exceedingly interesting to know of the students who had made a record Lang Syne." Mrs. Lucy Swift-Burns, class of '64, Detroit, Mich., responded to this toast and her reminiscences were greatly enjoyed. Prof. D'Ooge was called upon as was also Miss Abbie B. Mize, who had been old teachers, and both made a few remarks, A song written for the occassion by George Newell Lovejoy, to the tune of were then given by a number present spoke in enthusiastic words of 'ye olden times" and of the gratification of being able to be present at the second reunion. A short business session was then held and the exercises of the evening closed with singing "God be The officers elected for the following Miss Anna Noble; treasurer Miss Lucy Chapin; necrologist, M'ss Josie Hamil ton. > Your Physical Condition Needs attention this time. If you are tired, weak and nervous, it is clear that your blood is impure, and without doubt there has been too much overwork or strain on brain and body. The course of treatment for such a condition is plain and simple. The blood must first be purified so that the neryous system, and in fact all the organs will be fed upon pure blood. Intelligent people without number have testified that the best blood parifier, nerve tonic and strength imparting medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Nervousness, loss of sleep and general debility all vanish when Hood's Sarsaparilla is persistently taken; in a word, health and happiness follow after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A Javanese Temple. The temple of Boerodoader is one of the largest of the ancient temples in Java. These temples consist of vast masses of sculptured stone, built on enormous mounds covering sometimes two or three acres of ground. They are built terrace upon terrace, with stone passages running round the entire structure, which is conical in shape. The walls of these passages are a mass of extraordinary sculpture whose subject is often of a very indecent character. The stones themselves are of immense size and the whole is in s wonderful state of preservation.

The age of these Mahommedan monuments is estimated at 1,200 years and their gigantic construction is ascribed to immigrants from India and Ceylon Huge statues of stone, mostly headless adorn the corners and pinnacles of the temples, to which there is no interior beyond a few small cells.-Westminster

It would be well Nature had disguised George Eliot's apparently stoical vet really vehement and sensitive spirit and her soaring genius in a homely and insignificant form, says Locker-Lampson in his reminiscences. Her countenance was equine she was rather like a horse, and her head had been intended for a much larger body-she was not a tall woman. She wore her hair in not pleasing outof-fashion loops, coming down on either side of her face, so hiding her ears, and her garments concealed her outline they gave her a waist like a milestone. You will see her at her very best in the portrait by Sir Frederic Burton. To my mind George Eliot was a plain
