OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1896.

QUEER JOKE.

So many professors and clergymen are taking an active interest in the present record-breaking campaign that a few surplus politicians might be assigned to the pulpit and to the peda-gogical class rooms with profit to the professors, clergymen and politicians and with benefit to the dear people.— Washtenaw Evening Times.

This probably is a joke; but as it is campaign, the election of the Chicago not labeled, our professorial and cleri. cal friends, who have little appreciation of wit or humor, especially that springing from the Times editorial mind, need to be cautioned against going into tantrums through taking it seriously. Really the Times would not, if it could forbid professors, clergymen and other intelligent citizens of whatever calling from having opinions as to the advisability of the United States alone undersilver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The Times, quite as much as THE DEMOCRAT, believes the success of popular government depends on the intelligence and Bryan does? By such demagogic methhonesty of the community making itself ods Mr. Bryan may win the Presidency, felt in political life. The Times agrees but if he does thinking men may well with us that the canker of American ask if popular government is after all a politics is the professional politician, who regards public office as a private snap. The humor of this clipping can be made apparent even to the profes sorial mind, but as we have not the space to devote to a lengthy commentary we leave each professor to discover for himself the little nugget of wit hidden

Thus early in the academic year we take this opportunity to call attention to the Times style of joke, and to advise professors and clergymen that any editorial utterance which may seem to reflect on them or their calling will up- that children of residents of this school on analysis be discovered to have hidden beneath its harsh exterior a tender and juicy bit of humor or a most irresistible For school purposes they are not re-

WE are told that bankers and capitalists have been hoarding gold because the appreciation in its value was greater than the returns offered by any other legitimate investment. Within the last twenty years it is said that the purchasing power of gold has doubled. If gold investments are so profitable why do not our silver friends invest? They can get gold on exactly the same terms as bankers can. If a farmer has one thousand dollars on deposit in a bank he can withdraw it in gold, or if gold is refused he can withdraw it in United States notes which the United States Treasury will receive for gold. We wonder that the free silver enthusiasts, who alone believe in this great advance in the value of the gold, have not during the past twenty years been investing their surplus earnings in it. The chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, for instance, is not so extremely scrupulous about the means of adding to his wealth that he would not invest in gold rather than in Dakota land if he believed half of what he says about the appreciation of gold. The Democratic Candidate for Congress in this district is known to be of a thrifty turn, and he doubtless, in making his investments, has not overlooked the claims gold hoarding as a means of adding to his gains. As he has preferred to invest in other kinds of property rather than in gold, we take it that he too is not a very hard believer in his own declarations regarding the appreciation of the yellow metal.

When a man's professed beliefs are not in accord with his business practice it is usually safe to decide that he is working a flim flam game.

Suppose, my friends, over on the to keep Ann Arbor trade from going to Canadian shore an army of 500,000 the larger city. Now is the time to be-Englishmen was massed, their cannons pointed toward this city and toward the business judgment will be needed to preother cities that line our American lakes, could we remain indifferent to England's military establishment? Suppose we Ordinances may lessen the unfair comwere threatened with a war, what would you think of a statesman who would declare it was unpatriotic to use rifled cannon or breech-loading cannon because the weapons of 1776 ought to be good enough for the American soldier? What would you think of the American statesman who would oppose the construction of great battleships like the Massachusetts and the New York and say it was a reflection upon the patriots who sailed the Chesapeake and the Constitution? A claim that it is the part of patriotism to compete today for the industrial supremacy of the world with the coinage of 1873 is just as absurd as a claim that in a contest for territorial integrity we should discard the modern weapons of warfare and stick to those which were useful at Bunker Hill and triumphant at Yorktown or Saratoga.-Bourke Cockran at Chicago.

The Times will again briefly state that when professors and students pub-licly dabble in politics they must expect to be treated as politicians and not as scholars, pedants (?) and philosophers.

By which warning the Times no doubt means to convey to professors the information that if they attend caucuses, become delegates to conventions, have convictions on the questions of the day, advocate certain lines of policy, condemn demagogues and their works, or do anything else that can be interpreted as being connected more or less remotely with political matters, they must be made the targets of every foul-mouthed scribbler who can gain access to the favor on the creation of an office-holding columns of a newspaper. FLUCTUATING COIN RATIOS.

The pound sterling was originally a ound weight of silver. High School Notes.

The S. C. A. social at Newberry Hall last Friday night was well attended, and very enjoyable. Classes are now being started in lrawing, music, and elocution.

Socials are the order of the day. The aculty received the students in High School hall last Friday evening, and the Baptist Young People's Union at the church last Tuesday evening.

The debating societies invite new students to consider their work in planing for the year. They present a good opportunity for training in debate and extemporaneous speaking, and are well worth the effort spent there Consult the officers of the various societies about their rules as to membership each other devotedly." "O, we do, or rather did. But it was this way: When he asked me to marry him, I said I would if he would give up smoking. He replied that he would give up smoking if I would give up my pug dog, but, of course, I could not think of such a thing as parting with my dear Fido, and so it ended.' -Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

French Westminster Abbey. Paris seems to be turning the Luxemburg garden into a sort of French Westminster Abbey. The latest bust it is proposed to set up there is that of Sainte Beuve, the critic. Fortunately, in the mile or more of avenue between the palace and the observatory there is room for all of France's great men, if they are only set close enough to each other. The Wrong Man.

The American Woman's Idea. The Paris papers are telling of a good thing given at a dinner table in the French capital the other day by a wellknown American woman. Someone was telling a story about Wordsworth. It seems that the bard was in the habit of thinking out his stories at night and in the early morning, and that he used to rouse his wife about 4 o'clock and exclaim, "Maria, get up! I have thought of a good word!" Whereupon his obedient helpmate arose and recorded it upon paper. About an hour would elapse and a new inspiration would 'Maria, get up! I have thought of a better word." Everybody listened and admired the practical spirit of the poet, but the bright-eyed American reine of Huron be, and the same is herechanged, fixed and established, so

The neighbor offered to call it square if the dog was killed. The dog's master refused to agree to this, and a lawsuit came next. To pay the costs and damages assessed by the court the owner of the dog had to mortgage his farm for $100. The mortgage had a bigger appetite than the dog, and soon his farm was gone and the owner had to move away. The

Although the dance itself was practically over, Mrs. Lofter continued ers, rubbing his hands and beginning for a moment to press heavily against her dusky partner, and to one unaccustomed to these conveyances her action might appear of questionable taste even if prompted by the warmest affection; but to those familiar with the Broadway cable cars there was nothing unusual in this performance, except, perhaps, the costly attire of the leading lady, and this added a certain novelty and richness to the general effect. As Mrs. Lofter, hot with indignation, released herself and stepped away from the grinning object of her caresses, a seat was offered which she gladly accepted. Once in it she had
