There is a vague suspicion that Spain's scheme of autonomy for Cuba has a string attached to it.

The man who is most certain that times have not improved is the Republican patriot who failed to secure that appointment.

The Dingley tariff was projected as a revenue measure but the monthly deficits thus far under the Dingley law have been much larger than they were under the Wilson law.

To a great many people freedom to indulge in those lines of private conduct which they enjoy is liberty, while indulgence in that which their taste does not approve is license.

For crude and unsophisticated lying commend us to the Republican editors whose duty it is to make the results of the Dingley bill coincide with the promises so freely made for that measure.

Now that the property owners of Main and Huron streets have signified their willingness to pave, close up the details and get the business so far advanced that there can be no back-sliding.

Our Uncle Samuel bids fair to become a step-father to all of the little two-for-five governments on the western continent. Hayti is the latest applicant for protection. Perhaps, after all, this is the most convenient way to work off surplus enthusiasm.

People need not become alarmed over the seeming inconsistencies in the expressions of Editor Lisener. A man who is carrying the slang of the print shop, the switch board and the play house in his head at one and the same time is liable to become mixed in his vocabulary.

Chicago has another millionaire editor, Mr. Yerkes, who in his editorial promises to do many things which the journalists of the day have failed to do. Ann Arbor has only two pupil members of the profession, but the field is sufficiently large to accommodate several more.

It is estimated that the amount of United States bonds held in Europe reaches the enormous sum of $300,000,000. This demands an annual exportation of $12,000,000 in interest. Add to this over one thousand million of municipal and state bonds, and it is no cause for wonder that England is so desirous of holding this country to the gold standard. How can the United States expect to transfer the balance to the right side of the ledger so long as it sends abroad $100,000,000 annually in interest, and American tourists spend half that amount in the

PLAINLY SPOKEN.

The Detroit Journal quotes General Alger as using the following language with reference to public aid for private enterprises:

"Of course," he said, "it is the duty of the government to do all it can to help out the parties interested in San Pedro harbor and the railroad running to it. The government ought never to hesitate to assist private enterprises by spending millions of dollars to help them out. That is what governments are for."

Of course that is good Republican doctrine but we did not expect the general would be quite so blunt in stating it. It is usual for the "editor" of this "political principle" to be covered with more or less taffy about the workmen and the dear farmer. General Alger has simply dispensed with the frills and spoken the truth in its uncouth nakedness. It has ever been the mission of the Republican party to foster private enterprises at the expense of the public treasury. The tariff is but an instance of this policy. Every Republican congress for the past 32 years has teamed with jobs and schemes for aiding private enterprises at public expense. The whisky ring, the Star mail routes, the Pacific railroads, credit Mobilier, the grants of rich public lands which conveyed whole states to private corporations are but examples of an endless procession.

Surely "the government ought never to hesitate to spend millions to help private enterprises. That is what government is for" and, let us add, that the richer and the more grasping the private enterprise the better the "showing" which it can make for the consideration of General Alger and his political friends. The general's immense fortune is not entirely free from the suspicion that large masses of it were acquired by this very process.

The fact that all donations of public funds to private enterprise ultimately rest as a tax upon labor cuts no ice. What is labor good for any way if it does not support some one in idleness. Of what use is the producer if his productions are not to be enjoyed by some who have no cares to prevent them from realizing the fullest enjoyment. Indeed, we might ask what is the use of governments or society or anything else, if it does not afford soft snags for the lucky few to enjoy at the expense of the many. We trust that General Alger and the Journal will not suffer the grass to grow over this new and plain version of an old doctrine. It is a good thing for us. Roll it along.

"Everything seems to be going against the free silver theorists. Despite the refusal of the United States to adopt the free coinage of silver, the farmers of the country received more than twice as much for the September sales of wheat as in September of last year. The September exports of wheat, according to Dun's Review, were 25,868,838 bushels against 17,646,815 bushels in September, 1896, but owing to higher prices this year the money received for these exportations was more than double in 1897 than in 1896.—Ready-made Republican Editorial.

This is a sample of the stuff that is manufactured in Washington by the Republican press bureau and sent out weekly to the small fry Republican papers. It will not, of course, be necessary for The Democrat to inform its 25,000 readers that the gold standard and the Dingley tariff were the immediate cause of the short crop in Europe to which the large exportation and high price of wheat is due.

And now it is Judge Allen B. Morse of Ionia who is to lead the recalcitrant gold Democrats back into the camp of the regulars. Judge Morse was over in Glasgow during the unpleasantness last fall, enjoying a consulate worth $16,000 a year, and, with the exception of a few letters, took no part in the campaign. There is nothing to prevent Judge Morse, or any other ex-Democrat, from re-enlisting with the Democracy as soon as they choose, but those who have a desire to promote harmony will leave their gold-bug vagaries behind.

The deficit in the national treasury for November approximates $9,000,000,000. The deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1st is now $46,581,120. The receipts have been $127,701,160; the expenditures $174,282,280. McKinley may as well place his order for bonds with the engravers.

The next act in the financial drama will begin next Monday. The final scene, however, will not occur until 1901 when President Bryan calls congress together in special session to place our finances upon a safe and sure foundation.

"American manufactures continue to be popular abroad despite the assertion that protection would make them unpopular. The London Economist, of recent date, says that England is becoming a large purchaser of American manufactures, especially in iron and steel lines, and that English manufacturers must cheapen their cost of production if they are to hold their ground against the American competitor."—Republican Press Bureau.

Shades of Bill Dingley preserve us. What heresy is this. We must have a tariff wall to keep English products out of American markets, because English manufactures are the products of cheap labor while the Englishman must cheapen his wares to meet American competition in the open markets. This is, of course, a logical conclusion but what can you expect from one who is inoculated with the tariff virus.

SNIVEL SERVICE.

There is a strong disposition upon the part of the Republican managers to loosen up the civil service law. That is right. The present congress can do the country no better service than by repealing the civil service law and turning the Democratic rascals out. During the past four years the civil service regulations have been widened beyond all reason to protect a vast army of the ex-president's retainers. Turn the rascals out, and turn out every other Democrat with them. This newspaper believes that to the victor belongs the spoils. The Republican party has control of the national government. It is no more than right that it should fill the offices with Republican patriots and occupy every avenue of administration with loyal adherents of the president.

The Democrat who would hold onto an office under a Republican administration ought to be kicked out of his party and the office at the same time. The civil service law was the conception of a lot of soft-hearted (and soft-headed) mugwumps, whose idea was to perpetuate the tenure of office and raise up an office-holding aristocracy. Grover Cleveland probably did more than any other mugwump toward the consummation of this plan. If McKinley shall undo the work he will be entitled to the thanks of the country. The central idea of the civil service (life tenure of office) is repugnant to American notions.

Offices whose emoluments are paid by the public should be open to the widest possible enjoyment of the people. Nor is that all. Under our system party government is an essential. Parties are the representatives of principles, but they are conducted and their policies are exploited by means of organization, and successful organization implies a division of the spoils while successful administration demands that all connected with the administration shall be in sympathy with the executive head. By all means fire the Democratic rascals out and put loyal Republicans in their places.

Governor Pingree finds time between his duties as governor of the state of Michigan to plan an assault upon the asphalt trust, and as usual when Mr. Pingree goes into the business of bucking monopolies he adopts most practical methods. The Barber Asphalt company has the cities of the United States where the hair is short on the asphalt paving question, from the fact that that company has hitherto controlled all known deposits of asphaltum upon the western hemisphere, and have refused to sell to local contractors, thus keeping the whole business of laying pavement wholly within the control of the company. The governor proposes to break this clutch of the Barber company by developing some new asphalt discoveries in Venezuela and furnishing to cities and contractors paving material at low cost. If successful, this will break the most arrogant monopoly which has cursed the country in years.

Nobody wants to destroy the greenbacks except the organized members of the gold clique. It is alleged that the president is opposed to this demand. He will do well to maintain his position, for should he yield to the pressure of the money power he will find himself exposed to the just criticism of the people whose rights he has sworn to protect.

The Comtesse Esterhazy declares that the Count is guiltless of any indiscretions of honor in the Dreyfus case. But notwithstanding the confidence of the Comtesse in the integrity of her husband, the Figaro is unsparing in its strictures upon his conduct.

There is one man who knows all about that extra session of the legislature and his name is—Pingree.

SOME FANCY LYING.

Reports of silver mining companies show in many cases the cost of producing silver is now less than 25 cents per ounce, and that the silver used in the manufacture of a dollar would now probably cost about 20 cents. No wonder that the silver-mine owners are willing to spend millions to force the United States to adopt laws by which they can turn 20 cents' worth of their products into a dollar, especially in view of the fact that most of the silver mines are now owned by foreigners.—Ready-made editorial in Ann Arbor Register.

If the purpose of the above is to demonstrate the dense ignorance of the writer it should serve its purpose admirably. It contains no less than 17 lies to the square inch. In the first place if the writer will consult the archives of the United States census bureau, which are quite convenient to his office in Washington, he will discover reports there on file which prove that the average cost of producing an ounce of silver in the Rocky mountain region has been more than $2 per ounce. There have been, it is true, a few bonanza mines which for short periods have produced silver at a very low cost. There have been and still are gold mines which are producing gold at a small fraction of its value. But this does not demonstrate that the value of gold in a dollar is less than its face value. There are two factors which fix the price of both gold and silver—the relations existing between supply and demand. The supply of both gold and silver have increased in the last thirty years at the rate of about two per cent. per year, an increase which under the conditions of bimetalism would have been easily absorbed by increasing commerce and preserved the parity of the metals at the legal ratio which conforms very closely to the natural ratio of relative volumes. But the legislation which increased the demand for gold by making it the sole standard of value decreased the demand for silver at the same time with consequent derangement of the old ratios.

In the second place the silver mine owners under free coinage would simply have the privilege of having 412½ grains of standard silver into a dollar, which the supporters of the gold standard insist would be worth only 50 cents, but which the advocates of bi-metalism believe would quickly rise in value until it reaches a parity with the gold dollar at some point about half-way between the present values of silver and gold. It is true that some of our silver mines are owned by foreigners, as are also many of our railroads, breweries, iron and other manufactures.

THE BOYCOT.

And now comes Judge Hosmer, of the Wayne county bench, with the opinion that the boycott, when conducted without intimidation or violence, is not illegal. The question decided was an application for an injunction to restrain the teamster's union of Detroit from boycotting the business of Beck & Co., and in distributing circulars appealing to people not to trade with them.

"I have no doubt that all violence should be restrained," said the court, "but to try to stop circulars and peaceable measures is getting into politics. It is something like the political party which was organized to prevent those adhering to one religious faith from holding office. I cannot say, judicially, that a boycott implies violence."

"I am not prepared to say that the distribution of pen and ink arguments is not proper. The late Moses W. Field used to appeal to everybody to wear a suit of gray, made in this country. Suppose the walls should be placarded advising the employment of no Methodists, or no Catholics, could a court of equity take cognizance of that?"

"If the entire city of Detroit had been A. P. A., it would have been useless for a Catholic to open a grocery store. If everybody were Republicans a Democratic business man might have a tough time of it. People who honestly and peaceably try to bring others to their way of thinking have a right to do so. I will punish any attempt at violence severely, but can go no further."

This decision following and concurring with the dissenting opinion of Judge Caldwell, of the United States circuit court at St. Louis last week, would seem to indicate that the courts are coming to regard combinations of workmen intended to resist the rapacity of other and more powerful combinations in a different light and to accord to them a more humane treatment.

When our streets are paved we will wonder how we got along without it so long.

GOV. "BOB" TAYLOR.

The Noted Tennessean Will Speak in University Hall Tonight.

Gov. Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee, will give the fifth number in the Students' Lecture Association course tonight, in University Hall. Those who have heard Gov. Taylor agree that there is a marvelous charm about him that is at once striking and attractive. He is one of a type of rare southern orators.

One of the most remarkable campaigns ever made in Tennessee, was by Robt. L. Taylor, as the Democratic nominee for governor, and his brother, Alf. Taylor, the Republican nominee. They "stumped" the state from one end to the other. The discussion of the issues then pending brought large crowds even from adjoining states. Such large audiences of admiring friends of the opposing brothers attended these friendly but intelligent debates, that it was of an impossible to get within hearing distance of the two speakers. As a result of that campaign Robert Taylor was counted in, though many believe that his brother was honestly elected. At any rate, he is now one of the best known men in the South. From 1891 to 1897 he has been in the field as a lecturer and everywhere, in the South, in the West, and in the East as far as Boston, he has met with wonderful success.

The following is what the Washington Post had to say of his appearance in that city:

Ex-Gov. Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, entertained a large audience last evening with his medley of music, philosophy, poetry and wit, entitled "The Fiddle and the Bow." Most of those present had either seen or heard of the genial gentleman who fiddled his way into the gubernatorial chair in the famous contest against his own brother, now Congressman from Tennessee, but those who expected to see a rough mountaineer in shirt-sleeves and big boots, were agreeably disappointed. They saw instead a stalwart, well-fed man, whose forehead extends back toward the summit of his cranium. He was attired in correct evening costume, with a smile almost as bright and expansive as his shirt bosom. Rounds of applause greeted him, and were renewed at intervals throughout his discourse.

Indescribable, but enjoyable throughout, and embodying many sound bits of common sense which were carried home after the speaker had concluded, the lecture was an entire success, and those present would gladly hear it again.

THE RAILROAD WINS.

City of Ann Arbor Under Obligation to Maintain Detroit St. Bridge.

The case of Edson Wetherbee against the Michigan Central Railroad company, involving the respective duties and obligations relative to the maintenance of the superstructure of the bridge over the Michigan Central tracks on Detroit street, was determined Wednesday in favor of the Railroad company.

Judge Carpenter, of the Wayne county circuit court, before whom the case was tried, sustained the validity of the contract made between the City and the Company in 1886, under which the bridge was constructed, and held that the Railroad company, having been under no legal obligation to build the bridge in the first place, was not now bound to maintain it further than it had agreed to do in the contract.

O. E. Butterfield, of this city, tried the case for the railroad company.

Some Freedom boys are not so smart as some Freedom coons. Two boys went out coon hunting one night last week and about 12 o'clock they got a coon up a tree. Not being able to see it to shoot it they decided to go into a corn field and sleep until daylight. So they each took a bundle of cornstalks to lie upon and another to cover up with. Finally the dog also decided to take a nap, so all three began to sleep the weary hours away. When 4 o'clock came the boys awoke to capture their game, but lo, the coon was gone.—Enterprise.

BELOW PARR.

Ann Arbor Typographical Union Loses a Valued Member—Not Dead, But Wedded.

At 5 o'clock last night Harry E. Parr of the Inland Press, and Miss Clara Kajuska were quietly married by Rev. Tatlock. The young couple will commence housekeeping immediately at the corner of Division and Jefferson st. After carefully calculating the necessary expenditures for street car tickets, summer excursions, lost time at his case, etc., Harry concluded that economy was on the domestic side of the ledger and so gave reins to his long cherished aspiration to found a family. Mr. Parr is one of the most popular boys in the Ann Arbor union and all will join with The Democrat in wishing him and his bride a long life of usefulness with plenty of "good impressions" and "fat takes" to cheer them on life's journey.

A PROMINENT PRELATE.

Bishop Doane's Lectures at the Episcopal Church.

Bishop Doane, who is to deliver the Slocum lectures next week, is one of the most prominent prelates in the American Episcopal church.

As a preacher he is brilliant, fluent and vivid in his language, and in thought original and devotional.

As a writer he is not unknown; he produces copious verses, and to readers of those magazines, like "The Forum," which treat contemporary questions, his name is familiar.

Changes in the rules which govern athletics in the west were suggested and important steps taken toward acting independently of the eastern colleges.

THORN FOUND GUILTY

Says It Was He Who Killed Guldensuppe.

Mrs. [Nack], May Not Die—Thought That the Authorities Will Not Seek Her Execution.

New York, Nov. 30.—Martin Thorn was today convicted of murder in the first degree in killing William Guldensuppe, his predecessor in the affections of Mrs. Augusta Nack, at Woodside, L. I., on June 25.

About three weeks ago, Thorn's first trial on the charge of murder was begun, but owing to the illness of a juror it had to be abandoned after three days.

When Martin Thorn has been led back to his cell after the conviction, he admitted that the verdict was just and that he and not Mrs. Nack killed Guldensuppe.

"I am glad it is over and the verdict given. I am convicted and I am contented. It was I who killed Guldensuppe, and I cut up his body. Every word that Mrs. Nack said upon the stand was substantially correct.

Ministers Are Out.

Vienna, Nov. 28.—The members of the Austrian ministry today tendered their resignations to Emperor Francis Joseph, who accepted them and intrusted Baron Gautsch, who holds the portfolio of public instruction of the retiring ministry, with the task of forming a new cabinet.

This morning Emperor Francis Joseph addressed an autograph letter to Count Badeni, decreeing the adjournment of the reichsrath until further orders.

During the assembling of the reichsrath dense masses of people, for the most part workmen, thronged the Ringstrasse from the university to the outer gate of Hoffburg.

At least 10,000 people gathered about the same time in front of the town hall and the provincial criminal court to demonstrate in favor of Herr Wolf, who was to be arraigned there on a charge of public violence committed yesterday when being removed from the Unterhaus by the police acting under the orders of President Von Abrahamovic.

Haiti Stands Firm.

Washington, November 30.—Reports that came to the state department late in the afternoon from Haiti were to the effect that considerable excitement prevailed there and that the situation was grave.

The latest advices from German sources, however, indicate that no occasion will be given for friction between the United States and Germany on account of the Haitian difficulty, and that the matter will be adjusted.

The reception to Joseph Jefferson takes place in University hall, Tuesday, December 14, instead of December 13, a later telegram from the great actor fixing this date.

ROYAL CRAFT MASONRY.

Another Profitable Gathering at Ann Arbor's Masonic Temple.

Excelsior Chapter, No. 25, of Ypsilanti, and Livingston Chapter, No. 30, of Howell, were hospitably entertained last night by Washtenaw Chapter, of this city, the first named chapter adding to the attractiveness and usefulness of the gathering by conferring the Royal Arch degree on Companions John T. Faig, Wm. Arnold, jr., and John Hoelzle, of Ann Arbor.

As soon as the degree work had ended and the Chapter closed in due form, the procession formed with the officers and visitors in front and marched to the banquet room, to the evensong strains of orchestral music provided by the Chequamegon.

Neither our space nor the nature of the occasion will permit of extended comment upon the extremely able and eloquent responses which followed.

MICHIGAN DEFEATED!

Herschberger Wins Thanksgiving Game for Chicago.

Three Goals from the Field Place the Score Too High to Be Overcome—A Great Game in the Windy City.

The University of Michigan football eleven was beat last Thursday in the annual Michigan-Chicago game at Chicago by the score 21 to 12. A knowledge of the fact that the game was won for Chicago by the great work of Herschberger does not lessen the sting of defeat, nor make Michigan men contented with the result. There, too, while the 10,000 people assembled inside the Coliseum could laugh at the drizzling rain and mud outside they could not but believe that had the game been played outside, the final score would have been different. Still it was a great game and Michigan's two clean touchdowns and goals and the mighty struggle of Capt. Hogg's eleven for the victory inspired the crowd with the greatest enthusiasm.

Chicago won the game by Herschberger's kicking. That gave them the points and poor generalship by Michigan kept the latter team from scoring more. In six minutes after play began Chicago had scored a touchdown on some kicking by one or two Michigan men, and still the Michigan rooters looked for victory. A dozen minutes later they had seen the mighty, yet little, Herschberger, who seemed to resist the roughest play that was directed at him, score five more points for his team on a place kick goal and still they hoped. Just after this they were fired by Michigan's first continued brace, only to lapse into temporary despair as a seemingly certain touchdown was lost on the eight yard line by failure to use good reasoning as to plays.

During the intermission between halves the unflinching Michigan confidence came to the front and it was "Michigan must win," and win Michigan would have by their dogged, plugging playing in the second half had not Herschberger squeezed in two more field goals. Fifteen minutes in the second half brought Michigan's first touchdown and then the yellow and blue rooters were sure they had it. But the second and last touchdown came only when all hopes of victory had gone glimmering and even the full glare of the electric lights that had been turned on failed to dispel the growing darkness for the Ann Arborites.

Table with 3 columns: Michigan, Position, Chicago. Lists players like Teetzel, Lockwood, Caley, Cunningham, Snow, Stecke, Bennett, Felver, Stuart, Hozer, Hannan and their positions.

The news of the game was received in Ann Arbor in the deepest gloom. A great crowd filled Frieze Memorial hall all afternoon and followed with intense interest every play as reported by H. G. Prettyman and received over the long distance telephone line from the little wire cage above the coliseum gridiron. The crowd hoped against hope for the "brace" but when it did come it was plain to see that it came too late. It was a disheartened body of students that plodded quickly home through the rain after the announcement of the final score.

ANN ARBOR WINS.

Grand Rapids High School Goes Down and State Championship Comes to Ann Arbor.

The Ann Arbor High School football team finished the most prosperous season in its history by defeating Grand Rapids yesterday by a score of 14 to 0. The team lined up as announced in Wednesday's Times, except that Murfin took Banfield's place at end. Grand Rapids kicked off and the ball was worked back to their goal, a touchdown being secured by Boyd in six minutes. This time Sims failed to kick goal. During the time of getting the second touchdown, Ann Arbor kicked once, but held Grand Rapids for downs on the first trial. Grand Rapids kicked off again and the ball was slowly carried to their 20 yard line, when an off-side play on Ann Arbor's part gave Grand Rapids a chance to show what they could do. They were able to advance the ball to the center of the field by the end of the first half.

In the second half Ann Arbor kicked off and Grand Rapids took the ball to Ann Arbor's 10 yard line where they were held for downs. This was the last time Grand Rapids had a chance to do anything but try to stop short rushes. In 12 minutes from the time of getting the ball on our 10 yard line another touchdown was made but Sims failed to kick goal. Ann Arbor secured the ball on the kick-off and carried it to the center by the end of the half.

The same style of play was adopted by the High School as in all other games this year, hard offensive play the first half and a strong defensive game the second half. Yesterday was the first game in which they had scored the second half, but the ground was not favorable to a kicking game. Only two kicks were made by Kent, but each one netted 40 yards. It was at this point that Callahan, the center, distinguished himself. On the first he broke through the line and downed the man in his tracks as the ball was caught. On the second he again broke through and secured the ball after it had been muffed by Haskins.

The team work displayed by the High Schools was up to 'Varsity form. They did not make a single misplay in interference and had no fumbles charged to them. Every man played to win. If mention should be made of any special work other than above noted, it would be Bury, Oram and Boyd. In the minds of many who have watched his work, Bury is the best line man who has been developed in Michigan High Schools in four years.

Proposed Rules Endorsed.

Eastern colleges are coming out in favor of open play in football tactics as advocated by the conference of western colleges held in Chicago last Friday. The stand which was taken at this conference in favor of absolute amateurism has created much comment in the east. The evil of summer nines is more widespread in the east than it is here in the west, and it is this fact that is drawing the attention of the east to any action the west may take.

Judge Henry H. Howland, of New York, President of the Yale Alumni Association, said that he was in favor of Yale's doing away with mass plays and playing an open game. Head Coach Frank Butterworth, of Yale, has also expressed himself in favor of a revision of rules. Captain Jim Rodgers is also in favor of such a revision.

The action of the western universities at the Chicago conference regarding cleaner football and a revision of rules was received at the University of Pennsylvania with unanimous opinions of approval. The various modifications suggested when the resolutions were passed and referred to a committee are almost the same as the rules under which the big eastern colleges have been playing for some years. The undergraduates interested in football look upon the change as a wise measure.

President C. K. Adams of the University of Wisconsin, said that he had not given much consideration to the proposed changes, but from a cursory examination he believes them proper and advisable. Whether the other universities deem them proper or not, he thinks he could indorse them almost without question. Capt. Riordan says that the proposed changes are acceptable to Wisconsin if they are to the other universities.

Professor Staggs has not yet decided what changes should be made in the rules. He thinks that no more than the four backs ought to be allowed back of the line inside of tackle. Such a rule would do away with much of the present roughness by preventing the heavy line men from being used to crash into the opposing line. I favor, too, legislation penalizing a team for knocking over the opposing full back after he has punted.

High School Athletes.

S. O. Hartwell, of Kalamazoo, chairman; A. J. Volland, of Grand Rapids; W. H. Smith, of Pontiac, and D. W. Springer, of Ann Arbor, comprising a committee appointed for the purpose by the high school section of the State Teachers' Association, met in this city today and made a thorough revision of the athletic agreement for Michigan high schools. The rules as revised stand as follows:

- 1. No person shall be qualified to represent any school under this agreement in any athletic contest with members of another school or other schools unless he shall have been enrolled as a member of the school from the 1st of October or the 1st of March immediately preceding the date of said contest.
2. No person shall take part in contests during a second semester unless he shall have been enrolled from October 1 or March 1 of the previous semester. (This will prevent the temptation of students to attend school only during those semesters in which sports occur, at which they are proficient. It is understood that a sufficient excuse, such as sickness, shall not bar a student).
3. No person shall be allowed to represent his school in a contest or event unless he shall be doing passing work in at least fourteen hours weekly, of recitation work; said work to be determined from teachers' reports according to the regular method of the school.

4. A student doing satisfactory work in the required number of hours during any athletic season, and then failing to pass at least ten hours of the work of that semester, shall be declared ineligible to play another season till that amount of work shall have been passed.

5. No person shall play on any school team or contest in any athletic event for more than five years.

6. No boxing events shall be allowed in any of the inter-high school contests.

7. A principal's or superintendent's certificate as to the standing of the representatives of a school under this agreement shall be required before every contest.

It was also voted to recommend that a representative of the teachers accompany each team on its trips, the expenses of the same to be borne by the association. D. W. Springer, of Ann Arbor, was elected to represent the committee with reference to the inter-high school field day. The rules as revised present a number of important changes, and will be referred to the State Teachers' Association at the approaching December meeting.

A Plea for the Sewing School.

The time has again come when we must ask and receive aid for the Sewing school or we will be obliged to give up the work. Our treasury is nearly empty and we need at least fifty dollars if we continue the school during the year. We have seventy girls in the school and it requires many yards of material to keep them busy. Now must we disband for lack of funds? We have been interested in this work fourteen years and have never called for help in vain. Who will be the first to respond either in material or money? Please send money to the superintendent, M. S. Brown, 527 Church street.

Central Debating League.

Prof. Trueblood returned Saturday morning from Chicago where he has been in the interests of the oratorical association. While there he had a conference with representatives from Northwestern and Chicago Universities, and it was decided to substitute Minnesota for Wisconsin in the Central Debating League. This move has been talked of for some time owing to Wisconsin's continued kicking at certain provisions in the constitution of the league. All the disputed points between the universities now in the league have been settled satisfactorily.

Prof. Trueblood called upon Mr. Alexander H. Revell, of Chicago, and secured from him the promise of an annual testimonial of $200 to the winning team in the final contest. The professor also interviewed Joseph Jefferson, the noted actor, who agreed to accept a complimentary reception in University Hall on the Friday of his engagement in Detroit, providing the trains arrived at the right time. The distinguished actor will be the guest of the Oratorical Association, the faculty and the student body who will be proud to do him honor. Mr. Jefferson will speak on the art of the actor and the relation of oratory to acting. A provisional promise was also secured from the Hon. Robert T. Lincoln to preside at the annual Chicago-Michigan debate which takes place here next April. While it is not certain that Mr. Lincoln will be on hand he has expressed his willingness to preside if it is possible.

The laws prohibit the use of dynamite in fishing, but Novi men have a scheme which evades this prohibition and at the same time enables them to catch fish by the hundreds. They take a fruit jar and put into it a piece of unslaked lime, with a chunk of lead to make it too heavy to float. Just before the cover is screwed on the can, a little water is dropped on the lime, and then the can is thrown into the lake. In a short time the water on the lime confined in the bottle causes an explosion, which stuns or kills the fish in the vicinity, and they rise to the surface, where the fishermen can gather them by the bushel.—Sentinel.

THE NEW DESIGNS.

The Colors of Your Dress Must Contrast to Be Fashionable.

Nothing in the way of stylish and elegant dresses ever has been made in Ann Arbor, that will compare with the beautiful dinner and evening gowns which Mrs. Thompson and Miss O'Leary have made since opening their dressmaking parlors on the second floor at Mack & Co's November 1st. Beautiful dresses always have been and always will be woman's chief glory. It is a pleasure to know how they should be made, now that the holiday and social seasons will soon be at their height, and elaborate gowns must be made on short notice.

If one were to choose from the great variety of styles in dinner gowns, no doubt the preference would be given the dress recently made to be worn at a Thanksgiving banquet. The material was a rich imported goods with brown and gold threads so interwoven as to heighten the richness. The skirt was made with the apron over-skirt, drapery effect in the back and a knife plaited ruffle of silk around the bottom. The waist was the pointed basque with trimmings of black lace over gold-colored silk, and a finishing, as the contrasting color, of royal purple velvet.

One of the very newest features in trimming dresses this year is the combination of contrasting colors. For example: A sea-green, silk party waist will be trimmed with old-rose velvet, oriental lace and a narrow edge of Russian sable fur; a red silk waist for the opera will be trimmed from the lower edge to the arm-size with black velvet crossbars running entirely around the waist. But all these elaborate things must be seen to be appreciated. It is said that the most beautiful silk waist ever made in Ann Arbor was made by Mrs. Thompson and Miss O'Leary, for a young lady to wear at a Thanksgiving party in a neighboring city. The waist was made of pea-green moire silk, with white silk froat and lace and fur trimmings. It was the ideal creation of an artist and the fortunate wearer was the object of many an envious young lady, who naturally transgressed the lines of social etiquette to find out where "that lovely waist" was made.

Mrs. Thompson and Miss O'Leary are both artists of superior ability, and the ladies of Ann Arbor and vicinity have been quick to avail their services. The cordial reception extended both to them and their work has been sincerely appreciated, and while they are now rushed with orders for the holidays, it is their intention to serve all who come. To this end a special reserve force for the work-room has been engaged. Ladies who have dresses to be made will always be favored in the way of advice and assistance from Miss O'Leary, who has just returned from the city with a variety of new styles for the holidays.

Take the elevator at Mack & Co's and ask to be shown to the reception parlor.

KILLED BY COAL GAS.

Three Men Died in Tunnel at Port Huron.

Freight Train Broke Leaving the Train's Crew Under the River—Searchers Were Prostrated.

Port Huron, Mich., November 29.—A coupling pin on a Chicago & Grand Trunk freight train, consisting of 26 cars, broke in the tunnel last night, leaving 25 cars under the river. The following members of the train's crew were asphyxiated by gas generated by the burning of hard coal in the engines after they had returned to haul out the detached cars: Engineer Patrick H. Courtney, Conductor Edward Dunn and brakeman John Dalton. Two members of the train's crew may die and four voluntary rescuers were overcome, but are now out of danger.

Engineer Courtney started his train from the American side at 7:34 o'clock last night, and did not discover that he was pulling only one car until he reached the opposite side of the river. He backed down to get the rest of the train, but was unable to move it. Then Fireman William Duncan was sent back to cut off a portion of the train. A signal sent back to those on the rear cars brought no answer. Two hours elapsed, when a searching party investigated. They started from the Canadian side and brought out the dead body of Engineer Courtney, who was found doubled up in his cab. Fireman William Duncan and brakeman Potter were in an unconscious condition.

A second searching party started from the American side but they became overcome with gas, and were rescued with difficulty. Their names are: J. Haley, track walker; Thomas Hartigan, Samuel Mann and Peter May. William Cudiff, Patrick Gore and Joseph Brady, volunteer searchers, were also partly overcome before they were rescued. All the searchers were considered out of danger, but William Duncan and William Potter, of the train's crew, are at their homes in a precarious condition.

My Friend From India Tonight.

The story of "My Friend from India," besides being uproariously funny and occasionally suggesting horse-play, has a thread of satire that is pleasing to the despiser of shams; the satire deals with the craze of the new-rich for society, and the craze of society for fads—the theosophical fad especially. "Erastus Underholt," a rich Kansas City pork packer, grows rich, goes to New York and for his children's sake tries to break into "swelldom." He thinks by posing as a patron of theosophy he can succeed. His son goes on a spree and brings a drunken barber home with him, and to escape his father's ire he palms his companion off as a great theosophical adept. At the Athens Theatre Friday, December 3d.

Saturday Night Concerts.

We note with pleasure the announcement that the Ann Arbor Music company will resume their free concert series which proved so popular last season. They tell us that their postponement was owing to their largely increased business, which prevented giving them attention. Their first program Saturday evening is an attractive one and includes such artists as A. Long, E. Dansingberg, M. Gillespie and W. Crago.

Dr. Frank R. Lillie received word lately of the death of his father, who was in Germany at the time.

The baseball players are again talking of petitioning the regents to build a baseball cage in the gymnasium. The need of it has always been felt by the baseball players, and the necessity for developing battery material has never been more urgently presented than at the present time. All the prominent western colleges, notably Wisconsin, have enjoyed the benefit of mid-winter practice for several years, but Michigan finances have never been in such condition as to warrant any expense in fitting up a cage.

Ann Arbor Girl Married.

From the Milton, Washington, Eagle of recent date we clip the following account of the marriage of an estimable young lady well known in Ann Arbor. The Times tenders its congratulations to the newly married couple.

"Married, at Colfax, Washington, November 15, 1897, at the residence of Prof. F. A. Sikes, Mr. Oscar C. Pierce, of Pendleton, to Miss Daisy Earle, of Ann Arbor, Michigan.

"The young people arrived in this city Tuesday and were given a reception Wednesday evening at the residence of the parents of the groom, Hon. and Mrs. Nathan Pierce, which was a very pleasant affair. A sumptuous lunch, which the hostess knows so well how to prepare, was served during the evening.

"The evening was spent in social conversation and music, to the enjoyment of all present and while the guests were at lunch the Mascot Boys' band discoursed music on the lawn.

"Many useful and valuable presents were presented to the bride, and the happy couple were the recipients of congratulations and best wishes for prosperity and happiness from each individual present.

"Mr. and Mrs. Pierce departed on the train Thursday for Pendleton, their future home."

Delegates from the high schools of Bay City, East Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Pontiac, Detroit and Ann Arbor met here Saturday and completed preliminary arrangements for an inter-high school oratorical association, to be known as the Peninsular Debating League. A constitution embodying the suggestions which this committee makes will be drawn up at an early date and forwarded to the several high schools for adoption. The unit of membership will be placed at seven and contestants must be doing work in at least 15 hours weekly.

The reopening of Hammerstein's Theatre was not very auspicious. "A Confederate Spy" failed to draw very large houses Friday and Saturday night. The Light Guards put the play on under a percentage with Mr. See, who managed the event and it was very unsatisfactory both financially and artistically.

James Hutchinson, of Washington street, was 75 years old last Saturday and is a great-grandfather to four children. He moved here 62 years ago last May, making him one of the very oldest residents of Ypsilanti. Notwithstanding his advanced years he is as lively as a man one-third of his age and can give most any young man a good contest in high kicking.

Jas. McGregor says that while he was north he saw a brook trout sixteen inches long and weighing four pounds. It is supposed that this is the father of Mayor Harding's four-inch trout that the deputy game warden says he caught last summer.

The Light Guard Dramatic Club put on the play called "The Confederate Spy" at Light Guard hall last Friday. There were only about 100 persons present in the audience. The local talent in the play was composed of Fred Hixon, Alex. Bontelle, Don Peck, John Carrol, Geo. Fulton, Gus Bertram, Elsie Fletcher and Bertha Parsons and they did a great deal better than the three professionals who came here to put on the piece. The play will be repeated tonight.

An interesting feature of the Congregational Christmas sale will be a display of fine Mexican needlework, wrought by a girl who is paying her school expenses at Pueblo in this way. Charles Dougherty thinks he has found the heirs of the late John Smith who died in Arizona, and who was supposed to have left an estate of fabulous size. The estate, however, only figured up to $3,300 in cash and two lots in San Diego. The heirs are so much disappointed that they threaten all sorts of suits.

George A. McNichol, lately employed with C. E. King & Co., has purchased a stock of groceries at Durand, Mich., and is already established in business there. A 15-minute song service will precede the address, to which all are welcome. Mr. McGregor will also speak at the S. C. A. on Wednesday evening.

The case against Charles Davis, who was charged with the larceny of a turkey resulted in a conviction. Davis claimed an alibi, swearing that it was always his custom to go to prayer meeting on Wednesday night, and as the crime was committed on such a night he could not have been at the turkey roost and at the church at the same time. The jury, however, did not give much credence to the story and found him guilty. He was sentenced to 65 days in the house of correction.

FRANCHISE GRANTED.

The D., Y. & A. Electric Railway

More of a Certainty.

The members of the Dearborn village council have agreed to grant the Detroit, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor Street Railway Co. a franchise through the village at the meeting tomorrow evening. The franchise will be the same as granted to the company by the township board. This agreement was made Friday night at a meeting of the members of the board and the council. The track will run from the easterly limits of the village to the center of Military avenue through the middle of the street, and thence it will run west on the north side of the street. The council requested that the work be done today so as to interfere with traffic as little as possible. The company has accepted the franchise given it by the township board, and has deposited the $25,000 bond and the $2,000 cash guaranty that the work be completed by April 15th. Wayne will be benefited by the new road, as George Walker, of Inkster, will run a bus to connect with all cars until the road is built to that place next spring.

Dearborn village council granted the franchise to the Detroit, Ypsilanti & Ann Arbor Street Railway company at its meeting Monday night. The terms of the franchise through the village are the same as those of the ordinance granted by the township board. All of the overhead equipment of the road is on the ground and the company expect to begin putting it up in a few days. The grading of the road has been completed and the iron is being laid at the rate of a mile a day. The work of strengthening the bridge over the Rouge river is half done.

Fred McKee White, U. of M. '94, who graduated from the Normal in the early '90's, is pastor of the Baptist church at Amherst, Mass.

In Light Guard Hall Proved a Great Success.

The Thanksgiving dance at Light Guard Hall last evening proved a great success and reflects a great deal of credit on the management, Messrs. Austin George, Jr., Ray Rowley, Bert Ferguson and Rob Shier. No attempt was made at decoration, but the floor was in perfect condition and Finney's music was as usual fine. For an hour after half past eight the carriages rattled up to the door and when the grand march was started it was found that 45 couples were in attendance. Refreshments were furnished by George Gaudy and dancing was continued till nearly 4 o'clock this morning.

A list of those present follows: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Showerman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Begole, Mr. and Mrs. John Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Connor, Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. The grand march was led by Austin George, Jr., and Miss Lynn Deubel.

KAZOO WINS GAME

By a Score of 16 to 0—It Was a Hard Fight, Though.

About 100 persons turned out at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon in a pouring rain to see the Normals and Kalamazoo football teams try to hold on to a wet ball and roll over each other in two inches of mud and to witness the final defeat of the Normal eleven to the tune of 16 to 0. But it was a hard-fought battle and our team was greatly handicapped by having to play two or three men, entirely unused to the game. The Normals were rather ragged in team play and very slow in getting started after the signals were given, but held their opponents splendidly once or twice just in front of their goal line, thus preventing several additional touchdowns. Kalamazoo, on the other hand, had team work down to a fine point. The feature of the game was the 80 yard run by Hornbeck, who broke away from the crowd and raced across the field for a touchdown. For the Ypsi boys Gordon, Richmond, Warner and Morse put up the star game, while Westvedge, Hoag and Hornbeck carried away Kazoo honors.

Kalamazoo was jubilant, since by winning yesterday's game they became amateur champions next to the U. of M. The boys were met at the station at Kalamazoo by a torch-light brigade and tendered a reception by the ladies of the college.

In Memoriam.

The members of the Ypsilanti Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution desire to express and record their sense of loss in the death of their sister, Abigail Frances Vose, one of the charter members.

To Mrs. Vose belonged the rare honor of being the daughter of a father who fought for the freedom of the Colonies in the Revolutionary war. Thus she was one of the few living links connecting our own day with the founding of our commonwealth.

In modesty an example to all, in all the graces of true womanhood a most sweet influence, loyal in all things to family, country, and true religion, conspicuous in the blessings her quiet life shed upon others, in the Providence of God her years lengthened beyond the lot of many.

We, fellow members, desire to lay this tribute upon the new made grave of our sister, to record our thankfulness for so long and so beautiful a life, and also to convey our loving sympathy to the bereaved hearts who mourn her loss.

F. D. Keand, of this city, has been appointed battalion adjutant in the first regiment of state troops.

WERE WELL TREATED.

The Great Football Excursion to Chicago Last Wednesday.

The Thanksgiving football game excursionists certainly had such a delightful trip to Chicago Wednesday that even the most critical were satisfied in mind as a hungry school boy was in body after Thursday's turkey dinner. The weather was just as if it had followed a coacher's instructions and a total of 440 persons presented themselves at the Michigan Central depot that morning and gave Mr. Hayes a variegated assortment of greenbacks and Bryan souvenirs in exchange for a printed bit of paper that entitled the holder to transportation to and from Chicago.

The excursion train consisted of ten coaches. The football team occupied one, the Psi U fraternity another, a general parlor car was a third, a dining car a fourth, two cars for ladies and escorts a fifth and sixth, a dining car made the seventh and three cars were given over to the "howling mob." The train was in charge of two special officials of the Michigan Central passenger department and they saw to it that no detail for the comfort of the excursionists was left unpolished. The cars were the very best that the railroad can present to the public; the engineer, Mr. Austin, was one of the oldest and most trusted servants of the company, and the running time was as fast as any train on the Michigan Central. The special pulled out of Ann Arbor a trifle ahead of the regular fast train going west and not once did the speed lag so that the excursion would be obliged to wait for the United States Mail to go thundering by, but on the contrary Mr. Austin had speed "to burn" in his mammoth ten wheel engine and in just six and one-half hours from the time of starting the light colored yellow and blue flag on top of the Chicago Beach Hotel at 51st st. greeted Capt. Hogg, his team and his roosters. The only stops made were at Jackson, where about 50 students went out and gave the U. of M. yell; at Battle Creek and at Kalamazoo, where the performances were duplicated; at Niles where every mother's son who had not eaten on the train made a rush on the "ten-minutes-wait-for-lunch" counter; at Michigan City where some of the boys went out and wondered at the sand hills; and at 53rd st. in Chicago.

Last year at Niles the students went into that little lunch room and appropriated everything like ancient victors on a capitulated town, removing all eatables as if every piece of pie was a diamond and every sandwich a Klondike nugget. This year the authorities were a little better prepared and an annex was stocked up with fried cakes, cookies, pie, sandwiches and coffee—enough to stop a crowd of 500 students. When the brakeman announced Niles the students made a mass formation at every door on the train that would have tore up even Pennsylvania's line as easily as a two year old boy would a piece of organdie on a dress front. The storming of the castle commenced as soon as the train slackened up enough to allow anybody to alight and by the time the conductor shouted "all aboard" the students had cleaned up everything like myriads of grasshoppers on a Kansas corn field. In the mad rush many a student forgot to pay. The train was moving and they had no time to wait, the Michigan Central was richer than they or something of the kind, but the gentle waitresses behind the counter had neither the heart nor time to remonstrate with the jolly young boys.

The Michigan Central's service in the dining car was par excellence. The football team, coaches and trainers sat down at dinner at 11:15 o'clock. After they had finished the ladies and their escorts were given preference by request of Manager Hughes and then the gentlemen were allowed to enter. The menu card was a specially printed U. of M. card with a campus scene appearing thereon and made neat souvenirs of the pleasant trip.

The boys put their travelling suit cases to the new use of lap tables and spent the time very socially between Ann Arbor and Chicago with games of cards. Five and six games of whist were going on all the time in most of the cars. Many not thus engaged sang "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight," as lustily as if it were a brand new song. Maybe it was the text that inspired the earnestness. Caley, the big tackle, and Capt. Hogg thought things were altogether too quiet and started up a little excitement by introducing the game of "funnel." Now funnel is a real nice game. If anybody ever asks you if you want to play it, you say "yes." But do not be "it" or you will regret it as much as if you had bet on Chicago this year. Caley and Hogg would enter a car and both would suddenly become excited and begin shouting, "Come on boys—we're going to play funnel." And then the freshman's curiosity would get the advantage of him in thus having an opportunity of mingling in with two such distinguished personages as the crack football players, and he would jump at the chance like a trout would at a fly and he would be "strung" just as neatly. Two or three "capers" would begin to demand to have the first chance for the prize and the freshman of course would want an equal opportunity. The opportunity was, after some wrangling, given to the freshman. A funnel was placed in that portion of his suit of clothes where the trousers unite with the vest. The freshman was instructed to hold his head back as far as he could. A penny was placed on his chin and he was then told that if he could throw his head forward and drop the penny in the funnel he would be entitled to first prize. Just about the time he was getting ready to win great destruction somebody would step up behind and dash a glass of ice-water into the funnel. The result was of course embarrassing to the fellow who got caught. The Times don't want to say who was caught by the trick, but O'Brien and Steekles will swear that the Michigan Central has the coldest ice-water they ever felt. The game worked twice to perfection, but the news of the trick preceded the practical jokers before they could reach other cars and that was the end of it.

Thus did the boys while away the time between Ann Arbor and Chicago. Never did a jollier crowd go out, and never was a crowd any better treated and more carefully looked after in point of comfort and accommodations than by the Michigan Central Railroad officials.

The Ostrander-Kirk Wedding.

The Ostrander and Kirk wedding, at the home of D. L. Ostrander, Wednesday evening the 24th, was a very enjoyable affair, only relatives and near friends being present. At 8 o'clock Rev. Mr. Wharton entered, followed by Masters Foster and Eugene Ostrander, cousins of the groom, who preceded the bridal party. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie White and the groom by Mr. Frank Gee. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of evergreen, smilax and chrysanthemums, while Miss Lucy Ostrander, sister of the groom, played the wedding march. After congratulations were extended a bountiful repast was served. The home decorations were smilax and white carnations. Many useful and beautiful presents were presented. The newly wedded couple will be at home at 109 E. Congress street after Monday the 28th.

Frank Pearson is now agent for the "Asbestos griddle" and is meeting with big success.

Among those who take part in the concert given by the Lyra Maennerchor next Friday evening are Miss Clara Jacobs, Master Freddie Daley, Frederic Dansingberg and several other soloists. The Steinbauer Guitar and Mandolin Club will also favor the concert-goers with several selections. Admission 25 cents to concert and dance. Tickets for sale at Schumacher & Miller's, Mana Bros. and Haller's Jewelry Store.
