THE EXPENSE OF WAR.

War is at best an expensive duty. The forced destruction of accumulated of wealth is only exceeded by the expenditure of priceless blood, the ruthless severing of heart-strings, the desolation of homes and the heritage of sorrow which must flow from every battle. Measured by the standards of military glory war is dear at any price. But when the substantial blessings of ivic freedom are in the balance; when he rights of future generations are weighed against the peace and security of the present then peace at any price is dishonorable, arbitration becomes an unholy alliance with infamy and non-resistance a crime.

Not a factory is run, a railroad operated or a new industry established which does not sacrifice the life or sap the health of many of the workers engaged therein. The appalling list of accidents in industrial life disturbs no one. The sickness and disease with its attendant wretchedness and woe, which are characteristic of centers of high industrial activity, arouse only now and then a protest. People have come to believe these things to be a necessary part of the progress of the age. In many instances they are the price humanity pays for its advancing civilization. In the aggregate the horrors of modern warfare pale into inthe devastation of war because it is unoverlook the greater sacrifice to industry because it is around and about us all of the time.

ONE RESULT.

One result of the war with Spain will be a complete obliteration of those wealth and the suspension of the pro- sectional lines which partisan hatred ductive energy of a large number of and political necessity have so long the most active and capable producers drawn between the people of this country. This is neither a Republican war or a Democratic war, a war of the North or a war of the South, but a war of the American people against the cruel and tyrannical government by a barbarous monarchy of any portion of the western continent.

In the ranks of the American army, fighting shoulder to shoulder for the glorious principles of civil and political liberty embodied in our national ensign, will be found the sons of the North and the South, the East and the West. They will come from the hills of New England, from the Alleghanies, from the Atlantic's shore, from the sublime valley of the Mississippi, from the grim fastnesses of the Rockies and from the Pacific slope, typifying that enduring bond of Union which binds the great sisterhood of states together and giving renewed assurance that in the hearts of this great land that there is no North, no South, no East, no West, but that we are a united people consecrated in renewed devotion to that banner of beauty and glory which floats o'er us all.

And in this hour when the national pulse runs high and our hearts are throbbing with patriotic ardor we may well echo the beautiful sentiment of Longfellow:

Thou, too, sail on, O Ship of State! Sail on, O Union strong and great! Humanity with all its fears, With all the hopes of future years, Is hanging breathless on thy fate. In spite of rocks and tempest's roar, In spite of false lights on the shore, Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea; Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers our payers our hearts, our hopes, our prayers our Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our

Our faith triumphant o'er our fears.

Are all with thee-are all with thee, And when the purposes for which this war of rescue is waged shall have been accomplished; when the echoes of the last discordant note of Spanish dominion shall have receded from the shores of the Western hemisphere, we may expect the American people to emerge from the conflict stronger and more intensely American, for having been in it. With a consciousness of a duty to humanity well performed and a knowledge of national integrity vindicated, we may be sure that American unity will be more indissolubly cemented than ever before and that the American people will approach in a spirit of loftier patriotism the solution of those problems of a civil nature which threaten the substance of that liberty which we are now, at a lavish expense of blood and treasure, to bestow upon a neighboring people.

Every Republican in the senate, and practically every one in the house of representatives, voted for the Cuban resolution in the form sent to the president, while the entire 35 votes cas dent, while the entire 35 votes cast against it in the senate were given by Democrats, Populists and "silver Republicans".—Courier

All of which goes to show that the Courier has practiced the artifices of Republicanism so long that it can't tell the truth when it tries. The Courier knows the Democratic senators who opposed the passage fo the Cuban war resolutions did so not because they were opposed to righting Cuba's wrongs at the expense of war if need be, but the resolutions which passed did not carry as forceful an expression of Cuban rights as those originally passed by the votes of those same senators. And the Courier also knows that in everything which tends to strengthen our government it the prosecution of this righteous war the administration will have the support of every Democrat, Populist and silver Republican in congress. And the Courier may also know that these legislators will oppose with equal patriotism the attempt which it is evident Gage and Hanna will make to unnecessarily saddle gold-bearing bonds upon this country under the specious plea of war necessity.

DRUNKENNESS IS DECREASING.

Was Never a Time When the Excessive Use of Liquor Was So Infrequent.

"The men and women interested in organized temperance work in this contary, are, on the whole, very worthy people," writes Edward W. Bok in the May Ladies' Home Journal. "They are But sometimes they lack that nicety and wisdom of judgment which is absolutely necessary in organized effort in order that the surest success may be won. They sometimes, unfortunately, allow their zeal to run away with them. This tendency was recently shown in one of their official statements which bewailed the startling growth of intemperance in America during the year 1897. Many good people, to whom the circular containing this statement is sent, will be prone to believe this assertion. They have not the means at hand by which to verify such a statement, and will be made uncomfortable by it, whereas, in reality, exactly the opposite is the truth. There has never been a time in America when every indication pointed so strongly to a decrease of intemperance of intemperance of can dungeon bolts and bars confine thee as the present. There has never been so little drinking as at present, and never such a strong tendency toward moderation in quarters where alcoholic indulgence is general. This is a fact impossible to controvert, because the most careful figures bear out this very hopeful statement.

THE NEW DEPARTURE.

It was one of the cardinal tenets of the Jeffersonian Democracy that the foreign policy of the United States should be that of "Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none.'

This doctrine of international laisse: faire has been strengthened and fortified by the dollarites whose patriotism knows no interest but the rate per cent. and no duty but the customs, by frequent citations of the rule from Washington "that this country shall not participate in the ordinary vicissitudes of European politics and shall not make a permanent alliance with any foreign power.'

It is time that a halt be called to the perversion of these rules in the interest of the money power. They were rules of action enunciated by a statesman Northland and the Southland, from the and a soldier, by a sage and a patriot whose names can never be invoked to sanction peace at the price of principle, or commerce at the cost of liberty and

We have had three wars in our history wherein the peace at any price people have sought to pervert these shibboleths of peace in the pretended interest of the counting room and the stock exchange, and this at the risk of national dishonor and disgrace in Impending war.

We have narrowly escaped the fourth. It is true that under these rules we have grown to be a nation of great material wealth, but so lonely and forlorn in our splendid isolation that the world had almost forgotten that the ted blood of human sympathy coursed by names recalling and commemorating in American veins. We have waxed great upon the roll of nations, we are today the Power pre-eminently of the civilized world. There is no "entangling alliance" now to be feared when we assume our rightful place in the cabinet of the Powers, and there need be no apprehension concerning "peace, commerce and honest friendship," when we say to those who have pre-empted the title of Powers,-we, the people of the United States are The Power of half the earth and we propose to say some thing about the disposition and conduct of the other half. Under the providence of God we have been called to a mission of humanity. We have been nurtured and strengthened upon a virgin and exuberant soil, protected in our infancy by encircling seas and now in our splendid prime. when modern science has annihilated space by the agency of steam, and distanced time by the electric flash, we are shoulder to shoulder in physical touch with the nations of the world.

We can no longer shirk our responsibility to the purpose of our creation and preservation. We must abandon our swaddling clothes of negation and passivity. We are in contact with the forces that are moving the world; it is ours to move them for liberty. This is our mission to humanity and the divine purpose of our existence in the family of nations.

The time has come foretold by Washington "when our institutions being firmly consolidated and working with complete success we may safely and beneficially take part in the consultations held by foreign states for the common advantage of the nations." It is to be regretted that we have delayed this action so long as we have. For it is possible that a policy of assistance and active friendship would have cemented for the present crisis the historic bonds of amity with our ancient ally and our sister republic of France. France has been standing alone in the councils of Europe. She sought in vain for friends from principle in the armed camps of the monarchies of Europe. Our traditional policy of isolation eliminated the United States from the possible ranks of active friends, and Russia as a last resort for national policy was the desperate hope of her statesmen. The Franco-Russian alliance, the unholy union of a despotism and a republic is the unnatural result. The Times does not claim to exercise prophetic vision, but it hazards the assertion that this alliance will not survive the shock of battle when liberty is imperilled by the hostility of the powers to the people and the principles of the

The people of France are themselves the sons of liberty. They have kindled its fires and sacrificed upon its altars far more than a hundred years, and they carry its torch today in the darkness of European mediaevalism. In the event of continental hostility to us, woe to the persons in France who set their pecuniary interests and their puny individualities against the national instinct for liberty. France is to be propitiated and her friendly alliance in the cause of freedom must be a prime object of our immediate diplomacy. England and the United States by community of language, of laws and of race are natural and inevitable allies. Liberty is also the Britons' inheritance. He takes his title from Magna Charta and Runnymede and he has never aliened it and he never will. The United States is the apostle militant of liberty. England and France are its ministers. It will be a blunder and a crime in our diplomacy if France fails us in the crucial hour.

Or whips thy noble spirit tame. Should continental Europe, fearing the spread of republican principles by the victorious conclusion of our struggle with Spain, menace the American republic as the champion of Liberty, we may rest assured that again in a two month's visit.

France the immortal hymn of the Marseillaise will be a march and not a requiem.

Again must Carthage be destroyed. 'Delenda est Carthago." Upon its ruins Liberty will build the new Republic of Spain, and freemen in that ancient land will bless in future years the hand that chastens them unto liberty today.

The United States with shot and shell at Havana has entered the field of European politics. The eventual accession of all the Latin races of Europe into the sisterhood of Republics, should be the first object of our new departure. Down with monarchy in Spain.

NAVAL NOMENCLATURE.

We hope that the Navy Department is not biased by sectarian or sectional prejudices in the selection of names for the new ships of our navy. It may be said that there is nothing in names, but after all there is much of suggestion in them, and to a certain extent they carry an expression of sentiment, notably so in the appellations of ships of war. The British admiralty has consistently recognized the idea of force in the naming of its battle ships, and we can but feel a certain respect for the mass of steel and iron which some fair hand has christened "Devastation," "Thunderer," "Inflexible" or "Blenheim." The imagination has plenty of scope when it pictures the war of elements denoted by the words taken from the vocabulary of elemental warfare and applied to the engines of man's destructive ingenuity. So, too, the memory of great victories is revived and new ambitions aroused the battles and the heroes of a nation. The policy of the admiralty of the foremost naval power of the world has been to make the ships of war carry in their names as well as in their armament an object lesson of aggressive strength.

The policy of our naval board seems to be the exploitation of local geography and as an object lesson of our varied assortment of geographical names, classic, Indian and international, ancient, modern and mediaeval, it must be confessed that our navy will carry much of geographical lore, to confound and impress our friends as well as our enemies.

But here we ought to stop. If we are determined to teach geography, we do not need to invoke the names of our colleges and universities to emphasize our pedagogic proclivities. Having preempted the names of our states for our battle ships, of our larger cities for our first-class cruisers, and of our smaller cities for our second rates and gunboats, having quartered the continent and commemorated "the cardinal points" of the North and South and East and West by "Yankee," "Dixie." "Prairie" and "Yosemite," for pity's sake let us drop geography and try arithmetic for a change. How would '1." "2," "3," etc., do for variety and for evidence of our devotion to learning. There might be inspiration in these magic numbers.

to use the higher education and to conjure in its name with its ships of war, we object to sectional or sectarian prejudice in the choice of seminaries. Therefore if the great trans-Atlantic liners, "Paris" and "New York," recently acquired, are to be metamorphosed into the warlike and pedagogic "Harvard" and "Yale," we respectfully suggest that the great liner "Fuerst Bismarck," purchased yesterday, be immediately christened "University of Michigan," for it is possible that the girls of Smith college are already moving to bestow their alma mater's name upon the ship of war. The University of Michigan is non-sectarian, it is for co-education, and its location will conform to the geographical idiosyncrasies of the navy department. Then call the next ship of war The "Lick" Observatory, and with this terrific con:bination of geography, higher mathematics and theology we shall surely "lick" Spain. Meantime the American people is tiring of puerilities. There is some evidence of a spirit of caste and privilege abroad in the land. In the east the Naval Reserves and National Guard past are seeking to perpetuate their distinctive organizations in the volunteer force of the army and navy, and are childishly petulant at the prospect of failure. Individualities must be merged In our military establishment there can be no government within a government. The entire mass must be homogeneous and entirely responsive to the supreme executive head. War is a leveler. This war is no child's play. It will raze to its foundations an anclent monarchy and plant the tree of Liberty in the ashes of its ruins. Independence, Liberty, United States, America, and Manifest Destiny, are typical names for our ships of war.

According to dispatches, the hero of the hour in Washington is John C. Fremont, son of his father, the "Pathfinder." Fremont is a navy lieutenant, nd commands the torpedo boat Porter. The story published yesterday of how the story published yesterday of how be landed under the noses of Havana's guns and under orders from Admiral Sampson obtained information valuable to the United States' blockading squadron has caused a big sensation. This is the first daring deed of the war. Lieutenant Fremont's mother was a daughter of Thomas H. Benton. "Blood will tell," say the lieutenant's friends. John C., the second, is a chip of the City Was Attacked by the U. S. Warships.

No Casualties Occurred on the American Side, But It Is Believed Many Were Killed in the City.

KEY WEST, April 28, 2:45 a, m.-Admiral Sampson bombarded and silenced the Spanish batteries in position and in course of construction at the entrance of the harbor of Matanzas this afternoon. He did it with the flagship New York, the monitor Puritan and the cruiser Cincinnati. Not one of the American ships was struck, the Spanish gunnery being wild.

The number of the dead and wounded on the Spanish side must be considerable.

The batteries fired explosive shells and most of them fell wide of the mark. One burst beyond the stern of the New York and a shrapnel shot exploded over her. It took the three ships just 18 minutes to silence the batteries. It is believed that much damage was done to the town also.

The marksmanship of the American gunners was remarkable, every shot

If every man could live an out-door life, passing his time with gun and fishing-rod and canoe, there would be less illness in the world. Unfortunately, the demands of modern civilization will permit very few men to live this ideal, healthful life.

Many men have to pass the day shut up in offices and stores, and the nights in close apartments in crowded cities. They get little out-door exercise. One of the results of this unhealthy, sedentary living is the awful prevalence of that dread disease—consumption. One-sixth of all the deaths each year are due to this relentless enemy. Formerly physicians pronounced this disease incurable. It is now generally known that there is a marvelous medicine that for ease incurable. It is now generally known that there is a marvelous medicine that for the past thirty years has been curing consumption almost without a failure. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures of per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis and other diseases of the air-passages. It is the great re-builder. It tears down, carries off and excretes old, inert tissues and replaces them with the firm tissues of health. It restores the lost appetite and makes the digestion perfect restores the lost appetite and makes the digestion perfect.

"Four years ago I had an attack of grip that left my throat and lungs in a bad condition," writes Mrs. Mary Hartman, of 300 Harker St., Mansfield, Ohio. "The doctor said I had disease of the throat and bronchial tubes. I continued to grow worse. I had pain in the upper part of my chest and a severe cough, which grew worse at night and in the morning, with heavy expectoration. I would cough up mattery scabs, after which I would experience a burning and smarting sensation in my throat. I took the doctor's prescriptions without number, but they did me no good. I took sixteen bottles of cod liver oil and was as bad as ever. I then took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and three of the 'Pellets.' I began to improve in every way and now enjoy good health and have taken no medicine for over six months." digestion perfect.

that that is the last of Harold Westcott and that I shall never hear of him

But I was mistaken. Ten days later the startling interruption came in a form of which I had never dreamed.

> CHAPTER XX. SALUS!

I was never able to learn who it was that sent me a marked copy of a French paper. But since the handwriting was that of a woman I suspect it came from the wife of Harold Westcott. None but a woman would have thought of doing

The article around which a blue pencil was drawn was a dispatch from Monte Carlo, and it told in characteristic French style of a characteristic incident of that great gambling center.

An American, a rich young man, M. Walcott, had tempted fortune at the bank. Perhaps because he had been partaking freely of wine he was filled with an ambition to break the bank. He

Those of the spectators who were not too absorbed in watching the struggle saw several expressive looks pass between the senor and the madame. What could it mean? Was there an understanding between the two?

At midnight M. Walcott had lost every dollar. He turned to his wife and asked her to pledge her diamonds. She refused. Thereupon he drew a revolver had been before. Do you understand and blew out his brains. Ugh, how American

And so exit Harold O. Westcott. Let the dead past bury its dead.

We sat on one of the bold cliffs at Newport in the cool of the moonlit summer evening. The lamps of the pretty town twinkled behind us, while the soft waves murmured at our feet. Here and there out on the heaving sea a slowly moving light told where a steamer or sailing vessel was plowing its way across the lovely expanse of water.

ATTACK GREAT BRITAIN.

oohn Bull Said to Have Formed an Unholy Alliance with America. Paris, April 25.-The Libre Parole publishes a violent article attacking Great Britain's attitude toward Spain and characterizing Great Britain as the "hypocritical accomplice of the United States." It says:

"Their alliance is ignominy, but perhaps it is just as well that they should work together, for there will be a day when they will be called to account by international justice, and that day the British leech will be forced to disgorge and Europe will no longer tolerate the disgrace of allowing the law to be laid down by such assassins and malefactors as John Bull and Brother Jonahan. That day Europe will have reason for congratulation that they will be unable to invoke any excuse for mercy. They have been brothers in infamy, and history will sooner or later others do the same, and. "I added, urged | chastise them together."

Tampa, Fla., April 25.—Captain-General Blanco and the Spanish authorities have, since the departure of Consul-General Lee, regarded war as inevitable, and have been bending extraordinary energy to the concentration of troops and supplies in Havana. The war spirit has infected this place in a high degree. On receiving the war news Saturday the Cuban flag was stretched across the street in front of Lantz & Taylor's store and the stars and stripes on either side of it, and an impromptu meeting was called, the Clifton house hall engaged, and arrangements made for an entertainment, with good speakers provided, to take place some day next week, the exact date not fixed. Adrian Press: C. H. Cady, an Ann Arbor chap, last week announced a great "closing out" sale of crockery, including plates, cups and "boweis," When a man disposes of his boweis, he ought to be pretty well closed out. Any man with a heart wouldn't sell his bowels unless his stomach was out of order. A man must live in Ann Arbor, right in the shadow of our great University, in order to understand scientific physiology, which classifies bowels as crockery. Must be something wrong with Cady's department of the interior. Bowels must be a sort of vegetable dish.

Revenue Measure.

WILL OCCUPY THREE DAYS, a provision for an income tax.

Throngs Listen to the Speeches-The Chaplain, in His Invocation, Asks Devine Aid for Our Army and Navy-The Political Program.

Washington, April 28.-The opening of the three days' debate on the war revenue measure attracted crowds to the house galleries today and the attendance on the floor was also large. Rev. Hez Swem, who delivered the invocation, asked the divine aid and direction for our army and navy. Without any evidence of excitement or preliminaries of any kind, the house went into committee of the whole after the reading of the journal, and entered upon the consideration of the bill. Owing to its importance, Mr. Dingley, chairman of the ways and means committee, did not ask that the first reading of the bill be dispensed with, as it usual with bills of minor importance.

Free Silver Senators, However, Won't Delay the Bill.

Washington, April 28.-While there mittee. is no doubt that the senators of all parties who advocate the free coinage of silver will oppose the bond feature of Spanish Fleet on the Way to Bombard the war revenue bill, the present prospect is that they will not seek to delay its passage on account of that provis-Butler all expressed the opinion today views upon it among the democratic ment of American coast towns.

The bond provision probably will be stricken out of the bill in the committee on finance and restored in the senate. The full democratic strength of the finance committee is relied upon to oppose the provision. Senator Jones of Nevada, silver republican, is counted upon to support a motion to eliminate the bond feature. His vote would be decisive, as he holds the balance of power in the committee. In the event that the bill is reported to the senate without the bond clause the republicans will move to reinsert it after it is reported, and in this they hope to succeed, with the assistance of several democratic votes.

Resolution Is Introduced by Senator Stewart.

Washington, April 28.—After the senate convened today, Senator Stewart introduced the following resolution, for which he asked immediate consideration: "That the secretary of war be and he is hereby directed to furnish the senate with an estimate of the amount of appropriation necessary to arm, equip, subsist and furnish with munitions of war the Cuban army, now at war with Spain, and such additions as may be made thereto from the people of Cuba until the Spanish army shall be expelled from the island of Cuba, or until the next session of Chilcoot Pass and Dawson City are summer resorts compared with the headquarters for mineral water, pedagogical education, Simmicolon colts and Cocker spaniels. A man with a stock of ear muffs and Ecquimo lingerie ought to do well here. Every person in the audience at the opera house Friday night was supplied with a printed statement of a copy of a dispatch calling out Company G M. N. G., to actual service. To wind up the entertainment of the "Mistleto Bough" last night the Light Guard. Bough" last night the Light Guards marched in on the stage and presented arms. Mrs. Frederick Pease stepped out before them and sang in a most feeling manner "The Star Spangled Banner." Coming to the chorus she fairly beseeched the audience, by gestures, to join in with her as a farewell to that company, many of whom may never return to Ypsilanti alive and the audience remained as immovable as a Jew street vender when he had reached Jew street vender when he had reache Jew street vender when he had reached the lowest selling price on a pair of suspenders. On the second verse it "kind a" dawned on the minds that there was prospects of war with Spain and somebody in front rose in their seats. The entire audience then got up. A few joined in on the chorus but those who did were looked on by their pears. A few joined in on the chorus but those who did were looked on by their nearest neighbors as infringing upon the program. Just 27 years ago yesterday the old Ypsilanti Light Guards were organized. It is not a case of some conjecture if those old boys had marched out on the stage of Hewitt hall on that night and some popular soloist had started up a national air that the audience, at least the male portion of it, would have tried to make holes through the ceiling with their hats and endeavored to knock out the side walls with the sound from their lungs and throats. They most certain-ly would have made attempts at it. ly would have made attempts at it. You can lay every dollar that you possess that, if an audience was gathere I in Madrid and somebody came before them and sung the national hymn, the Spanish would have thawed out to such an extent that there would have been a premium on fans.

As to the "Mistletoe Bough," it was a fine success. The audience it was a fine success. The audience was large and the beautiful pantomime was gracefully and artistically staged. There was some wonderment expressed, however, at the legerdemain that made however, at the legerdemain that made it possible for a chair to be placed in direct view of the audience and have it transferred from an attic to a street, thence into the woods and back again into the attic. However, this was a mere trifle and ought to be overlooked in amateur performances. The minuet was beautifully carried out while the singing of popular ballads and airs by the Misses Wood, Inn's, Ellis, Bassett and Mr. Broskey were highly appreciated. Those who had the entertainment in charge are entitled to a great deal of credit for its success. Normal Notes.

The Athletic association has been unable to secure the use of the fair grounds for the game with Albion this afternoon and in consequence the visitors are to be received in state and escorted to the plat of ground back of the Training school and Starkweather hall when before the admiring eyes of all the small boys and street loungers in town they must uphold the honor of their college. It is in poor taste for hoi polloi to criticise the actions of the powers that be but nevertheless it seems that either the owners of the fair grounds or the representatives of the Athletic association must have been Athletic association must have been suffering from an attack of good, old-fashioned spitefulness and ill-humor when negotiations were held.

During the spring vacation Miss Maude Gilbert, of Owosso, was made forever happy, we hope, by a visit from Hymen Hymenaeus, the saffron-robed god of marriage. May the brightness of his torch and the absence of even the faintest suspicion of a cypress bud in his garland on this occasion prove to have been a true criterion of the happiness to follow his coming. Like a sensible lady the bride has returned to finish her school work.

No such patriotic demonstration was ever witnessed in this city as that of Tuesday morning on the departure of the Light Guards for Island Lake. Every store closed its doors and 4,000 people gathered at the corner of Congress and Washington streets. Every where was Old Glory to be seen. Those who did not carry American flags had some token of the national colors upon their persons. The kodak flend was in his element and many snap shots were taken. Four motor cars stood in waiting to convey the militia boys to Ann Arbor. At 9 o'clock they started to move. Coming down out of the armory the long file of 86 men marched down the north side of Congress street and up the south side. When the people caught sight of them cheer after cheer went up. The company faced to the west on the motor line track and from the balcony on the Densmore store Hon. E. P. Allen and Dr. R. G. Boone made inspiring and patriotic farewells which were enthusiastically applauded. Captain Kirk made a neat response from the rear platform of his car and the boys filed in the cars. Factory whistles blew continuous blasts. All along the route houses were gaily decorated and immense crowds gathered to bid the boys good-bye. At the corner of Cross and Washington the G. A. R. was lined up and cheered the boys on. At the same place a band was statuaged the west on the motor line track and At the same place a band was stationed playing the national airs. At Normal hill 1,000 students and 500 citzens were assembled. Guns were fired and the Normal yell given with a will as the

Its charter members were young men of the very best families, and in spits of three other well regulated fraternities then in operation at the high school. Delta Sigma Nu went rapidly forward and soon reached the top of the ladder, a position much sought for, and one which has never yet been lost to Delta Sigma Nu. Will the council tonight tear down the cowsheds on Congress street?—Ypsi. end of Washtenaw Times.

That depends. When the Ypsilanti aldermen go on a tear, the cow sheds a tear of remorse, and a cow shed tear is not likely to occur, for the tear a cow sheds, is not such a tear as they are used to. ENJOYED A BANQUET.

Woman's Auxiliary Ranquets Y. M. C. A. Sustaining Members.

The stirring events of the day gave warlike tone to the speech-making Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. sustaining members' banquet. To the same events must also be ascribed the some what smaller attendance. Still nearly every seat at the three long tables was occupied and the affair from first to last was helpful, bright and eminently successful. The ladies of the Auxiliary deserve the hearty thanks of all for making possible so delightful an event in the Y. M. C. A. year.

Rev. J. W. Bradshaw, of the Congregational church, pronounced the invocation and after an hour's careful application to the excellent supper provided, the guests settled themselves to listen to the program of speeches and music provided. Dr. R. S. Copeland was an ideal toastmaster and in his own inimitable fashion announced the following: Vocal solo, Miss Axtell, "Inspection," E. S. Gilmore; cornet solo, Walter Crego; "Fighting for Christ," Prof. D. W. Springer: "A Christian Machine," Judge V. H. Lane; vocal solo, Ray Warren; "Pushing to the Front," Rev. T. W. Young: "The Law of Love," Hon. T. E. Barkworth; violin solo, Miss Rese French; "Value of an Association from a Business Man's Standpoint," Henry J. Brown; benediction, Rev. T. W. Young.

Prof. Springer acted as substitute for B. B. Johnson, who is at Island Lake with Company A. Mr. Barkworth, as president of the Jackson Y. M. C. A., was the association's chief guest and delivered an eloquent, convincing and timely address. President Gilmore, of the local association, urged the sustaining members always to consider the organization. following: Vocal solo, Miss Axtell, the local association, urged the sustaining members always to consider the organization ready for inspection. Judge Lane and Rev. Young impressed their hearers with the importance and practical value of Y. M. C. A. activity in this country at the present time. Mr. Brown closed the speaking very appropriately with a few earnest remarks upon what a business man has a right to look for in a Y. M. C. A. During the banquet music was furnished by the Congregational orchestra. The excellence of the several musical numbers was generally remarked upon. Several of the young men of the association served as waiters and did the work well. Through the kindness of C. A. Maynard, the State street grocer, fragrant Fifth Avenue Mocha and Java coffee and excellent cream was provided free of charge—an unusual treat. free of charge-an unusual treat.

WAR DEMONSTRATION.

Patriotism Displayed at the University Wednesday Evening.

Patriotism was rampant at the University Wednesday night. A mass meeting had been called and University Hall was packed to the doors with an enthusiastic throng of students and pro-

From the time the crowd began assembling there was constant and enthusiastic cheering and cries of "Down with Spain," "On to Cuba," "Remember the Maine," and others.

The platform was occupied by Acting-President Hutchins, ex-Regent Grovenor, Regent Col. Dean, Dean Vaughan, Dean Hudson, Prof. Stanley, Prof. Knowlton, Prof. Trueblood and Prof. Thompson.

Prof. Stanley opened the exercises by playing the "Star Spangled Banner," and "Marching Through Georgia." The and "Marching Through Georgia." The latter brought the audience to their feet and started them to singing when the chorus was reached.

Acting-President Hutchins presided and made a short introductory address. "We are assembled to give expression of our Americanism topight. War is always to be deprecated, but there are times when an appeal must be made to the arbitrament of the sword, and this is one of them. All that diplomacy can do has been done and we are now launched in the struggle, and there can be but one result and that is that America will be supreme. But in this controversy we must be men and govern ourselves. Young men, your first duty is to be prepared for the struggle. I hope the time will not come for students of Michigan University to go forth, but should necessity call the students will not be found wanting.

Prof. Knowlton followed with one of his characteristic speeches. "I usually have apepared to speak to student bodies on athletics, but tonight I appear not to discuss intercollegiate athletics, but international athletics. We are here not to listen to speeches but letics, but international athletics. We are here not to listen to speeches but to manifest the feeling of loyalty that to manifest the feeling of loyalty that moves us. This is war not of conquest, acquisition of territory or of revenge, but the issue is to be fought under the standard of humanity, that men, women and children shall not rot at our very doors. War is a horrible thing. We can't all go to war and can't even be enlisted now, but keep your nerve and go slow."

go slow."

Col. H. S. Dean, of the Twenty-Second Michigan, next spoke. "We first as a nation took up arms to put down oppressive taxation, later to cast off the shackles of four million slaves, and today we are defending suffering and oppressed humanity. I have grown rusty in the war business and you young men know nothing about it. If I went to war again I should like to take two regiments out of this hall. (Tremendous cheering.) The strength of the American army was the thought of sweethearts at home. The soldier's reputation is at stake as much as that of the general, and so the enemy may kill us tion is at stake as much as that of the general, and so the enemy may kill us but they can't whip us. With two regiments of students drilled for three months I can whip twice that number of the flower of Spain's army. So form companies and drill."

Prof. Trueblood told some incidents of his life in '61, and finished by reading a poem entitled "John Bull and Uncle Sam," of which the last stanza follows:

John Bull, with proud and loving heart, John Bull, with proud and loving heart, this message to him sends:
"Dear Sam: Of me you are a part; we must, we shall be friends.
United we'll dare war's alarms. Shake hands, my Sam.
Hurrah! Come all the world in arms, we will not care a damn."
The Union Jack of John,
The Stars and Stripes of Sam,
Shall rulers be on land and sea. Three cheers for John and Sam.
Prof. B. M. Thompson, who fought

Prof. B. M. Thompson, who fought with Custer, then spoke. "We must win peace today because the arts of diplomacy have failed. One hundred and twenty-five thousand men have been called for and responded willingly." been called for and responded willingly. But I think there will be no further call unless we have a general war. But drill on the campus and be ready for it. War is here and since "War is Hell" I hope Spanish will be the principal language spoken in those regions for the next six months. War alone enriches the soil for the flowers of patriotism to grow."

riches the son by the riches the son by the riches to grow."

Prof. Hudson said: "We must hand to posterity the institutions of our fore-fathers. Let us keep our hearts warm beds cool and do our duty our heads cool, and do our duty

Dean V. C. Vaughan said: "I depre cate war as much as anyone can. there are things worse than war. Va a man insults your sister you knock him down, and when another na-tion insults yours the insult must be an-swered by the cannon. We cannot easily whip Spain and must prepare for war tonight. It is America's duty to uphold the Monroe doctrine and I hope the war, when ended, will see our flag not only in Cuba but also over Porto Rico, the Phillipines and Hawaii as weil."

Mr. F. D. Eaman, '00, and F. L. Mulholland, '99 L, were also called nad made short addresses. The audience closed by singing

President Hutchins announced that there would be drill in front of the gym tonight at 7 o'clock, and that those who have had military experience should appear promptly at 6:45 o'clock to drill the men.

The meeting was of the kind to stir up enthusiasm, and it is probable that several companies will be the result of tonight's meeting.
