QUSTIONS OF THE FUTURE.

Thinking people already discern in the certain outcome of the Spanish war a series of new and momentous questions of public policy which will necesbecome subjects of partisan championship and may occasion imortant changes in American politics. When Spain shall have been sufficiently humbled to sue for peace the United States will be in possession of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islandsa territory of imperial dimensions and resources, having a population of upwards of ten million souls, vet withal, a territory unsuited in climate, productions and environment for vigorous Anglo-Saxon development, and a territory peopled with numerous races of low moral and intellectual stature, who have nothing in common with our civilization and who are constitutionally unfitted to enter into and appreciate the spirit of our institutions. The satisfactory disposition of these trophies of our military prowess will be a serious and perplexing problem by the side of which the subjugation of Spain becomes a mere kindergarten exercise.

Already there are those who see in this sudden acquisition of valuable territory an opportunity for territorial expansion and the advocates of an American colonial policy are numerous, powerful and insistent. The success of the English people in this particular line of commercial development is used with powerful effect to stimulate the hitherto conservative and cautious American people to a similar policy of expansion.

And then there are those who do not conceive a career of conquest and military domination, of extra-territorial possessions in distant climes to be the true destiny of the American nation and of a government which was instituted for the avowed purpose of protecting the lives and liberties of its component citizens. In answer to the argument which portrays the illusory glories of dominions upon which the sun never sets and the tide of colonial wealth turned toward American shores by American gunboats and maintained by American soldiery, they will say that such a conception of colonization The publication of this edition will is not in harmony with American ideas of national greatness, that the true colonial policy is that which undertakes undertakes colonization for the purpose of enriching the parent at the expense of the offshoot. And the conditions in America today do not warrant territorial acquisitions which at best can only lay added burdens upon the House in the City of Ann Arbor on general public. ## WHAT SHALL WE DO?

The school board at a special meeting held last week determined among other things to submit to the qualified electors of this school district the question of Free Text books made mandatory by the Graham-Forsythe law passed at the session of the legislature in 1897. This question will be voted upon at the special called for Tuesday, June 14th. Although the school board has given but short notice of its Convention to be hereafter called, and table use? It would be a far greater intention to submit the question at this particular time, it behooves every one to attend the Senatorial Convention obstacles which now enable the few interested in our schools to turn out

> If the people of this school district do not elect the free text books system they will pass under the operations of the Graham-Forsyth uniform text book law, which provides a state comproductions the staples of our gulf mission to select school books for the entire state and makes it compulsory upon the people of each school district rate, there may be some measure of coming under the operations of the excuse for annexation, but in the case law to buy and use the books so seof the Philippine Islands there is cer- lected by state authority. There are many reasons why we should not come under the provisions of this law. The most important of these is the fact that it will benefit no one except the vendors of the books which the commission select. It will annul in this particular the principle of local self-government. It will say to the people that we consider a state commissioner sitting at Lansing to be better qualified to meet the requirements of our children than we are ourselves. It will not lessen the expense of school books. Books chosen for uniformity must be chosen for a term of years. The effect of electing a particular textbook for a fixed term of years has always been deterioration of the book so chosen. Our alternative from this undesirable meddling with our local concern by state authorities is to elect free text-books. The law in question provides that it shall be the duty of every school board in the state coming under the operation of the law to submit this question to the electors at some special or general election before the year 1899. The free text-book system has proven successful and economical wherever it has been introduced. Several cities in this state, including Detroit, have been using free text books for a number of years. The effect of free text-books has been to reduce the cost of books about twofifths, while still retaining the selection of the books with the local authorities. It will be objected by some that free text books will entail additional expense upon the school district, but this is not true. The tax levy of course will need to be greater, but for sixty cents extra that is paid in the form of school tax, one dollar would otherwise be needed to be expended for school books. Free text-books means a saving to the community as a whole, and every argument that can be

With characteristic boldness, Miaulis kept the powerful tion. It is not true that the Bostonians Turkish fleet from proceeding against the other Greek islands, and so saved them from the fate of Scio. On the night of the 6th of June, 1822, a young Greek officer, Constantine Canaris by name, with a small vessel manned by 33 men, succeeded in setting fire to a Turkish frigate, and blew it up with all on board off the island of Chios. This was the admiral's ship, and that officer and more than 2,000 Turks perished in the explosion. This disaster struck terror to the Turks, and abandoning their efforts to relieve Nanplia. they retreated in haste towards the Hellespont. On the voyage the fleet was overtaken by a severe storm off Tenedos, and in the midst of it the Greeks succeeded in destroying a Turkish frigate and 1,600 men. The Turks thereupon returned to Constantinople. Nanplia thus surrendered to the Greeks on the 12th of September. On the 8th of June the Greek fleet encountered the Turks off the island of Lesbos, and by means of a fine ship, which was manned by a small crew and handled with great daring, burned a Turkish frigate with 600 men on board, to their local needs or not, Again the large Turkish fleet was beat-

> William Barker Cushing's three deeds of daring-which were successfully carried out-stamp him as the greatest hero in the annals of naval warfare of the ages.

In July, 1862, William Barker Cushing was commissioned a lieutenant in the United States navy. In November he was ordered in the steamer Ellis to capture Jacksonville, Florida, intercept the Wilmington mail, and destroy the salt works at New Juliet. He captured a large mail, took two prizes, and shelled a Confederate camp, but was unable to cross the bar that night, and in the morning ran aground. The crew transferred everything except the pivot-gun to one of the captured schooners, and sailed to a place of safety, a mile and a half away; but Cushing remained with six volunteers on board the steamer until she was disabled by a cross-fire from on shore, when he set her on fire and the sounds of North Carolina. His most brilliant exploit was the destruction of the Confederate ironclad ram "Albemarle" on the night of the 27th of October, 1864. This powerful vessel had successfully encountered a strong fleet of United States gunboats, and fought ing material damage. There was nothing able to cope with her in the sounds. Cushing volunteered to destroy her, and with a steam launch and a volunteer crew he ascended Roanoke river, towing an armed cutter. The river was lined with pickets to guard against just such an attack as this; but Cushing's luck did a few yards of the 'Albemarle" before he was discovered. Casting off the boat that was in tow, he ordered its crew to attack a picket-post near by, while, with a full head of steam, he drove the launch straight at the huge to quarters and at once opened fire. howitzer. Such is the glory of war.

MORE ABOUT THE TEXT-BOOKS. The Graham-Forsythe uniform textbook law gives each school district in the state, not now using free textbooks, the option of electing before January 1, 1899, to adopt free text-books or remain under the present system. One or the other of these methods of supplying the school books to the children must be voted by the people or their schools will come under the Uniform Text-book law. When once the schools have passed under the Uniform law, the people will have nothing to say as to what books shall be used in the local schools, so long as the law continues in force. Under this law the books will be selected by a state commission, composed of the state board of education and three county commissioners appointed by the governor. The people will be obliged to buy and use the books selected by this commission whether they are adapted

This method of selecting school books The heroism of the Greek fleet is probably the most vicious that could in that terrible war with Turkey was be devised. It strikes a blow at local the greatest ever displayed by any autonomy and deprives the people of fleet in the naval history of the modern each school district of all control over a purely local matter about which they are certainly better posted than any state commissioner can be. It involves a dangerous centralization of authority and thereby increases the possibility for the hands of a few men the letting of reading: contracts involving hundreds of thousands of dollars. These men, too, are selected and elected by political parties, because of their supposed ability "to educational qualifications. Then no one series of text-books can be properly adapted to the widely diversified needs and conditions. No state commission can know these so well as the people of the local communities themselves. Again, the chief recommendation of this system to public favor, is its supposed cheapness. But wherever it has been tried, cheapness has been secured at the expense of the quality of the books. This is too great a price to pay made his escape to the schooner in a for cheapness. There is a way, however, row-boat. He distinguished himself the by which the people may greatly lessen same year on the Blackwater and in the cost of school books and still secure lowing extracts from the "masterpiece" the very books on the market, and at he added to his reputation for bravery the same time retain control of their this literature, used for class work in selection. The Courier attempts to make a point against free text-books by some very misleading statements. Instead of 3,000 school children who would come under the provision of the law there are only 1,800. Instead of a cost of $2,000 per year, the cost, in the light of the experience of other cities, cannot exceed half that sum. Nor is the argument that we will be compelled to furnish books to foreign students based on fact. We charge foreign students tuition. We will be under no more obligation to furnish free books than free tuition to foreign students.

W. J. BRYAN'S "IGNORANCE"

Students in the University Compelled to Study a Gold Bug Speech.

If the following two communications are correct, Prof. Scott, of the English department of the University, is trying to inject, hypodermatically, some "honest money" doctrines into his classes whether they desire to be infused in this way or not. The University is supposed to be conducted on a nonpartisan basis and the free silver students consider his method an infringement of the time-honored principle. He compels his students to take up for study one of Carl Schurz's gold-bug speeches made during the campaign of 96 and which the Republicans distributed around so freely during that fall. The students are told that this is a masterpiece of argument and are required to trace out the line of argument. The admirers of Mr. Bryan in the department consider it a queer way of taking advantage of their opinions and they are practically "Prof. Scott's reconcentrados."

The State Association of the Demoratic Press will meet in Grand Rapids in less than two weeks and it is possible that they will take the matter up and if the University authorities notice hereafter any manifestation of withdrawal of support to the institution from a large number of papers of Michigan, they will know where to place the responsibility.

President Hutchins in regard to the matter, and that the University proper is not responsible for the innovation in the curriculum is shown by the fact that he knew nothing about such a pamphlet being used in the class room and the matter seems to have emanated directly from the English department. Euterpe thus dispels all fear.

The Euterpe society gave a musicale—probably the last of the season—at the residence of Miss Burke, No. 418 N. Division street last Monday. A few friends were invited. The program was exceptionally well rendered, the artists feeling in the best of spirits. Papers were also requested from Miss Morris, Miss Koch and Mr. Elbel and were or the happiest, the guests and the worshippers at the shrine of the goddess who presides over the Muse asking for more selections from her lyre. Following was the program:

Ald. Koch was the only alderman to tote against the appropriation.

John W. Bennett was allowed $75 attorney attend to matters coming under his care without extra cost to the city.

The salaries of the city officers were allowed to remain the same as last year.

The following was a copy of the letter:

J. D. Hawks.

Dear Sir:—Pursuant to your request communicated to me by the city attorney after his talk with you in Detroit on the 3d inst., I beg leave to state that the city of Ann Arbor expects your company to replace your present equipment upon so much of Main street as has been ordered paved, "with steel ties on concrete foundation in accordance with the city specifications. Also to supply grooved rails and iron poles like those mentioned in the ordinance relative to your company, and to pave when that work is being done upon the remainder of the street all that part of Main street above referred to, lying between the other ends of the street all that part of Main street above referred to, lying between the other ends of the tes with material like that used outside the tracks and in a similar manner. This is the understanding had by the council at the time the ordinance was passed and the latter clause of Section 6 was added at the meeting in the presence of Mr. Angus for the express purpose of including the above requirement.

The club has been in existence but a very short time and originated among the members of the '98 law class. It is desired, though, that it shall become a University affair, and every one who is a student in college and has interest in water sports is urged to join. There is a good chance for such a club to prosper here, as the Huron river offers a fairly good course. At a small expense a two-mile course wide enough at the turns for two boats to row side by side could be opened up. Those who are desirous of becoming members of the club leave their names with J. B. Felker, 727 E. University ave., or at Wahr's bookstore before tomorrow evening. The club will meet then to act upon new names presented for membership and to elect officers for the ensuing year.

THE WONDERS OF SCIENCE

Lung Troubles and Consumption Can be Cured.

An Eminent New York Chemist and Scientist Makes a Free Offer to Our Readers.

The distinguished chemist, T. A. Slocum, of New York city, demonstrating his discovery of a reliable cure for Consumption (Pulmonary Tuberculosis), bronchial, lung and chest troubles, stubborn coughs, catarrhal affections, general decline and weakness, loss of flesh, and all conditions of wasting away, will send THREE FREE BOTTLES (all different) of his New Discoveries to any afflicted reader of this paper writing for them.

His "New Scientific Treatment" has cured thousands permanently by its chosen: timely use, and he considers it a simple professional duty to suffering humanity to donate a trial of his infallible cure.

Science daily develops new wonders, and this great chemist, patiently ex- J. J. Goodyear. perimenting for years, has produced results as beneficial to humanity as can be claimed by any modern genius. June His assertion that lung troubles and consumption are curable in any climate is proven by "heartfalt letters of gratitude," filed in his American and European laboratories in thousands from those cured in all parts of the world.

The dread Consumption, uninterrupted, means speedy and certain death.

Simply write to T. A. Slocu n. M. C., 98 Pine street, New York, giving postoffice and express address, and the free medicine will be promptly sent direct from his laboratory.

Sufferers should take instant advantage of his generous proposition. < Please tell the doctor that you saw this in The Democrat. Ann Arbor.

Naval Men Expect Cervera to Make a Fight.

HAS NO CHANCE OF ESCAPE.

Spanish Admiral Must Either Sink His Ships or Make an Open Fight -Attack by Americans from the Land Will End the Suspense.

New York, June 7 .- By no possibility, it is conceded by members of the war board, will Admiral Cervera's vessels in the harbor of Santiago be able to reach the open sea, even with the remains of the Merrimac removed-a task that is not at all feasible in view of the heavy fire that any operator would be subjected to who might attempt to place sufficient dynamite in the wreck to remove it.

The entire Spanish squadron is now conceded to have been caught and closed against all possibilities of escape, and unless Cervera purposely destroys his ships they are bound ultimately to fall into the hands of the United States.

Cervera's position is regarded as one of almost pitiful humiliation, and his situation such that he will be forced to surrender, possibly without having a chance to open fire on a single war vessel. That he, his officers and entire force will be made prisoners of the United States seems certain, With Sar. tiago in possession of the United States the crews of the Spanish ships will become prisoners of war, and if they attempted to escape from Santiago they would fall into the hands of the insurgents.

Opinions differ as to the chance of the four powerful armored cruisers and torpedo-boat destroyers becoming th? property of the United States, but most aaval men assert with great positiveless that Cervera will never allow his vesseis to be taken, and that when he finds no other alternative open to avoid destruction or capture he will sink

With all chances of escape against A learned man from Sumpter was elling the Augusta-ites at the creamery hat we were in imminent need of the precipitation. Can Nature withstand the mouthings of Her Priest in a dilemma so unjust? We shall see.

With all chances of escape against him either by successfully removing the wreck and securing at least a channel to the sea, a general feeling exists among naval officers that some bold and almost equally daring exploit as and almost equally daring exploit as that of Constructor Hobson will be attempted by Admiral Cervera rather than to submit to the resort of blowing up his own vessels without having had opportunity of firing a single projectile at an American vessel.

Now that the Spanish admiral is no longer to be regarded as a dangerous factor in the transportation of large bodies of troops by sea to Porto Rico and Santiago, the war department is preparing to take immediate steps for forwarding several transports to both places, and safe escort is to be afforded them by the ships now a part of the blockading fleets off Havana, with other vessels that are to be relieved Inal account in estate of Eliza Stitt, from further duty at Santiago. The army is relieved of the necessity now of waiting further on the navy to provide it necessary vessels to convoy the merchant ships, and a large movement is now expected to begin.

To Whom It May Concern: To those suffering from stomach and nerve troubles I wish to recommend Drake's Dyspepsia Cure and Nerve Restorer. About 20 years ago I began to be troubled with my stomach. It gradually grew worse, even under treatment, until it became difficult for me to eat any kind of food with comfort. For the past five years I have been able to retain very little food of the simplest nature long enough to digest it. Seldom during this time have I enjoyed sleep throughout the entire night, and usually have been obliged to leave my bed in consequence of my stomach and nerve troubles. My bowels were very much relaxed, said to be due to inflammation of the membrane of the intestines, I was treated by physicians, and tried nearly every known remedy recommended for my troubles with no lasting benefit, and usually not even temporary relief. On the 5th day of January, '98, I purchased a package of Drake's Dyspepsia Cure and Nerve Restorer, and I wish every dyspeptic knew how much lave no trouble in retaining it. His friends claim that the rumor was set afloat by his political enemies for the purpose of weakening his candidacy for congress, the anti-Pingreeites being interested in circulating it in the hope that it would complicate the legislative situation in Washtenaw county and give them a chance to run in an anti-Pingree candidate.—Detroit Tribune.

It pays to be politie. Johnnie Chapman, the "little gentleman newsboy" who sells evening papers, has had proof of it. Last Saturday 41 of his customers chipped in a quarter apiece and purchased him a new outfit of clothing and furnishings from shoes up to hat. He is one of the main supports of his mother and has more friends than any newsboy in the city. There are many men who, even in these war times, will wait for a half hour till Johnnie Chapman can come around before purchasing an evening paper.

Allmendinger & Schneider have issued the following circular letter to farmers:

A year ago we advised our farmer friends to put every acre of ground that they possibly could into wheat. The world's stock had steadiny decreased for a series of years, and the statistics of the situation made it evident that wheat would bring a good price. We come this year to the new harvest with the smallest world's supplies remaining in many years at this season. By the middle of July these stocks will be nearly wiped out of existence. This condition will again be favorable to good prices, though high prices cannot be predicted with any such confidence as last year, for the reason that at this time the prospect is for thet largest crop in the United States that we have ever raised. The largest crop ever raised was, according to the government reports, that of 1891, of 612,000,000 bu. Crop experts are predicting a crop for this year of from 725 to 925 mullion bushels. The realization of either amount must have a depressing effect on price. We, therefore, say to farmers this year, watch crop conditions from now to harvest and get as full information about the yields abread before deciding on the acreage of wheat to be sown in 1898.

We strongly urge all farmers to cut rye from their fields. During the past few weeks we have been able to pay large prices for wheat for shipment, the sole condition being that the grain conformed to the grade requirements of the markets. These conditions are arbitrary and may even be unjust, but the fact remains that they must be conformed to structly. Wheat with rye is at once barred out and in consequence not a man in the county who had rye in his wheat was able to take advantage of the high prices. While such a bulgs may not come again, we advise farmers to be in line for it, if it does come, by raising wheat that will grade. In this connection we attach a clipping which is worthy of attention:

CUT OUT THE RYE.

"During the past two or three years" price. We come this year to the new harvest with the smallest world's sur

CUT OUT THE RYE.

CUT OUT THE RYE.

"During the past two or three years there has been considerable trouble in this state caused by rye getting mixed in the wheat. A large quantity of wheat that would otherwise be of fine quality is utterly ruined for milling purposes by the rye that is mixed through the grain, and many a dollar is lost to farmers that might easily and readily be saved by the exercise of a little care during the next thirty days to cut the rye out of the wheat fields.

"Michigan millers require the best grade of perfectly clean wheat in order to produce flour of as fine a quality as they have been making the past ten years or more. Michigan first grade flours are justly celebrated in the most discriminating markets both at home and in foreign countries. This reputation cannot be maintained except by the use of first-class grain. Wheat mixed with rye bring only a low price in any market. It is a well known fact that the growing of rye deteriorates the quality of wheat, creating a mongrel or hybrid variety. If we desire to improve the grades and varieties of our wheat we must keep it absolutly pure and free from rye. Farmers cannot spend a little time to better advantage than to go through the wheat-fields in the early part of June and cut the rye out clean."

True to his word he came to the lawyer's office the next day with a friend and started to do the "rough house" act, but the wiley city attorney was not to be caught so easily. He claims that Marsh hit him twice, when he opened up his rapid-firing apparatus and with accurate aim landed a few amidship and one in the bow, which sunk him to the floor. The opponent, however, made his escape with much loss of blood. Marsh is a resident of Lenawee county.

The Irish Washerwoman,

The Experience social at St. Luke' hurch house was well attended last Monday night. The interesting part of the program was the pantomime, in which Dan Quirk, jr., took the leading part as the bachelor looking for a wife. Mrs. Ida Lamkin was in charge of the wife market, in which he sought to purchase him a life partner. He was first presented to Lilian De Lynn Deubel, a charming coquette, but as he was a bachelor he had seen enough of coquette, and was next presented to Allie Bogardus, a foxy little girl of thony color. Now, his folks were of good, old Southern stock and a black girl was away out of the question. However, Mrs. Lamkin was well provided with them and he was shown another sample of her goods, Georgia Anderson, a housekeeper, but the trouble was that her cooking did not agree with his stomach, used to club dinners. The next one was supposed to be a winner. Mrs. Lamkin introduced Helen May Hewitt, who played the piano and was a bachelor he had seen enough May Hewitt, who played the piano and tang songs of the Lady of the Lake This made him think too much of his first and disappointed love, and his sked if there was any other saleable temale in the establishment. If the city does not pave and the railway company does, then the streets about $70 had been subscribed and that will be worse than they are at present It would take about $150 more. It was with pavement in the middle and cobble stones on each side, between them a mud or dust hole. It is hoped that when one paves the other will. Nearly allof the property holders are in favor of pavement, and for this delay there is no excuse. It has been said that because the company's charter says they shall pave with brick, others who do not favor brick are against it. It does not matter what the charter says in that question. If the city sees fit to use some other kind of pavement, the police power of a corporation is so great that it can compel the company to lay pavement of the same kind.

The council meets tonight, and when the question of the railway comes up it will place the aldermen in a position where their actions will indicate which side of the fence each is on. All this trouble and the expenses to Detroit, hiring an attorney, etc., could be saved by complying to the wishes of the people. The boys who expected to see many pretty girls in the South are sorely disappointed. The South are sorely disappointed. The Southern girls are much inferior to the girls of Michigan and especially to those of Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. The Times reporter just hears this said by the rest of the regiment; he is too bashful to investigate the truth of the statement for himself, but it is undoubtedly true, as such well known admirers of beautiful women as Campbell, Boutell, "Buff" Kirk and "Fatty" Horseman say so, so it must be so. The girls of Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor need not fear that their soldier boys will run away with some dark-eyed Southern girl, Judging from the number of letters which daily leave Camp Thomas, one would be led to believe that the boys are loyal to their girls at home.

Last night the closing hours of Decoration day were spent in a social dance. The dance was made possible through the kindness of the band and a most enjoyable time was had.

Sunday W. L. Stannard, of Ypsilanti, being near camp, called on the boys and gave each a hearty handshake. He was a welcome guest, I can tell you. He expressed himself as well pleased with Company G and the regiment as a whole.

you. He expressed himself as well pleased with Company G and the regiment as a whole.

A touching and pathetic scene was witnessed yesterday on Snodgrass Hill. Two old veterans meet, one on either side of a large cannon. One wore the gray, the other the blue. Their long, snow-white hair, careworn faces and bent forms told of age. With tears in their eyes the two old warriors met, shook hands, and talked over the past. They had fought against each other on that very place. The men now parted, each going in different directions, probably never more to meet, but the Blue and the Gray had met on the silent battle field, joined hands and forgot that they were once enemies, realizing only that they are now American citizens. The little scene, small in itself, was the most eloquent symbol that our nation is one.

Last Sunday at the evening service a song written by a Wisconsin divine was dedicated to the Thirty-first by his request. It was never sung before and belongs to this regiment. The first verse runs:

"Bring the good old bugle, boys," they

Now a new song wakes the nation, stirring hearts once more.
"Tis the song of Freedom sounding o'er the Island shore,
While we are marching to Cuba.
The song, simple in itself, touched a responsive chord in the audience and it was sung with a vim and snap that would make Spaniards quake.
With the exception of a few slight cases of sickness the health of the regiment is good and Company G is especially in good health. HILLMAN.

Camp George H. Thomas, Chickamauga Park, Ga. June 1, 1898.

The most keen observer of the romantle and picturesque would have been more than satisfied Monday evening had it been his good fortune to be one of those present at the social dance given by the Michigan boys to while away the shadowy hours. No cards were issued for the occasion, but joy and merriment was the order of the evening. Promptly at 6:30 o'clock, the regimental band assembled on the street between the Second and Third battalions and ere the first strains sounded on the evening air, many dancers were already on the scene. At retreat roll call the sergeants of the several companies of the command announced that the feat was to come off, and that one of the requirements was that all those who were to act as ladies were to appear clad only in the new linen underwear just issued to the boys of the Thirty-first by "Uncle Sam." The make-ups of those who impersonated the fair sex were as unique as those seen at a "ball de masque," especially those of Company A, there bepecially those of Company A, there be-ling enough of the student element to appreciate the good time that was in store for them. The Jay Hop was simply not in it with this impromptu dance of the Thirty-first. The head-dress of the "ladies" consisted of red bandanna handkerchiefs, the red neck-tics furnished to the command by Colties furnished to the command by Col Gardener making up any deficiency in the adopted headgear. The band boys, inspired by the enthusiasm shown by those who assembled to "trip the light fantastic" rendered all the latest and most popular airs and hardly gave the dancers time to rest ere another selechas added a new verse to the song which he sings to the tune of "Carry me back to Old Virginia." It is very popular in camp just now, and the pros-pects of its being handed down in history are good:

There's where old Brighton used to

There's where we had no work, and

Old Camp Eaton."

A few nights ago a Pennsylvania regiment and the Thirty-first had a lively scrap over the possession of the Michigan regimental pump. Water is still scarce in this part of the park, and while we have all we need, there is none to spare, and other regiments are supposed to have wells of their own to depend upon. All of our sources of water supply are carefully guarded, and only those who can convince the picket that they are one of Col. Gardener's "Red Necks" are accommodated. That night, however, a large squad of Pennsylvania fellows attempted to prevent our men from getting water. The

The oppomen with a black eye, the result of sition retired in disorder, one of their too close contact with the fist of a doughty son of the Wolverine state, and another with a long slash in the trousers, the work of a bayonet, skilfully wielded. Thus ended the first skirmish of the war in which the Michigan troops, have participated (in gan troops have participated. Our bravery was rewarded by the brigadier-general, who relieved us from all outst guard duty for the present, and ouldered this obligation upon the

Perhaps the most utterly lonesome men in camp, and those who rece ve the least sympathy from their comrades, are the men who become homesick. Such men are to be found in sick. Such men are to be found in every military camp, and are not confined to any particular class or age. The man deeply in love at thirty is just as despondent as the homesick youth of eighteen summers. Most of these cases grow out of the belief, real or fancied, that the poor fellow has been grossly neglected or forgotten. For instance, I know a young man who sits under a tree for hours at a cause of his misfortune seems to be that he has not received a single letter from home or friends since he left Island Lake. How much real good one letter would do such a man cannot be overestimated. And this is the point I wish to emphasize. Friends at home should not neglect the gallant boys who have abandoned society and luxuries to go to the front. Nothing is so cheering as a letter from home. boys who have abandoned society and luxuries to go to the front. Nothing is so cheering as a letter from home, or a copy of the local newspaper. These are mental food for the soldier, they bring him good health, hope and courage, and make his hard fare sweet and inviting. The happiest and most envied men in camp are invariably the ones who receive the largest number of letters, and, of course, those from the fair sex are the most eagerly sought.

Our summer house is completed, and is in use every day as a reading room, writing room, lounging place and tonsorial parlor. Sergeant Petrie has set up his chair beneath its balmy canopy, and is doing a land office business in the tonsorial line. The colonel has pushed along the good work by recommending that every man in his command have his hair cut short. As a result, every Company A man has submitted to the clippers, and, to judge from bald ap-pearance, it is fortunate indeed that we are on the outskirts of civilization. Yesterday Captain Granger received a package from Mrs. M. E. Wilson, of Ann Arbor, containing 36 volumes of choice fiction. They were immediately assigned to the circulating library of Company A and distributed among the boys. The gift was a timely one, as the boys have been at a loss to spend their leisure, and is highly appreciated by all.

From all that can be ascertained at the war department the land forces are to be directed by Gen. Shafter, who will have not less than 20,000 men, mostly regulars, with which to strike the blow contemplated. It was plainly said by a cabinet officer that the postponement of the expedition which had not been great, was altogether attributable to the siege guns that are to be taken along and to unexpected delay in unloading the cars at Tampa.

While the expedition to Santiago is on its way another from Porto Rico is to be made ready and shipped. Just how soon after the Santiago movement this expedition is to leave is not announced, but in carrying out the administration plan of summer activity it is probable that it will not be delayed more than a week after the departure of the Santiago party. Spanish Reports Say Our Fleet Was Repulsed with the Loss of Fifteen Hundred Men-Havana Story of the Recent Action.

Madrid, June 9.-It is officially admitted that the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes was sunk by the fire of the American fleet at Santiago de Cuba Monday. Five sailors and twenty-nine marines on board of her were killed.

Madrid, June 9.—A semi-official note has been published here purporting to give an account of the bombardment of Santiago de Cuba by the American feet Monday last. It says:

"The American navy under Admiral Sampson has fiercely attacked Santiago de Cuba and a bloody encounter ensued. The Americans made three attacks on the Spanish marine and land quence the Americans were repulsed with heavy losses, estimated at 1,500 men. The American projectiles, however, sunk the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes."

Dispatches received here from Havana, from Spanish sources, say: "The Americans were again repulsed at the last bombardment of Santiago de Cuba." Continuing, these reports assert that the damage done to the batteries and town "is unimportant" or is al-

Fire broke out in the barn of the Misses Knight, living at 311 E. Ann street, shortly before noon Monday. The cause of the biaze was a tar kettle situated near the building. The tar was being heated when it suddenly took fire and the flames ran up the side of the building into the roof. There are four barns in a bunch at the place and the fire department did very effective work in keeping the blaze from spreading. The Knight barn was partially destroyed but is fully covered by $100 insurance.
