"TAPPAN HALL."

AN IMPORTANT EDUCATIONAL PROJECT.

The First Steps towards the Establish ment of a Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Ann Arbor. The First

The question of establishing a denominational theological school in this city, that might, besides its own peculiar advantages, be enabled to enjoy those of next to the largest university in the land, has been discussed both pro and con, and sometimes with a good deal of earnestness in Presbyterian circles, for many years. President Tappan in his day suggested the advisability of such a course, and many of the most prominent adherents of this branch of the Christian church from that day to this have expressed the same opinion. The desires of those good people seem now about to be fulfilled; and it seems certain that this semi-centennial year of the University will see added to its already numerous and grand advantages, another that will tend to educate the youth of this country, not only into increased mental and moral culture, but also into a higher and spiritual wisdom founded on the teachings of Christ and the Bible, as propounded by teachers of the Presbyterian denomination. There is no theological training school of that denomination nearer than Cincinnati, and there is no better spot in all Michigan for such a school than in Ann Arbor. There is no place in the West where better influences prevail, and where a theological school could be conducted with so little expense. REALIZING THESE FACTS,

A few persons, members of the Presbyterian church of this city gathered at the residence of Dr. W. J. Herdman, on Monday evening, January 31st, and quietly discussed the matter, and then resolved to inaugurate an association that it is to be hoped will continue for centuries, and be productive of great good to many generations yet unborn. A concise statement of the work pro-posed to be undertaken was given by Prof. Payne as follows:

1. Our ultimate purpose is three-fold:
1-To draw University students into the ministry of the Presbyterian church, and to provide wholly or in part, for their theological training; 2.—To con-firm the faith of students coming from Presbyterian families; 3.-To take an active part in the religious conver-sion of unbelieving students.

II. As means toward the accomplishments of these ends, we propose: 1.— To secure an eligible site for a building to be kown as TAPPAN HALL; 2.-To se cure funds for the endowment of theological chairs, lectureships, and a librain said TAPPAN HALL.

III. Our immediate purpose is to form a legal corporation to be known as the TAPPAN HALL Association, providing for a board of trustees of seven members, four of whom shall be appointed by the session of the First President of th byterian Church of Ann Arbor, and three by the Synod of Michigan, and also determining the conditions of membership in said society.

One incentive to this movement at this time was the desire of Mrs. Edward Sackett, a very worthy and benevolent lady of the church, to make a gift to such a cause, provided it was started here. Since the meeting of January 31st, Mrs. Sackett has deeded to the trustees of the Presbyterian church the vacant lot on State street next to the Methodist church, and also inserted a clause in her will, giving at her death her large brick residence and the lot on which it is situated on the corner of State and Huron streets, to the same trustees, to be handed over to the trustees of the new Association as soon as it is completely organized. Mrs. Sackett gave $12,000 for this property, and in the estimation of good judges of its value it has not depreciated at all in value since she has owned it. This

FIRST GENEROUS GIFT

Is very encouraging to its projectors, and is a worthy "prelude" for similar gifts on the part of some of the wealthy and benevolent members of the wealthy and benevolent members of this denomination in Michigan.

A committee consisting of Professors W. H. Payne, Byron W. Cheever and ex-Gov. Felch was appointed to draw up articles of incorporation which were submitted and adopted at an adjourned meeting of the Association held on Monday avening of this week. The Monday evening of this week. The provisions of these articles, which will soon be signed and deposited with the Secretary of State at Lansing, cover the plans stated above.

The projectors hope to raise $50,000, of which probably $15,000 would be used in erecting a suitable building to be known as "Tappan Hall" in honor of the revered ex-President, Henry L. Tappan, and the remaining fund would be used in endowing professorships, and providing for courses of lectures, a denominational library, etc. Further particulars of this enterprise, which will be surprising to many who may have thought the church was worthy of the charge of apathy on this subject. the charge of apathy on this subject will be given from time to time.

At a meeting of the Washtenaw agricultural society held last Thursday, provisions were made for paying up the nterest now due on the mortgage, and the outstanding bills. It was also voted to hold a spring fair, commencing Tuesday, May 31, and continuing three days. The officers of the society will hold another meeting in the court house, Thursday, March 11, 1887. $25,000 BLAZE AT CHELSEA.

Chelsea Sustains a Severe Loss by Fire Tuesday Night.

Word was received here early Wednesday morning that Chelsea had been visited the night before by fire, and a large portion of the village was now in ashes. The fire originated about 10:30 Tuesday evening, in the basement of J. Bacon & Co.'s hardware store, where about 100 pounds of gun powder was stored, which exploded. blowing the inside of the building out, breaking glass in houses 200 yards away. The fire spread very rapidly and soon the stores belonging to J. R. Gates, Mrs. B. J. Billings, Thomas Wilkins and S. G. Ives were reduced to ashes.

The losses and insurance, as near as can be ascertained were as follows: On buildings—J. R. Gates, $2,500, insurance, $1,500; Mrs. B. J. Billings, $2,500, no in-$1,500; Mrs. B. J. Wants the Good Work to Begin.

Mr. Epiron: Why should not the friends of submitting the prohibition amendment organize at once? Begin early, make all efforts non-partisan. Temperance men of all parties will work for this. Judge Morse, of the supreme court, a leading democrat, W. D. Fuller, ex-chairman of the greenback state committee, and Hon. E. P. Allen republican congressman-elect, from this district, have promised to work hard for this measure. Kalamazoo pastors moved immediately. They held a meeting—decided to work shoulder to shoulder—and some strong resolutions indorsing the movement have been signed by all the clergy, including the Catholic, and upwards of 100 leading citizens called a mass meeting to organize to stamp out the saloon influence. not repeat this in Ann Arbor? Ann Arbor has everything to gain and nothing to lose. Let our citizens arouse. Let all work to make this movement a success. Our University would grow wonderfully could we banish the saloons from Ann Arbor. This would be the strongest point to put into the booming pamphlet, which the Business Men's Association is getting out. Let them pub ish toe fact that there will be no saloons in Ann Arbor to contaminate the youth sent here, and the growth of the University and of the town would be magically increased. Stir the public upon this point, Mr. Editor.

At, Mr. Dille.
Yours for progress,
Citizen. ANN ARBOR, FEB. 9, 1887.

Coming Events.

The Sabbath school of Geddes, will hold s social at the residence of M. Raish, Fri-

Next Monday evening the Unity club programme will be decidedly novel and very interesting. Thirteen national and characteristic cradle songs will be sung by members of the Amphion club and other singers, in appropriate costumes, with fitting scenic setting, and in native dialects. They will range in variety from the droll Japanese to the tender and beautiful Italian baby-song. Such a concert gives an opportunity not only of hearing the natural lullabys of many people, but also of seeing how these foreign mothers look and act. Much trouble has been taken to make it as realistic as possible and there is no reason why it ought not to attract a Frederic Bryton in his play, "Forgiven," or, as it is better known, "Jack o' Diamonds," drew an appreciative audience at White's last night. The play is one of sterling merit without brilliancy, and deals effectively with the old story of a wife's taithfulness, a designing villian and a hus-band's jealousy and subsequent atonement. The role of a reformed gambler is well taken by Mr. Bryton, whose acting shows strength as well as delicacy. The fron-tierisms of Denver Dan (Harry Harwood) are exceptionally good and without the coarseness usually introduced in such character roles. Miss Blanche Thorne, as Jack's wife, sustains a capable role with grace. The play introduces some excellent scenery.—Detroit Evening News.

Several weeks ago Rev. Mr. Sunder-land distributed widely among the stu-dents and others of his congregation a blank, which those receiving the same were requested to fill out and return to him, giving their judgment as to the 40 most eniment Americans, to wit: the 5 greatest poets, the 5 greatest historians, the 5 greatest statesmen, the 5 greatest thinkers, the 5 greatest philanthropists and reformers, the 5 greatest preachers or religious teachers, the 5 greatest scientists, the 5 greatest educators. The returns have now come in, and Mr. Sunderland will speak next Sunday evening, at the Unitarian church on the religious position and views of the men who have been most prominently named. It is believed that this will give some valuable light as to the tendency of religious thought in this country among leading minds.

Mr. Sunderland will preach in the morning on "The Meaning and Value of the Church as understood by Unitarians."

THE LEGISLATIVE VISIT.

THEY HAVE SEEN THE U. OF M. The Legislature Entertained by the Citizens of Ann Arbor and the Faculty of the University.

The legislature, to the number of about one hundred, together with a goodly number of ladies, arrived in Ann Arbor at five o'clock, last Thursday evening, from Lansing, via the M. C. R. R. They were met at the depot by a delegation of citizens with carriages and escorted directly to Hangsterfer's where supper was served. After supper was disposed of, President Angell, in his usual clever style, briefly announced to them the programme that would be followed out during their stay.

The party then took carriages and were driven to the University where they were received in the chapel by the faculty. After spending an hour there in conversation, during which time the glee club rendered some of their choice selections, they repaired to the medical building, where Professor Langley lectured on electricity. After this a very pleasant hour was spent visiting the library and art gallery. This ended the evening's programme.

At nine o'clock, Friday morning, the legislators met in President Angell's office, in the University, ready for the day's programme. The mechanical engineering department was visited first, where an unusual amount of interest was exhibited. each one feeling as he left, that the room was entirely too small to accommodate such a large class.

At 9:45 four lectures were announced: On anatomy, by Dr. Ford, in the medical building, on law by Professor Rogers, in the law building, by Dr. Wood in the homospathic college, by Dr. Taft, in the dental college, which they could attend as they desired. By far the largest number attended the lecture by Dr. Ford, who showed them the workings of the lungs and heart, using a cadaver and specimens to illustrate. After the lecture was concluded a few of the senators and representatives expressed a desire to visit the dissecting room, of which so much is heard and little seen, by the public. After passing through his room their curiosity had abated and a visit to the "pickling vat" was not made.

The hour indicated on the programme having arrived they returned to the president's office to be escorted to the stage of the hall to meet the students of all the departments. In the mean time the students had assembled in their respective departments, and at the appointed time began to file into the large hall, by twos. They completely filled the first floor and when they began filing into the gallery, some of the legislators looked on nazement never naving seen so many students together before. When they were all seated, President Angell remarked that perhaps the mem-bers of the legislature would like to hear bers of the legislature would like to hear them sing en masse. This was invitation enough and "John Brown's body," "Here's to the U. of M," "'Tis Love that makes the world go round," etc., were sung with such ringing and hearty good will that it seemed as if it would raise the dome off the building.

President Angell, on behalf of the University, then addressed the legislature in a short speech, presenting a few facts and figures for their consideration. He said they had seen the building and equipment of the University, but that the real University did not consist of brick and mortar, but of hearts and brains, and he wished them this morning to meet the real University—the students. He commented upon the large number of students in attendance upon the University, the number having reached at present 1,535, the largest number in the history of the University, and larger than that of any other University in this country, except one. It had been said that the University was patronized only by rich students, but the facts would not bear out this statement; he felt safe in saying that at least three-fifths of the students were either wholly or in part paying their way through college. Out of 1500 students in the University the parents of 501 were farmers, of 171 were merchants, of 51 were elergymen, of 65 were mechanics. He then considered the finances of the University. The current expenses of the University were $173,000, those of Cornell with only half the number of students and but one department, were $246,000. The current expenses of Yale university, with one-third less studentswas $225,000 while those of Harvard, with two or three hundred more, were $620,000. The state legislature had appropriated for the University, during its whole period of existence—fifty years,—$1,027,078. The actual appraised value of the property of the University was $900,000, so that the actual running expenses of the University had cost the legislature but $2,000 a year for the fifty years of its existence. But with only half the number of students and for the fifty years of its existence. But aside from the property mentioned, there were the Lewis art gallery, the Rogers collection and the Chinese exhibit, which were worth at least $425,000, so that if the University was credited with the amount of property that it now owned and debited with the amount the legislature had expended upon her, instead of being indebted to the legislature, the legislature would actually owe to the University some $300,000. He said they would not be oppressive in collecting this sum, but would be willing to accept their check for the amount any time.

sponded to by Senators Monroe, West-gate and Gorman, Speaker Markey and Representatives Pierce and Diekema. Every speaker was heartily applauded at every allusion to the University.

In the afternoon, visits were made to the dental college, chemical laboratory, hospitals, law library and the museum. The only place where any particular interest was manifested was at Dr. Maclean's clinic in the hospital where five different operations were performed.

The party left for Detroit at 4:30, in the best of spirits, each one expressing them-selves as highly pleased with the visit, and their entire satisfaction with the manner in which the U. of M. is conducted. No doubt the visit has done more good than anything else could have done, as few of them realized the greatness of the institution for which they are asked for appropriations to make needed improvements.

Secretary Manning to Resign-State Dinner-Mexican Pension Bills, Etc., Etc.

MR. EDITOR:

Some very important changes are about to be made in the treasury department. Secretary Manning, it will be remembered, tendered his resignation at the time of his illness, and although the resignation is still in the hands of the president and has not been acted upon, Mr. Manning has announced his intention of withdrawing from the cabinet. Treasurer Jordan has also tendered his resignation, and asked that it receive immediate action, though he may possibly continue in office until the adjournment of congress. Mr. Manning will fill the position of president, and Mr. Jordan that of vice-president of the "New Western National Bank, of New York City," which will begin business on the first of May. Applications for more than $4,000,000 of stock in the bank have been received, but only $3,000,000 will be accepted.

The second state dinner of the season was given by the president and Mrs. Cleveland, in honor of the diplomatic corps, on Thursday evening last. The representatives of twenty-three of the thirty friendly nations usually represented attended in full court costume. Mrs. Cleveland had been especially interested in both the arrangements and in the personnel of the party invited to meet them, and the state apartments were richly decorated with flowers. The east room, where the guests met Mrs. Cleveland, was transformed into a bower.

The recent passage of the Mexican pen sion bill will necessitate the employment of two hundred and fifty additional clerks in the pension office. Commissioner Black is preparing for the trying ordeal, and says that he will endeavor to complete the examination of the 50,000 applications from this source before the expiration of the present fiscal year. Although the additional clerical force, which is to be appoint ed, will be required but a few months, applications for appointment are being received daily, and the commissioner thinks that there will be no fewer than five thousand applications upon file by the time of making appointments ar-

There are at the present time over 94,000 militiamen in a state of thorough organization, and over 7,000,000 men available for military ser-

One of the most distinguished gatherings that have assembled about a banquet table in Washington in many years was the party that gathered at Chamberlain's on Wednesday evening last, as guests of Mr. William Walter Phelps, in honor of Mr. Hiscock's election to the United States senate. Among those presen were Mr. West, the British minister Speaker Carlisie, Senator Sherman, Secretary Lamar, Murat Halstead, of the Cincinati Commercial Gazette; Senator Evarts, ex-Senator Platt, Representative Morrison, Senator Sewell, Hon. Levi P. Morton, Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier Journal; Chauncey Depue, Secretary Whitney, Gen. Sheridan, Justice Blatchford, Representatives Ried, Randall, Astor, and McKiney, and Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune. The table decorations were elegant. A huge bouquet of Jacquinot roses rested in the centre of the table. Four candlesticks, each bearing five wax candles, served to light the festive board. No speeches were made, and the affair was almost informal in its nature.

The senate devoted much of its time during the past week to the discussion of Senator Beck's bill prohibiting senators and members of congress from receiving fees from railroad companies during their terms of office. During the discussion which was participated in by nearly all of the senators, some of the ablest speeches of the session were made, and the bill was passed on Friday evening by a vote

POMOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

Report of Committee on Tresspass-On Fruit Preserving Factory-Peach Buds Exhibit.

J. D. Baldwin presided at the February meeting. Committee on trespass presented a petition setting forth, that stealing from gardens and orchards be made punishable with the same penalties as theft from a dwelling house, shop, store, etc. A resolution was passed to circulate the petition for signatures and to present it to the legislature through representative C. H. Manly.

J. H. Clough, chairman of the committee on fruit preserving factory, reported in substance as follows: The committee are of the opinion, that the plan of a joint stock company would not be advisable and, as a responsible party doing business in Ann Arbor, had offered to establish and carry on such a factory, provided a bonus of $1000 be offered, the committee recommends the raising of said amount by subscription. It was resolved that the committee be retained and requested to raise this amount among fruit-growers and citizens generally, who are interested in the establishment of a successful factory at Ann Arbor. Messrs. Donald McIntyre, J. D. Baldwin, Prof. J. B. Steere, J. J. Parshall, W. F. Bird, A. Isbell, H. D. Marsh and others spoke in favor of the factory, its fair prospective profits and the favorable locality at Ann Arbor. Its suc-cess would depend on the character of the person or persons, who conduct it, and the quality of the article. This city, being known all over, and far beyond the Union, an Ann Arbor brand of jellies, canned and dried fruit of a first class quality would enjoy a most liberal patronage wherever the Athens of the West is

S. Mills wondered why a creamery had not been started here long ago. He spoke of the large amount of money which had been invested by Ann Arbor capitalists, in outside ventures, many of which proved a total failure. After recess Mr. Clough at once circulated a subscription paper and $125 was subscribed and more premised. If called upen by the committee the citizens of Ann Arbor, the farmers who have apples to sell and the fruit-growers should not allow this opportunity pass to see a fac-tory established in our midst, which would very likely break the way for other fac-

In 1859 the undersigned lived at Cleveland, O. It was one of the, if not the fairest city in the Union; its location, its banks, its fine residences and streets, its attention to fine arts gave it its renown. Its inhabitants were so nice that factories were condemned as a nuisance on account of the smoke. But as soon as this policy was changed and room to manufacture given, the population, which was at that time 40,000, in 1875 numbered 150,000.

It is generally admitted that Ann Arbor would be greatly benefitted by factories and by proper enterprise its population would double in ten years. It must be admitted, the fruit-growers have done a large share in investing their means in and about Ann Arbor in the development of a most worthy enteprise, namely the raising of fruit, which has already reached an enviable reputation. They have met with many reverses, especially in peaches and in the experiments of new varieties of fruits.

The Washtensw Pomological society has spread knowledge all over the country and has been instrumental in doing good far beyond its membership. Everybody is interested in their monthly doings and everybody reads them on account of their local and general character. Is it asking too much then, if our friends and fellow citizens encourage, by word and deed, an enterprise in which every fruit consumer is interested, and consuming and regular use of fruit means health, and health means wealth.

G. N. Henion exhibited fine and well preserved specimens of grapes, and a tree current of the largest size, all raised in Rochester, N. Y. The grapes were the Amber Queen, August Giant, Early Down and Oneida, a red grape which the com-mittee, consisting of the two secretaries, considered the best quality. J. D. Duncan exhibited seedling apples in good condition. W. F. Bird reported on peach buds: "On cultivated soil, Crawfords and Melocotons. 50 per cent killed; Smock, 40 per cent; Wager, 10 per cent; on sod E. Crawford and Hill's Chili all alive. During the warm weather in autumn, the buds developed too far on cultivated soils."

Frederic Bryton in "Forgiven."

The Detroit Free Press, in speaking of Frederic Bryton, who appears in "Forgiven" at the opera house, in this city, Saturday evening, used the following language:

'Forgiven," an exceptionally interesting and breezy drama in four acts, well-known here under its original title, "Jack o' Diamonds," was presented at White's Theater last night, with Frederic Bryton as John Diamond. This is a remarkably shrewd and clever piece of character drawing. Diamond in the play is a reformed gambler with right ideas of manly honor, an unhesitating believer in woman, a conscientious and devoted husband, and a father profoundly sensible of a father's obligations and responsibilities. Mr. Bryton has studied this character from the life, and he brings to his delineation of it these admirable qualities of the actor which are his warrant for the advanced position which he occupies in a profession that has need of such as he is greater numbers than it now can boast. This journal has discussed his performances at length on other occasions, and the public has already taken careful note of its many striking features. For these reasons there is little now to be said of it further than to record the fact that it has gained smoothness and momentum during the year of Mr. Bryton's absence from Detroit, and that he has wisely disinfected it of the professional gambler taint. His last night's audience gave him the warmest greetings and followed him throughout the play with responsive and appreciative interest.

Excellent support was given by Harry Harwood as Denver Dan, an old gambler who finds it impossible to be anything but what he has always been-a dyed-in-thewool worshiper of all that pertains to the green cloth; by Henry Bergman as the false friend, Graham; Chas. Titus as Old Pop; Frank Russell as the Mexican San-Miss Blanch Thorne as Annie, the wife of Diamond, and Miss Jessie Storey as Leone Diamond. The part of the child is also captivatingly done by little Vallie, aged 6 years. Mr. Bryton's make-up in acts three and four is a radical change from his orginal plan. It is highly effective.

General Agent Wanted. The Standard Publishing House, of Flint, Mich., is anxious to arrange with a competent, energetic man to take the general agency for this county for a line of the best selling books ever offered to the public. This is a rare chance for a man to secure a permanent position at light and honorable employment which will pay from $15 to $25 per week. The house sends a competent man at its own expense to get a general agent started in the business and afterward leaves nothing undone to insure his success. If you wish to know what others are doing and what you will be assisted to do, address as above. 533-5. INJUSTICE CORRECTED.

Convincing Verification of Widecast Public Statements.

To the Readers of the REGISTER.

In common with many publishers and editors, we have been accustomed to look upon certain statements which we have seen in our columns as merely adroit advertising.

Consequently we feel justified in taking the liberty of printing a few points from a private letter recently received from one of our largest patrons, as a sert of confession of faith to our readers. We quote:

"We have convinced ourselves that by telling what we know to be true, we have produced at last a permanent conviction in the public mind. Seven years ago we stated what the national disease of this country was, and that it was rapidly increasing. Three years ago we stated that a marked check had been given it.

The statistics of one of the largest life insurance companies of this country shows that in 1883 and 1884, the mortality from kidney disorders did not increase over the previous years: other companies stated the same thing. It is not presumptuous for us to claim credit for checking these ravages.

"Seven years ago we stated that the condition of the kidneys was the key to the condition of health: within the past five years all careful life insurance companies have conceded the truth of this statement, for, whereas, ten years ago, chemical analysis to determine the condition of the kidneys was not required, to-day millions of dollars in risks are refused, because chemical examination discovers unsuspected diseases of the kidneys.

"Seven years ago we stated that the ravages of Bright's Disease were insig-nificant compared with other unsuspected disorders of the kidneys of many misleading names; that ninety-three per cent. of human ailments are attributabe to deranged kidneys, which fills the blood with uric acid, or kidney poision, which causes these many fatal diseases.

"The uric acid, or kidney poison, is the real cause of the majority of cases of paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, convulsions, pneumonia, consumption, and insanity; over half the victims of consumption, are first the victims of consumption are first the victims of diseased kidneys.

"When the recent death of an honored ex-official of the United States was announced, his physicians said that although he was suffering from Bright's Disease, that was not the cause of death. He was not frank enough to admit that the apoplexy which overtook him in his bed, was the fatal effect of the kidney poison in the blood, which had eaten away the substance of the arteries and brain; nor was Logan's physician honest enough to state that his fatal rheumatism was caused by kidney acid

'If the doctors would state in official reports the original cause of death, the people of this country would be alarmed, yea, nearly panic stricken, at the fearful mortality from kidney dis-

The writers of the above letter give these facts to the public simply to justify the claims that they have made, that "if the kidneys and liver are kept in a healthy condition by the use of Warner's safe cure, which hundreds of thousands have proved to be a specific. thousands have proved to be a specific, when all other remedies failed, and that has received the endorsement of the highest medical talent in Europe, Australasia and America, many a life would be prolonged and the hapiness of the people preserved. It is successful with so many different diseases because it and it alone, can remove the uric acid from the blood through the kidneys." Our readers are familiar with the preparation named. Commendation thereof has often appeared in our columns. We beleive it to be one of the best, if not the best ever manufactured. know the proprietors are men of charwe are certain they have awakened a wide-spread interest in the public mind concerning the importance of the kidneys. We believe with them that they are the key to health, and that for their restoration from disease and maintenance in health, their is noth-

The proprietors say they "do not glory in this universal prevalence of disease, but having started out with the purpose of spreading the merits of War-ner's safe cure before the world, because it cured our senior proprietor, who was given up by doctors as incurable, we feel it our duty to state the facts and leave the public to its own inferences. point to our claims, and to their public and universal verification with pride, and if the public does not believe what we say, we tell them to ask their friends and neighbors what they think about our preprations.'

As stated above, we most cordially commend the perusal of this correspondence by our readers, believing that in so doing, we are fulfilling a simple public obligation.

Wants Free Delivery.

MR. EDITOR: Why should there be any opposition to the free mail delivery here Ann Arbor has set out to grow and become a prosperous city, and a free mail delivery is one of the things which 90 out of every 100 of our people want. It will stamp us to the public at large as being a wide awake place. We need to advertise this. The Business Men's Association is getting out a "Booming Pamphlet" and this fact should go into that pamphlet. It will help among other things to attract people here. It is reported that men in business on Main-st and near the center are afraid that free mail delivery will injure their business. This is a big mistake. People will buy just as much of everything after as before. Our sugar bill, and our flour bill, and our dry goods bills will be just as large, Mr. Editor, after, as now. If it would really injure business generally, why is it that every town which is entitled to free delivery is anxious to have it? Why, also, do not towns which have a free delivery desire to return to the old

Kalamazoo and Jackson have free delivery. Could you induce the citizens in either place to return to the old plan? They like it and would not go back. Ann Arbor should forge ahead. Let cur postmaster push this thing through; 90 cut of every 100 will sign it. Push forward the matter, Mr. Editor. Our postmaster should signalize and make his administration remarkable by obtaining it. We shall all be benefitted, and those who stand back will be the loudest in their expressions of admiration of the new system when it is fairly inaugurated.

Yours for progress, BOOMER. ANN ARBOR, FEB. 2, 1887.

Saints and Sinners.

"Saints and Sinners," which had its first representation here at the Chestnut Street Theatre last night, is the old story of a young and pretty girl who is trapped and betrayed by a villain under the deceit of an alleged Scotch marriage. She is the daughter of a poor English clergyman, and the chief motive of the play centres in the heart struggle of the father rather than the daughter. The part of Jacob Fletcher, the clergyman, was taken by Mr. C. W. Couldock, who is well known and very popular here. When he first began playing such parts as that he bad last night he had the usual experience of the comedian who steps outside of his beaten track; his audiences laughed when they should have cried, and his most pathetic work was received as fit food for merriment. In "Saints and Sinners," he is the figure around which the other characters move-his trials the great motive of the piece, and his acting is beyond criticism. And, in so far as her opportunities permitted, the same may be said of Miss Viola Allen, who appeared as Letty, the clergyman's daughter. Her presence is handsome, her manner quiet, graceful and natural. She never indulges in extravagant action, and her personation of the part is all that could be desired. Mr. Frank Norcross as Captain Fanshawe, the accomplished roué, deserves the warmest praise, and Miss Sidney Cowell, Mr. John Mathews, Mr. Clarendon, Mr. Holmes and Mr. Melville lent much to the effect of a presentation which should be seen by every one.-Philadelphia Daily News,

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. acts on an entirely different principle from usual precriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals parts effected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

No article entering so generally in the food of every family has been found more villainously adulterated than baking powder. For the purpose of underselling those powders of absolute purity and wholesomeness which alone are safe for use in food, hundreds of dealers are putting up baking powders with cheap and adulter ated cream of tartar, which contains lime, earth, etc., adding strength by the free use of alum.

These adulterated powders are "shoved" upon the public with the greatest persistency. Many are given away-left in samples at private residences with circulars containing bogus analysis and certificates and false representations as to their value, etc. The worst of them are introduced to the housekeeper's attention by fraudulent tricks or by bogus samples, the articles when purchased being found to be entirely different from the sample shown. The fact that a powder is sampled from door to door is sufficient to condemn it. A first-class article will sell on its merits. No manufacturer whose goods are of value can afford to give them away, or to test them from door to door, and none but the cheapest make and most inferior or unmarketable goods require to be distributed frée in order to get the public to use them, and this method is adopted only by parties who have failed to dispose of their wares through ordinary and legitimate channels.

Free samples of articles of food left at the house should be regarded with suspicion. There is no guarantee of their wholesomeness, while there is real danger that they contain a fatally poisonous com-pound. Many instances of poisoning from the use of such samples are recorded.

The only safe way is to consign all such samples immediately to the ash barrel, and to turn a deaf ear to the statements made by their vender. It is not worth while to trifle with life and health to the extent of testing every doubtfull baking powder that comes along. Better to rely upon an old and reliable brand, like the Royal, which by a quarter of a century's constant use proved its perfect whole someness and efficiency, or some other brand that is not so worthless and cheap that its proprietors can afford to give it away by the cart-load or waste it in making innumerable tests.

It is in its favor that the Royal Baking Powder is never given away, sold by means of lotteries, nor accompanied by chromos, spoons, crockery, or other gifts, except the gift of absolute purity, whole-somecess, full weight, and superlative leavening power. Its own merits have been its chief advertisement, and they have secured for it the constant patronage of the American people to an extent be youd the combined sale of all other baking powders. The Royal Baking Powder is certified by all the Government chemists as absolutely pure and perfect.

BAD FOR BUSINESS.

Effect of the Strike on Trade in the East.

New York Lawmakers Investigating the Cause of the Trouble - Austin Corbin Declares That Miners Make More Money Than Mine-Owners.

New York, Feb.5.—Telegrams to Brad-street's from leading trade centers report only a moderate volume of business, except at St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago, where considerable activity is noted. At most other points there are fair quantities of merchandise moving. At Baltimore, Galveston, Dallas and Providence there is less animation. The labor troubles at the East have greatly disturbed business. New York's export trade has been interrupted from scarcity of coal and striking transpor tation employes. Within a week seven-teen coastwise steamers have been delayed an average of over three days each from regular dates of sailing and twentytwo transatlantic steamers an average of four and a half days each. Ocean freights are lower, and tramp vessels are doing very little. Merchangise for the West has been delayed, but not so seriously. An indication of the effect on New York's commerce is seen in a decline of $8,000,000 in this week's bank clearings, as compared with gain of $158,000,000 in the total New York clearings for the like week of 1886. The labor troubles include 90,000 strikers throughout the country since January 1, of whom about 40,000 are in New York and vicinity. Industries employing nearly 17,000 men have had to shut down owing either to want of coal or because of strikes of others. Lack of coal at the East for industrial uses will, if not soon overcome, produce wides pread loss.

The Assembly committee appointed to investigate the coal strike reassembled Sat-urday. The first witness was James E. Quinn, master workman of District As-sembly 49. He said the real cause of the abor troubles was an attempt at Elizabethport and South Amboy to reduce the wages of the employes of the railways from 22% cents to 20 cents an hour. He saw no reason for the reduction unless it was the natural selfishness of corporations. The earnings of the coal-handlers, he said, did not average more than nine dollars week. The cause of the strike on the Old Dominion Steampship Company was the employment by that corporation of a lot of new men under conditions different from those of the old hands. As a remedy Mr. Quinn suggested that all railroad and telegraph lines should be operated by the Gov

NEW YORK, Feb. &-The first witness called yesterday by the Assembly commit-tee which is investigating the coal strike was Austin Corbin, president of the Philadelphia & Reading railway. Mr. Corbin said that the Philadelphia

Coal and Iron Company, whose stock is owned by the Reading road, mines and sells its own coal, paying for its transportation like any other company. Last year the company lost $1,286,000. The only profit from the collieries was in the transportation. It exactly balanced the loss to the coal and iron company. The working-men made several million dollars more out of the coal business last year than the coal company did. Mr. Corbin said that two weeks ago he was informed that his com-pany had violated the laws of Pennsylvania in combining to raise the price of coal and must desist. At the same time the receivers of the railroad company were threatened with being ousted if they did not make a better showing. They stood between two fires. They could not increase their revenue by raising prices; could not make any profit at present prices; were threatened with a vacation of the receivership if they did not make more money, and were threatened by their employes if they did not pay more wages. His company increased its miners' wages about eight per cent. last March. Mr. Cor-bin's remedy for the troubles between capital and labor was arbitration, but he could not advance any plan. New York, Feb. 8 .- A number of the striking 'longshoremen attacked some Italians on the Morgan line pier yesterday and a free fight resulted. When the police had separated the combatants John O'Neill, a gshoreman, was found lying on the pier weltering in his blood, and near him lay an open razor. O'Neill had a deep slash down his back. He was removed to the hospital unconscious.

THE temperance people of this city of all parties, who favor prohibition, should unite in a meeting for the purpose of stirring up the people on this important question. Now is the time to work.

Our state legislature is dealing with the question of the "age of consent," and it is to be hoped this very important question will receive the consideration and wise judgement to which it is entitled. The ages of 14, 16 and 18 are suggested. We believe the latter to be none too young.

MARSHALL STATESMAN: Whiskey, according to latest reports compiled from unmistakable evidence, is a prominent factor in destroying individual character, filling our prisons with criminals of every grade, and drawing floods of tears from the eyes of wretched mothers and starving children.

THE Marshall Statesman is one of the best republican papers in Michigan, and is none the less worthy of our esteem when it says: "Now that prohibition is a possibility in this state, may the true friends of temperance kick the pretended demagogue out of their way, and shoulder to shoulder, march into the fight for "God, home and native land."

THERE are many people who do not understand the new law providing for the presidential succession. During the last session of the 48th Congress, Senstor Hoar's bill (which was introduced and passed by the Senate in 1883,) was finally passed by the House and approved by President Cleveland. It makes the succession run through the cabinet in the following order: 1st, Secretary of State; 2d, Secretary of the Treasury; 3d, Secretary of War; 4th, Secretary of the Navy; 5th, Postmaster General; 6th, Secretary of the Interior; 7th Attorney General.

OUR aged friend, the Argus, almost ruined the few remaining teeth it has in its head, last week, over a few complimentary allusions of THE REGISTER of the week before. Among other withering remarks it said that the editor of this paper had an "elephant on his hands." Well, in comparison to the size of that office we should be inclined to say he had. And now that we are looking after the Argus' interests a little, we feel that we have an elephant on one hand and a polecat on the other. With the type it has borrowed from this office, we will not deny that our aged contemporary has splendid "facilities for turning out" cheap work.

It is practically settled that the state is to elect two judges of the supreme court at its spring election. Among the number already mentioned in connection with this important office we notice the name of our fellow townsman, Hon. Andrew J. Sawyer. A better nomination could not be suggested to the coming republican convention. Mr. Sawyer has a large state acquaintance and his nomination would add material strength to the ticket. There are few men possessing better qualifications for the office, and his election would bring to the bench a judicial mind thoroughly conversant with our laws. He has had an extensive experience in the practice of the law in the various courts of this state, and has won an enviable reputation of active and successful labor in his profession. His integrity and conscienti ous devotion to duty are a guarantee that any public trust would be faithfully executed in his hands. We can not hope for a better outcome of the republican convention than the nomination of Mr. Sawyer to the position of Judge of the Supreme Court.

Free Delivery? No, Never!

To the Editor:

Some person styling himself for the time being, "A citizen," undertakes, in his peculiar way, to present, what, I suppose he cails reasons, for the establishment of a free delivery here, in this city. Now, what do they (the supposed reasons) amount to? He says "a few business men, to gratify their sordid and selfish propensities, are striving to defeat the project," that "they have nicely boomed the taxpayers with water works and electric light projects" and are opposed to this great boom to the over burdened taxpayers.

This "citizen" seems to forget himself, to forget what and where this city is. This is a city of schools, and styles itself, in a mutual admiration way, the "Athens" of Michigan. This city is a city of culture and æsthetics, of scholars and average mediocre business men. Talk of our business men being "sordid and selfish." It is a base and groundless slander. I defy "citizen" to point to a single "sordid and selfish" act of our business men. It is not true. They are unsordid and unselfish. And if you do not believe me tell me how many of them are rich? Everybody, except "citizen" knows that men are never "sordid and selfish" unless rich. How many does he believe, or does anybody believe, would be found rich if their just debts were paid? It is not true. No business man here can be "sordid and selfish" unless rich, and for the very obvious reason that they are kept poor by their generosity, unselfishness and great public spirit. Did they not generously and unselfishly vote to give the Michigan Central Railroad Company $5000 of the taxpayers money for the new bridge depot? It, therefore, only the rich business men can by any reason or possibility be "sordid and selfish" it necessarially follows that our rich business men cannot be "sordid and selfish" because it is impossible for anyone to be "sordid and selfish" in the esthetic atmosphere of culture in this "Athens." Culture produces the highest kind of ennobled manhood and it is as impossible for a "sordid and selfish" business man to exist in such an atmosphere as it is for a tadpole to be otherwise than happy in a quag-

This "citizen" seems to be in a fault-find-ing mood. Why can't he let well enough alone? Have we not always got all our mail at the postoffice, that is, all except that carried to the University professors in Mr. Ottley's grip-sack? It was a great mistake when that letter bag was allowed and the letter box placed on State at Both purchs. State-st. Both ought be abolished instantly; the bag because of the benefit to the rising generation, and especially our rich business men, when the professors enading upon the streets to the postoffice; and the letter box, because if those who deposit mail on State-st should be compelled to go to the postoffice for that purpose, they would stop and trade a good deal on their travels, especially in pur-chasing bibulous food. The truth is we don't want this newfangled thing called "free delivery." It will make letter writing too easy. We need the exercise of going to the pastoffice. It will obstruct public push and enterprise by preventing our hurrying to the postoffice at break-neck speed and stopping on our way to see a m in, around the corner. Anything that prevents physical exercise by our students, boarding house keepers and servant girls must be, of course, detrimental to our sporting men, gate-makers and elixir compounders, and therefore injurious to the city. Away with your modern innovations upon time honored customs. We don't want it. Have we not the departments of the University, the ward and the union schools, St. Thomas' school, the hospitals, joined with the highest esthetic culture? Have we not reached the ultima thule of social advancement, and beyond is only the unexplored sea infested with barbarous "sordid and selfish" creatures? Are we not wholly satisfied with ourselves and our condition? Don't we do as our fathers did and is not that good enough? There is also great danger that these new innovations may bring more people here, a result greatly to be deplored, for if by chance some rich "sordid and selfish" person should come, this æsthetic and cultured city and attic atmosphere would be contaminated, and the size of some of our great lights, perchance be, by com-parison, dwarfed, and their importance

No. Mr. Editor, it won't do. Sound the "hew-gag" and assemble the faithful. Marshal our invincible batalions against the advancing cohorts of progress. Seize at all hazards every advantage of wind and sun. Let us prevent any changes whether improvements or otherwise. Let us not permit our quiet, placid sleep—sye, the sleep of the just and self satisfied—to be disturbed by any newly invented schemes or schemers. Already our tranquility and meditations and dreams have been too often discomposed. Let us stifle any farther attempts that may distract and confuse us. This free delivery must not be permitted, neither must any other changes except those which come in the order of nature by advancing years or the decay of disease. Situated as this "Athens" is we should always be free from any conditions which could prevent our minds from reading and contemplating with great and melancholy satisfaction and profit, as peculiarly fitting for our city, "Hervey's Meditations among the Tombs. W. J. Clark, justice of the peace, presented his resignation, which was accepted.

A communication was read by Harry Russell, general attorney of the M. C. R. R., asking the city to pay the company $5,000, as agreed, for the construction of the bridge over the railroad on Pontiac-st. A considerable time was consumed in discussing the matter, in which harsh words were exchanged. One of the aldermen thought they had been imposed upon by the railroad company, and upon representations made by them that they would do certain grading from Detroit-st to the depot grounds, the city had purchased the O'Neil property, at a cost of $2,500. The City Attorney, Mayor, Alds. Swift, Allmendinger and Poland discussed the question at considerable length, Ald. Allmendinger offered a resolution to the effect that the city tender the M. C. R. R. Co. $2,500 and the O'Neil property.

Ald. Swift moved that the Recorder draw an order for the full amount, The Recorder offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved. That the matter of paying the $5,000 to the M. C. R. R. be referred to a committee of three, together with the City Engineer, to report if the contract with the said railroad company is fully complied with, and this committee to report to this council as soon as possible.

Alds. Allmendinger and Swift and the Mayor were appointed as such committee. The druggists bond of E. Calkins & Son was read and approved.

The liquor bond of W. Fred Schlanderer was read and approved.

The finance committee, through its charman, Ald. Aldmendinger, reported the following expenditures for the month of January:

The city Recorder was allowed $50 for making out his annual report, Ald. Ware offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved. That the sum of $100 be appropriated from the contingent fund for the purpose of making needed improvements in the Fifth ward cemetery, and that the same be expended under the direction of the trustees of said cemetery.

Eli S. Manly was reappointed one of the members of the board of trustees of the city cemetery. Fred Meyers was reappointed janitor of the Fifth ward engine house. In view of the prohibitory amendment carrying, at the approaching election, thereby cutting off about $12,000 of the city's revenue, Ald. Allmendinger moved that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare a bill in blank form for the amend-

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Having purchased the stock of Sheet Music, Music Books and Musical Merchandise formally owned by Mr. A. Wilsey it gives me pleasure to state that I am prepared to furnish the public with anything in the music line as low and in many cases lower than can be obtained elsewhere, NOT excepting our large cities. Having had an experience of six years in attending to the wants of the musical people of Chicago and being a practical musician I feel confident that I shall be able to please and meet the demands of all who favor me with their patronage.

I shall do my utmost to serve my patrons, and would be happy to have any who desire call and I will gladly show goods and furnish prices whether they wish to purchase or not.

It will be my aim to show in Ann Arbor an assortment of all musical goods from which the most fastidious can make a satisfactory selection.

There can always be found in stock a fine line of the OELEBRATED HAINES BROS., BOARDMAN & GRAY and other PI a NOS, and the ESTEY and STORY & OLARK ORGANS in many different styles, and at prices which defy competition. I desire to make my store musical headquarters for our city and wish all to consider it as such.

Yours ready to please,

Wilsey's Music Store, 25 Fourth St., Ann Arbor.

DEATH IN BURNING CARS.

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 7.—The express train that left Boston at seven o'clock Friday night met with a terrible accident near Woodstock, on the Central Vermont railroad, at about 2:30 Saturday morning. The train started from this city on time, but was detained at White River Junction, so it was about an hour and a half late when it left there. It consisted of a locomotive, baggage car, postal car, two passenger coaches and two sleeping cars, and was running at the usual rate of speed.

West Hartford is a farming hamlet on the east bank of the White river, and at the upper end of the village the Central Vermont crosses the river obliquely. The bridge was of wood, 1,650 feet long and fifty feet above the water, which was frozen solidly. The bridge was an uncovered one, built in 1859. High abutments extended fifty feet on each end from the steep banks of the river.

The accident was caused by the breaking of a rail 200 feet from the bridge, under the rear car of the train, which was a sleeping-car, and derailing it. This in turn pulled the three cars in front of it off the track and sent the four off the edge of the bridge.

The locomotive had passed nearly across when the engineer, looking back, saw the last four cars of the train plunge off the east side of the abutment down to the ice, fifty feet below. The mail-car and baggage-car crossed the bridge with the loco-motive, and the train hands and the few passengers in the smoking compartment of the mail-car hastened down the steep river bank, where lay the two sleeping and two passenger coaches bottom up on the ice. From the windows of the overturned cars crawled a few of the occupants, and all set about rescuing those confined withto the wrecked cars. Fires in the stoves of each car quickly set fire to the woodwork and the horrors of burning to death faced the crushed and bleeding passengers who had not been killed outright by the terrific plunge. The flames burned zapidly and communicated to the wooden bridge beneath which lay the cars. In half an hour's time only a mass of ashes and twisted iron remained of the great wreck. The ice sustained the weight the cars, but the heat from the burning of the sleeping-cars melted the ice beneath them partially, and the second of the two sunk to a depth of two or three feet. The night was clear and cold. A farmer living near by said it was 12 degrees below nero when he left his house to go to the wreck. Rescuers and rescued were hadly frost-bitten.

In the rear sleeping-car was a Harvard College student on his way to the Montreal carnival. He was able to crawl from the car through a window and helped to save two others from that car. One of the survivors in the first passenger coach was J. Maignet, of Three Rivers, P. Q., who sat in the same seat with his father. The father was burned to death before the son's eyes. The latter escaped through a window The list of dead is as follows:

The list of dead is as follows:

E. F. Dillon, of Dartmouth College: S. S. Westcott, of Burlington, Vt., and his little son, who was found clasped in his father's arms; Frank L. Wesson, of Springfield, Mass.: D. Maignet, of Schanigan, Can.: Edward Banks, brakeman, of Lebanon, N. H.; M. R. Burgess, Pullman car conductor: Miss Nancy Dunbar, Somerville, Mass.: Mason Mills, Iroquois, Can.; Conductor S. C. Sturtevant; John Hadden (colored) porter of Pullman car "Pilgrim;" Cephas Mills, Iroquois, Can.; — Boulanger, a young girl, of Holyoke, Can.; Can.; — Boulanger, a young girl, of Holyoke Mass.; A. J. Hamner, Boston, porter of Pull man car "St. Albans;" Edgar Wilder, of Day ton, C.; Mrs. Derineau, Winooski, Vt. Charles W. Sanford, of Lowell, Mass., is probably among the dead. The porter of the car Puritan, name unknown, is also dead,

Mr. Henry W. Tewksbury, of West Ran-dolph, Vt., the lecturer, says that he was in the first day coach. He was dozing at by feeling the car jumping up on the rail-road ties. Without a moment's warning the car seemed to leap into space and the came a terrible crash. For a moment he was stunned, and scarcely knew whether he was dead or alive. He tried to move, but found he could not budge an inc He noticed with great alarm that fire had broken out at the farther end of the coach He struggled with all his strength to free himself and screamed for help, but there was no one at hand to help him. It was a time of mental torture, but still he could not help noticing an old couple who were a few seats above him. They sought to get out, but they were hopelessly tied down by heavy seats. The flames approached the couple with frightful rapidity, and the aged pair seemed to feel that there was no hope for them. The last he saw of them they were locked in each other's arms in the act of kissing. The smoke and flames now enveloped them, hiding them

Mr. Tewksbury then gave himself up for He seized his fur cap and wound it around his face so as to cover the eyes and hide the dreadful view of approaching death. At this time the railroad bridge above him was one mass of fire, and heavy burning timbers were falling, all about him. Having leaned back resignedly to meet what seemed his fearful fate, his hopes of life were renewed by hearing voices. He unwound his fur cap and saw the engineer and fireman close at hand. He called to them frantically for assistance, which they proffered at once. Seizing hold of him, his rescuers sought to pull him out, but failed. Thinking that his was a lopeless case they were about to leave him and help others, but he begged them to try again and to break his leg if neces-sary. They did so, and managed to get him out, breaking the leg and an arm in the effort. The flames were so close work Mark The flames were so close upon Mr. Tewksbury that his clothing was burned

The damage to rolling stock is estimated at $30,000. A wooden bridge like the old one will cost $30,000, but will probably be rebuilt with iron, costing $30,000. The money loss to the road and the interruption to travel will be large.

Reasons for Vetoes.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The President has vetoed sundry pension bills. In the case of Cuthbert Stone he quoted from the army records to show that the claimant had spent most of his time in deserting or in prison for desertion, and in the case of Abraham T. Grigg he quoted from the hospital records to show that the claimant was not sick, but "completely worthless, obese and lazy."

Thurman for Chairman.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The most that is definitely known about the Inter-State Commission is this: Ex-Senator Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, will be offered the chairmanship. He is likely to decline, because the duties of the position will be too heavy for him. But he might take a notion to accept, and the President will want to know this before going any furtair VINCENNES, Ind., Feb. 7-An earthquake shock lasting twelve or fifteen seconds was felt in this city yesterday morning. The vibrations were so great in certain portions of the city as to cause bedsteads to tumble. Many people were awakened from their slumbers prior to the shock, the oppressive atmosphere causing difficulty in breathing. The upheaval visited Terre Haute, Petersburg, Evansville, Sullivan and other Indiana towns. At Bedford the plastering in many houses fell off, dishes and glass-ware were rattled, church-bells were rung, clocks stopped and many people rushed screaming into the streets.

The Dead-Lock in Indiana Terminates in the Election of Turpic for Senator—Re-publicans to Contest in the United States Senate.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—In the Indiana joint convention Wednesday Robinson voted for Turpie, and the ballot stood: Turpie, 76; Harrison, 74. Speaker Sayre declared there was no election, while Smith, acting President of the Senate, announced the election of Turpic as United States Senator. Bribery and corruption are charged, and the Republicans will contest the matter before the United States Sen ate. Mr. Turpie served two terms as judge White County, filled the unexpired term of Jesse D. Bright as United States Sena-tor at the outbreak of the rebellion, and was Speaker of the Indiana House of 1875.

A VALUABLE INVENTION

Successful Test of a New and Wonderful

Steel-Tempering Process. Louisville, Ky., Feb. 8.—Tests have been made here of a new and not expensive process for hardening and tempering steel, by which hardness and elasticity are carried forward in combination. A drill made of the new steel penetrated, in forty minutes, a steel safe plate warranted to resist any burglar drill for twelve hours. A pen-knife tempered by the process cut the stem of a steel key readily, and with the same blade the inventor shaved the hairs on his arm. The inventor is a young blacksmith. He has also a new process for converting iron into steel at small expense.

Educating Indian Children.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The Secretary of the Interior reports to the Senate that forty-four of the older Apache children at Fort Marion have been transferred to the Indian school at Carlisle, and that sixty of the younger ones are to be educated at St. Augustine by the Sisters of Charity at $7.50 each per quarter.

The Diamond Thief Caught.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 5.—Charles Tal-bott, the Memphis hotel clerk, who on Tues-day night stole Fanny Davenport's diamonds, valued at $35,000, and fled, was ar-rested here Friday night. The valuables were recovered. Talbott was betrayed by his mistress, who disclosed his identity at the depot to the detectives.

Says It Is True.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The Spanish Min-ister pronounces as authentic a recent interview published in a Havana newspaper. in which he is represented as saying that, unless negotiations for carrying out a reci-procity treaty between Spain and the United States reach a favorable result by March 2, he favors coercion and reprisals.

The Executive Signature Affixed to the Inter-State Bill.

The Electoral Count Bill and Other Measures Signed - Work of the Week in the Senate and House of Representatives.

THESE HAVE BECOME LAWS. WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—President Cleve-land signed the Inter-State Commerce bill Friday afternoon. The signing of the bill by the President was in full accord with the opinion of Attorney-General Garland, rendered to him on last Monday, and it is very well understood to be in accord with the views of the Cabinet. It is learned from trustworthy sources that the Attorney-General, as well as the President, considers the bill which has just become a law free from all the material features which were objectionable in the Senate bill two years ago. According to this information the Attorney-General's objections to the old bill was to the vast powers of a legislative and judicial character that were given to the commission.

The Attorney-General is said to hold that the present bill does not confer judicial provinces on the commission but judicial powers on the commission, but puts them in the courts on the report from the commission, and that it does not confer legislative power except in the fourth section (the long and short haul clause), and that this is warranted by numberless pre cedents in the legislative history of the

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quick-ly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Lambert Smith, Jr., Sheboygan, Wis., says: "I have had rheumatism for at least fifteen years. I did not suffer with it steadily, but was subject to attacks most any time, and always sure to be laid up with it during the fall and spring of each year. The disease was not confined to any one part of my body; it would appear first in one place then in another, but more frequently in my feet and ankles, which would swell out of all proportion. It is just about a year since I used a bottle of Athlo-phoros. Although I have passed through the fall and spring I have not had any rheumatism whatever since I used that one bottle of medicine."

DEFENSELESS CONDITION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Contrast Between Fort Wayne, Detroit, and the Citadel, Quebec-Strategic Importance of the Canadian Pacific Rail-

The possibility of a war with Canada over the fisheries question is being talked about in a pretty lively manner just now, and while there is little probability of a war with Canada just at present, the discussion now being waged may serve to open the eyes of Ameri cans to the fact that, in the event of a clash with the Dominion government, she would be

In one respect particularly is Canada's advantage very clear. The Canadian Pacific railway, while it is built sufficiently near the boundary to be available as a means of transport for troops, ammunition, supplies, etc., is nevertheless far enough away to be from the depredations of marauding bands of United States troops. Forces might, for instance, be landed from England at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and thence whirled at a rapid rate to the points where they might be needed most.

The Canada Pacific railroad was built by government aid, and there is no doubt that this aid was given for the reason that Engappreciated how valuable the road would be, in case of trouble with the United States, as a means of communication with various dependencies. Thus while affording a means of transport for her troops, it would also furnish an uninterrupted postal service. It was possiby a prophetic omen of the future imperial importance of this rail-way, that the first loaded train that passed over its entire length from ocean to ocean was freighted with naval stores, belonging to the imperial war department, being transferred from Quebec to Vancouver. It was also a remarkable commercial coincidence that the first cargo of merchandise consigned to British Columbia was a cargo of Jamaica sugar, refined in Halifax and sent to the Pacific ter minus, about 4,000 miles under the British flag.

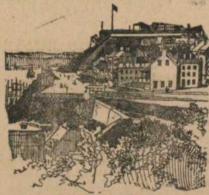

FORT WAYNE, DETROIT.

Of all the American lake cities perhaps no one occupies so vulnerable a position, while at the same time affording so convenient an entry for foreign troops, as Detroit. This city, therefore, would be the great objective point in case of war with Canada, and a glance at the map above will show how easily it could be reached by rail. The question which naturally presents itself to the mind of the reader is: "Has Detroit sufficient fortifications to successfully withstand a well organized attack?" Most emphatically Detroit is protected by Fort Wayne, which is said to be the strongest American fortification on the upper lakes.

The fort is situated about three miles below the city, and is at present occupied by Col. H. M. Black and four companies of the Twenty-third United States infantry, consisting of 170 men, with those at neighboring fortresses upon whom he could call at a moment's notice. While Fort Wayne is apparently in e cellent condition, still its usefuln if put to a practical test, has always been questioned by many. Its parapets are of brick filled in with dirt and the whole surrounded by a wide ditch. Its equipment is scarcely worth mentioning, consisting as it does of platforms for sixty guns (with no guns upon them.) The only pieces of artillery at present within the fort are six pieces of brightly polished brass, which are located on the parade ground. They are very pretty, but of comparatively no value, as they are all twelve-pound Napoleon guns.

THE QUEBEC CITADEL. Now that we have assumed that Canada would wage an aggressive warfare, let us turn about and suppose that the United States should force matters and attack Quebec. Quebec, as is well known, is situ-ated upon a lofty bluff, and but one army that of Gen. Wolfe—has ever succeeded in penetrating into the city. The citadel is practically impregnable, and even if victory were ultimately to perch upon the banners of a beseiging force, it would require months of disastrous fighting, attended with enormous expense and great loss of life, to accomplish

Washington's Love Letters. After Washington's death, Martha burned his love letters for fear they might fall into improper hands, and only one escaped the flames. This was written just before Gen. flames. This was written just before Gen. Washington accepted the command of the army of the revolution. It is very affectionate, He begins it with "My dearest," speaks of her in it as "My dear Patsy," and compliments her by telling her that he would enjoy more real happiness in one mouth with her than he could possibly find abroad, if his stay was to be seven times seven years. In this letter he also incloses his will, with the remark that he has no doubt that the provision for her will be an agreeable one.—Frank G. Carpenter. "MOTHER BICKERDYKE."

The Famous Hospital Nurse of the Civil War.

"Why don't you write something about 'Mother Bickerdyke?" was an inquiry put to a New York reporter by an old army captain recently. This resulted in an inquiry as to who "Mother Bickerdye" might be. Said the captain: "There are few soldiers who served in the western army who have not heard of or known Mother Bickerdyke. In the early months of the war she was the only woman nurse in the large hospital at Cairo,

Ills. She was a woman of strong character, fine executive ability, much energy and reserve force in The hospital at Cairo rious for the incompetency and intem geons in charge. They neglected their patients and spent their nights MARY A. BICKERDYKE. in riotous living, breaking open the stores and rifling the re frigerators and pantries of the delicacies that were furnished by the sanitary commission for the sick. Mother Bickerdyke stood this for two or three weeks and then appealed to Ulysses S. Grant, then colonel of the Twentyfirst Illinois volunteers, to whom she pre-ferred charges against the surgeons. Grant With a determination to make certain of the situation he put on citizen's clothes one evening and went down to the hospital, where he saw enough to confirm the worst statements that had been made to him by the faithful nurse. There was prompt action the next day. The surgeons were dis missed and the hospital was reorganized. From that time Mother Bickerdyke always had access to Grant, and her recommenda tions were generally carried out. As he rose in position in the army her power in the hospitals became greater and greater, until she overshadowed all with whom she came in contact. She remained in the volunteer nurse service until the close of the war. If she could be induced to write her experiences they would prove as interesting as any chapters of the great rebellion. A volume might be added to the captain's brief story of Mother Bickerdyke's army What many old soldiers, who were the recipients of her kind services in their day of misfortune, would like to know is: what has become of Mother Bickerdyke since the war? It would be a hard task to follow her. so unostentatiously has her work been carried on, but she has been engaged in philanthropic work until she has become too feeble to help others than herself. Her marvelous ability was called upon during the Chicago fire, and since then through suffering occasioned by the grasshopper plagues, droughts, forest fires and other public calamities. She brought carloads of seeds and food from the east to suffering Kansas on several occasions. In the intervals she has maintained herself by acting as matron, nurse and housekeeper in charitable institutions.

The soldiers of the west proposed to tax themselves ten cents a year to maintain her above want, but she refused to accept the For eighteen years there was an application for a pension for her pigeon holed in Washington, but last year it was granted, allowing her $25 a month. Now, at the age of 74, she earns the balance of her living in the San Francisco mint, her home being at 2244 Mission street. To an acquaintance she said not long ago: "Good-by! I shall be mustered out before long and shall not see you here again. But we shall find one another sometime, somewhere!"

THE SMALLEST SECT IN THE LAND. The Church in Which the Whole Body Worship.

SANDEMANIAN CHURCH, DANBURY, CT. In the old cemetery at Danbury, Conn., rests the bones of Robert Sandeman, one of the founders of the sect called Sandemanians, and in the same town is the only meeting house of these people on this continent. The illustration given is from a photograph and gives an excellent idea of the appearance of this church which is in size 25x30 feet. Here assemble every Sunday a faithful band of ten people who comprise the descendants of the followers of Sandeman who settled here in 1764. that this sect was in existence when the Wesleyans and Baptists were almost unknown.

In England there are yet a few congregations of this sect. One of their chapels was located in St. Paul's alley, London, and it was here that the great scientific philosopher Michael Faraday worshiped. He who could fill the largest hall in all London with learned men from all parts of the world to hear his lectures, would on Sunday walk to this chapel regularly and engage in the services with the two dozen members.

One of the peculiarities of the Sandemanian form of worship is that they have a weekly love feast in which the whole congregation dine together. It was the original intention to have this take place in the churches, where a dining room was provided, but in Danbury they find it more convenient to have this din ner served at the house of one of the mem bers. Here they also pray and sing, and the kiss of brotherhood passes between the mem-bers of both sexes. From this custom they have been vulgarly called "Kissites."

Their rules prohibit games of chance, prayers at funerals, college training as well as most Nineteenth century innovations, while in food they are forbidden to use flesh meat and "all things strangled."

Fate of Ex-Ballet Dancers.

Here let me remark that there is no other class of artists in the world that so soon lose every gift and grace of their profession as do the ex-ballet dancers. I have seen aged sing-ers whose method still lent their singing a potent charm when the voice itself had well nigh wholly departed, and elderly actors and actresses that preserved when reading or reciting the grand art of their prime. But the famous dancer ought to die, like the butterflies, when the summer day of her grace and youth are at an end, Some months ago Mme. Cerito was pointed out to me at a mine. Certic was pointed out to me at a morning concert—a fat, crippled old woman, with her face distorted by the effects of a fall from her carriage some years ago, and without one vestige left of the radiant sylph who was the latest to maintain the poetic traditions of the ballet as created by Taglioni and Fanny Eitsler.—New York Sun.

CANADA'S PARLIAMENTARY LEADERS

The Two Men Who Are Contending for the Dominion Premiership.

The parliament of the Dominion of Canada has been dissolved and a new election or-dered. The Conservatives, under the leader-ship of the present premier, Sir John Macdonald, feel confident that the elections will result in a vindication of the government's policy, while Mr. Edward Blake, who is the standard bearer of the Liberals, is equally sanguine of victory for his party. northwest territories will enjoy the right of franchise for the first time, and it is claimed by the Conservatives that Sir John's prompt and decisive conduct during the Louis Riel half-breed rebellion fully justifies them in expecting that section's support at the polls. In the maritime provinces-Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, etc.-the vote will be ex ceedingly close, both parties claiming them, The new parliament will convene on April 7. upon which date the writ ordering the election has been made returnable. The new franchise will for the first time be tested. It is equivalent almost to universal sufferage. Sir John Alexander Macdonald, the Con servative leader, was born at Kingston, Up per Canada, Jan. 11, 1815. He was educated at the grammar schools of his native place, and was admitted to the bar at the age of 20 years. His first appearance in the political arena occurred in 1844, in which year he was elected to parliament from Kings ton as a Conserva SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD, tive. Through the various official grades his career has been upward and onof the government of Canada. Sir John's great abilities were never more strikingly manifested than while he was minister of justice and attorney general of the Dominion. He has been honored by degrees from Oxford Hon, Edward Blake's father, Hon, William Hume Blake, was a very distinguished lawyer, having been at one time chancellor of Upper Canada. The subject of this sketch first saw the light at Middlesex. He graduated from the Toronto university with high honors in 1857. He first entered politics as a member for South Bruce, in the Ontario assembly, 1867, acting as leader of the Opposition for several years. He has also represented the same constituency in the Dominion parliament. In 1871 he succeeded Hon, John Macdonald as premier of the Ontario legisla-ture. He was minister of justice and president of council of the Mackenzie ministry. Temporary ill health compelled him to refuse two very important offices which were tendered him. Mr. Blake is an Independent Liberal in politics, and it is universally conceded that he is the brainlest man in the Dominion parliament. The Liberals follow his lead without question.

Prayer Before the Battle. Judge O. A. Lochrane, of Georgia, is credited with the following: "Governor Gordon, Senator Colquitt and Gen. Benning were to gether in the southern army. The first two are very religious and always engaged in prayer before going into a battle. One day just before the Federal troops were about to charge, Gens. Gordon and Colquitt started toward a little log cabin. On the way they met Gen. Benning, and they asked him to join them in the cabin. He supposed they were going in there to take a drink and followed them. 'Give me a drink quick,' said Gen. Benning, 'as there is no time to lose.' 'We did not come here to drink,' Gordon; 'we came here to pray.' cuse me, said Benning, as he hurried out of the cabin. His conduct horrified the generals. They could not understand how a man could be so indifferent on the eve of what promised to be a very fierce battle. After having prayed fervently they went into the conflict full of confidence. When the battle was over it was found that both Gens, Gordon and Colquitt had been seriously injured, while Gen. Benning had not received a scratch."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

ELBRIDGE G. SPAULDING,

Author of the Legal Tender Act and Greenback Currency.

On the 28th of December, 1861, the banks and the treasury of the United States suspended specie payments. Two days later Representative E. G. Spaulding, of New York, the chairman of the ways and means committee, introduced in the house the legal tender act, which passed both houses and was approved by President Lincoln Feb. 25, 1862. This act authorized the issue of greenbacks, which, though devised as a war measure, have been found a convenient form of currency since.

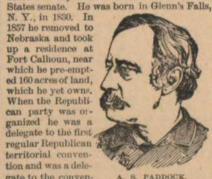

Mr. Spaulding is now nearly 80 years old. He lives in Buffalo, and is said to be worth $10,-000,000. His career has been a notable one. He was born in Cayuga county, N. Y., and was educated at the Auburn academy. When his school days were over, he taught school, then studied law and was finally admitted to the bar. In 1834 he removed to Buffalo and practiced in in the supreme court of York in 1836. The same year he was ap-pointed city clerk of Buffalo; five years later he was elected an alderman, and in 1847 mayor of the city of Buffalo. The next year found him in the state assembly, and the following year a representative in the Thirty first congress. He also served in the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh congresses. He was elected state treasurer of New York in 1853. Of late years he has been a bank president.

The New English Chancellor. Lord Randolph Churchill's sudden resigna tion of his position as chancellor of the ex-chequer has thrown into great prominence the Rt. Hon. George Joachim Goschen, who has accepted the tender of the place. The present chancellor was born in London Aug. 10, 1831. He received his preliminary education at Rugby, and graduated from Oriel college with bonors in 1853. He en tered mercantile life, but retired from active participation in business upon being called to a seat in the Russell-Gladstone ministry. was first elected to parliament as a Liberal in 1863. He has held various important offices under the Liberal administrations. Gladstone introduced his bill looking to the granting of home rule to Ireland Goschen and many other Liberals withdrew their allegiance from "the grand old man" and formed the present "unionist" alliance with the Conservatives.

In 1861 the president appointed him secretary of the territory of Nebraska and at times be became the acting governor. He was appointed governor of Wyoming territory in 1848, but declined the office. He has been engaged in the manufacture of hydraulic cement at Beatrice, Neb., and has always taken a lively interest in the internal improvements of his adopted state. He had a arge fortune, but being of a speculative turn he dipped into Wall street on a pointer given him by Jay Gould. As one of his friends puts it: "Gould told him when to go in, but neglected to tell him when to drop out of Wall street." The result was he lost heavily. He is yet a wealthy man, however.

Superstitions Concerning Cats.

There are numerous quaint superstitions connected with cats: "Blood from a black cat's tail will cure fits." "To cure a felon, hold the finger affected in a cat's ear for a quarter of an hour each day." "If a man swallow two or three cat's hairs they will cause him to faint." "If one dreams of fighting with a cat that scratches him he will be "suck the breath" of infants is nothing but a "superstition," the formation of a cat's mouth being such that the thing is an utter impossibility.-Cosmopolitan.

Saints and Sinners.

This drama, which will be given Friday evening is narrated as follows: The only daughter of the minister of a retired country parish is loved by an honest yeoman, who wishes to marry her. She is beguiled, however, by the representations of an unscrupulous and disolute young military officer, and by a series of accidents thrown into his power, taken to London by him, and betrayed under the pretence of marriage. She then finds that her betrayer is already married. Desparing of her future she has consented to accompany him to India, when her residence is discovered by her father, who persuades her to return home. At this point the be-trayer disappears altogether from the play. On the return home of the minister and his daughter, the senior deacon of the church, a canting hypocrite who has discovered the secret of the unfortunate girl, threatens to expose her unless her father will connive at a fraudulent commercial transaction. The minister defies his tempter and has to resign his charge. He is reduced almost to starvation, but things are made right at the last by the appearance on the scene of his daughter's honest lover, who had been abroad and who has returned rich. The offer of marriage is renewed and accepted, the minister is restored to his original position, the hypo-critical deacon is brought to grief, and the curtain falls amid general rejoicing.
