There were ninety applicants, at the beginning of the present semester, for the work in the mechanical laboratory, and only about half the number were accommodated, on account of lack of room.

Librarian Davis will deliver a course of five lectures before the school of library economy, at Columbia college, the latter part of March. Two of these on a "Course of Reading," will be public.

The Daily Press, of that city paid her the following complimentary notice in speaking of it The lecture was an able one and delivered h a fine effective manner. The subject is handled well, and shows depth of thought and research. Miss Burlingame is an eloquent and talented young lady, and expounds correct views on the prob-lem with which she deals."

An Enjoyable Event.

Last Friday evening, a large party of friends gathered together on the invitation Misses Lohr, at their home, 34 Packard-st. After a few fleeting hours, spent in various social enjoyments, supper was announced, and the guests introduced to tables that fairly groaned beneath their weight of good things, and indeed everybody seemed to do ample justice to ever The evening was filled out with games and pleasant conversation, and it was only in the "wee small" hours that the party dispersed, filled with praise for their genial hostess, and the evening enjoyment.

Will Bore for Gas.

THE REGISTER has recently made brief mention of the fact that a company was being organized in this city to bore for gas. The preliminary organization has this week been perfected and a board of trustees appointed, consisting of Mayor Robison and John S. Henderson, who are now engaged in obtaining permits from property holders, for prospecting purposes. Their articles of incorporation have not yet been filed, nor the officers elected, but undoubtedly will be in a few days. The different ones interested in the enterprise are very reticent on the subject, but enough has been learned to verify the above facts. We wish them success.

Royal Arcanum.

Several members of the Royal Arcanum of this city accepted an invitation from the fraternity in Ypsilanti, Tuesday evening, to witness the initiation of seventeen members, and afterwards to partake of a banquet at the Follett house. Eight members of the order, prominent people of Detroit, were also present. Hon. S. S. Babcock, of Detroit, conducted the initia-tory ceremonies, assisted by Prof. C. F. R. Bellows, present regent of the lodge. The exercises of initiation, and the sumptuous banquet attended by one hundred gentlemen, were very enjoyable. The order has recently doubled its mem bership of the best men in Ypsilanti and now numbers 65.

Those Young People.

The entertainment given by the "little people" of the Cocker League of the M. E. church, Monday evening, was as interesting and entertaining as it was novel. "Master Willie" Whedon and "little Hattie Crobb completely captivated their audi-tors with their reading. In the examina-tion for the "brightest scholars in school," the committee were unable to award a prize to any one, all being so bright. The singing class, led by Tommy Phillips, did exceptionally well for children of their years. The debate between Charlie Stowell and Jimmie Martin was very spirited. Master Jay Goodyear recited an original poem, which nearly drove everybody out of the building. "The musical dialogue," by Flora Hall and Nellie Loving was very fine, both singing with as much discord as possible. Junnie Beal, the best boy in school, delivered a German declamation, which would have done credit to a boy of fifteen, Delia Goodyear and Jeddie Lee, they never would rob birds nests, be-cause they are too good. Millie Knowlton captivated her auditors, by her sweet singing, which was very fine, considering her age. The presentation of Chatter box to the teacher, Levi Disrael Wines, by Master Eddie Gay, was done in a manner that would have done credit to one much older. Henry W. Rogers, member of the school board, complimented the children on the advancement they were making in their studies. Song by all the scholars, composed by May Whedon, was very fine.

THE WEATHER SIGNALS.

The New System of Flags that went into Effect March 1st.

The signal service has adopted a new code of flag signals, which went into use last Tuesday, March 1st. When displayed on a pole the signals read downward. When displayed from horizontal support a streamer should indicate the point from which the signal should read.

The flags are four in number. The white flag, No. 1, six feet square, indicates that the weather will be either clear or fair. The blue flag, No. 2, six feet square, indicates that there will be either rain or snow. The black triangular flag, No. 3, four feet at the base and six in length, always refers to temperature. White flag with black center, No. 4, six feet square, indicates the approach of a sudden and decided fall in temperature. This signal is usually ordered at least 24 hours in advance of the cold wave and is never displayed

> When the cold wave signal is displayed the black temperature flag is omitted.
> When the black temperature flag is placed above the white or blue flags it indicates warm-er weather. Below the white unless a temperature of 45 degrees or lower is expected.

[No. 4.] er weather. Below the white or blue flag it means colder weather. When the black triangular flag is not displayed, the indications are that the temperature will not vary five degrees from the temperature of the same hour of the preceding day. Three signals are sometimes used, for instance: No. 3, No. 1, and No. 2, indicates "warmer fair weather, followed by rain or snow." Another one: No. 1 and No. 3, indicates "fair weather cold wave.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

List of Delegates Chosen-Opposed to the Amendment—Anti-Joslyn Delegates Chosen.

The democratic county convention to elect delegates to the state and judicial conventions, convened in the court house Monday morning at eleven o'clock. Chas. H. Whitman was made temporary chairman and H. D. Merithew, secretary-After the usual committees had been appointed, adjournment was taken until after dinner. At two o'clock the chairman called the delegates to order. The committee on credentials made their report which was adopted, after two or three amendments had been made to it, by adding new names. The temporary officers were then made permanent. The chairman delivered a ten minutes speech, in which he pointed with pride to the record of the democratic party! He failed to enumerate the good qualities and what it was it had done to commend itself to the voters of the country, but we presume he meant free trade, ve oed pension bills, its opposition to temperance movements, etc. etc. times he grew very eloquent and then pathetic, but it was no use, he had to set down without hearing the faintest of an applause.

The following delegates were selected to the state convention, held in Detroit Tuesday: Charles H. Whitman, J. F. Schuh; T. McKone, G. V. Gregory, T. D. Kearney, Dr. Sullivan, H. T. Morton, John J. Robison, Wm. Walsh, J. W. Nanry, F. P. Bogardus, Henry Paul, D. Cramer, J. D. O'Brien, L. Blaess, A. J. Warren, J. W. Babbitt and J. M. Kavenaugh.

Delegates to the judicial convention at Dundee, the 9th: John J. Robison, D. Cramer; P. Tuomey, H. Merithew, G. B. Turnbull, A. Kearney, P. S. Purtell, W. J. Miller, M. Lehman, W. H. Arnold, C. L. Yost, Geo. Palmer, John Terns, Chas. Roberts, Chas. McCormick, Jacob Knapp, Lester Sweetland and J. L. Lowden.

At this point the following resolution was introduced:

Resolved, That the democracy of Washtenaw County, cordially approve the action of our Senator and Representatives in the State Legislature in voting no on the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the state constitution prohibiting the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors.

A bitter discussion followed in which several amendments and substitutes were offered. The resolution finaly carrying. A canvas of the delegates chosen to the judicial convention showed a decided majority of them were in favor of J. W. Babbitt, of Ypsilanti, for circuit judge.

High School Notes.

All students wishing recommendations to the University must be in mathematics this term.

Prof. Perry not being able to attend school on Tuesday, his Virgil class took a day's vacation, and the chapel exercises were conducted by Prof. Pattengill.

A debate very worthy of attention was given by some of the most able debaters of lyceum No. 1, on Friday evening. The subject for debate—Resolved, that the prohibitory amendment, if passed, would be detrimental to the state—was decided in favor of the affirmative. Another very interesting part of the meeting was where three members furnished some original poetry.

Lyceum No. 2 had quite an interesting programme, on Friday last, when some very fine music was furnished, by its members, and a warm debate was given. The subject of the debate-Resolved, that railroads should be in the hands of the government,—was decided in favor of the affirmative. These meetings are held in a part of the chapel, and all are invited to attend them. The debate for next Friday evening is—Resolved, that church property should not be taxed.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATORS.

Number of Bills Introduced-Provisions for Prohibitory Amendment, Soldiers' Home,-Etc.

For the past few days the members of the legislature have not been driving ahead with as much fervency as when the introduction of bills was the order. This is well. Hasty legislation-some of which I shall take occasion to refer to-is sometimes a delusion and a snare. This sesion both houses have broken all previous records. At the session of 1885 the house closed the 50-day limit with a record of 740 bills and 45 joint resolutions, and the senate with 402 bills and 36 joint resolutions, making a total of 1,233. Before the expiration of the limit this session the house totaled 923 bills and 22 joint resolutions, and the senate 502 bills and 28 joint resolutions-1,475 in all, or 242 more than two years ago. Many of these bills are similar in purport-instance those relating to taxation, the regulation of the liquor traffic, etc.-and when they come to be deliberated upon will have their salient features embodied in some one act effecting the matter to which they apper-

If the prohibitory amendment is adopted at the polls there will probably be ample provisions made for giving it immediate force and effect, as a variety of bills have been introduced for that purpose. One of the most marked of these is that introduced by Representative Damon, of Tuscola, which provides for the appointment by the governor of a state marshal at a salary of $1,200 a year. The office of the marshal is to be at Lansing, and it shall be his duty to perigrinate about the state looking after infractions of the liquor law, at the same time stirring up the local authorities when found derelict in their duty in this matter. He is also to be allowed traveling expenses and may appoint one or more deputies in each county, who are to receive $2 per day and reasonable expenses. This bill contemplates substantially the same measures I uggested in a previous letter for the better enforcement of the present license law, and if the prohibitory amendment carries something of the kind will be needed more than ever. Eterns official vigilance is the price of prohibition.

While some of the prohibitionists are not positive the amendment will be carried, some of the other side are not so positive it will not succeed. Therefore, not to fool away their day of grace and miss the last boat, the latter have had Representative Williams, of Jackson, introduce a bill to authorize the board of state auditors to adjust and allow claims for losses suffered by any person, firm or corporation by reason of the making of any law, or any change of the constitu-tion, whereby any trade, business or occupation heretofore lawfully carried on within the state shall be made unlawful. It is the direct purpose of the bill to compensate brewers and others in case the prohibitory amendment carries. If it does not carry they will have no use for the bill and it will not be pressed. committee on soldier's home presented their report to the house last Friday, with the request to have it printed in full in the Journal. They recommend a system of weekly inspection of clothing, bedding and quarters, as well as the providing of suitable printed rules and regulations for the guidance of inmates and employes; also that the management take such action in the case of Downs, the nurse who illtreated a sick inmate, as they may feel warranted by the evidence, but they leave all other punishment or censure regarding any irregularity to the board of managers. They do not deem it their duty to go farther regarding the censure of any person connected with the home than to submit all the evidence for the consideration of the legislature and the board of

It has been determined the "vets" at the soldiers' home shall have no more liquor if legal enactment will keep it from them. Last Tuesday the bill prohibiting its sale to the "boys" was discussed in the senate for two hours. It was then amended by inserting the words "knowingly and willingly" before the word 'shall" in regard to the selling of liquors to the inmates of the home, and then the bill was passed—yeas 28, nays none. Considerable of a stir was created here last week by the publication of the investigating committees' discoveries at the soldiers' home. The facts were cleverly obtained from a secret source by Charley Thompson, of the Evening News, much to the chagrin of the members, and are very damaging to the management. Now the reporter is being investigated.

A Valley City daily paper charged Sen-ator Perry Mayo, of Battle Creek, with being the fellow who prematurely "leaked" the discoveries made by the soldiers' home investigating committee. This rather ser-ious charge made Mr. Mayo "madder'n a March hare," and he rose up in righteous but well-suppressed indignation and de-manded an investigation. His behest was complied with, and a committee was appointed who examined Mr. Thompson, the correspondent who sprung the sensation upon an unsuspecting public, Mr. Thomp-son awore Mr. Mayo not only did not give him a word or information but reused to do so. Senator Mayo swore to the same fact, and so the charges against the senator fe'l flat. The senate has settled down to calm, dignified work, broken only by an occassional tilt over some measure. One of the interesting discussions of last week was over the joint resolution requesting our senators and representatives in congress to use their influence to obtain, for the benefit of the state university, the grant of all government land in the state, as well as all that may revert to the general government. Senator Seymour wanted them for the benefit of the public schools of the Upper Peninsula, and Senator O'Reilly all druggis was opposed to all land grants and land per bottle.

grabs. The resolution was reported for third reading, however. There has been wailing and gnashing of teeth in the senate, all because the bill introduced in that body making the senator:al term four years instead of two was 'knocked into a cocked hat" in the house. "I would not live alway," has "nothing to do with the case, tra la!" If the senators wanted the house to give such a bill favorable consideration they should have made it apply to the representatives as well, for they doubtless consider themselves just as good as anybody else, and maybe better.

LANSING, March 1, 1887.

From Fort Collins, Colorado.

In renewing my subscription to THE REGISTER, I would like to say a few words in regard to this part of Uncle Sams domain,-the Valley of the Cache La Pondre. Fort Collins is situated in the Pondre Valley, five miles from the Rocky Mountains, in full view of the beautiful snowy range, six'y miles away, and though we seldom have enough snow to whiten the ground, we have it in sight every day in the year. There is no more beautiful climate in the world than this land of almost perpetual sunshine. There has not been a cloudy day this year, and last year there were less than forty cloudy days in the whole year.

It is not a land of continual summer, but we can almost say it is a land of no winter. Stock find good grazing all winter. It has been rightly named the "Invalids Paradise," and this is especially true in regard to consumptives, as all are benefited who come and many are cured. There has only been one case of consumption contracted in Colorado. We have not the damp climate of Florida or California, but pure dry air; and when we consider how many thousands of people there are in different parts of our country whose life is absolutely dependent on a change of residence to some more congenial climate, how immeasurably important to this class of persons the question of climate becomes. What is best to do or where it is best to go for relief is, with such, paramount to all other considerations. There are many fine grain ranches in this county, all under irrigation. We have but little rain. Small fruits are raised in abundance and apples in small quantities at present.

We are expecting a substanial boom in the spring, as a rich gold field has been discovered in the mountains forty miles from here, and a new town called Manhattan is being rapidly built up. In the store in which I am employed, as well as other general stores in the town, it is not uncommon to make one sale of from three to four hundred dollars. We have several customers who come one hundred and fifty miles with team and wagon to trade. Our great need at present is manufacturing interests, several of which would pay a large per cent, among which are a paper mill and a woolen mill.

Mr. F. J. Annis, one of our most distinguished lawyers, was formerly from Ann Arbor.

We are to have a large brick Presbyterian church built this year, the society with Rev. Mr. Partridge as pastor, seems to be in a very prosperous condition. Yours Respectfully,

MISS. M. A. DUSENBURY. February 22nd, 1887.

MR. LAWRENCE BARRETT.

First Productions of Rienzi at the Opera House.

On March 8th Mr. Lawrence Barrett will produce for the first time in this city, at the theatre, Miss Mitford's "Rienzi. The play has been presented in Boston, Washington, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, and all critics unite in the statement that it is the grandest achieve-ment of Mr. Barrett's brilliant career.

The tragedy was originally written by Miss Mitford, in 1825, and thus preceded Bulwer's novel on this subject, and not an adaptation as generally supposed. Some idea of the magnitude of the work occasioned can be formed by stating that the transportation of new scenery requires two car loads. In the church scene, which is something magnificent, eight well drilled voices from New York will take part in the singing. Carte blanche was given to Hawthorne and Eaves, the costumers, and the result of their efforts is the exhibition of some extraordinary gorgeousness. Mr. Barrett has a part which is considered by all equal to his Cassius, and it is admitted to be his crowning achievement. In the banquet scene after Rienzi gains power, and by his riotous living brings disgrace upon his reign, the Bachanalian revelry is shown by an ex-travagant stage picture of this unparalled wallow in debauchery and the Circean

SIGNIFICANT!

Some of the Last Public Opinions of a Great Man.

New York Correspondence Cleveland Leader.

One has a most excellent opportunity to study "man" as represented by the average New Yorkers. Among the wealthy classes, very many of them have the waxy skin, dropsical flesh, and "puffed eyes" that are indicative of serious kidney affection. "Bright's disease" is plainly written on their faces. Since General Logan's death the subject of rheumatism is being dis-cussed by the medical profession.

Every intelligent person, with any knowledge of the human system, is well aware that if the kidneys are in good condition all unnecessary material is regularly carried off by them. not, various acids, such as uric acid, one of the chief causes of rheumatism, are left in excess, creating deposits that cause all sorts of chronic oraganic diseases. It would seem, therefore, that rheumatism, like dropsy, is not a disease, but the result of a disease, and it is safe to say that if the stomach and kidneys are kept in healthful condition, there will be no deaths from rheuma-

General Logan was well aware that his disease was of the kidneys, and once expressed himself in indignant terms at the folly of doctors treating him for rheumatism, when it was the kidneys that caused his attacks. The high living and the excesses in all things, prevalent among wealthy men in large cities, especially in New York, is the chief cause for Bright's disease, and the aristocratic trouble known as rheumatism, even as insufficient and improper food bring about the same results among the very poor.

The above article, which we reproduce because of its general interest, is very significant. The public believes that rheumatism is an effect of diseased blood, this disease being caused by uric acid or kidney posion. Enough of this is developed daily to kill several men, and if it is not removed by the kidneys as fast as formed, it gradually ruins

This fact is a scientific demonstration. If doctors do not admit it, it is pro-bably because they do, not wish to attract attention to the menace deranged kidneys offers to the general health, since they have no authorized specific for these organs.

General Logan knew what his real trouble was, and he recognized the nonsense of treating the effects—the real seat of the disease was the kidneys. Senator Sittig, of Illinois, whose vote elected Logan senator after four months of balloting, tells us that Logan often complained to him of great distress in his kidneys. Disease of the kidneys always produces rheumatism, and besides that, it causes paralysis, apoplexy, impotency, stomach and blood disorders, brain troubles, female complaints and countless other diseases which would almost never develop if the blood was kept free of uric acid or kidney posion.

These facts the public recognizes even though medical gentlemen for very evident reasons, will not publicly ac-knowledge them lest, perchance, some proprietary medicine, like Warner's safe cure, now admitted to be the only scientific specific, will get the benefit. Fie on such bigotry! It has been authoritatively stated time and again that there can be no real sound health if there is any false action of the kid-Insurance companies refuse millions of risks on this ground alone, hence it is that there is such universal popularity given to the great preparation named—a popularity that is based upon intrinsic merit.

LITERARY NOTES.

One of the most important books lately announced, and the most important one in its specialty, is Emil Naumann's "History of Music," about to be issued by Cassell & Company. This exhaustive work has been translated into English by F. Praeger, and edited by that veteran musicism, Sir F. A. Gore Ouseley, Mus. Doc., and professor of music at Oxford University. The book is in two volumes, and it is profusely illustrated, not only with pictures but with numerous reproductions of lamous musical manuscripts. The history of music is carefully traced from pre-classical times, to the music of the future. No such elaborate work has heretofore been attempted. It comes at a most auspicious time, when music has a more vital hold upon public interest, than it has ever had before.

"The Romance of Invention," a book just about to leave the press of Cassell & Company, is as fascinating as a rairy tale, yet every word of it is true. The story of the many inventions that have electified he world are here set forth robbed of their often wearisome technicalities, and are laid before the reader in their most attractive form. Mr. James Burnley, the author, has worked laboriously to accomplish his object, and he has met with signal success.

Mr. Appleton Morgan opens the January number of "The popular Science Month-ly" with a discussion of the question, "Are Railroads Public Edemies?" which is of timely interest in connection with the passage of the Interstate Commerce Bill; as it touches upon several of the points which are covered by that measure. "A Mount Washington Sandwort," by Grant Allen, presents the thoughts suggested by a little Artic plant which the writer picked near the top of "Jacob's Ladder," on the Mount Washington railway, leading him to a consideration of the extent and meaning of the glacial action that planted it there, so far away from the rest of its species. Professor Lucy M. Hall, of Vassar College, in 'Higher Education of Women and the Family," publishes facts that have come within her own observation, which seem to contradict the objections that have been made, on physiological grounds, to subjecting women to collegiate training and discipline. The present number of the "Monthly," as is fitting, takes the shape to a considerable extent, of a memorial number to Prof. E. L. Youmans, its late senior editor, who died on the 18th of January last. A steelplate protrait of Professor Youmans, presenting a vivid likeness, is accompanied by a sketch of his life by his sister, who was his companion and assistant in his earlier studies; and testimony is borne in the Editor's Table to his personal worth and unselfish devotion to the increase and diffusion of scientific knowledge. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

Free Trade. The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largey benefited the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufactures Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Boshee's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen, has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size. The August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung troubles, have perhaps, the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size.

CONVICT-LABOR COMPETITION.

Second Annual Report of Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor.

WASHINGTON, March 1. - Carrol D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor, has sub-mitted to the Secretary of the Interior his second annual report, which relates entirely to the subject of convict labor. It says that the prison population of 64,609 has a proportion of one in a thousand to the population of the United States. Whatever competition comes from convict labor in any form must come from this one convict in 1,000 of the populationnot the proportion to those engaged in mechanical pursuits in the whole country, which is about one to fifty. The United States prisoners included in this estimate number 1,240. The industry employing the greatest number is that of boots and shoes, the manufacture of clothing standing next, then stone-dressing, then farming, gardening, furniture, mining, lumber and carpentering in the order named. The total product of all penal institutions is 54-100ths of one per cent, of the total products of the industries of the country. The total value of goods made and work ione on productive labor in the penal fra stitutions of the whole country is $28,753. 999.13. It took 45,277 convicts one year to produce this total value, and it would have taken 35,534 free laborers to produce the same goods. Mr. Wright thinks it evident from information obtained that the competition arising from the employment of convicts, as far as the whole country is concerned, would of itself constitute a question worthy of serious discussion. However, locally and in certain industries, the competition may be serious and of such proportions as to claim the most serious attention of Legislatures. The Commissioner concludes that the system of hand labor, if introduced in the prisons, would reduce competition with free labor to the minimum.

LAFAYETTE'S ILL LUCK.

The President Vetoes the Bill for a Publie Building in the Indiana City.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The President has vetoed the bill for a public building at Lafayette, Ind. The message says: "I have been informed since this bill has been in my hands that last spring a building was erected at Lafayette with special reference to its use for the post-office, and that a part of it was leased by the Government for that purpose for the term of five years. Upon the faith of such lease the premises thus rented were fitted up and furnished by the owner of the building in a manner especially adapted to postal uses, and an account of such fitting up and furnishing is before me showing the expense of the same to have been more than $2.000. In view of such raw and remore than $2,200. In view of such new and re-cent arrangements made by the Government for the transaction of its postal business at this place it seems that the proposed expendi-ture for the erection of a building for that pur-pose is hardly necessary or justifiable."

THE nomination of a state ticket by the prohibitionists will cost the prohibitory amendment several thousand votes.

A BILL has passed congress appropriating $15,000 for agricultural experiments in each state. The portion allotted to Michigan wil be dispensed under direction of the agricultural college.

How would E. B. Pond, of this city do as a successor to Hon. M. V. Montgomery, when he resigns his position of commissioner of patents? He could fill the position up and down, if he don't measure as many inches in circumference.

THE democrats at their state convention, Tuesday, nominated Levi F. Griffin, of Detroit and Chas. D. Camp, of Saginaw, for judges of the supreme court, and Bartley Breen and R. F. Sprague, for regents. The greenbackers in convention at Lansing the same day refused to "fuse."

THE prohibition state convention at Laneing, last Thursday, placed in nomination the following ticket: For justice of the supreme court, long term, Noah W. Cheever, of this city; for justice of the supreme court, short term, Lemuel Chute, of Ionia; for regents, David Preston, of Detroit, and A. B. Cheney, of Sparts.

THE republican judicial convention, called to meet at Dundee, next Thursday, will have the important duty of nominating a gentleman who may be called upon by his fellow citizens of this and Monroe counties, to sit as judge in their matters of legal disputation for the ensuing six years Unless the democracy nominate an exceptionably good man for the position, which they are not likely to do, the republicans by making a proper selection of the many able men among its numbers, and making a vigorous campaign, should elect their candidate. The republicans of this county should make every endeavor to place upon their ticket, the name of a well-known and well-tried citizen, a gentleman of excellent parts, a scholar of rare culture, and a lawyer of excellent ability and long experience. Now these good qualities, we bmit, point to the Hon. E. D. Kinne, of this city, whose selection to this important trust, THE REGISTER believes would be most satisfactory to his constituents. We do not positively know that Mr. Kinne would accept the nomination, but if he can be persuaded to do so, the convention may easily make the choice of a gentleman whom it will require the very best efforts of the opposition to beat.

Amendment Mass Meeting.

Fully 1000 people assembled in University hall, last Friday evening, at the amendment mass meeting held by the faculty and students. Jas. N. McBride called the meeting to order and briefly stated the object of the meeting. He said "the universities and colleges have been the precursors of great reforms. One year ago we assembled in this hall to consider Home Rule for Ireland; tonight we are here to consider home rule for Michigan." He called Prof. V. M. Spaulding to the chair. Rev. Mr. Haskell offered prayer, Prof. Spaulding spoke of the importance of action: "The fact that the liquor men are organizing," said he, "and sending to other states for help, indicates our duty in the matter. If public sentiment is not ready for prohibition let us make it That is what we are here for.

Dr. Palmer took up the two objections, viz: Interference with personal liberty and ineffectiveness or inexpediency. He argued that there is no such thing as personal liberty, i. e., liberty to do as you please. "All observation, experience and science combine in saying that no good comes from the use of alcoholic beverages." He concluded by saying "As a consistent man it is my duty to vote for the amendment. I will trust to the enterprise and energy of the people of the state to execute reasonably well the laws." (Ap-

The question is, will we enforce the laws. I say send a regiment of troops into every city if necessary, but by all means let the people understand that the law can and will be enforced. Vote for the amendment; then be consistent and vote for men who are pledged to enforce the laws. It is incredible that Michigan, educated by the best of schools, will be wanting in this crisis."

Wants them to Wake-up.

MR. EDITOR: Why do not the citizens of Ann Arbor wake-up and work like beavers to carry the amendment? Prohibition is in the air. Leading men of all parties outside of Ann Arbor, predict that it is sure to carry. A well-known democratic war-horse in western Michigan said this, and the best indication are that the liquor men are badly frightened. William A. Hart, of Hart & Amberg, the largest wholesale liquor house in Grand Rapids, said that he "would bet two thousand dollars that the prohibition amendment would become a law," and Kortlander, of Kortlander & Grady, another large house of the same kind in the second city in Michigan, at once gave orders to sell no more net goods without spot cash, as after the passage of the amendment, no bills for this kind of property would be collectable, and this house and others have put collectors on the road to get in all outstanding accounts for the same reason. It is the general feeling that it will sweep the state that the general series will the same reason. the state. Hence many will vote for it who otherwise would not. All this is in its favor, and will help.
In Kansas, Iowa and Rhode Island this was not the case, but the people were in earnest and won. The writer believes there is a growing feeling in every com-munity that the saloon has had too great an influence in politics and has become a nuisance, and that it is time that it was

Do the people of Ann Arbor realize the progress this movement has made since the presidential election in 1884? Let us enumerate: In Dakota in 1885, and in Rhode Island in 1886, the constitutional amendment was carried by large majorities. Scientific instruction upon the evil effects of alcholic liquors and intemperance has been ordered in the public schools of Alabama, Connecticut, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Nevada, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Wisconsin, Missouri, Washing-ton Territory and District of Columbia In this state the vote to submit the amend ment to the people was 22 to 10 in the upper house of the legislature and in the lower house 74 to 24; in Oregon there were only two votes against it; in Penn-sylvania it passed by a handsome major-ity; in Tennessee, by 21 to 2 in the upper use, and only four votes against it in the lower house; in the house in Virginia by 55 to 10; it is reported favorable in Texas with a fair chance of its passage; and the subject is pending in Missouri, Nebraska and New York with good prospects of success in the two former states, It will be seen that these states thus voting are about equally divided between the north and south. Besides this, one-half or two-thirds of the counties in Georgia, have gone dry, including Atlanta, the capitol; also Jackson, the capital of Mississippi; 80 towns in Ohio voted no licence; and a large majority of the large towns and cities in Massachusetts have decided to suppress the traffic; also many cities in Indiana and New York; and an antitreating law has been enacted in Nebraska; the laws have been strengthened in Iowa, Kansas and Maine, and local option adopted in Florida, and county local option in Virginia, Georgia and Mississippi. West Virginia votes to submit, 55 to 10 in the house and the requisite two-thirds in the senate; Texas 80 to 21 in the house; and there is a good prospect of its passage in Massachusetts. This shows a great Massachusetts. This shows a great awakening. The people are getting in earnest. Let the "Athens of the West" arise and make a big effort to swell the vote in the state and throttle the viper VOTER.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 28, 1887. Coming Events.

The Unity club presents the following literary programme for next Monday evening: "History of monopolies," by George S. Camfield; "monopolies and the public," by Charles S. Ashley; music, etc. Everybody invited.

"Hoodman Blind" is the best literary effort of the numerous productions which have lately been transplanted from the English to the American stage, and the best typical drama yet written by Henry on the 4th of April. He continued substantially as follows: "The question is, will we, or will we not sanction the saloon. The saloon is an encroach-that "Hoodman Blind" is the name used in Hamlet, for the old time sport of our boyhood, Blindman's Bluff. It is appropriately applied to this play because the hero is sent groping through the mimicry of the scene with a bandage over his moral visor. He believes his wife as foul as the bottomless pit, she is indeed as pure as the driven snow. The eyes in his head have deceived him, and in the elucidation of the story a great deal of pathetic senti-ment is woven in. The plot is intricate but not unnaturaly so, and is sustained in interest until the curtain falls on the reunited and happy ones.

First Production in this city of Rienzi the Last of the Tribunes.

"Rienzi" was first brought out at the Drury Lane Theatre, October 4th, 1828, with Charles Young as Rienzi. A MSS. copy of it was brought to America by Macready in 1828, and was produced here in January, 1829, at the old Park Theatre, when the elder Wallack eracted Rienzi. Barry and Peter Richings were in the cast, and Claudia was impersonated by Mrs. Hilson. The piece was a brilliant success at that time. Some idea of the magnitude of the work of producing this play may be formed when it is stated that the new scenery, properties and costumes required make over two car loads. In the church scene, which will be something magnificent. 8 well-drilled voices from New York take part in the singing. Carte blanche was given to Hawthorne and Eaves, the costumers, and the result of their efforts will be the exhibition of some extraordinary gorgeousness. Mr. Barrett has a part which is considered equal to his Cassius, and it is expected that it will be his crowning achievement. In the banquet scene, after Rienzi gains power, and by his riotous living brings disgrace upon his reign, the Bachanalian revelry will be shown by an extravagant stage picture of this upparalleled wallow in debauchery and the Circeau cup.

The Play House.

That thus hath cozen'd you at hoodman blind?" Asked Hamlet of his mother, and in the line that clever actor, Wilson Barrett, found the title to his most successful play, which he wrote with the help of Henry Jones. "Hoodman Blind," the old name of "Blind Man's Buff," was seen for the first time in Grand Rapids at Power's Opera House last evening, when it was produced by a surprisingly good company with B. F. Horning at the head of the long cast. I have neither time or inclination to reproduce the story in detail this morning. Jack Yeulett is happily married to a lovely young wife whom he is made to believe is false to him; because of the trick of a scoundrei he thinks he sees his wife in the arms of another. This other he discovers away toward the end of the play is his wife's long lost sister. The little incident of a murder at the opening of the play is only a part of the under-plot. The two sisters, Yeulett and Jess, a waif, are written for a double and the two characters make a rather difficult and weighty load for a young actress.

THE VETO CONDEMNED.

Action taken by Welch Post, G. A. R. of this City on Cleveland's Cruel Veto.

The following preamble and resolution were unanimously passed at the last regular meeting of Welch Post, No. 137, G. At R., department of Michigan, and the adjutant instructed to have a copy of the same published, and also one forwarded to Capt. E. P. Allen, congressman-elect from this district:

from this district:

HEADQUARTERS WELCH POST, No. 137, G. A. R., DEPT. OF MICH.,
ANN ARBOR, FEB. 25, 1887.

WHEREAS, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, has seen fit to vecto the Dependent Pension Bill, thereby depriving deserving soldiers of justly earned subsistence and care in their need and old age. Now therefore be it Resolved by Welch Post, No. 137, G. A. R., Department of Michigan, that the reasons given by the President for such veto appear to us to be inadequate, captions, puerile, and unworthy of the President of a great nation.

The primary reasons given by the President for such veto appear to be, 1st, That the soldier does not deserve the pension.

offer it.

We answer, lst, A man who has not been a soldier is unfitted to judge. What! not deserve to be paid for sacrifice of time, and possibly health, privations endured and jeopardy of life? Did the paltry thirteen or sixteen dollars per month received by the soldier in a depredated currency pay him for these? We think not. Estimate what the soldier deserves by what he saved the nation.

currency pay him for these? We think not. Estimate what the soldier deserves by what he saved the nation.

2d, That the country cannot afford it. This country can afford to be just, to pay not as charity, but as a small remuneration for the service of securing an undivided country, for securing such a heritage to our children of territory, prosperity and people, worth now immense, and in future, untold wealth, saving to the manufactures, farm and business of the people of this nation their best markets. With our South a foreign country, who can estimate the damage to the nation, and but for the soldiers would it not have been a foreign country? Estimate what the nation can afford to pay more than her share for the benefit these soldiers have brought to her.

2d, That it is an insult to deserving soldiers to offer it. The soldiers and their dependents who come within the terms of the bill, are now recipients of either private or public charity, and the bill will relieve them of this degradation, and it will make them men again to know that their country recognized the obligation.

Therefore, This Post realizing the indignity put by the President on the soldiers by the reasonshe has given for this veto, respectfully ask our Representatives and Senators in congress to use their best efforts to make this bill a law, to the end, that simple justice may be done those who risked everything that is dear to man, that this nation might be what it is.

His hands ice, and only forty rods from shore they discovered a huge winrow of ice. In it they found Leary, a powerful young fellow nineteen years of age. He had evidently picked out this sheltered place to die. His three dogs were lying on his body and had licked his face and hands until the flesh was warm. The body was not frozen, and the rescuers thought Leary had not been dead over five or six hours. One dog went with the body, but the others refused to leave the spot and are there yet. Over a mile out the searchers found Cody's body and his three dogs sitting upon it. Cody had evidently died he had stumbled and fell where he was

FAILED TO AGREE. Little Prospect of Fisheries Legislation

Being Enacted This Session. WASHINGTON, March 1.—Senator Ed-munds, from the conference committee on the Fisheries bills, made a long report to the Senate yesterday as to the difficulties which prevented an agreement of the conferrees. The irreconcilable point difference is the insistance by House managers on adding to the Senate bill the fourth provision, which authorizes the President, in case of injurious treat-ment to American vessels in Dominion waters, to stop all intercourse, not only by water, but by land, thus cutting off the continuous movement of railway trains from the British Provinces to any part of the United States, and, in effect, reciprocally from the United States to the British dominions. The Senate managers decline to go to that extent. There is now, it seems, little or no hope of any fishery legislation this session No Jurisdiction in the Case.

OLD AND RARE BOOKS.

A FEW ERRONEOUS IDEAS WHICH EX-IST CONCERNING THEIR VALUE.

The Comparative Worth of an Old Book Dependent on Imprint, Authorship, Ownership, Edition and Condition-A List of Rare Volumes.

Not a few erroneous ideas exist about the value of old books. In order to correct some of these misconceptions I have concluded to take old books for my text. I may dispel some pleasant illusions, but if I do it is be-cause I can't help it. Allow me to say in the first place that age is no criterion of value in books. The mere date of printing does not fix its value, though, of course, any book in fair condition bearing date earlier than 1470 is worth something merely on account of its approach to the date of the invention of printing. On the other hand, there are books as late in date as 1886 which are rare and which are much desired by a certain class of There is no rule for knowing the comparative value of an old book, because it may depend upon so many things, such as imprint, authorship, ownership, edition and condition. A New York lady recently came into the possession of a book which she supposed worth at least $3,000. It was a fine large folio, in excellent condition and 250 years old. Imagine her disappointment when the highest offer made her for it was $3. Its age, size and condition didn't count for anything. The book wasn't rare, and had no in-trinsic value.

"THE MARTYR BOOK."

I remember the excitement which existed some years ago over "The Martyr Book," printed at Ephrata, in this state, in 1747-48. It was noised abroad as a valuable find and exceedingly rare. What followed then Why, no less than fifty copies of it were unearthed among the farmers of Lancaster county alone. And what followed next! A dead, thud like fall in quotations from $120 to $20 a copy. The quantity depreciated the quality; it wasn't exceedingly rare, after all. It deserves fame, however, as the first large book published in this state, and as an excellent product of the printers, papermakers and binders of that period. Almost as much zeal is shown in getting possession of old books with the Germantown imprint upon them. The first German books in the state were printed there. Some are rare and high priced; others are comparitively common.

There was a scurrilous epitaph on a "Certain Great Man" (Benjamin Franklin), printed anonymously in this city about 1763. It consisted of but eight pages, and yet a copy of it brought $82 at the Brinley book sale in New York. There were only three copies known to be in existence. Mr. D. McN. Stauffer, editor of The New York Engineering News, one day picked up a pamphlet out of the dirt in the bottom of a closet, and found himself the possessor of one of the known three. You see, if you are looking for rare and valuable books, it is something to know which are rare and why they are valuable.

You are not always sure even in buying a rare book by catalogue. I clip the subjoined from a letter received by me to-day: "The 'German Heraldry' is an example of the danger of buying from foreign book catalogues. I sent for the two volumes, paying a good price for them. There was no evidence on the title that there were three volumes, and it was only upon plodding through the Latin text that I found reference to a third and missing volume. I attempted to sell the books as I 'had received them' to the German library in your city. There I met Professor Oswald Siedenstucker, a very learned German scholar, who knew all about the books and the fact that the rare 'third volume' always 'turned up missing.' I have the two volumes

EDITIONS OF SHAKESPEARE.

Among the rare books are the first folio copies of the early editions of Shakespeare, The rise in their commercial value can be seen in the following order of sale: In 1750 Garrick bought a copy for £1 16s.; in 1796 another copy brought £40 19s.; in 1818 George Greuville paid £121 for a copy; in 1847 the Hibbert copy sold for £155; in 1854 another copy brought £250, and in 1864 the Barones Burdett Couts paid £716 2s. for a copy.

around for folio copies of the early edition.

Of the first edition of "Pilgrim's Progress, printed in 1678, of which no copy had been discovered when Southey wrote his "Life of Bunyan," there are two copies now known to be in existence. One is in the library of Mr. Halford in Gloucestershire, England, and the other in the Lenox collection in New York. Three years after the first London edition there was an American edition. The last lines on the title page were: "Boston in New England; printed by Samuel Green upon assignment of Samuel Sewall, and are to be sold by John Vsher, of Boston, 1681." only known copy of this issue was stolen from the Lenox collection. If you should find it, or another like it, you can be sure that you have found a valuable prize. The first edition of Tyndale's New Testament, published in London in 1536, is quoted at big figures.

I will close by giving the names and dates obtained for them at the Brinley book sale in 1882: Colden's "History of the Five Indian Nations," 1727, $320 (this is the book bought in the Judge Yeates lot for thirty cents) twelve pamphlets of the "Paxton Massacre," 1763-68, 8430; American Weekly Mercury 1729-32, 8460; Cicero's "Cato Major," B. Franklin, printer, 1744, $200; "Kalendarium Pennsilvaniense," William Bradford, Phila-delphia, 1685, $555; Colden's "Encouragement of Indian Trade," etc., 1734, $685; Pennsylvania Gazette, Kiemer & Franklin's first newspaper, Philadelphia, 1728, $560; "Journal of Major George Washington," Williams burg, Va., 1754, $560; Eliot's "Indian Bible," first edition, 1663, $1,000; first edition of small copy of the same, 1663, $550; second edition of small copy of the same, 1680, $500.

Experiment With Earth Worms. Mr. Graber has lately made some curious observations upon the effect of light upon eyeless animals, a report of which appears in the proceedings of the Vienna academy. He put a number of earth worms into a box, which was provided with an aperture at one side, through which light was allowed ingress. The result of many experiments showed that the worms sought the darkest part of their temporary prison and that at least two-fifths of their number shunned the light. Experimenting with rays of different colors by means of stained glass, he found that the worms exhibited a marked preference for red light.—Boston Transcript.

OFFICIAL FEMININE BEAUTY.

How the Gushing Washington Correspondents Overpaint Their Pictures. It is not always safe to accept the descrip tions of the society correspondents at Washington literally. The standards of judgment there are not precisely the same as elsewhere, and loveliness is considered as going as a matter of course with certain positions. For instance, a congressman may be ugly or good looking, able or weak, honest or knavish; but a congressman's wife is ex-officio lovely and though various congressmen with all sorts of wives, old and young, brown and blonde tall and short, sweet and shrewish, come and go, the ideal wife of the congresman remains the same, and in the eyes of the correspondent she is always lovely.

In this way, too, the senator's wife is ex-officio exquisitely lovely. The wives of the supreme court judges, the foreign represen tatives and the cabinet ministers, are ex-officio entrancingly lovely. As for the president's wife she is ex-officio "beyond all whooping," to use a Shakesperian phrase. Language is inadequate to express her loveliness. It is the failure of the average citizen to appreciate this treatment of beauty as an official attribute that leads to the disappointment of many visitors at Washington. They go expecting to see visions of feminine loveliness floating about the streets of the national capital. In their fancy, it is peopled with beauty like Armida's garden or the enchanted island of Camoens, or the paradise of Mahomet. They have heard of at least fifty wo men who walk with the grace of Diane of Poictiers, 100 who have inherited the witch ing smile of Ninon de l'Enclos, 150 who have found the lost arms of the Venus of Milo, 200 with the persuasive charms of Phryne-and so on through the long catalogue of professional beauties of history, art and poetry

But the imaginative tourist finds little in the reality to justify his anticipations. The gay and festive ladies of the society cor respondent generally appear to his unskilled eye as sensible, middle aged, or elderly wo-The lithe, the graceful, the sinuous the svelte, the luminous eyed, the full bosomed dames that are metamorphosed into very ordinary people connected by marriage with the men that, for the time being, are running the government.-Rochester

A Pathetic Incident.

A few weeks ago in this city a poor widow died, leaving one child, a little lame boy, to the cold charities of the world.

After his mother's funeral the little fellow was taken ill from the combined results of grief and neglect, and it was then evident that he would soon be united to his only Test for a Gentleman.

"I have here the best test for a gentleman that there is in New York," said the old, gray haired servitor in the blue naval cap who wanders about the corridors of the postoffice. "A gentleman will never let the door slam in the face of a man or woman who is follow ing, no matter how much engrossed in other things he may be. A gentleman will always hold the door open until the person behind him gets his hand upon it. Judged by that test there are not very many gentlemen in New York city. I kept a kind of score for an hour the other morning of the number of persons who showed any consideration for their fellow beings. There were 1,116 persons went through the doors in that time, and of these I saw eighty-seven stop and hold the door so it would not slam against those behind them. Fourteen, all smart young fellows, bank clerks or something like that, I judged, threw the doors wide open, so that they might slam back the harder. The rest showed no knowledge whether that there were any other persons in the world than themselves. All of these were men. I kept no count of the women. Why not? Because in all my life I never saw a woman hold a door for anybody except for her own child. They just open the doors wide enough to squeeze through and slip out edgeways, so it doesn't make much difference anyway."New York Mail and Express,

Two to Make a Man "Fred Gibbs was sergeant major in the One Hundred and Forty-eight New York infantry, and one of his chums was my friend, Horace Rumsey, of Seneca Falls, who was first sergeant of Company A in the same regiment, Gibbs' wound was an ugly one. The ball tore through his checks and mouth and knocked out his teeth and rendered him speechless. little further along the line lay his friend Rumsey, unable to move, with a bullet wound in the thigh. In getting off the field Gibbs found his old friend, and in sign language made known his loss of speech. 'Can you walk!' inquired Rumsey. Gibbs nodded his head. 'Well,' said Rumsey, 'I can talk, but I can't walk a step. Let me climb on your back and you walk and I'll talk. The two of us will just make a man.' Gibbs knelt down and let his friend climb on his shoulders and the pair made their way safely to the rear. The rear guard stopped them and asked searching questions, which Rumsey answered vigorously, while Gibbs stood mute. They were passed."—New York Sun.

And This in Boston.

Boston people will find it difficult to believe that the following advertisement appeared in The Evening Post of Boston in 1742: "To be sold by the Printer of this Paper, the very best Negro Woman in this Town who has had the Smallpox and the Measles; is as hearty as a Horse, as brisk as a Bird, and will work like a Beaver. CHEWING IS BAD FORM.

A HABIT THAT IS RAPIDLY BE-COMING OBSOLETE.

Men are Taking to Substitutes-The Convenient Slip of Slippery Elm-Licorice. How Roscoe Conkling Broke Up a Bad

Manufacturers of tobacco say that the habit of chewing is rapidly becoming as obsolete as that of souff taking, except among working "You will find some of the older mer of wealth and refinement who chew nowa days," said a large dealer, "but they acquired the habit years ago, when it was not thought vulgar or disreputable to chew. Some of the older judges chew, and there were members of the supreme court of the United States who were not easy on the bench unless they had a quid. A very few clergymen use tobacco in this way, and not a few of the older lawyers and other pro-fessional men of years. But in the younger generation of cultivated men of good manners there are very few, comparatively, now to be found who chew. The young men of to day rarely acquire the habit, and I predict that within the next few years users of the weed in this form will be only those who belong to the less cultivated society. It is now regarded very bad form to chew, though thirty years ago it was not. No; chewing is going the way of snuff taking."

Many of our most prominent public men have fought hard to overcome this habit. In Chicago and St. Louis chewing is now re garded as vulgar by persons who make any pretensions to social standing, and many of the devices employed by men to overcome the habit are amusing. At the late trial of Maxwell in St. Louis the three prosecuting officers were noticed constantly chewing during the trial, and one of them said: "Yes, we are chewing spruce gum, and we are doing it to break the habit of chewing tobacco, and if you will notice on the street you will see three men out of five (I mean, of course, those who are not workingmen) vigorously work ing their jaws. They are chewing gum, for there seems to be a sort of tacit agreement among gentlemen here to quit chewing to

A BIT OF SLIPPERY ELM

Many men now carry a strip of slippery elm in their pocket, and when they feel the old craving come over them then they bite off a bit and chew it. A down town druggist said that he sold a great deal of licorice root to men who were trying to break the tobacco habit. Roscoe Conkling used to chew, al-though he never used tobacco prepared for chewing. He had a habit of taking a good cigar, cutting it in two in the middle. The tween his teeth be would chew it. He did not take what Ben Butler is so fond of, a dry smoke, as it is called, but he chewed the cigar. He determined to break this habit, and to help him the more easily to conquer it he filled his pockets with lozenges or other choice candies every morning. Conkling has a very sweet tooth and is very fond of good candy. The last three or four years he was in the senate he was rarely without a lozenge or other candy in his mouth.

Senator Eaton and Senator Jones, of Florida, were both pets of Conkling, and both being pets of Conkling, and both being very fond of candy, almost daily performed this little comedy: Eaton would stroll over to Conkling's desk and chat a few moments, never failing to evince the profound admira-tion for Conkling that he had. By and by he would say: "Conkling, what do you do when your throat is dry and husky?" Thereupon Conkling would produce a box in which were the sugar plums, and Eaton, taking two or three, would stroll leisurely away with one in his mouth. By and by Jones would walk across the aisle and make his obeisance to Conkling. Then he would cough and hem and clear his throat. Out would come the box, and Jones made himself happy with two or three candies after sufficient hesitation about taking them. Once when Jones, of Nevada, was making a long speech and his grew husky, Conkling arose, pulled his box of confections from his pocket and prosented it to the miner with as much formality and dignity as though conferring the order of the garter. He afterward told Jones that if he would eat more candy and use less tobacco he would have no trouble with his voice.

But if the habit of chewing is decreasing that of smoking is gaining. The coming gen-eration, by all signs, will all smoke.—New York Sun.

Dullness of Southern Landscapes.

One never hears of a tourist going a second time to bask in the splendors of tropical scen The reason for this is because, not to put too fine a point upon it, there is no tropical scenery. The south has its magnificent magnolias, with their dark green, glossy leaves and dazzling white flowers, its pines and its palmettos, its fragrant orange trees, its never fading flood of moonlight, turning night into day, and the phosphorescent sea into a blazing mirror; but it has no scenery. The gen eral aspect of every southern landscape upon which my eyes have rested, from Charle S. C., to Pernambuco, in Brazil, is that of a gray, colorless, dead and dying waste of veg-etation, in which there is nothing attractive or even tolerable.

The magnolia, separated from its natural associates of gray moss and dead creepers, and transplanted to the lawn, becomes a splendid tree with the landscape gardener's care; but a single tree is not scenery. Considered singly, there are many beautiful flowers, shrubs and trees in the hot latitudes; but collectively, in its natural state, the southern forest is a dreary, sunburned jungle. not for a moment be compared to the bright ness and treshness of our northern deciduous trees, or even our perennial pines.-Detroit

Little Time for Waiting.

A Cambridge lady was surprised the other day by the information from her cook that she was going to leave in the morning. "But, Mary," her mistress said in surprise and consternation, "what are you going off this way for! What is the trouble!" "Oh, it's no trouble at all, mum," was the reply; "only Pat came over last sight and said there was going to be a tie up on the cars, and that would give him time to get married; so we're going to be married to-morrow night, and Fill and help Pat fix up the rooms we're going to live in." But you ought to give me time to find another girl," the mistress persisted, although she perceived plainly enough the uselessness of remonstrance. "So I told Pat, mum; but he said there was no telling how long the strike would last, and that if to give you warning and wait for you to find another girl he'd look around after another girl himself."-Boston Cor. GENTS:—I feel it my duty to say respecting Burdock Blood Bitters, that it is the best medicine I ever took. I suffered two or three years from stomach troubles and dyspepsia, as well as from liver and kidney complaint. I was not able to attend to my business. My wife was afflicted in much the same way. We read of your Bitters in the papers and made up our minds that we would try them. The result is, my wife and I began to improve at once, and I am now able to do more hard work than before in ten years. It relieved my than before in ten years. It relieved my kidney troubles as well. We both wish you, the makers of it, Godspeed. JOSEPH LANDON

The attention of a jury was occupied, in Justice Frueauff's court, last Friday and Saturday, in hearing the case of Sueky vs. Osius. The facts of the case were these: Paul G. Each, respectively, make us cognizant of Each, respectively, make us cognizant of the physical, the mental, and the spiritual phenomena. From these he drew impor-tant conclusions. Every auditor was eager to catch every word he said. The Baptist Young People's society is doing an excellent thing in furnishing the oppor-tunity to hear such able men. The Ann Arbor Savings Bank. Among the Savings Banks in our state there is not e outside of Detroit that has taken a more solid and prominent position than the Ann Arbor Savings Bank. Its growth has been steady and of the kind that makes it one of the best banks in the state. The list of depositors embraces our citizens occupying all different positions, but mainly among the farmers, mechanics and laborers, and these are the classes whom they especially seek.

Deposits are received from one dollar up and interest paid.

Nothing as sensible offers itself to fond parents and friends as to deposit a small amount on New Year's time for some child, who will be prouder with a bank account than with any other gift. Saturday, the Bank will be open for savings deposits from 7 to 8 p. m.
