DR. FORD'S PICTURE

PRESENTED TO THE UNIVERSITY

An Interesting Event in the Medical Building last Friday Afternoon.

For some time the junior and freshmen classes of the department of medicine and surgery and the department of dental surgery have been busy raising funds with which to purchase the large oil painting, by Revenaugh, of Jackson, of their beloved instructor, Dr. Ford, professor of anatomy and physiology, which they desired to present to the University. The required amount was raised early last week and the time for the presentation was set for Friday morning, in the medical building. Promptly at the hour appointed President Angell and the faculty of the medical college appeared on the scene and were greeted with loud and continued applause by the students.

Prof. Stowell acted as chairman and made a few introductory remarks appropriate to the occasion, referring in his usual happy manner to the genius and skill of the "grand old man," whom it was his privilege to have as a teacher.

He then introduced Douglas Sewell, of the class of '88, who, in behalf of the junior and freshman medical classes, formally presented the painting to the University, adding that while it was with the highest degree of gratification that they presented such a valuable addition to the art gallery, they would not give away the original.

W. D. Saunders, '87, was then introduced who made a similar remark in behalf of the students of the dental college.

President Angell responded by thanking the classes for the valuable gift, assuring them that it was highly appreciated and would be treasured as one of their most valued portraits, at the same time expressing his gratitude that the art gallery should receive such a valuable gift without solicitation, and that the love and veneration in which the original was held by the students, was sincerely shared by him and the entire faculty.

Dr. Palmer was then introduced and made a few remarks, referring to the building up of such a great college so far from a large city where they have the benefits of large hospitals, and attributed much of the great success to the untiring efforts of Dr. Ford.

Dr. Ford was then introduced, who spoke as follows, often being interrupted by loud and continued applause:

MR. PRESIDENT, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: Embarrassing as it is after the many complimentary remarks of partial friends, I will lay aside modesty and comply with a request that I speak of myself in the hope that I may encourage some who hear me, to continue in well doing.

It is of course known to most of you that I have been connected with several medical colleges, and I have been asked by what means I secured so many appointments.

When I taught school I sought the places, for that was the custom, but since I received my diploma, places have sought me; and if you will pardon my egotism I will gratify an expressed wish.

On a pleasant morning in May, 1834, my light trunk was soon packed, and I started on a journey of some 200 miles, to be made by the mode of traveling then in vogue, the stage and canal boat, from eastern to western New York. This was accomplished between the morning of Wednesday, May 7th and the evening of Tuesday, May 13th, the Sabbath (in church) and a part of Monday being spent in Rochester. On the morning of May 14 I awoke in the midst of a blinding snow storm which prevailed most of the day, among strangers, there being only one person I had ever seen.

I was not quite old enough to vote, and felt that my future was, by the blessing of Providence, for my own making.

Several object lessons had been well learned at a farmer's home, among which were industry, economy and perseverance. I also had, what a friend who signed my diploma, once encouragingly called "the blessing of poverty," for my money was less than three dollars and reliance for the future was to be upon myself. The importance of starting and continuing right in the race now beginning could not be overlooked, and I determined that I would not do anything that could de-throne reason or intoxicate. I would never go in places or in company where my honored mother might not accompany me.

While engaged, I yielded, temporarily, to the too common notion that tobacco would relieve the offensiveness of the work-room, but for more than forty years no tobacco has tainted my breath.

On the 19th day of May I received a certificate which I still retain, stating that on that day I commenced the study of "medicine and surgery," signed "A. B. Brown, vice president of the Niagara Co. medical society."

Weeks passed, I studied with some instruction, feeling "blue" about my prospects, which about the middle of August Dr. Hill, residing at Medina, greatly relieved, by appearing in the office in search of a medical student (of whom he had heard) to go and take charge of a small drug store, prepare medicine and study, for which board and instruction would be my compensation.

I promptly accepted the offer, again among strangers, with my character to be established by my conduct.

Time passed, I studied, worked, attended to my business. Clothes were wearing out. I left Dr. Hill and resorted to my only mode of earning money, which at $14 a month, for teaching school, did not replenish the pocket very rapidly.

Meanwhile my lack of suitable education oppressed me and I resolved to resume the study of Latin and Greek, which I did at Canandaigua academy, teaching in the winter.

In 1840 an unskilled dentist broke a tooth for me, and I was prompted to visit Dr. Edison Carr, whom I had seen, but had never met. The tooth matter being satisfactorily adjusted, the question of my future was briefly discussed, and in due time I became an inmate of his office and family, partly the result, as he said, of having noticed me in the street, in the recitation room and in church, and I would like to suggest to those who honor me today, and others, that to be seen habitually in church makes a better impression upon strangers, than to be seen entering or leaving a saloon, alone or in company with boon companions, and may I add here, for the benefit of any member of the class, who may mentally say "I am among strangers, no matter what I do, or where I go, nobody knows me," there is more than one "unseen eye" that watches the ingoing and outcoming of many a young man, who is perhaps, all unconsciously securing or losing a friend for a time of need.

The time came to attend lectures at a medical college. I had not the requisite means, my friend with encouraging frankness, said he would provide the means, and I went to the college in Geneva, with a letter from Dr. Carr.

Here I found assembled the usual variety of students. Some whose early advantages, for social position, culture and education might excite the envy of many less favored. I recall one, who, perhaps, would have been selected as giving most promise of a brilliant future.

The session passed as do most college sessions without any remarkably conspicuous occurrence, that I recall.

I returned to Canandaigua and resumed my study and work, part of which was assisting Dr. Carr in dentistry, for at that early day it was not very unusual to combine the practice of medicine and dentistry. I returned to the second college year, and with the usual greeting and renewal of friendly relations, one, formerly conspicuous, was absent. Enquiry elicited the fact of his reported death by delirium tremens.

One day in December, Prof. Frank H. Hamilton asked me what were my plans for the future after graduating. I replied I hardly had any, I must first earn my diploma. He said they would probably appoint another demonstrator at the close of the year. I told him that if chosen to that position an arrangement would be with reference to that duty.

On the 25th day of January, 1842, I received my diploma, and that evening was appointed demonstrator of anatomy, and with re-appointments, I discharged the duties there for 7 years, resigning in 1849 with such "timely" token of class respect, that I have ever since been able to "watch" the arrival of my lecture hour.

In about four months less than eight years, I had earned the money to pay for my education and had the coveted diploma. But I am making too long a story. The medical college in Buffalo was organized in 1849. On hearing of that I went to Buffalo to recommend as demonstrator, Dr. Moses Gunn, a graduate of the previous January, at Geneva. I called upon Dr. Hamilton, who informed me the place was filled. I asked by whom, he said, "you will learn on your return home," and I served in that college for six sessions.

While in Geneva in 1848, I received a letter from a stranger asking if I would allow my name to be used as a candidate for the professorship of anatomy in a medical college at Castleton, Vermont.

I was duly appointed and gave my first lecture as professor of anatomy at Castleton, Feb. 22, 1849. I had occasionally lectured for Prof. Webster at Geneva and at Buffalo.

Time passed, and in June 1854, while at the operating chair in Dr. Carr's office, I received a telegram from Prof. Gunn announcing my appointment in the University of Michigan, realizing a hope expressed when we built air castles in Geneva, that we might at some time be professors of anatomy and surgery, in the same college.

On the second day of October, 1854, I gave my first lecture in the University, and for 33 consecutive years the first of October has found me at my post, and in all these years, no failure of health has caused more than a brief interruption to my daily labor.

I never knew by whose recommendation I was appointed professor of anatomy in Pittsfield, Mass., in June 1860, where I lectured eight years.

Through Pres. P. A. Chadbourne's influence I lectured in the medical school in Maine from 1864 to 1870, when I resigned and went to Europe.

I lectured in Long Island College Hospital from 1868 to 1886, and by duplicating lectures here eleven years, I have given 102 courses of lectures on anatomy.

I beg your pardon for so much personal history, which I only consented to give, as an encouragement to any who may be glad to know the road by which the one you have chosen to honor, came to be where he is.

A while ago I made a list of professors, not now living, with whom I have been associated in different colleges, and on looking over that list, I see many names of men whom the profession and the public have delighted to honor, and among them I grieve to say are those who yielded to the debasing influence of that frequent destroyer of human happiness and hope. One especially whose brilliant talents and high promise were my admiration, always causes a deep sadness, and whose end, but illustrates that of unnumbered thousands.

I heard him give a stirring temperance address. His friends rejoiced in the hope of rescue. I saw him often, and when I was feeling the depressing influence of my work, (for we had not then the antiseptic appliances of the present day.) I was advised to imitate the course of multitudes who think to bolster up by drink, against the influence of the dissecting room.

I have ever been grateful that I had the courage to reply: "It is better to die a sober man, than to live a drunkard." That was about forty years ago. That man died among strangers, and I fear occupies an unknown grave, buried by the charity of those who had known him when a man. Weeks after his death his neglected and deserted wife made enquiries of his former associates, to obtain traces of the father of her children. What become of them I never knew. Gentlemen, there is only one safe place to stand, are you all on it?

I should be cold hearted indeed, if I could participate in a scene like this, without emotion. As I recall the struggle of years, and the many honors I have received, this holds a conspicuous place, whereby partial friends seek to preserve, on enduring canvas the features of one who has stood before them, faithfully endeavoring to unfold the mysteries of an organization, once honored by the Redeemer of mankind.

From the depth of a grateful heart, I thank those who have honored me, and rejoice to count as friends all for whom I have been privileged to labor, and wish that each may be as faithful to duty as I have tried to be, and as much honored by friends as I have been by such permanent memorial of regard.

At the most but few years can remain for me to labor, but while I am permitted to stand before you, and your successors, I shall endeavor to teach by precept and example what is worth knowing and doing by all.

AN EASTER SURPRISE.

Rev. Dr. Steele Resigns the Pastorate of the Presbyterian Church.

At the close of an interesting sermon, appropriate to the day, last Sunday, Rev. Dr. Steele, the greatly esteemed pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, closed the portfolio that held his address, and said: "And now I have an important matter to which I wish to call your attention." He then read the following paper, which almost took away the breath of the entire congregation, so sudden and unexpected did the announcement of his intentions come upon them. Mr. Steele has served well and faithfully this church for the biblical "seven" years, and now feels that his duty is done. It will be a great pleasure to his many friends to know that he will make Ann Arbor his home for several years at least. The paper referred to is as follows:

The Presbytery of Detroit, holds its spring session in the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, on Tuesday evening next, to be opened by a sermon by the last moderator. The session will continue through Wednesday and probably adjourn after the evening session.

In connection with this meeting I have this important announcement to make to which I ask your kindly attention.

I came to this church by your invitation to labor as the pastor in September, 1880. My call was dated August 10th of that year. On the first Sabbath of October I preached my first sermon from the text, "I ask therefore for what intent ye have sent for me," and was installed pastor by a committee of Presbytery on the 19th of that month, Dr. Baker preaching the sermon, Dr. Sprole delivering the charge to the pastor, and Rev. Mr. Richmond to the people. From the beginning of my ministry until the present I have had unbroken health, not having lost a single Sabbath from sickness, and only one prayer meeting from which I have been absent on this account. Since the summer of 1884 I have not had a vacation but have filled my pulpit each Sabbath.

My ministry has continued nearly seven years. The time has been short and passed rapidly, but is the longest pastorate of this church within the past thirty-two years. They have not been all that we could desire. We seldom accomplish in life all that we have planned for the Master.

When I came here you were burdened with a bonded debt of upwards of $7,000, and a floating debt of about $1,000. By your cheerful and liberal subscriptions this incumbrance was entirely removed at an early date. On the first of January of this year the small arrearage which had accumulated was promptly met and the treasurer reported the society clear of all obligations. If arrearages of pew rents were now paid we would not owe a dollar to any who are now serving us.

In the meanwhile the ladies have refitted and furnished our rooms below, giving us the most commodious and attractive lecture and Sabbath school room in the city.

Our membership when I came here had been reported to the Presbytery at the spring session as 318. The roll on my coming here was completely revised by a committee of session when there was found in attendance only 192 communicants, with about 25 absent members. At our first celebration of the Lord's supper 116 partook of the Sacrament. Our removals from our changeable population have been very great, and yet our membership is now 268 within the bounds of the congregation, with about 55 who have not yet taken their certificates of dismission.

The time has now arrived when as your pastor I should cease my labors in this congregation. No time seems more appropriate than this. To this decision I have arrived after careful reflection and I trust guidance from the Master. I am a loyal Presbyterian, and it is my present intention to take the constitutional steps for a dissolution of the pastoral relation existing between us; and I shall therefore ask the Presbytery to be released from the charge of this church at such a date as will be mutually satisfactory, and for the best interests of the congregation; taking all things into consideration it may be well to have this arrangement completed within a few Sabbaths.

Special meetings are not desirable, and my own understanding is—and we have precedents in ecclesiastical decisions that the delegate from this session, Dr. Prescott, principal, and Mr. John Moore, alternate, will have authority to represent the society. Did not the application come from myself the constitutional method would be different.

One word additional. The very natural inquiry will be, where is Mr. Steele going and what will he do? To prevent all solicitude on this subject, I will say that I am not open immediately to another settlement in the ministry, and will remain in Ann Arbor taking the position of an ordinary citizen. I have arranged to occupy the same residence which you have heretofore kindly furnished me as a parsonage—a very comfortable home. I do not intend to be idle but will take up some line of work in which I may still be useful.

Let me assure you that for the few Sabbaths I am to occupy this pulpit I will make no allusion to this matter. This is the first and last statement I shall make from this desk. There will be no further reference to this day's transaction beyond what Presbytery by its representative shall affirm. I shall endeavor in the remaining messages you will hear from me to preach the plain, direct and practical Gospel of Christ. I have never used this pulpit or any other to say anything of a personal character or address individuals. I want to so conduct myself before this congregation and in this community, as to be able to say when my work is done, which is now near at hand, with blessed Paul, "I have not shunned to declare unto you the whole counsel of God."

The Presbytery of Detroit, at its session yesterday in acting upon Dr. Steele's request for a dissolution of the pastoral relation and the church, adopted the following action:

Resolved, That the congregation of Ann Arbor be cited to appear before Presbytery by their commissioner at an adjourned meeting to be held in Detroit on Wednesday the 27th inst, at 2 P. M., that definite action may be taken upon this request of Dr. Steele.

A meeting of the congregation will be announced from the pulpit next Sabbath morning.

PROCLAMATION—ARBOR DAY.

The forest fame of our peninsular state is fast vanishing before the woodman's ax. Our natural groves of maple, oak and pine are being hurriedly chased over the hills and down the valleys by fields of sunshine and waving grain. The pioneer fathers yet with us can tell of more wonderful changes they have seen wrought in the face of our beautiful state than can the added generations to come. The fertile soil which longed for the warmth of sunshine when they came, today rejoices in the cooling shadows of a spared tree. We build our fortunes to decay, we plant our deeds to live and grow; he who plants a tree by the wayside may not himself rest beneath its shade, but thousands of weary travelers may stop to breathe a blessing on his deed. And it is with a thought for the days to come and for those who are to live after us, that the beautiful custom of annually proclaiming an Arbor Day is cheerfully followed by your humble servant. I therefore respectfully and earnestly recommend that by the cottages, the mansion, the church, the school-house, the street, in the cemetery, or in such other place as may be chosen, a tree may be planted on MONDAY, the 25TH DAY OF APRIL, inst., by every person in our state with whom it is possible. And that it may be done with a more united purpose, I would suggest that each tree be dedicated to the memory of some friend, whose deeds of kindness or heroism you would keep green. And it is with confidence grown from the past that I sincerely hope a people, unsurpassed in intelligence, unexcelled in public spirit, loyal to friends and benefactors, and proud of the heritage in the family of states, will, on that day, add living ornaments to the blessing of posterity that only the seasons can finish for enjoyment.

In TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the Great Seal of the State of Michigan to be affixed at Lansing, the 7th day of April, in the year of our Lord 1887.
By the Governor: C. G. LUCE.
G. R. OSBURN, Secretary of State.

The official figures indicate that the republican plurality in the state is about 25,000, and the majority against the amendment about 4,500.

The next supreme bench will be made up of Judge Thomas R. Sherwood, John W. Champin, Allen B. Morse, James V. Campbell, and Charles D. Long—three fusionists and two republicans.

The events of the last two months show that the people are a good deal interested in the subject of temperance. The liquor dealers will do well to take the hint, and live strictly up to the laws on our statute books regulating the traffic. It will be the part of prudence to do so.

WOMAN suffrage was voted down in the house, at Lansing, yesterday, by 50 to 33. Several brilliant speeches were made on both sides of the question. Our representative, Manly, is reported to have said: "Who are the ladies who ask for this bill—or, who are the women, for I do not believe the ladies want it? Do our wives and daughters want to vote? No; the women who sign these petitions and urge this bill do not know what a home is. They are not wives or mothers. The place for women is at home. The passage of this law would disrupt the home. It would increase the divorce rate. We do not want our wives out all night trying to nominate some man for office. Before leaving my home I asked my wife what she thought of this bill, and she answered, by all means vote it down."

From a Regular Boomer Who Believes in Booming.
To the Editor:
What is right? Wake up the people on the new business enterprise of our city. Where is the "Business Men's Association" which was to help such enterprises? Why should a capsule factory leave for want of room, or canning and fruit evaporating establishment for lack of capital in Ann Arbor? Where is that booming pamphlet? It should be printed in ample season for the semi-centennial of the University. The new depot is done. Why should not the big signs which were to show to our passengers upon the Michigan Central R. R. what a grand University and High School we have, and what a beautiful location our city is for a thousand homes be put up now? We can grow if we will. Let us be business.

BUSINESS.
P. S. Is it not time that we made the biggest kind of an effort to get the Toledo & A. A. R. R. shops? B.

He Had a Right to Vote for London.

EDITOR REGISTER: In your issue of the 7th inst., under the head of "Political Echoes," you seem to have connected my name with that of Messrs. D. Cramer and Geo. Schwab as having worked for Judge London's election. What the other gentleman did I can't say; for myself, I was confined to my house for weeks prior to election on account of sickness and death in my family, and my first appearance up town was Saturday before election. I voted for Mr. London. I suppose as a democrat I had a right to do that. He was not my choice, I was in favor of Judge Joslyn being renominated, and thought, and still think, he was the strongest man in our ranks. If John J. Robison & Co., who have held office for the past thirty years or more by democratic votes, get any consolation out of Judge London's defeat, they are welcome to it. They are politically dead and even Gabriel's trumpet could never resurrect them. For the past years the clerk's office has been nothing more than a Republican headquarters, but it is to be hoped that Mr. Howlett will effect a change.
Yours,
M. J. MARTIN.

Mrs. H. M. Russell is on the gain.
G. J. Nissly was in Clinton the 8th inst.

Farmers about Saline have started the plow in earnest.
John Gillen, P. M., has been enjoying an able attack of the toothache.

Miss May Bunting died the 8th, of consumption. The funeral was held the 10th.

H. Johnson, brother of Geo. Johnson, of Lodi, was buried under the auspices of the G. A. R., the 10th inst.

Geo. Mitchell and wife, of Chelsea, were in town the 12th inst., looking after the interests of the Chelsea fair of which he is secretary.

The great shooting tournament of Saline is going on. As your correspondent goes to press the result is unknown, only that there is plenty of burnt powder and scared pigeons.

A. K. Rouse has been appointed deputy fish and game warden for Washtenaw county. Mr. Rouse's petition contained every business man's name except one (and he was an applicant) in Saline, and many from the country, also the recommendation from both representatives.

Ypsilanti Jottings.

Mrs. James Davis is building an addition to her home on Congress st.

Several archery clubs are being formed among our young lady students.

The children are off on wild-flower hunts now, at every available opportunity.

We can go to Detroit and return for $1.65 now, a saving of 15 cents from old rates.

John Batchelder, now a Chicago traveling salesman, spent Sunday here, with friends.

Base ball, lawn tennis and croquet are already being enjoyed by lovers of outdoor games.

The German garden was lively Monday night, owing to dancing and a general jollification.

Frank Wallace, whom, it is feared, has very serious lung trouble, is trying the faith cure at Plymouth.

Mr. Walter Backlin, professor of music at Junction City, Ks., is spending a short time with friends in the city.

Miss Mattie Fowler, of this city, and Mr. Ableson, of Plymouth, were united in matrimony in Ann Arbor last week Wednesday.

All of the churches were very tastefully trimmed with flowers and vines Sunday, and appropriate Easter services were generally observed.

Little by little the old settlers are getting the upper hand of ancient prejudice against pulling down door-yard fences, and many beautiful unobstructed lawns are the result.

According to the Ypsilanti, among the graduates of the Normal conservatory of music, eight are engaged in leading opera companies, while ten are filling lucrative engagements in concert and churches, in large western cities.

A large audience greeted our disguised vocalists who appeared in the mask concert at the opera house Wednesday evening. The entertainment was very amusing and thoroughly appreciated and a goodly sum was realized for the ladies' parish aid society of St. Luke's church.

COUNTY.

Business is booming in Hamburg.
The Ypsilanti creamery has resumed operations.

The G. A. R. post of Manchester, is booming.

A. Dechenet, of Dexter, has commenced the manufacture of buttons.

Mr. Wagner, of South Lyon, will start a lumber yard at Hamburg.

Dr. H. W. Gummel, of Chicago, will soon begin the practice of medicine in Hamburg.

The evergreens which have for years beautified the school grounds of Dexter have been cut down.

Thos. Mosher, of Manchester, received severe injuries one day last week, by falling down a pair of stairs.

The Dexter literary and choral union will meet at the residence of Rev. O. C. Bailey, Friday evening, April 15th.

Clyde Dickerson, of Bridgewater, has a position as reporter and collector for the American Collecting and Reporting Agency, of Indianapolis.

The town board of Dexter has passed a resolution compelling the supervisor to publish quarterly the amount expended for the support of the poor, and to whom aid was given.

M. E. Keeler, of Sharon, weighed 10 sheep of his flock that averaged 178 lbs. per head. Also two steers that weighed 1570 and 1520 pounds respectively.

About 76 of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, of Mooreville, gave them a very pleasant surprise last Monday night in honor of the 20th anniversary of their wedding, and presented them with a nice easy chair and several other presents.

Rev. J. M. Getchell, of Tecumseh, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address to the I. O. O. F. lodge, of Saline, on the 68th anniversary of Odd Fellowship, April 26, when it will be appropriately observed by the order in that village. Arrangements are under way for a good entertainment.

Ypsilanti Commercial: A corporation known as the Ypsilanti, Michigan, Iron Mining Company, has been formed here recently. It owns and will operate an iron mine in the Mesemra range in northern Wisconsin. The officers of the company are the following well known Ypsilanti gentlemen: President, Newton Crittendon; vice president, George Thompson; secretary, Frank Todd; treasurer and superintendent, J. P. Vroman.

Dexter Leader: After the very interesting and profitable series of meetings held in the Webster Congregational church, conducted by Rev. James E. Butler, there has arisen among his people a desire that he be ordained, that they may have a full fledged minister to go in and out before them and break to them the "bread of life;" they have therefore invited a council from neighboring Congregational churches to meet with them at their house of worship on Tuesday, April 12th, at 2 o'clock p. m., to advise and assist in the ordination services.

Saline Observer: The Saline sheep breeders' and wool growers' association annual shearing festival held in this village, on Wednesday, was largely attended by the sheepfanciers of this vicinity, besides many being in attendance from abroad. There were about 75 sheep on the grounds, of which number only about two-thirds were sheared. It was a handsome and valuable flock of sheep, several of the best specimens being valued at over $1000, while the total valuation must have aggregated a large sum. R. W. Mill's three-year-old ram sheared 31 pounds and 9 ounces. One of S. R. Crittenden's yearling ewes sheared 17 pounds. Ed. Lockwood, of Sharon, sold 190 sheep to J. F. Spafford that averaged 105 pounds per head. His sales of sheep and cattle amounted to $1,000.

Draper's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was brought out in great style at the Harris Theater last night. Miss Kate Partington makes an excellent Topsy, and as much can be said of Sam Bolter as Uncle Tom. There are jubilee singers and trained dogs. Nothing is omitted to make the play successful, and probably the most interesting feature of the presentation, was the introduction of two formidable Mount St. Bernard dogs and a monster-sized Siberia bloodhound. These dogs are not only marvelous in size, but are trained to a degree of excellence, their acting winning rounds of applause. The same play will be repeated to-night, when we expect to see the house completely filled.—Baltimore Daily Democrat.

From Mr. Cramer.

Mr. Editor: In your "Election Echoes" of last week, I noticed two items and my answer is as follows: Judge Cooley was buried by the liquor vote for supreme judge, Judge Landon, the same for circuit judge, and D. Cramer, the same for senator. On the other hand John J. Robison, E. B. Norris (his man Friday) and Charles Clark have the full support of said liquor vote. Which is the better trio?
D. CRAMER.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, in General Debility, Emaciation, Consumption and Wasting in Children.

Is a most valuable food and medicine. It creates an appetite for food, strengthens the nervous system and builds up the body. It is prepared in a palatable form and prescribed universally by Physicians. Take no other.

Washington Critic: Congress is always biggest at the tapper end.

What True Merit will do.

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance will save doctor's bill and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

Boston Post: A son of a gun is apt to be a bore.

IT IS WONDERFUL

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows in the system, until one is startled to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophoros was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophoros is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

East Saginaw, Mich.

About four weeks ago I was taken with a severe attack of rheumatism. My feet were so swollen that I could not wear my boots; in fact, I could just hobble along, and got very little sleep at night, as I suffered intense pain whether I sat up or laid down. I went out and bought a pair of crutches to enable me to get around. After buying them, when on my way home, I stopped in at W. B. Moor's drug store, and noticing Athlophoros for sale I decided to try a bottle. After taking half a bottle I laid my crutches aside, only using them the one time—on my way home. The swelling is all reduced, and I now wear my boots with perfect ease. I have not had any pain since. I would not take $20 for the balance of the bottle if I could not get more. Any one suffering with rheumatism need not suffer any longer if they will take Athlophoros. JED GRIGWARE, Mate of Steamer W. R. Burt, running between East Saginaw and Bay City, Mich.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For Bruise and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlophoros Pills are unequalled.

Mount Vernon.

The time is drawing near for the annual meeting of the Mount Vernon council, which will be held on the 19th of May, in the banquet hall of "The Mansion" at Mount Vernon. The council, which is the legislative body of the association, consists of the Regent, Mrs. Lily L. McAlister Laughton, the vice regents of the several states represented; the treasurer, Mr. E. Francis Riggs, Washington, D. C.; and the secretary, Mrs. J. M. Sweet, Maine.

In view of the near approach of the meeting of the council, when the reports of the vice regents of the different states will be presented, the vice regent for Michigan makes an appeal to the citizens of the state to contribute generously to the Endowment Fund. This fund is much needed for the restoration and proper maintenance of Mount Vernon. In the midst of a material progress, which is dazzling and amazing, with cities all over the country whose buildings are wonders of stone, marble, iron and brass-work, does not the simple but beautiful home of our loved Washington, lying in peace and security on the Potomac, make a mute appeal to the hearts of all citizens, and move them to give of their little or abundance to the keeping of this sacred spot? There is much to be done to make Mount Vernon what it was when under the loving care of the master, and should not a grateful people gladly do what is needed for its perfect restoration? If our merchant princes live in palaces and enjoy club houses, which vie in luxury with the old Roman Pottery, should the garden walls at Mount Vernon tumble into decay, and the deer park remain a waste? And will not the people of simple means be glad to think that they, too, can give of their little to keep this beautiful old colonial home from generation to generation?

Contributions for the Mount Vernon fund can be sent through Mrs. Don M. Dickinson, Detroit; Mrs. Eliza Smith, Lansing; Mrs. C. J. Willett, St. Louis; Miss Lizzie Cooley, Jackson; Miss Lois Angell, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Frank Keller, East Saginaw; Mrs. Chatterton, Mt. Pleasant; and Mrs. Dr. Charles Hazeltine, Grand Rapids. It is the earnest hope of the vice regent for Michigan, that the subscriptions, though individually small, will aggregate a generous sum which she will take pride in presenting at the annual meeting.

FIFTY YEARS A QUEEN.

A Tower to Commemorate Victoria's Jubilee.

On the 28th of June, 1837, Victoria was crowned queen of England. If she lives until the same date this year there will be an extensive celebration of the event of her golden jubilee as queen. Preparations for this event have already begun, and it is expected the demonstrations throughout Great Britain and the colonies will be very grand and imposing. It is proposed that there shall be erected in London, besides other monuments to mark the event, a giant tower, to be used as an observatory, where natives and visitors can get a bird's eye view of the greatest city in the world. The tower is to be erected on ground belonging to the Marquis of Salisbury, near Trafalgar square. But the glory of its construction is not altogether the glory of the queen, for it is proposed to charge admission to it, and it is expected it will be a very profitable enterprise.

EXTERIOR VIEW. SECTION.

The illustrations give at a glance the appearance and plan of the structure. The height of the tower will be 430 feet above the pavement. It will be circular in form, constructed of red and white brick and stone. The outer wall will be seven feet thick at the bottom and two feet thick at the top. The diameter of the tower will be sixty feet at the bottom and one-half that diameter at the top. There will be elevators to raise passengers to the summit, and for those who will not trust these mechanical contrivances there will be two sets of stone steps provided between the outer and inner walls whereon they can ascend or descend on foot.

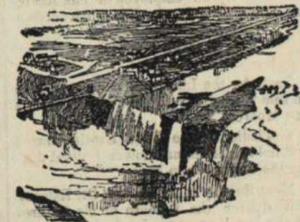

Outside galleries will be constructed half way up the structure and around the top. Here will be a restaurant and smoking room with accommodation for about 600 people at one time.

There was a tower of observation somewhat on the same plan at the centennial exhibition at Philadelphia. Now Paris is about constructing a similar tower to be nearly 1,000 feet high, but both Paris and London possess a drawback to the use of such a tower, and that is fog. Unless they can abolish London fog by an act of parliament the proposed Victoria Memorial tower will be useless much of the time.

UTILIZING NIAGARA FALLS.

A British Commentary on American Enterprise.

The London Graphic thus speaks of what it terms the desecration of Niagara Falls: "Nothing is sacred to the practical man of the present age, especially when he happens to dwell across the Atlantic. There he sees the wonders of nature as advertising boards for puffing quack medicines or patent stores, and the picturesque and grandiose are only appreciated by him in proportion to their utilitarian value. For many years past, however, he has had a standing grievance. In the falls of Niagara he has seen a force of 7,000,000 horse power running to waste, and his regrets that no effort has been made to utilize so stupendous a force have found vent in every newspaper in the Union.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF FALLS, SHOWING TUNNEL.

"His mind is being now set at rest. Some years since the first considerable use of water power at Niagara was made by the running of a hydraulic canal about a mile in length from Fort Day to a point below the falls. This has been so successful that a far more ambitious enterprise is now being undertaken by a 'Niagara Tunnel and Power Company.' Briefly outlined, the scheme is to construct a subterranean tunnel from the water line below the falls (marked X in the illustration) extending through the solid rock to the upper Niagara river, at a point about one mile above the falls, where a head of 120 feet is obtained. It is stated that the magnitude of the power thus available will exceed the combined power in use at Holyoke, Lowell, Minneapolis, Cohoes, Lewiston and Lawrence. The mill sites are to be provided with railway sidings and tracks leading to all important northern railways, while the Erie canal, seven miles distant, is connected with the river and is thus available for the dispatch of goods.

"The cost of this scheme is estimated at $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, and the work is to be executed by an army of 10,000 Italian laborers."

A story told of Swimmer Boyton. A story told about Capt. Paul Boyton is interesting. He was on his way down the Rhone, in France, near Syssel, when he noticed the people along the bank making unusual noises and gesticulations. Thinking they were caused by their admiration for him Boyton didn't mind them, but when he got nearer the people he saw it was fear that caused their actions, and that they were entreating him to stop; but he couldn't do this on account of the rapidity of the current. Then he saw several soldiers run out on the bridge and hurriedly grind away at some cranks, and in a few moments, a little before his eyes, rose a network of chains and hooks, which was stretched across the river to catch contraband goods that might be floated down, and that would have made mincemeat out of the voyager if the guards hadn't seen him. As it was, when he floated under, the lowest row of hooks was only a few inches from his face.—Chicago News.

Nellie J., the beloved wife of Geo. H. Pond, of the Courier, died last Friday night, aged 36 years, after a lingering illness with consumption. The funeral was held at the residence Monday morning, Rev. Dr. Ramsay conducting the services, and the remains taken to Flint for burial.

Willie Baur, of West Huron-st, shot two Evening Grosbeaks.—Hesperiphona Vesperina,—one of which he presented to the University. Mr. Hobson, the taxidermist of the University, says there is no specimen of this bird in the museum. He never met the bird during his residence in Michigan.

The lecture delivered by Dr. Ramsay in the Methodist church, on Monday evening, was an exceedingly interesting discourse, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The subject of "Sky Wonders" was treated in a masterly manner, and the favorable press notices which have appeared from time to time in different parts of the state in relation to this lecture are eminently deserved.

At a meeting of the directors of the Star Mountain Mining Co., held in this city, Monday, a resolution was passed authorizing the purchase of a machine for crushing, stamping and separating the ore, at a cost not to exceed $5000. Treasurer Duffy reported cash, notes and securities on hand to the amount of $20,000. E. G. Stiles was authorized to employ a superintendent at the mines at a salary of $4,000 per day.

Programmes are out for the state shoot to be held in South Lyon, April 21st and 22nd, under the auspices of the South Lyon gun club. First day, April 21st, there will be six matches, one for the team shoot, of five men, for silver pitcher and $15. Second day, April 22nd, there will be seven matches, one for the state individual championship medal. A meeting of the state trap shooters association will be held at the Moody House parlors, Tuesday evening, April 21st. For full particulars address E. V. Chilson, secretary.

The event of next week is the opening and dedication of Hobart Hall, under the auspices of the Episcopal church. Many prominent people from other cities will be present, among whom we may mention: Bishop Harris and Gillespie, Ex-Gov. Baldwin, Senator Stockbridge, Don M. Dickinson and others of national note. The program of exercises was given last week. On account of the limited accommodations of Hobart Hall, the following arrangements have been made. The exercises at 7:30 are more especially intended for the professors and students of the University and invited guests. At 9 o'clock there will be a general reception to which every one is most cordially invited.

Listemann.

One week from next Friday night the great Bernhard Listemann concert company will give an entertainment in University hall. For this distinguished troupe too much cannot be said in its praise. Mr. Listemann is a violin player of the highest character, and our citizens and student friends should alike join in giving the University musical society their most hearty support. We would like to state that this troupe is one of the highest priced ones now traveling, and that the musical society well recognizes that if it is to furnish the grade of entertainment Ann Arbor audiences demand they must be liberally supported or entirely fail. A most generous support at this time is urgently requested.

The Kirmes.

The order now is for a quick step in the Kirmes, as in about two weeks it will be produced. Every class should be full, every member prompt, and each class should do their utmost to contribute to the success of this charming entertainment. All promises well in the class room, from which emanates daily the sound of piano, castinet and dancing. But this preliminary practice gives but a slight foretaste of what the final result will be when each class is in costume and perfect trimings. The second evening of the Kirmes, April 29th, ends with a "Soiree Dansante," when the performers and audience will together adjourn to the rink, where music and refreshments await them.

Mr. Sunderland will be present and conduct the opening services. In the evening the subject of Mrs. Sunderland's lecture on Christian history will be "The Jesuits and the Catholic Reaction."

An audience that filled the house in every part witnessed, last evening, the old but ever popular drama, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Not the least noticeable pleasing feature of the performance was the remarkable acting of three monster St. Bernard dogs, the finest specimens extant. These dogs are certainly marvelous and were highly admired by the audience. We cannot but vote the S. Draper Company a good one, which will always be welcomed back to our city.—Reading Daily Herald.

Uncle Tom's Cabin was well played last night. The Topsy was good, and all the taken singers. The other parts were all well taken, and all the actors acquitted themselves with ability, which was fully attested by the frequent and loud applause of the audience. A prominent feature of the play was the performance of the two Mount St. Bernard dogs, Saltan and Cesar, and a monster Siberian blood-hound. These dogs are magnificent specimens of the canine race, while their superb acting always comes in for a large share of applause.—Cumberland Daily News.
