HOBART GUILD HALL, DEDICATED TUESDAY EVENING.

Interesting Proceedings—Addresses
by Bishop Harris and Dr.
Coe—Description of the Hall.

The dedication of this handsome new edifice, Tuesday evening, marks another important epoch in the advancement of religious thought and the influence of the Episcopal church in its relation to the University of Michigan. The dedicatory services were very beautiful and impressive, and were attended by a large number of prominent Episcopals from different parts of the country, professors, students and others. The reception, after the services were closed, in the parlors of the hall, was attended by the elite of the city, and was a brilliant affair.

Supper was served in the spacious dining hall, at six o'clock, to those who were present from abroad, among whom were noticed Bishop Samuel S. Harris, ex-Gov. H. P. Baldwin, Hon. Don M. Dickinson and wife, Wm. P. Wells, O. W. Shipman, Elliott T. Slocum, S. W. Frisbee, A. Heber Hoskins, Joseph N. Blanchard, Joseph H. Johnson, H. P. Baldwin, 2d, F. E. DeWitt, H. C. Parke, Miss Mary M. Parke, and Miss Marquette Sinclair, of Detroit; Senator F. B. Stockbridge, of Kalamazoo; Gen. W. H. Withington, Jackson; J. V. Conover, Owosso; Rev. J. Rice Taylor, Grand Rapids; Edwin R. Bishop, Bay City; Edwin Magee, J. M. Curtis, Cheboygan; A. D. Cook, Brooklyn; R. D. Brooke, Monroe; Rev. Royal B. Balcom, Jackson; R. D. Stearns, St. Johns; Judge Hammond and Miss Hammond, Memphis.

The exercises were opened by an anthem by the University glee club. Rev. Dr. Earp read the lesson, after which the audience joined in singing "Coronation." After the Creed had been repeated, prayer offered, and a hymn sung by the glee club and congregation, Rev. Samuel S. Harris, of Detroit, Bishop of Michigan, delivered the inaugural address.

He began by praising God for His favor bestowed upon the enterprise, and alluded to the fact that the first words spoken in the hall were in worship of God, under whose guidance they had prospered so well in their work. We trust, as it has been built for His good, it will result in our good, and evoke His divine blessings on all our labors here. He spoke in acknowledgement of the gifts of their benefactors, of whom so many were present, to whose liberality and enterprise they were indebted for the hall. He complimented the rector and vestrymen of the society for their interest and work performed, and was thankful to the ladies' society to whose efforts and zeal much credit was due, and also to such members of the Guild as had labored earnestly for the accomplishment of this work.

The work begun here tonight is only a part of God's work. The hours which inaugurate this beginning are only what God has been doing for ages, and is the commencement of many innumerable conflicts between faith and free thought. Science and religion are now wide apart, both can live without the other, but science always becomes barren when it refuses the advice of religion. Because we believe it is wicked to allow religion to be at conflict with science we should not relax our efforts, but work to bring them together. Both tried to live apart for ages when they should have been friends and lived together. The conflict is not yet over. This guild is started to bring them together. It means the practical alliance of the Protestant Episcopal church of this diocese with the University of Michigan. We see in the University the best system of education that can be adopted. We believe in this system. We recognize what Michigan is doing for learning. We look around and see the vast multitude of foreigners that are regularly being landed on American shores. Some of them come here to be educated. So we have erected this hall, that they may learn of His love and His teachings. We come here to testify our interest in the University because we believe in the methods pursued here. We approve of the surroundings and the condition of things. Here man is to be educated, not for a lifetime but for eternity. We come here to be educated, and not to educate the University. We believe our sons and daughters have great advantage here and we insist that they shall have true religion with them, for we believe that religion has an indisputable part to perform, and without it education is not complete. For these reasons we come here believing that each will aid the other and that the high moral character of the University will be further advanced, and that an organized religious institution will be a benefit to it. Religion here shall not only add to the natural but to the eternal, and our young shall be taught its noble teachings.

This is the headquarters of our church work here. Here our venerable but ever young church is to speak to the minds of the students. In this hall is where our lectures will be given and where the word of God will be proclaimed. In the room below will be a library of unique selection. There will be kept a record of what is being done by the world over.

The Bishop then spoke of the building, a description of which was given in THE REGISTER at the time the building was commenced, the parlors, gymnasium, the different courses of lectures, etc.

This hall is now under the control of the students themselves and their energies must now be brought to bear to make it a success. Upon them depends its future success. Every student is an active member and every professor is a member ex-officio.

After another hymn the Bishop read letters of regret from Rev. George D. Gillispie, D. D., Bishop of Western Michigan, who was unable to be present, and one from President Angell, who was to respond to the address, but was detained in Providence on account of the illness and death of a brother-in-law. Prof. H. S. Frieze, however, responded in behalf of the University, to the Bishop's address, in an able and scholarly manner.

U. S. District Judge Hammond, of Tennessee, was introduced, who made a few remarks, speaking in very high terms of the University and of the Guild.

After another hymn, prayer and benediction, the exercises closed, and all repaired to the parlors below where the reception was held.

Hobart Guild Hall is a very neat and substantial edifice, its dimensions are 49x69 feet and about 70 feet high, built of brick with stone trimmings. The inside of the building is finished in Norway pine, with a hard oil finish, excepting the floors which are of oak. The first floor of the hall is divided into several rooms, which are designated as a library, reading room, ladies' parlor, students' parlor, dining hall, pantry, kitchen, etc., the floors being covered with Brussels carpet. The furniture in these rooms is all made of oak of antique design. On the upper floor is the hall where the lectures will be delivered. In the basement is a bowling alley and a complete parlor gymnasium, where the boys can devote their spare moments to physical exercise. There is no smoking room or billiard room in the building, as is supposed by some, and as was reported in the Detroit papers. The regulations of the Guild also prohibit dancing, the object of the building being entirely in the line of religious and intellectual culture.

Semi-Centennial Celebration of the University.

The University authorities have issued the following circular of information relative to the coming semi-centennial celebration of the institution:

To graduates and former students of the University: In connection with the exercises of commencement week, June 26-30, 1887, the University of Michigan will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its organization. The programme of the proposed celebration is as follows:

Sunday, June 26th: An address by Professor Henry S. Frieze, LL. D., upon "The Relation of State Universities to Religion." (This address will take the place of the usual baccalaureate sermon.)

Monday and Tuesday, June 27th and 28th: Class-day exercises in the various departments. Class reunions. The secretaries of the various classes which contemplate a reunion are requested to communicate as soon as possible with Prof. E. L. Walter, chairman of the senate committee on entertainment and hospitality.

Wednesday, June 29th: An address by Hon. Austin Blair, on behalf of the board of regents; also an address by Prof. J. M. B. Sill, principal of the state Normal school, on behalf of the state teachers' association. These addresses to take place in the forenoon.

Wednesday, June 29th, afternoon: Addresses before the various societies of alumni, as follows:

Department of literature, science and the arts, by Hon. Thomas W. Palmer, U. S. senator from Michigan.

Department of medicine and surgery, by Dr. W. H. Daly, of Pittsburg, Pa.

Department of law, by Hon. Samuel F. Miller, justice of the U. S. supreme court.

Homoeopathic medical college, by Hon. John W. Coolidge, of Soranton, Pa.

School of pharmacy, by Fred F. Prentice, class of '72, president of the Wisconsin pharmaceutical association.

College of dental surgery, the speaker has not yet been announced.

Wednesday, June 29th, evening: Mendelssohn's Oratorio of El Jah, given by the University's oratorio choir. Tickets to this entertainment will be sold at fifty cents each. After the concert a reception will be tendered to the graduates, former students and friends of the University by the University senate.

Thursday, June 30th, forenoon: Exercises of the forty-third annual commencement. Commemoration address will be given by President Angell. Addresses from representatives of other universities and colleges will follow.

Thursday, June 30th, afternoon: Commencement banquet. The banquet will be served in the University chapel, immediately after the commencement exercises. Admission to the banquet room will be by tickets, costing one dollar each. These tickets will be offered for purchase to graduates of the University and to persons formerly connected with classes that have graduated, but not (to undergraduates or) to members of the class of 1887. Not more than one ticket will be sold to one individual. It would be deemed a favor by the University authorities if, as far as possible, all persons who propose to partake of the banquet would purchase their tickets in advance of commencement day, by remittance to Prof. W. H. Pettee, chairman of senate committee on banquet. Tickets not sent out by mail, but will be held subject to the personal requisition of the purchaser. Tickets not called for by 12 o'clock noon, of commencement day, may be resold, in which case the money of the original purchaser will be refunded.

Former students of the University who attend the semi-centennial celebration are requested to call as early as convenient in commencement week at the rooms of the senate committee on registration, in University hall. Here they will be provided with the University colors, with special programmes of the celebration, and with desired information generally.

A committee of the senate, of which Prof. C. E. Greene is chairman, is at present engaged in negotiations with a view to securing special rates upon the railroads for persons desirous of attending the celebration. Up to date no arrangements of this kind have been perfected. Should special rates be hereafter secured, as it is hoped will be the case, full information upon the subject will be furnished by mail to those who may desire it. The special circular relating to transportation will be ready June 1st, but will be sent out only upon request of persons interested.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Isaac Crawford is in Detroit.

O. E. Jones, of Milan, was in town this week.

W. B. Chamberlain, formerly city editor of THE REGISTER, now on the Minneapolis Tribune, is the proud father of a bouncing baby girl.

Miss Maggie Donovan, who left here a month ago to visit her brother in Kansas City, is now at Excelsior Springs, Mo., with a party of friends.

David St. Clair, of California, who will be remembered by our older citizens as a resident of Ann Arbor back before the '50's, was in the city a few days the past week renewing old acquaintances.

Fred S. Hubbard, Judge Cooley's private secretary during his management of the Wabash, started for Washington, last Saturday, where he will be similarly engaged on the inter-state commerce commission.

Fred W. Maynard, of Grand Rapids, a former Ann Arbor boy, was called here last Friday to attend the serious illness of his mother on Division st. He favored THE REGISTER with a pleasant call.

Prof. McLouth and wife, well known to many of our readers, were in the city, Tuesday, the guests of A. M. Doty. They were on their way to Dakota where the professor has accepted the presidency of the agricultural college of that territory.

George Johnson left Monday morning for his home in Windsor, Ont., where he will recuperate for a while. "Barney," as he was familiarly called, leaves a host of warm friends in Ann Arbor who unite in wishing him success wherever he locates.

The Glee Club's Concert.

The concert given last Thursday evening, in University Hall, by the glee club, was a most decided success. An audience of about six hundred and fifty were assembled when the club marched on the stage, and seldom was an audience more enthusiastic than the one which greeted them on that occasion. Many of the numbers were quite familiar, but they were sung in such an artistic manner that they were highly appreciated by the most critical; besides there were several pieces rendered which were entirely new to an Ann Arbor audience. Which particular one was received with the most favor would be hard to say. As novel a number as any on the programme, and one which received its full share of applause, was the one sung through a most strangely constructed instrument called the "Cazzo." The whistling of Mr. Clark, while not new to some, was received in a manner highly complimentary to that gentleman, each of the numbers being repeatedly encored. Pittman's sweet and mellow voice was highly appreciated by the audience, and won for him additional laurels, his song with the club accompaniment, was one of the pleasing features of the entertainment. The chair drill was very fine.

UNIVERSITY MATTERS.

Politically the board of regents is a tie. The junior medics have formed a base ball nine.

Dr. Vaughan has commenced lecturing to the laws.

Prof. Langley has a new assistant in the person of Mr. Mitchell.

Judge Joslyn has begun examining laws for admission to the bar.

The sophomores will hold a social at Hangsterfer's, Friday evening.

The Argonaut suggests that the students organize a banjo club.

A public exhibition will be given at the gymnasium, Friday evening.

The glee club are planning a trip to Ypsilanti, Detroit and Jackson.

Illness has detained Prof. Griffin at his home in Detroit, ever since election.

Prof. Hutchins has been selected by the seniors to deliver the last lecture of the year.

The Webster society will hereafter meet Saturday evenings, instead of Thursday evenings.

President Angell had the title of LL. D. conferred on him by Columbia College, last week.

The engineers will leave for Leland, Michigan, about May 1st, where they will spend six weeks.

President Angell attended the centennial anniversary celebration of Columbia college, last week.

The National School of Elocution and Oratory will hold a six week's term in this city, the coming summer.

The Webster and Jeffersonian societies will give a public exhibition at University Hall, Friday evening, May 6th.

M. J. Keyer, of the firm of Swathel, Keyer & Peterson, left this morning for Portland, Maine, on business.

A marble bust of James McMillen has just been completed in Detroit, and will be presented to the University.

The sophomore class will swing out in a few days with a new style of Hazel cane, purchased of A. L. Noble.

The base ball association will hold a meeting in Room A, Saturday morning to talk over the interests of the club.

Messrs. Forman and Wilder, of Princeton, both sons of missionaries in India, lead the S. C. A. exercises Sunday morning.

Gov. Luce has re-appointed Mrs. Judge Cooley a member of the board of control of the Industrial Home for Girls at Adrian.

A. K. Jennings, of the law department, will address the temperance meeting at Croppsey's hall Sunday afternoon, three o'clock sharp.

The base ball team will play the University of Wisconsin club, in Milwaukee, Decoration day, and at Racine and Beloit on the following days.

Dr. Vaughan has again been honored. This time by being tendered the position of health officer of Detroit. He declined the proffered position.

The University Independents went over to Ypsilanti, last Saturday, and "did up" a club in that city 27 to 5. A return game will be played in this city Saturday.

Dr. Vaughan expects to get a couple of monkeys, as soon as the weather gets warmer, upon which he will study what effect sudden changes of the temperature has on the system.

Fred W. Stevens, secretary of class of '86, has issued circulars to members of the class, asking for a brief biography which will doubtless be printed before their first reunion, which is to be held here in June.

D. J. Christopher enjoys a good horse back ride and to satisfy his falling in that respect frequently hires a horse and starts out to explore the country for miles around. Last Sunday afternoon he started out on one of his trips and coming up to a creek, near Geddes, where the bridge had been washed away, undertook to ford it. When in about the middle of the stream the horse mired and Mr. Christopher was compelled to alight and swim to shore. Assistance was at once secured and the horse rescued from what soon promised to be a watery grave. Mr. Christopher declares that hereafter he will ford no more streams.

THE NEW COUNCIL.

It Met last Friday Evening and Organized—Good Work Promised.

The new council met last Friday evening and organized with Mayor Smith in the chair.

Mayor Smith made a few remarks, before the business of the meeting commenced, calling the attention of the council to the wants of the city, and the care and wisdom which they should exercise in the expenditure of finances.

Finance—Ald. Swift, Wines and Seabolt.

General Fund—Ald. Allmendinger, Sutherland and Hammond.

Streets—Ald. Kearns, Sutherland, Herz, Swift, Hammond and Wines.

Sidewalk—Ald. Herz, Allmendinger, Neithamer, Ware and Wines.

Fire Department—Ald. Neithamer, Sutherland and Seabolt.

Police—Ald. Ware and Allmendinger and the Recorder.

License—The Mayor, Recorder and Ald. Martin.

Parks—Ald. Wines, Herz and Hammond.

On motion the council then proceeded to the election of city officers, which resulted in the selection of the following gentlemen for the various offices:

Marshal—Fred Siple.

Treasurer—Albert Sorg.

City Attorney—E. D. Kinney.

City Physician—G. C. Darling, M. D.

Board of Health—Mrs. Breakey and Sullivan and Jerome Freeman.

Ald. Wines offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the City Marshal is hereby instructed that this council expect that he will enforce all laws and ordinances in regard to the closing of saloons at unlawful hours and that all places of business shall be closed on Sunday, except such as are allowed to remain open under the laws of the state and ordinances of this city.

Ald. Wines offered a resolution that the saloons be closed at ten o'clock p. m., local time, which brought out an animated discussion. Ald. Wines and Allmendinger championed the resolution and Ald. Swift brought his eloquence to bear in its opposition. When the yeas and nays were called the resolution was lost.

The time was then fixed at ten o'clock p. m., standard time, as the hour when they should be closed.

The attorney for the parties who lost the ferret was again present and addressed the council in behalf of his client's claim. The Mayor appointed the City Attorney, Ald. Kearns, Ware and Wines a committee to investigate the matter to report at the next meeting.

A petition was presented, signed by a number of tax-payers, asking to have Fifth-st, between Pontiac and Summit-sts graded. Referred to street committee.

Several petitions were presented asking for new sidewalks, all of which were referred to the sidewalk committee.

The sum of $24.87 was transferred from the contingent fund to the cemetery fund.

On motion the Recorder was instructed to request bids from the city banks, on the city funds on same basis as last year.

The matter of transforming the old cemetery into a park was referred to the city attorney to report at his earliest convenience.

The sum of $800 was borrowed from the contingent fund and placed to the credit of the general street fund, to be paid back, February 1, 1888.

A committee was appointed to investigate the condition of the bridge on west Third-st, to report at their earliest convenience.

The resignation of Ald. Steere again came up and received a considerable discussion. The city attorney gave it as his opinion that at the time of election there was no vacancy in the Sixth ward, inasmuch as Mr. Steere had not filed his written resignation. His resignation was finally accepted and the Sixth ward will get along with one alderman.

The city attorney was instructed to draw up an amendment to the charter providing for filling vacancies on the board, and present it to Representative Manly to get through the legislature.

Michigan Crop Report for April.

For this report returns have been received from 1,009 correspondents, representing 747 townships. Six hundred and sixty-four of these are from 432 townships in the southern four tiers of counties; and 182 reports are from 163 townships in the central counties.

Correspondents very generally agree that it is yet too early to actually report upon the condition of wheat. The weather during March was extremely unfavorable, and warrants the expectation that the crop has suffered severely. The fields look "bare and brown." Correspondents are yet hopeful, however, that the root is not seriously injured. As usual wheat on clay and undrained lands and high knolls, has suffered most.

Reports have been received of the quantity of wheat marketed by farmers during the month of March at 218 elevators and mills. Of these 181 are in the southern four tiers of counties, which is 42 per cent, and 29 are in the fifth and sixth tiers of counties, which is 31 per cent. of the whole number in these sections respectively. The total number of bushels reported marketed is 898,254, of which 275,420 bushels were marketed in the first or southern tier of counties; 217,200 bushels in the second tier; 107,210 bushels in the third tier; 163,308 bushels in the fourth tier; 37,757 bushels in the fifth and sixth tiers; and 2,350 bushels in the northern counties. At 31 elevators and mills, or 17 per cent. of the whole number from which reports have been received, there was no wheat marketed during the month.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in August, September, October, November, December, January, February and March is 10,788,001 or about 41 per cent. of the crop of 1886. The number of bushels reported marketed in the same months in 1885 and 1886 was 12,024,524, or 39 per cent. of the crop of 1885. For these months in 1885-6 reports were received from about 45 per cent. and in 1886-7 from about 51 per cent. of the elevators and mills in the southern four tiers of counties.

The condition of crops in Washtenaw county is thus described:

Wheat and clover have suffered very much during February and March, by freezing and thawing. The ground has been bare most of the time during March, still there is a large amount of wheat alive. Cannot report on apples and peaches. Wheat and clover are badly heaved. Warm rain will restore them greatly. The dry weather killed all clover seeded last year. The clover seeding for 1886 was almost a total failure on account of the summer drouth. Has not thawed enough to tell yet how badly wheat is killed. Wheat needs rain in my section of the town. If we have warm rains next month will have fair wheat crop. All wheat that had a good top last fall looks well. Do not think any wheat will be plowed up. Some pieces are damaged by insects.

A Woman's Response.

To the Editor:

Since Mr. Manly has seen fit to "vote down" the women suffrage bill it is evident that he is not our representative, at least he is not mine. "His wife" may be the type of woman or "lady" he most admires, since he will not admit that ladies want the right of suffrage and that the "women who ask for it, do not know what a home is," that "they are not wives or mothers," and he has a right to quote her as a sensible woman, to put her trust in the wisdom and good management of her husband in the management of state affairs. But how is it with widows and single women who have no males to represent the family? Women, property owners, who are unjustly taxed without having a word of influence in choosing our public officers or of regulating or prohibiting the evils of the liquor traffic, who regard liquor and liquor dealers as the enemies of home, women who are working and praying for the protection and salvation of their sons and husbands, whose earnings are all squandered in dissipation while she provides a meagre support for the family in toil at the washtub. And they, (the men) can walk to the polls or be dragged there because they are too unsteady to walk, and deposit their votes for tyrannical rulers, for exorbitant taxes, or, in the interest of saloon keepers!

Mr. Manly, is it manly to stand upon the side of wrong and oppression? Is it right to tell women who ask protection and justice at the hands of her brother man that their "place is at home?" That women who sign the bills asking for the right of franchise that "they do not know what a home is, that they are not wives and mothers." How dare you thus insult the noble women of the land who are striving to preserve the home from degradation and misery. Charles Manly voted against submitting the question to the people. He voted against the amendment. Who, since he favors the evil of intemperance, has made him judge of woman's motive and women's worth, when having despaired of all hope of justice she has asked for the ballot to defend her rights, to her home, her husband and children? I know a mother who is laboring with all her strength to save her home and support her family, she is a tax payer and her little home is groaning under a mortgage at a high rate of interest, while her son, who owns nothing because his earnings have all been squandered in dissipation, does the voting for the family! Nor is this a solitary instance.

If for no other reason, under heaven, women should have the right to wield her influence on the side of temperance, order and peace, which seems so difficult of attainment if left solely in the hands of men. Mr. Manly is very ready to tell people what they are and what they are not, who choose to differ with him in opinion. He told a farmer, a brother senator, who opposed a too lavish expenditure of public money, that "he was no farmer, that if he was he would be at home minding his own business," etc., etc. What will become of everybody, what will become of Michigan when Mr. Manly is out of a place? With all due respect and honor for him as a soldier, who periled life and limb in behalf of liberty, I cannot believe he is a friend of human freedom in the stand he takes upon this question. Mrs. N. H. Frazar.

Don't Agree with Capt. Manly.

To the Editor:

With your permission and on behalf of the women who want to vote, I wish to say a few words about the report of Representative Manly's speech. He asks: "Who are the women who want to vote?" He does not believe the ladies want to. The latest report from Topeka, Kansas, says: "A very large majority of the votes cast were by the refined and cultured ladies of the city."

"Do our wives and daughters want to vote? No; the women who sign these petitions and urge this bill do not know what a home is. They are not wives or mothers." I could cite a number of personal acquaintances to show the falsity of that statement. The most eminent woman suffragists are wives and mothers, or have been. Among others may be mentioned Lucy Stone, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Julia Ward Howe, Matrig Beecher Osoli and Lucretia Mott.

women—some have a natural faculty for making home life pleasant, and some have, any more than all men have a faculty for one kind of business.

If home is the place for women, why is Florence Nightingale so honored? Certainly not because she staid at home.

"Such a law would disrupt the homes." It is hard to understand why it should in Michigan, while it has not in Wyoming or England. Dr. T. H. Hayford of the Laramie City Sentinel says: "I have never known a case of domestic infelicity growing out of it" (municipal suffrage). There are similar reports from all parts of Wyoming. It is quite evident that, if domestic infelicity does not result from municipal suffrage, divorces will not for they are the result of domestic infelicity.

"We do not want our wives out all night trying to nominate some man." But, we do not care how long they are out hunting up a drunken husband or son. If we did we would have given them a chance to vote on the amendment. The women in Wyoming do not generally go to caucuses, political managers, however, know that they must nominate their best man, if they secure the votes of the women.

A Mother's View.

To the Editor:

Representative Manly's speech in the house contains a sweeping assertion that would hardly bear investigation. He asks, "Who are the women who ask for suffrage?" We answer such women as Mary A. Livermore, Julia Ward Howe, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton, the peers, if not the superiors of Mr. Manly in intellect and the moral grandeur of their reputations; and thousands of others, too, ladies in the estimation of gentlemen. But perhaps some of these thousands might hesitate to acknowledge it if encumbered with a husband whose opinions were so pronounced. It is not surprising that the wife should advise voting down the measure. In the interests of domestic peace, her reply was natural and wise. But happily her case is not a representative one. There are ladies, even in Ann Arbor, by general consent also, the peers of Mr. Manly, whose husbands do not rule with such a rod of iron and who are happily mated, too. WIFE AND MOTHER.

LITERARY NOTES.

The May Popular Science Monthly will have a timely article on "The Influence of Snow Masses on Climate," from the pen of the eminent Russian meteorologist Woeikoff.

An interesting description of the curious marriage customs and wedding incidents of the Transylvanian Saxons, will appear among the lighter attractions of the Popular Science Monthly for May.

Professor Edmund J. James, of the University of Pennsylvania, will have in the May Popular Science Monthly a review of the recent progress of the movement for substituting the more live and practical studies of Nature and modern literature for compulsory Greek in our college and university courses.

The April Pansy embraces in its contents stories, poems, sketches historical and biographical, teeming with present truths and pulsing with life adapted to the needs of its every reader. The Easter poem, as well as the paper on "Some Remarkable Women," are of importance and interest. The former as adapted for a recitation, and the latter being a sketch of Frances E. Willard, with a good portrait. Illustrated throughout. $1.00 a year. Boston: D. Lothrop Company.

"Civil war in Kansas," "Jefferson Davis on rebellion," and "The convention of '59" are the sub-topics of the May installment of Messrs. Nicolay and Hay's "Abraham Lincoln: A History," in the Century. Lincoln's prominent part in the formation of the republican party is dwelt upon and extracts from his speeches at this time are given. Among the illustrations are portraits of Governors Sherman, Millard Fillmore, John C. Fremont and others.

The Magazine of Art for May.

The Magazine of Art for May has for its frontispiece an etching after Jules Worm's painting, "Under the Chasm." The episode the artist has chosen to depict is thoroughly Spanish in its treatment, but all mankind can appreciate the situation, no matter what their nationality. The opening article has the late Randolph Caldecott for its subject and it is illustrated with engravings from several of his most characteristic pictures. Caldecott was a genius in the representation of English hunting scenes and he has left no successor. He began his life as a bank clerk, but his talent did not long lie buried behind a desk. A review of M. Pion's work on "Leone Leoni and Pompeo Leoni" with engravings from their sculptures follows this and between it and the third paper on "Some Treasures of the National Gallery" is a poem by Bennet Rodd. Copious art notes close the number and place the reader en contrant with the art news of the world.—Cassell & Company, 35 cent per No., $3.50 a year in advance.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

MICHIGAN LAW MAKERS

The Coldwater School—The Liquor
Traffic—Capt. Manly's Text Book
Bill—Woman's Suffrage—Etc.

The charges against the Coldwater school if they effected nothing else here at least induced some lively debate, which, however, was conducted without acrimony. Senator Hubbell, the omnipresent, expressed a belief that the senate made a great mistake in refusing to investigate the charges against the management of the school. The board excluded the public press, the natural outcome of which would be a stirring up of dry bones by the state press. "They will charge," said the senator, "there is something rotten about the school. There have been telegrams received here asking that this investigation be hushed up. Now, the best way to disarm the press is by giving them the truth." Senator Babcock sided Senator Hubbell. Both men stood up for full, open and fair investigations. Senator Westgate championed the other side, and Senators Sharp, Palmer and Gorman assisted him in his endeavor to stop the stench by concealing it from public ken. It is pretty certain there will be no legislative investigation.

The liquor traffic still holds the boards as a leading attraction, but no decision has been reached. There are too many diverse opinions to permit of a speedy settlement, though it is quite certain that out of the existing chaos of ideas some practicable plan will be evolved for the better regulation of the traffic. I often wonder, and I expect others do as well, why so much time and attention is given to formulating new laws and so little to providing efficient machinery for giving the law force and effect. It will matter little whether the coming liquor law be high license, local option or prohibition, if as feebly administered as the present law has been.

Capt. Manly's text book bill is dead and buried. The obsequies were very impressive. Capt. Manly labored hard, early and late to keep the vital spark chained to the body of his bill, but it flew up the flame in flight. It was his hobby, this text book bill. All day long it absorbed his thought; when he laid him down at night to woo "the nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," it was present in his mind; when wrapped in the arms of Morpheus he would roll over and murmur, "it's bright smile haunts me still," and in his waking moments, when young Aurora bounced the drowsy god, and his mind, tired of its visionary picnic in the Olympian heights of fame, reverted to the material world below, the very first number on the bill of fare was the text book bill. Now he is rid of it, and he feels better. He takes his defeat philosophically, and, as he is a good fellow generally, no one attempts to stir up the old man Adam in his bosom.

The house public lands committee are considering Mr. Hosford's bill to carry out the provision of the constitution providing that corporations shall not hold land more than 10 years. According to the provisions of the bill the lands unused at the end of the ten years are to be sold at auction by the state. Of course the railroads are kicking like fury, and a variety of eminent railroad attorneys are doing their level best to defeat the bill. Mr. Hosford says it is hard to obtain statistics concerning the land so held, but he found 3,000,000 acres worth about $20,000,000. The arguments against the bill are that the railroads at least have not violated the constitution, which contemplates only corporations that have held their land from market, and that forcing so much land on sale would be disastrous to values.

But this matter is not all the railroad fellows have to keep them busy at Lansing. The house committee reported favorably on bills to amend the law relative to automatic car couplers; providing for fire extinguishers on all passenger trains; requiring all car draw-heads to be placed at uniform height from the rails; to provide for damages by corporations for loss of life by reason of carelessness or neglect of the corporation or their employees; to amend the act relative to railroad fences; and to provide for the better protection of the lives of passengers and employees. Then there is the two cents per mile fare scheme, and various others, which are making the railroad people "hump themselves." Representative Baumgardner's bill "to prohibit the use of stoves in passenger cars," was reported adversely, but was ordered printed and placed on the general order.

Both houses have passed a bill that will greatly aid members in keeping on the right side of their constituents. It amends the bill relative to the publication and distribution of the Legislative Manual so as to take 700 of the 900 now placed on sale by the secretary of state and allow them to be distributed by the legislature. They also amended the resolution for 1,500 additional copies so as to place them, too, in the hands of the legislature, thus giving the members 2,200 more copies than usual with which to satisfy the demands of those of their constituents who desire this really valuable book.

Up to the present the governor and the members have dwelt together in unity, but now the black bird of ill-omen is perched on the capitol dome. The governor vetoed the Marine City charter bill, for reasons doubtless that appeared to him just and proper, and the senate went to work and passed the bill over his veto. The house however, is disposed to go ahead more cautiously. When the bill reached that body it was tabled and a committee of five ordered to go to Marine City and look up the facts and report to the house before further action is taken on the bill. The committee will be appointed and the search for bottom facts eventuate at once.

And I notice the state papers are not entirely satisfied with the governor's other veto—that knocking out the bill providing for the publication of the proceedings of boards of supervisors in county papers. The governor is keeping a scrap book containing the comments of the state press on his veto of this bill.

Senator "Jock" Babcock did a good thing when he introduced a resolution instructing the state printers to print from time to time, in the order of their approval by the governor, all acts of the present legislature of a public nature which are ordered to take immediate effect, and insert the same in the Legislative Journal in the form of a supplemental sheet, and that the secretary of state be required to furnish the state printers with certified copies of such acts. The resolution was adopted.

The senate refused to pass Senator Hubbell's bill providing for cumulative voting for representatives in districts where there are more than two, by a vote of yeas 11, nays 16. Senator O'Reilly declared himself decidedly opposed to allowing 1,000 voters in Detroit to combine and cast 7,000 votes for any one candidate. The bill is an exact counterpart of one now in force in Illinois, where it is said to give excellent satisfaction. It was reconsidered and tabled.

The constitutional provision limiting the introduction of bills to the first fifty days of a session was declared null and void. The house dodged this provision by taking a bill requiring patent right deeds to be registered in each county before being offered for sale, and getting the bill in relation to fire ordinances in Inlay City reported as a substitute, and then passing the substitute without a single "no" vote.

After tossing up and down and back and forth Mr. Watson's woman suffrage bill the house finally slugged it to death by a vote of 50 to 33. The ladies and Mr. Watson are profoundly grieved. However, Mr. W. was made the recipient of a handsome floral tribute from the ladies at Greenville.

The bill making an appropriation for the deaf and dumb school has passed the house. For 1887 $77,981 was allowed; for 1888 $52,500. Mac.

LANSING, April 19, 1887.

The Ladies' Battle.

Friday evening last, at the Grand opera house, was presented for the first time in this city, Léonov's three act comedy, entitled the "Ladies' Battle," by the University dramatic club. Its preparation by the club has been in rehearsal some four months. Those taking part in its presentation were well up in their special assignments. No awkward pauses kept the audience waiting as is so often the case with amateur clubs. Miss Winchell, as the Countess, showed some trepidation on facing the audience in the beginning of the first act, as did also the other members, but it was only temporary, soon wearing off and gaining confidence, she was perfectly self-possessed throughout the remainder of the evening. But timidity at first is no discredit, it is human, especially with those who do not continually appear before the foot lights, less noticeable with this club than many traveling amateur companies and but to a very keen observer hardly noticeable here. At the dropping of the curtain, closing the first act in which Miss Winchell and Mr. Mehlhop were the principal characters, the applause was so hearty and prolonged that the two were summoned before the curtain and bowed their acknowledgements of the audience's appreciation. At the end of the second act the encore was repeated when the five principal characters appeared. The interest increased until the curtain dropped upon the terminating act in a round of applause. The acting by each individual member was excellent. The club not only did themselves credit but maintained the high standard of all work emanating from the University.

During the performance the Chequamegon orchestra rendered some excellent music which was well received.

The company was not greeted with as large an audience as they deserved. We believe we are safe in saying that aside from the college students, including both sexes, there were not to exceed one hundred other people, or properly speaking, citizens of Ann Arbor. Just why this is so, not only of this entertainment, but others preceding it, we are at a loss to account, unless it is that our city has this winter been surfeited with entertainments, or that there are so many given by and through the name of the University that citizens become disinterested, consider them all mediocre, have not the time to attend, the times are too close, etc. However, we hope the club will not weary in well-doing and that they will furnish another entertainment 'ere long.

Let's Try For It. Why not?

Mr. Editor: While in Ypsilanti a few days since, one of the business men of the town informed me that they had strong hopes of securing the Pingree & Smith shoe manufactory, when it is rebuilt. The day after the fire the citizens of Ypsilanti sent a delegation to Detroit to confer with Messrs. Pingree & Smith. They were favorably received and given some encouragement. Now, Mr. Editor, why can not Ann Arbor secure this large manufactory establishment, and thereby not only increase her population several hundred, but secure permanently for this place an enterprise that would each year bring to the town a large amount of money for distribution among our merchants and business men? Ann Arbor certainly has every advantage over any place near Detroit, and the prize is well worth securing. Ann Arbor could well afford to offer very liberal inducements for the Pingree & Smith shoe manufactory, as it will probably be a long time before an opportunity is again offered to secure such an immense manufacturing enterprise.

J. K. Emmet at the Opera House, Saturday Evening.

Fritz the first, the original Fritz, whose laughing face, sunny disposition and love for the little ones made him so welcome to the stage in many cities, made his first bow to a Boston audience last evening. It was Emmet, of course, who portrayed that interesting, decidedly "magnetic" personage of the world beyond the foot-lights. The German comedian, greeted with friendliness in those offshoots of "Fritz, Our Cousin German," that from time to time he has presented in this city, makes a much better impression in the original "Dutch" piece that gave him such wide popularity.

The great assemblage at the Boston last evening was there to see and hear Emmet. The audience was abundantly satisfied to find the piece altogether the best vehicle yet presented in this city for the display of his varied talents. All the star's songs, new and old, were heartily applauded. "Schneider, How You Vas," in which the tiniest of tots essayed to dance with Fritz, met with a reception particularly cordial. As in all the Emmet pieces children took a pleasant part in the entertainment. There was a dog, too, and a noble one—Jura—whose affection for his master is certainly not assumed.

Mr. Emmet himself received with the greatest of cordiality, could hardly have asked for a friendlier or a larger audience. He is supported by a good company, and Fritz is staged with a good deal of ease. The star's engagement is likely to be marked by thronged houses all the week at the Boston.—Boston Daily Globe.

The young people's christian association will give a social at the home of Professor Perry, tomorrow evening. All interested in the work are cordially invited.

The Delta Epsilon literary society has been having a little trouble concerning the conduct of some of its members, at the last meeting. It is very certain that no great good can come out of a society whose members come to the meeting simply for the purpose of meeting the opposite sex, and having a good time, instead of learning.

Joseph's famous "Hungarian" concerto has, we believe, never been played entire here before. Mr. Listemann's performance was a positive triumph, and was rewarded, as it should have been, by a perfect ovation. To say that he made light of all the terrible difficulties of his part would imply that a man of Mr. Listemann's fierce earnestness of purpose could be conceived of as making light of anything. But he faced them manfully and overcame them with unerring certainty and apparent ease. We can say heartily that neither Mr. Listemann's astounding technique, nor his sustained power and energetic vigor of style, have ever shown themselves in quite so admirable a light. Mr. Listemann plays with that fiery earnestness which is born of enthusiasm and conviction; his power of commanding the listener's attention and interest through so long and intricate a composition bespeaks not only intrinsic personal magnetism, but a thorough and devoted intellectual study of his task. His performance of Joseph's concerto must be called phenomenal; such manifestations of artistic power are "events" in any musical season.—Boston Transcript. By Wm. Aphor.

COUNTY NEWS.

EVENTS AT YPSILANTI.

A Sad Accident—An Arson Case—Burglary—New M. C. Track—Social Happenings.

Mrs. Elmer Cushman, of Delhi Mills, spent Sunday at her uncle's, Capt. Allen. C. H. Cady has moved to the house owned by John Boyce, opposite the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Alban are house-keeping in the Compton house, corner Ellis and Hamilton-sts.

Mrs. Dr. Barton was called to her old home in Ohio, Monday evening, by the sudden death of her father.

Mrs. A. T. Woodford, of Chicago, who has been visiting friends here for the past three months, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coe have broken up housekeeping and taken board and rooms at Mrs. Alexander's near Mr. Coe's Commercial office.

John Weston who has been in the employ of Mack & Mack for sometime past, has had to give up his place, being quite ill from overwork.

Rev. Cheney, of the Baptist church, has been rather indisposed of late and his pulpit was supplied by Profs. Putnam and Barbour last Sunday.

It is now thought that John Weston, of whom mention has already been made, is laboring under mental aberration from overwork. He has disappeared from the city and imagines himself a celebrated horse trainer.

The remains of Mrs. Helen Estabrook, a highly respected lady of East Saginaw, were brought here for interment yesterday. She was a daughter of Mrs. L. P. Beach, of this city, and a member of the first graduating class of the Normal. She was stricken with paralysis about three weeks ago, and her death is greatly lamented by her many friends.

For the past year the Michigan Central R. R. has been aching to get through the city with a track to Trenton, but property owners objected so strongly that the work seemed hopeless; however, patience, scheming and money has at last brought it about. Last Friday the rails were gotten down in any sort of shape and a car pushed over to Cornwell's mills before an injunction could be served and Sunday a large force of men were at work filling in and finishing the work.

Of late there have been many small burglaries committed which have at last been traced to a fine appearing young lad who has become so well versed in dime novel lore, as to have become, quite a bold, self-possessed burglar. His ambition lead him to force his way into stores where firearms were kept and to coolly appropriate them with a goodly supply of ammunition, but he has been found out. His father has settled the matter as far as money will settle it, but the lad has earned a bad reputation that will follow him all his life.

A sad and fatal accident happened on the fair grounds, Saturday. While Don, a seventeen years old son of Wm. B. Seymour, was watching the ball game, between the Ann Arbor boys and Normalites, a bat accidentally flew from the hands of one of the players, striking Don on the forehead, producing a fracture of the skull, from which he died Monday morning, after intense suffering. The funeral was held at the Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon. This is a sad experience for Mr. and Mrs. Seymour and they have the earnest sympathy of all in their trouble.

We made mention sometime ago that some interesting facts concerning the burning of Michael Casey's house, last April would soon be brought to light. The alleged facts have been unearthed by Nelson Booth who affirms that Louis Laffin, former head man in the German Barley business, hired a young man named Ben Shelmore to set fire to Casey's old shanty which Laffin did not consider as being sufficiently picturesque to stand in such close proximity to his own pleasant home. At the preliminary examination one of the principal witnesses was Ed. Hinkley, who was formerly in Laffin's employ and who asserts to having overheard the plans for burning the house. Laffin denies the charges and holds that it's a huge blackmailing scheme. The final examination was placed for Monday, but for some reason was adjourned one week.

Webster.

Mrs. Cushman visited friends in Ypsilanti over Sunday.

Hattie, oldest daughter of George Phelps is dangerously ill with diphtheria. Some of the Congregationalists attended the conference of Congregational churches at Chelsea this week.

Reuben Queal has returned from Detroit where he has been treated for a cancer. He has discovered two more cancers that are now developing on his face.

The sudden death of Henry Sears last week was a terrible shock to this community. He died of heart disease. Henry was very highly esteemed by the large number of people who knew him. The Webster church was crowded to its utmost, Friday morning, by friends who wished to pay their last tribute to his memory.

COUNTY.

Dr. Sheldon, a Manchester dentist, has moved to Hillsdale.

Bridgewater is to have a fruit evaporator and canning factory.

M. Finn, of Bridgewater, is building an addition to his residence.

Rev. Hiram Elmer, formerly a Milan pastor, died in Minnesota, March 31st.

The ladies of St. Mary's church, in Milan, held a fair in the town hall last week.

The Baptist society of Milan, have engaged the Rev. Mr. Burton to fill their pulpit.

Henry Calhoun, Lyman Baldwin and E.

G. Carr, of Manchester, have gone to California to seek their fortunes.

The young ladies of the Center church, in Sharon, netted $19, election day, furnishing dinner for the voters.

A four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Haselschwardt, of Sharon, was severely hooked by a cow a few days ago.

The convention of the Monroe county W. C. T. U. will be held in Milan, April 20 and 21. An interesting time is anticipated.

The annual meeting of the Jackson Congregational conference was held in the Congregational church at Milan, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mischievous boys tore down a portion of the sheds around the M. E. church, at Manchester, a few evenings ago. There is trouble ahead.

The Catholic society of Manchester gave a very successful entertainment in Good-year's hall, last Tuesday evening. About $70 was netted.

Milan Odd Fellows have accepted an invitation to celebrate the 68th anniversary of the order in the United States at Toledo, where a new Old Fellows' temple will also be dedicated.

Manchester Enterprise: On a clothes line in a yard on City road in East Manchester, a few days ago, hung several dead chickens and a placard: "Poisoned by an old opium eater." The sight was a novel one and created some excitement in that section.

The common council of Manchester have appointed the following officers: Marshal, T. J. Besimer; attorney, A. F. Freeman; health officer, Dr. J. A. Lynch; fire wardens, N. Schmid and Mat D. Blosser; chief engineer, Wm. Burtless; pound master, H. L. Rose; night watchman and police, John Moran.

Manchester Enterprise: Mr. and Mrs. John Jaynes are in a pitiable plight. Mrs. J. has been sick and almost broken hearted on account of the loss of the sight of one of her eyes, and a few days ago the old gentleman had a nervous chill which utterly prostrated him. Their son Alf. and family are taking care of them.

Milan Leader: Babcock's hotel had a change of landlords, Wednesday. H. M. Dexter, the retiring landlord, has moved into the Gardner house near the school house, and will give his attention in the future to the manufacture of the spiral bed spring, and running a livery stable; Mr. Dexter was a good landlord, and leaves his successor a good patronage. Joseph Denison the new landlord, is a resident of Milan, and known to many of our readers; we wish him success.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHINGTON.
At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washington, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, on Wednesday, the twentieth day of April, in the year of one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.
Present, WILLIAM D. HARRIMAN, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Nancy Moore deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Isaac Dunn praying that a certain instrument now on file in this court purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be admitted to probate, and that he may be appointed executor thereof.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the sixteenth day of May next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devisees, legatees and heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the city of Ann Arbor, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Ann Arbor REGISTER, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

WILLIAM D. HARRIMAN, Judge of Probate.

UTTERLY DISCOURAGED
expresses the feeling of many victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and nervous or sick headache. Having tried numberless so-called remedies, and physicians of all schools, without relief, there seems to be no hope. Many such have a last resort tried Athlaphoras, and to their surprise and joy have found that it was a safe, sure and quick cure. Athlaphoras is not an experiment; thousands have been cured
by its use and they testify as to its value.

William Blair, train dispatcher of the D. G. H. & M. railroad, Detroit, Mich., says: "For about fifteen years I have been a constant sufferer from neuralgia,
many times unfitting me for my business
duties as well as making life a burden.
The strain on my nerves was so great that I nearly lost the use of one of my eyes.
I was suffering very much, and had never succeeded in getting anything that would give me but temporary relief, and that was of very short duration. The first bottle of Athlaphoras made a very decided change,
in fact I had some relief from a few doses.
I probably have used a dozen bottles, and it is six months since I had a severe attack. I keep the medicine on hand all the time; I have some at my office and some at home, so that in case I should need it I am well prepared. I have had times during my use of this medicine that my neuralgia would come on during my business hours, and by having the medicine close at hand a dose or two would drive the neuralgia away. For neuralgia Athlapho-ras is undoubtedly the best medicine,
and I think I ought to know, as I have during the many years that I have suffered had occasion to try about every thing in the line of medicines for this complaint."

Every druggist should keep Athlaphoras and Athlaphoras Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlapho-ras Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle
for Athlaphoras and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlaphoras Pills are unequalled.

AMALGAM OF RACES.

SPECULATIVE VIEW OF THE SO- LIDIFICATION OF THE RACES.

Humanity as it May Exist Some Tens of Thousands of Years Hence When All Weakness Shall Have Been Eliminated.

One of the subjects which excites the attention of thinkers is the probable outcome of the commingling of races throughout the world.
The result is, of course, purely a matter of speculation, as there are no data whatever from which may be deduced an exact conclusion. There are those who lean to the opinion that in the course of many centuries, all race distinction will disappear, and a human amalgam, homogeneous in its qualities, will take the place of the present interminable variety.

This country has more interest in this question than any other. It is an enormous reservoir into which are being poured streams from all the racial sources. The homo-genization on this continent, and here will be located the ultimate results of race admix-ture. What will be the nature of this composition? It is not a thing whose occurrence is so near that we have a personal interest in it; nevertheless, the inspirations of curiosity are such that we cannot help glancing into the remote future with the hope that we may get a glimpse of the product of the process of distillation. One may not see anything with precision at this distance, but the imagination may discover a condition of things which, if not exact, may at least be characterized by curious qualities.

THE FINAL SOLIDIFICATION.
The believers in the final solidification of the various races conclude, of course, that the distinctions now prevailing between white,
negro and Indian in this country will be obliterated. The processes of absorption will not only necessarily wipe out these three races as such, but they will include and dispose of the diverse nationalities which already,
in the presence of German, Irish, French, Scandinavian, Spanish, Italian and the like elements, form so large a portion of this country. If such a work shall be done, it will be one of the grandest ever undertaken by nature. Nothing in the labors even of the chemistry which has constructed universes
from a few simple gases would be the equal in magnitude and importance of this colossal effort.

If the teachings in regard to heredity are reliable, then we may be certain that in the final composition there will be no essential traits now in existence that will be wanting.
In a more attenuated form, but nevertheless existent and tangible, will be a strain of Yankee shrewdness, of British obstinacy, of Italian subtlety, of Indian craft, of African grossness, of German transcendentalism, of French suavity, with possibly a taint of the cannibal and something of the coarse gustatory tendencies of the Esquimaux. It is logical, in view of the teachings of modern science to conclude that the stronger of these qualities will prevail, and that while none of them will ever become extinct many will become merely rudimentary, modifying to a very limited degree the characteristics of the whole. The fittest will survive, and hence we may frame a guess as to the rough outlines of the compact result.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.
Grouping the more potent of the race qualities which will be likely to survive in a recognizable form, we may construct the man of the far future as one who has lost the hue of white which now dominates civilization. The blood of the African will darken the cheek of the coming man until there will come a time when the existence of races of whites will have passed into the regions of the legendary. His will not be the tint of the mulatto, but the result of the spreading on a white ground of a mixture, black, yellow, red, and other darksome hues, and which will be a rich bronze, equally removed from the repellent black and the effeminate pallor of the ruling races. Exposed to the desecat-ing influence of this climate, he will be thinner than the average man of the continent at this time, and will possess an endurance, a longevity, a healthfulness far above those of the present period. The extent of the life of this man will be far above the century, for in the evolution of qualities the more robust will survive.

He will very largely have increased the size and value of the human brain, and hence will occupy an immeasurably higher intellectual station. The political and social experiments and the mechanical achievements of a period like the present one will seem to him—as if they shall remain any record of what we have done—as crude and barbarous in the extreme. He will have mastered the most important secrets of nature, and, aided by this knowledge, will be able to wield
powers and command results which we now would ascribe as the especial property of omnipotence. He will have bridled the cyclone and put a harness on the earthquake and the storm. Containing in himself all the better qualities strained through a thousand centuries, with the evil, the weakness, of the present human nature eliminated he will be a god.—Chicago Times.

Mrs. Lincoln's Lilac Silk Dress.
A current story in Washington even yet is that at the funeral of Col. Baker Mrs. Abraham Lincoln wore a lilac silk dress with bonnet and gloves to match. She was much dis-fellowed at the time by the papers, and Washington society circles felt outraged. So much was said of it that ladies who wished her well
at last persuaded an intimate friend of Mrs.
Lincoln's to tell her of the impropriety. The friend went to her, barely worked up to the point of remonstrance.

Mrs. Lincoln met her in the vestibule, exclaiming: "I am so glad you have come. I am just as mad as I can be. Mrs. Crittenden has just been here to remonstrate with me for wearing my lilac suit to Col. Baker's funeral.
I wonder if the women of Washington expect me to muffle myself in mourning for every soldier killed in this great war."

The lady here said: "But, Mrs. Lincoln, do you not think black more suitable to wear
at a funeral, because there is a great war in the nation?"

"No, I don't. I want the women to mind their own business. I intend to wear what I please."—Portland Oregonian.

Chinese Quail in California.
Five hundred of the small Chinese quail
from the Swatow district have been imported and distributed in lots of 100 on the ranches of gentlemen interested in sporting.
They are not more than half the size of California quail and are somewhat smaller than New England quail. They are rapid flyers and it takes a good shot to bring them down.
—San Francisco Correspondence.

Tobacco in the Crimea.
The tobacco cultivation is rapidly progressing in the Crimea, where successful attempts have been made to acclimatize the best Turkish kinds of tobacco, which are also the least known in Russia, such as known under the names of Basma, Persiad, Oujoundjova and Yendje.—New Orleans Times Democrat.

AN AFFECTIONATE CAT.

A Maltese Thomas Which Shows Decid- edly Canine Traits of Fidelity.

It is universally held that the cat cannot experience sufficient affection for a person to develop the passion of jealousy, which every one knows is common enough in the canine race. I am prepared to produce at least one cat that will dispute this aspersion of its kind.
It is a superb Maltese thomas of the purest breed and bears the name of "Frisco," conferred upon it as a diminutive for San Francisco. It has been brought up from Kentucky by its present mistress, and has developed all the traits of fidelity common to the dog. It follows at its owner's heels about the house and even attempts to pursue her when she goes out. It watches for her return at the door, and after any prolonged absence exhibits sulkiness at what it evidently regards as unjustifiable neglect. The only period of the day or night at which it voluntarily
leaves her side is in the morning, when it scratches at the maid's door to wake her up, and fawns upon her for its breakfast. At all other times it avoids the girl and will permit
no fondling by her.

A few days ago a stray kitten wandered into the house and the women fed and fondled
it and permitted it the run of the place.
"Frisco" was frantic and gave it battle at once.
The kitten found the handsome basket in which "Frisco" sleeps on a sheepskin mat, and coolly took possession of it. The owner of the basket tormented the air with back fence lamentations. The interloper was reclaimed next day, much to the satisfaction of "Frisco,"
who had spent most of the time sitting at it or sulking in a dark corner, where he could watch it, growling incessantly. Since the fateful hour at which the kitten had slept in his basket he has refused to enter it. When his mistress puts him in he speedily escapes and hides himself. He follows her about as usual, but whenever she makes the usual approaches to him he utters a petulant mew
of protest. The cat is as wild with jealousy
as any woman ever was, and is perfectly feminine in the manifestations of the passion.

He is at present being fed on tenderloin steaks and broiled quail, in the hope that he will consent to make up and be friends again.
But he resents all advances, though he leaves
nothing of the quail but the bones.—Alfred Trumble in New York News.

A Paris Detective's Shrewdness.
It is so seldom that detectives in real life actually do anything very clever that it is worth while recording their achievements,
however slight, when they show some degree of ingenuity and devotion. The hero of this story is Detective Blusset. For two or three weeks he had been watching three men whom he suspected of practicing crime by the theft of teams and wagons left standing in the street. With a brother detective, Garnier, Blusset a day or two ago saw the three thieves
following a wagon loaded with four casks.
Presently the teamster stopped at a saloon and went inside. Immediately the thieves got to work. Two of them remained on the ground to keep watch, while the third mounted briskly to the driver's seat and drove rapidly away. Leaving Garnier to see to the arrest of the two watchers, which was soon accomplished, Blusset set off on a run in pursuit of the flying wagon. It was not long before he was blowing like a porpoise under the unusual exercise, and he began to think that perhaps he would better give up the chase, when the horses became suddenly unmanageable and the wagon stopped. The animals in all probability were restive at the sound of a strange voice directing them.

This was Blusset's opportunity, and, running forward with an air of great good nature, he assisted the thief to get the horses under control. He could have arrested the fellow then and there, but there was where he showed his cleverness; he wanted to arrest
also the thief's accomplice, so he let the wagon proceed again, after having received the thanks of the driver for assistance. But as it rolled away Blusset climbed upon the steps at the tail board of the wagon, and squatted there out of sight should the driver happen to turn his head. When the thief finally stopped it was before the establishment on the boulevard Menilmontant. Blusset quickly dismounted and retired. He saw the thief greet the conierge of the establishment and with his assistance begin to unload the casks. The detective ran for a policeman and with the aid of the first one he met succeeded in arresting both the thief and his accomplice.
It is not often that a crime is so thoroughly worked and all parties to it secured at a single blow.—Paris Cor. Philadelphia Times.

A Quail Ester's Experience.
A few minutes after midnight Mr. Paul sits down at a table in his cafe with two nicely
roasted birds before him and a crowd of club men at his elbows. He picks the bones clean and then seals them up in an envelope. Two witnesses sign their names and the date. The top of Mr. Paul's safe looks like a miniature postoffice with its mountain of bulging envelopes.

"I got along with the quails finely," said Mr. Paul, "until last Sunday. Then my stomach began to go back on me and I felt rather rocky. For the last four days myakin has begun to smell of quail. Curious, isn't it? But it's true. I smell just like quail. I didn't begin to taste quail until two days ago.
That's the hardest thing about the match. I hate the taste of the legs. If quails grow without legs I think I could eat 500 in a month. The legs are the gamiest part, and when a man has eaten all the quail that he really cares for and must eat more he revolts
at the legs.

"There is one curious effect that quail eating has had upon me. I'm chock full of phosphorus. You know that quails contain a great deal of phosphorus. When I go into a dark room and blow my breath out hard I can see a sort of luminous mist, just as if I was some sort of a ghost. I thought that this might upset my nerves in some way and prevent me from sleeping soundly, but the fact is that my wife has been sick for a fortnight
and I have not more than three or four hours'
sleep a day. Naturally I sleep soundly."—
New York Herald.

A Question of Validity.
A colored brother came to town a few days ago to consult a lawyer as to the validity of baptism. He said when he was baptized the weather was very cold, and the preacher, not being very well, deputized two deacons to take him down into the water and dip him, while the preacher remained on the bank and repeated the ceremony. He had been told by a white man that he had not been properly baptized, and he wanted to see a lawyer to find out whether it was legal or not.—Elberton (Ga.) Leader.

Pearls Before Swine.
There is a genuine case of pearls before swine at Merced, Cal. At that point the San Joaquin river is very low, and in many places
the river bed, and the bottom of the large sloughs are covered with fresh water mussels.
Pearls of fair color are sometimes found in these bivalves. At present droves of hogs are eating the mussels, pearls and all. The pork of the pearl fed swine is not at all palatable.

The readers of THE REGISTER will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known in the medical fraternity.
Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength, by building up the con-

The past week has been chiefly notable for the success which has attended Mr. Emmet's revival of his first "Fritz" play. It has been remarkable, yet it can only be considered a personal tribute to Mr. Emmet. He is first of all the originator of this character and this type of character—all that have come after have been but imitations—and he has thus a popular renown which makes puffing unnecessary. Mr. Emmet's method, which seems to be in the highest degree the natural method, is perfectly free from any taint of artificiality or straining after effect.—Buffalo Express.

Birthdays will come once a year to all and with them comes sometimes very pleasant association. Such was the case on the evening of the 11th inst., at 52 Division-st, on the 63d birthday of Isaac C., sometimes called "Handy," on which occasion his neighbors and a few intimate friends took him by surprise. The evening was spent very pleasantly in social intercourse, sandwiched in with bounteous refreshments. That the "Handy" man might live to see many returns of the event that brought all together, was the unanimous sentiment of all present.

The remains of Jacob Stark, who disappeared from his home in this city about the first of November last, were found floating on the water in Heinzmann's Lake, last Thursday evening, by Godfrey Knapp and Fred Smith, who were out fishing. The remains were taken ashore and promptly removed to the undertaking rooms of John Muehlig, where they were properly cared for, the funeral being held the following afternoon. Coroner O. C. Jenkins empaneled a jury who viewed the remains and then adjourned until Saturday afternoon, when, after hearing a number of witnesses, they found a verdict, "that said Jacob Stark came to his death on or about November 1, 1886, by drowning, cause unknown."
