FROM THE H. D.

Interesting Letter from an Ann Arbor Lady Visiting in Boston.

As this is my first visit to this famous city, I would like to give your readers a little of my experience. The more I see of Boston, the more I am impressed with its grandeur, magnificence and beauty. The order and harmony in which its municipal affairs are conducted - the quiet, earnest, yet thoroughly active business propensities and facilities, its vast wealth and unlimited resources - the neatness of its streets, the stupendous masses of marble and brick, the beautiful parks so plentifully sprinkled all over the city, the fountains, flower-beds, and hanging gardens, the many attractions and places of interest, in different parts of the city, the throng of restless human beings, all intent on going somewhere in the briefest possible time, which in smaller towns would suggest an unusual holiday, all are subjects of interest and arrest the attention of a stranger. One marvels that this splendid city was all wrought by the diminutive brains and hands of puny man! Some of the streets are green and beautiful, not because of the trees and gardens in front of the buildings, but because the buildings, five and six storied, churches and public buildings of massive structure, are literally covered with a beautiful clinging vine, a Virginia creeper, unlike our common ivy. It climbs and plasters itself against the walls, fitting itself to cornice, turret and dome. It will grow on glass, but in most cases is kept from the windows, which form square openings in the mass of greenness, and the symmetry of the building is preserved.

THE PUBLIC GARDENS.
Boston Common and public parks, are generally thronged with idlers and pleasure seekers. The soldier's monument appeals to our national pride and patriotism. The beautiful ponds in the public gardens are presided over by the managers of white swan boats, which glide blissfully over the placid waters "for a nickel" all around the shores, which are banked with rare and beautiful plants and flowers. But the everlasting "notice" to "keep off the grass" everywhere stares you in the face; undulating humanity must be content to stand or sit on earthen sidewalks, while it looks and sighs for blessings beyond its reach. Boston Common is not so exclusive - there is more freedom but no flowers. "City Point" is a beautiful out-look upon the Bay, and a delightful beach and bathing place (only look out for the sand fleas that are more troublesome than mosquitoes, and they permeate every bed-chamber unless rigidly excluded by bars, and bite savagely, for it is no unusual thing to see the blotches on the hands and faces of those we meet).

THE IONIC BROAD PIER.
partly roofed over, that extends half a mile or less out into the water is usually thronged with visitors. It looks beautiful when lighted by electric lamps in the evening. The water here is shallow for a long way out, and little boats containing people who like to "paddle their own canoe" are seen in considerable numbers threading their way between sloops and small vessels which lie at anchor. The ferry carries you from Row's Wharf to Oak Island, and thence by steam you can reach the beautiful beach "Point of Pines," a great resort for pleasure seekers. Refreshment houses, games, exhibitions, music and dancing are found in abundance. And bathing and clam hunting is also in order.

Bunker Hill Monument, which stands across the Charlestown river, and the navy yards, are worth going to see, and the privilege of climbing to the top of the shaft "may be had for a quarter." The view is said to repay the toil of climbing. I like to climb to high places; have climbed to the top of the Iowa capitol at Des Moines, of the State house at Lansing, Michigan, of the city hall at Detroit, but the undertaking here seemed too great, the ventilation insufficient, the day too warm, and I declined, content with a view of the surrounding grounds, fountains and a contemplation of this marvelous work of man and the heroic struggle for Independence that made such an achievement desirable. The galleries of natural history, art museum, Boston museum, etc., are wonderful collections, and must be seen to be appreciated. Fremont street, my present home, is one of the principal streets in Boston. It is remarkably clean and neat - being swept daily by an army of street sweepers with huge brush brooms. It is an aristocratic street and contains some of the finest homes and churches in the city; contains a double line of street cars, which are going day and night and always loaded with people. I have counted eight cars passing my room in five minutes, and that is the usual rate. I have wondered that there were in this great city, but have been told that fires were frequent, and that they gave only secret or silent alarms to the fire departments, and so their work was not hindered by crowds. I seldom see a child and never a dog, unless it is in the arms of a fashionably dressed lady. Two young and beautifully dressed ladies met on the sidewalk. One bore in her arms a homey, black-nosed pug. "Oh, you little darling," said her friend, touching with her jeweled finger the pug's nose. "Speak to him by name and see if he will know 'V,' said the other. "What is it?" "Willie," was answered. "Willie, Willie, oh, you little darling." The dog snapped, growled and run cut his tongue in a pleased dog way, and both ladies were delighted at this exhibition of canine intelligence. These wonderfully fine ladies in this "cultured city" would consider it a disgrace to be seen with a child in arms. So much for custom. But I am ashamed of my sex when I see such a display of love for the brute, to the exclusion of beautiful ohild humanity. A trip to and East Boston and some of the lower places about the harbor, reveals the whereabouts of thousands of children and dogs, and lean cats, and the houses of Boston, for somehow, children, ale pools, gin shops, poverty and dirt go together. I saw hundreds of little children, nearly of a size, making mud pies in the street - dirty, tear-stained, barefooted and ragged, and my heart ached for them as I saw them roughly pushed aside by drunken fathers and mothers who reeled through the streets with their pots of beer or whisky in their hands. Oh, the riches, the elegance, the fine homes of some parts of this grand Boston, and oh, the poverty, misery and sin in the other! Will it always be so? When will the riches of this world be used for the good of all? There is, there must be a way of adjusting these things if we can find it.

The Teachers' Institute.

The state teachers' institute, for Washtenaw county, which is being held in the chapel of the high school, this week, is attended by about 150 teachers. Prof. Barbour, of the Ypsilanti Normal, is the conductor, assisted by Prof. Delos Fall, superintendent of the Albion schools, and Miss Julia A. King, preceptress of the Normal. The institute began Monday morning, at 10 o'clock, when Prof. Barbour called those present to order, and stated the object of the institute. Four lectures are given each forenoon, and three in the afternoon, making five lectures during the day, besides one which is given each evening in Hobart Hall. Prof. Barbour lectures on "Primary Reading," "Language Lessons," "Technical Grammar" and "Organization of District Schools." Prof. Fall's subjects are, "Physiology," "The Effects of Alcohol and Narcotics on the Human System," and talks on "Arithmetic." Miss King lectures on "U. S. History," "Civil Government" and "School Government." Incidental discussions on "Morals and Manners," "Science of Teaching in Ungraded Schools," etc., are also held.

Prof. Fall delivered an interesting lecture in Hobart Hall last evening, on "Alcohol under Indictment." Miss King will also lecture in the same place this evening, and we bespeak for her a large audience. The institute will close tomorrow afternoon.

Ann Arbor to the Front.

Ann Arbor has long enjoyed the enviable reputation of getting to the front in everything she undertakes. Her people have so often competed at conventions, expositions, fairs, etc., with exhibits of their own make, and come home loaded down with honors, that the people look upon it with an every-day expression. This time it is the photographers who have been away and come home loaded down with medals and prizes. At the annual convention of American photographers, held at the exposition building, Chicago, last week, at which exhibits were made by photographers from all parts of the United States and Canada, Messrs. H. Randall and W. H. Gibson, of this city, both made exhibits, and each returned home with a medal. There were only 23 prizes offered for portrait photography, divided into four classes. Mr. Gibson competed in the class for the best collection of cabinet photographs, which barred him from competing in any other class; he received one of ten bronze medals; his name being the third on the list, and in which there were about 50 exhibitors. H. Randall exhibited a collection of photographs, of all sizes, on which he received a silver medal for excellence of work, against a large number of competitors.

A New Frelgjit Depot.

A large force of workmen are now engaged in repairing the Michigan Central freight depot, and when completed it will be one of the finest freight depots on the company's roads. Besides a new foundation which is being put under it, it will be re-sided, a new roof will be put on it, and a new floor will be laid. In fact, everything will be new except the frame work, which is as good as it was the day it was put up. The office will be re-arranged and made larger, on account of their increased business. A side track is being laid on the south side of the depot for the convenience of the public in loading and unloading freight.

Cut Corn and Sow Rye.

Hon. E. L. Briggs, of Grand Rapids, makes this good suggestion in view of the damage to the corn crop by drought: Cut up and shock the corn before the stalks become dried and worthless for fodder. The ears of corn will, after the kernels are slightly glazed, fill out better cut up and shocked than if left on the hill until the stalks dry up, and the value of the stalks for fodder, if cut in time, will be very great the coming winter. Another suggestion is to go over the cornfields at once - after cutting - between the rows of shocks with a cultivator or spring-tooth harrow, or a gang-plow, and sow fall rye at the rate of one and one-half bushels to the acre. When we get showers the rye will come up and grow rapidly, and if the farmer gets his corn and stalks off the ground early he can pasture the rye until very late in the fall. This rye will also offer pasture in the spring for two weeks or more before the grass is sufficiently grown for that purpose.

THE REGISTER.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18, 1887.

A correspondent of the Rochester Herald recently visited Muncie, Ind., and in writing to his paper uses the following language, in speaking of the boom that city has taken, since the discovery of natural gas: An excitement kindred to that which exists in mining camps on the frontier was found at Muncie. Last summer the city's population was nearly 6,000; now 7,200 it claimed, and scores of families are daily turned away unable to find tenement houses. The consequence is a building boom, an impetus to manufacturing interests, and wonderful real estate speculations. This city was blessed with cheap artificial gas—$1.80 per 1,000 cubic feet—but the city buildings and residences, churches, manufactories, etc., are actually supplied free gratis at this time, owing to the rivalry of gas companies. The nominal price fixed, but not collected, is about $20 a year for all a family can use for heating and illuminating purposes. The natural gas has also made the production of electric lights so cheap that they are furnished for $1 a month for each incandescent light, in operation continuously, if desired. The ordinary stove, furnaces, grates, etc., are used for heating with the natural gas. Factories which employed two firemen and burned tons of coal or many cords of wood daily, have discharged the firemen and burn the natural gas at five per cent, former cost. Sand and lime of the proper grade have been found for glass manufacturing, and hundreds of thousands of acres of land are being leased for oil wells. A board of trade, building associations, new banks and such enterprises are following the excitement, and the hotels are full of prospectors.

LITERARY NOTES.

The American Magazine is now published by The American Magazine Company. The frontispiece of the September number is a portrait of Lieut. C. F. Winter, of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, Canada, who has served in both Egypt and the Dominion, and wears honorable scars as well as medals and the Khedive star. Curacao, a quaint old Dutch city that seems out of place in the Western Hemisphere, is sketched by Dr. W. F. Hutchinson in the September number. The town has a great future if ever the Panama Canal is constructed, the harbor being one of the best in the world, with water enough for any ship afloat. Dr. Hutchinson also describes a race of lake-dwellers still existing in Venezuela, whose houses and habits seem strangely similar to those of the age of stone or bronze. Edgar Fawcett's serial, "Olivia Delaplaine," begins to develop a strong plot, in the pressure brought to bear upon the heroine to consent to a distasteful marriage. "Our New Navy," as described by Lieut. W. S. Hughes, certainly bids fair to be serviceable to a limited extent. It is a good beginning, if nothing more. The time that will be required for the construction of even this small fleet, is worth noting. How many years will it take for us to build a navy suitable to our position among nations?

The Quiver for September presents the usual variety of Sunday reading. It opens with an account of "Fulneck and the Moravians," which is very prettily illustrated. Then comes the continuation of that attractive serial, "My Brother Basil." This is followed by a pathetic little poem, "A Child's Tear." The Dean of Canterbury tells "How God Preserved the Bible," and Sophia M. Palmer describes "Jerusalem as it is." There is an unusual amount of fiction, but the Bible lessons are not lost sight of. A striking paper is on "Flower Teachings." Such a Quiver full of short arrows we have seldom seen. Poetry, pictures and music go to make up the contents of this remarkable magazine, the circulation of which covers every quarter of the globe.—Cassell & Co. 15 cents a number. $1.50 a year in advance.

THE FIRE FIEND.

Great Damage Caused by Flames in Various Places.

A Michigan Village «Fly Wiped Out of existence and M Town in Indian* Meets a Like Fate—Farms Burned Over—Other Fires*.

DETRITOT BY FIRE.

SAND BEACH, Mich., Aug. 11.—The village of Sandusky, the county seat of Sanilac County, was nearly wiped out by fire Tuesday morning, which originated in the swamps south of the village. The principal business pines are all gone, among the most being Crison's Hotel and store building. Hush McKenzie's agricultural depot and residence and its contents, M. G. Hoag and John Liiken's general stores and a number of residences. Nina building were destroyed. The loss is over $150,000. There was no loss of life.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—A prairie fire, which broke out about five o'clock yesterday afternoon in the vicinity of Eighty-ninth and Halstead streets, resulted three hours later in the total destruction of the Weber wagon works, at the corner of Eighty-first and Wallace streets, the Auburn school building, just across the street, and a two-story flat adjacent to the school building. There were four cottages on Wallace street north of Eighty-first street. Total loss $150,000.

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 12.—The farm of Charles Toney, near Dimondale, was swept by meadow fires Tuesday night, the farm buildings alone being saved after an all-night fight by the neighbors. In all, 600 acres were burned over, including Toney's orchards, forest, sixty cords of wood and 3,500 fence-rails.

TOLONO, Ill., Aug. 12.—Forty acres of oats and fifty acres of wheat were burned Wednesday on the farm of N. K. Ross, five miles northwest of Tolono. The fire was set by sparks from a thrashing machine. Other destructive fires have occurred in the country around here within a few days.

LA PORTE, Ind., Aug. 13.—The town of Hanna, this county, center of the great hay market, was almost destroyed by fire Wednesday. The flames started from a spark from a locomotive, and burned thousands of tons of hay, hay presses and other implements. The fire was spreading over the town when a heavy rain fell, extinguishing it. The damage is very great.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Special dispatches from points in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana and Missouri announce heavy rain-falls, breaking the drought that has proved so disastrous to crops.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 15.—The great fire of Friday night was not gotten under control until 3:33 Saturday morning. The Masonic temple, Hamilton block, Campbell & Dick's carpet warehouse and a number of tenement houses were entirely destroyed, and Schmidt & Friday's nine-story building seriously damaged by fire and water. The aggregate loss was about $500,000, well covered by insurance. John Keefe, of Allegheny, who was assisting the firemen, fell from a neighboring roof and was fatally injured.

WELCOME RAIN.

The Earth's Thirst U Quenched by Refreshing Showers. DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 11.—Heavy rains fell in various portions of the State yesterday, and the forest fires were nearly all extinguished. The crops were benefited and the farmers are happy again. DCBQUK, la., Aug. 11.—Rain fell Wednesday evening throughout the whole of Northeastern Iowa. About two inches fell. Both corn, grain and pasturage are greatly helped by it, and better navigation is expected in the river. CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—A moderate rain fell all Wednesday night, and reports from the surrounding country show that, though late, it will be of material benefit to crops.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 11.—Tuesday night's storm was pretty general throughout the Northwest, according to reports received at the railway office and Government signal station. The long drought in this State may be considered as broken.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Aug. 15.—The recent rains came too late to be of much benefit to this section. The drought of the last five or six weeks has injured the corn crop from one-third to one-half.

Successors to the "Boodlerg." CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—At yesterday's meeting of the County Board the resignations of the seven board members were accepted, and Messrs. Thomas Brennan, Joseph Donnersberger, H. B. Hurd, D. F. Partridge, Henry C. Senne, Horace M. Singer and William Stewart were chosen to fill their places. Five of the new appointees are classified as Republicans and two as Democrats. The board will organize to-day by electing Mr. Aldrich chairman, and adopting a new set of rules, designed to simplify and expedite the transaction of county business and to close the doors as far as possible against boodlism.

Iowa Finances.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 16.—State Treasurer Twombly has just completed his biennial report covering the fiscal period from June 30, 1885, to June 30, 1887. The report shows that the State has received from the different counties during that time $2,882,179, and from other sources enough to make the total $3,359,110. In regard to the State debt Treasurer Twombly says: "This has been largely reduced, with every assurance that the fall payment of the tax of 1880 and the spring payment of the tax of 1887 will fully meet the interest bearing part of this debt."

Koasted in an Oven.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16.—John J. Reilly, aged twenty-two, foreman in the scratch-shop of Bathbone, Sard & Co.'s stove foundry, disappeared Saturday morning. Yesterday his body was found in an oven for baking lardies. It is presumed he went in there, and, lying down, went asleep. Fire was started Saturday, and the door of the oven was then locked, his presence not being noticed. He was baked for about forty hours.

WIND AND WATER.

These Elements Cause Great Destruction of Property—

Various Portions of the Country Feel Their Power—Crops Ruined, Buildings Wrecked and Trees Blown Down—The Losses Heavy.

TORADOES AND FLOODS.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 11.—Reports received yesterday morning from the freshets in the rice districts indicate a total loss of the crop on the Savannah river. This, it is estimated, reduces the Carolina rice yield to about half a crop. Twenty thousand acres of rice are now under water in the rice section of Georgia and Carolina. In the rice district around Charleston the crop is uninjured. There will be no more serious damage done here unless high easterly winds should set in and back up salt water on the plantation. The river at Augusta was thirty-four feet at seven o'clock yesterday morning. It has since fallen slightly.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 11.—Specials from the interior of the State indicate that the wind-storm which accompanied Tuesday night's rain was very violent and that much damage has resulted in consequence. In the vicinity of Waupun haystacks and barns were leveled on all sides. Frank Johnson, a farmer, living two miles south of Waupun, was buried under the debris of his barn and killed. At Portage a large number of buildings on the fair grounds were demolished and the corn crop in that section almost ruined. A number of bridges in Fond du Lac County were swept away. At Horicon a number of buildings were unroofed. A regular panic ensued on Horicon marsh, which was filled with hay-makers. When the storm struck tents were flying in every direction. Ignatius Jantz, a farmer, was killed by lightning near Ripon. Apple and other trees in the path of the storm were stripped of their fruit. The rain has swelled the streams in Eau Claire County, and the prospect of moving the hung-up log-drive is good.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 13.—Renville, Minn., was visited by a destructive tornado Tuesday Wednesday afternoon, and almost every building in the town suffered. Mrs. Haan was instantly killed and Gustav Kriger was fatally injured.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—A few days ago Milwaukee, Kan., a little frontier town away out in Graham County, was almost totally destroyed by a cyclone. A Milwaukee Times extra under date of August 8, was received at the mayor's office this morning, giving a description of the storm on August 4, and it was certainly much more severe than the dispatches at first indicated. Nearly a hundred houses were blown down, every other house in the village was badly wrecked, and a score of persons were killed or fatally injured. Mayor D. M. Smith and the city council have issued a circular asking for aid.

ST. PAUL, la., Aug. 15.—A tornado swept over Lee County Saturday, destroying property worth thousands of dollars. A Catholic church at St. Paul worth $30,000 and other structures were demolished.

National Crop Report.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The National Agricultural Department reports a falling off of 7 points in corn during the past month, owing to drought. Spring wheat is in low condition, and oats are slightly under the average, while barley promises an average yield. The loss in potatoes during the past thirty days is figured at 20 per cent, of the prospective crop, while the fruit and hay crops are very poor. The cotton average is good, and the tobacco plant is in high condition, except in Wisconsin.

Therefore, we call upon President Cleveland, before starting on his pending electioneering tour through the West and South, to first write out his resignation as President and file it with the proper officer in Washington.

Several thousand spectators were present, including Prince Dovawonga and the other Starbuck visitors to this country. King's apparatus is shaped like a bicycle. Buoyancy is obtained by two long zinc cylinders which sink low in the water, and the propelling power is a bicycle wheel with small paddles attached. The trip from shore to shore lasted four and one-half minutes.

One of the Most Appalling Railroad Horrors on Record.

An Excursion Train Falls Through in Burning; Culvert—Over Eighty Persons Killed and Hundreds Injured—List of the Dead and Wounded.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—The most appalling railway disaster on record occurred at a late hour Wednesday night on the Toledo, Peoria & Western railroad, near Chatsworth, a village about eighty miles from Chicago. A special train consisting of six day-coaches, six sleeping-cars and three baggage-cars, and carrying 40 excursionists bound for Niagara Falls, went through a burning wooden culvert three miles east of Chatsworth. Two engines were pulled up the trestle, the first of which passed over the culvert in safety. The second engine went down, and the baggage and day-coaches followed, and in a flash the wreck was in flames, communicated from the burning culvert. The scenes that followed were harrowing in the extreme. For four hours the uninjured passengers and trainmen labored to smother the fire with earth, and meantime the work of recovering the dead and injured was rigorously prosecuted.

When the first engine struck the bridge there was a cracking of timbers and the structure dropped. The leading engine was not thrown from the track and continued on its way, taking its tender with it. The next engine dropped into the chasm and then the train rushed onward and was piled in a heap, with the exception of the sleepers, which escaped without a scratch.

The scene of horror and confusion that followed was frightful. There were about 700 people on the train and of those fully one-half were in the coaches that now lay in a huge mass. Ten cars filled with dead and dying people were jammed into a space of two cars' length.

The six coaches were telescoped in the most horrible manner, and the occupants were simply crushed and mangled almost out of all semblance to human beings. Such was the awful momentum of the train that three of the coaches were not only telescoped, but piled on top of each other. The other cars had rolled off the track after telescoping. Fourteen trucks were piled on the east side of the culvert. In the midst of this awful mass of broken cars hundreds of human beings were entombed. One woman with her baby in her arms was thrown half the length of the car and killed. The baby was not injured. Four colored women sitting together were crushed to a pulp. As fast as possible the work of release was prosecuted, but about 2:20 o'clock it began to rain and the horror of the night was complete. The black darkness, which was faintly illumined by lanterns and pierced by the awful yells and groans of the dying, injured and imprisoned, was now joined by the elements, and the pouring rain, lightning, and the roar of the falling timber, a scene that would appal the bravest heart.

The bridge where the accident occurred is only some fifteen or twenty feet wide. There was no stone used in its construction. It is all wood—a mere trestle bridge about ten feet high. Some of the piles and cross-timbers have been weakened by fire and the rails softened from the same cause. It is probable that when the double-header struck the bridge it yielded to such an extent and the rails spread so that the locomotives were derailed near the east end of the bridge and ran into the embankment, and careening, went into the ditch.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 13.—Peoria's stricken with grief. The appalling disaster to the Niagara excursion train enters every circle in the city. From statements of survivors it appears that the culvert was burning before the train reached it. The scene here is heartrending, business is stagnated, and thousands of people besiege the depot and newspaper offices. It is difficult to get a list of the dead. G. W. Scott, an old Toledo, Peoria & Western conductor, puts the number of deaths at 125 and of the wounded at 100, and this is an average of the estimate of other cool-headed survivors.

Reports come in from nearly all those wounded that a great deal of robbing was done before their eyes, the thieves snatching breastpins and jewelry from the dead and insensible victims and making away with them.

CHATS WORTH, Ill., Aug. 13.—From the following summary the grand total of victims of the wreck will be seen: Total number of deaths up to this time, according to Official returns, 81; wounded seriously and treated for wounds, 124; wounded slightly and gone home, 150; grand total of killed and wounded and injured, 855. Much of the excitement which has prevailed for the past three days has died out.

FOKEST, Ill., Aug. 13.—The following is the coroner's list of dead revived up to the time the inquest was resumed yesterday: Mrs. Dr. DuCett, of Forest; Mrs. P. M. Cress, of Washington; Mrs. Archie Crowell, of Forest; Mrs. Annie Alter, of Forest; W. P. Potter, Bushnell, Ill.; Miss Eva Alter, a large woman, with gray hair; unknown woman; Mrs. J. M. Clay, of Eureka, Kan.; James D. Richards, of Franklin, Neb.; S. G. Breeds, of Peoria; Jesse Meek, of Eureka; Mrs. W. C. Moore, of Peoria; Mrs. Eveline Carlinthors, of Evans, Ill.; R. R. Strachan, of Peoria; Michael Regan, of Binkhamton, N. Y.; W. Ulam Craig, of Cuba, Ill.; John Zeidler, of Pettin, Ill.; Mrs. E. Hill, of Berwick; W. PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 16.—It is said by good authority that the Toledo, Peoria & Western railroad will try to raise the money and pay off all claims for damages resulting from the late accident. It is probable that the whole matter will be settled at once, without litigation and without cost. An enterprising firm of Chicago collectors is sending out circulars asking that claims against the company be placed in its hands for collection. The list of fatalities, as finally revised, and supposed to be complete, numbers seventy-seven names.

CHATS WORTH, Ill., Aug. 16.—Attorney Stevens, of the Toledo, Peoria & Western road, arrived here Monday, and said the bridge had undoubtedly been fired from sparks from the road-master's engine which passed over the line some hours before the ill-fated excursion train. The plundering of the dead and wounded is now conceded to have been done by pickpockets on the train.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The Post-office Department has arranged to issue about September 15 the adhesive stamps and the stamps on the stamped envelopes with a change in the colors. The main object is to make the color of these two classes of stamps correspond. The two-cent adhesive stamp will be changed in color from red to green and the three-cent stamp from green to vermilion. The design will remain the same. The color of the two-cent stamp on the stamped envelope will be changed from red to green, the four-cent stamp from green to vermilion, the five-cent stamp from brown to dark blue, the thirty-cent stamp from black to brown, and the ninety-cent stamp from carmine to purple. The designs will remain the same except that the head on the one, two, four and five cent stamped envelopes will be re-engraved, and will have a slightly different appearance from the old ones. The ornamentation around them will also be slightly different.

Oarsman Hamm Wins. SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 16.—About 7000 people witnessed the international race Saturday afternoon on Onondaga lake. The course was from Pleasant Beach, three miles with a turn. The race was for the New York State championship medal and a purse of $800, and was won by Hamm in 18:20.

Asking for McGarigle's Return. CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—The State's Attorney's assistants are preparing a review of the McGarigle-St. John case for presentation to Governor Oglesby as the basis of a request from the Governor to the Secretary of State that this Government ask the Canadian Government to ship back McGarigle. The two sailors from the Blake, who are at present in Chicago, have made affidavits implicating St. John and Captain Irving in the escape.

Failed for Millions. NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The firm of Henry 8. Ives & Co. has notified the Stock Exchange of its suspension. The liabilities are estimated at $20,000,000, with assets slightly in excess of that amount.

Budd having for a year defeated the champion trophy, he becomes thereby the champion wing shot of the United States.

Favor Separate Schools. WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A canvass of colored sentiment in the South on the school question reveals a strong preponderance in favor of colored schools, although the feeling is that the separation should always be made by mutual consent, and not by law, as proposed in Georgia.

S. R. Misner, the Bronson farmer who was recently swindled out of $400 by a New York sharper, has become insane. O. D. Leybolt, a farmer from Rives, drove to Jackson the other day, and while there was taken sick and died. John Brown, twenty-one years old, residing on a farm with his mother three miles north of Lapeer, deliberately put a bullet through the palm of his hand with a revolver a few days ago to evade work. He submitted himself to the same ordeal about a year ago, only using the other hand as a target.

The son of J. T. Peterson was killed recently by falling into a well at Dowagiac. A gang of roughs have been terrorizing the residents of Faymouth. They break into residences, steal horses, kill, dress and carry off beef at their pleasure, and compel the farmer's wives to prepare meals for them, enforcing their demands at the muzzle of shot-guns.

The Coldwater Young Men's Christian Association is starting Sunday-schools in all the empty school-houses in Branch County. At Eaton Rapids the other night John Williams shot Frank Clark in a dispute about a girl. Clark would probably die. Dr. W. Upjohn, the oldest resident physician of Barry County, died at Hastings the other evening.

The fire in the Calumet and Hecla mines at Houghton was still raging at last accounts. A new plan was tried for overcoming the flames. Carbolic acid was forced down the pipes, and it seemed to be working successfully. Four miners went down the shaft twelve feet to stop some crevices, and one of them was overcome by the gas. The others removed him at the risk of their lives.

Jacob Schlenker, a young butcher, met with a fatal accident while hunting at Houghton, near Jackson, a few days ago. His gun burst, carrying away a portion of his head. Charles and William Macard, two young farmers living four miles south of Grand Rapids, went to the county jail in that city recently and said they had shot and killed a neighbor named Michael O'Hara and had come to give themselves into the custody of the officers. They were locked up and the sheriff and the coroner went to the scene of the shooting. O'Hara was found dead by the roadside in front of the Macard residence. There had been a feud between the parties over some land. The Macards claimed the shooting was done in self-defense.

A barn belonging to Philo McDonald, of Rich township, Lapeer County, was destroyed by fire a few days ago, burning to death Elmer Smith, a young boy. A soldier named Brown, of Company H, Jackson, threw himself, or fell, under the wheels of a locomotive at the station at Island Lake a few days ago and was instantly killed.

It has been ascertained beyond doubt that the recent fires at Marshall were incendiary in their origin. Four boys were thrown from a wagon at Cara the other evening and badly hurt, one of them, Clause Drake, of Detroit, being fatally injured. Rev. Guiles G. Rhodes, a Free Methodist preacher, recently swore out warrants before Justice Barber at Lapeer for the arrest of Dr. William F. Harrison and Dr. Wilson, the latter a veterinary surgeon, and for twenty-eight others, names not given, for grievous bodily assault. Mr. Rhodes says that while he was holding divine service at a private house in Rich township thirty men entered the house, took him out, removed his clothes and tarred and feathered him and rode him on a rail. His expose of evil doings in the township was said to have been the cause of the outrage.

A camp of the Sons of Veterans is being organized at Jackson. During July Three Rivers thermometers reached the 100 mark or higher twenty-one days out of the thirty-one, and only one and one-half inches of rain fell. A large court-house is being erected at Rogers City, Presque Isle County. Mrs. Cinderilla Stowell threw herself under a freight train the other morning at Raisin and was cut to pieces. No reason was assigned for the act. The requisite $50,000 is said to have been subscribed, which assures the erection of the proposed new Congregational church in Manistee.

Reports to the State Board of Health by sixty observers in different parts of the State for the week ended on the 6th indicated that dysentery, remittent fever, rheumatism and consumption of the lungs increased, and whooping cough decreased in area of prevalence. Diptheria was reported at twenty-two places, scarlet fever at fifteen, typhoid fever at seventeen and measles at seven places. George H. Knoar, of Arthur township, fell against a saw in Martin's mill near Clare the other day and had a leg sawed off. A fire at Garden, Delta County, the other night destroyed the hotel and livery stable of Robert A. McDonald and six other buildings. Loss, $7,000, no insurance.

The fourth annual reunion of the Soldiers and Sailors of Northwestern Michigan will be held at Reed City September 6, 7 and 8. Pleuro-pneumonia was discovered at King's cattle yards in Detroit a few days ago, over a dozen cases existing. Quarantine was instituted immediately. Coldwater recently struck a quantity of oil at a depth of one thousand feet. Texas fever was recently reported as prevailing in Detroit to a limited extent among the dairy cattle, and several deaths had occurred. The other night tramps broke into a freight car near Jackson and carried off four suits of clothes, four hats and four pairs of shoes, all valued at about $100.

A gang of hoodlums boarded the excursion steamer Alaska on its return trip from Put-in-Bay to Detroit the other night and plundered and beat the passengers at their sweet wills. Upon the Alaska's arrival in Detroit eleven of the gang were taken into custody. The farm of Charles Toney, near Dimondale, Eaton County, was swept by meadow fires the other night, the farm buildings alone being saved after an all-night fight by the neighbors. In all six hundred acres were burned over, including orchards, forests, sixty cords of wood and twenty-two hundred fence-rails.

Topio Monma, El Cox and Herman? Beitilla were killed in the Cleveland mine at Ishpeming the other morning, and Andrew Oleberg, Alexander Anderson and Herman Abramson were seriously hurt. The miners were riding down to work in a skip, which is directly contrary to the orders of the mine. The project of holding a tri-city fair at South Lyon is receiving considerable attention.

In Brief, Ami To The Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics. But Green's August flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy. Remember—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

Tn«Howell Republican is one of the neatest papers that come to this office, and it is not only neat but brilliant.

THERE is a rivalry between Howell and Owosso as to which town shall secure the car shops of the Toledo road. Owosso is trying to raise $25,000 and 15 acres of land as abont-, and Howell is depending on striking a gas well as an inducement for the shops to come, and both towns are indulging in volumes of natural gas.

THE democratic press is trying hard to explain the following observations on the tariff question in the columns of the New York Sun, but it is not meeting with any very great success in its laborious work:

"The free traders were rather on top in the democratic state convention recently held in Ohio, but they touched bottom *gain in Virginia. The Virginia democrats have just declared for the 'immediate repeal of the internal revenue system, a relic of the war and no longer necessary to meet the demands of the Government' While the Ohio democrats incline toward the ideas represented by John G. Carlisle, the democrats of the old Dominion are in complete agreement with the Hon. Samuel J. Randall. Thus we see that the same disagreement upon the tariff which the free trade enthusiasts would wish to constitute the dividing line between the democrats and the Republicans is here found to exist within the democratic organization itself."

IN the course of an editorial relative to the standing of its party on the tariff question the Lansing Journal says:

"With our national taxes amounting in a time of profound peace to over $371,000,- 000 a year, it is eminently fitting that the democracy, which is always responsive to the demands of the people for relief, should take up this issue of tariff reform and make it the 'dividing line' between the two parties. Over $100,000,000 are being wrung from the people in excess of the actual needs of the government. Is it any wonder that the thoughtful and patriotic masses of the democratic party are determined that this burning question of tax reduction shall be pressed to an early, decisive and statesmanlike conclusion?"

Considering the fact that the expenses of the government in this time of "profound peace" under the democratic administration have been greater than ever before in time of peace, it would seem that the democracy could "respond to the demands of the people for relief" in no way better than to get down and out of the way of reform. Who is wringing the $100,000,000 in excess of the actual needs of the government if not the officeholders in power? And as about 138,000 of the 150,000 office-holders of the country, and afar greater proportion of the higher classes of officers who have the appointing of subordinates are democrats, we do not see how the democracy can shirk the responsibility for this great extravagance. The fact is the "thoughtful and patriotic masses" of the democratic party are like hens' teeth, few and far between.

The Secretary of State's report on the wheat crop in the southern four tiers of counties, was made between the 5th and 9th of August, and gives the returns from 6,173 jobs threshed, aggregating 1,521,000 bushels from 123,600 acres, and indicates total yield of 7,820,000 bushels in those counties. Accepting these figures as correct, the total production in the state will be 21,123,000 bushels. The grain is generally of good quality, though individual fields, and in some localities the berry, is more or less shrunken. On the first of August about 1,000,000 bushels of the 1886 wheatcrop were yet in the farmers' hands. Oats are estimated to yield 20 bushels and barley 22 bushels per acre.
The drouth that has prevailed in the southern part of the state, with scarcely a break during the entire season, has injured corn and potatoes beyond hope of recovery. On Aug. 6 estimates of correspondents in the southern counties place the condition of corn at 70 per cent, and potatoes at 53 per cent of an average crop, but the continued dry, hot [weather has lowered the condition since that date very materially—one-half of an average crop of corn and one-fourth to one-third of a crop of potatoes is more than can now be expected. In many localities corn is being cut and either fed to the stock or cured for winter fodder. In the central and northern counties the outlook for corn and potatoes is more favorable, though in these sections both crops will be far below the average. Hay in the southern counties was 88 per cent, in central 93 per cent, and in northern 101 per cent, of an average crop. Meadows and pastures are dried up in the southern counties, while in the central and northern counties they have suffered less severely.
A poor "catch" of clover sowed this year is reported, though there is hope that more may spring since the fine rains that have fallen in the past week. Apples promise about five-eighths of an average crop.

CITY IMPROVEMENT FRIJD.

On Friday, August 26th, the citizens of Ann Arbor will have the opportunity of voting on the proposition to raise the sum of $5,000 for the purpose of advertising the city and promoting our manufacturing interests. The measure is a wise and judicious one, and we are gratified to learn, in our intercourse with the people, that it is proving to be eminently popular.
That it will receive a hearty indorsement on the part of our citizens we have every reason to believe. Other cities in our state have adopted similar measures, and the result has been most satisfactory. If we want to build up our interests and add to our numbers, we must set forth the advantages we possess, and hold out inducementfor parties with capital and activity to come and locate among us. One manufacturing establishment brought here would fully pay back in a single season the small expenditure asked for by the common council. And we can see no reason why instead of one there should not be a dozen. Everywhere there is a growing activity in this department. The population of our state is steadily increasing, and there is a constant demand for enlarged enterprise. We have facilities here for carrying on work which are nowhere surpassed. It is time that we should set these facts before the public, and let it be understood that we want to number among our population enterprising parties who will establish in Ann Arbor prosperous manufacturing interests. These parties are now looking around to see where they can locate to the best advantage. Let us invite them here and show them what we have to offer. Give to this measure your approval, and on the day designated, go to the Fireman's Hall, and vote "Yes," for the city improvement fund. By so doing you will give aid to a worthy object, and place your influence on the side of improvement.

THE RAILROAD HORROR.

The awful railroad accident at Chatsworth this past week equals anything that has ever occurred in the history of travel in our country. An excursion train filled with a company of pleasure seekers, is dashed through a burning bridge, and in a moment's time one hundred lives are lost.
We have had other disasters this season, indeed, more than the usual number, but this is the climax of horrors. The recital of particulars as given in the daily press is heart-rending. They were mostly people in the prime of life, active business men with their families, seeking a short season of rest and recreation. The train was loaded and two engines were required to do the work, rushing along with the speed of thirty miles or more an hour in the effort to make up lost time. It was a sudden crash, a cry of agony, fire, tumult indescribable, and then all was over. In numbering up the victims it is sad to read the names of the middle-aged and the young thus suddenly arrested in their journey. The cause of this catastrophe is the most lamentable of the whole occurrence. It was a wooden bridge spanning a small stream, which had dried up during the excessive drought. A company of men were sent out to burn the grass adjoining this structure so as to prevent fire, but having kindled the flame they did not stay long enough to see it put out. So the bridge caught fire, and when the train came up the smoldering timbers gave way and there was wreck and ruin. Four accidents have occurred this season, the cause of which has been traced in each instance, to the giving away of bridges underneath the train. If it not time that these structures should be more solidly built and more carefully guarded. We have hardly recovered from the shock occasioned by the giving away of the fatal bridge on the Vermont Central, and the sacrifice of life at White River Junction, when this Chatsworth horror sends a new thrill of terror over the land. We are thankful that the lines of travel through our city have by constant watchfulness and careful management been spared such visitations.

BUSINESS POINTERS.

If the his tory of our citizens of wealth were written, we should find that fully three-fourths have risen from comparatively small beginnings to their present position.—Hon. Wm. E. Dodge.

honorably and thoroughly, and sets about it at once, will attain usefulness and

Washington Excursion.

The Toledo & Ohio Central and Chesapeake & Ohio Railways will run a cheap excursion to White Sulphur Springs, Richmond and Old Point Comfort, Va., Thursday, Sept. 1st, at $13 for the round trip, from Toledo. Tickets good 30 days. An additional rate of $2 will be charged to those wishing to attend the International Medical Congress, which is to open Sept.
5th. This promises to be the largest gathering of physicians ever seen in this country. Special train leaves Toledo at 5:35
p. m. Tickets can be procured of O. G.
Wales, agent T. A. & N. M. Ry, Ann Arbor. For full information address W. P.
Howell, Northern Passenger Agent, T. &

A New Sidewalk Law.

There are but a very few cities in Michigan that have poorer sidewalks than Ann Arbor, and at every meeting of the council the aldermen struggle away with the question how to get them repaired, some time ago the marshal was in-truded to notify property owners, where the walk was defective in front of their property, to repair them, and was unsuccessful in getting a number of them repaired, but there yet remain a number of places where every person who walks over them is in danger of sustaining serious injuries. We give below the substance of an act that was passed by the Michigan Legislature last winter, which took immediate effect, "to provide for the recovery of damages for injuries caused or sustained by reason of defective highways, streets, bridges, sidewalks, cross-walks, or culverts."

Section one provides that any person sustaining bodily injury upon any of the public highways or streets, by reason of neglect to keep such public highway or streets, and all bridges, sidewalks, crosswalks and culverts on the same in reasonable repair, and the corporate authority whose duty it is to keep the same in repair shall be liable, and shall pay to the person injured, just damages, to be recovered in an action of trespass on the case before any court of competent jurisdiction.

Section two, of the act, provides for recovering damages sustained to any horse, or vehicle, where the corporate authority has neglected to keep in repair any public highway, street, bridge, sidewalk, crosswalk, or culvert, provided, that in all actions brought under this act it must be shown that such corporate body has had reasonable time to repair the same after having received notice of such defects.

Section three, in full is as follows: "It is hereby made the duty of townships, villages, cities, or corporations to keep in reasonable repair, so that they shall be reasonably safe and convenient for public travel, all public highways, streets, bridges, sidewalks, cross-walks and culverts that are within their jurisdiction, and under their care and control, and which are open to public travel, and when the means now provided by law are not sufficient to enable any township, village or city to keep its public highways, streets, bridges, sidewalks, cross-walks and culverts in good repair, such township, village or city is hereby authorized to levy such additional tax upon the taxable property of such township, village or city, not exceeding five mills on the dollar, in any one year, to enable such township, village or city
to keep its public highways, streets, bridges, sidewalks, cross walks and culverts in good repair at all times. Highway commissioners, street commissioners, and all other officers having special charge of highways, streets, bridges, sidewalks, cross-walks, and culverts, and the care or repairing thereof, are hereby made and declared to be the officers of the township, village or city, or corporation wherein they are elected or appointed, and shall be subject to the general direction of such township, village, city or corporate authorities in the discharge of their several duties."

Section four reads: "The provisions of this act shall not apply to public highways which have not been in use for ten years;
but nothing in this section shall be construed as exempting townships, villages and cities from maintaining their streets,
bridges, sidewalks, cross-walks and culverts, and the approaches to bridges, in a safe condition for public travel.

Section five provides that no township, village or city shall be liable for any damages sustained except under the provisions of this act, all other laws being repealed.

The Schützenbund Tournament.

The third annual shooting tournament, held by the Ann Arbor Schützenbund, at their park in this city, Sunday and Monday, was a success in every particular.
Delegates were present from Toledo, Ohio, Detroit, East Saginaw, Vassar and Frankenmuth, Mich., and Berlin, Canada. The shooting generally was above the average, and the visitors, when they departed for home, expressed themselves as being more than satisfied with the treatment they had received from their Ann Arbor brothers.
The programme began Sunday noon, and closed Monday evening in Beethoven hall, where the festivities were kept up until a late hour. The officers of the society desire us to express their sincerest thanks to those gentlemen who so kindly donated to them, and helped make the tournament a success, which left them with about $350 more in their exchequer. Following is a list of those who won the first prizes in the different contests:

well attended.

Redner Minzey is quite sick; hot weather and overwork the cause.
D. M. Crane, who is at Newberry, Mich., upper peninsula, reports ice there occasionally. It is apparently not a fine place for farming.

G. C. Crane offers his farm for sale.
It is one of the best in the country.
We sometimes think young men make a mistake to leave the farm, especially such a fine one.

There is a base ball club organized at this place which meets every two weeks.
Wm. Dansingburg, on account of his amiability and fine appearance, has the envious position of umpire. Let Detroit tremble for her laurels now.

IKCTION XVII.—SOME EVENTS IN 1864-3. POLITICS AND WAR.

Lincoln's administration of affairs from the time of his inauguration March 4, 1861, till the spring of 1864, when a Presidential candidate was to be nominated, had gradually taken a very popular hold on the masses.

Some, however, were dissatisfied, thinking the President was too slow, too easy and lacked some essential qualities for an Executive.

Quite a number of these held a mass convention at Cleveland, O., May 31, 1864, and nominated General John C. Fremont for President and styled themselves "W. Democrats."

The friends of Lincoln assembled at Baltimore, Md., June 7, 1864, in a regular convention and unanimously renominated the people's favorite.

The opponents of the war did not hold their convention till August 28, at which time General McClellan was nominated for the Presidency. In the first half of the year the prospect for immediate Union success were not assuring.

Grant had failed to take Richmond, and was for the time, at least held at bay by Lee. In the Southwest General Bank9 had met disaster, and so long as Sherman was confronted by General Joseph E. Johnston, the Confederates under the latter officer continued to make the greatest possible resistance with the least possible loss.

But very soon after the opponents of the war had assembled in convention, and by resolutions declared the war a failure, the Union forces met with a series of brilliant successes.

Commodore Farragut secured a wonderful victory over the Confederates at Mobile bay. Atlanta was captured by Sherman, and Sheridan completely annihilated the hitherto successful rebel forces of the Shenandoah valley.

These victories added immensely to Lincoln's chances of success.

Much interest was felt in the result of the election among the soldiers.

The various platforms, letters of acceptance, etc., were read and discussed. Most of the men, however, favored Lincoln's re-election. As soon as General Fremont saw that his candidacy could do nothing to divide the war party, he promptly withdrew his name, and this narrowed the race down to a contest between Lincoln and McClellan.

McClellan's followers were called "Peace Men," and a "Peace at Any Price Party," while those who supported the war maintained that durable peace could come only from a vigorous prosecution of the war till the last enemy of the Government laid down his musket.

Early in November the election came off and proper agents came from the States of Iowa, Wisconsin and Ohio to take the votes of troops from these commonwealths.

But the Legislature of Illinois had decreed that it was illegal for soldiers to vote when in the field, hence Illinois soldiers were denied the privilege of casting their ballots.

The writer had just attained his majority, and, having long been an admirer of Lincoln, felt great disappointment in not having an opportunity to vote for him.

Lincoln's majority over McClellan was overwhelming and gave him ten times as many votes in the electoral college as his competitor received. The writer accompanied the command upon one of the expeditions to the Atchafalaya, spoken of in the last number.

The twenty odd miles traversed was through a country that had been stripped of every thing in the way of eatables.

The banks of the Atchafalaya were reached, but the stream was not crossed. A few stray shots passed between the Confederates upon one side of the stream and the Federals upon the other. Here several days were spent, and the time hanging heavy, a rude set of chess were cut of wood and many games enjoyed.

Among the forces was a regiment of so-called Mexican cavalry.

This organization had been made up next the Mexican frontier, and the men were nearly all small in stature and had swarthy complexions.

They were expert horsemen, however, and could throw the lasso with much skill! Toward the end of November the command was moved to the mouth of WhiU river, much further up the Mississippi. Here huts were built.

The writer had one of these about eight feet square. The sides were made of boards, the roof of canvas; at one end was a door and at the other an open fire place made of mud and split pieces of lumber.

The hut had a bed upon one side and the medicine chest upon the other, and as it was low there was just room left to turn round in and stand erect near the center. Nevertheless the writer was contented and happy and was hoping the winter might be spent in that locality, when an order came for all to report at New Orleans.

So all hands went aboard a steamboat and once more went down the Mississippi.

The 5th of August General Grant landed a body of troops on Dauphin Island and invested Fort Gaines.

Early on the morning of August 6 Admiral Farragut attacked Fort Morgan and the Confederate flotilla.

Soon after the engagement began the Tecumseh, a fire iron-clad, struck a torpedo and almost instantly sunk, carrying to the bottom of the bay all but twenty-one out of a crew of one hundred men.

The other vessels of the Federal fleet kept their distance, however, and ran past Fort Morgan and the torpedoes. A little later the ram Tennessee bore down upon the fleet and was soon overpowered and captured.

August 7 Fort Gaines, with over eight hundred men, surrendered to General Grant.

Later Fort Morgan was invested, and, August 23, fell into the hands of the Fed-

So many regiments were reduced in numbers that in many instances two from the same State were at this time consolidated.

The writer's regiment near the end of February was ordered to New Orleans to be consolidated with another organization. This arrangement was unsatisfactory to the men, but was of course complied with.

The new consolidated organization was a thousand strong and was put on patrol duty in the city.

Quarters were found in a cotton press.

The consolidation threw the writer in the ranks. At four o'clock every evening the regiment went to a large open space outside for dress parade.

Every man was required to appear with shoes well blacked, clothes neatly brushed, hair well combed, white paper collar and a stock on the neck, all metal appendages about cartridge box, belt, etc., polished and burnished like silver, the gun well cleaned and the steel about it, bright.

With all this getting up, with white gloves upon every man's hands, with every fellow in his place and with every movement as accurate as clock work, a thousand men upon parade, made a pleasing display.

While about New Orleans during the winter of 1864-5 Thomas' victories at Franklin and Nashville over the impetuous Hood were read and talked of as Sherman's march from Atlanta towards the interior, since familiarly called "The March to the Sea."

Much speculation was indulged in at the time as to the result of Sherman's expedition.

After he had reached the seaboard and captured Savannah and proven the Confederacy to be, as he expressed it, "An empty shell," and Hood's army had practically destroyed itself in fighting Thomas, there seemed little of power left to the Confederacy save what was under Lee at Richmond and Petersburg.

Early in March an expedition was organized in the Department of the Gulf to operate against Mobile.

Pretty soon after the Red river campaign in the spring of 1864, General Banks had been superseded in the command of the department by General Canby.

Early one morning the regiment began preparations for embarking upon this expedition, and about three p. m. a gulf steamer was boarded.

The meat rations that day were dried herring, and of these the writer ate heartily, and about night the vessel moved from the wharf down the river.

All were tired, and very soon the deck of the vessel was covered with unrolled blankets, and upon these many tired, weary soldiers stretched their aching limbs and slept sweetly.

Next morning the vessel struck salt water, and oh, the many that were sea sick! And those herring—how long afterward did their taste remain—and how few that ate of them, can eat them since!

The gulf was very rough and the vessel rolled and pitched a great deal.

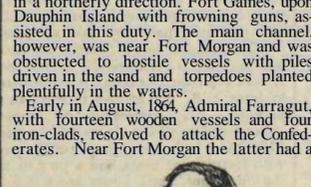

To the writer nothing has fewer attractions than salt water, the grandeur, beauty and poetry of old ocean he never realized.

Two or three days after leaving New Orleans, land was sighted, and by and by certain objects began to assume distinctness: First, a mound that proved to be a fort, then a flag upon a pole, next tents, camps, wagons, horses and last men—and finally the vessel anchored at Fort Morgan, situated upon Mobile Point, Ala.

SECTION XIX.—THE MOBILE CAMPAIGN, FAIGN, 1865.

Fort Morgan, situated on Mobile Point, guarded the narrow entrance to Mobile bay. Directly opposite, two miles distant in a northerly direction, Fort Gaines, upon Dauphin Island with iron-clad guns, assisted in this duty. The main channel, however, was near Fort Morgan and was obstructed to hostile vessels with piles driven in the sand and torpedoes planted plentifully in the waters.

Early in August, 1864, Admiral Farragut, with fourteen wooden vessels and four iron-clads, resolved to attack the Confederates. Near Fort Morgan the latter had a

The other vessels of the Federal fleet kept their distance, however, and ran past Fort Morgan and the torpedoes. A little later the ram Tennessee bore down upon the fleet and was soon overpowered and captured.

August 7 Fort Gaines, with over eight hundred men, surrendered to General Grant.

Later Fort Morgan was invested, and, August 23, fell into the hands of the Federals. Thus Mobile, at the head of Mobile bay, was effectually shut off from blockade runners, having its outlet hermetically sealed by a fleet of Federal vessels.

At Fort Morgan the regiment landed early in March, as narrated in the last number. The vessel embarked from the steamer and went into camp in the sand. The region was sterile and as uninteresting as could be imagined.

Fort Morgan, however, had gained much notoriety from its engagement with Commodore Farragut's fleet, the previous August. It showed marks of the bombardment in dismantled walls and broken brick work.

Near the camp was a sand-hill twenty or thirty feet high from which the vessels at a distance and Dauphin Island were viewed. A school of porpoises could often be seen at play in the waters of the bay; this to the men, nearly all of whom were from the interior, was a novel sight.

One day orders came to march. Meanwhile the Thirteenth Corps had been organized and was now under command of General Gordon Granger. This was specially pleasing to the old members of that organization.

The 17th day of March the journey from Mobile Point, along the eastern side of Mobile bay, was begun. The loose sand made the walking very hard. The writer had not marched with gun, accouterments, knapsack, etc., for some time, hence this tramping through heavy sand was anything but pleasant. So weary did he become after some hours that had it not been for the name of the thing he would have given out. But one's pride is a sharp spur and often urges a man on to do his utmost.

The country passed over was all sandy and very level. All the timber was pine. Fires were made from pine knots loud in abundance under the trees. Tenebrous faces became covered with smut, smoke and grime; the resin made it adhesive, and washing this off seemed out of the question.

In the midst of the forest, turpentine "orchards" were reached. Hydra cup-shaped notches had been cut into the trunks of the larger trees and these had filled with resin. One night soie one set fire in the "orchard" and the inflammable nature of the resin caused the Dames to mount strong and high.

At one period in the march rain fell in torrents, and the roads became almost impassable for wagons and artillery.

Sometimes when the teams became stalled they were detached, ung ropes used to the wagons and pieces of artillery, and upon these dozens of men exerted their strength and generally succeeded where the mules had failed. In many cases Cor duroy roads—poles laid crosswise—had to be made.

But the troops were bound to overcome all obstacles and hence never grumbled.

One day a wide, shallow stream was encountered, when the men were halted, ordered to remove shoes and stockings, roll their pants high and wade. When the opposite bank was reached, every man dried his feet and legs in the best way possible, put on his shoes and blockings and resumed the march.

The advance of the column, after some days' progress, met and skirmished with the enemy. Toward the latter part of the month of March, Spanish Fort, east of Mobile, was reached. This was one of the keys to the military situation at Mobile, and was laid siege to by the Federals the last days of March.

The Federal gunboats held the water front of Spanish Fort and cut off communication with Mobile. No effort at assault was made by the Federals and US approaches were guarded with rifle pits; hence the loss of life was inconsiderable.

A Pleasure Shared by Women Only.

Malthers, the gifted French author, declared that of all things that man possesses, women alone take pleasure in being possessed. This seems generally true of the sweeter sex. Like the ivy plant, she longs for an object to cling to and love—to look to for protection. This being her prerogative, ought she not to be told that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the physical salvation of her sex? It banishes those distressing maladies that make her life a burden, curing all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prolapsus and kindred weakness. As a nerve, it cures nervous exhaustion, prostration, debility, relieves mental anxiety and hypochondria, and promotes refreshing sleep.

Now you let McGarigle get away, did you? I nowed it, leastways 'spected it. You ain't no too particular 'bout his health, an' his high toned ways. If he had been a colored mau put in jdl for grabbin' a stray chicken, they'd dun put him in a cell ami forgot he was there. This makin' fish out o' one man an' dog meat out o' 'nirher ain't right.

Last week we told you about a remnant sale of dress goods. When you read it you came to see about it. You found a large variety, and prices satisfactory. We have a few left, which must go this week. We are getting ready for fall dress goods. New goods, "you know," push out the odds and ends, and at the same time push the prices. Remnants less than quarter price.

Look at our display of lace curtains in window on the left as you enter the store. No doubt but the curtains displayed in this window are the best value ever known in this part of the universe for the money.

50 pairs curtains at $2 a pair. 30 pairs curtains at $2.66 a pair. Women's colored borders linen handkerchiefs; GOOD SIZE, 10c. THE 15 AND 20c GRADE. 65 Marseilles Quilts at 81.50 each. When you have time, look at them.

This week, we will have a case of the OLD TIME CALICOES. Heavy, strong, tough, hard twisted threads. Firmness in the weave, substance in the feel, satisfaction in the wear. Like the degenerate, flimsy, slimsy calicoes of to-day in little but name.

We have three kinds, CENTURY CLOTH, strong cloth, old time calico. Better than any calicoes your mothers or grandmothers had. Near or in the printing, prettier in the pattern, just as honest in the cotton. They are the first calicoes of the season. Will have a window full of them next week. 10 cents.

Another break in the best American satens made. To close and clean up stock, we make the price 15 cents. ALWAYS SOLD AT 25 CENTS.

We are agents for J. & P. Coats' Spool cotton. All sizes and all colors always on hand. Wholesale price per dozen, 55 cents, less a discount of 6 per cent.

If you want good LIVE GEESE FEATHERS picked from lively geese, we are headquarters for them.

It is amusing to see how many ways recreationists have at the various summer resorts, of mixing up business with pleasure. We learn of some ladies keeping books, some acting as dining-room waiters, some running peanut stands and others entertaining boarders.

One of our prominent dry-goods clerks started to count all the widows in the city Tuesday morning. He commenced on Division-st, and when he got through with that street he found he had the names of eighteen, not including grass-widows, and gave up the job in disgust.

Hon. J. S. Gorman, of London, and Miss Nellie Bingham, formerly of Dundee, were married in the Catholic church, Tuesday morning, by Rev. Dr. Reiley, secretary of the Irish Land League. Randall has just taken a contract for decorating the handsome new residence of Charles P. Ferris. He furnishes all the art glass, and everything in the way of art decoration.

S. A. Moran expects to publish a new edition of his book of "Suggestions to Short-hand Students" in the course of a few weeks. The first edition was brought out only about one year ago, and is now exhausted. Mr. Moran says he has not expended over $50,000 in advertising it. This certainly shows that there is a demand for a book of that kind, since the sales evidently were not forced.

O'Brien, the fellow who has been under arrest in Chicago for several days, after beating Daniel B. Brown, of this city, out of $2,700 last spring, has been released, Mr. Brown's attorneys there having effected a settlement with him. On what terms, or what amount Mr. Brown will receive, is not reported. Much credit is due to the energy displayed by Sheriff Walsh in capturing the culprit, and Mr. Brown should handsomely reward him, which, no doubt, he will do.

An excursion under the auspices of Golden Rule and Fraternity (Masonic) and Washtenaw and Otsego (Odd-Fellow) lodges, will be given on the 7th of September next. The route selected is by the M. C. R. Fare for the round trip, $1.25.

A series of resolutions from the St. Louis Knights Templar to their chief of police, handsomely designed and in color—representing Knights Templarism—was on exhibition at the jewelry establishment of J. C. & W. W. Watts, last week. It was executed by our fellow-townsmen, Dr. Frank Kraft. By the way, Mr. Kraft is also an expert stenographer—an ex-court reporter. We would be glad to have him appointed as our circuit court stenographer under the new regime. He would give the very best satisfaction to both court and bar.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Washtenaw Mutual Fire Insurance Company, Saturday, Jas. L. McCormick, of Salem, was allowed $12 for damages to his building by fire; Chas. Treadwell, of Ann Arbor town, who recently lost a horse by lightning, was allowed the sum of $116.66. The claim of Vedder Shankland, for the loss of a stack of wheat, was laid over, because the wheat was not on his land. The claim of the Messrs Finleys, of Scio, for hay burned in the stack, was left to the decision of John F. Lawrence, arbitrator.

James Barclay and Richard Reeves, the gentlemen who have been in the city for the past two weeks trying to secure a location for the purpose of starting a foundry, boiler and engine shop, have purchased the Gretton property, on West Huron-st, the purchasing price being $6000. They have already taken possession, and will at once put up an addition 40x84 feet, to be used for making boilers. Both are gentlemen of many years' experience, each having held responsible positions in large works in Pennsylvania. They will bring their families to this city at once.

While we are trying to boom the city—to give it a fresh start and secure enterprises which will greatly increase its population,—would it not be well for the common council to pass a resolution instructing the marshal to muzzle a few of the "chronic croakers," who sit around on dry goods boxes and abuse everything that comes along? There are a few who seem to have nothing else to do, and are especially loud in denouncing every little mistake the electric light or water companies make; but they never have a word to say for the untold benefit they are to the city.

We have received information that the Students' Christian Association, of the U. of M., has met with some extremely good fortune during the past week. For years the association has been making strong efforts to raise the means necessary to erect a building of their own, but have met with little success. Last week, so it is reported, a wealthy citizen of Detroit gave the association $15,000, the amount required for the proposed building. The association and Mr. Jennings, their solicitor, are certainly to be congratulated on their success. For certain reasons the donor does not wish his name to be made public for the present.

Agents are now going through the country trying to compel owners of drive wells to pay them a royalty or penalty of $10 for each one in use, the amount they claim is due the patentees. The following, obtained from a lawyer, may be of value to many people: 1. A well that was put down more than six years ago is outlawed. 2. A claim of less than $500 cannot be taken to the United States courts. 3. No patent is now involved. It is out. 4. Wells put in before Bennett got the patent are merely personal claims and did not "pass" by sale of patent. 5. The patent being "dead" no action will lie for a "violation" in the past. Action can only be taken "under a patent in force." 6. All actions, if any can be brought, will necessarily be personal claims, and as all the claims will be under $100, must be before a justice of the peace with security for costs, and a jury to find the "damages," and jurors are not fierce on innocent users of "driven wells."

Manchester Enterprise.

The common council of Ypsilanti must be a very interesting body, judging from the following from the Ypsilantian: "The city council are having a regular killnenny cat fight over the location of the electric light plant, six members favoring the purchase of the site mentioned last week, adjoining the gas works, and four members opposing that location. Two meetings have been held this week, Monday and Wednesday evenings, but the matter is still seemingly further away from a satisfactory settlement than it was a month ago. There are charges of "sell outs," "personal interest," and such unchristian insinuations. One member moved last evening to drop the entire electric light arrangement and settle with the Jenny company for the expenses thus far incurred by them, but the sarcastic eloquence of the senior member of the second ward soon silenced him. So far as we are concerned, we would much prefer to take our electric light in water works."

Our enterprising and popular photographer, Mr. H. Randall, returned from Chicago on Monday morning, where he has spent a week attending the convention of the National Photographers' Association of America. Mr. Randall made a display of photographic portrait work in various sizes, about thirty in number—competing in the first class, viz., Class A, for the highest award—and was honored with the "silver medal of excellence." Of this, our city, as well as Mr. R., may justly feel proud, as many old veterans in the art from Boston, New York, and other much larger cities than Ann Arbor—competing in the same class—returned home without any. The Chicago press referred specially to Mr. Randall's work in the most complimentary terms, specifying the several of his large-sized pictures as "among the prettiest" at the convention. Mr. R. made an exhibit of his beautiful views of the Huron, and about our city—marked "Views of Ann Arbor and Vicinity"—which he tells us were much admired by the hundreds of people who saw them. Does not this help "boon" our city? Let us congratulate Mr. Randall on his success, and lend our support by patronizing and encouraging him in his endeavors to establish a business which is a credit to Ann Arbor.

Farm For Sale.

Having grown fruit for forty years, with much pleasure and a fair margin of profit, I find that increasing years bring decreasing strength, and not being able to be with my men as a person should who conducts a general fruit farm, I propose to sell one or both of my places to some young person who has not been so much worn by the fatigue of labor and business. The home orchard consists of about 28J acres, lying nearly 200 feet above the Huron river, with good air and water drainage, and has planted on it 4,500 peach trees of the best varieties, from the earliest to the latest; 450 apple trees of the best varieties, mostly Baldwin's; 200 plum varieties; 150 quince of foul best kinds; 125 pear, chiefly Bartlett; 800 grape vines, principally of Concord and Wyoming, but a small number each of 12 or 15 other good varieties. There are about four acres blackberries and raspberries, consisting of Snyder, Taylors Prolific, Cuthbert, Gregg and early Ohio. The orchard is surrounded by a well-kept honey locust hedge and the low places underdrained. Upon the place are two cottages—one stone and-a-half house, canning house, peach house, frost-proof house, ice house and three sheds. The other place is in the western part of the city, consisting of 12 acres of very choice land and planted about one-half to Snyder blackberries, the other to Gregg raspberries, with 450 peach trees among the blackberries. I offer also my dwelling house, pleasantly located on three lots, planted to pears and plums. The whole premises are in good order and will be kept so while I own them. Many years ago the home farm was laid out in blocks and lots, several of which were sold and built upon, but the sale was stopped when it was found that peach-growing could be carried on to profit on this high rolling land. Both these places can be divided so that a person can purchase much less than the whole of either place. Correspondence is solicited with persons living abroad and wishing to come here and educate their children, as I did forty years ago. I shall be pleased to show any person the place, while the growing fruit is on the trees and vines, who may wish to purchase. Prices will be made reasonable and terms of payment easy. J. D. BALDWIN.

ANN ARBOR, Aug. 1887.

Proper bond for one-fourth the amount of the bid must accompany proposals, also a schedule of materials. The board reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Work on the walls of the building will cease with freezing weather and the walls protected for the winter. Proposals will be addressed to James H. Wade, Secretary, Ann Arbor, Michigan.
