"THE RACE PROBLEM."

EX-SENATOR BRUCE MAKES A STRONG PLEA FOR HIS RACE.

He says the Negro can work more hours in the day—and wait longer for his pay—than any other man.

On account of missing a train at Kalamazoo, the well-known ex-United States senator and the orator, B. K. Bruce, failed to keep his appointment to speak before the Students' Lecture Association on Saturday evening; but he appeared in University Hall on Tuesday evening, and delivered the first lecture of the winter's course, on the subject, "The Race Problem."

The speaker described the appearance on this continent of the black race, the yellow race, and the white race, where was found the red race. The white race became supreme, and exhibited the utmost selfishness in relation to the others. The white race had prohibited the yellow race coming to our shore; had stolen the lands of the red race; and had enslaved the black race. What of the future of the 7,000,000 black people of this country? Some had claimed that the solution of the problem lay in extermination, amalgamation, or in slavery. Some had thought that the black race was incapable of taking on a higher civilization, of standing alone; but they forget that the order of a race's development does not reveal its capacity. The teutonic people overcame the latins, and the Russians might yet dominate Europe. It is unsafe to say that the black race is incapable of assuming and passing on the highest civilization. Industrial growth, material progress, must come before much intellectual progress. After the emancipation, it was thought that the blacks could not be industrially independent, for they had had no experience in holding or using capital. The ex-slaveholders predicted that the blacks would become indolent, licentious, and non-supporting.

But these fears were groundless. The black people immediately began to sustain the industries of large sections. They are no longer devoted wholly to agriculture, but are going into businesses which involve proprietorship. They are securing homes, and adorning them. They are holding fairs in which they display the results of their industry and skill in various pursuits. The most significant sign of their capacity for growth is their exhibition of sound temper, judgment, and endurance. As by the stroke of a pen they became free who for two centuries had been in the house of bondage, yet there was no breach of the peace. They had no property. Their old owners were enraged, and treated them with great indignity. The aged and infirm were cast out to endure hunger and scorn, with no shelter to protect them, and with no means of support. But the dominant class were still dependent upon the labor of the blacks which upholds the south. The negro can work more hours in the day—and wait longer for his pay—than any other man.

The black man had been faithful to the stars and stripes; he helped our armies, guided the panting northern soldier from southern prisons, and became a hardy soldier. He won his citizenship by defending the government. He was justly given the ballot. He was very ignorant, of course, but suffrage was judiciously given to him. There was no mistake about that, but only in not protecting him for a time. The ballot helped on his development as a citizen.

Although having no technical knowledge, the negro since his emancipation had bounded forward in material progress, and was undertaking to learn and discharge the duties of a citizen in spite of lack of sympathy of the whites. This progress cannot be maintained if the dense ignorance be not banished. The first effort to educate them was through the much maligned Freedmen's Bureau. The speaker gave a very affecting description of the eagerness with which the blacks tried in these schools to learn to read. Old grandmothers there worked hard to spell out the story of Jesus Christ. Mr. Bruce won great applause by a eulogy of the brave northern girls who went to the south to teach the blacks to read. He had taken an old Massachusetts clergyman to see one of these schools, who was so much impressed with what he saw that he exclaimed with Thomas Jefferson that he trembled for this country when he reflected that God is just. The north had nobly sent its money to aid in the work of education, and yet there were a million and a quarter of black children who had no education. Illiteracy among whites and blacks in Louisiana is increasing. The south was not yet recuperated from the war; their common school system was crude. There is a class of people in the south who believe in education for the few only; but there is another class that takes a broader view. This fearful ignorance in the south is important when we reflect that the blacks are citizens, not slaves.

The only remedy for this ignorance lay in federal aid, by grants of money, to education. The states of the south cannot do the work alone. We have a great surplus of money in our national treasury. Shall the taxes on tobacco and sugar be repealed while we cannot give one dollar to the south? Some wanted to abolish the tax on liquor; he would prefer to abolish liquor. He told of an impressive interview he had once with President Garfield, who felt the importance of removing the ignorance of the south. The black people walk in darkness and sit in the shadow of death.

The black people, it had been said, were very superstitious. That is so, said Mr.

Bruce. So were other peoples. He had read of a custom which prevails in some parts of Norway, where, when a death occurs, the people will not take the body out of the door or window, but will make a hole through the side of the house, put the body through it, and then close the hole tightly, the theory being that when the ghost tries to enter that house he will have a hard time of it. The black men were very superstitious, but not so much so as to try to take advantage of a ghost. The black men had many beautiful beliefs. They had always believed in the idea of the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God. The rainbow to them, even in the bitter hours of their bondage, had been an emblem of hope and the sign of a promise. They believe in God, in Jesus Christ, in the Holy Spirit, in eternal life.

The blacks in the south make excellent jurors. There had been 17 colored members of congress, and not one of them had ever been "investigated." Although they have done so much for themselves, there is discontent among them. They are theoretically the equals of all; but practically they are not. They are denied equal rights with the whites in transportation facilities. There is a lax administration of criminal laws in offenses against them. In view of these things, and of the vast increase of their numbers, writers are predicting a race conflict. It is said that in 1890 there will be 112,000,000 of these people in the south, if affairs go on as now; but before that time there will be an awful contest between blacks and whites.

He does not believe that such a conflict will take place. There will be found a remedy. It cannot be solved by any scheme of colonization; but must be done by Americanization. The black man of this country is not African, except in color. He has shown his capacity for development, and is becoming an American.

First Chamber Concert.

The first Chamber Concert of this season occurs Friday evening, November 4, at Hobart Hall, when an interesting program will be given by the Detroit Philharmonic club and Miss Alice Andrews, soprano of the Fort-st Presbyterian church in Detroit. Subscribers are requested to attend this first concert earlier than usual. It will begin promptly at 8:15 p. m., and the doors will be closed during numbers. If subscriptions to this course of concerts be increased largely, the value of the programs can be increased also.

Wedding Bells.

The marriage of Dr. Jacob Wile, of La Porte, Ind., and Miss Nannie Hammond was solemnized at the residence of the bride's father, Alderman A. Hammond, No. 46 Broadway, at eight o'clock, Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. A. Brown, of Albion, an old classmate of the groom. Mr. Fred. Davis acted as best man. The house was very tastefully decorated. After the ceremony was performed a very elaborate lunch was served. The bride was the recipient of a large number of useful and valuable presents from her many relatives and friends who were invited. The young couple left on the late train for Albion where they will make a short visit prior to taking up their residence in La Porte.

Won't be Ejected.

The board of aldermen of the city of Ann Arbor have acquired such a habit of doing a thing at one meeting and rescinding it at another, that the record they are making is likely to eclipse the record of all previous boards, and one that will cause them to be remembered for at least a generation to come. At the last meeting they ordered a sidewalk built on the north side of William-st, between Main and Second-sts, on a line established by the city engineer. The property on this block extends a few feet into the street, and the line as established by the city engineer, cuts it off; and by laying the walk as ordered, it will destroy a fine row of beautiful shade trees. The owners of the property, Edward Treadwell, L. Gruner, S. Baumgartner, John Giegler, and N. W. Cheever have served an injunction on the mayor, recorder, aldermen and the city marshal, restraining them from laying the walk, claiming that the property rightfully belongs to them. It was purchased from the Maynard estate, and has been fenced in for thirty years.

Investigating Yellows in Peaches.

Erwin F. Smith, who graduated in the University in 1886, has since been connected with the mycological section of the department of agriculture in Washington, where he has been studying grape rot and yellows in peaches. His study has led him to visit the fruit regions of Maryland and Delaware. The Farm and Home of Dover, Del., recently mentioned Mr. Smith's return to Washington, and with flattering comments on his work said: "Four thousand pits from premature peaches have been sent to the experiment stations of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Missouri, where they will be planted, and if they grow will be watched to see whether the yellows develop in them. One thousand healthy trees have been budded with diseased buds or with healthy buds from diseased trees, and 500 other healthy trees have been budded with healthy buds to serve as control experiments. This is for the purpose of proving whether or not the disease can be communicated by inoculation in this manner." These field experiments Mr. Smith will follow up with microscopical work in Washington in the endeavor to find a remedy for yellows in peaches.

Shall the $5,000 be Raised?

Some Ann Arbor gentlemen have been busy the past week raising money by subscription to employ legal talent to oppose the raising of the $5,000, voted at the special election for the purpose of booming the city. An injunction will probably be served on the supervisors in a few days, restraining them from spreading the amount on their tax rolls. The feeling among the business men of the city is much in favor of raising the money; but those who are opposed to it claim that there is a legal question involved which should be settled.

More School Board Trouble.

A new chapter has been commenced in the school board trouble in relation to the building of the proposed addition to the High School. It will be remembered that the board accepted the designs of Donaldson & Meyer, of Detroit, but part of the board insist on the architects giving a bond in a sum sufficient to insure the erection of a building in a substantial manner in accordance with plans and specifications furnished by them. This the architects refused to do, and a portion of the board insist that it is an injustice to ask them to give such a bond. The latest, however, is a letter from the attorneys of Messrs. Donaldson & Meyer, requesting the board to pay said firm for the plans and specifications, and that if the sum claimed, about $600, was not forthcoming at once, suit would be commenced in the circuit court to recover the sum claimed.

"In Hoc Signo Vinces."

Tuesday evening was a gala night for the Knights Templars of this city, the occasion being an official visit from the Right Eminent Grand Commander Hon. Thomas A. Williams, of Jackson, and Grand High Priest E. G. Robertson, of Albion. Sir Knights A. H. Traver, J. D. Clark, W. J. Caldwell, and A. D. Stiles, of Jackson, were also present, besides several members of the Ann Arbor commandry living in Ypsilanti and Chelsea. The distinguished visitors arrived on the 5:30 train and were taken to the Franklin House for tea. At eight o'clock the Ann Arbor commandry marched to the hotel and escorted them to the asylum, where the red cross degree was conferred upon Hon. N. E. Sutton, of Northfield, after which a banquet was served, of which about 80 sir knights partook. After satisfying the cravings of the inner man, speech-making was indulged in until a late hour. The Eminent Grand Commander led off, followed by the Grand High Priest; Grand Captain General Wm. G. Doty, of this city, and Sir Knight Hon. E. P. Allen, of Ypsilanti, also spoke, and from all accounts both made a decided hit.

An Employment Bureau.

There are few among the home-makers of Ann Arbor who have not more than once been obliged to face the difficulties arising from the present methods of obtaining service of any sort pertaining to household labor; and there are a few among those wishing to be employed who have not lost time and wages when seeking occupation. It is the object of this bureau to establish such means of communication between employer and employed, as will commend itself to the working interests of the community, and be of mutual benefit. The Ladies' Library, being centrally located, has been chosen as the office of the bureau, several ladies having volunteered their services in sharing the duties connected with it. A register containing names and addresses of copyists, amanuenses, dressmakers, seamstresses, menders and repairers of clothing, nurses, domestics, washers and ironers, and for the better kinds of laundry work, scrubbers, house cleaners, as well as waitresses competent to assist at times of social entertainments, will soon be opened at the bureau, and we earnestly ask those wishing for work in any of the above mentioned occupations to place their names upon the register, as well as urging the co-operation of the householders with this society of mutual help by asking for their patronage.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight brands or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 108 Wall Street, N. Y.

The Rescinding of that Order.

One drum was heard, a poor shrill drum,
As the back track was taken by Grover,
And the Bourbons looked uncomely grim
At the flag which they couldn't recover!
He took the back track of a Thursday night,
A penitent letter preparing,
By the beams of the blazing northern light,
And Daniel softly swearing!
An angry growl from the President stole,
And he seemed to the calm beholder
Like a man that had put his foot in a hole
Clear up to the blade of his shoulder.
Formal and cold his epistle ran—
He exhibited little dejection—
But steadfastly gazed on the face of Dan
And thought of next year's election!
He thought as he finished and signed his name
And read his rescinding order,
That the boys in blue would tread down his fame
And make it quite lively for Grover!
Loudly they'll talk of his copperhead style,
And curse him both frequent and hearty;
Yet little he'll care, retaining the smile
Of the fine old Bourbon party!
But half of his heavy task was o'er
When the news from the country reached him,
And he knew as he read how the veterans swore
That each loyal heart impeached him!
Slowly and sadly he bit his thumb,
On his brow was a cloudlet of thunder—
He spoke not a word, but he did beat a drum
And they left him alone with his blunder!

SAM SMALL'S BROTHER.

Why Did God Make so Much Outdoors? Two Women's Experiences.

"Sam Small, Evangelist!" The proverbial philosophy of "Old Si," the venerable plantation darkey, who gave to the world through the medium of Small's pen maxims of worldly wisdom, clothed in a verbiage of irresistible humor, has found a permanent place in humorous literature.

Great surprise was shown when it was announced that he, having been converted under the ministrations of "Sam Jones," would become an evangelist.

At first thought, a humorist in the pulpit seems incongruous. Is it really so?

No doubt the mere buffoon attempting to turn men's hearts to solemn truths would meet with only contempt. But truth is not hidden in gloom. Genuine humor frequently illustrates and fastens in the mind bits of wisdom that would otherwise pass unheeded.

In his eulogy of Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. Dr. Parker says: "Whenever he came among men, he brought June sunshine and music, and made even desponding and surly men feel that a fuller and warmer summer, 'the Kingdom of Heaven,' itself was 'at hand.'"

Mr. Small belongs to a witty family. He has a brother connected with Arroyo Knox's and "Fat Contributor's" Texas Sifting, which has had phenomenal success in the field of humorous literature. Mr. Frank A. Small is the present representative of that popular paper in England, and, like his distinguished brother, he takes a deep interest in the welfare of other people.

Under date of 48 Porten Road, Kensington, W. London, Eng., Sept. 27, 1887, he writes: "While at Yalding in Kent yesterday, I met Prof. S. Williams, Head Master of the Cleaves Endowed school. In the course of conversation about America, Professor Williams remarked that Warner's safe cure had been of great benefit to his wife, who had been much troubled with a disordered liver. Warner's safe cure (an American preparation) was all she had taken, and she had experienced none of her old trouble for some months past."

Mrs. Annie Jenness-Miller, editor of New York Dress, and a very popular woman in the fashionable world, says in her own magazine for October: "Warner's safe cure is the only medicine I ever take or recommend. In every instance it gives new energy and vitality to all my powers." This distinguished woman also says that for ladies this great remedy is "peculiarly effective."

Sam Small is likely to succeed as a moral teacher. When we remember how near together in human nature lie the fountains of laughter and of tears, the deep effect his discourses must have on the masses can easily be imagined.

"Why did God make so much outdoors?" exclaimed a little girl. We know not. He has made it and we should grow in it, broad, charitable and genial, judging everything by merit, not by prejudice.

How Sweet. A young and pretty girl stepped into a shop where a young man who had been enamored of her, but dared not speak, stood behind the counter. In order to remain as long as possible, she chattered everything. At last she said: "I believe you think I am cheating." "Oh, no," said he, "to me you are always fair." "Well," whispered the lady, "I would not stay so long bargaining if you were not so dear." She did not have to cheapen when the druggist only charged her 25 cents for "Pomeroy's Petrolin Poroused Plaster," for her mother's Rheumatism; she did not grudge this small sum, for they had found them a sure cure. For Sale by H. J. Brown, Dist. Agt. for Ann Arbor.

HALL'S $100 Reward. $100. The readers of THE REGISTER will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only Catarrh cure now known in the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength, by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The Proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars, for any case it fails to cure, send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75 Cts.

So disease, in myriad forms, fastens its fangs upon the human race. Ladies who suffer from distressing ailments peculiar to their sex, should use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhoea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensation, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation and pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

A Confidential Letter, Dated Oct. 1, 1887, Which We Publish by Permission under a Later Letter, Dated Oct. 12, 1887.

Some months ago I received your letter of inquiry. My daughter has been taking your syrup for months, now using the seventh bottle; she has been on her back bed-ridden six months with liver consumption. Since using your remedy, she has had two large abscesses of the liver, which have been cured by using your syrup. Her life has been saved, we all believe, from its use. Yet she is in a very feeble condition and takes no medicine whatever, except your syrup. I myself think it the greatest blood tonic known, and firmly believe had we known of it a year earlier my daughter would today be in sound health. Have had best medical skill, also traveled extensively for her good, but in all never found its equal. I have prescribed it to my patients and have in every case had the most desirable effect.

Very respectfully, DR. E. A. CHAPMAN, Ionia, Mich.

To Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup Co., Jackson, Mich.

Gentlemen: Your letter of the seventh inst. before me, and in reply will say: If my former letter to you will do suffering humanity any good it should be published. It was through a letter from a resident of Pontiac that first brought it to my daughter's notice, and my only regret is, that we did not know of it a year ago instead of the last six months. I shall still prescribe it to my patients, as I think it the most wonderful medicine known, or ever put before the public. Truly your reward will be great as suffering humanity is blessed, and as you become more thoroughly known. Very truly yours, DR. A. E. CHAPMAN.

Chicago and Mississippi Railway Co. Office of President & General Manager. Cincinnati, O., Nov. 15th 1887. The Charles H. Vogler Co. Baltimore Md. Gentlemen: Recently, while in the act of alighting from my car, I stepped upon a stone which, turning suddenly under my foot, threw me to the ground with a very severely sprained ankle. Suffering exceedingly, I was helped into the car, and my man rubbed me with some oily medicinal preparation and bled me in the evening with a lancet. Reaching a station where Dr. Jacobs Oil could be secured, two bottles of it were bought, and the application resulted at once in relief from pain which had become well nigh insupportable. In all, five bottles of the Oil were used, and I was out and about my work in three days, when, ordinarily, I would have been confined to my room for at least a week. I am not in the habit of giving patent medicine testimonials, but in this instance, Dr. Jacobs Oil did all that is claimed for it, and much more. I see no reason why I should not say so. When a doctor sees a God-true by a man, no one hesitates to give him grateful credit, and I don't see but that the same rule should apply with a remedy. Yours, Very truly, Chas. H. Vogler, Pres. COUNTY.

Bridgewater has a band. They are threshing corn in Lodi.

There are 166 school districts in Washtenaw county.

A Clinton cider mill turns out 85 barrels of cider per day.

A new bridge is being built over the Saline river, near the big marsh.

Home talent will produce the "Union Spy" in Manchester, Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

D. M. Fiske will lecture in Saline on November 8, on "An hour at world building."

The first shipment of dressed poultry, from Manchester, this season, was made last week.

The Ypsilanti road, now that the toll-gate system has been abolished, is being improved by graveling.

The Saline opera house has been leased to the cornet band, of that place, and John Gillen will manage it.

Jas. Kyte, of Saline, isn't complaining about a scarcity of potatoes. He raised 295 bushels, all on an acre and a half.

Mrs. Eli Benton, an old lady of about 73 years, living on Lodi Plains, fell down cellar Tuesday, and broke her arm near the shoulder.

Seneca Litchard, of Saline, recently returned from the land of cotton and brought back with him several specimens of cotton balls, which are now on exhibition in the Saline postoffice.

Henry G. Cerkendall, once proprietor of the Norville hotel, has been pardoned out of the Detroit house of correction, by President Cleveland, in which he was serving a four years' sentence for having counterfeit coins on his person.

Leader: J. E. Cheney's shoe store was raided Wednesday night, the thieves entering at the rear, and helping themselves to the amount of $50. They also took some scarf pins, etc., from Murdoch's stock. A night watch is now in order.

Leader: The Hon. Wirt Dexter, of Chicago, has kindly presented to the Ladies' Library Association, of Dexter, the very liberal amount of twenty-five dollars for the purpose of purchasing books. It is a generous gift, and greatly appreciated by the members of the Ladies' Library.

Albert Perry, of Sharon, lost a valuable cow on Friday last. He had a Poland China boar running in the pasture, and it became angry and with its tusks severed a vein on the cow's body, from which she lost a large amount of blood, causing her death. Albert has confined that hog in a pen.

At Bay Port—German Charitable Institution in Detroit.

To the Editor of THE REGISTER: I, with my family, have returned from Bay Port, Mich., where we visited my son Bertrand and his family.

Bay Port is on Saginaw bay. There are three islands about two miles from the shore. One of them, Mason isle, is owned by Warner, the 'safe cure' man who once did business in Ann Arbor.

His term isle is owned by a Saginaw club, and North isle by Gillingham, a religious seer who has written volumes of his revelations. Wm. L. Webber, of East Saginaw, has erected here a magnificent hotel in the Queen Anne style, 96x54, and is now adding, right in the woods at Bay Port, another 126x64. The basement is in the rock which underlies Bay Port.

The first layer is the birds-eye marble, the second the carboniferous limestone; below that a sandstone. Mr. Webber has built the S. T. & L. H. R. R. from Saginaw to Bay Port, and is developing the extensive stone quarries of the vicinity.

Lung diseases are not known there, and those afflicted with them are soon relieved. I met Mr. Webber, who is now constructing a channel from the hotel through the rock to the bay, for a perfect sewerage. He is building a palatial summer residence of the sandstone from his quarries. The surrounding country, although sandy near the bay, is a rich clay, and will in time be the finest garden of the Saginaw valley.

I spent a very pleasant Sunday in Detroit, assisting in the celebration of the eighth anniversary of the Zoar Orphanage and Home for the Aged, founded by Rev. Wm. Hanson, and supported by Germans. It is the only German institution of that kind in Michigan, and promises to be the best charitable institute in the state.

Hanson had no money but lots of faith when he bought thirty city lots eight years ago near the fort. He has now three large buildings erected, and supports 70 persons. The next building will be a workshop and printing office. The institute has many friends in and about Ann Arbor.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Leavenworth & Burr Publishing Co., Detroit, Mich., has issued a Pocket Chart of Co-operative Life Insurance Associations of the country.

The November number of "The Popular Science Monthly" will contain the fifth paper of the Hon. David A. Wells's discussions on "The Economic Disturbances since 1873."

In it Mr. Wells will show that increased facilities and cheapness of manufacture and transportation have been the chief factor in depressing prices.

While scarcity of gold has had but little to do with the matter; in fact, that gold is not scarce, but is more abundant, in proportion to the need of it, than ever before.

M. G. P. Serviss's admirable articles on "Astronomy with an Opera-Glass" will be continued in the November number of "The Popular Science Monthly" with a paper on "The Stars of Autumn," in which many of the most interesting constellations and other celestial objects will be described.

The November number of the Magazine of Art is one of unusual excellence, and it has some special features that add to its attractions.

The frontispiece is an etching from a painting by Emile Wauters, "The Madness of Hugo Van der Goes." This painting was the sensation of the Brussels Salon of 1872, and tells with extraordinary power the story of Van Eyck's unfortunate pupil who went mad for love's sake, and took refuge in a monastery.

The leading article is on M. Wauters, and in it we are given facsimile in sanguine of sketches from his portfolio, besides a page engraving from one of his famous paintings, some of his other best known pictures and a portrait of himself. The description of Geo. Augustus Sala's house in London is continued and profusely illustrated.

Art notes will be found fresh and full—Cassell & Company, New York. 35 cents a number, $3.50 a year in advance.

November ends the Wide Awake year with a thanksgiving number in all but the technical sense. Besides the long stories that come to an end—there are none beginning; next month is the time to begin there is rich and varied fare.

The year has been a rich one. We look with expectation—What can the new year bring to surpass it? But we have a hint in the Premium List, a wonderful document. We never saw such a list, so generous handling of generous things!

Let every family send five cents to D. Lophor Company, Boston, for a sample copy, if only to get that list of good things to be got for a little neighborly work.

THE CHICAGO ANARCHISTS. Their Application for a Writ of Error Before the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The case of the common Chicago anarchists is exciting great interest in this city, and when it came up in the United States Supreme Court yesterday the court-room was packed by people anxious to hear the arguments for and against a writ of error.

Three hours were evenly divided between Randolph Tucker, counsel for the prisoners, and Attorney-General Hunt, for the state, and to-day the same length of time will be allowed to General Butler for the anarchists and Mr. Grinnell for the state.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The hearing of the motion of the anarchists for a writ of error was concluded in the United States Supreme Court yesterday. The concluding arguments were made by State's Attorney Grinnell and General Butler—the latter of whom complained that matter had been introduced into the case that did not appear in the record, and that the lives of his clients had thus been put in jeopardy.

He asked for an extension of time in which to discuss this extraneous matter, but it was not granted. At the conclusion of General Butler's argument the court took the case under advisement. It is thought a decision will be rendered on Monday next.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The Supreme Court did not render its decision in the anarchist case yesterday. The Chief Justice said it would be forthcoming by Wednesday or Thursday of this week. The opinion prevails that it will be unfavorable to the petitioners, though of course no intimation to that effect has been given by any of the Justices.

Washington Territory. WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Governor Eugene Semple, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, places the population of the Territory at 143,669; taxable property, $50,683,896; railroad mileage, 1,060; approximate acreage of coal lands, 180,000. Governor Semple recommends that the Territory be admitted as a State into the Union.

Enforcing the Anti-Tobacco Law. CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Mayor Roche has instructed the police to prosecute all saloons or tobacco shops that sell cigars, cigarettes or chewing tobacco to boys under 16 years of age. Several arrests have been made. The proceedings are had under the new law passed at the last session of the Legislature prohibiting the sale of cigars, etc., to minors.

League and World Champions. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—The last game of the world's base-ball championship series, played in this city yesterday, resulted: St. Louis, 9; Detroit, 2. In the fifteen games, of which Detroit won ten, Detroit scored 71 and the St. Louis Browns 53 runs. The Detroit club now holds the championship of the National League and of the world.

An Editor Slain. ASHLAND, O., Oct. 31.—W. H. Reynolds, editor of the Times, was shot and killed Saturday morning by James Mason, brother of C. D. Mason, of Ashland, who has a libel suit against Reynolds. Reynolds was collecting evidence in the case, when he met Mason, and an altercation ensued, ending by his being shot. Mason was arrested.

More Cholera Victims. NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Rigid Dom nico, aged 1 year, and Giovanni Mendazona, aged 6 years, both passengers on the quarantined ship Britannia, died of cholera at Swinburne Island since Saturday night. Angelo Celano, aged 40, was taken from the Britannia to the hospital, being stricken with the cholera.

Wants the Fortifications Strengthened. LONDON, Oct. 31.—In a recent article Sir Charles Dilke argues that Great Britain should expend £5,000,000 for new rifles and £2,500,000 for fortifying military and commercial stations, in order to be able to cope with her neighbors in case of war.

POLITICAL ISSUES.

What the Politicians Are Doing in Various Localities.

Opening of the Prohibition Campaign in Michigan—The Republicans and Irving Hall Democrats in New York Join Hands—Other News.

AMONG THE POLITICIANS. DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 27.—The campaign in Michigan opened Tuesday evening with a meeting of Prohibition leaders, who mapped out their course for the fall work.

These Prohibitionists mean business. Every county in the State is to be thoroughly canvassed, workers are to be sent from headquarters here, and there is to be a weekly report from every township from this time until after the spring elections. Here in Detroit the cold-water advocates will put a full city ticket in the field.

New York, Oct. 27.—The Republican county convention nominated Tuesday night District Attorney Martine for judge of the court of general sessions, and Delancy Nicol, his assistant, for district attorney. Both are Democrats. Irving Hall has endorsed these nominations, and will, it is said, vote the entire Republican ticket.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Civil-Service Commissioner Lyman is in accord with the view expressed by Mr. Oberly in his letter to the Illinois association. He thinks that political organizations made up of those engaged in the public service of the party in power are calculated to defeat one object of the Civil-Service law—that of securing a service in which partisan politics as a trade shall have no place.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Congressman Kelley, familiarly known as "Pig-Iron" Kelley, says that if the Democrats should introduce the repeal of the tobacco tax in a scheme of revenue revision as a separate measure the Republicans would accept it, but if it should be connected with one to reduce the customs duties they will oppose it.

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—Several members of the Republican State Committee jointly with a number of other prominent and influential Republicans held a meeting yesterday afternoon to talk over the location of the next National Republican convention. After some discussion a committee of twelve leading men of the party, including ex-Senator John B. Henderson, as chairman; R. T. Van Horn, of Kansas City, Missouri; a member of the Republican National Committee, and R. C. Widdicombe, chairman of the Republican State Committee, was appointed to take charge of the whole matter and do every thing possible to prevail upon the National Committee to select St. Louis as the place to hold the next Republican convention.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 27.—The exciting political campaign in this city terminated yesterday with the re-election of Latrobe (Dem.) as mayor by a majority of 4,205.

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The State Committee of the Butler Independent party nominated a State ticket yesterday afternoon headed by Henry B. Lovering for Governor.

THE CHICAGO ANARCHISTS. Their Application for a Writ of Error Before the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The case of the common Chicago anarchists is exciting great interest in this city, and when it came up in the United States Supreme Court yesterday the court-room was packed by people anxious to hear the arguments for and against a writ of error.

A Horse Who Can Talk.

Everybody has heard of a "horse laugh," but who has ever seen an equine gifted with the power of speech? Such an animal would be pronounced a miracle; but so would the telegraph and the telephone have been a hundred years ago. Why, very recently a cure for consumption would have been looked upon as miraculous, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it, if taken in time. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when all other means have failed. Thousands can gratefully testify to this. All druggists.

THE REGISTER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY KITTREDGE & HOLMES,
ANN ARBOR, MICH.
TERMS:
One Dollar per year in Advance; $1.50
if not paid until after six months.
Fifteen Cents per year additional, to Subscribers outside of Washtenaw County.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1887.

A CHANGE.

As has already been learned by many of our readers, a change in the ownership and management of THE REGISTER occurred on the first day of this month. Mr. Howard M. Holmes, of Lansing, recently connected with the State Board of Health, has purchased a half interest in the entire establishment, and the new firm will devote their time and energy to keeping the paper abreast of the times, and in making it the best newspaper in Washtenaw county. Already deep in the affections of the people, as is evident from its having the largest subscription list in the county, we are certain that THE REGISTER will continue to increase in prosperity. The four years during which the former owner had control of THE REGISTER were pleasant and successful, and he is more satisfied today than when he took possession that it is bound to live and flourish and to be the organ of the people for many long years.

THE NEW YORK ELECTION.

The election in New York, next Tuesday, is of more than usual interest, even for the Empire state; first, because of its influence on the national election of next year; second, because of the entrance of the united labor party into the contest; and third, because of the fearful corruption which exists in the politics of New York, more especially of the metropolis.

The republicans have General Grant's oldest son as their candidate for secretary of state, the highest place on the ticket; and their success, which seems certain, means a strong attempt to make a presidential ticket from the Lincoln and Grant families. This would be a unique political move, and would arouse much enthusiasm; but it is open to serious objections. However, it is a question which Col. Grant's election in New York is almost certain to bring upon republicans if Mr. Blaine does not prove to have from the start a majority of the convention in his favor.

The united labor party, with Henry George as the candidate for secretary of state, is an unknown quantity, it must be confessed. Last year Mr. George received 68,000 votes for mayor of New York, and his party, with the same platform which it has now, stood second in the race. They claim that but for the grossest frauds at the polls, Mr. George would now be mayor of New York. With the view of preventing these frauds another time, they secured the passage of a bill which they supposed would give them one inspector at each polling-place, but in this the democratic authorities have overruled them, which causes much bitterness and adds intensity to the strife. It would be unwise to attempt an estimate of the united labor party strength in New York. Some of the most enthusiastic of Mr. George's followers claim 300,000 votes; some of the experienced democrats, who certainly are not prejudiced in Mr. George's favor, admit that he will receive a large vote, possibly 100,000. The New York delegates to the recent knights of labor convention claimed that the vote in New York city would reach 40,000. The 68,000 votes of one year ago included the socialists who will not vote for George now, and also a large number who, in state or national election, would return to their old parties. The Georgites are claiming between 80,000 and 90,000 votes in the city, and while it would not be more surprising than was the result last year, probably some allowance should be made for enthusiasm.

It seems almost certain, however, that the united labor party vote will at least reach 100,000 in the state. The enthusiasm in their ranks must be very great to induce the women to carry on in New York city a fair which netted nearly $11,000 for the campaign funds. One gentleman in Philadelphia pays for the printing of a million tracts to be distributed in New York state. Money is sent to the campaign fund from every state in the union, and from Canada, England and Australia. Mr. George, Dr. McGlynn, Judge Maguire, of San Francisco, and representatives of different trades unions, with a large number of other speakers, are making an active campaign among the farmers of the state, preaching to them the land doctrine laid down in "Progress and Poverty." What all this will bring forth, it is impossible to tell. If the vote for George should be large, it would make him a very disturbing element in the next presidential election. Most of the politicians and newspapers in New York affect not to see this, and sneer at the movement or ignore it entirely, which strikes many as being a little foolish. It would be better to manfully face the truth.

The state of New York city politics is only equalled by the politics of Baltimore. In Baltimore, 130 men of known bad reputation were at one time judges of election, and 30 of them had 63 criminal indictments hanging over them. We have no figures of the kind for New York city; but presume they are just as striking. A city in which a criminal, "Fatty" Walsh, holds a responsible office, must display some very interesting features in its elections. The New York Evening Post, usually favorable to democratic success, says that the democratic leaders have assessed their twelve candidates on the city ticket to the amount of $223,500. In the election one year ago, Mayor Hewitt was assessed and paid $25,000 for campaign purposes. The two candidates for state senator each pay $5,000, although their salaries amount to only $3,000 each. Wm. M. Ivis, an official in New York city who ought to know, says that an average election in the city costs $700,000. A large part of it is for actually necessary expenses; but its collection and disbursement necessitate "ward politicians" such as only the large cities can produce, and cause practices which have a demoralizing influence upon our politics.

This corruption is the fault of the system, and not so much of any party; but it has caused an amount of dissatisfaction and disgust that has and will lead many to vote the prohibition and united labor tickets who have no real sympathy with their platforms, and thus it will be an element in this election. Mr. George's vote may not be made up entirely of those who understand and approve his doctrines.

EQUALIZED (?) VALUATIONS IN WASHTEENAW COUNTY.

The board of supervisors has raised the assessed valuation of Ann Arbor city $585,000, and has decreased the valuations of 14 or 15 of the townships in sums varying from $20,000 to $37,000. This exceedingly large increase for Ann Arbor is causing much expression of indignation by our citizens. The tax-payers of Ann Arbor will never object to a reasonable rise in taxes; but this increase of more than half a million dollars is unreasonable. It is well known, for the facts have been set forth in detail in these columns, that Ann Arbor has been improved during the past year. Its taxable property has certainly increased, but not to such an extent as to justify the imposition of such a heavy burden. THE REGISTER, Sept. 1, showed that residences, business blocks, and improvements, to the value of about $175,000, had been constructed during the year. These new buildings and evidences of prosperity undoubtedly had the effect of raising land values in the city slightly. There has been a steady, healthy growth in Ann Arbor, there can be no doubt, and no well-wisher of the city can desire to deny it; but there is nothing in these facts on which to base the conclusion that the city's valuation should be raised more than half a million at one swoop, while the valuations of rich and growing townships are lowered.

Mr. Chamberlain, who is coming to America to represent England on the fisheries commission, of which President Angell will be a member, seems to lack the discretion of a good diplomat. He is fresh from making bitter speeches in Ireland against home rule, and has recently uttered offensive remarks concerning the Irish of the United States. Chamberlain is a deeply disappointed man. He aimed at winning the highest parliamentary place in England, and made a bid for the support of the growing democracy by playing the part of a radical reformer, while his instincts are conservative and aristocratic. Thomas Sexton, in a speech in the house of commons, well described him when he said that if Chamberlain had lived in the time of Nero, he would have played second fiddle while Rome was burning. Although his ability is second class, and he has no genuine sympathy with the oppressed, he might have become prime minister had he possessed more patience. But Gladstone persisted in living; and now Chamberlain's speeches supporting coercion for Ireland, such as England has not attempted, before in this century, sound odd when compared with his denunciations of coercion of a few months ago. Such a sudden and unreasonable change makes it impossible to believe, that he is truly patriotic.

It is difficult to see just how Mr. Bruce's "race problem" differs materially from the "labor problem" as we see it everywhere. Mr. Bruce virtually recognized this when he said that material progress must come before intellectual progress. Illiteracy in the south is great, but the difference between the north and south in that respect is probably not so great as the census shows. And the blacks of the south are hardly treated with more indignity than the coal miners of Pennsylvania and some women operatives in factories in the north. In Pennsylvania 125,000 children under 15 years of age work in factories and mines, and 300,000 of school age do not attend school. This presents the same difficult problem as the condition of the blacks and poor whites in the south; and it is impossible to believe that national help to education can solve the question, although it may do a great deal. Mr. Bruce should try again to solve the "race problem."

INDEPENDENT voting received a setback in the Baltimore city election last week. That city has long been the stamping ground of as hard a set of "toughs," political and otherwise, as can be found in the world. A large number of democrats became disgusted, and determined to overthrow the ring, which not only controls the city, but the state, by voting for the republican candidates. They secured the inspection of the registration lists by the courts, and a large number of names were stricken off; but in spite of all this, the democratic candidate was elected by an increased majority. Somebody has said that "the government of cities is the great problem of the day." Independent voting will have to be very general before it can solve this one of the many great problems of the day. So far, the independents are not a match for the repeaters and thugs.

"MALADIE DU COIT" is the name of a new contagious disease among horses in America, of which bulletin No. 29 of the Agricultural college gives the latest information. The disease has appeared in Illinois, and has caused much alarm, but so far it has been confined to two counties. The mortality among horses affected with this disease is sometimes 70 per cent.

WHEN reading the daily accounts of the attempts made by the English treasury government to crush free speech in Ireland, one must wonder if there is not some strange mistake about it. They sound more in keeping with the spirit of the seventeenth century.

OUR CAPTAIN JAMES.
A Good Word for the Captain from a Sister State.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, Oct. 26, 1887.

To the Editor:
DEAR SIR:—We have to thank Ann Arbor and the temperance people of Michigan for the loan of her adopted son. When it was known that Captain James was visiting the home of his boyhood, the ladies of the W. C. T. U. immediately requested him to address the people of this place on the subject of "Intoxicants and Intoxication," upon which the Captain has become a specialist. Accordingly a series of six lectures was arranged for. No work was ever more opportune or more cordially received. The impression produced upon a large audience in the M. E. church on Sunday was profound, and will be lasting and fruitful. A still larger audience greeted him on Monday evening in the Lutheran church and on yesterday evening in the Presbyterian church. We all knew the exceptional and even wonderful life the Captain had lived, his talents and services to this country and the cause of enlightenment and human progress abroad. We had heard his matchless lectures on Japan; but were unprepared for the glowing eloquence, the intelligent enthusiasm, and the rare educational power he brings to the service of the greatest of modern reforms. It is little to say that his advent here seemed to be providential. The result of his work promises to be phenomenal in the extension and strengthening of our organization, the demand for more and better literature, and kindling afresh the determination to change the attitude of government and law toward the saloon abomination, to enact and enforce prohibition of the liquor traffic. In these lectures Capt. James has the hearty co-operation and support of the ministers and the Christian people of the place. Arrangements are being made to have these lectures repeated in the neighboring towns, Urichsville and Dover.
Respectfully,
W. H. RAY,
Supt. of Schools.

ON THE CAMPUS.

Next Saturday is field day.

The lit. junior plug hats will be furnished by A. L. Noble.

Edward de Pont is the new messenger in Secretary Wade's office.

The seminary rooms this year are pretty well filled with special students.

The Alpha Deltas will hold their convention this year at New York city.

Mrs. T. J. Wrampelmeier, of Santiago, California, is visiting friends in the city.

The first Chamber Concert at Hobart Hall is announced for Friday, November 4.

Nafe, '89, went east last week as delegate to the Delta U. convention at Rutgers College.

The dramatic club have chosen for president, C. T. Alexander, and for secretary, J. H. Lee.

The Alpha Nu and the Adelphi literary societies held no meeting last week on account of the lecture.

The lit class of '90 will hold their election Saturday, in Room A, at 9:30 a. m. A great struggle is predicted.

Maxwell, a dent., participated in a rush on the campus last Saturday morning and the result was a broken nose.

Prof. Adams has re-arranged the seats in his lecture room so that they are much more convenient than before.

The sophomore class will be entertained by their vice-president, tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock, at 42 Liberty-st.

The boys have made the most of the fine weather of the past few weeks, exercising in various ways upon the campus.

Miss Nellie Garrigues will give a course in callisthenics at the school of music. It is intended especially for the ladies.

A game of base ball was played last week between the Chi Pals and the Zetas, resulting in the victory of the former.

At the political economy seminary last night Kiskadden reported on "Guilds" and F. C. Clark on the "East India Company."

The freshmen lits met for election of officers, Saturday. They adjourned for two weeks without having made any elections.

The Sunday morning meeting of the Students' Christian Association will be conducted by R. S. Smith; subject, "Bible Study."

The junior laws at their meeting last Saturday adopted a clause providing for the election of class officers on the first Saturday in November.

"Cocaine and its Derivatives" is the title of a new book published by G. S. Davis, Detroit, and of which F. G. Novy, of the University, is author.

Several of the juniors in the literary department entered upon the University system at the beginning of the year. The system is getting quite popular.

Among the smart feats performed last Monday night by the bowling Halloweeners was the taking off gates and leaving them to be found by the owners.

The young ladies of the Sophomore class will give a social for the gentlemen of the class, Friday evening, Nov. 4, at the residence of J. R. Miner, 42 E. Liberty street.

The program of the Engineering Society for Friday evening, November 4th, is as follows: "Sewerage at Old Orchard Beach," by F. H. Richardson; "Division Work on Railroad Construction," by W. W. Seymour; "Preliminary Railroad Survey," by F. C. Davis.

The junior lits at their meeting last Saturday selected the festive plug as class hat, and elected the following officers: President, Clyde V. Nafe, Rochester, Ind.; vice-president, Miss Bertha Joslyn, of Port Huron; secretary and treasurer, Fred. S. Loomis, of Chicago, Ill.

The question "Who will be the junior law class officers?" has not yet been answered, though that class tried to solve the problem at its meeting last Saturday. Several ballots were taken, but the boys could not agree upon any candidates and accordingly adjourned sine die.

Prof. Adams' seminary course in political economy is one of the most interesting courses in the whole catalogue. The reports made by the members of the class show that the boys are doing thorough and conscientious work in the investigation of the subjects assigned to them.

The junior and freshmen medics were to contest for foot-ball honors on the campus last Saturday morning, but owing to the inexplicable absence of the freshmen, their would-be opponents were obliged to retire from the field of battle with their thirst for freshman gore unsatiated.

The senior laws held a meeting last Saturday morning for the election of class officers. As usual, factious spirit ran high. After having taken several informal ballots for president, they adjourned sine die, having accomplished nothing except to find out that it takes time to elect a senior law class president.

One of our students who has been doing good work among the criminal class of Chicago, stated at a young people's meeting that the criminal arrests in Chicago for the year past amounted to 48,000, 16,000 of which were women, and one of the most vicious and depraved among them was a girl only 11 years old.

In the bodies of the three persons who died mysteriously at Milan a few weeks ago, F. G. Novy, assistant in sanitary science, found the poison tyrotoxin, which was undoubtedly the cause of death. The poison was produced by the bad sanitary condition of the pantry in which the milk and cream were kept.

The Sans Souci dancing club gave their first hop of the season last Friday evening. It was a brilliant affair and a great success so far as enjoyment goes. The attendance was made up largely of University students, only a few High School students being present. The club will give a hop on the last Friday evening of each month during the season.

The senior lits had a meeting last Saturday, at 10 a. m. for the purpose of electing class officers. Powell and Mann received 57 and 52 votes respectively on an informal ballot for president, but all attempts to make the ballot formal were fruitless. The class adjourned to next Saturday, when the struggle will be resumed.

Prof. F. G. Novy, of the University, has an article in the Pharmaceutische Rundschau, exposing the so-called stencarpine or gleditschine, which has been called a remarkable discovery as a new local anæsthetic. He has made an examination of it, and says it consists of cocaine hydrochloride, atropine sulphate, and salicylic acid, a compound not worthy to be called a discovery.

The Adelphi Literary Society will give a European programme at their meeting Saturday evening. Miss Rosewarne will read an essay entitled "Straits of Dover," D. B. Gahn will deliver an oration on "Bismarck." These will be followed by a debate, Resolved, That England, Ireland and Scotland should be confederate states of equal rank in a united commonwealth." A. E. Gibson has the affirmative; I. W. Adams the negative.

The bust of Plato which was purchased by Prof. Dewey's class in formal logic last year, has been put in place in Room 21, and makes a very handsome decoration. It is proposed that some of the students, who recite in this room, make a collection for the purchase of another to accompany that of Plato. A very trifling sum from each one of the members of even one section would aggregate enough to purchase the companion piece to Plato.

A movement is being made among the boys to re-open the gymnasium. Of course this can be accomplished only by the enthusiastic support of a considerable number, but the benefits to be derived from such an institution are so great that this can hardly be lacking. It has been said by a member of the medical faculty of the University, that a large portion of the diseases with which mankind is afflicted is due to inactivity or want of exercise. This fact alone ought to be a sufficient stimulus for all efforts in this direction.

Halloween was ushered in last Monday night with the usual ceremonies, and while there was but little injury done to property, the promiscuous scattering of wagons, buggies, sign-boards and hitting blocks showed that the spirits were really loose. Shortly after ten o'clock some five or six hundred students assembled on the campus, and calling out Secretary Wade, were entertained by a good-natured speech from that gentleman, who wished them a happy evening and regretted that he was not young again that he might be with them.

The Alpha Nu literary society will hold a political convention, Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, to decide who ought to be our next president. M. Rosenthal will look after the interests of Grover Cleveland, H. B. Dewey is for James G. Blaine; J. N. McBride, for Russell A. Alger; H. Bracewell, for John G. Carlisle; E. S. Shaw, for John P. St. John; R. E. Dunbar, for Henry George; J. H. Powell as usual looks out for the interests of the milder sex and will see to it that Belys has as good a show in the race as any of them. The convention will end with a vote by the assembly.

Ypsilanti.

Miss Hattie Glover is visiting friends in Boston.

Mrs. Will Synder has returned to her home in Petoskey.

Aunt Laura Wallace, of Saline, visited friends here over Sunday, and went to Ann Arbor for a visit.

John Wilson has given up his clerkship at Rexford's, and has taken Mr. Webb's place at Sweet's.

M. C. Webb, one of W. S. Sweet's clerks, is about to start out in the dry goods business in Mason.

The first tandem tricycle made its appearance on the streets Saturday last, attracting some attention.

Mrs. Sam Rathfon and children returned to Escanaba, Wednesday, after a few weeks' visit among Ypsi. friends.

Mrs. S. M. Cutcheon and John Crosby, of Detroit, were among the guests at Mrs. Jansen's progressive euchre party last Friday evening.

There will be no services in the Episcopal church next Sunday, as the organ is being moved down from the gallery, and the moving apparatus leaves no room for worshippers.

Dr. Babbitt, who recently bid his Ypsilanti friends adieu, and took up his residence in Jackson, has returned again to his first love. Old associations were hard to sever after all, so he came back.

Joseph Bigford, for many years a resident of Saline, but for the past few years an Ypsilantian, died at the residence of his niece in Dundee last Sunday. He leaves property valued at $5000, and the same amount of life insurance.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." Mrs. E. F. ANNABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

A SCIENTIFIC FACT.

"Royal" the only Baking Powder Free from Lime and Absolutely Pure.

Lime is the serious defect found in most of the cream of tartar baking powders. As a matter of fact, chemical analysis has found it in all such powders except the "Royal." Its presence is caused by the use of adulterated cream of tartar in the effort to reduce their cost of production.

Lime adds to the weight, while it detracts from the strength of the baking powder. It also renders the food less wholesome, giving rise to dyspepsia and kindred ailments. Baking powders containing lime produce less leavening gas, and therefore in use are more expensive than a first-class, pure article.

The Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar that is first specially refined and made chemically pure. No tartrate of lime or other impurity can find its way into the "Royal," and to this fact its great superiority in strength, wholesomeness and keeping quality is due.

All this adds greatly to the cost of manufacturing the Royal Baking Powder, but as all its ingredients are selected and prepared with the same precise care and regardless of labor or expense, an article is produced that is free from every extraneous substance—"absolutely pure." Nor does it contain any ingredients except those necessary to make a pure, wholesome and perfect baking powder.

Prof. McMurtrie, late chemist in chief to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, after analyzing the cream of tartar used by the various baking powders of the market, reported as follows:

"I have examined the cream of tartar manufactured for and used by the Royal Baking Powder Company in their baking powder, and find it to be perfectly pure and free from lime in any form."

Prof. Love, who made the analyses of baking powders for the N. Y. State Board of Health, as well as for the Government, certifies to the purity and wholesomeness of the Royal.

Dr. E. H. Bartley, chemist of the Brooklyn, N. Y., Department of Health, says: "I have recently analyzed samples of the Royal Baking Powder purchased by myself in the stores of this city, and find it free from lime in any form."

Bread, cake, biscuits, etc., prepared with Royal Baking Powder, will be lighter, sweeter and more wholesome than if made with any other baking powder or leavening agent.

NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

Proclamation by the President, Fixing November 24 as the Day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The following proclamation was issued late Tuesday afternoon by the President of the United States: "The goodness and the mercy of God which have followed the American people during all the days of the past year claim their grateful recognition and humble acknowledgment. By His omnipotent power He has protected us from war and pestilence and from every National calamity; by His gracious favor the earth has yielded a generous return to the labors of the husbandman, and every path of honest toil has led to comfort and contentment; by His loving kindness the hearts of our people have been replenished with fraternal sentiments and patriotic endeavor, and by His unerring guidance we have been directed in the way of National prosperity."

"To the end that we may, with one accord, testify our gratitude for all these blessings, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 24th day of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, to be observed by all the people of the United States."

"On that day let all our work and employment be suspended. Let our people assemble in their accustomed places of worship, and with prayer and songs of praise give thanks to our Heavenly Father for all He has done for us, while we humbly implore His forgiveness for our sins, and a continuance of His mercy. Let families and kindred be united on that day; let their hearts, filled with kindly cheer and affectionate reminiscences, be turned in thankfulness to the source of all their pleasures and Giver of all that makes the day glad and joyous."

"And in the midst of our happiness let us remember the poor, the needy and the unfortunate, and by our gifts of charity and benevolence let us increase the number of those who with grateful hearts shall join in our thanksgiving."

"In witness whereof I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed."

"Done at the city of Washington this twenty-fifth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States the one hundredth and twelfth."

"GROVER CLEVELAND, President."

"THOMAS F. HAYARD, Secretary of State."

A FOREIGN PROTEST.

President Cleveland Held Responsible for the Lives of the Anarchists.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The first foreign protest against the execution of the Chicago Anarchists, addressed to the President of the United States, was received at the White House Friday. The document read as follows:

"THE HAGUE, Holland, Oct. 15.—To the President of the United States: The Council-General of the Social Democratic Federation in Holland, feeling indignant at the infamous judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of the Chicago Anarchists, holds that the throwing of a bomb in the meeting held May 4, 1886, was provoked by an outrageous assault of the police upon the people's rights of free speech. Furthermore, as the thrower of the bomb is not known, the charging of the seven Anarchists with the guilt of this act is essentially arbitrary and the outgrowth of class hatred. Therefore, the Social Democratic Federation of Holland, in the name of humanity, liberty and justice, protesting against the sentence of death passed upon the Chicago Anarchists, and despite the ruling classes for making themselves a party to this murder; shall hold the President of the United States personally responsible if their lives are taken."

"THE COUNCIL CHAMBER, 'C. CHOLL, Secretary."

Agitation in Wales.

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 31.—The National League convention, which opened here Saturday morning, has drawn an immense concourse of people to the city, and intense interest is manifested in the proceedings. It is the opening gun of a general campaign among Welshmen in support of the claims of their brethren across the Irish channel, and between now and Christmas meetings will be held in every town, village and hamlet in the principality.

Love's of Peace.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—President Cleveland yesterday received the peace commissioners from Great Britain, who desired his co-operation in securing a treaty between that country and the United States which shall provide for the amicable settlement of disputes by arbitration. Rt. Hon. Lyon Playfair addressed the President in support of the movement, and Mr. Cleveland responded, promising to give the matter faithful and careful consideration.

O'Brien in Prison.

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—The sentence of three months' imprisonment against William O'Brien for using seditious language at a National League meeting in Mitchellstown, was confirmed yesterday. His arrest was the signal for a free fight between the police and his sympathizers, in which the officers were finally victorious after a severe struggle.

A Monument for Lee.

Fight at a Camp-Meeting.

BRIGHTON, S. C., Oct. 29.—During a quarrel at a negro camp-meeting near here one man was killed and six others were fatally injured.

STRANGE SCENES AT MACON.

Tears and Cheers at a Reception to Jeff Davis.

MACON, Ga., Oct. 27.—Jefferson Davis was tendered a reception in this city yesterday. The first feature of the day was the presentation of several badges to Mr. Davis and his daughters, Mrs. Hays and Miss Winnie. The badges, which were very beautiful, all bore conspicuously on their faces Confederate flags and printed sentiments. At 2 o'clock the old soldiers marched to the mansion of Captain Johnson, where Mr. Davis reviewed them. Mr. Davis sat in a large easy chair, and Mrs. Davis sat beside him. The daughters stood at their parents' sides, and back of them stood several distinguished citizens of Georgia. The old veterans broke ranks and began climbing up on the porch. They scrambled and fought and yelled, but the enthusiasm was not at its height until somebody handed the ragged battle-flag of the Third Georgia regiment over the heads of the crowd. Then the storm blew its worst. Mr. Davis grasped them to his lips. This was the signal for the most violent breaking forth. The air was full of such expressions as "God bless Jeff Davis!" "God bless the flag!" Men in the crowd broke down and men and women on the porch bowed and, in a moment the entire multitude was in tears. Mr. Davis himself and his wife and daughter wept with the crowd. Senator Colquitt pressed to the front and took the flag-staff one end of which he placed in Mr. Davis' feeble hand, and then with the aid of the Senator the old Confederate President waved the battle-torn ensign over the heads of the people, who yelled, threw their hats away and cried like so many children. Mrs. Davis tore off a shred of the flag and placed it within the bosom of her dress. Mr. Davis then arose and said:

"Friends and brothers: I am like that old flag, tattered and torn by storms and years. I love it for its own sake and for yours. Love it as a memento of what your fathers did and what they hoped you would do."

"At this point another flag—one of the old original flags with the three bars and the eleven stars—was passed up, and Mr. Davis and the entire family kissed and wept over it. Last night 5,000 veterans and sons of veterans were in line marching through the streets carrying torches and old bullet-riven flags that had been pierced by Federal balls. They paraded up and down the streets to the lively air of 'Dixie.' Never before has a Southern city seen such a demonstration since the war."

Probable Changes in the Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The latest story about the changes in the Cabinet when Secretary Lamar leaves the Interior Department to go on the Supreme bench, as it is now known, is that Colonel Vilas has asked to be excused from taking charge of the Interior Department. First Assistant Postmaster-General Stevenson is now looked upon as the man who will succeed Secretary Lamar. If he goes into the Cabinet as Secretary of the Interior M. M. Ham, of Dubuque, Ia., will succeed him in the Post-Office Department.

Unwelcome Arrivals.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Eighteen Italians, all but two of whom came from the cholera-infected port, Palermo, on this city on the 16th inst. Health-Commissioner De Wolf was not notified of the fact until yesterday, when he immediately began a thorough and partially successful search for the unwelcome immigrants.

Excitement in the Oil Country.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 29.—Great excitement prevails at Saxenburg, Butler County, Pa., over the discovery of oil, and preparations are being made to sink forty wells. A town called Garden City is under way, and hotels and farm-houses are overcrowded with newcomers. Land is selling at fabulous prices.

The Delphi Lynching.

DELPHI, Ind., Oct. 29.—The latest developments in the matter of the recent lynching of Amer Green was the dismissal of William Walker on a nolle prosequi entered by the prosecuting attorney. Walker had been held under an indictment and $5,000 bail as an accomplice of Green's in the murder of Lucia Mabbitt.

Willing to Stop Polygamy.

SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., Oct. 31.—It is said that the leaders of the Mormons have been so harassed and annoyed of late that they would be quite willing to openly forbid the practice of polygamy if they would not be afraid that by so doing they would endanger the entire church structure.

A Monument for Lee.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28.—In spite of the rainy weather, thousands of people from Virginia and adjacent States were present in this city yesterday at the ceremony of laying the corner-stone of the Lee Monument. A number of prominent ex-Confederate Generals took part in the parade.

What Am I To Do?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unpleasantly but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquors but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhea or Constipation may be a symptom, or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache in the acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER; it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

An African tribe is governed by a ruler who has no tongue. He is not only the king but the king dumb.

Don't disgust everybody by hawking, blowing and spitting, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and be cured.

Dr. Keck's Blood Elixir is the only cure for Ulcers, Eruptions or Syphilitic Poisoning. It purifies the whole system, and banishes all Rheumatic and Neuralgic pains. We guarantee it. JOHN MOORE, Druggist.

A learned M. D. has discovered that the cause of baldness is great intellectuality. May it not be intellectuality, then, that drives the bald heads to the front row? Savants should get to work on this.

How I Felt.

Why, two years ago I was just about crazy, and was afraid that my wife and children were no friend of me. You just wait to suffer with neuralgia with no relief as I did until I used Sulphur Bitters. They cured me, and now my wife says I am cured as a lamb.—Robert Davis, American House, Boston.

A VILLAINOUS DEED.
Desperate Men Wreck a Freight Train Near Morris, Ill.
A Telegraph Pole Does the Work—The Engineer and Fireman Killed—The Express Train, for Which the Trap
Was Laid, Fortunately Late.

DESPERATE WRECKERS.
MORRIS, Ill., Oct. 29.—A most diabolical
plot was laid near this city early yesterday morning to wreck the Kansas City passenger train on the Rock Island road. The wreckers succeeded partially, but the fated train was a freight, and not the heavily-loaded passenger train. The villains placed a telegraph pole with the butt-end toward the approaching train
on the track, and the engine
and a dozen cars were piled in a heap,
making a mound of broken timbers, car
wheels and freight. The saddest part,
however, was that Engineer John Mills
and Fireman William Orth were both killed outright. John Kane, head brakeman, who was in the cab when the crash
came, saved himself by jumping out,
spraining his left ankle badly and receiving a score of cuts and bruises from flying pieces of timber. The men killed both lived in Chicago, where they each have a family. On striking the obstruction
the engineer whistled for brakes, when a flying missile struck him on the head and laid him prostrate, and the escaping steam hurried his awful death.
The fireman was unable to jump soon enough, and when he did so the first car was pushed against him and he was horribly mangled. His remains were found under the fire-box of the locomotive
by the side of the car, and were so completely covered with debris that the body was not found for nearly an hour
after the accident. The coroner's jury is at work on the case. The train expected to have been wrecked was thirty minutes late. Had it been on time the fate of the passengers would have been as horrible as that of the victims of the Chats-
worth disaster, judging from the manner
in which the first five freight-cars, loaded
with brick, scrap-iron, paper-car wheels
and grain, were reduced to splinters.
Excitement here over the wreck continues to grow, since it has been definitely ascertained that the obstruction was placed on the track with the deliberate purpose of wrecking the passenger train. The excitement is augmented by the growing belief that the Schwartz-Watts express car murderers and robbers, and their friends planned the crime. A reward of $2,000 has already been offered by the Rock Island
Company, and detectives are on the ground.

MUST CLOSE UP THE DENS.
Governor Rusk, of Wisconsin, Determined to Wipe Out the Infamous Resorts at Marinette and Hurley.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Madison
says that Governor Rusk has determined to either clean out the infamous dens at Marinette and Hurley or know the reason why. The county authorities do not perform their duty. He has no authority under the law to clean out the dens himself, but he is empowered to compel the county officers to perform their sworn duty, or remove them for incompetency. Governor Rusk has become thoroughly aroused at the villainy reported in Marinette County by Julia Howden, of Chicago, who claims to have been inveigled into a den there,
kept a prisoner and forced to submit to the demands of the male visitors. He has sent an imperative letter to the authorities there, demanding that they take immediate steps looking to the removal of the great evil which has so disgraced the commonwealth of Wisconsin.

Set Himself Afire.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 30.—Lina Geissert,
daughter of a saloon-keeper, poured kerosene over her clothes Friday and then applied a match to her dress. She was in flames in an instant, and before she could be rescued was fatally burned. She was released from an insane asylum a short time ago.
A New Line Projected.
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—A new through line
from the Atlantic to the Pacific is promised,
owing to an alliance that has been formed
by the Northern Pacific, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, Michigan Central, and
New York Central & Hudson River railroads.

Saloon Blown Up by Dynamite.
PERU, Ind., Oct. 30.—The saloon of Peter
Camp at Russiaville, twelve miles west of Kokomo, was blown up by dynamite at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The building and contents were completely wrecked, as well as a livery stable adjoining, in which a man who slept there was badly injured.

The Cheboygan lumber cut for this season
is estimated at 107,000,000 feet.
Philip Kuehn, an aged German, was seen walking home from Republic the other night with two men named Boss and Fredlinghaus. His body was found in a deserted mine the next morning. His companions were arrested for murdering and robbing
the old man.
It is estimated that the yield of wheat in Michigan will reach 22,815,153 bushels.
Potatoes are about one-third of a crop, and
winter apples one-half an average crop.
John Mills, aged sixty-six years, a farmer,
of Bangor, Bay County, was thrown from his wagon recently and fatally injured.
Michael Shallow was fatally injured by a fall of a scaffold on which he was working in the Wyandotte ship-yard the other day.
John A. Fletcher, of Sault Ste. Marie, fell over the side of a ferryboat while sailing
down the river near his home the other night, and notwithstanding all the efforts
made to save him, was drowned.
Senator Stockbridge has bought one hundred acres on Mackinac Island for ten thousand dollars and will establish a summer residence there.

The Iron Chief, Sunday, Lake, Phoenix,
George Washington, West Presque Isle and Florence mining properties at Bessemer
were recently attached by miners on account of wages. The claims against the first two companies were said to amount to $10,000.
Charles H. Plummer, a wealthy lumberman of East Saginaw, offers to each of the families of the police officers murdered at the Haymarket, Chicago, forty acres of as good beach and maple farming land as there is in the State of Michigan, conditioned only on their occupying the same. He will also give to each family sufficient lumber to erect a residence.

At the recent Baptist State convention in Kalamazoo a proposition to found a $20,000
Edward Olney Memorial Professorship was adopted, and $1,000 was raised on the spot.
Also $25,000 toward defraying current expenses for the next five years was asked
and raised.
Isaac Thompson, a farmer living two miles east of Romeo, was in the village a few days ago for the first in fifteen years.
Rev. Thomas P. Ryan, who was shot and killed by burglars near Walton, W. Va., the other night, was brother to Rev.
Edward W. Ryan, of Bay City.
Augustus Tucker, an old man, of Coldwater, was recently sentenced to Ionia for nine months, and also to pay one hundred dollars fine, for assault with intent to commit great bodily harm.

The Alpha Oil Company of Detroit, with a capital of $6,000,000, having extensive works in Canada, and owning a bank, a pipe-line, etc., collapsed recently. An immense amount of money was sunk in the scheme.
John Evans was crushed to death the other day by the fall of a pile of lumber on the dock at Menominee.
Two car-loads of Texas steers escaped to the woods from Ishpeming recently, and thereby hangs a tale. The owner, who knew of no better way to reclaim his property, went out and shot all of the herd that he could find. Then some friends of his,
who thought the sport must be great because the game was, went out to shoot the rest of them for him. They found plenty of cattle and had bagged eight or ten before a farmer turned up with a club and drove them away. They had been shooting creamy cows.

Edward Mason, a young colored boy, fell into the river from a row-boat at Port Huron
the other day and was drowned.
Napoleon German, aged sixty-four years,
living near Belleville, fell while climbing
over a load of wood the other day, and the team started and drew the wheels over him,
killing him instantly. He had lived here
fifty-three years, and leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter.
Mrs. George Whedon, of Coldwater, dropped dead of heart-disease a few afternoons ago. She was in apparent good health in the morning. She was about forty-five years of age.
Mrs. Alvin Porter, of Jackson, while lighting a gasoline stove the other day caught
her dress on fire and was burned to death.
Emil Wagner, aged seventeen years, was working in Cleves & Son's foundry in Hancock the other day when the chain of the crane he was handling accidentally touched an electric light wire overhead, and the shock killed Wagner instantly.

Reports to the State Board of Health by fifty-one observers in different parts of the State for the week ended October 22 indicated that remittent fever, typho-malarial fever, influenza, bronchitis and intermittent fever increased, and diarrhea, cholera mor-
bus, consumption of the lungs and inflammation of the bowels decreased a few afternoons ago. Diphtheria was reported at twenty-nine places, scarlet fever at seventeen, typhoid fever at twenty-three, measles
at six places and small-pox at Detroit.

Hannah Tiddler, aged nine years, was run over by a Central train and killed in Jackson recently.
Burglars went through the hardware store
of Buck & Son, at Battle Creek, the other night and stole some revolvers. They also drilled into the safe and knocked off the combination dial and handle but could not open it. Loss, $250.
Detroit brewers have pledged financial aid to the saloon-keepers to contest the constitutionality of the new State liquor laws.
Egbert C. Preston, of Detroit, secretary of the Michigan Fire and Marine Insurance Company, died suddenly on a train on the Flint & Pere Marquette railway near East
Saginaw a few days ago. He was fifty-two years old.
Peter Dow, aged seventy years, ex-member of the Legislature and a prominent man
in Oakland County, was killed a few days ago while hunting in Dakota.

A Coldwater man was recently fined
twenty-four dollars for cruelty to animals.
Dempsey, Simpson & Co.'s saw and shingle mill at Manistee, together with two million feet of lumber, blacksmith shop,
tenement houses, dock, etc., were consumed by fire a few nights ago. Loss, $100,000.

Sanders, of East Saginaw; Consoiler, Albert Dodge, of Bowlesville; Vice Templar,
B. J. Knapp, of Howell; Secretary, John
Evans, of Belleville; Treasurer, P. Connell, of Muskegon; Superintendent Juvenile Templars, Mrs. J. B. Knapp, of Howell.

Joel Deitz, an advertising agent, became suddenly insane the other night at Bay City and shot Dr. Baker twice, fire several times at officers who attempted to arrest
him, and then sent a bullet through his own heart. The physician was not dangerously hurt.
Highland Park Hotel, near Detroit, was burned a few nights ago, with a loss of $50,000.

BIRTH OF THE FLAG.
The Home in Which the First American
Ensign Was Made—It Is Still Standing
But Is Now Used as a Beer Saloon.
On Arch Street, below Third, says the Philadelphia Press, stands a little old building, two stories and a half high, bearing a sign which informs the passer-by that within the house was made the first American flag and that in these days he can buy beer
or liquor there.
Early in 1777 a committee appointed by the Continental Congress to select a design for a National flag went with General Washington to the little shop of Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, at 328 Arch street, to have their ideas embodied in bunting. Mrs. Ross was a milliner, whose principal business was among the Quaker ladies, and in the projecting window were hung the correct forms of the brown and drab bonnets, about whose
make-up the women of the Friends' Society
were and are as particular as the lady who now stops one's view at the theater. General Washington sketched on a scrap of paper the design agreed upon. There were thirteen stripes of alternate white and red,
and in the blue union were to be thirteen white stars ranged in a circle. There is a tradition that General Washington ordered that the stars have six points, and that Mrs.
Ross argued that the stars in the sky
seemed to have only five points. She won the day by showing her visitors how a star
with five points could be made with one clip
of her scissors. The flag was made in her little back room, and on July 4 of the same year Congress adopted the design as the National banner.

The building has changed but little since then. A large tree which stood in front of it during the Revolution survived until 1876, when it became dangerous and was cut down. But the house stands as it then did. Even Mrs. Ross' show window is preserved and the wooden shutters on the second-story windows and the dormer window in the sharply-sloping roof are the same that looked down on Arch street a hundred years ago.
The bar-room would even now be recognized as Mrs. Ross' shop if one of that committee could now revisit it. Passing from this room through a narrow entry and up two steps, one enters Mrs. Ross' work room, where, without doubt, the flag was cut out and sewed together. It is even now a queer old room. On its furthest end is the old fire-place now covered with wallpaper but showing at the top a row of the blue and white tiles which once surrounded
it. Built into one corner is a three-cornered wooden cupboard. The very locks and knobs on the doors are of the pattern of the last century. The stairways of this house are all winding and very narrow. That leading to the cellar is very steep. The attic is still floored with the puncheon

boards which once were the only flooring
in the house—an inch thick and eighteen inches wide. The only new thing about the whole structure is a back-kitchen built
within the last few years.
Mrs. Amelia Mund, a comely German widow, who keeps the tavern and owns the property, told what she knew of the history of the building since the time of Mrs. Ross.
"It was occupied by a tailor's shop for many years, and my husband bought it over forty-five years ago. Neither he nor I would allow anything to be changed, unless an absolute necessity to keep the building from going to pieces. It is strong and well built and has needed very little repairing. When the floor of what was the shop was taken up some years ago the original floor was taken away, as it could not be kept from falling into the cellar. People came from long distances to get pieces of it
as relics, and one gentleman had a board
made into a table and draped it with the American flag. The house until two or three weeks ago never had a sign to tell people that the first American flag was made here, but I thought people ought to know. Anyway, I've had no end of visitors to inquire about the old house. Not many of them were Philadelphians, for they don't seem to care much about the relics of the revolution nowadays, but a great many Western people and visitors to the city
have come to this house, and taken as much interest in it as they did in Independence Hall."

One Such Man Was Enough.
He was awaiting his reply, and it came
tinged with a slight suspicion of business.
She was a young widow.
"I can not conceal from you, Mr. Smith,"
she said, "and I would not if I could, that
the warm sentiments you have just expressed are not unpleasing to me, and, in a measure, voice my own regard. But before I promise to intrust my future happiness
into your keeping I must ask a question.
Are you ever troubled with dyspepsia?"
Mr. Smith foolishly admitted that he was.
"Then all is over between us," said the fair widow. "My first husband had dyspepsia."
Then the unfortunate dyspeptic went out into the night, and in his despair at three Welsh rarebits before going to bed.—N. Y.
Sun.

Translated from the German.
Mr. Blow loves to show off. His great desire is to impress people with the fact that he has money. He entered a crowded restaurant and created a sensation by pounding on the table with his cane, to attract the attention of the waiter.
"Blow—Waiter, have you any of that high-priced champagne?"
"Waiter—I'm very sorry, but we have it not."
"How about that five-dollar a bottle Burgundy of the vintage of 1831?"
"We have none."
"How much do you charge for a keg of Bavarian beer?"
"Two thalers."
"Bring me two kegs."—Schalk.

What Interested Him.
It is an unsafe thing to permit freedom
of speech among what Dickens calls "human boys," unless one can hold himself
prepared for heterodox statements and questions.
"And now," said a Sunday-school teacher,
"you may ask any question you like."
A little boy raised his hand.
"Well, what is it, Willie?"
"Be we goin' to have a picnic this year?"

LIFE IN NEW ORLEANS.
Street Scenes as Viewed by a Northern Sightseer—Glimpse of an Interior.
The singular dual life of the Crescent City took vehement hold of the imagination of the old clergyman. On one side of its great artery, Canal street, is a powerful American city, firmly established, fully abreast of the trade and industry of the time, and clutching eagerly for its share of the commerce of the world. It is vitalized now with an energy which, if not pure Yankee in character, is very closely akin to it.
Here are cities of wharves heaped with cotton and sugar, the wharves massively built, through which the endless tides of human life ebb and flow all day, magnificent avenues stretching away out to the country,
lined with modern hotels, club houses and huge dwellings, each flanked by one or two picturesque towers, which, on inspection,
turn out to be only cisterns.
There is the necessary complement of black shadow below these vivid high lights. Poverty and vice live more out of doors in New Orleans than in northern cities. There they are, barefaced, leering, always on the familiar pave, to be seen and known of all men. Back of all signs of wealth and gayety, too, is the mud, a material, clammy horror. The water,
a deadly enemy here, perpetually fought and
forced back, rushes in, whenever a day's rain gives it vantage, at every crevice, floods the streets and clogs the drains. It oozes out of the ground wherever you step on it, drips
down the walls of your drawing room, stains
your books a coffee color, clings to you,
chilly and damp, in your clothes and in your bed, turns the air you breathe into a cold stream, and washes your dead out of their graves.
So the old man and the girl, being about the same age ("as old as the Babes in the Wood," quoth Mrs. Ely), fell into the habit of strolling in the early morning or gathering
twilight through the network of oddly silent
streets, so narrow that the overhanging eaves
nearly met over the cobblestone pavements.
Steep roofs, scaled with earthen tiles and
green with moss, hooded dormer windows
peeping out from like half shut eyes, rose
abruptly from the one storied houses. Here
and there a cobbler sat on his bench in the
street plying his awl and singing to himself,
or a group of swarthy, half naked boys knelt
on the banquet, flinging their arms about
in a gambling game for pennies, and shrieking in some wild dialect, half negro and half French.

His walks usually ended on the Boulevard
Esplanade. Even that wide thoroughfare fell into quiet in the afternoon as the long
shadows of the trees lay heavily across it.
Within the close walls they could catch a glimpse of the courts about which the houses
are built, the glitter of fountains shaded by
orange trees and broad leaved tropical plants.
Sometimes a jalousied window would be left
open, and they would catch the tinkle of a
guitar or the sound of a woman's voice singing.—Rebecca Harding Davis in Harper's
Magazine.

A Left Handed Barber.
"I had a peculiar experience the other day,"
said a city hall official. "I was shaved by a
left handed barber and it was very queer.
Did you ever try it? Well, don't. I was in a constant state of terror so soon as the man gave me the first swipe with the razor. It looked so confounded awkward that I expected every moment to hear a piece of my nose drop on the floor. In reality he gave me a clean shave, but the pleasure was spoiled by the anticipation of pain. I've had a left handed barber cut my hair before this
and I didn't mind it, but I'll excuse left handed shavers in the future."—Philadelphia

LIFE'S JOURNEY.
As we speed out of youth's sunny station
The tracks seem to shine in the light,
But a sudden shadow ever chasms
Or sinks into tunnels of night.
And the hearts that were brave in the morning
Are filled with repining and fears
As they pause at the city of sorrow
Or pass thro' the Valley of Tears.

But the road of this perilous journey
The hand of the Master has made;
With all its discomforts and dangers,
We need not be sad or afraid.
Ways plunging from gloom to despair,
Wind out thro' the tunnels of midnight
To fields that are blooming and fair.

'Tis the Grand Central point of all railways,
All roads center here when they end;
'Tis the first resort of all tourists,
All rival lines meet here to contend.
All tickets, all mile books, all passes
If stolen or begged for or bought,
On whatever road or division,
Will bring you at last to the spot.

If you pause at the City of Trouble
Or wait in the Valley of Tears,
Be patient, the train will move onward
And rush down the track of the years.
Whatever the place you seek for,
Whatever your aim or your quest,
You shall come at the last with rejoicing
To the beautiful City of Rest.

You shall store all your baggage of worries,
You shall find old friends on fair waters,
You shall sail with old friends on fair waters,
With joy and delight at the helm.
You shall wander in cool, fragrant gardens
With those who have loved you the best,
And the hopes that were lost in life's journey
You shall find in the City of Rest.

green with moss, hooded dormer windows
peeping out from like half shut eyes, rose
abruptly from the one storied houses. Here
and there a cobbler sat on his bench in the
street plying his awl and singing to himself,
or a group of swarthy, half naked boys knelt
on the banquet, flinging their arms about
in a gambling game for pennies, and shriek-
ing in some wild dialect, half negro and half French.

His walks usually ended on the Boulevard
Esplanade. Even that wide thoroughfare fell
into quiet in the afternoon as the long
shadows of the trees lay heavily across it.
Within the close walls they could catch a
glimpse of the courts about which the houses
are built, the glitter of fountains shaded by
orange trees and broad leaved tropical plants.
Sometimes a jalousied window would be left
open, and they would catch the tinkle of a
guitar or the sound of a woman's voice singing.—Rebecca Harding Davis in Harper's Magazine.

A Time of Grace.
I know the steward of a large institution
who was bothered by the tardiness of his subordinates in returning to the place at night. He spoke to them several times, and their invariable complaint was that they couldn't possibly get around any sooner.
The regular hour for being inside the gates
was 10 o'clock. Every night long stragglers, who came wandering in ten, fifteen and even twenty minutes late. The steward was at his wits' end. He wanted the "help" to obey the rule prescribed by the regulations, and yet he didn't want to be harsh on them. After long deliberation he had about decided to extend the hour to 10:30 and issue stringent orders to have the gates closed and barred at that hour, and not opened again under any consideration until the following morning.
Before doing so, however, he spoke to the gatekeeper, telling him of the resolve to the old lodge keeper had his annoyance and wonderment with all the dilatory ones, so after hearing the steward's statement he looked up quickly and remarked: "Now, don't ye think ye had better make it a quarter of 10 and give them fifteen minutes' grace to get there?
If ye extend the time to half after 10 ye'll
have them, just as sure as fate, comin' in ten minutes later." The old attendant's suggestion was acted upon, the hour fixed for a quarter of 10, and now the steward rests easy,
for all his subordinates are inside the walls
within the appointed hour and the time of grace.—"Observer" in Philadelphia Call.</

We Stirred the Town!

WE knew the $16.00 Plush Wraps, the $25.00 Seal Plush Sack, 42 inch; Satin lined and richly trimmed Astrachan Jackets, $4.50 and $5.50; English Check Tailor-made Jackets, $4.50; Boucle Short Wraps with or without the tail trimmings, $10, were unheard of prices, but we didn't expect such a rush of buyers the first week. The above are only a few of our styles. How many kinds of New Clocks for this fall do you think we have? If we were to put the numbers in figures it would look like advertising brag. Let any of you who like to look at handsome Cloaks come and count the different kinds and we will have you to spend the day with us, sure.

HERE are three examples: One lot of 25 Frize Wraps, handsomely trimmed, $10, $12 and $15, made to sell for $20 and $25. One lot of 10 Silk Circulars, $8, made to sell for $16. One lot of 13 Silk Circulars, $20. This lot includes Circulars made to sell for $23, $28 and $32. A very elegant Garment for old and young ladies.

COTTON COMFORTABLES.

No shoddy in the filling—every scrap of it thoroughly cleaned cotton. Great variety of patterns. Double-bed size. Very good one for $1, little better cover for $1.25 and $1.50. Satteen, one side turkey-red, $2 and $2.50. "Tuck-in" Comfortables, 2 yds. square. The good old fashioned size, covered with Turkey-red chints, ornamental border, hand-quilted, $3.

Blankets.—Not a bit too early to be thinking about them. It is a rare time for blanket buyers, too.

50 PAIR each 10-4 white blankets at 90c. and $1.25. Surprising price, isn't it? They are not all wool. You see and feel only the cotton. A great deal of blanket for little of money.

50 PAIR 6 lb. 11-4 white blankets, $4.50 and $5 a pair. These are extra value.

A LITTLE FINER if you choose, 11-4, $6, $8, $10 and $12.

WE KNOW of no seller of Underwear in the city who either keeps so great a variety as we or gathers it with equal care as to quality. We will mention just one price. 1 Case Gents' Scarlet all wool Underwear, at 96c., worth $1.25.

OUR GOLDEN FLEECE SAXONY is the best in the world. Our PRICE is the Lowest.

OUR GERMANTOWN Yarn is the best in the world. Ask for Midnight Zephyr. It is unequalled by any as to quality, elasticity, evenness of thread, finish and brilliancy of colors and shades.

OUR SPACE is limited, will tell you s'mother day about Hosiery, Underwear, Table Linens, Towels, Handkerchiefs, Napkins, Skirts and Skirting.

SPECIAL.—50 Silk Umbrellas, $2.75; worth $3.50. Gold Handles.

Short notes are solicited from those who cannot attend, upon any subject touching upon horticulture or bee-keeping.

The Grand Rapids Evening Leader of Oct. 15th, says: "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," that sterling old temperance drama, was presented at Powers' last night for the first time in many years. The play has been changed materially during its retirement, its lines brushed up and otherwise improved. It is still a strong temperance champion, and the temperance advocates at least should give the performance their patronage. The company is a good one, and the pathos and humor of the play is well presented. The child actress, Baby de Castro, came in for a liberal share of applause.

At the regular meeting of Washtenaw lodge, I. O. G. T., held Monday evening, the following persons were elected to fill the respective offices for the ensuing three months: Chief templar, R. A. Frank I. Frayne.

In speaking of Frank I. Frayne, who will be seen at the Grand Opera House next Tuesday evening, in the successful drama, "Mardo the Hunter," the New York Times says: "Lovers of the sensational will thoroughly appreciate the dramatic pabulum provided at the Third Avenue Theatre this week. Mr. Frank I. Frayne and his talented company are appearing in 'Mardo the Hunter.' The play is literally crammed with sensational effects, and no one can witness its performance without being thoroughly and deeply interested in every scene. The burning bridge, the czar's palace, the Siberian snowstorm and the burning of a convict hut are all scenes of the most realistic description.
