VOL. XIV. NO. 32.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1888.

WHOLE NO. 711.

CONDEMNNS THE WATER.

THE COMMON COUNCIL LISTENS TO THE HEALTH OFFICERS.

What They Say Isn't Pleasant--The Street Railway Project--Opening of Second-st.

The regular monthly meeting of the common council was held Monday evening in the council rooms.

Present, Mayor Beakes, Recorder Bach, Aldermen Allmendinger, Sutherland, Herz, Martin, Kearns, Spokes, O'Mara, Miller, Ware, Wines and Barker.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

The rules were suspended to permit J. F. Lawrence to make a statement on behalf of the proposed new street car company. He stated that the company was composed of gentlemen from Ithaca, Mich., and that they desired to establish a line of street cars in the city. He had prepared an ordinance such as they would be willing to go to work under, if the council saw fit to pass it. He suggested the appointment of a committee to confer with the company and report to the council.

The ordinance for the street railway grants permission to the Ann Arbor street railway company "to construct, own and maintain street passenger railways with single or double tracks, etc. The tracks are to be of the best material used, and will be 4 feet 8 1/2 inches apart; the cars to be drawn by horses or mules, and to run as often as the council shall prescribe "provided that cars shall not be required to run oftener than every fifteen minutes between the hours of 6 a. m. and 8 p. m." The cars will have patent cash boxes and no conductors except on public days. The city is to be "held forever harmless from any and all damages which may occur to persons or property by reason of negligent construction, use or management of said street railway." If the company fail to live up to the requirements of the ordinance the city can take possession of the company's property. The lines must all be completed before 1891. The route must be as follows:

ROUTE NO. ONE.

Commencing at the south end of the Michigan Central Railroad bridge; thence south on Detroit street to Catherine street; thence west on Catherine to Main street; thence south on Main to Packard street; thence southeasterly on Packard to Madison street; thence east on Madison to State street; thence south on State-st to Monroe street; thence east on Monroe to Forest avenue; thence south on Forest avenue to Hill street; thence east on Hill street to Washtenaw avenue. Also commencing on Main street; thence west on William street to the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Northern Michigan railway depot.

ROUTE NO. TWO.

Commencing at the intersection of Washtenaw avenue and Hill street; thence north on Washtenaw avenue to North University avenue; thence west on North University avenue to State street. And from Madison street North on State street to the Michigan Central depot.

ROUTE NO. THREE.

Commencing at the intersection of Huron and State street; thence west on Huron street to the west boundary of the city.

Routes Nos. 1 and 2, and that part of Route No. 3 lying between Main and State streets shall be completed in the year 1889, and the remainder of Route No. 3 in the year 1890.

The company is to have a 30 years' franchise according to this proposed ordinance.

SANITARY WORK.

A communication from W. F. Breakey, health officer, was read, recommending the appointment of an inspector to examine the houses and yards in the city for the purpose of finding out the sanitary condition of the city, the work to be done under the direction of the board of health, the expense not to exceed $100. A resolution authorizing the board to have such work done was passed.

OPENING SECOND STREET.

A communication from Prof. J. B. Davis, relative to the cost of opening second-st., was read. The estimated cost of removing the dirt was $511.55; wooden bridge, $165; stone bridge, $325, as council preferred.

GOING FOR THE WATER COMPANY.

A communication from the board of health was read concerning the condition of the water supplied to the city by the water works. The communication dated April 30 from Mr. Breakey, health officer, was addressed to A. W. Hamilton, superintendent of the Ann Arbor Water company, and gave the results of a personal inspection of the source of water supply for the city. He mentions finding filth in the streams emptying into the pipe, and protests against cows standing and drinking in them. He states farther that the field through which the stream flows is used as a cow pasture the year round, and that no effort has been made to prevent the stream from being fouled. "On the contrary, a broken dam and inlet tile show where until very recently water was taken from a still worse stream containing also the direct drainage of three barn and stable yards." The doctor then closes as follows: "My opinion and advice is that you immediately stop the inflow of water from that filthy stream and not let any more of it run into your pipe until the bed and banks of the stream have been cleaned and assurance given that it would be kept clean and the water pure."

A communication was also read from H. B. Dodsley, secretary of the board of health, embodying a resolution passed by the board dated July 2, to the effect that "unless provision is made at once to secure the purification of the water of that stream or prevent its inflow to the water basin that this Board will give public notice to the council and citizens that in the opinion of its members the water is unfit and unsafe for domestic and culinary uses."

A communication dated Aug. 6, signed by W. F. Breakey, health officer, and C. G. Darling, health officer for Ann Arbor township, addressed to the Mayor and council was read, containing the following language: "But a farther inspection revealed a shocking condition of filth in the principal remaining stream from which water was taken, caused by cattle making a drinking place at the very point where the stream emptied into the pipe."

The communication goes on to say that the company were notified, and that the water from that stream was shut off; "but in a few weeks water was found again running into the pipes from this stream and the two streams draining the stable yards."

"This the superintendent states was without his instruction or knowledge, and that the water was turned in by employees to rinse (?) the receiving basin. He gave a verbal promise at a meeting of the board that there would be no more trouble about it. But about July 1 water was again found running from this stream which had not been cleaned into the pipe."

The communication then states that after the company had been served with the copy of the resolution passed, the water was temporarily shut off, and the stream partially leached in, but in such a way that it did not prevent the cows from making the stream their roosting place as of yore. Concerning the communication to the company covering the matter the health officers say: "We have received no acknowledgment of this communication, and are reluctantly left to believe that the water company is either unwilling or unable to comply with the reasonable recommendations of this board to secure to the citizens what they pay for and have a right to expect, i. e., water, if not absolutely pure, at least free from filth."

A communication, dated Aug. 3, to the superintendent of the water company, signed by Eli W. Moore, president, W. F. Breakey and C. G. Darling, health officers, was read, embodying the substance of the other communications.

The communications were placed on file, and a committee, consisting of Recorder Bach, and Aldermen Kearns and O'Mara, were appointed to confer with the city attorney as to what steps should be taken in the matter, and report at the meeting next Monday night.

The finance committee reported the expenditures for July $1806.81.

The city treasurer reported balance on hand $2132.49. Moneys disbursed $4972.14.

Marshal Siple's report showed five arrests during July as follows: Drunk, 1; assault and battery, 1; breach of peace, 3. The barn and fence of A. A. Terry was ordered removed farther back on the lot, as it encroached on the street.

The bond of Christian and Otmar Eberbach, with August-Hutzel and Leonard Gruner sureties, was approved.

Mayor Beakes then addressed the council concerning the conference with Mr. Ashley in regard to the new depot, and said that nothing would induce him to build a depot costing more than $3000 or $3,500.

Alderman Allmendinger said that Mr. Ashley offered to submit the plans of the proposed depot to the council, so that they could see what sort of a building was proposed, and offered a resolution to the effect that the council accept the offer. Mayor Beakes called Ald. Ware to the chair and opposed the resolution, moving that it be laid on the table, which was done. Mr. Beakes spoke at some length in opposition to spending any money in opening new streets, as the city did not have the money to spare.

The following was adopted: Resolved, That the committee on fire department and the city marshal take any measures necessary to prevent the erection of any building in the block south of the court house square if said building does not conform to the requirements of the ordinance for fire limits.

The following was adopted: Resolved, That the street committee consult with the University authorities and report on the feasibility of having a grass strip 18 feet wide about the middle row of trees surrounding the campus, and the closing up of the inside drive entirely to save the trees.

Mr. Allmendinger said that trees were being ruined all over the city by driving to close to them, which fact prompted the resolution.

The following by Ald. Wines was adopted: Resolved, That the mayor appoint some competent person to investigate and ascertain if possible the cause of so many of our shade trees dying; this work to be done under the direction of the mayor.

Mayor Beakes then appointed a committee of three composed of Aldermen Allmendinger, Wines and Sutherland to confer with the street car company and report.

A communication was read from Fred. J. Schleele, asking permission to build a 30 foot addition to the rear of his store on Main-st., the same to be covered with iron.

The Register Looks it Over.

Yesterday, in company with Supt. Hamilton of the Water Co., a REGISTER reporter visited the scene of complaints made by the board of health, concerning the water on Mr. Allen's farm north of the city. The stream referred to as receiving the washings from the barn-yards is not used at all, and was only used once, Mr. Hamilton says, last summer, during a dry spell. The main stream has been fenced in where it empties into the pipe, and above the fence the stream which has been confined to the bed and banks of the stream, is being filled with stone to prevent the cattle from standing therein, which will greatly lessen, if not wholly prevent, all possibility of the stream being fouled. Cattle are permitted to run in the field, a thing the company claim they cannot prevent, and M. Hamilton thinks that he is doing all he can to keep the water pure.

BUSINESS MEN MEET AT LAST.

Officers Elected--Letter from H. W. Ashley Saying What's What About the Depot.

The annual meeting of the Ann Arbor Business Men's association was held in the court house, Friday evening, August 3, 1888. The meeting was called to order by Nelson J. Kyer, president. After the minutes of previous meetings had been read the treasurer reported having received $207.53, and having paid out the same amount. The report was adopted. A committee was appointed to recommend officers for the association for the ensuing year. The report was unanimously adopted and the officers are as follows:

President, Thomas J. Keech.
Vice President, Frederick Schmidt.
Cor. Secretary, Eugene K. Fruanoff.
Sec. Secretary, Gilbert Bliss.
Treasurer, A. L. Noble.
Director, J. E. Beal.

A communication from Harry W. Ashley, general manager of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Northern Michigan railway company, in regard to opening Second-st was read. It is as follows:

T. A. A. & N. M. RAILWAY CO.
TOLEDO, Ohio, July 21st, 1888.
N. J. Kyer Esq., Pres. Business Men's Association, Ann Arbor, Mich.

DEAR SIR:--It is reported that a meeting of your association has been called for the purpose of taking measures to induce this company to build a new passenger station in your city.

It seems proper and fair that the plans and intentions of this company in respect to this work be understood by your members before any action is determined upon by your organization.

Complaints in regard to the character of our present accommodations, have been numerous for the past four or five years; the officers of the company have recognized that the present structure was insufficient and unsuitable for the class of people who are compelled to use them. It was determined that a new station should be built as soon as the financial condition of the company would permit. With this in view, about a year ago, we purchased by condemnation a piece of land suitable in size and location for our purpose. It lies south of William-st about 200 feet and is so situated that any passenger train can stop at the proposed station without blocking or interfering with any street. This property was selected after we had the assurance of Mr. Davis, your city engineer, that Second-st was opened as shown in the original plot. It was our intention at that time to build a station of stone and brick and of a design somewhat ornamental. Your city council could not be induced to grade Second-st as we requested and as it was late in the season it was decided to postpone the work until this summer.

Sometime in May I wrote Mr. Sedgwick D-an that the company was ready to build a new passenger station in his city, provided the city council would grade the extension of Second-st. The authorities have refused to do so unless the company would agree to build such a passenger station as they considered suitable.

A railroad company does not differ in the management of its affairs from any business--the miller or the farmer. If this company were paying dividends on its stock, its officers would perhaps look favorably upon the suggestion of the members of your city council. It would be absurd, however, for a farmer or a miller or a railroad to borrow money to ornament its property when its revenue was only sufficient to pay its expenses and maintain its property up to the standard of its business.

It will not be out of place to call your attention to the fact that this road has done, and is today doing more to advertise your city abroad than even the Michigan Central by the building of its beautiful and expensive passenger station. The local equipment of this road is all marked simply "Ann Arbor," and the road is known everywhere, except in your city, as the "Ann Arbor road." Its construction has given your people better prices for their products and a cheaper market in which to buy. It is believed that these few assisted its construction by donations feel well repaid financially.

If your citizens wish to open Second-st, as the officers of this company have suggested, the company will undertake to build during this year a suitable building for the accommodation of its passenger business in your city. It will cost about $3500. If your council does not wish to do so we must conclude that the demand for such a structure is not urgent and will take such time to do the work as is most suitable to our financial ability.

The buildings will be placed upon the site selected and be of the character described regardless of the action of your council in respect to the opening of this street. It is immaterial to the company's interest (some of its officers think contrary to it) to open Second-st, as proposed, but in my judgment such access to this building would be an accommodation to the public and should be provided.

This letter is written with a view of avoiding a misunderstanding with any of your citizens who are fairly disposed. Neither a boycott or another railroad could induce this company to expend more money on a depot at Ann Arbor or elsewhere, than in their judgment its financial condition warranted; but they all agree that a new station at Ann Arbor is desirable and that they are willing to build one which will be commodious, convenient, and well maintained, provided your city will furnish means of access which seems to some of us desirable in order to make the improvement an accommodation to your public.

Very Respectfully,
H. W. ASHLEY, Gen'l Manager.

The following motion was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That our Common Council of the City of Ann Arbor be requested to open Second street from Williams to Madison street.

The meeting was well attended, a large number of our prominent business men being present. All questions were discussed with interest, and a new life seemed to characterize the meeting. Much good has been done, and all feel that much more good will be done in our city by this association.

Another Result of Bad Water.

Dr. W. F. Breakey, our worthy health officer, has been confined to his house for the past two weeks, by reason of a severely sprained ankle, which he says was done while examining the springs from which emanate our much discussed hydrant water.

SHERIDAN IS DEAD.

The Valiant Hero Passes Away in His Sea-Side Home.

Death Said to Have Resulted from a Recurrence of His Heart-Trouble - Biographical Sketch of America's Great Soldier.

HIS WARFARE ENDED.

NONQUITT, Mass., Aug. 7.—General Philip H. Sheridan died at 10:30 o'clock p. m. Sunday from an attack of his old heart failure. Previous to the sudden appearance of heart failure at about 9:30 there had been no premonitions of any unfavorable change in his condition. The weather has been warmer than usual and the General was at times a little restless, but seemed generally bright and cheerful. His voice was strong, he took a full supply of nourishment, slept occasionally as usual, and the doctors and the family were in hopeful spirits. At 7 o'clock Mrs. Sheridan and the doctors went to the hotel for supper and soon after their return the usual preparations for the night were made. At about 9:30 Colonel Sheridan said "Good-night" to his brother and went to the hotel. At 9:30 symptoms of heart failure suddenly appeared, and Drs. O'Reilly and Matthews, who were with him at the time, immediately applied the remedies which proved successful in all similar previous attacks, but this time they were without effect, and despite all that could be done the General gradually sank into a condition of complete unconsciousness, and at 10:30 breathed his last.

The General was conscious up to within a few hours of his death. He had, however, lost the power of speech, and indicated by signs his desires. Mrs. Sheridan sat at the bedside. Next to her was Colonel Mike, and arranged around the bedside were the four children. At 9 o'clock the General gasped as if trying to cough. He was unsuccessful, and seemed to be finally distressed at some internal attack, which he could not relieve nor indicate to the family that they might apply remedies. He gradually sank into a stupor and remained unconscious to the end.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The news of General Sheridan's death causes universal sorrow in this city, where he resided for many years. John W. Doane, a warm friend of the dead soldier, said he thought his estate was valued at about $250,000. A public meeting will doubtless be held to give expression to the sorrow of the community. NONQUITT, Mass., Aug. 7.—It has been decided that General Sheridan's burial shall be in the Arlington National Cemetery and Saturday has been finally settled on as the day for the funeral. The services will be strictly military, under the charge of General Schofield. Mrs. Sheridan has received many dispatches of condolence from the country at large.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Flags have been ordered at half mast on all Government buildings in the country as a mark of respect to the memory of General Sheridan.

BIOGRAPHICAL.

General Philip Henry Sheridan was born in Somerset, O., March 8, 1831. He graduated at the military academy at West Point in 1853, and served on frontier duty in Texas for nearly two years, and in Oregon from 1855 to 1861. On the outbreak of the civil war he was appointed quartermaster of the Army of Southwestern Missouri, and in April 1862, Chief Quartermaster of the Western Department. In May, 1862, he was appointed Colonel of the Second Michigan Volunteer Cavalry; was commissioned Brigadier-General of Volunteers July 1, 1862, and, after a brief period, was put in command of the Eleventh Division of the Army of the Ohio. He commanded a division in the Army of the Cumberland, and at the battle of Stones River, December 31, 1862, saved the army from rout by his stubborn resistance. For his gallant conduct he was promoted to Major-General of Volunteers. In April, 1864, he was called to the Army of the Potomac by General Grant, put in command of the cavalry corps, and within the months of May, June and July, besides prosecuting the flanks of the army and reconnoitering the enemy's position, was successfully engaged in eighteen distinct actions. On the 4th of August, 1864, he was put in command of the Army of the Shenandoah and soon after of the middle military division, where he gained several successes over General Early, for which he was made a Brigadier-General of the United States Army, and in November following was made Major-General. He joined General Grant's army at City Point, whence he started, March 25, 1865, to strike the final blow for the overthrow of General Lee's Army of Northern Virginia. He fought the battle of Dinwiddie Court-House, March 31, and that of Five Forks, which necessitated Lee's evacuation of Richmond and Petersburg. April 1, and the Army of Northern Virginia died he constantly attacked and harassed them, and compelled their surrender at Appomattox Court-House, April 8, 1865. He was assigned to the command of the Military Division of the Southwest June 17, 1865. Under a new reorganization of the military districts and departments he was assigned to the department of the Gulf, August 15, 1866, and in March, 1867, to Fifth military district (Louisiana and Texas). President Johnson being displeased with his administration transferred him, September 13, 1867, to the department of the Missouri, where he continued until March, 1869, when, by the promotion of Sherman, he became Lieutenant-General, and assumed command of the Western and Southern military divisions with his headquarters at Chicago. On the retirement of General Sherman (February, 1868), General Sheridan succeeded to the command of the army with headquarters at Washington, where he resided. During the report of his last illness the rank of General of the Army was revived by the United States, the object being especially to secure the appointment of General Sheridan to the position in order that should he die it might be with all the honors possible for the Government to confer upon him. The plan was successful, since President Cleveland, within a few hours after the passage of the bill, sent in the name of the distinguished soldier and the Senate promptly confirmed him.

Work of a Desperado.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—A dispatch says Charles Perkins, a noted horse-thief and murderer, shot and killed two deputy United States marshals and one citizen on Saturday at Marshall's Ferry, Ind. T., while resisting arrest. Perkins occupied there were nine indictments against him for murder.

Drowned in a Storm.

VALPARAISO, Aug. 8.—During a "norther" two large barks, one English and the other French, sunk in the harbor after having been in collision. The crew of the English vessels, consisting of seventeen hands, and seven of the French crew were drowned. Five vessels were blown ashore and dashed to pieces.

One Dead, the Other Crazy.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 8.—Mrs. George Allen was burned to death by the explosion of a gasoline stove. She rushed from the house and fell upon the pavement. Every particle of clothing was burned off but her shoes. Her husband is now a maniac from the shock.

Lumber in Ashes.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 8.—Little & Craft's lumber mill and dry house were destroyed by fire, together with about $5,000 worth of lumber. The total loss is $85,000; partially insured.

BOOM! BOOM!

Not Only from the Cannon's Mouth, but in Human Actions.

If there was ever a city fairly drenched, and soaked in fact, with enthusiasm, that one is the Queen City of the West, or as laid down on the maps, Cincinnati, O. The fact of the matter is, that at the present time the eyes of the world are directed upon that locality, as that is the site selected for the principal demonstration of the people of the Northwest commemorative of the settlement of the country in 1787-8. Within a hundred years the nature of the country has changed from untamed wilderness to that of the highest stage of civilization, and the grand Centennial Exposition is given at that place by the descendants of the noble men and women who effected that change in honor of the labor and sacrifices of those who have gone before. Magnificent as the Cincinnati Expositions were when comparative local interests were concerned, they have been left in the shade by this one to whose wheel the whole United States as a body has responded with a shoulder, and the one who can say in after years that he did not visit it, will be looked upon as having missed his opportunity.

What Am I To Do?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unhappily but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquors but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events.

The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhea or Constipation may be a symptom, or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower; it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

A girl thirteen years old died recently at Hickory Corners, from inflammation caused by swallowing cherry pits.

My Wife Said

to me last night: How much do you suppose we have paid out for doctors and medicine in the last year? I told her I did not know. To doctors I have paid nothing, and five dollars' worth of Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family.

Simmons Liver Regulator is what the name indicates a "Regulator" of that most important organ, the Liver. Is your liver out of order? Then is your whole system deranged, the breath offensive, you have headache, fever languid, dispirited, and nervous, no appetite, sleep is troubled and unrefreshing, Simmons Liver Regulator restores the health action of the Liver.

Floor-Walker (pigeon-toed) — "Walk this way, madame." Customer, Irish woman) — "Walk that way, is it: arrah, be off wid' yez, now, shure me fate wud trow me down if I tried it."

To Tourists and Travelers. A mechanic never goes to work without his tools. Neither should you start on a journey without being fully equipped by always having a box of Pomeroy's Petrolene Plasters in your knapsack. In cases of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Backache, etc., when you are probably far from a doctor, the importance of having a plaster at hand cannot be over-estimated. Pederitis, sprains, hiccups, cricketers, gymnasts, and all athletes will find it a true friend. For relieving and curing Backache, Soreness of Chest, all pains and aches, it is simply invaluable. For sale by H. J. Brown, District Agent for Ann Arbor.

The time comes on apace when the dear brother who has been too delicate to venture out in the night air to prayer meeting, will march in the torch-light procession midnight and shout himself hoarse over his presidential candidate.

CATHARTIC.—Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup is one of the finest laxatives in the world, moving the bowels effectively as well as mildly, without pain, griping or weakness.

Can't Sleep. Nights is the complaint of thousands suffering from Asthma, Consumption, Coughs, etc. Did you ever try Acker's English Remedy? It is the best preparation known for all Lung Troubles, sold on a positive guarantee at 10c., 50c.

Our readers have doubtless often noticed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is well spoken of in the newspapers. The press is quick to recognize merit, and does not hesitate to give praise where it is due. The following is from the Baptist Weekly, a leading religious paper:

"Advertising may bring an article prominently before the public, but no advertising can long help it if it has not real merit. Hood's Sarsaparilla is well advertised; but the best proof of its value is that so many persons use it on the recommendations of friends who have proved its peculiar virtues."

A Favor to With The Fair Sex. Papillon (extract of flax) Skin Cure is superior to all the much advertised skin beautifiers with the advantage of being beneficial, and not like the mineral preparations usually sold which are very poisonous. It will remove all inflammation, chafing and roughness of the skin, sunburn, freckles and unseemly blotches, and leave the cuticle fair and soft as an infant's. An actual necessity for the complete toilet table. Large bottles only $1.00, for sale by Eberbach & Son.

Helping the Right Side.

To help the right side is not only commendable in a general point of view, but is judicious and prudent when that help is enlisted in behalf of the right side of the body, just over the lower ribs in the region of the liver. The most efficient help is afforded by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an anti-bilious medicine of incomparable efficacy. Inaction of the liver is accompanied by constipation, sick-headache, furred tongue, nausea, occasional vertigo, an unpleasant breath, yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye. The author of these symptoms, liver complaint, routed by the Bitters is accompanied by them in its flight. Fever and ague, which always involves the liver, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility and kidney troubles are all maladies to the early relief and final cure of which this standard medicine is adapted. Don't use it by fits and starts, but systematically, that its full effects may result in a perfect restoration of health.

The Newspaper Revolution.

From the Rockford (Ill.) Register. "The era of cumbersome blanket-sheets seems coming to an end, and newspapers like the New York Sun and THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS are the prominent journalistic successes of the period. The papers that give enough reading matter to fill a good volume in each daily issue are going out of favor with many people who have some other employment for their time than the search through mountains of straw for kernels of news. The sheets that give the news systematically and ample, and without unnecessary padding, are taking the lead in the great cities."

WHY THE CARPENTER IS POOR.

The article in another column on "Struggle for a Home," taken from the Detroit Evening Journal of Aug. 2, illustrates how the poor man is oftentimes taxed to death in this country of the free,—taxed, not only by the government, city, county and state, but by an individual. The Morans,—one of whose descendants is now the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor,—reached Detroit early and acquired the title to a large tract of land, over which the city has since spread. Over 30 years ago, this land was yet nearly a wilderness; but a poor carpenter wanted a portion of it on which to build a home. The taxes were light and the ground rent light, so he consented to a ten-year lease of a lot at $6 a year. At the end of ten years the lease was renewed at $8 per year, and then $12 per year for five years. In these 25 years the carpenter paid his ground rent, amounting to $400, paid all the taxes amounting to about $360, and he put on fences, sewer, water, drainage and grading, making his total outlay for the place over $1300, to say nothing of the house. At the end of the 25 years the carpenter thought that he was in a position to own the lot. In all this time the lot had not cost the Moran estate a farthing, and in his simplicity the carpenter thought that all the improvements he had made belonged to him. That is so in Ireland, but not in this country of the free. He went to the agent of the Moran estate to buy the lot. The agent looked the lot over and remarked that the improvements that had been made increased the value of the lot, and he thought $1000 would be the figure at which he would sell. The carpenter was amazed, and protested in vain that the improvements were the result of his 25 years' savings and toil, and that justly he ought not to be required to pay for his own improvements a second time. The agent was inexorable, well knowing that the courts would sustain him regardless of the morality of the thing. The carpenter refused to buy, but he soon found that he would have to pay $40 a year if he renewed the lease. All his toil had only served to increase his ground tax, for it was nothing but a private taxing franchise which the Moran estate had on him. Well, the lease expires again next month, and the carpenter has concluded to buy, for the ground rent would probably jump up to $60 or $80. He finds that now he must pay $1600 for the lot if he gets a title to it.

Well, this explains why the carpenter, in spite of his industry, is poor and always will be poor, for he is an old man now, and why the Morans are rich. There are many other similar cases on the Moran property in Detroit, and doubtless on other properties, for a few men divided the land of Detroit among themselves and thus secured the power to tax the citizens of that city. The Journal of the same date tells another tale about the Moran estate, and this time the identical Moran is involved who hopes to preside over the Michigan senate. A family had erected a house on a lot owned by Mr. Moran, and had paid their ground rent regularly to Mr. Moran's agent till they were taken sick and other misfortunes befell them. The Moran lease is an iron-bound instrument, containing a chattel mortgage clause, and is as relentless as the agent was. The family were turned out of the house they themselves had made, and it was done under circumstances of some cruelty. Mrs. Conrad was put out on the street, children, furniture and all, in spite of the fact that her brother pulled a revolver on the officer.

We are not disposed to make political capital out of this against Mr. Moran; for as the world goes he is undoubtedly a very good man. We blame the system under which a few grow rich without doing productive work.

The Argus, last week, stooped to partisanship in dragging up the old DeGolyer scandal against that splendid statesman, James A. Garfield. It is a charge that was thoroughly exploded years ago. When a progressive newspaper, as the Argus claims to be, slanders, without reason, such a man as Garfield was, a man who was recognized as one of the brightest statesmen of his time, it certainly drops to the lowest level of partisan journalism. The Argus doesn't really know the history of those events. Blaine was never implicated, in any manner, with the Credit Mobilier affair, as the Argus states. Garfield and Kelley were connected with it but Blaine was not. Their connection with it was explained so that the public exonerated them from any blame.

THE GREAT STRUGGLE.

The English and Irish situation is full of the greatest interest to all close observers of passing events. It is something more than the struggle of one people to be free to govern themselves; it has a wider and deeper significance than that. It is a struggle, perhaps the last and greatest, between the principle of aristocracy and that of democracy. The privileged classes are seeing their power slip away, and they are making one desperate effort to retain it. The principle of democracy, placed by Jefferson in our Declaration of Independence, is forever right and it must prevail, or our civilization will perish. How soon it will triumph cannot be told. England is so used to allowing monopoly that it may be nothing but a rebellion will change the system. But the people's cause may win after a long parliamentary strife, in which the Tories will not hesitate to commit legal murder (as they already have done) and attempt the most wholesale assassinations of character, as they are now doing.

There is a great change taking place in the attitude of the English people towards the privileged classes. The press and writers are boldly challenging the right of individuals to monopolize the land. One of the boldest is a recent pamphlet by a London gentleman on "The Great Landlords of London." The Viscount Portman, for example, owns 300 acres of London. Last March, all the leases on this valuable city land expired. Of course the houses with which the 300 acres are covered practically became the property of the Viscount. "Neither he nor his father have ever done a stroke of work toward building those houses, nor toward increasing the value of the land on which they stand. They have paid nothing for opening streets, nothing for paving, nor for lighting, nor for laying gas or water mains, nor for poor rates, nor for police expenses. They have simply allowed themselves to be supported in luxurious idleness. And now they own the houses, every brick and tile of them."

The author of this pamphlet assures us that when the leases expired last March on the 300 acres owned by Viscount Portman, this favored mortal raised his rent roll 800 per cent, and exacted as premiums a million and a half pounds sterling before he would renew the leases at all. The enormous power which the Viscount wields over the people who happened to be born with less legal rights than he can plainly be seen. He not only can make them hand over most of their wealth to him, if they wish to remain where they were born or where they have lived so many years, but in cases where the building is used as a store or tavern the tenant is compelled to produce his books and make a full disclosure of his business, "in order that the agent may properly estimate the value of the good will." The good will of the business actually belongs to Viscount Portman.

It is a mind with a very poor grasp of cause and effect that can study this system as described by the pamphlet and fail to understand why people starve to death in London. And so long as that system remains, all the work of all the Mrs. Ormiston Chants in the world cannot stem the tide of poverty and crime in London. Trade is disarranged, honest people are robbed of their accumulations, wealth is squandered, opportunities for labor are locked up.

And why should Viscount Portman be entitled to do this? Why should he not earn his own living? These questions are now boldly asked. He is only one among the privileged class. They will not give up their cruel grasp without a desperate struggle, perhaps as terrible as that which overthrew chattel slavery in this country. Established religion and the church and the throne will be arrayed on their side; but they will be overcome. Already one powerful London daily paper having an enormous circulation is boldly attacking the idea that the few have the right to monopolize the earth and exact tribute from the many. Some of the leading democrats of England and Ireland are beginning to see what is needed and are leading the way. Michael Davitt has long seen it, and he has repeatedly said that there can be no lasting solution of the Irish question until the landlord is abolished.

Dr. HCGO LUPINSKI, formerly of Ann Arbor, has been removed as health officer of Grand Rapids. It is another illustration of the abominable "spoils" system of appointment to office. Certain persons having gained the power, thought they had a perfect right to oust the health officer,—a sort of right by conquest. There is no evidence that there was any public demand for the health officer's removal, nor that he is incompetent to discharge the duties of health officer. It is a moral crime, this looking upon such positions as belonging to a party or faction of a party and not to the whole people. Of all positions, those which protect the health and lives of the people ought to be considered too important to be gambled for in the game of politics. It must be exceedingly discouraging to the State board of health which is endeavoring, in every way possible, to raise the standard of the health officer's work in Michigan. The new health officer, we have no reason to doubt, might become efficient and exceedingly useful in the position, but his tenure of office is uncertain. As he is liable to be turned out when politics change in Grand Rapids, no matter how well he may do, there is no great inducement to effort.

THE MILLS BILL.

THE REGISTER contains this week a full synopsis of the famous Mills tariff bill. Very many of our readers will want to examine it carefully, and preserve the paper for future reference. It should be understood that the words in brackets were in the bill as it was presented to the house, but were stricken out by the house. The words in italics were inserted by the house, and were not in the bill as the committee reported it.

GEN. SHERIDAN.

The light of another star of that bright galaxy of soldier heroes, who led our boys in blue successfully through the war of the Rebellion, has gone out. Another face upon which soldier and citizen alike loved to gaze, is hidden forever from mortal sight. Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, Commander of the armies of the United States, the idol of his comrades, the hero of Winchester and Cedar Creek, is no more. The flag he fought under so long and so well is heavy with the colors of mourning in memory of one of its most gallant defenders. The universally expressed regret at the death of "little Phil" is but the spontaneous testimonial of a grateful nation to his character, his worth, his brilliant record in the service of his country.

Entering the army as a lieutenant, by his indomitable will, his dogged perseverance, his thorough knowledge of military tactics, his daring personal bravery, and his magnetic popularity among those around him, he became successively captain, colonel, brigadier-general, major-general, lieutenant-general, and finally commander of the army. His record as a successful leader during the war was the result of the dash and energy which characterized his movements. Whenever he struck, it was with a whirl and a rush that carried him over every obstacle. His timely arrival from "Winchester, twenty miles away," at Cedar Creek where he turned the panic-stricken soldiers back into their ranks, where he rode down the lines on his famous charger white with foam, where he cheered and urged them to renew the conflict by his welcome presence, where, hat in hand, spurring his horse again to the charge, he led a once beaten army to a complete and signal victory, all was characteristic of the man, and stamped him as one of the ablest generals of the war, and a man who dared to lead, when occasion required it. With Grant, Hancock, McClellan and Garfield, he has gone to join the great army of the beyond, leaving behind an imperishable record, and a memory enshrined in the hearts of a grateful people, by whom he will ever be regarded as the model soldier, the honored citizen.

THERE is nothing finer or more suggestive in recent magazine literature than Kennan's description of meeting political exiles in Siberia. Among them are artists, students, and young women, all of great intelligence and all yearning for the good of mankind. The political exiles they met first were familiar with the writings of Shakspeare, Mill, Spencer, Buckle, Balfour Stewart, Heine, Hegel, Lange, Irving, Cooper, Longfellow, Bret Harte, and Harriet Beecher Stowe. They knew something of American politics. The very flower of Russia is banished to Siberia because of high aspirations. The long evenings which Mr. Kennan and Mr. Frost spent with these gifted young Russians in their huts in Semipalatinsk must have been delightful to the exiles as to the visitors. They gained a glimpse of America. Each were entertained and instructed. The exiles sang in chorus some plaintive Russian melodies, and Messrs. Kennan and Frost, not to be outdone, gave them a sample of our college songs, our war songs, and negro melodies.

The Argus keeps mumbling about the wool tariff. It is almost as bad as old John Randolph who, it is said, hated the tariff on wool so bitterly that he would go a mile to kick a sheep.

Board of School Inspectors.

The Board of School Inspectors for this county met in the court room Tuesday morning, for the purpose of electing a member of the board of school examiners. The townships were represented as follows: Ann Arbor, Richard Bibbie; Augusta, John K. Campbell; Bridgewater, Frank Johnson; Dexter, Thos. McQuillan; Freedom, John G. Schnirring; Lima, Thos. F. Morse; Lodi, Michael Sage; Lyndon, A. J. Boyce; Manchester, Arthur J. Walters; Northfield, Anthony Burke, Jr.; Pittsfield, A. D. Crittenden; Salem, James Boyle; Saline, E. E. Russell; Scio, Dan E. Hoy; Sharon, George Wedmayer; Superior, George McDougal; Sylvan, Stephen L. Gage; Webster, Chas. Wheeler; York, Wm. McMillen; Ypsilanti, John Veunter.

A. D. Crittenden was called to the chair. Deputy clerk Brown acted as secretary. The board then proceeded to nominate candidates for the member of the board of examiners to be elected. Prof. August Lodeman, of Ypsilanti, and Michael J. Lehman, of Chelsea, were nominated. On the first formal ballot Mr. Lehman received 13 votes and Prof. Lodeman 7. The former was declared elected. The board then adjourned.

Mr. Lehman was elected to the same office last year but was denied the office on some legal technicality. The secretary of the board—an office worth $1800 per year—will be appointed the last of the month. The result insures the election of Martin Cavanaugh, of Ann Arbor, as secretary, in place of E. C. Warner, of Ypsilanti, the present secretary. The secretaryship is considered one of the "fattest" offices in the county, hence there has been some little scrambling for it.

Teachers' Institute.

The State Teachers' Institute for Washtenaw county will be held at Ypsilanti at the High school building, commencing at 10 o'clock, a. m., Monday, Aug. 13, and closing at 4 p. m. Aug. 17. Prof. Austin George will conduct it and also give instruction in primary reading and management of reading classes. Miss J. A. King of the Normal school will give instruction on the best methods of teaching history and civil government. Prof. Humphrey, of Wayland, will also assist. E. C. Warner is local committee, from whom full particulars in regard to board &c., may be obtained. This will be one of the best institutes ever held in this county.

Sec'y Co. Board School Examiners.

How Unreasonable in the Old Man!

Among the tenants on the Kentish estate of Lord Brabourne was a fellow, Mace Morley by name, who was eighty-two years old, and for two generations had been loyally helping to support the great Brabourne family. But Morley got past doing any more work, or the noble lord wanted the place for somebody else—any how, Mace Morley got notice to quit. He was an unreasonable old fellow, and he declined to go. He said he'd been born in that house, and he was resolved to die there. And he did die there; for when they came to evict him he bolted the door and hanged himself by the neck. They broke into the house before he was quite dead, and would have put him out even then, but a kind physician who had been summoned gave a certificate that he was "unfit to be moved," and they had to let him alone. So he died. They get ahead of the landlord once in a while, these happy peasants of England, but it costs them dear to do it.—Standard.

Literary Notes.

Hon. Levi P. Morton has chosen as his official biographer, Geo. Alfred Townsend, "Gath," who has nearly completed his work. It is to accompany Gen. Lew. Wallace's biography of Gen. Harrison is to appear early in August.

The first August issue in Ticknor's Paper Series is an entirely new novel of the far West, peculiarly rich in coloring, and sure to enchain the attention of even the most blasé of story-readers. A well-known journal calls it "An extraordinary story of life in the high Sierras, written by a Colorado author. It is filled with wonderfully vivid word-painting; and depicts the loveliness of a Spanish-American senorita and a transplanted New-England schoolmaster."

COUNTY NEWS.

Corn is going to be a good crop. Lightning killed a horse for Alex. Soulier, near Dexter last week.

According to the Ypsilanti two inches of rain fell during July.

Threshers report wheat turning out much better than was expected.

Mrs. John Henry Connors, living near Birkett, has become insane.

E. C. Wright & Sons, dealers in flour and feed, Howell, have failed for $10,000.

Remember the farmers' picnic at Whitmore Lake, Aug. 18. Half fare on all roads.

Lyman Baldwin, near Manchester, had a cow killed by lightning one day last week.

Geo. Brown, of Saline, lost a fine cow last week by being caught under a falling tree.

J. D. Masten, an old resident of Manchester, dropped dead in Hillsdale, one day last week.

Ypsilanti's female physician Dr. Flora Ruch, proposes to locate in Saginaw, where it isn't so healthy.

During the storm, Friday, lightning shattered a number of telephone poles between Dexter and Pinckney.

Burglars entered D. Waite's house in Dexter, last Thursday night, and captured a number of articles and 14 cents in cash.

A horse belonging to E. C. Auld, near Birkett, was kicked by its mate one night last week, breaking its leg. It was shot.

The South Lyon Picket is shedding tears because they have no brass band there to make a noise for them during the campaign.

Charles Grimes, of Pinckney, was arrested last week and taken to Lansing for obtaining signature to a note under false pretenses.

Charley Briggs, of Dexter, was so badly poisoned by ivy, while camping on Base Lake, last week, as to require medical assistance.

A drummer for a Rochester boot and shoe firm carried off a Turkish towel from the Stebbins' house in Dexter, and to settle it willingly paid $5.00 when overhauled in Ann Arbor.

Len Rodman, of Dexter, drew Monday the first wagon load of fifty carloads of stone, to be delivered at the Dexter depot, for Detroit parties. He gets a good price for them. They are "hard heads" for building purposes. In a few years at this rate, stony farms will be bonanzas.

Drs. Herdman, of Ann Arbor, and Nichols, yesterday, performed a delicate surgical operation upon the limb of Geo. Hunter, who has been sick with rheumatism for many months. An incision five inches long was made in the limb, and the bone found in a very diseased condition. Hopes are now entertained for his speedy recovery.—Saline Observer.

How's this! Mrs. Edwin H. Coats lives near Gregory, Livingston Co. Some of her neighbors say she used to be the wife of one Benjamin N. Jacobs, of Dansville. Jacobs being a married man got riled, and according to the Stockbridge Sun makes the following affidavit which settles it:

State of Michigan, ss.
County of Ingham, ss.
Personally appeared before me, the undersigned justice of the peace, of the township of Ingham, in said county, Benjamin Jacobs, of the city of Mason, in said county of Ingham, who deposes and says that Mrs. Edwin H. Coats is not now nor ever was his wife; neither does she look like her, for my wife had grey eyes, and Mrs. Coats has black eyes.

Mr. Wilson, who was kicked in the side by his horse some time ago, has partly recovered, but is unable to work yet.

Miss Della Leslie, who has been sick for a long time, died while visiting relatives in Detroit. The funeral was held at home Monday.

Saline.
A. K. Rouse has returned from Jackson.

Henry Collum has so far recovered as to walk out.

A. B. Van Duzer has recovered from his sickness.

Misses A. and F. Caldwell visited Ann Arbor the 6th.

Eyerett Smith, of Ypsilanti, was in town Monday.

R. Gannett, of Detroit, called on friends last week.

Mrs. Burroughs and daughter Ida are visiting in Coldwater.

Mrs. Rogers, of Hudson, is visiting her nephew, Geo. Hunter.

Misses Ada Liesemer, Agnes Gillen and Mrs. Irv. Clark visited Mrs. Will Ward, of Clinton, Aug. 5.

W. H. Davenport and family, E. R. Aldrich, H. T. Nichols and wife joined the A. A. S. excursion at Pittsfield, en route for Detroit the 7th.

Chas. White, of Elkhart, Ind., has been spending a few days with his friend, Geo. Hunter, who has long been confined to the house. Drs. Herdman and Nichols performed an operation on Mr. Hunter's limb, Aug. 1, and found the bone in a very bad condition.

Ypsilanti.
Miss Carrie Heywood is in Port Huron for a three weeks' visit.

Hay & Todd have rebuilt the "picking house" lately destroyed by fire.

Miss Francis Stewart and Mrs. Nellie Yerkes are spending a two weeks' vacation at Chautauqua.

Loughridge & Wilcox shipped $3,500 worth of monument work to the Upper Peninsula, last week.

J. J. Stephenson, the photographer, has gone to California with his family in search of better health.

Rev. Welton, of Grand Rapids, filled the Presbyterian pulpit, last Sunday, and is expected again for next week.

The indications are that there will be a large turnout of school ma'ams and masters at the institute here next week.

The Methodist and Baptist young people's societies will give an excursion to Detroit and Lake Erie next Wednesday.

The groceries, hardware, shoestores and clothing stores close at 8 o'clock, the only old-fashioned places being the drug, jewelry and variety stores.

Dr. Flora Ruch is about to tie herself to Saginaw for future operations, and her place here will be supplied by Dr. Christine Anderson, of Iowa.

The Harrison veterans of '40 have organized a campaign club with the following officers: President, David Edwards; vice-president, Manley Holbrook; secretary, J. M. Chidister; treasurer, Ashley Minor.

Numbers of Washtenaw girls are very anxious to hear what Andrew McAndrew has to offer about winning 'em in this county, and if the story don't suit these girls, there'll be war declared against Andrew at once.

The campaign season bids fair to create some enthusiasm even in Ypsi. The small and middle sized fry are already sporting emblems and badges and engaging in war-like discussions with the fierceness displayed by their elders.

Milan.
Postmaster Babcock now sits up a little.

The heaviest rain of the season fell Friday night.

M. J. Lehman, of Chelsea, was in town Friday last.

Mrs. Abbot has taken steps looking to a permanent residence in Milan. She is Mrs. Case now, thank you.

One would think from the expressions of regret at Little Phil's death by the Milan G. A. R. boys that they felt as if they had lost a personal friend. His peculiarities are now common themes of conversations.

Two law suits in town last Saturday. The Washtenaw suit was discharged because the prisoners were running no bail on July 4 when the illegal selling was done. What difference should that make, Mr. Prosecutor, provided they sold liquor?

The storm of Friday night left severe marks at the farm of Mr. Hardy, of London. His barn was consumed by fire caused by lightning. Wm. Whaley's house, of Milan village, had part of its cellar wall knocked down. Will says this makes three times within two years.

Chelsea.
Geo. H. Kempf has typhoid fever.

Mrs. E. E. Shaver is on the sick list.

L. L. Smith, of Columbus, O., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. L. S. Homes.

Jas. L. Babcock spent Sunday at his home near Chelsea, with his uncle, Thos. S. Sears.

Mrs. M. J. Noyes has returned from visiting her friends in Port Huron and New Haven.

Oliver Cushman, of Sylvan, has advertised, forbidding all men to trust his wife on his account.

Dr. Hawley Hoag and wife, of Kansas, are visiting their parents and other friends in this vicinity.

Whitmore Lake.
A. DeForest, of Ann Arbor, visited at J. King's, last Saturday.

Miss Lillian Draper, of Ypsilanti, is enjoying the lake breezes.

The Webster M. E. Sunday School people will picnic here, Saturday.

Miss Blanche Hartshorne, of Brighton, has been the guest of Miss Mabel Stiles, this week.

Messrs. Frank Durfee, of Perry, Ill., and Geo. Holmes, of Williamston, have visited at Tobias Holmes.

Last Sunday was the most quiet Sabbath that we have enjoyed for some time, although the day was very pleasant.

New guests at the Clifton: Ann Arbor—Thos. Kearney, Frank O'Hearn, John Duffy, James Duffy, John Slattery, Chas. Gibson, Geo. Blum, Misses May Wing and Ella Matthews, Mrs. Wm. Walsh and 2 children, Sam Langsdorf, Detroit—Mrs. Freedman, nurse and 3 daughters, Ypsilanti—Fred H. Williams and lady.

New comers at the Lake house: Geo. Pettengill, Cleveland, Ohio; Theodore Royer wife and son, C. W. Wellor and family, D. L. Hyde, W. F. Tolchard, J. A. VanArsdale, Ann Arbor; R. P. Gilbert, Fort Yates, Dakota; E. L. Rundel, Ed B. Stevens, Toledo; Miss M. E. Cowie, Detroit; Miss A. B. Foster, Minneapolis; Mary B. McPherson, Howell; Fred J. Hemgartner, Canton, O.

A quite interesting game of base ball was played here last Saturday afternoon by the Whitmore Lake and Salem teams. Ernest Lewis and Walter Booth, of Ann Arbor, are respectively pitcher and catcher of our team. At the end of the 5th inning the score stood 18 to 0 in favor of the Lake nine. The Salem boys were on the point of calling the game, but decided to play two more innings. They played one of these in which Booth pitched and T. W. Kane caught. The score ran up 31 to 0, and the Salem men went home, a down-cast ten. It was indeed pleasing to see the Salem umpire get fooled on Lewis' curves.

"Winning a Wife in Washtenaw" is the title of a story written by a young gentleman of Ypsilanti expressly for THE REGISTER. In it he says: "The scene was a comfortable interior of one of Washtenaw's hospitable houses in a town, gentle reader, that, if you have been about the county much you will recognize before I am through."

STRUGGLE FOR A HOME.

THOS. CROSS'S PUNISHMENT FOR INDUSTRY.

How Rental and Price Were Put Up on Him, the Screws Applied and He Was Forced to Pay the Demand—A Moving Narrative.

From the Detroit Evening Journal.

"If there is any truth in the Good Book they will have a small chance in the next world."

An old man with silvered hair, and whose form was bent under the weight of 70 years, said this. The tears started in his eyes and his voice trembled with emotion as he thought of what he had suffered.

Thirty-two years ago Thomas Cross, an Englishman and a carpenter by trade, then in the prime of life, leased from Judge Moran a lot on what is now Brewster-st., between Antoine and Hastings-sts. That region was then a wilderness. Six dollars a year was the sum specified in the lease, and it seemed reasonable enough; but by the terms the lessee was to pay all taxes, assessments and claims of every sort made against the property. As the taxes were merely nominal at that time, Cross thought the bargain offered a poor man a good opportunity to acquire a home. The first lease was for ten years, and at its expiration Cross renewed it, but at a rental of $8 instead of $6 a year. This was easy to pay, and no complaint was made. At the expiration of the second lease Cross was told that the ground rent would now be raised to $12 a year, and that the land would not be leased for more than five years at a time.

During the period covered by the third lease Cross enlarged the house he had upon the lot. He put in water, running it from the street. A sewer was run through the alley, for which he was assessed, paying for it, and paying for making the necessary connections between the lot and sewer. He put up a nice fence, laid a good sidewalk, and raised the lot several inches by having hundreds of loads of dirt dumped into it.

When the five years' lease was up the old gentleman from whom Cross originally leased was dead, and the Moran estate had fallen to the heirs. Cross went to the office to see about purchasing the lot on which he had built his house, and which had been his home now for 25 years. A representative of the heirs went up to look at the property to set a figure upon it.

"You have quite a nice little home here now, Mr. Cross," said the representative.

"Well, I've been 25 years trying to get a roof over my head and make a home for my children. It isn't very much of a one yet; but still it's my own. I built it myself."

"Have you water in the house?"

"Yes, I paid $25 for bringing it in out of the street, and did my own digging at that."

"Have you a sewer?"

"Yes, that cost me $23."

"Well, a lot with all these improvements ought to bring $1,000."

"But I made all those improvements myself. I paid for them. They cost you nothing," said Cross.

"They are improvements, nevertheless, and an improved lot is worth more than one that isn't."

"So you want to make me pay for my improvements over again, do you?"

"One thousand dollars is the price of the lot."

Cross couldn't pay the price. He told the agent so, and asked for a renewal of his lease. "We can't afford to lease it again for less than $40," he was told.

"What, raise it from $12 to $40, and I pay all the taxes and assessments?"

"But you have improved it, and it is worth three times what it was," was all the satisfaction the old man could get. He was obliged to renew his lease at the advanced price or move his house off the lot. He couldn't move the sewer, nor the water connections, nor the other improvements. Besides, he had lived there for 25 years, and they knew how strong a tie that was.

This last lease expires next month, and Cross determined to no longer pay ground rent, taxes, etc. He had been saving during the period of the last lease, and now was ready to give them their price, and be done with them. The last time the agent called Cross told him that he was going to buy.

"The lot will cost you $1,800 now," said that worthy.

"Are you crazy?" cried Cross, in amazement.

"The price is $1,800," was the bland reply.

"I thought the man couldn't be in his senses," said Cross to the JOURNAL today, "so I went down to see Mrs. Barnard, who owned the lot. She told me that $1,600 was the price the estate set upon the lot. She couldn't understand what the agent meant by demanding $1,800 for it. But $1,600 wasn't much better than $1,800. I told Mrs. Barnard that her late husband, Councilman Henry D. Barnard, offered me the lot for $1,000 before he died, but she said he offered it altogether too cheap.

"Even if he did, he didn't offer it $600 too cheap," I said.

"But I was told that my son had improved his property adjoining mine and that property adjoining in the neighborhood had been improved and the lot had increased in value. Finally she took off $50 because I had lived on it so long and I had to pay $1,550 cash for it. If I had any place to move my house to I would not have paid, but they knew as well as I that I would have to pay whatever they asked."

"How much did you pay on the lot during the 30 years you have lived on it?"

"Well, it's easy to figure up. The first lease was for $6 a year and ran ten years—that is $60. The second was for ten years at $8—that is $80. Five years at $12, and five years at $40, making a total of $400 for ground rent alone. My city taxes, which are now $21, would easily average $12 a year for the entire period and would make $360. My state and county taxes for the 30 years were about $150, and my water tax about $150. That makes a total of $1,110, besides the sewer, water, drainage and grading, which easily aggregate $150. So that this lot, including fences and sidewalks, cost me before I bought it at all, in the neighborhood of $1,300, and has not cost the estate a cent for 30 years, but has brought in ground rent during all that time. Now, when I come to buy it they make me pay $1,550, making a total cost to me of $2,850 for this lot, which I couldn't sell for $1,000 tomorrow after all my labor and expense. If very many more poor people like me have had a similar experience, it is no wonder the Morans and other property owners like them are rich. I have seen owners figure out the cost of moving a house off their lot, before the owner's eyes, add it to the rent of the ground, and then tell them if they didn't like it to move off. They know it is just as cheap to stay as move, even if one has a place to move to."

A family in the neighborhood had the same story to tell. On another street several families have moved their little houses off because of the increase in the ground rent, which was recently raised to $60 a year.

A DIAMOND HORSE.

A Memorable Occasion—An Extraordinary Performance.

There are a great many kinds and very valuable horses in the world, but there is only one diamond horse and Prof. George Bartholomew is the happy possessor of it. In Boston, March 10, 1883, two old and wealthy California friends presented Prof. Bartholomew with an original design and very costly gent's pin. It is an outline of a horse, the body of which is bestudded with diamonds, it requiring ninety-nine stones varying in size to accommodate the shape of the horse. Attached to the pin is a magnificent horse shoe and whip, also set with diamonds, which serves as a safety pin.

Monday evening, June 16th, 1884, in the immense Boston Theatre, in the presence of an audience of over 3000 persons, under the auspices of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of the State of Massachusetts, Professor Bartholomew was presented on the stage with a beautiful solid gold medal adorned with a single large diamond and suitably inscribed and also an engrossed certificate of honorary membership heavily framed. Professor Bartholomew is the only educator in the world that has ever received the unqualified endorsement of the humane societies, because he is the only man that every developed remarkable horse intelligence through kindness, patience and perseverance. This extraordinary man and his 24 handsome and intelligent horses will appear at the Ann Arbor opera house for six evenings and Wednesday and Saturday afternoon, commencing Monday, Aug. 20th. They travel in two cars costing $30,000 and will arrive here Sunday afternoon, Aug. 19, from Chicago.

Pomological Society.

At the August meeting of the society only six fruit growers appeared to make arrangements for transportation.

C. C. Clark presented a paper which represented that the fruit growers of Delaware and Maryland had the experience and the carriers and commission men the money, that is in peaches. Pennywise and pound-foolish, they finally met and inaugurated a fruit growers' bureau, which arranged transportation and sales of fruit. They expect ten million baskets of peaches this season.

Some of the Ann Arbor fruit growers like Samner, Allen, Hitchcock, Schenk, J. J. Parshall and others expect a heavy crop of peaches, while others report a total failure. E. Baur reports a heavy crop of pears. J. Ganzhorn exhibited the finest specimens of Waterloo peaches. He thinks it is more a freestone than the Alexander. Donald McIntyre exhibited a last year's apple of a beautiful shape and color.

Annual Pioneer Meeting.

On Saturday last a conference of the officers and other members of the Pioneer Society of this county was held in the court house to make arrangements for the annual meeting of the Society, Sept. 5. It was decided to have the meeting at Relief Park in this city and have a basket picnic, and procure one of the best orators in the state to deliver the address. The Park is a beautiful place for such a meeting and there are seats and tables to accommodate all the old people in the county. J. Q. A. SESSIONS, Sec'y.

Deaths.

Adèle Leslie, Webster, at Detroit, Aug. 4, aged 27.

Frank, son of George and Catherine Bull, Fifth ward, Aug. 7, aged 1 year and 2 months.

Emory, infant son of Justis and Alice Nixon, A. A. township.

Gen. Harrison on the Tenant System.

In one of his speeches, Gen. Harrison said: "The policy of the subdivision of the soil is one that tends to strengthen our national life. God grant that it may be long before we have in this country a tenantry that is hopelessly such from one generation to another—that condition of things which makes Ireland a land of tenants. The system of vast estates in land which exists in England must never find footing here. Small farms invite the church and schoolhouse into the neighborhood. Therefore it was in the beginning the Republican party declared for free homes of a quarter section each. That policy should be perpetuated as long as our public domain lasts, and our legislation should tend in the direction which I have indicated."

WOULD'N'T HEED ADVICE. A Smart Young Man is Gobbled by the Sharks and Mercilessly Victimized. "How about young Baldwin, who came down here?" asked a friend from out of the city of a deacon in a prominent New York church.

"I am extremely sorry to say that Baldwin failed to make a success of it here," replied the deacon. "Is that so?" "O, yes. He lost all his property and is now peddling shoe-strings at the corner of Vesey street and Broadway."

"Indeed! I am sorry to hear it." "Very sad, certainly—he comes of a good family. But he got drawn into Wall street speculation and lost his all." "Ah, the maestro of Wall street, was it? Too bad."

"Yes, that's what I say. I tried my best to save him from it, not only because he was the son of an old schoolmate of mine, but also because I considered it my duty any how. My connection with the church would not permit me to look at it otherwise."

"O, I know of course that you would do what you could in such a case to guide a young man in the right path." "O, certainly, certainly," replied the deacon in a modest tone. "I did what I could in my weak way. I went to him," continued the good man as he wiped his spectacles and looked out of the window thoughtfully; "I went to him and says I: 'See here, George, you don't want to put your money in that Western Wind speculation; the bottom is going to fall out of the whole thing inside of twenty-four hours. Just come in with me on this Consolidated stock and if you don't clear up $50,000 in it inside of a week, why, then I'm a liar!' But he wouldn't listen to good counsel and went into Western Wind and dropped his pile. I suppose," went on the deacon, musingly, as he adjusted his glasses, "that I might add by way of proof that it was right, that I put $5,000 in the Consolidated myself and unloaded it on Brother Doobs for $17,500 three days after. You well said, my friend, that Wall street is a terrible maelstrom."—N. Y. Tribune.

Be Sure. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. A Boston lady, whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below: "In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I had taken Hood's Sarsaparilla, knew what it was, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other. When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.

Shoe to Get. Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists, $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. L. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar. Steel pens came into use in 1820, when a great gold for about thirty-five dollars. Now they sell for ten cents a gross. Good Enough For Him. Mr. Asa B. Rowley, Druggist, was induced to try some of the Papillon Catarrh Cure by his customers, after several physicians predicted he would soon have consumption from an aggravated case of Catarrh. He says: "The result was unprecedented. I commenced to get well after a few weeks, entirely cured." Papillon (extract of flax Catarrh Cure) will do all that is claimed for it. Large bottles $1.00. For sale by Eberbach & Son. The time a man most needs a vacation is just after he returns from one.—Hotel Mail. HABITUAL constipation can be entirely cured by the use of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup after all other remedies have failed. James K. Pulk's widow is now eighty-five. She lives quietly at her Tennessee home. Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

THE CITY.

A new boy at D. F. Allmendinger's. Ypsilanti's shade trees are dying also. J. P. Hoffman's new music store is at 69 S. Main-st. Frank Stoffelt and family are camping on Base Lake. Sheriff Walsh was serving papers in Saline, yesterday. Ernest Krueger was at Whitmore, Tuesday, taking views. Prof. Schaberle has begun his work in the Lick observatory. Will Pickett has gone to Saline to work in Bortle's barber shop. Chas. Knight has gone to work in Armstrong's elevator at Durand. A millinery store is going in next to Vogel's meat market on Ann-st. Evert Scott threshed yesterday and the wheat turned out 34 bushels to the acre. Mark Sill, of Dexter, son-in-law of A. R. Beal, is quite sick from ulceration in the head. Cal. Lucas, formerly of the Peninsula mills, Dexter, is now at work here in the City mills. Mrs. John Keenan died at her residence, 74 N. Main-st, last night, after a prolonged illness. At the Methodist Episcopal church on Sabbath morning, Rev. W. W. Ramsay will preach on "Living Epistles" and in the evening on "Christ Rejected."

Flags floated at half mast in different parts of the city, Monday, in memory of Gen. Sheridan. Complaints are made that the T. & A. A. company occupy too much of First-st with cars on side track. The ladies society of Bethlehem (Lutheran) church had a picnic at Whitmore yesterday. Six cars full. Last Thursday at the teachers' examination about 30 applicants were present, and over $20 institute fees collected. Mack & Schmid have purchased so far this season 275,000 pounds of wool, including purchases at Manchester. Asa Allen, the mail carrier who sprained his ankle some days ago, has been making his delivery with a horse and buggy lately. A barn belonging to C. Roth, in the second ward, burned Saturday night. A cow shut up in the building was burned to death. The Adrian folks are pleased because by a recent change of time via the T. & A. A. R. R, they can get to Ann Arbor in an hour's ride. Geo. Wiedman was up before Justice Pond, for assaulting Antony Wynoska. He paid complainant $4, and costs, and was released. Frank Vanderwerker and Gil Howe, of this city, camped on Portage Lake all last week, in company with Ben Arksey and Ed Hiscock, Dexter. Ypsilanti has a soap-factory, which is making toilet soap from mineral salts obtained by evaporating the water from one of her numerous mineral wells. Howell merchants sell white campaign plugs at $1.00, while the faithful in Ann Arbor pay $3.50. Of course, it's this "illogical" tariff that makes the difference! The electric light company has a new superintendent in the person of Frank Armstrong, late of Bay City, who with his family, are now residents of this city on Spring-st. Prof. Charles Carlisle, the celebrated elocutionist of Detroit, will give an entertainment at the M. E. church of Webster for the benefit of the school, Thursday evening, August 16. Mrs. John Behan has had her house, corner Second and Catherine-sts, moved farther east, where she will put it on a new wall. A new house will be erected on the site of the old one. The Board of Directors of the Washtenaw Mutual Ins. Co. meet Aug. 16, to adjust the losses by fire of Ellen Miller, of Superior, H. C. Packard and J. McCormick of Salem, and E. T. Handy, of Augusta. Thomas Hayley, of Ann Arbor, has invented a furniture polish which he is now selling, and he hopes to make a large business of it. He will have agents all over Michigan. It seems to be a very useful article, as it is praised by housewives. The teachers' institute, of Webster, will hold a meeting in the Williams school house near Webster church, the 25th of this month. Besides various literary exercises, E. C. Warner, chairman of the board of examiners for this county, will deliver an address. Albrecht Gwinner of this city has two sons, Will and Jacob, one two years older than the other, but whose birthdays come on the same day of the month. He also has two daughters, one several years older than the other, whose birthdays are also the same day of the month. Last week, while two young ladies from Detroit, Misses Augusta and Johanna Hildner, were returning from Saline in company with a daughter of Jonathan Josephans, of York township, the horse ran away, dislocating Miss Augusta's elbow, and severely bruising all of them. Mrs. Sarah E. Lane, of Milan, had Mrs. Ollie Turner of the same place arrested on a warrant issued by Justice Fruesuff, charging defendant with slander. Then Mrs. Turner had Mrs. Lane arrested for assault and battery, and Justice Fruesuff will hear the pros and cons next Monday. The Democratic pole raised a Cleveland and Thurman pole at Henry Paul's in Pittsfield, last week, and for a little sport hung an essay on the pole labeling it "Harrison." Some one took the card off the figure, and while it still hung there quite a number of Democrats supposed that it was Cleveland who was hanging in effigy. Chief Siple says the worst weapon he ever took from a criminal was a piece of small rubber tubing, about 18 inches long, in each end of which was tied a double handful of shot. This kind of a bludgeon would kill a man or produce concussion of the brain and not leave a scratch. It is allied to the sand bag in its silent destructiveness. Sheriff Walsh and chief Siple arrested four men last Friday night, who were sleeping in freight cars at the depot. Two of them turned out to be maulers from Detroit on their way to Jackson, and were set free. One was a printer, and the printers here chipped in and paid his fine. The other, a genuine tramp, was sent to jail by Justice Pond for 30 days. Tuesday morning, 12 clean handsome coaches, filled to overflowing with the Union Sunday school excursion, drawn by one of the largest engines on the road, rolled out of the T. & A. A. depot bound for Detroit by the Wabash road. Before reaching Detroit, the number on board was swelled to 900. A boat ride up Detroit river was enjoyed by those who desired to go, and all had a splendid time. The train reached Ann Arbor at 7:45 p. m. Business in the justices courts was lively Monday. Besides the Saturday night row, several plain drunks were disposed of. Wm. Taylor, colored was fined $2 and $35 costs by Justice Pond for participation in the fight at the depot some time ago. He paid the fine and was immediately arrested by Chief Siple on a warrant for carrying a revolver. He was taken before Justice Fruesuff who made him give bonds, and set his rials down for the 14th. John W. Bennett will defend him. Wm. Hendricks was fined $5 or 20 days for being drunk. Thos. Cullen drunk, 15 days in jail. Supervisor Charles Dwyer, of Dexter township, was in the city yesterday looking after his chances of being the democratic candidate for sheriff. R. R. Hazlett, of Grand Rapids, is in the city working among his masonic brethren, soliciting aid in building a house to cost $60,000 in the city mentioned, for aged and destitute masons, widows and orphan children of masons. He is having good success. Some poor fellow who has been there, complains loudly through the Democrat, of the custom of little brothers and sisters, when a fellow goes to see his girl, of offering him their toy banks, and soliciting contributions therefor. It is humiliating when you have just enough with you to pay for two dishes of ice-cream you have ordered. Always take two or three pennies along and you will be spared much mortification. The wedding of Prof. Charles B. Scott, of St. Paul, Minn., and Miss Addie D. Bird, lit. '87, took place at the residence of the bride's mother on Inghalls-st, Tuesday evening, Aug. 7. Mr. Scott's father, Rev. Mr. Scott of Holland, Mich., officiating. Both the bride and groom are well-known in University circles. After a two weeks' trip throughout Michigan visiting friends, Mr. and Mrs. Scott will go to St. Paul, their future home. The First Baptist church and society have dissolved as such, and taken corporate powers under the act of May 24, 1879. The articles of incorporation were filed with the county clerk, Monday, under the name of the First Baptist church of Ann Arbor. At the last meeting, C. M. Stark, W. H. Freeman, W. H. Drane, V. M. Spaulding, P. Scauble, J. B. Cady, H. B. Dodsley, J. G. Pattengill, W. W. Beman, were elected trustees. Alfred Thomas, a well known colored resident of the city and who has been for the past six years cook at the Cook house, died at his residence, 6 North-st, last Saturday. He was a faithful and industrious employe and owned the home where he lived. He was an old soldier, and received a pension for disabilities received in the service. The funeral was held Monday, being conducted by the colored masonic lodge, of which order deceased was a member. He was 50 years of age and leaves a family. Thos. Birkett was in the city, last Friday, and among other things said he was going to make extensive repairs in the Dexter Mills of which he has recently become owner. A new wheel of the best pattern, and one new run of stone will be added to the feed mill, doubling its capacity. The stones in the flouring mill will be taken out, and improved roller mills put in, which will make it one of the best in the county. This will be a good thing for Dexter, as last year over 90,000 bushels of wheat went through that town to Scio and Ann Arbor because of lack of milling facilities there. Saturday night a disgraceful row took place in Gibney's saloon on N. Main-st in which a number of white and colored roughs were engaged. Bottles and chairs were used promiscuously, and battered faces and heads were plenty. Sheriff Walsh and Marshal Siple dropped down on the gang and captured four gentlemen of color, who were lodged in jail. Monday morning Justice Pond disposed of the culprits as follows: Arthur Cramp, carrying razor, house of correction, Detroit, three months. Solomon Zeebe and Henry Waldron, each $1 fine and $4.70 costs, which they paid. Chief Siple took Crump to Detroit yesterday. The announcements of the Students' Christian association of the Ann Arbor High school have just been issued from this office. The officers are Henry H. Walker, president; George B. Dygert, 2d vice-president; Ela M. Bennett, 2d vice-president; Chas. P. Bates, treasurer; Ina M. Ticknor, recording secretary; Grace Webster, corresponding secretary; Henderson E. Johns, bulletin editor; William S. Cheever, organist. After Sept. 1 meetings will be held every Friday at 4:15 p. m. The subject for consideration during September are as follows: Sept. 7, "Food for our Thoughts," Phil. 4:8; Sept. 14, "Burdens Bearing," Gal. 6:2; Sept. 21, "Our Life's Getsemanses," Matt. 26:36-46; Sept. 28, "Danger of Indecision," Act. 26:28. Co. A's 14th annual excursion will be given Thursday, Aug. 23, over the M. C. R. R. to Detroit. The train will leave here at 7:15 standard time. Arriving at Detroit the excursion will board a steamer for a trip down the river to Lake Erie. An hour's stop will be made at Fort Wayne, giving all an opportunity to see what a real fort looks like. After a ride on Lake Erie the boat will return to the city, stopping at the Woodward ave. dock, to allow those to land who desire to see the ball game between Detroit and Chicago at Recreation Park. The boat will then proceed to Belle Isle. The train for home leaves Detroit at 7:30 sharp. Tickets for round trip, $1.25; children under 12 years, 65 cents. For sale at Watts' jewelry store and at J. J. Good-year's drug store. Ready for the Fray. Mr. Kittredge, of THE REGISTER, who is at Old Orchard Beach, Me., sends THE REGISTER a copy of the "Old Orchard Summer Rambler," with the following verses marked. He does not say that he wrote the verses while watching the sea-side bathers: Let's see, now—my feathers and fans, My ribbons and jewels and lace. My handkerchiefs, slippers and gloves Lie all in their several places. My lingerie, bonnets and hose, My dresses of silk and of satin, All packed; but O me, there's my rounce! For mercy's sake, mother, get that in! There isn't an inch more of room, And I must have those novels from Paris. What a nuisance! Can't something come out To make space? Oh, yes, luckily there is That Bible! Whatever possessed You to put it in, anyway, mother? Who ever gets time at the beach With such things as religion to bother. There, thank goodness, I think that is all! This pesky packing is over. But, O day, there's my loom of Youth yet; Squeeze that in, and let us slum down the cover— And wait just a minute—you might Find space for this diamond locket; My nothing suit's all that's left over, And I can put that in my pocket. Harriet E. Ross has commenced a suit against Eugene Ross for divorce.
