

THE ANN ARBOR REGISTER.

VOL. XIV. NO. 44.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1888.

WHOLE NO. 723.

ON THE CAMPUS.

The University glee club is wanted in Kansas City, during the holidays.

The Philosophical society will meet this evening, to be addressed by Prof. Morris.

Prof. Adams is in Washington running the statistics department of the Inter-state commerce commission.

The Freshman social will be held tomorrow evening, at the house of Miss Kate Cramer on 47 E. Huron St.

The senior pharmacists chose as officers: President, Mark Rockwell; vice-president, Miss Julia Emanuel; secretary, A. C. Leig; treasurer, L. J. Spenker.

The Students lecture association have engaged Mary A. Livermore, Robert Nourse, Robert McIntyre, Harvard quartette, President Northrop, of Minnesota University, and George Kennan, the famous traveler in Siberia.

In the first rush between the freshmen and sophomores, John Stull, '91, was badly squeezed, and one of his ribs was broken. He had the pluck to engage in the next rush, but a doctor had to be called, and Stull was laid up for repairs.

The senior homeopaths have officers as follows: President, E. C. Williams; vice-president, Miss A. H. Wheelock; secretary, A. B. Clark; treasurer, W. C. Sloch; orator, W. T. Tyler; poet, Miss M. P. Wissell; historian, Miss E. S. Carey; seer, Miss M. Davis; marshal, L. H. Shank.

There will be a grand concert given by the Boston Symphony orchestra club, seven in number, at the University hall, Friday, Nov. 16. All the members composing this club are artists in their line, and the lovers of both instrumental and vocal music should not miss hearing them.

The senior medics have chosen officers as follows: President, E. H. Parker; vice-president, Miss Findlay; secretary, C. A. Johnson; treasurer, J. S. Grant; marshal, H. C. Burcham; historian, C. L. Ford; poet, Miss Hall; prophet, G. S. McPherson; orator, W. Warren; musical director, W. B. Watts.

The organ recital last Thursday evening at the Congregational church, was greatly enjoyed. It was conducted by Prof. A. A. Stanley, director of the School of Music, assisted by Misses Ball and Jacobs. The pieces rendered were Italian compositions. A recital will be given in the same place every two weeks.

STUDENTS MAKE TROUBLE.

Looks like an Organized Attempt to Break up the Democratic Meeting.—Two Arrested and Give Bail.

When the Democratic torch light procession, last evening, reached Fifth-st., after leaving Main, a crowd of students tried to obstruct its progress. It was probably a hollowed party out for mischief in general, but to some excited Democrats it looks as though it was an organized attempt to break up their evening procession and meeting. The procession was brought to a stand-still, but finally crowded its way to State-st., where some lively little scuffling took place. Two hats were knocked off with stones.

When the procession stopped at the court-house, some fighting occurred. M. C. Peterson was hit on the arm with a stone thrown by a student. City Recorder Bach later in the affray was struck on the leg with a club in the hands of a student, and now "Jim" limps with a leg swollen much beyond its natural size. Messrs. Peterson and Bach were the leaders of the procession, and were exposed more than others.

The crowd of students, with tin horns and canes and clubs, and with a number of town hoodlums, in all to the number of about 100, rushed into the rink in advance of the procession. It was 15 minutes before the speaking began, but two-thirds of the seats were already occupied. The students probably did not intend to break up the meeting, but their conduct gave the officers reason to suppose that such was their intention. For six or seven minutes there was jumping over seats, blowing of tin horns, pounding on the walls with sticks, and yells that would make Sioux Indians envious. If the officers had not interfered there is no telling when it would have ended. Ladies in the room turned pale and were on the point of leaving.

Sheriff Walsh, City Marshal Siple, and Constables John Ryan, Kit Matthews and Paul Shall were there and three or four of the students were snatched headlong out of the rink. Clipping at the officers as they went out was indulged in, but the blows were wild and often lighted on the heads of students, and many of them hit nothing but the air. Outside four arrests were made. They were Justin Bullis, John Merkle, M. J. Paul and Fred Root. Dozens of others were just as guilty as these, but the officers could only take a few, and these happened to be the ones to atone for their fellows' misdeeds. Root and Paul were soon released, but Merkle and Bullis were taken before Justice Fruesauf at 11 o'clock last evening, charged with disorderly conduct, and they will probably plead guilty next Saturday forenoon and pay their fine. They were let out on bail.

When the speaking began in the rink, the noise from the horns outside was so exceedingly annoying that chairman Charles R. Whitman called a halt, till the noise was stopped. Vigorous measures were taken, and no more trouble was experienced.

WANTED.—300 or 400 good Republicans to go to Chelsea Saturday night. Two bands and a drum corps expected, and a great time.

DEMOCRATIC DAY.

Yesterday, Not next Tuesday.—A Long Procession in Which Pittsfield Takes the Cake.

Yesterday was a great day for the Washtenaw Democracy, greater than next Tuesday will be. The day was unusually bright and warm for October. Ann Arbor made an effort in the way of decoration, but nothing wonderful was accomplished. The stores of Mack & Schmid, J. C. & W. W. Watts, Emanuel Wagner, and Edward Duffy were somewhat elaborately decorated with streamers and flags. Baumgartner, John Goetz & Co., Hutzl & Co., H. J. Brown, A. D. Seyler, John Burg, and others did something in that line. The saloons, of course, especially those of Werner & Brenner, Reynolds, Millman, Rettich, and Brown, showed their colors. Several private residences along the line of march were tastefully decorated.

Thousands of people thronged to Ann Arbor to witness the great procession. No such crowd has been seen here since Children's day. It was a large crowd, and the procession was probably a mile long, in all making a strong demonstration,—the first indication of the campaign that in Washtenaw the Democrats are in the habit of outnumbering their opponents.

Sheriff Walsh was marshal of the day, and had Jack Sheehan, Will Watts, J. L. Duffy, Frank Burg, Mike Brenner, and others, as aids.

The great procession formed on Packard-st., move up Main to Ann, on Ann to Division, Division to State, thence on Williams to Fifth, and then to Huron. The Ann Arbor city band came first, followed by two carriages in which were Regent Whitman, J. F. Schulz, J. J. Robinson, Mayor Beakes, C. H. Richmond, and Candidate Burt. Then came the young men's Democratic club, of Ann Arbor, about 40 strong, yelling "Don't be afraid; tariff reform is not free trade." E. Krueger the photographer, next came along, looking after the immense pyramid of fruit and vegetables which he had ingeniously constructed. It was mostly of apples. Wagner Bros. displayed two of their carriages.

Ypsilanti band, followed by the Ypsilanti town delegation of a dozen farmers' wagons, full of people, came next.

Pittsfield had the largest and most ingenious representation. There were the wagons labeled "Unprotected," containing cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens, hay, vegetables, wheat and oats. There were the "Protected" wagons containing agricultural implements, crockery, clothing, lath, stoves, furniture, coffin and tombstone. Twenty-eight farmer lads, representing farm laborers, each labeled "Unprotected," were mounted on horses. This unique exhibition had at its end a farm wagon, in which from a pole a coon was suspended with this inscription: "Grandpa, I am lost."

The Dexter band next led the gallant Soio and Lima horsemen. They had banners and pictures of Seery and Lehman.

The Milan band stepped off jauntily, leading 40 horsemen. The Chelsea band came next with 40 "Hickory guards" from Northfield, well mounted. The Manchester band was in advance of 34 Freedom horsemen, all handsomely arrayed, and the Saline band furnished inspiring strains for 50 horsemen from Lodi.

DEMOGOGUE BURT.

Regent C. R. Whitman was president of the day, and in introducing candidate Burt in the afternoon in front of the court house, he prophesied that Washtenaw would give 2,000 Democratic majority.

If any doubt existed about Burt being a dangerous demagogue, it was dispelled by his speech. He talked the nonsense about the people becoming poorer and the manufacturing states richer and richer, under the tariff. It was all tax, tax, tax. He thought the people of Michigan needed to have a guardian appointed over them. In his discussion of the state expenditures, he tried to make party capital out of the fact that we are now spending more money as a rich, powerful, and numerous people than 30 years ago when the state was sparsely populated.

Burt makes no pretense, as Cleveland did, of being a civil service reformer. He declares boldly that if elected he would pitch out all the employees in all the departments and institutions of the state. He displays most shameful demagogism in discussing this subject.

On the prohibition question Burt declared that of course the Democratic party did not believe in prohibition, but would tax the saloon just as is now done, thereby unwittingly endorsing Republican legislation on that subject, and condemning Democratic opposition to the passage of the tax laws.

Last evening the Democrats had a large torch-light procession, and were addressed in the rink by Wm. L. Putnam, the defeated Democratic candidate for governor of Maine, and a member of the fisheries commission of which President Angell was a member.

Candidate Burt was surprised into a speech in the evening, and having only one speech, the vast audience had to listen to the same one they heard in the afternoon.

Arthur J. Moore, an only son of George Moore of Fourth-st., is a mining engineer at the Bolanos mines, owned by the St. Louis Mexican Investment Co., at Jolico, Mexico. After an absence of eight years he returned to visit his parents, yesterday, and will return to Mexico tomorrow. He has met with the "ups and downs" incident to most mining speculators' lives, but quite recently has made a "strike" that ought to place him above any financial embarrassment for a long time. A valuable invention in the method of dealing with the ore affords him a rich royalty.

Ann Arbor's Shame.

There was a big "drunk" in Ann Arbor after the great procession yesterday, and it extended well into the night. Boys 16 years old were intoxicated. Many old and middle-aged men made beastly exhibitions of themselves, under the influence of alcohol; and the number of young men howling drunk, who had come to town for that purpose, would be hard to estimate. One of the wagons driven in the Pittsfield procession was later seen going up and down Main-st., the driver almost too drunk to blow the tin horn he had in his hands, and unable to manage a team. After 11 o'clock in the evening gangs of drunken boys, profane and beastly, yelled and made night hideous on Main-st. Some rode horses at full speed up the street. The saloons made money; ah, yes! but they put another screw in their coffin. The Democrats lost votes because of the shameful exhibition. No arrests were made. Let a tramp come along tonight intoxicated and making any noise, and see how soon our city police will put him in the "cooler."

A WOULD-BE "MASHER."

Some Suppressed Feeling in Ann Arbor over the Antics of a Man of Family.

Two or three of the best-known Ann Arbor families are all "torn up" at the manner a guest of theirs was treated on the streets of this city by one of the well-known, although not one of the most respected, citizens. This guest was a lady from Oakland county, and one of means, who does much traveling. Her name was given to THE REGISTER, but, out of consideration to the feelings of all concerned, except of the "masher" described above, it is not printed. She came to Ann Arbor last Saturday. On Monday, she went out alone to do some shopping and to go to the house of another friend. On the way she was accosted by a man who was a total stranger to her, but who is so well known to Ann Arbor people that it wouldn't be necessary to give his name in order to let them know who he is. Probably supposing she was without friends here, he thought it was safe to try his wiles, which, if rumor is true, have been successful only too often. Thinking there was some mistake, the lady made no acknowledgment of the salutation and was not alarmed.

She went into a dry goods store on Main st., and the citizen followed her, asking for a proprietor of the store who, he was informed, had gone to dinner. In a very few minutes the would-be "masher" came back to the store with another excuse for calling. When the lady left the store, she was followed by the w. m. to Dr. Frothingham's office in the Hamilton block. She found the office locked, but the w. m. was at her side and consolingly remarked, "I'm sorry the door is locked."

The lady hastened away to the house of a lady friend, and together they hurried out on the street in time to meet the w. m. The w. m. suddenly changed his demeanor, and walked by with his head high in the air and with his eyes straight ahead.

The w. m., finding that his intended victim had friends among well-known Ann Arbor people, gave up his bootless effort. The visiting lady felt so hurt and grieved over the insult she had received in Ann Arbor that she cut her visit short, leaving Tuesday morning for her home. The indignation felt around certain quarters is enough to devour the w. m., and he must carry himself a little more circumspectly or his name may be given to the public.

Pick-pockets at Work.

Last evening, in the large crowd in front of the rink, Zach Roath, of Bach & Abel's, felt a hand in his hip pocket. Wheeling suddenly he grabbed the man, a stranger about 40 years old. He walked his man as far as Main-st., where there was a rush and the thief was snatched from him. Mr. Roath has $21 less spending money than he had. The man probably passed the pocket-book on to a "pal."

Governor Luce and Senator Palmer will be in Ann Arbor tomorrow. The governor will give Mr. Burt a good dressing. There will not be so much splurge as was seen yesterday, but it will make as many votes.

NEARING THE END.

The Political Campaign of 1888 Almost Finished.

News of a General Character Gleaned from the Many Fields of Battle—A Sensation in Missouri—Other Notes.

THE POLITICAL FIELD.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 28.—Mr. Thurman, being absent from the city on registration days, has been granted the right to register on November 5 by the registers in his precinct, his affidavit being forwarded to them from Cincinnati.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—Alfred H. Love, president of the Universal Peace Union, American branch, who was nominated for Vice-President by the Equal Rights party, has declined the nomination on the ground that he could not hold office under a constitution that recognizes war and bloodshed. He is proud to have been associated on the ticket with that noble woman, Mrs. Belva Lockwood, but for the reason above stated he is unable to accept the honor.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 28.—It appears to be settled that President Cleveland does not intend to come back to Buffalo to vote. He has come up from Washington but once for that purpose, when three years ago he voted for Hill for Governor. It is learned that his name is not registered, and in order to vote he would have to come here next Friday himself and register, when the registry might have been made by proxy on the former registry days. Because of his removal of his personal property from the city Republicans claim that they would challenge his vote if it were offered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Saturday was the last of the four days of registration in this city. The total for the four days was 286,457, against 240,507 in 1884.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Alexander Jonas, the Socialist candidate for mayor, in his letter of acceptance admits that there is no chance of his election, but says it is wise for the party to present candidates to the people, as a nucleus around which may gather in increasing numbers from year to year those who are disgusted with the corruptions and injustices of the existing system, and finally these will form a majority of the community.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Dr. Mary Walker issues an impassioned appeal addressed "To the great sisterhood all over the land," urging all women to register and to vote. Continuing, Doctor Mary says that if women are prevented from the exercise of their clearly guaranteed rights, money will be forthcoming to prosecute such persons as may attempt to interfere, and if necessary the suits will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, when she says the truth of her crowning constitutional argument would be decided.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—William H. Blake, nominee of the Union Labor party for Governor of Missouri, has sent a letter to the Executive Committee of that party declining to make the race. The committee is now in session considering what is best to do under the circumstances. It is freely claimed that Mr. Blake's withdrawal means coalition between the Union Labor and Republican parties in the State.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Charles Stuart Wells has accepted the nomination for Vice-President on the Equal Rights party ticket.

NEGROES SWINDLED BY MINING SHARKS. BOSTON, Oct. 27.—Information has been received that the Rising Sun Gold and Silver Mine, said to lie near Bullion, I. T., and in which three years ago about $4,000 was invested by many Bostonians, mostly negroes, exists only as a name. The promoters represented that the Alba Mining Company had been incorporated in New York with $1,000,000 to work it. It has been discovered that there is no such company. Negroes in Ohio, Pennsylvania and other States have suffered by the same swindle.

A SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION WRECKED. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—The Babington expedition of the University of Pennsylvania, which left this city for the orient last summer, has been shipwrecked in the Mediterranean sea. The members of the expedition are on the Samos Island in the Mediterranean sea. Most of their baggage and scientific apparatus has been lost.

RESULT OF A BOAT-RACE. ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 27.—The three-mile boat-race between Galonaugh, of Philadelphia, and Vail, of this city, was rowed on the Kennabessis river yesterday afternoon. The stakes were $300 a side. Vail won easily in twenty-three minutes. Galonaugh says in turning the buoy he met with a mishap by disjuncting his knee-cap.

INDIGNANT AMERICANS. LONDON, Oct. 27.—Americans in Paris are filled with indignation at the refusal of the Washington Government to permit its agents abroad to issue passports to traveling citizens of the United States. It is stated that the refusal was ordered by Secretary Bayard at the time of the German frontier changes last summer.

KILLED AT A CROSSING. CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Oct. 28.—The Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern train struck a buggy in which were three persons at a crossing near West Liberty, killing Mrs. James Ditworth, of Chester County, Pa., and Harry Pond, of West Liberty, and injuring, but not fatally, Mrs. Isaac Larken, of Centerville, Del.

FOUR MEN KILLED. MILWAUKEE, Oct. 31.—The tug A. W. Lawrence exploded her boiler while cruising in the lake off North Point, near this city, killing Captain John Sullivan; Engineer John Sullivan, cousin of the captain; Fireman Edward Sullivan and Lineman Thomas Handley. The boat was blown to pieces.

MANY MORMONS INDICTED. SALT LAKE CITY, U. T., Oct. 26.—The grand jury of the district court at Provo was discharged yesterday. It found 224 indictments for offenses against the United States statutes, nearly all of which were for crimes growing out of the practice of polygamy.

LORD SACKVILLE'S LETTER.

The British Minister Creates a Sensation in Political Circles. WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Sackville-West correspondence is occupying the attention of resident Washington politicians. Republicans generally hold that Mr. West incautiously expressed his real interest in the contest and that, whether or not he was trapped into doing so, it will have an influence upon the Irish vote to the disadvantage of President Cleveland. They regard him as the Democracy's Burchard. They hold that the British Minister's letter confirms their repeated declaration that the British Government is using all influence possible to assist Mr. Cleveland's re-election and the spreading of free-trade doctrines. The Democrats are indignant at Lord Sackville's action. They are divided in opinion as to whether he was led to write the Los Angeles letter through want of judgment or was influenced by a desire to injure Mr. Cleveland's re-election and the spreading of free-trade doctrines. The Democrats are indignant at Lord Sackville's action. They are divided in opinion as to whether he was led to write the Los Angeles letter through want of judgment or was influenced by a desire to injure Mr. Cleveland's re-election and the spreading of free-trade doctrines.

Following is Minister West's letter in full: [Private.] "Sir: I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th inst., and beg to say that I fully appreciate the difficulty in which you find yourself in casting your vote. You are probably aware that any political party which openly favored the mother country at the present moment would lose popularity, and that the party in power is fully aware of this fact. The party, however, I believe, still desirous of maintaining friendly relations with Great Britain, and is still as desirous of settling all questions with Canada which have been unfortunately reopened since the retraction of the treaty by the Republican majority in the Senate and the President's message, to which you allude. All allowances must therefore be made for the political situation as regards the Presidential election thus created. It is, however, impossible to predict the course which President Cleveland may pursue in the matter of retaliation should he be elected, but there is every reason to believe that, while upholding the position he has taken, he will manifest a spirit of conciliation in dealing with the question involved in his message. I inclose an article from the New York Times of August 22, and remain, yours faithfully,

"L. S. SACKVILLE-WEST. "Beverly, Mass., September 13, 1888."

FOUR LIVES LOST. Terrible Disaster on Lake Michigan Near Milwaukee—The Boiler of a Tug-Boat Collapses—The Captain and the Crew and Three of His Crew Met an Untimely Death.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 31.—The tug A. W. Threats of Expelling Americans from the Flower Kingdom in Retaliation for the Exclusion Act.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Advices from China state that the Chinese Times, commenting on the Exclusion act prints a letter from a Pekin official that China must adopt retaliatory measures and exclude Americans from China. The letter says: "If the obnoxious American bill should be carried into effect there will be no other course open for China consistent with her dignity as a nation than to adopt retaliatory measures by prohibiting the citizens of the United States from coming to China. This will be by no means proportionate to the harm done to the Chinese interests in America, but it will have to be done in order to show that the Chinese can do something, and if this will have no effect in bringing the United States Congress and the United States Government to reason and fairness, then it will be a question for China to consider whether it is not time for her to cancel her treaties made with that country to recall her subjects from there, to expel all the United States citizens from this country, and to cease all relations and intercourse, diplomatic and commercial, with that country."

TATE SPRINGS, TENN., July 4, 1888.

The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.: During the spring of 1871, while working in the field at my home in Morgan county, Ga., I pulled off my shoes to give my feet a rest. Unfortunately, I walked into a clump of poison oak, and in a few days my feet were in a terrible condition, and I could not put on a shoe because of the soreness and swelling. I was treated as poison oak cases usually are, and everything was healed up. About the same time the following spring, 1872, my feet became sore again, as at first, and every succeeding spring for five years brought back the same condition of the disease, only each time it became more distressing, because I began to think it was a lifetime trouble. Finally, I was induced to try Swift's Specific. I took six bottles, and to-day am entirely well. My improvement was gradual from the first, and no evidence of the disease remains. I shall take pleasure in testifying as to its curative properties. It is the greatest blood purifier in existence. Yours truly, J. L. MORGAN.

The foregoing certificate is taken at random from thousands of letters in possession of the Swift Specific Co., and presented simply as a sample. It is a voluntary statement, giving facts and results of the case. Its accuracy and genuineness are beyond question.

JAKE MARTIN for sheriff will make a great run; and if he wins he will be a splendid sheriff.

MORTEN F. CASE, of Pittsfield, for county clerk, ought to receive a large vote and ought to be elected.

WE ASSUME, of course, that the good sense of Washtenaw county will not make the mistake of electing Lehman for prosecuting attorney.

WE will cheerfully grant that there are some good names on the Democratic county ticket, but there are some objectionable ones. Don't vote it blindly.

THE Washtenaw Republicans have one of the best county tickets ever put in the field in Michigan. Wouldn't it be a good idea to have a change?

GEORGE S. WHEELER, of Salem, heads the splendid Washtenaw Republican ticket, and it was a nomination marked for its fitness. Turn out and work for Wheeler.

CHAS. H. KLINE AND F. C. MORIARTY are two young attorneys of ability who would be helped by an election as circuit court commissioners, and who would be splendid officers. They are young men who have courage to do what they think is right.

ALBERT GARDNER, of Ann Arbor, the Republican candidate for register of deeds, is the only old soldier on any Washtenaw county ticket. In the Peninsula he was terribly shot; laid on the battle-field three days, and was in Libby prison. His life was despaired of, but he went to the war again as captain of a company of cavalry, and was shot in the hip, from the effects of which he is yet suffering. He is a man of energy, a capable man and an honest, straightforward American of German descent. He is now serving his second term as supervisor of the First and Second wards of Ann Arbor.

THAT "dollar a day lie" about General Harrison has been thoroughly exploded. The persistence with which the Democratic papers have circulated the lie is astonishing. Gen. Harrison never said that "a dollar a day is enough for any working man." Large rewards have been offered for proof that he said it, and no one seeks to get the reward. Scores of reputable citizens who heard the speech in which it is claimed the language was used, make affidavit that it contained no such thought. Mr. Harrison denies it most vigorously. It is enough to make an American citizen blush that such campaigning is resorted to in this country.

THE story has been circulated that George S. Wheeler and Judge Harriman are in league, and that in the event of Mr. Wheeler's election as judge of probate Mr. Harriman will be appointed probate register. The story was circulated by John J. Robison with the view of injuring Mr. Wheeler's chances. Mr. Wheeler assured us that while he thinks that Judge Harriman is an admirable officer, there has been no such understanding established between them, and no conversation about it. While there is no truth in this story, it is hinted that Mr. Babbitt, if elected, will appoint John J. Robison probate register. A vote for Babbitt may be a vote for Robison.

ONE of the reasons General Grant gave for being a Republican was this: "There is not a precinct in this vast nation where a Democrat cannot cast his his ballot and have it counted as cast, no matter what the predominance of the opposite party. He can proclaim his political opinions, even if he is one among thousands, without fear and without proscription on account of his opinions. There are fourteen states, and localities in some others, where Republicans have not this privilege. This is one reason why I am a Republican." This is just as good a reason why the Republican ticket should be supported today as when General Grant uttered it.

FREE TRADE AND TRUSTS.

It is a fallacy that free trade would protect this country from trusts. England is much more afflicted in this respect than we.

Coffee is on the free list, and no one will deny that a trust controls the price of coffee.

Who will deny that a trust controls the coal out-put? And hard coal is on the free list.

The most gigantic trust in the country is the Standard oil company. There is no tariff on coal oil. What's the matter?

How is it that the tariff has any special effects promotive of trusts, since these articles are on the free list?

A. J. SAWYER'S RECORD.

If any man has any doubt whether A. J. Sawyer is in full sympathy with the people and able and willing to care for their interests with sleepless vigilance, let such an one examine his record in the sessions of 1877 and 1879. The important bills which became law by reason of his active assistance are too numerous for review at this time. We note a few only which show that his ambition as a legislator is for the public welfare.

In 1877 he introduced the bill which became a law in 1879 providing a site, system of government, and plans for the erection of an industrial home for exposed, friendless and helpless girls between the ages of five and twelve years,—the institution now known as the "Adrian Reformatory for Girls." He introduced a bill to provide for the support and care of State paupers; also a bill to provide for the better care of pauper and destitute children; also a bill more effectively providing for the care, maintenance and recovery of the insane.

Mr. Sawyer put through both houses a bill providing that all children found in any of the pauper institutions of the State, who were deformed, diseased, or afflicted with any curable disease, which might be removed or relieved by an operation or medical treatment, should be sent, at the expense of the State, to the University of Michigan for treatment, and should there be treated by the medical faculty free of charge. The bill failed by reason of the governor's opposition. Had the bill become a law, there would be no talk now about removing the clinical department to Detroit. The State would have furnished the material needed; and the poor and afflicted would have received the best medical treatment the State affords. Thousands of crippled children would have been restored to health and put in a condition to earn a living for themselves, instead of remaining through life a burden and expense to the State. Some such legislation is needed.

Let us send Mr. Sawyer to Lansing again. He is capable of comprehending the needs of the State, and the interests of our city will be cared for. Every property-holder in the town is concerned in this matter.

VOTE FOR THE RIGHT MAN.

Next Tuesday is the day toward which all of the agony of the campaign has tended. The time for debate is nearly passed. THE REGISTER would urge the calmest consideration by each voter. Let the third-party Prohibitionists forget their last "big demonstration" and ask themselves if their political action will advance the cause of temperance. We presume that most of them will vote their ticket straight, and will do so honestly, but there are many of them who hesitate, and a second calm survey of the situation might make them see the truth.

As regards the presidential election, many changes have been made on account of the tariff discussion. Those Democrats who see clearly that the tendency of their party toward free trade is threatening to the prosperity of the country, are flocking in great numbers to the Republican side, thousands openly, and many quietly. It is unquestionable that some Republicans, believing in free trade, have gone over to the Democratic side. This is all healthy enough, and bodes well for the future of the country. Bourbonism can not exist where people think and change their views honestly.

If there is anyone who does not believe in changing the industrial system of the country by deserting the political economy upon which it is founded, he should vote for Harrison and Morton. It makes no difference what his former party affiliations have been, let the voter face this situation, and express by his vote his honest conviction. We cannot hope to cause any one to change his views on the tariff question before the election. But if we can induce every Democrat who believes in protection to vote his views, there could be no question of the result. All should vote for the right man, and the right man for the protectionist is Benjamin Harrison.

In local affairs it is absolutely inexcusable to stand by the party under any and all circumstances. Carrying parties into municipal and county elections has been the source of untold corruption which makes our city governments failures and the laughing stock of Europe. We want the best man for prosecuting attorney, for sheriff, for register of deeds, for circuit court commissioner, and it makes not the slightest difference whether he be Republican or Democrat. As it so happens the Democrats have a majority in Washtenaw county in national elections. The party machinery is taken advantage of, a general scramble takes place, and a county ticket is made up, labeled Democrat, which all good Democrats are expected to vote whether they like the candidates or not. We submit that a man can remain a Democrat and yet vote the Republican county ticket. The test of a man's Democracy now is his willingness to vote for Cleveland. In the county election one should vote for the right man whether he be Republican or Democrat.

Thus let our Democratic friends consider whether they will vote for M. J.

Lehman in preference to J. F. Lawrence, just because the former is called a Democrat and the latter a Republican; or for Pat McKernan in preference to Charles H. Kline, for circuit court commissioner, for the same reason. The Republican county ticket happens to be a splendid one which Democrats might vote straight without hurting them any; but certainly they can much improve their own ticket by scratching it.

CONGRESSMAN ALLEN.

The Detroit Tribune of Monday had the following appreciative remarks concerning our congressman, E. P. Allen: Edward P. Allen of Ypsilanti, was born in Sharon, Washtenaw county, Mich., Oct. 28, 1839; worked on a farm until 20 years old, attending school and teaching during winters; graduated from the State Normal school in March, 1864; taught the Union school in Vassar, Mich., for the three months following, when he enlisted and helped to raise a company for the twenty-ninth Michigan infantry; was commissioned first lieutenant in that regiment in the following September, and went with it Southwest, where the regiment was engaged in active campaigning until April 1; in September, 1865, was mustered out of the service with his regiment as captain, entered the law school at Ann Arbor, graduating in March, 1867, formed a partnership with Hon. S. M. Catcheson; upon the removal of Mr. Catcheson to Detroit in 1875, he continued the practice alone at Ypsilanti; was elected alderman in 1872 and 1874 and mayor in 1880; was prosecuting attorney of Washtenaw county in 1872; was elected to the lower house of the legislature in 1876, serving as chairman of the committee on education; was again elected in 1878, at which time he was elected speaker pro tempore; was appointed assistant assessor of internal revenue in 1869; was United States Indian agent for Michigan in August, 1882, which office he held until December, 1885; ran for congress in 1884 and was defeated by Col. Eldredge, (Dem.), and was elected to the fiftieth congress as a Republican, receiving 16,518 votes against 15,486 votes for Lester H. Salisbury, (Dem.), and 2448 for Crozier, (Pro.)

Capt. Allen, as he is familiarly called, is one of the few men who "came to the front" and "made their mark" during the first session of their first term in the house of representatives. Many men became notorious on account of their speech or manner—as, for instance, Killgore of Texas, whose favorite remark in objecting to the consideration of a bill that it was "out of whack with the constitution" has made him confessedly the leading crank of the house.

But Capt. Allen's varied experience in public affairs, combined with a large share of sound practical common sense, enabled him to avoid the dangerous rocks, shoals and quicksands of congressional life, and as a result he has taken the very front rank among new members and passed many who have served two and three terms. He has been prompt and regular in committee attendance and in the committee on Indian affairs his experience and information enabled him to render important service in the modification of obnoxious bills, notably in the respect of the great Sioux reservation bill. His speech on the river and harbor bill attracted wide attention and exhibited a thorough knowledge of the subject. Then he has been a veritable "watch-dog" in the matter of "Southern war claims," of which it is safe to say that nine-tenths of those unpaid are either grossly fraudulent or that the claimants were disloyal during the late war.

Mr. Allen's speech on the tariff bill was a strong one and portrayed in the most conclusive manner the dangers to the agricultural interests of the country contained in the Mills bill. In fine, he has been a vigilant and faithful member on the floor and in committee, while in the departments, notably in the pension office, he has been an indefatigable worker. He had secured an adjudication of over one hundred pension cases, many of which has been dragging along for years. The voters of the second district owe it to themselves as well as Capt. Allen to give him a handsome majority.

IT APPLIES TO MICHIGAN.

Uselessness of a Third Party Able Pointed Out by a New Yorker—Dispassionate Argument.

To the Editor of the Palmyra Courier:

It may be assumed that there are voters who are yet candidly thinking whether a new political party is the best and quickest method of settling a special question. Even if they are so much interested in one subject as to be willing to labor for its success patiently many years, they must yet now and then face the question whether it is easier to create a new party than to use an old one.

Suppose a town with 1,000 voters to be about equally divided into two parties, having with some yearly variations about 500 each. A few men desire a reformed assessment. They must convert a certain number to their own views. To control the caucus of one of the parties so as to nominate and elect (with a few votes from their friends in the other party) will require the conversion of about 250. To make a new party on that issue and put into power over the ruins of the others will cost the conversion of about 500. The labor required is twice as great and the time twice as long through a new party as through the old.

The state of New York is in about that condition. If all extra parties were out of the way and all the voters were in the two old parties, it is quite probable the majority either way would not exceed 15,000 in a pole of 1,000,000. To control one of the political parties and make it do temperance work needs about 250,000 voters or 275,000. To create a new party and place it in power requires about 525,000 votes. That is it takes twice the labor and twice the time to operate through a new party, that it would to control one of the old parties. Surely there must be thoughtful men in the ranks of the Prohibition party who after an experiment of twenty years with a separate party must be willing to candidly reflect whether the "longest way round is the shortest way home." The above is merely a mathematical statement, and its correctness can hardly be denied. True it may be said that if three parties remained in the field a new party might get into power with a little over a third of the voters; but the balance is even then largely against the project of a separate party. Something over a third would certainly require 350,000 voters and to control an old party and make it do the same work would require only about 250,000. To operate through a new party even thus requires the conversion of 100,000 more than through an old party.

Once more notice that this calculation is merely mathematical. It is sound if both the old parties were equally hostile to this new idea or equally friendly, but this is not the case; a large majority of the voters of the Democratic party seem satisfied with existing laws. Certainly they do not favor greater restriction. A large majority of the Republican voters are not satisfied with existing laws—they desire greater restriction. This is a very moderate statement. It does no injustice to Democratic voters. It does not call them rummies or anything of the kind, for that would be foolish and inaccurate. It merely aims to state their exact position. It does not unduly exalt the position of Republican voters. It states the exact fact as determined by personal acquaintance, by their platforms and by their legislative acts.

Now with the Republican party in this undisturbed condition, and with the mathematical facts above given, is it quite consistent with sound judgment, honest reflections and fair investigations to say that a separate party is the quickest way to reach the desired result; to say that there is no difference between the old parties; that they are equally hopeless; that a new party is an absolute necessity? The party Prohibitionists of New York have passed by for this fall their strongest opportunity—before the nominations they could in many places have dictated the situation. They might have made it absolutely certain that ten or fifteen more pledged temperance men would have been on the way to the Assembly than there are now. As a balance-of-power party they could have threatened this party and frightened that, and made one or the other nominate just about the man they should themselves have selected. There yet remains with them the power to choose the best temperance man of two (in many Assembly districts) one or the other of whom is certain to be elected. There is left to them the chance to make sure of the election of Warner Miller as Governor, who will certainly sign such temperance measures as the legislature may present to him, while David B. Hill, if elected, will veto them as his past record indicates. If the Prohibitionists allow David B. Hill to be elected when they can stop it, they vote to tie up for three years all legislative temperance action; if they vote to defeat their own plans if any of them shall be developed into laws during that period. This is making a moderate statement again. It is quite within, not beyond the line of fair inference. Here is the man that will sign and there is the man that will veto.

If the Prohibitionists do not choose effectually between them, it would scarcely seem that they have much interest in the temperance cause.

STEARNS AND WORKINGMEN.

Would-be congressman Stearns, two years ago, denounced Henry A. Robinson as an anarchist. Mr. Robinson was the candidate of the knights of labor and of the Republicans of the first district for congress, and Mr. Stearns was editor of the paper from which the following is taken:

"He is the candidate of socialists and anarchists. They first named him. They are the ones who professed to have the naming of a candidate. They are no respectors of law and order. Robinson is no better.

"He should be shunned as much as a Chicago bomb thrower.
"Robinson should be defeated by 10,000 majority in that district, and communism stamped out. You can't disguise the fact that it is a concession to one of the worst elements of social government to endorse Hank Robinson, and every man who has the honor of Wayne county at heart will labor to crush his candidacy."

If Mr. Gregory should be elected as representative, there will be a weak man in the minority to represent the University interests in the Michigan house of representatives. If Mr. Sawyer should be elected, there will be a strong man in the majority. Look on this picture, and then on that.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

David B. Ellis, of Ypsilanti, 80 years old, died Oct. 25. Charles W. Curtis, of Milan, died last week, at the age of 40. Geo. Rawson, of Bridgewater, thinks gas can be found on his place. A. McOmber husked on the farm of Geo. E. Sperry of Pittsfield, 65 bushels of corn in five hours. Rev. T. Holmes, of Chelsea, spoke on protection in Freedom, Monday night, and at Webster town house Tuesday. Mrs. E. Glimpse, of Bridgewater, has a Balm geranium eight feet six inches in height, grown from a slip in two years. Jerry Donahue, 22 years old, who lived near Manchester about three years ago, died of small-pox in Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 15. It is said that of the 167 veterans who attended the 20th Michigan infantry reunion in Ypsilanti, only 11 were in favor of Cleveland. Oct. 24, the wife of Dr. S. W. Chandler, of Saline, died, aged 39 years; and on the same day in York Mrs. Laubenguyer, aged 80, died of cancer. Mr. and Mrs. George Watkins, pioneers of Ann Arbor township, celebrated their golden wedding at the residence of their son-in-law, Geo. A. Pfeife, in Northfield, Oct. 25. R. L. Speechly, of Ann Arbor, has a Spanish coin which bears date 1772 and is of the size of our half dollar. It was plowed up in the Saline union school district twenty-two years ago.—Saline Observer. Mrs. Sarah M. Hewitt died at Almeria, Loup county, Neb., Oct. 12, of dropsy. Her age was 74 years. She formerly lived with her daughter, Mrs. Nathan T. White, in Ann Arbor township, and went west with her seven years ago. An expert has investigated the paper mill explosion near Ypsilanti, and the theory he has is that a sudden increase of the engine's "load," from starting an additional machine or some such cause, produced a momentary strain which left the bottom flues dry. They at once became red hot, and when the water returned the explosion was inevitable. The Hartford steam boiler inspection and insurance company, with whom the boilers were insured, have already settled and paid the loss in full. Manchester. W. L. Watkins, ex-cashier of the People's bank, is seriously ill. There is a new clothing store in the Conklin block. It is Sandler's from Saline. There will soon be constructed another large reservoir near the old depot. When this is finished we shall have plenty of water in case of a fire. Hon. James O'Donnell gave a rousing speech at the Goodyear hall, last Saturday evening. It was a bad night, but the hall was crowded. Mr. Allen will be here Nov. 1. Webster. Corn husking is the rage of the season. An eighty-foot Republican pole raised at the town hall Tuesday. Mrs. Johnson of Ann Arbor is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Latson. Will Wilson has successfully recovered to return to his studies in the high school at Ann Arbor. Mr. Backus and wife, of Unadilla, visited his brothers, Johnson and Ira Backus, of this place, the forepart of the week. The next monthly meeting of the Webster farmers' club will be held at the residence of John Alexander, on Saturday, Nov. 10, at 10:00 a. m. Topics for consideration: Fall and winter management of stock; the desirability of mixed farming. Wm. Burnham will discuss "What I know about raising potatoes." Rev. Jas. E. Butler, formerly pastor of the Webster Congregational church, now a student in the Chicago theological seminary, has been in attendance on the Inter Seminary Missionary alliance in Boston, as a delegate from Chicago. In the Webster Congregational church next Sunday, he will give a review of the work done at the meeting in Boston. Ypsilanti. Prof. Sill is spending a short time in Florida on business. Our Light Guard hall is receiving a thorough renovating and many needed repairs. Many of Ypsi's toughest and bravest Democrats joined the Democratic rally at Ann Arbor yesterday. The first lecture of the Normal course was given Monday evening by Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, arctic explorer and author. Rev. T. W. McLean, former Episcopal rector here, but now of Bay City, gives a lecture tonight for the benefit of the Episcopal young men's society. The Business College boys were instrumental in getting the Prohibition orator, McCarthy, here Monday night and the large audience was given a rousing good speech. Judge Ninde received the painful news last week, of the suicide of his son George, in Florida. No cause for the act is known. The Judge has the sympathy of all. The next entertainment of the Normal course will be given Nov. 9, by Col. J. P. Sanford, a gentleman who has traveled extensively and has a very humorous way of relating his numerous experiences. The great social event of the season was the marriage Wednesday evening of Kate, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Glover, and L. L. Brooks, of Boston. The reception was very well and exceedingly pleasant. Presents were numerous and very rich; bride beautiful and very happy. Milan. Whitman failed to appear on Saturday evening. Our lock-up provided quarters for an Ypsilanti visitor Monday night. Attorney Williams said on Tuesday that Judge McAllister, of Illinois, who died Oct. 29, was the senior member of the law firm in whose office he was in Chicago, in 1868-9, and that he was a noble man.

There is but little of that Democratic steamer left, excepting Grover's stiff upper lip.

Putnam has got his stock of goods moved into his new store building. The work of removing the old building from the street is completed.

When the Democrat orators visit a village this fall we hear no enquiry for a fusion hotel. It is a Democratic hotel every time. What a change!

A certain tricycle in town, which is not an invalid's, is beginning to be regarded as a nuisance by those who have to step off the sidewalk to let it pass.

Gorman closes the Democratic campaign here on Saturday evening, Nov. 3. Babbitt is expected to help work the pump, as the well is becoming dry.

The capacity of the Whaley cider and jelly works is 200 barrels of cider a day when running cider alone, or 100 barrels and jelly therefrom. That mill is eating our cider apples up fast.

The house of Mrs. Prior, of Augusta, was burned Oct. 25, with its entire contents. A member of the family was at work in a part of the house unconscious of danger until apprised of it by Mrs. Mesic, of Milan, who was passing and discovered the fire which was then beyond control.

Chelsea. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kempf spent last Sunday at Ann Arbor.

In addition to his ordinary work, Rev. Mr. Reilly preached at Lima Center, last Sunday afternoon.

Prof. P. M. Parker, of Quincy, on his way home from the late session of the Teachers' club, spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday among his old-time Chelsea friends.

The Democrats had a "powerful blow-out" here Monday night. Not being sufficiently numerous here to make a show, six car-loads were imported from Ann Arbor. The music was good, the torch-light procession imposing, but O, the drunk!

The New York Times declares that the Yale foot-ball team is in a poor condition and then tells the following story:

Gill of Yale, probably the best player in the Yale rush line, was playing against a man who persisted in striking him with his fist. Gill resembles an ox a good deal as regards the patience of his disposition. He stood the abuse as long as he could and finally appealed to the umpire. That gentleman either would not or did not see the slugging that was going on. Finally in the conflict that ensued Gill had two of his teeth knocked out. Holding one of them in his hand he walked up to the umpire exclaiming triumphantly but indistinctly, "Perhaps y'don't b'lieve he thugged me now." The teeth formed conclusive evidence even to an obturate umpire. It ought to be said also that this same Gill held the above-mentioned teeth in place with his tongue during the rest of the game and played pluckily on to the close.

WAGES COMPARED.

An Accurate Compilation from United States Census Figures.

In respect to the data on which this table has been compiled, I beg to say, with regard to the rates of wages, that they have been averaged from a compilation of the figures given in the larger number of establishments treated in Volume XX of the United States Census, those of which I have had some knowledge myself as to their having been in continuous operation throughout the period treated or else such as from the nature of the work must have been fully employed throughout the whole period, being selected for the purpose. The rates are doubtless somewhat lower than would be shown by a compilation of figures given by mechanics themselves engaged in analogous trades. This would always be the case if the wages of mechanics who are permanently employed in connection with factories were compared with those whose work is transient and not continuous throughout the year, owing to the nature of the occupations, as in the building trades. The rates of wages have also been compared with those computed on special investigations made on my own behalf, from typical establishments in the state of Massachusetts, which I know to be correct.

With respect to prices I had myself made averages of prices from data obtained by myself before Volume XX of the census was issued; and by comparing my own data with those of the census, I was able to verify the prices given in that volume for the eastern states. The number of portions assigned to 300 days' work of course assumes continuous work, like that of the factory, which runs every working day in the year, omitting Sundays and holidays, customarily computed at 300 days. The computation of money or currency per capita is as accurate as the official data of the Mint and of the treasury department will permit. The only issue which can be raised affecting it is in regard to the quantity or amount of coin in the hands of the people. This subject has been a matter of considerable discussion; suffice it to say that the absolute knowledge of the subject possessed by the department of the Mint would substantially verify the proportions of currency per capita given in this table, even if the amounts did not absolutely correspond and were somewhat less.

It may, therefore, I think, be safely assumed that the margins for error in these four computations are very small; and if all errors were eliminated, while the figures might be slightly changed, the ratios or proportions would not be varied sufficiently to affect the general conclusion:

Relation of wages, prices, purchasing power of wages, and volume per capita of money or currency in circulation at the respective dates given: No. 1.—Average wages of mechanics, engineers, carpenters, machinists and painters connected with the mills and works treated in Vol. XX, United States census; establishments in eastern, middle and western states. No. 2.—Average cost of one day's supply of food, fuel and material for clothing customarily used by such mechanics, computed at retail prices in twenty shops, ten east and ten west of Buffalo. No. 3.—Purchasing power of 300 days' wages in equal portions of the same kinds of food, fuel and cloth as above given. No. 4.—Quantity per capita of coin, convertible bank notes and legal tender notes in circulation or in use as money at the respective dates.—Edward Atkinson in The Forum.

Why Not Be Honest? We have raw cotton free, and yet we cannot export cotton goods in large quantities and compete with Europe in the world's markets. The only way in which this country can ever compete with England, France and Germany abroad is by lowering wages. Sensible free traders know this, but they are neither honest nor courageous enough to acknowledge it.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Perhaps There Is a Split, Perhaps There Is. Mayor Hewitt, of New York, one of the Democratic candidates for the office he now occupies, gives it out cold and flat that he will not vote for Cleveland, and doesn't care who knows it. There seems to be a Kilkenny cat enthusiasm and activity about Democratic politics in New York city and state.—Cleveland Leader.

His Waterloo Is Coming. A Washington dispatch to The New York Herald says that Mr. Cleveland regards himself as the man of destiny and believes that he will surely be re-elected. The President evidently forgets that the greatest man who ever called himself the man of destiny carried the thing too far on the field of Waterloo.—Philadelphia Press.

This Is Frank at Any Rate. Coming back to the fact of free trade it is undeniable that this is the ultimate policy of the Democratic party, and the Mills bill is only a step toward its consummation. And for that day we pray, God send it soon.—Memphis (Tenn.) Appeal.

A Voice from the Pacific Coast. The Democratic press, in its eager desire to re-elect Cleveland, has basely deserted every Pacific coast industry.—San Francisco Chronicle.

And Cassius Answers Them Not. The Democratic campaign managers cry out to the federal office holders: "Help us, cash us, or we sink!"

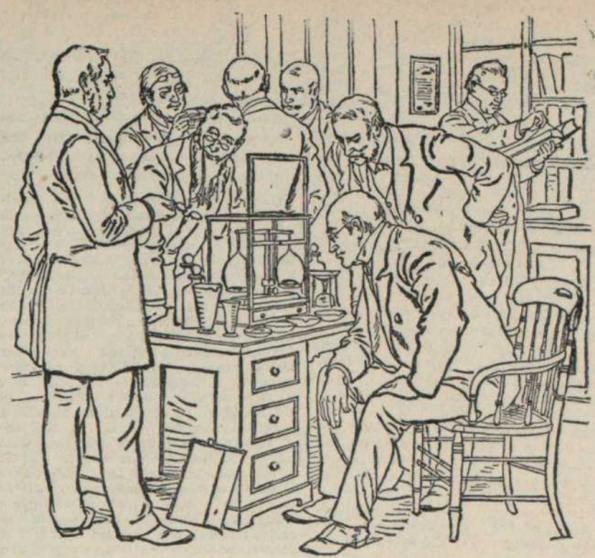

DEADLY ORGANISMS.

An Instructive Chat About Bacteriology in Practical Medicine.

It was a great discovery which revealed the fact that most epidemic diseases are due to microscopic organisms, now known as microbes, or bacteria. Thus far, however, our knowledge is confined to this fact. Researches in this line have been prosecuted with immense zeal by experts the world over. But as harmless microbes are vastly more numerous than the harmful, and abound in the body, both in disease and in health, it has been difficult to establish the connection between a particular kind of disease and its own microbe. No expert has been able to gain an acknowledgment of his discovery until he had separated his microbe from all others, cultivated it by itself, and then, by inoculation in some animal, obtained the characteristic symptoms. Even then the general verdict has had to await the results of similar tests by other experts in different nations. Although several infectious diseases have thus been traced to their bacterial origin, and the particular microbes described and named, yet thus far the chief benefit has been in general hygiene, and in getting rid of bacterial breeding-places outside of the body. Almost nothing has been done to make our knowledge available for the cure of disease.

Many problems remain to be solved. According to the Medical Record, we know little of the way in which microbes exert their morbid influence; why they disappear from the blood and organs of some animals; why similar groups of diseases can be excited by different microbes; whence the difference in the results of inoculating with small, and with large, quantities of microbial material; why individuality plays so important a part in the manifestations of disease, and why the results are so different in healthy animals and in those slightly diseased. It says: "When all the foregoing, and many like, problems are solved, then it will be more easy to employ bacteriology in practical medicine, and then we shall learn to estimate rightly the great value of this new study."

Quite recently a German expert has greatly helped to settle the first problem, referred to above. He has proved that microbes, by their own natural action, develop various poisons of the most deadly character. Three of these, which he has obtained and tested, he exhibited at the late surgical congress in Germany. A correspondent from Berlin writes: "It is believed we shall soon be able to understand more about the deadly infections caused by these organisms."

THE advantage of using an article that is pure and always uniform, is, you are certain of having the same satisfactory results. Eight prominent Professors of Chemistry, of national reputation, have analyzed the IVORY SOAP, and the variation in each is so trifling that the quality of the "IVORY" may be considered reliably uniform. Each pronounced it to be remarkably pure, and a superior laundry soap.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the Ivory"; they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it. Copyright 1888, by Procter & Gamble.

FREE TRADE PROHIBITIONISTS.

Free Trade Applauded More than Anything Else in a Prohibition Meeting—Pole Raising.

The Prohibitionists had a successful pole raising last Saturday at the south end of the court house. There was a large crowd and considerable enthusiasm, especially when their beautiful funnel-shaped streamer was hoisted. The streamer was something new here and it eclipses either of the streamers which float on the opposite side of court house square. After the pole was raised, there was speaking by Mr. Hudson, of Northville.

In the evening, there was a Prohibition torch-light procession of respectable dimensions. An interesting feature of it was a woman who tramped along in the rain with a man by her side to carry the torch.

The rink was fairly well filled. Judge N. W. Cheever made the first speech, and it was full of life. The main speech of the evening was made by Lemuel Clute, of Ionia, a free trade talker with a shrill voice. He is the Prohibition candidate for attorney general. Nearly two thirds of his time was devoted to showing how much the Democratic party had done for prohibition in Michigan since 1838, and how little the Republicans had done. If he is to be believed the Democratic party has been the greatest friend to prohibition in this state.

Mr. Clute tried to answer the charge that the Prohibition party has only one idea, and in doing so he made the strongest free-trade argument yet heard in Ann Arbor. He says his party is for tariff reform, just like the Democrats; but also like the Democrats, Mr. Clute will not be satisfied with tariff reform. He wants the tariff swept away, and he is in a hurry about it, too. When he denounced the protective tariff as a fraud, the audience fairly aroose and yelled. It brought forth greater applause than anything else said during the evening.

The Democrats are jubilant over this free trade Prohibition meeting. "It won't do us any harm," exclaimed a prominent county official. "I wish they would pass around the hat again," cried they would pass around the hat again, "is he came out of the rink; by —, that's the best thing I have heard in a long time." And thus the Democratic free trade allies are doing their work.

Prof. J. B. Steere made a 15 minute speech at the close, and was most enthusiastically received, especially by the students.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Unknown Heir Fund—Elizabeth Walker Susannah Theobald will Get The Money.

Before the board of supervisors adjourned, last Thursday, the special committee on the unknown heir fund made a report, presenting the following opinion by Ex-governor Alpheus Felch. The board voted to pay the money Nov. 21, providing no appeal is taken. To W. B. Osborn and others, Committee of Supervisors & Gentlemen:—In compliance with your request I have looked into the matter of the claim made for the fund belonging to the Harvey estate, and submit the following:

By reference to the record of the probate court it appears that the estate of Thomas Harvey, deceased, was administered upon in that court and the final account of the administration was allowed by decree of the court December 16th, 1879, and a balance of $4556.66 remained in his hands for distribution. On the 21st day of April, 1883, no heir of said deceased being found, the court ordered the said fund to be paid over to the county treasurer of this county in accordance with the provisions of sections 5986 and 5989 of Howell's Annotated Statutes, and the money was so paid over. Subsequently Elizabeth Walker Susannah Theobald, claiming to be the sole heir of said deceased, applied to the probate court and after a hearing was on the 21st day of September last, adjudged by the court to be entitled to said fund as such heir and the county treasurer was ordered to pay it over to her.

If the matter rested here, no question would be presented requiring the consideration of the board of supervisors. But under the provision of section 5 of the Legislative Act No. 373, approved June 3rd, 1885, (Local Acts of 1885 page 458) the county treasurer, with the approval of the judge of probate, invested this money in interest bearing bonds of said county of Washtenaw. These bonds, it is understood, still remain in the hands of the county treasurer, and the money has been used by the county in building a county jail.

The act last referred to provides expressly for the contingency of the money so invested being called for by the person entitled to it. The county treasurer is required in such case to pay the same from the general fund of the county, or, if that be not available, then to sell the bonds, or so much as is necessary to raise the required amount. This application of Mrs. Theobald, if she be the person really entitled to the money, leaves no discretion as to the payment. It is the duty of the treasurer to pay the money either from the general fund in the treasury or from the proceeds of a sale of the bonds.

The question as to who is the person entitled as heir or legal representative of the deceased, to receive the fund, is one for the probate court to decide. That court has adjudged the applicant, Mrs. Theobald, to be so entitled to the money, and by the order of the twenty first ult., has directed the county treasurer to pay it to her. This decision of the probate court is clearly within its jurisdiction, it is expressly given; indeed, by section 5988 of Howell's Annotated Statutes, and the decree is final, unless reversed by superior court.

It is possible, however, that other parties claiming relationship to the deceased may yet appeal from this decision and order of the probate court. The time for such appeal has not yet elapsed, but will expire on the 21st day of November next, and in my opinion the money should not be paid over until after the expiration of that time.

If no appeal is then taken, that order of the probate court will be final and the money should be paid to the present applicant, Mrs. Theobald. If an appeal should be taken, the appeal should then be postponed until the final adjudication of the appellate courts. Yours Respectfully, A. FELCH.
