THE COMMON COUNCIL.

Shall Ann Arbor have Parks?-Very Polite Cadillac-Petition Denied.

The common council heroically worked all Monday evening in spite of the election excitement, and it turned off quite an amount of business.

A communication from J. Austin Scott was referred to the park committee. It expresses the opinion that the time has come when there should be selected suitable grounds for parks in Ann Arbor. He suggested having a number of small parks in different parts of the city, and pointed out the old cemetery; a piece of land fronting on Washtenaw avenue, containing some three acres, and owned by Mrs. Dr. Ford; the fair ground; the Gen. Hill tract in the south part of the city; and tracts on the west side and in the Fifth ward.

Mrs. E. T. Baldwin, owner of the property on State-st, where Brown & Cady keep a grocery store, explained that she did not know that she was violating a city ordinance by building wooden structures back of the store, and asked that she be allowed to incase them with iron and brick, as the removal of the buildings would be expensive. Her communication was referred to the fire committee. The request was not granted.

A petition from John H. Nickels, Ja-cob Laubengayer, M. V. Vogel, G. F. Stein, M. Weinmann, G. W. Cropsey, W. B. Warner, G. L. Moore, S. and J. Baum-gartner, and many other Ann Arbor business men, asked that the ordinance relative to hawkers and peddlers, passed May , 1868, be amended so as to restrict sales thereunder to products raised or manufac-tured by the hawkers and peddlers.

Wesley Seabolt, Ernest Dieterle, W. E. Howe, and others, asked that a grade be established and a sidewalk constructed on the northside of Huron-st between Mainst and the limits.

The following communication was read:
WHEREAS, the city officials of this city have recently been favored by James M. Ashley, Jr., with a complimentary excursion over the T. A. A. & N. M. railroad to the cities of Ann Arbor and To-iedo, and have been on their visit to such cities royally entertained by the city officers of Ann Arbor and the board of trade and city officers of To-ledo; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the thanks of the city officials of the city of Cadillac be hereby tendered to Mr. Ashley and the T., A. A. & N. M. B. R. company for the excellent accommodations and many courtesies enjoyed upon the said excursion; also to the city officers of Ann Arbor and the authorities of the University of Michigan for their untiring efforts to make our visit to the city of Ann Arbor exceedingly pleasant and profitable; also to the citizens, board of trade, and the common council of Toledo for the gentlemanly and hospitable treatment received at their hands while in Toledo;

Resolved, That we earnestly hope this intro-able treatment received at their hands while in Toledo:

Resolved, That we earnestly hope this introductory trip may open the way for a large share of future trade and social intercourse between these cities and our own, that the possibilities now developed by our new railroad connection may be mutually realized, and that no effort will be spared on our part to make our mutual relations more intimate;

Resolved, That a most earnest invitation be hereby extended to the city officers of Ann Arbor and Toledo, as well as all citizens of said cities, to visit the city of Cadillac at an early date, and to come often, and thereby afford us an opportunity to reciprocate, in some measure, the many courtesies for which we are indebted.

Passed by the City Council of Cadillac this 15th day of October, A. D. 1888.

EARNERT M. HUTCHINSON, City Clerk.

A communication was received from the city civil engineer, Prof. J. B. Davis, with reference to the city levels. He has been using the elevation of mean tide at New York, and thinks that we have our true elevation above the ocean to within one foot either way. CORN, CORN, CORN, CORN.

An Ann Arbor Gentleman Visits the Corn Palace at Sioux City-His Lively Descripton.

The following is the main portion of a letter written at LeMars, Iowa, by C. G. Liddell, of Ann Arbor, to his wife in this city. It was dated Oct. 1;

"The outside appearance of the building is exceedingly pretty, being entirely covered with corn, arranged in many artistic forms and illuminated with electric lights, the different varieties of colors in the corn showing off to great advantage under the brilliant light. Payvantage under the brilliant light. Paying your 50 cents admission, you enter through the 'corned' portals, and find the inside decorated in a manner both pretty and unique and highly instructive, as showing the many different ways in which corn may be employed in the decorative arts. The space below is partitioned off for each county in the states. titioned off for each county in the states of Iowa, Nebraska, Maine and territory of Dakota, and some of them are cur tained with hangings made from the grains of corn threaded together in such manner as to resemble lace curtains, the several varieties of color in the corn forming the different patterns, the whole producing a very pretty and novel effect. Others again are carpeted with corn woven together in such manner as to form a covering for the floor somewhat resembling the straw matting so commonly in use,— quite ingenious and the voluntary work of the ladies of Sioux City, to whom too much praise cannot be accorded for their splendid efforts in making the show the grand sucess it undoubtedly is.

"Appropriate mottoes, the letters of which are also of corn, assist in the adornment of the building, and numberless fancy articles in tempting array, composed of this great staple, are exposed for sale in every nook and cranny, and for which, of course, fabulous

"With few exceptions, everything per-taining to this really wonderful exhibi-tion is of corn. It is a festival in fact at which Corn is truly King.

"The palace is visited daily by some 12,000 people, principally from Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa. Even Chicago sent a train load of excursionists. During the afternoon and evening the entertain ment is enlivened by most delightful musical concerts rendered by the fa-musical concerts rendered by the famous Elgin band of 50 pieces, for whose services the management pay the sum of $5800 for two weeks.

"The city itself is beautifully illuminated. Electricity and gas vie with each other in their efforts to transform darkness into light. Triumphal arches darkness into light. Triumphal arches span the streets at each square, the various colored glass globes producing a charming effect. I noticed several artificial ears of corn made by arranging diminutive gas jets, each jet a grain of corn arranged in perpendicular rows to form the perfect ear. Here and there is to be seen the suspended form of a huge hand made entirely of ears of corn hand, made entirely of ears of corn, hand, made entirely of ears of corn, the index finger pointing the way to some object or place of interest. Indeed man's ingenuity would seem to have exhausted itself in fashioning corn into every manner of symbol for trade purposes, such as the boot-maker's boot of corn, the druggist's pestal and mortar of corn, and even is to be seen the old-time eight-day clock of corn, with its ponderous swinging pendulum of the its ponderous swinging pendulum of the same material. And thus we see that King Corn is not alone usefu terial sense, but may also be employed in ministering to man's artistic taste. Even the æsthetic may find gratification in contemplating its marvelous capabilities.

"After seeing most all the principal exhibitions from the centennial to the present time, I must say that for novelty of design and generally pleasant effect, this corn-palace festival stands pre-emi-

"This Sioux City itself is one of the wonders of the age. From a nasty mud-hole in 1861 to a city of 35,000 pushing, energetic, intelligent people, operating three large meat-packing establish-ments, and factories of other descriptions, with wholesale houses for the distribution of merchandise of every known character, and last year expending $2,800,000 in city improvements, and its eight lines of railroads centering here, is a transformation seldom witnessed, even in this progressive age, whilst the hotel accommodations would be no discredit to Chicago or New York.

"I think there is no doubt but I will Think there is no doubt but I will

Thanksgiving, by which time the cold mantle of winter will have once more enveloped dear old Michigan, the peach crop will be gathered, and I will have that succulent fruit. Peaches are scarce and stale out this way, and don't seem to taste the same as when fresh from the trees.'

What is the matter with this poor man? He has a bad headache, my son. And what makes his head ache, pray! Ben Harrison, Protection and the people have spoken and he has got to go. I fear he Something Has Dropped.

Bartial Returns from Nearly All the States Show That General Harrison Has Been Chosen as President.

LECTION RETURNS. CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—From the returns of the National election received it is evident that General Harrison has been elected President of the United States. The Tribune publishes tables which gives Har-rison 239 electoral votes; Cleveland, It also prints tables which from advices received that the House of Representatives will stand as icilows: Republicans, 185; Democrats, 140. The Senate according to the Tribone's estimate will stand: Republicans, 30; Democrats, 36. NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.-Mr. Quay has telegraphed General Harrison as follows: "New York and Connecticut are yours beyond a

The nine o'clock edition of the Mail and Ex-Press claims the State for Harrison by over 12,000 plurality. NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Calvin S. Brice, chair man of the Democratic National Committee, and at 1:30 a.m.: "It looks as if the Republic-ans had carried New York by from 2,000 to 8,000 majority, but we do not concede the election of Harrison. We have carried Connectie-eut by 1,000 majority, New Jersey by 1,000 or 8,000, Indiana by from 7,000 to 10,000, and are sure of Nevada and California. While the chances in other States are against us, Reveland may yet pull through."

COLUMBES, O., Nov. 7.—Judge Thurman authorizes the statement through his son that New York has gone Republican by at least 30,000 and he concedes the election of Harrison without restraint. He says that had the National committee followed the advice of Brice, Townsend and himself they would have car-sied Ohio, which he claims will not give oven 26,000 plurality for Harrison.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Judging from the re-turns received up to this hour (2:30 a. m.) it looks as though Harrison had been elected President of the United States. He has carried New York State, his plurality running from 10,000 upward. The vote on President in New York Gty showed a Democratic plurality of $5,000, and in Kings County a Democratic plurality of 11,880, a Democratic gain over 1884 of about 13,000 in New York and a loss of 3,000 in Kings County. In all the interior counties of the State large Harrison gains were recorded, and he came to the Harlem with a plarality of at least 78,000. Against this Cleve-land could only produce a plurality here and in Brooklyn of 68,000.

Governor Hill ran 8,000 ahead of Cleveland in New York City, his total vote being 44,483. He also ran ahead of Cleveland in the interior counties by probably 8,000 votes. His re-election therefore seems assured. The fate of the rest of the State ticket is undecided, but it is probable that the Democratic Lieutenant Governor, E. F. Jones, is re-elected, and that the Republican candidate, Judge Rumsey, is chosen for the Court of Appeals.

The Congressional delegation in New York State will stand nineteen Republicans against fifteen Democrats. The next House of Represcatatives will probably have a small Republican majority. The Assembly is as usual Republican, with an increase of two Republican members. The prohibition vote was much re-

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—A 2:15 a. m. 286 precincts outside of Cook County show a net Republican gain of 2.288. If maintained throughout the State Harrison's plurality will be about 25,000, Palmer shows large gains, but present figures indicate the election of Fifer (Rep.) by about $,000 to 8,000 plurality, but this is uncertain.

INDIANA.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7, 1 a. m.—At midnight General Harrison said: "There can be no longer any doubt that the piedge Indians Republicans made at Chicago has been kept. We have chosen Republican electors and elected the full Republican teket. It is only a question of majority. I am confident that New York has gone Republican so far as the National ticket is concerned, and I trust she has carried the State ticket also."

At 12:30 Chairman Huston said: "I am not going into figures. It is enough that we have elected Harrison and all the State ticket. The piarality for Harrison will be over 10,000. I will lead the State ticket from 2,500 to 4,000." CONNECTICUT.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 7.—Returns received up to midnight by the Evening Post from 114 towns show a Republican gain of 1,324 over the wote of 1884. The same ratio of gain in the re-maining towns will give the State to Harri-son by about 450. The Republicans elect three son by about 40. The hopublicans elect after Congressmen, and probably four. The Legis-lature is Republican by a large majority and will elect Republican State officers. Morgan G. Bulkely (Rep.), for Governor, carries Hartford by 5 majority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Hera'd builtin says Connecticut shows Republican gains. The State is still claimed by the Democrats, MINNESOTA.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 7.—The Democratic Central Committee claims the election of Wilson for Governor by a small majority, but Merriam has gained on McGill's vote of two years ago in nearly every town heard from, so that the Republicans feel confident, Minnesota Republicans claim the State and National ticket by 12,000 to 15,000, and have gained one Congressman sure and possibly

St. Louis, Nov. 7.-The indications are that Cleveland has 30,000 plurality in Missoura and that Francis (Dem.) is elected Governor, but he runs far behind the Presidential ticket throughout the State, and it may be that the vote between him and Kimball, the Republican nominee, will be close. In St. Louis it has been, from present indications, a Waterloo for the Democracy except on President. John J. O'Neill (Dem.), for Congress in the Eighth district, is almost certainly de-feated by Neidringhams (Rep.), Cas-tleman (Dem.) is also probably de-feated in the Ninth by Frank (Rep.), making. a Republican sain of two members in the Misa Republican gain of two members in the Mis-souri delegation unless the Democrats can re-deem the Kansas City and Springfield districts, which is not probable as far as the latter

MAINE.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Telephone reports from Maine indicate between 23,000 and 24,000 plurality for Harrison, a gain of 4,000 over 1884.

RHODE ISLAND.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7.—A close computation of the vote of the State is as follows: Harrison, 21,968; Cloveland, 17,496; Fisk, 1,276.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Sun claims that New Jersey is Democratic by from 6,000 to 8,000.

TRENTON, N. J. Nov. 7 .- There seems to be no doubt that New Jersey has gone for Clevc-land. But there have been large Republican gains, and the majority will not exceed 5,000. The Legislature and Congressional delegation

The Democratic Committee concedes the State by 20,000. The Republican majority on Governor is estimated by the Democrats at 8,000 and by the Republicans at 20,000.

MICHIGAN. DETROIT. M.ch., Nov. 7.—Estimates from Democratic sources on the election in Michi-gan agree with those of the Republicans on National and State tickets, but differ on result in Congressional districts. It is conceded that Harrison will carry the State by about 12,000, and that Luce will have some 3,000 less.

VIRGINIA. RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—This city gives about 1,600 majority for the Democrats. No official returns have been received yet. The estimated vote in several counties in different parts of the State does not indicate a gain to either party over the vote of 1886.

to have increased her Democratic vote over four years ago. Five Democratic Congressmen are re-elected.

WEST VIRGINIA.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Owing to the length of the ticket it is impossible to give estimates yet. Returns from Berkely and Taylor counties give 177 and 100 Republican gains over 1884.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Careful estimates since midnight show a Republican plurality of $5,000 in Ohio, which beats both Garfield in 1880 and Blaine in 1884. The Republicans with all this tidal wave will have hard work to gain on Congressmen. The present Ohio delegation stands fifteen to six. If the Democrats elect Saltzgaber in the northwest and Johnson at Cleveland they will hold their own on Con-

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. ?.—The returns show small Democratic gain over the vote of 1884 when the Democrats carried the State by over GEORGIA. ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—The vote was heavy in all sections of the State. The Democrats gained in nearly every quarter. The indica-tions are that Cleveland has secured at least 25,000 majority. Incomplete returns from a large portion of the State point to the election of a solid Democratic delegation to Congress.

MASSACHUSETTS. MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—The Republicans claim a plurality in this State of 35,000. The Globs places the majority for Harrison at 30,000 to $2,000 and concedes the election of ten Republican Congressmen out of twelve. NEW HAMPSHIRE.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7 .- New Hampshire Has gone for Harrison by more than 2,500. Goodell (Rep.), for Governor, has run behind, but has probably been elected. Nutt and Moore (Reps.) have been elected to Congress. The Legislature is Republican by about 30 majority. DELAWARE. PHILADELPHIA. Nov. 7.—The latest returns received from Delaware show that the Republicans have captured the Legislature by Sauls bury's aid aad will have enough votes to elect a United States Senator. The Delaware Senate will be Democratic and Cleveland will sarry the State.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 7.—Twenty precincts give Jackson, Republican candidate for Secretary of State, 3,244; McHenry, Democrat, 2,165;

net Republican gain, 315.

Nine precincts in Iowa show a net Republic an gain of 185 over 1884, when the State went Republican by 14,000, KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—Kentucky, in spite of rain, has given Cleveland the usual Democratic majority. It is probable that the complete count will show a good gain and that the majority will exceed 40,000. Democratic Congressmen have been elected from the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh-and Eighth districts and heavy gains are re-ported in other sections. Carl sle is re-elected by the highest majority he ever had.

BISMARCK, D. T., Nov. 7.—The returns from this and outlying sections indicate that Mathews (Rep.) has been elected delegate by a majority of at least 20,000. This is a slight failing off from the vote two years ago, which is probably caused by disaffection among farmers. The Republicans carry more than three-fourths of both houses of the Legis lature, and scarcely a Democrat has been elect ed throughout the Territory.

WISCONSIN.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 7.—Chairman
Payne, of the Republican State Central Committee, estimates Harrison's majority in the State at 20,000. Seventy-two cities and towns outside of Milwaukee give the Republicans a net gain of 1,166. Later returns from precincts in Milwaukee change the character of the early figures, and it is now believed that Van Schaick, the Republican candidate for Congress, is elected. Fifty-one towns out of a total of 1,200 in Wisconsin show a net Repub

NEVADA. NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—One bulletin says Harrison's plurality exceeds Blaine's in Colorado, and Harrison has carried Nevada by 150 plurality. SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 7.—The election was quiet and there was not a single disturbance. Returns received thus far indicate the election of the entire Demo-cratic Congressional delegation by majori-ties ranging from 500 to 5,000, although official figures may vary these somewhat. There is no opposition to the State Democratic ticket. Cleveland will have a majority of from 15,000 to 20,000 in the State, PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7. - Returns so far show the State to have gone for Harrison by about 50.000 majority. The Democrats g two Congressmen and the Republicans one. The Democrats gain ALABAMA.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 7 .- Cleveland has carried this State by a majority fully equal to that of four years ago. Heavy gains have been made by the Democrats in many sections. There is little doubt that a solid Democratic Congressional delegation has been chosen. The colored vote was larger than in CIRCUSMEN ON THEIR MUSCLE. Bloody Affray at an Exhibition at Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 7.—At Winfield, Marion County, Ala., a bloody riot occurred between a number of employes of Howe's circus and citizens of that town, which resulted in three of the latter being dangerously wounded. George Weeks shot four times, one ball grazing his left temple, one bullet passing through his neck, one through his jaw, and the fourth lodging in his back. Weeks was also stabbed eight times, some of the wounds being of a very dangerous character. Weeks was also robbed of a considerable amount of money. Howard Franks was beaten into a state of insensibility with a heavy stick. Mack Sullens assaulted with a heavy iron pin and his skull fractured. Citizens of Winfield denounce the occurrence as unprovoked and made for the purpose of rob-bery, and the fact that Weeks was robbed during the melee lends color to the charge, One of the circus men, who was in the saloon at the time, was arrested, but re-leased, as the evidence of his participation in the affair did not warrant his detention.

JUSTICE IS SLOW.

Thirty-Five Years Required to Decide a St. Louis Land Case.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The St. Louis Lindel land case, just decided in the Su-preme Court of the United States, illustrates the necessity of a reform in the judiciary department. This case was brought in 1853. All the orig-inal lawyers, all the witnesses, judges and juries, and all the parties to the original suit except one are dead. case has been tried three times in the St. Louis circuit court, and each time judgment was rendered for the plaintiffs, but on appeal each judgment was reversed by the State Supreme Court. The premises cover fifty acres in the heart of St. Louis and are valued at $2,000,000. The legal questions involved run back into French and Spanish times. The argument occupied most of last week in the court. All through the thirty-five years each party has em-ployed able lawyers. But their fees have amounted to more than the land was worth when the case was brought up. The property has been of no value to the parties who are now dead or to any body but the the public for improvement. It takes seven years to go through the trial court, the State Supreme Court and to reach a trial in the United States Supreme Court, and if the case is reversed it takes seven years more to get the second hearing at Washington.

Mixtoon Persons, Including the Wife of Captain, Lose Their Isves-Resous of the Remainder of the Shipwrecked Mariners.

AN OCHAN HORRON New York, Nov. 2.—Captain Kennedy, of the British ship Creedmore, from Mamila, which arrived yesterday reports that on September 9, 5:30 a. m., he sighted a ship with signals of distress flying, which proved to be the British ship Ardencapie. He hove close to the ship and seked if he could render any assistance. The captain of the Ardeneaple said that be had a shipwrecked crew on board, and asked Captain Kennedy to take them off. The latter agreed. The ship-wrecked crew proved to be part of the crew of the ship Carl Weymss, which had been in collision with the Ardeneaple and sank immediately, carrying down sixteen persons, including the Captain's wife and three children. The Captain of the Weymss was very ill when brought on board the Creedmore. The Ardeneaple was also found to be in a dangerous dition. Captain Guthrie, of the Arden-caple, questioned his crew, who decided to leave the ship, and went on board the Creedmore, Sufficient provisions were then transferred from the Ardencaple to the Creedmore to supply the shipwrecked crew and that of the Ardencaple. Captain Guthrie and the first officer refused to leave their ship, and Captain Kennedy was compelled to leave without them. Next day, on taking account of his stores, and finding them short, he put all hands on short allowance, and bore away for the Barbadoes, where the wrecked crews were

Washington, Nov. 3.—The President has issued the following proclamation: "Constant thanksgiving and gratitude are due from the American people to Almighty due from the American people to Almighty God for His goodness and mercy which have followed them since the day He made them a Nation and vouch-safed to them a free government. With loving kindness He has constantly led us in the way of prosperity and greatness. an appointed day the united prayers and praise of a grateful country may reach the throne of grace, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November, instant, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed throughout the land. "On that day let all our people suspend their ordinary work and occupations, and in their accustomed place of worship, with prayer and songs of praise, render thanks to God for all His mercies, for the abundant harvests which have rewarded the toil of the husbandman during the year that has passed, and for the rich rewards that have followed the labors of our people in the rishops and their marts of trade and traffic. Let us give thanks for peace and for social fic. Let us give thanks for peace and for social order and contentment within our borders, and for our advancement in all that adds to National greatness

"And, mindful of the afflictive dispensation with which a portion of our land has been visited, let us, while we humble ourselves be-fore the power of God, acknowledge His mercy in setting bounds to the deadly murch of pesti-lence, and let our bearts be chastened by sympathy with our fellow countrymen who have suffered and who mourn.

"And as we return thanks for all the bless-ings which we have exceived from the hands of our Heavenly Father, let us not forget that He has enjoined upon us charity; and on this day of thanksgriving let us generously remember of thanksgiving let us generously remember the poor and needy, so that our tribute of praise and gratitude may be acceptable in the

Toledo, O., Jan. 10, 1887. Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co .- Gentlenen: - I have been in general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions. Yours Truly, L. L. GORSUCH, M. D., HARRISON'S majority in Michigan is estimated at about 15,000, Luce's about 12,000. Eight congressional districts are republican, two democratic, and the tenth in doubt as we go to press. The Michigan senate will comprise 21 republicans, 11 democrats.

PEOPLE were very earnest in this campaign. Everybody wanted to vote. A great principle was at stake. The registration of voters was wonderfully inereased. In Cincinnati there was a gain in the registration of 10,265 over last year, and in many cities the increase was correspondingly great.

This election will give the Republicans a majority in the house of representatives, a condition which they have not enjoyed for several years. Soon after this occurs it is quite likely that north and south Dakota, Washington, Wyoming and Idaho will be admitted, as they have long deserved, which will undoubtedly give them ten additional United States senators and nearly 25 representatives.

THE next meeting of the American Public Health association will be in Milwaukee, Nov. 20-23. THE REGISTER has been charged with treatment of Rev. R. B. Pope "unjust, untrue, and inhuman." The facts are these: On Oct. 4 last, THE REGISTER printed a paragraph, gleaned from the daily papers, to the effect that Rev. Mr. Pope, formerly of Ann Arbor, had made charges against Rev. Mr. Hildreth; that Hildreth was acquitted; that he had again been charged with immorality in Cleveland, and that he was allowed to withdraw. Dr. T. P. Wilson, of Ann Arbor, was in Cleveland at the time, and he sent a communication to THE REGISreadefending Mr. Hildreth. We printed it, as any fair-minded and well-regulated paper would do. It was couched in respectful and dignified language, and whatever may have been the feeling underlying it, the communication was moderate and apparently charitable. It must be borne in mind that THE REGISTER by all common rules of newspaper propriety, was obliged to print this communication, because of the paragraph we had printed Oct. 4.

Mr. Pope has some very warm friends in Ann Arbor, and among them Dr. W. F. Breaky was given space in which to reply to Dr. Wilson's letter. He had more space than Dr. Wilson took, and he is a good letter writer. Thus it is hard to see how THE REGIS-TER has treated Mr. Pope unkindly. He has been accorded every proper hearing. It is not for the interest of THE REGISTER, and certainly it has no desire to assail any one unjustly. We have not done so. In this Pope-Hildreth matter, if we have any prejudices, they are in Mr. Pope's favor, and in printing the paragraph of Oct. 4 about Mr. Hildreth, it was wholly with the desire to give news interesting to Ann Arbor

The Detroit Evening News, in spite of fierce opposition, is the brightest paper of the northwest, both in gathering news and editorial comment. Not always right in its discussions of the University and other questions, yet it has something to say, and it is said in an interesting style.

HALLOWEEN.

How the Sophomore Girls Celebrated It, and How They Were "Sold."

The sophomore girls of the University held their postponed Holloween gathering last Saturday evening, at the home of Miss Lizzie Campbell, on Packard St. About twenty were assembled, and a general time of gayety and hilarity took place; some of the old Halloween notions were introduced and participated in with the eating of pop-corn, nuts etc. But the chief event of the evening was the remarkable powers shown by the fortune teller, who had been rather incidentally engaged for the occasion for an assemblage of girls from widely divergant localities. Early in the evening a dark witch-like person tap-ped at the back door, and said that her services had been engaged to tell the fortunes of some college girls. She was rather arbitrary in her deportment, and especially so in regard to the dimes. For nearly two hours she scanned the lines in the hands and features of those girls. It did seem as if the age of necromancy had returned. Things were told and revealed that did indeed seem marvellous.

After she had withdrawn the girls sat in wonder talking the matter over, when suddenly the fortune teller appeared in their midst, threw off her disguise, when lo! there appeared one of their own classmates, who had sent an apology for not being able to attend. The surprise was complete, and there was a unanimous exclamation of "sold." Only two or three of the girls were in the secret, and it was considered one of the most remarkable and enjoyable occasions in college life.

POMOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

Chrysanthemums.-Exhibit of Fruit.-Fruit Transportation and Canning.

Forty-eight varieties of chrysanthemums exhibited by Mr. J. Toms, the florist, and the elite of Ann Arbor womankind to admire them. It was a sight indeed. But to a fruit-crank like the scribe who thinks the history of the world began with pomology and will very likely end with it when Paradise will have been regained, the fruit show took the lead.

Indeed the women, with their instinctive longing for the fruit of the tree, looked as eagerly at the luscious apples and made as many inquiries about them as they did about the charming flora.

The honorable founder of this society, Mr. J. Austin Scott, with his experience of over a half century in fruit growing, lead with the zeal of a youthful pomologist in the exhibition of apples. It contained the "Austin" which he had originated and was named after him by Marshal P. Wilder, the late president of the American Pomological society; it is a winter apple of fair size and beautiful color. The Greniwinkle, a sweet, red fall apple best for baking; Belmont, Fall Pippin, Ben Davis, Greening, Ladies' Sweeting, Talman Sweet, Winter Permain, called by Mr. S. the richest apple, Canada Red, Swaar and Jonathan. Over this highly colored apple one lady got quite into eestacy. That beautiful light and bright spot which often marks this apple on the underside, had especially attracted her attention.

Our honored president, Mr. J. D. Baldwin, to whom this society is much indebted for practical results, exhibited the Baldwin, the King, the Greening, the South-ern Vandervere apple and the Le Conte and Kieffer pears. So far Mr. B. gives the latter pear the preference over the E. Baur exhibited ten varieties of apples: Greening, King, Ohio Nonpareil, Peppin, Spy, Canada Red, Red Russet, Wagner, Jonathan and Gloria Mundi; ten varieties of pears: Louise Bonne, Onondaga, Bose, Anjon, Mount Vernon, D'Aremberg, Vicar, Winter Nelis, Kieffer and Angonleme. Also red raspberry and pear syrups which were enjoyed by all who tasted them. The pear syrup is made from fully ripe Bartlett and Flemish Beauty pears in large quantities without any sugar or spices as these pears contain, when fully ripe, plenty of sugar and of flavor. To the request to describe this pear exhibit with reference to quality and market value the undersigned would say that it would require more time, space and labor than people generally imagine. Suffice it to remark, that the pear is one of the finest fruits. At present the Detroit and Chicago markets are overstocked by car-loads from western New York. Yet for a specialist who is not afraid of hard work, and scientific investigation to overcome the diseases and enemies of this tree there is room at the top of the ladder. Miss Sa-rah Fletcher had a fine exhibit of jellies. Mr. Toms showed, besides his flowers, Phisalis Alkekengi, commonly called ground cherry, in natural and preserved state, which tasted deliciously.

Prof. B. E. Nichols reported as chairman of the committee on transportation. He stated that the fruit transportation by the Michigan Central R. R. company in some respects had not been satisfactory. The failures were caused by the Ann Arbor office which failed to telegraph to the Detroit office the number of the car which contained Ann Arbor fruit. Something must be done in the future to avoid such irregularities. Mr. Clough was requested to report on the fruit factory bonus. But Mr. Martin Clark, whom he expected to give the amount of collections, was not present at the time. Quite a discussion in regard to the usefulness of the fruit factory to the fruit growers as well as to the munity in general, arose and it was decided that the factory would do ten times as much good if it would go into canning. It was reported that the Ann Arbor Preserve and Pickling company located on the south Pittsfield road had sold out their whole stock of canned goods. This shows that canning of fruit from Washtenaw county will have a future.

All the committees promised a full report at the annual meeting of the society which occurs on the first of December. E. BAUR, Cor. Sec.

HAILING THE PIRATES.

They Returned No Answer and Did Not Court an Attack.

The following amusing incident is reported as having occurred in the experiences of the Surveying Expedition to the North Pacific, in 1855. This happened, as will be seen, in the Malay Archipelago. The Han-cock, having anchored near an island about which she had been surveying during the day, was left in charge of thirty fathoms of chain and the officer of the watch, while every one else had retired. There had been much talk about this time in relation to "Malay pirates," how they boarded ships in their phraus at night, and murdered all

The possibility of such an attack caused us to keep constantly on guard, simply as a measure of prudence. There was no cause for men of even ordinary firmness to feel nervous, however; but we unfortunately had an alarmist aboard, who was always imagining his throat cut, a snake under his pillow, or something of the sort; and who never went to bed without locking the door of his state-room and arming himself in the most formidable manner.

He had gone to bed this night, as usual, with a Sharpe's rifle, double-barreled gun, two revolvers and a bowie-kmfe, and was just getting into a doze when the quartermaster's hoarse voice reached him from the

He grasped his guns, first one and then the other, and finally sat bolt upright, with a revolver in each hand. "Hey, fellows! what is it?" he acked of several men as they passed his room, purposely exclaiming that pirates were ap-

"A swarm of phraus (Malay boats) are pulling toward us," answered a hurried voice, as its owner passed rapidly to the upper deck; "bring your arms along."

In a few minutes all hands were on deck, gazing curiously toward the suspected objects, while the quartermaster was getting parser and hoarser with continued hailing. They looked like boats moving stealthily toward the ship.

"Hail them in Malay, Mr. Squires," said

Commander Rodgers.

Squires threw himself back and drew a long breath. "Phrau man-a-a-r!"

No answer. "They must have some bad object or they would answer," hazarded the unsteady voice of a semi-alarmist.

"Phrau man-a-a-r!" Still no answer. "Say 'Phrau man-ar ahoy!" Squires," suggested a voice at his elbow.

"Get out with your fun!" exclaimed the hailer; "don't you know that man-ar means ahov?

A general laugh here caused him to cough nervously and renew the bail: "Phrau man-a-ar! "Lower a boat, Mr. Bridge," at length ordered the captain, "and send her to see what they are; we may hall here all night." So the boat was lowered and pulled off toward the piratical phraus. They proved to be small, floating islets of brushwood and densely packed grass drifting with the cur-rent; and the discovery was no sooner made than our alarmist was on deck.

"Why, where are your guns?" asked one-"Jist mind yer own business, will ye?"

What is Catarrh

Catarrh is an inflammation of the mucou membranes, and may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels or bladder. But catarrh of the head is the most common, often coming on so gradually that it has a firm hold before the nature of the trouble is suspected. Catarrh is caused by a cold, or succession of colds,

Impure Blood Its local symptoms are a sense of fullness and heat in the forehead, dryness in the nose and pack part of the throat, and a disagreeable discharge from the nose. When the disease becomes chronic it is liable to develop into consumption. The eyes become inflamed and red, there is throbbing in the temples, ringing noises in the ears, headache, and sometimes loss of sense of smell and hearing.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the true remedy for catarrh. It attacks the source of the disease by purifying and enriching the blood, which, as it reaches the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues, and ultimately cures the affection. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system and

"He is such a fickle, inconstant fellow, you will never be happy with him," said Esther's friends when they learned of her engagement to a young man who bore the reputation of being a sad flirt. Esther, however, knew that her lover had good qualities, and she was willing to take the risk. In nine cases out of ten it would have proved a mistake; but Esther was an ancommon girl and to every one's surprise Fred made a model husband. How was it? Well Esther had a cheerful, sunny temper and a great deal of tact. Then she enjoyed perfect health and was always so sweet, neat and wholesome that Fred found his own home most pleasant, and his own wife more agreeable, than any other being. As the year passed and he saw other women of Esther's age grow sickly, faded and querulous, he real zed more and more that he had "a jewel of a wife." Good health was half the secret of Esther's success. She retained her vitality. and good looks, because she warded off feminine weaknesse and ailments by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

GROWING UP.

Cerinne Marshall was the brightest girl in the school district where her father's large, stony farm was sibuated. Her mother had read a translation of De Stael's famous romance, hence her daughter's name, given with many wishes that the little maiden might grow up to be something out of the common order. At 6 she studied grammar, and spelled the big boys and girls "down" at an old fashioned spelling school; plainly there could be no question about her bril-

There was a farmer's boy as well as a farmer's girl; there always is, only the boy is apt to be, if more solid, not so ready-not smart," as the New England expression is. No special star had shone over the boy's baptismal font, and he was named plain Job Job Austin.

Job's father was in standing and property about on an equality with Cofor Corinne. However, the young Job lifted his gray eyes to the "brightest girl," drew her on his sled, "towed" her on the ice, brought her peppermint drops and licorice stick, and carved various toys for her at odd times, such as bedsteads for her dolls, and a set of wooden dishes for their

While Job was still struggling, in his old clothes, with "chores" at home, and unknown quantities at school, his little favorite was sent to live with her aunt in the village, a dozen miles away, for the sake of greater educational privileges. There the smart girl developed rapidly. She soon showed a remarkable gift of expression, and in the de partment of composition easily led her school, became the editor of the school "paper," the president of a literary society, and withal a very careless student. To keep up in her classes required no effort; and she fell into the error of thinking that success would come to her without hard work.

In the meantime Job showed a patience equal to that of his widely known namesake He extracted roots, cube and square, to say nothing of "grubbing" roots on the old farm; and every step he took he cleared the way of all difficulties. No half way work for Job. He was still awkward, ill dressed, hesitating, and he blushed furiously just at the times and on the occasions when he most desired to appear cool and collected. Many a time he had begun a letter to Corinne, sitting at his desk at noon time, or after school, anxiously trying to compose a document worthy of so bright a being. But, though as patient as the original Job, he never succeeded in finishing a letter that be thought good enough.

At last a turn came in the tide of Job's life. A literary gentleman in Bagdad, the village where Corinne was living at her aunt's, offered to "board and school" him in return for such help as the boy could easily give morning and evening. He was to enter the graded school, and on examination was found ready for the intermediate department. Corinne was in a private school for girls. It was not long before the two old friends met in the street. Corinne was with half a dozen gay school girls.

"Who is that fellow with hayseed in his hair?" asked one of them, as Job came toward them smiling and blushing. Corinne bowed coolly, pretending not to see the out-stretched hand, and hurried on.

"A mistake," she said. "I look like dozens of other people, it seems." Corinne justified this story to her conscience on the ground that Job had really made a mistake in sup posing she was going to keep up the old

Job thought, generous fellow, that it was a veritable mistake. A little near sighted, he often made mistakes of identity; and he promised himself to look more carefully next time he met a group of young ladies, blushing the deepest peony red in thinking of his Corinne now entered upon a new period of her inspired career. She wrote a poem! Sitting in her room after study hours, with her hair down and her hands pressed to her temples, she slowly evolved the wondrous thing. How astonished she was to find that she, Corinne Marshall, could actually weave rhymes and sentiments and flowers of speech like the real poets whom she worshiped afar off! She showed the celestial manufacture to her own special girl friend, Cecilia Hopkins. It was one of those twilight hours of loving communion over the fire, when, with arms around each other's waists, school girls tell the dearest friends everything, that the poem was brought out and read.

Cecilia was in raptures. She always knew her darling Corinne was a genius. And where would she send it?

"Send it?" "Yes; to what magazine or newspaper? Surely the world should not be deprived of such a gem!"

Now, unknown to Corinne, the gentleman with whom Job was living was the editor of The Bagdad Carrier Dove, a sheet devoted to news and elegant culture.

"I'll send it to The Dove," said Corinne, after her friend had left her to the literary leisure she longed for. "Yes, to The Dove, on whose white wings it shall be wafted far away to meet kindred hearts."

Carefully was the poem copied and recopied, till, in appearance, at least, it was worthy of the classic name signed boldly at the close. In the chill dusk of a winter even ing a young girl might have been seen walking up and down the street, casting longing glances at a lamp post; for the author's heart failed her at the last moment. But the appearance of a teacher brought matters to a crisis, and the envelope weighted with destiny was dropped through the iron slit. The boy in the office of The Dove, by this time highly prized by the editor, recognized the old time quirks and quirls, the tails of the g's and y's and q's, and the heavy shading of the upward strokes. He helped the crude little "poem" into a corner of The Carrier, his heart beating with manly pleasure at doing a service for his little love.

Corinne was made a poet by acclamation in the school room; for of course the authorship of "Life's Disappointments" was an open secret. Fifty copies of The Carrier were ordered, and the office boy was sent with them to Mrs. Deportment's school. He arrived at the recreation hour, when the young ladies, a gay, fluttering, bright eyed crowd, were "taking exercise." Some were promenading, some dancing, some chatting, some swinging dumbbells, some tossing a shuttle-

"The copies of The Carrier Dove you sent for," said Job, addressing the girls en masse. All occupations were deserted, and the girls, acting from a common impulse of fun, came forward to interview the "devil," as they were pleased to call Job. They made him take a chair on the platform, they asked him all kinds of questions concerning edi-torial and newspaper interiors; finally they introduced, with mock ceremony, the distin-guished authoress, Corinne. Job's face lighted up. Here was relief from his tor-

Not a sign did Corinne give that she recognized her old friend; indeed, she joined in the fun at his expense. Poor Job had greater need than ever of the quality associated with his name, and only on the ringing of the bell calling the girls to lessons was he released.

At the and of five years. The young ladies for and wide; some are married, some are teachers, some are busy with the wearisoms nothings of gay society. As for Corinne, she is at home on the old stony form. Her mether is dead, and she is her father's housekesper. She has taken a nom de plume, for repeated experiences of "declined with thanks" have made her desire to hide her identity. Nevertheless, cortain microsses have kept her in heart and hope; and as she is yet searcely twenty, she still looks forward to a distinguished hierary

In the meantime a new light has arisen. Far and wide the letters, stories and scientific articles of Lew Etoile are known and admired. It is announced that he is to establish a journal, called The People, in a town not a thousand miles from the Marshall Corinne, on the lookout for new worlds to conquer, says: "There is a chance for me." She prepares a piece of verse, elaborate, romantic, and not without merit. She sends it, with a note inclosed signed by her own name, to the great Mr. Etoile. Then through weeks of suspense she waits.

"It's come back," shouts her heartless little brother, swinging a letter over his head, and quite regardless of the presence of a neighborhood gossip.

"What makes you keep a-sendin' stuff to the editors?" says her sister, an enfant terrible, who is great in mathematics and despises her elder sister's name and pretensions. Corinne takes the letter humbly and puts it in her pocket. By and by she goes out into the blossoming orchard and opens the editorial envelope, walking up and down under the fragrant trees. There is the poem in which so much hope had been folded, and a long letter in a bold, firm hand. "Miss A. B. C. shows facility. There are hints of talent. Will she oblige the editor by writing an article on some subject of which she has knowledge-positive, clear information?" The letter went on with kind, discriminating advice, worth more than gold to a girl like Corinne. "Write about something of which I have knowledge!" repeated the girl, stopping to break a branch of apple blossoms. "What do I know?" She looked into the tinted cups as if for an answer. "I don't know anything," she said presently, throwing herself down upon the turf in sorrowful abandon; "but I can learn." This correlative came after a burst of tears and an hour's reflec-A few days after this Corinne received by mail a treatise on the keeping of poultry, which she herself had ordered. This she set herself to study, and soon became interested in details of breed, feeding, housing, etc. All the books and newspapers of importance bearing on the subject Corinne read industriously. Then came practical work. After six months' experience the young lady wrote a modest article on "Poultry Raising," and

first compensation for literary work. To the old orchard trees the girl went in her excitement and joy. They were bare; empty nests hung from their boughs; and the dead grass about them was flecked and patched with snow. But in Corinne's heart there was summer. Mr. Etoile's note was so kind, so encouraging; he praised her style, he suggested books for her to read; he promised, if she worked and studied, a noble success by and by-not necessarily in poultry articles, though said articles suited The People to a dot, and he wished more of them. He named various books on industrial subjects-bee raising, silk spinning, flower culture, etc.and advised a reading up of the subjects and articles on the same.

"In the meantime," said he, "keep your eyes open. There must be much in your country world worth writing about. In some out of door searching, a real poem may show itself in moss or lichen, the glance of a little wildwood dweller, or the flash of a jeweled

It was a year from the time that Corinne questioned the apple blossoms in her despair. It was noised about that Editor Etoile visiting in the neighborhood. Corinne's intimate friends, the "heartless brother" and the enfant terrible included, began to anticipate a triumph for their friend and sister. She was a correspondent of Lew Etoile's-a favorite contributor to the The People, No one else with so much right could aspire to the great man's favor.

to a garden party to meet the star. The hour came, and the editor was introduced. Corinne stepped forward eagerly, all smiles. The gentleman bowed politely, exactly as to twenty others to whom he had been presented. The whole company, looking on, under-stood Corinne's humiliation. She soon slipped away, and on reaching home went wandering under the blooming orchard trees.

"How handsome he is! How distinguished his style! Nobody at the party could compare with him. Only a little older than I, and he has almost a national reputation!" So Corinne mused, as she walked up and down the fragrant, wind blown alleys.

By and by she seated herself, and, taking pencil and paper from her pocket, began to scribble, as the best way of forgetting her disappointment. Gradually a sense of the ineffable beauties of her little corner of the earth stole over her. Soft, fragrant air. azure sky, white banks of vapor, rosy shapes of bud and bloom, the humming of happy in-sects, the trill of home going birds, the lovely greenery of notched and scalloped and blade shaped leaves—all met and mingled in her soul, producing a sort of ecstasy. Her thoughts began to take rhythmical form, and a genuine poem grew under her almost un-

As she sat leaning against a gnarled old trunk, pink petals nestling in the crimps of her black hair and in the folds of her pale blue gauzy dress, she made a charming pic-At least so thought the distinguished "Mr. Etoile," coming gently along the or-chard path, his footfalls hushed by the matted turf.

"Corinne!

The girl rose, her cheeks hot with blushes.
"Forgive me for treating you so badly just ow. Let us walk under the trees and talk about old times. Do you remember the day I pulled you out of the cranberry bog when you broke through the ice and thought you were drowning?"

Corinne looked up in amazement. It was —yes, it was Job Austin; light locks, freckles, and all. "Do you forgive me?" he persisted.

"Do you forgive me?" he persisted.

"I think we are quits," she said, now able to look up roguishly through her blushes. "Strange I didn't recognize you when you were introduced to me today."

"Don't speak of that," said Job. "What is this?" and he took possession, as by editorial right, of the paper fluttering in her hand. His face grew radiant as he read.

"Dear old comrade," he said, "I have not been disappointed in you. This is genuine, and it is beautiful! It is a growth, not a bit of manufacture."

When "the planet and his satellite," as Corinne's saucy sister called them, left the orchard, there was a happy light in both their faces. Thereafter literary affairs called them often together. As to sentiment, the gossips of the neighborhood are about equally divided; a part asserting vehemently that it is a heart affair, the others denying the same with equal earnestness.—Mrs. M. F. MORRISTOWN, TENN., July 4, 1888.

The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.:
Gentlemen—Five years ago I was so magertunate as to contract an extremely bad case of blood poison. My bones ached and my muscles began to swell and contract. I was under treatment of the physician from the inception of the disease until I found that he could do me no good. Then, through the advice of a friend I began taking S. S. S. Your modicine seemed to have an immediate effect. I took six bottles, and to-day am sound and well. That was two or three years ago, but I have seen no evidence of the return of the disease, and I take this opportunity to thank you for what it has done for me. It saved my life. You can refer any one to me.

In accordance with a motion offered by Mr. Case, a brick barn was erected on the jail lot for the use of the sheriff. Your committee advertised for bids.

Mr. Jacobus being the lowest bidder, received the contract, the cost being

Our attention was next called to the condition of the court house floor. The flagging being found loose, it was necessary to re-lay nearly the entire floor. We employed Mr. Dow to do the work, which with a few other repairs amounted to $66.31. The next matter to which our atteption was called was the bad condition of the stone steps of the court house, on the north and east sides. Some of the stone were dissolving, so new stone had to be purchased, also 3,000 bricks to build piers, cost $97.75. Your committee recommend similar repairs to the steps on the south and west sides of the court house. The attention of your committee was next called to the condition of the court house roof, which leaked, whenever it rained, that almost every room was becoming damaged. On examination it was discovered that the gutters all leaked at the corner of each angle, causing the stone to wash down on the brick, on the outside of the building. As it was impossible to estimate the expense, we engaged John Schumacher to do the work by the day, giving an itemized statement of the work and material used. The inside walls were so much damaged, we decided to have them calsomined. contract for calsomining was let to Oscar Sorg, he being the lowest bidder. After calsomining all the rooms except the court room, Mr. Sorg submitted a plan for frescoing the court room at a cost of $150,00. Your committee believe it advisable, and would recommend the same to be done.

For repairs, bills have been allowed and orders drawn for the following amounts:

LITERARY NOTES.

Pansies for thoughts. From the Writings of "Pansy" (Mrs. G. R. Alden) Compiled and arranged with an appropriate text for each day by Grace Livingston, author of "A Chautauqua Idyl." Price 75 cents. Perhaps no one woman in this country has done more by her writings to help cheer, ennoble and purify the world than Mrs. Alden. Her earnestness and fervor are magnetic, and people who do not quite endorse her religious sentiments are charmed with her bright, strong, helpful stories.

To thousands of people, both young and old, her books have been an inspiration, and in many a home her name is a house hold word. Her admirers must often have wished for some collection of her pithy thoughts that should fit the need of the hour, to which they could turn for cheer and encouragement. This volume, compiled under "Pansy's" own eye, wiff prove a treasure to all such. The exquisite cover with its golden pansies is fitly symbolical of the contents, and the book will make a charming gift book for all times.

'The American 'Robert Elsmere'"to the title applied by a well-known critic is the new volume of Ticknor's Paper Series, "Rachel Armstrong; or, Love and Theology," the work of Celia Parker Woolley, a well-known writer of the West, This notable work was published a year ago, (under the second of the above titles), and stands as the forerunner and prototype of the theological novels that are now so amazingly popular in England and America. It is now first brought out in a fifty-cent paper-covered book, to meet the great demand for a less expensive edition. The novel is of marked charm and interest as a story, and of surprising depth of thought and spiritual insight.

Babyland, Annual volume 1888. IIustrated. Boston: D. Lothrop Company. Price 75 cents. Of all the volumes which annually come to delight the hearts of the little people of the nursery not one brings out a heartier shout of welcome than Babyland. And that is why Babyland is what it is, and why it appeals so strengly to little eyes and little ears. Babyland for 1888 is as beautiful outside as it is inside, the two covers, front and back, with their pictures in color of the babies blowing bubbles and the babies going to bed, furnish material for no end of pleasant stories to ingenious papas and mammas.

L. G. If you find a taker telegraph.' This was interpreted in Detroit to mean that he would bet $5,000 on Harrison against $4,000 on Cleveland, and the betters in Detroit were nearly frantic. Cox really meant the other way. Interviewed by a representative of the News in Ann Arbor, Cox claimed that a Kentucky friend had sent him $5,000 to place on Cleveland's

REPUBLICAN GAINS

IN WASHTENAW COUNTY EXCEPT ON CONGRESSMAN.

Nearly Complete Returns for Democrat and Republican Tickets. Where is that 2,000 Majority? Prohibition Decline.

When Willard Stearns opened his campaign in Ann Arbor he was confident Washtenaw would give him 2,000 majority. The Democrats were doomed to disappointment. There is a marked tendency towards the Republican party in this

Democrat stronghold, and evidence that the Prohibition party is decaying.

In 1884 there were 10,004 votes cast in Washtenaw. Tuesday there were at least 10,486, showing an increase of 482, or 120 per year. Ann Arbor has half of this increase. Harrison has 525 more votes than Blaine received. Cleveland has 460 more than he received in 1884. The Butler vote of 332 four years ago probably largely went to Cleveland. The St. John vote of 619 is now reduced to 448 for Fisk, and this decrease of 170 largely went to the Republican party. The Republican party, therefore, must have received the largest share of the new votes since 1884. The full Prohibition vote is not yet in.

Four years ago Cleveland's plurality in Washtenaw was 1281; now it is only 884, - a terrible decline for a Democrat stronghold. In the following table complete returns for president are given for every ward and township and nearly complete returns for the remainder.

Oa this basis S.earns has made a small gain over the purality given Salsbury two years ago, his plurality being about 606, while Salsbury's was 507.

In the gubernatorial contest the Demo-cratic plurality is about 870, while two years ago it was 1090 showing a gratifying mcrease in Republican strength. A. J. Sawyer made a gallant fight for representative in the legislature, and was beaten only by 46. The Democrat county ticket is elected by pluralities ranging from about 400 to 900.

The following table, while not complete, is yet full enough to give a fair idea of the result. For purposes of comparison, the votes for Blaine and Cleveland in 1884, and for Allen and Salsbury in 1886, are In Ann Arbor there were 2041 votes cast for president against about 1807 four years ago. The Prohibitionists in the city have lost two. Four years ago Cleveland had a plurality of 50 in the city; now he

The gallant fight which the Republicans made in Michigan and all over the North thus gave the Republicans a moral victory in Washtenaw county. Another such election would nearly cust the Democrats from their stronghold in this county.
