THEY TOOK THEIR CHANCE. And it Resulted in the Death of Robert S. Orr.-T. & A. A. Train Collides with a Wagon.

A terrible accident occurred last Friday at 5 p.m. A lumber wagon, containing Robert S. Orr and J. L. P. McAllaster, was struck by train No. 4 at the State-st crossing of the T. & A. A. The horses had crossed the track, and the engine struck the hind wheels squarely. Nathan Woodmansee and W. B. Johnson had jumped out, but the other two remained and were thrown some distance. Mr. McAllaster was hurt severely about the head, arm and side. Mr. Orr died from his injuries on Sunday at 4 p. m. Mr. McAllaster was the driver.

Mr. Orr resided at 18 Detroit-st, and leaves a wife and seven or eight children. He was a dealer in picture frames in a small way and was a day laborer.

An inquest was held by Justice Pond yesterday with the following gentlemen as jurors: Moses Seabolt, Henry J. Brown, Leonard Gruner, John Finnegan, Charles Spoor and Charles H. Worden. A. J. Sawyer appeared for the railroad com-pany, and Ralph C. McAllaster, son of the driver of the wagon, came down from Manistee to look after the interests of the family.

The evidence given shows very conclusively that a desperate chance was taken by McAllaster and O:r. Mr. McAllaster says that his horses were not used to trains and he desired to get across. He thought he had time of course. But the occupants saw the train near them, and Johnson and Woodmansee independently, without con-sulting about it and without having time for consultation, decided to jump. It left Orr and MaAllaster trying to get across a track in front of a tain near them moving at the rate of 30 miles an hour. Mc-Allaster halted his team a little, it is certain, probably discussing in his mind the chances of getting across safely. Edward J. Dodge, the engineer, Otto Lang, the fireman, and H. C. Hatcher, the conductor, all testified to the whistling at the proper time. John on testified that he jumped after Woodmansee did because he thought it would be a close chance to get across safely. Mrs. Mary Stofflet was in a carriage coming into Ann Arbor as the train No. 4 was coming to State st. crossing. She heard no engine whistle that evening, and did not see the train till it was near the crossing. Mrs. Louise Richards was in the carriage, and saw the train when it was half a mile from the crossing. She did not hear the engine whistle, nor the bell ring as the train approached the State-st. crossing.

Nathan Woodmansee testified as follows: "I was on the wagon just before it was struck by the engine at State-st, cross-ing Nov. 16. I jumped out of the wagon just before the team got upon the railroad track; can't say how far from the crossing, but close to it. I saw the train coming, close upon us, and thought it best to get out I saw the train just as it whistled it gave two toots and was close on to us; when I saw the train Mr. McAllaster turned his head about the same time, and thought he saw it. I said, 'Whoa, the train is coming;' he said, 'I can get across,' and commenced whipping the horses. I then threw myself out of the wagon. The train was coming at a high rate of speed. I heard no signal whistle for the crossing." The jurors went to Mr. McAllaster's residence on Miller ave., and he testified that he was very close to the track when he first saw the train, at least two or three rods; that he was afraid to stop for fear that he couldn't manage his horses; that Mr. Woodmansee told him the train was coming. He glanced toward the train and thought he had time to get by. He is hard of hearing. Mrs. Mary Fox is the owner of a cow and was milking it near the Hammond crossing as the train went by. Her cow was frightened by the train, and she swears that the engineer whistled at the farmer's crossing as he claims he did. This testimony was very conclusive, as it cor-roborated that of the fireman, who remarked about the woman milking a cow that appeared to be frightened when the engine whistled. The testimony was taken in about five hours, and the jury rendered a verdict of accidental death for which no one is to blame.

French queen, when told that the people were hungry and had no bread to eat, asked why they didn't eat cake. Mrs. Howe broadly insinuates that the educated people who are withholding the fran chise from women are displaying a fatal ignorance.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe is the author of the "Battle Hyma of the R-public." She was the wife of Dr. Samuel Howe who founded the Perkins institute for the blind in Boston, and whose work with Laura Bridgman gave him undying fame. For forty years she has been the most prominent woman in New England social, literary and philanthropic circles.

She is the president of the American Association for the Advancement of Women, popularly known as the Woman's Congress, which met in Detroit last week. As she was in attendance at that meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Sunderland had little difficulty in persuading her to spend Sanday here as their guest.

Shakespeare Club Doings.

The Shakespeare club' reconvened for the season, last Saturday evening, at the residence of Mrs. J. Taylor. Several new members were enrolled and the club is now thoroughly organized and equipped for diligent study of Shakespeare's plays. The work done by the members during the preceding two years has been highly satisfactory and the outlook for the present season is very auspicious. The Merchant of Venice is now occupying the at-tention of the organization. The method of study is analogous to the plan pursued in colleges where a Shakespeare department is established. The minute details of what occurs in each particular scene is given from memory previous to the read-ing of the same. Discussion concerning the interpretation of questionable passages is freely indulged in, thus enabling the club to acquire a better conception from the diversity of opinion expressed. Some the different characters, etc., of each play are read before the club at stated times. For the purpose of elecutionary drill and voice culture, characters are assigned and the choice scenes enacted. Following are the members: Mrs. A. H. Taylor, Miss Lizzie Leseur, Miss Luella Bush, Miss Kate Seymour, Miss Hattie Haviland, Misses Anna, Mattie and Inez Taylor, Miss Jessie Taylor, Messrs. Leasure, Moore, Kendall, Riker, Guistie, Taylor, Katzenberger and Keough. The officers are: leader, W. C. H. Keough; secretary, G. A. Katzenberger.

"Side out,"-C. H. Rowell, A. T. A. President Angell's residence was packed, Tuesday evening, with guests to wel-come G. V. N. Lothrop and wife, of Detroit. Some men are shaking their heads wisely, and cocking one eye up in a very knowing way, over this reception. They declare that it means something. A prominent member of the Faculty laughed when told of these hints of political significance in the reception. Those people needn't lose sleep about it," said he. "Dr. Angell and Minister Lothrop have entertained very warm relations for 15 years, and their families have visited each other. It was a desire to welcome Mr. Lothrop on his return from Russia that prompted the reception. Nothing else, you can rely upon it."

At the recent meeting of the State board of heath, the following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That Prof. Vic-tor C. Vaughan, M. D., Committee of this Board on Poisons, etc., be respectfully requested to embrace every opportunity for testing for tyrotoxicon in the ejecta and dejecta of infants sick with cholera infantum, and in the contents of the stomach and intestines of infants dead from cholera infantum; and that for this purpose, the Secretary of this Board be directed to endeavor to learn of the occurrence of such sickness and deaths, and of opportunities for such post mortem and other examinations." Dr. Vaughan stated that the State Laboratory of Hygiene at the University is now pre-pared to make both chemical and biological examination of water which is supposed to have caused sickness, for the bare cost of analysis, when such analyses are requested by the State Board of Heath.

The two students arrested for raising a disturbance on the day of the big Demo-cratic parade appeared before Justice Fruesuff yesterday, and the trial was post-poned till Dec. 20. There is considerable feeling generating about this. Several prominent Republicans are interesting themselves in having the proceedings against the students dropped, claiming that the Democrat officials are displaying undue zeal in prosecuting these students when compared with their actions at other times. There promises to be a little political feeling growing out of the affair.

WHAT TO TAX.

It has been said that "many a one who figures in the list of donors to charitable and philanthropic institutions gives after all only a part of what he has withheld from the public treasury." Those who have studied the subject of taxation most have come to the conclusion that our system encourages fearful mendacity, and a change which would simplify the laws by exempting personal property from taxation would do more good in promoting truthfulness than much preaching can do. For instance, in New York city the increase in the assessed valuation of the real estate has been about $40,000,-000 per year for ten years; yet in 1887-1888 there was, according to the assessment rolls, an actual decrease in the amount of personal property in that great city. Of course no one believes that the city decreased in wealth in that time.

The same thing is seen in the state of Ohio. In 1885 the assessed valuation of personal property was $18,384,885 less than in 1883, but there was no decline in the assessed value of real estate. In the opinion of Prof. Ely of Johns Hopkins, our present method of taxation never can be made to operate satisfactorily, because the personal property of the poor man is easily discovered and fully assessed, while the rich men have numberless ways in which they can escape.

The poor men pay a larger proportion of their income as taxes than the rich do, and it has been so for a thousand years.

From the ease with which it can be assessed, Prof. Ely thinks that land is the best subject of taxation. By concentrating the taxes upon land according to its value, more exact justice could be done. Speculation in land could be discouraged by assessing land held for such purpose the same as occupied land. It is now generally the practice in assessing to undervalue land held for speculation, thereby encouraging the evil; while on the contrary when land is improved and houses are erected, the taxes are increased. If we were to reverse this order, it would throw much more land open to use, and would encourage improvements.

Prof. Ely is no mere theorist, but is practical, having been a member of the Maryland commission appointed to study the question of taxation. In his report, page 44, he declares that our present system of taxation is a universal failure.

THE Michigan State Sunday-school convention will be held in the First Congregational church in East Saginaw, Dec. 4-6, 1888, and will be conducted by B. F. Jacobs, chairman of the international executive committee. At this convention, delegates will be appointed to represent Michigan at the World's Sunday-school convention, to be held in London, England, in July, 1889. Each county and township organization is entitled to two or more delegates, and every Sunday-school in the State should send at least one delegate to the convention. Reduced rates, one and one-third fare, can be had on most Michigan roads. The citizens of the Saginaws will cheerfully entertain all duly accredited delegates, provided that on or before December first they send name and address to Jas. G. Inglis, care Y. M. C. LITERARY NOTES.

Elizabeth Robins Pennell, wife of Joseph Pennell of Philadelphia, and his companion through Europe on a trycicle, will have a paper on "Wells and its Cathedrals," in the December number of the Magazine of Ar'. In this same issue will be the first of two papers on the "Portraits of Dante Gabriel Rossetti," by Wm M. Rossetti. The portraits of the poet painter in this number cover the period from his sixth to his twenty-fifth year, and are by himself, Holman Hunt, John Hancock, J. E. Mill ais and others.

The first step in avoiding mistakes is to find out how we fall into them. Valuable aid in this direction will be furnished in Prof. Joseph Jastrow's paper on "The Psychology of Deception," which will open the December "Popular Science Monthly." As illustrations of his subject the author cites the tricks practiced by conjurers, and the delusions which from time to time gain a hold on the public mind.

The next number of The Century is to contain Henry Ward Beecher's last manascript - an uncompleted paper on his trip to England in 1863, which he was writing for The Century War Book the last week of his lile. The article is supplemented by a brief paper by the Rev. J M. Buckley, D. D., who was an eye-wit-ness and hearer of the famous speech which Mr. Beecher delivered in Liverpool, in 1863, in the presence of a howling mob.

Even the negro minstrel men understand the situation. One end man tells the following story: "I went down Broadway a couple of weeks before election and met a man who was selling puppies. I love dogs, you know, and asked the man what breed they were. He said they were Cleveland and Thurman dogs. I am that breed myself, so I bought them. The day after election I saw the same man with the same kind of puppies for sale. He was shouting: 'Here's your Harrison and Morton puppies.' I stepped up and says I: 'Look here, gentle stranger, I bought two of those puppies of you and you said they were Cleveland and Thurman pups.' "'That's all right," said he, 'that was nine days ago; these have got their eyes open now.""

In the November Forum Edward Atkinson wrote: It is probable, to say the least, that fully 90 per cent, of the whole body of the people spend nearly all that they can earn; of this 90 per cent. a portion may be setting aside a moderate part of their small earnings, become the owners of a house, or become depositors in a saving bank, or insure their lives in a moderate way. WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.-One of the most important matters to be considered by Congress in the approaching short session will be the report of the Immigration Investigation Committee. This re-port will probably be ready for presen-tation early in December, and tation early in December, and its vital importance will undoubt-edly lead to a prolonged discussion. Abstracts of the test mony taken by the com-mittee were published correctly, but they gave only a partial insight to the alarming danger, present and prospective, resulting from the immense influx of the paupers, criminals and general riff-raff of Europe. The report will show that, so far as New York is concerned, recent immigration has given an alarming proport on of our criminais, paupers, lunatics, imbedies and the like. It will show by the testimony of Su-perintendent Blake, who looks after New York's outdoor poor, that 70 per cent. of the paupers who overflow charitable insti-tutions are of foremonia to the state of tutions are of foreign birth, and that a very large proportion of them are recent mportatio WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 .- The annual re-

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

Annual Session of the General Assembly

at Indianapolis, Ind. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 15.-At the session of the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor yesterday most of the time was spent in hearing reports. The re-port of the secretary showed that the number of members reported July 1, 1888, was 259,518, attached to 5,666 local assembles, a loss of about 300,000 during the last fiscal year. The treasurer reported that the treasury was empty and that bills amounting to $9,227 were due and unpaid. Several methods for reducing expenses were proposed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 16 .- At the session of the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor yesterday General Master Workman Powderly delivered-his ad-dress, in which he declared that the order had engaged in many foolish strikes, that the order had maintained an existence in the face of the most discouraging circumstances, and that, although the member-ship had greatly decreased, it would still continue to exist.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 19. - The financial condition of the Knights of La-bor was under discussion in the session of the Assembly yesterday, and the immigration question was also considered. The resolution expelling T. B. Barry from the order was sustained. Barry charges that the convention is not a fair representative gathering of the in-dustrial classes of the order, and says the most unscrupulous methods were resorted to to prevent men who were known to be in any way opposed to the administration from being elected as representatives. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 20.-Yester-day's sensation in the Knights of Labor day's sensation in the Knights of Labor General Assembly was Mr. Powderly's denunciations of George E. REPUBLICAN PARTY'S CHANCE.

If the Republicans have a working majority in each branch of congress they can make the next four years memorable. Of course such unobstructed power will increase their responsibility, for which the party will have to answer in coming "elections; but, the power ought to be, and we believe will be, used wisely. The Republican party does not shrink from responsibility. It is far better that some one party shall have full sway for a time. If it has a policy, there can then be no excuse for failure in carrying it out, and at the next election there can be no mistake about an issue.

Upon the manner in which the Republican party uses its power will it be judged. If it resists the insane struggle for loaves and fishes to a certain extent; if it takes a step toward annexation of Canada; if it admits Dakota as two states; if it reduces the surplus revenue by decreasing taxation or by paying the debts; if it keeps the public domain free from the land speculator; if it deals generously with the soldier; if it builds up manufactures; there will be no question of its continuance in power for a quarter of a century.

THE REGISTER has confidence in the Republican party, that it will do most, if not all, of these things.

DIPHTHERIA IN MICHIGAN.

At the recent meeting of the Michigan state board of health, the report in regard to diphtheria in 1887 was made. In all, 398 outbreaks of that dreaded disease were reported to the board in that year, including 2,321 cases, of which 561 died, an average of 5.83 cases and 1.41 deaths to each outbreak. These were divided into three groups:

1. Outbreaks in which it was certain that the health officers did not do their duty, as the law requires, in regard to isolation and disinfection. There were 118 such outbreaks, with an average of 11.79 cases and 2.71 deaths to each outbreak.

2. The second group included those in which the health officers' reports were not clear as to what they did do, and of these there were 202 outbreaks, with an average of 3.62 cases and .94 deaths to each outbreak.

3. The third group included 78 outbreaks, and were those in which it was certain that the health officers did fully comply with their duties under 'the law and the board's regulations. In these outbreaks there were only 198 cases and 51 deaths, or an average of 2.54 cases and .65 deaths.

Thus where the health officers do their duty in regard to diphtheria, there is a saving of life.

that of Senator Hawley of Connecticut. It is to be hoped that its friends will not attempt to make a party question of it when it comes up again in congress.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HARRISON-

His Career from 1860 to the Present Time.-Declines Political Honors.-Record on Many Questions.

Until 1860 Harrison devoted himself exclusively to his profession. In that year, however, he was nominated for the position of Reporter in the Supreme court, and it was then that he began to pay some attention to practical politics.

He stumped Indiana for the Republican ticket, which was successful, and during the campaign took part in a political debate with Thomas A. Hendricks, a memorable event in his career, because it did much to bring him into prominence as a political orator and speaker of ability.

When he returned from the war in 1864, he was re-elected to the office of reporter, but he declined another renomination in 1867. In 1868 he came again prominently before the people, in Gen. Grant's campaign, and was one of the hardest workers in Indiana. Gen. Harrison declined the Republi-can nomination for Governor of Indiana in 1876, but he consented to run af-terwards when Gen. Orth, the regular nominee of the convention, was with-drawn. He was defeated by "Blue Jeans" Williams by a plurality of 5,000 after a brief : anvass.

In 1880 he had become so popular in his State that his name was mentioned for President. He forbade it to be used Convention, where he was at the one of Mr. Blaine's strongest supporters. He also declined to accept a position in Garfield's cabinet because he had just been chosen by his own State to be one of its representatives in the United States Senate.

After serving his time in the Senate he again returned to private life and the he again returned to private file and the practice of his profession in Indianapo-lis, only to come forward again this year as his party's candidate for the highest office in the gift of the nation, and to which he has been elected. Gen Harrison has a record upon near ly every topic that can be raised in a national canvass at the present day, and it consists mostly of remarks made in his speeches and addresses made at various times since he came into national prominence, both in the senate and elsewhere.

He is committed to civil-service re-rm, and said in one of his speeches in 1882 that his experience in Washington made him utter the wish frequently that he might be forever relieved from any connection with the distribution of Federal patronage, as he coveted for himself the free and unpurchased support of his fellow-citizens.

In 1887 he made a speech at Indian-apolis deploring the enormous treasury surplus, and advocated the reconstruction of the navy and coast defences, and the granting of pensions to Union sur-vivors as a means of getting rid of it.

More recently he expressed the view that the payment of government bonds should be resorted to in order to reduce the accumulation of government money. He is also in favor of the silver dollar. On the tariff question he has always been an uncompromising protectionist, and in all his speeches in congress and elsewhere has earnestly advocated high duties on imported goods. Last year at Indianapolis he said:

"I suspect I am a poor political econ-omist. But when I hear men like ex-Senator McDonald taking of the great benefit that is to come to our people when Democrats revise the tariff, es-pecially in the shape of a cheap coat, I fail to find myself in sympathy with

Most Interesting Free Lectures.

At Ladies' library, daily this week, the author of "Haupt's Natural German M-thod," gives free but most entertaining lectures. Yesterday and to-day a representative class of our most intellgent citizens were delighted to a high degree of en-thusinsm with the lecture. We do not hes-itate to assert that for novelty and enjoy-ment the lectures of Professor Haupt ex-ceed all others. A number registered for the course of lessons to be given in Ann Arbor, among whom we notice the name of Mrs. Professor George S. Morris. The course begins as soon as a sufficient num-ber have registered, the free lectures this week being to acquaint the intelligent public with the Hauptonian method which has been so enthusiastically received in the principal cities. That one of ordinary ability can become so proficient in the use of the German that he can converse hours at a time with new arrivals from the Vaterland wholly in German is some-thing that no one can comprehend who has not heard the originator of the method explain his unique system. Professor Haupt invites all cordially to his lectures, of whom and of which the scholarly Dr. Comingo, of Pittsburg, Pa., says: Prof. Haupt seems to bear in mind constantly Lord Bacon's maxim, that reading makes a full man, conversation a ready man, and writing an exact man, the second, however, being regarded as the most im-portant. He adopts cordially the principle upheld so long ago by Professor Tick-nor in Harvard University, that the best way to learn a language, even when the student desires only to read it, is to learn to speak it. The fundamental idea of his method is to avoid that pendulum-like swinging from German to English and from English to German, characteristic of the old systems, and to surround the pu-pil entirely with an atmosphere of German; hence an hour in his class room is virtually an hour in Germany, and the pu pil has so far the advantages of a visit to the fatherland. An hour with Professor Haupt's class is better than the same time in Germany, as his system enables one to understand every word from the first lesson, and the learner can utilize at once the words learned. For he acquires the proper uses of each word simultanious with the word. The lectures are given at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m, daily.

The course of lessons will be given at these hours and it a large number matriculate this week for a class at 8 p.m. then a class will begin at that hour on next Monday. The professor announced yesterday that one is required to attend one hour daily and need not attend the same hour each day. One can register for one week as a test week. We bespeak this popu ar educator great success in our

Prof. S. T. Ford, of New York city, the widely-known and accomplished elocutionist, will give one of his delightful entertainments on Friday evening, Nov. 23, in the lecture room of the Methodist church. Those who have heard Prof. Ford need no reminder to improve this opportunity of hearing again his superb rendition of new and old gems of literature; and we can promise those who have not heard him a delightful evening's recreation. The New York Times speaks of him as "gifted with a fine presence, graceful manuer and a splendid voice"; and the Philadelphia Press says that "he moved his audience from laughter to tears at will." His humorous selections, such as "New York's Fash-ionable Singer," Mark Twain's "Literary Nightmare," "How Rubenstein Played," and others, are inimitably rendered; and no less is true of the pathetic selections. This is Prof. Ford's first appearance in Ann Arbor, and we bespeak a crowded house for him as one of the finest readers before the public. The eutertainment is given under the au-pices of the Cocker League. Admission 25 cents, tickets at the door. Doors open at seven, entertainment will begin at eight.

We hope that the Republican party will not adopt that measure. In 1886 Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, introduced the bill appropriating $77,000,-000 for distribution among the States for school purposes and according to the amount of illiteracy. The vast amount of illiteracy in the South, and the plea that the North was as much to blame for that illiteracy as the South, gave plausibility to the measure, and the bill passed the senate by a large majority, only two Republican senators voting against sit.

As the bill did not become a law there was time to think about it, and the following facts appeared :

1. Wherever the principle had heretofore been applied and localities relieved of direct taxation to support their schools, there had been a decline in the value of the school work.

2. Such aid destroys that spirit of independence and vigor so needed for good self-government.

3. The Southern states had made great progress in educational advantages, and their statistics of school attendance, etc., are quite as satisfactory as in many Northern States. The Southern states exhibited a willingness to tax themselves for a healthy growth of their schools, which of course must be slow.

4. In order to make the bill appear constitutional, all the states of the Union were included. The idea that the rich states of New York and Pennsylvania must be aided by Federal money to educate their children is amusing; yet in Pennsylvania 75,000 children under 15 years of age work in factories and mines to support themselves and their parents.

The truth seems to be that no matter how much school money a state may have, it cannot advance education much faster than its people advance in worldly prosperity, so as to have leisure in which to receive the education. It is difficult to see how Pennsylvania can educate the 75,000 children who spend their best hours in hard toil.

This bill of Senator Blair's has met This bill of Senator Blair's has met with Republican opposition, notably the opportunity.

him." Gen. Harrison has also expressed himself as in favor of protection to American workmen from their employ-ers as well as from foreign competition, and has denounced the system of importing contract labor. On questions of foreign policy he says he is an admirer of Mr. Blaine, and belives in a vigorous and aggressive treat-ment of all such questions as may arise. On several occasions he has emphati-cally expressed his sympathy with the aims and purposes of the Irish Nationalists and has denounced the wrongs which England has inflicted upon Ireland. He was one of the principal speakers at the reception given by the citizens of Indianapolis in December, 1887, to Messrs. Esmonde and O'Connor.

During the great railroad strike of 1877 he was active in the endeavor to bring about a peaceable settlement of the difficulty, and was one of a com-mittee of ten which was appointed in Indianapolis to confer with the strikers in a friendly spirit. The result was not satisfactory, and subsequently Gen. Harrison was requested by Gov. Wil-liams to assume command of all the military forces organized at the capital for the protection of life and property. Gen. Harrison declined to accept the position on the ground that he was al ready at the head of a citizens' organization, and recommended the appoint. mert of Gen. Daniel Macauley, which was acted upon by the Governor. During the strike Harrison was one of the most vigorous opponents of all violent measures.

While in the Senate Gen. Harrison voted against the Chinese Restriction act, and on a motion to pass it over President Arthur's veto he voted in the negative. He also presented memori-als to the senate from a large number of Knights of Labor Assemblies against the passage of the Free Ship bill, re-monstration against the employment of convict labor on public buildings and in relation to various other questions affecting the interests of labor. Gen. Lew Wallace, his biographer, said of him before his election: "Gen. Harrison is now in the prime of life, clear in mind, vigorous of body. His character, both public and private, is absolutely stainless. He loves his fam-ily, his fellow-men, his country and his God. Such a man cannot be inflated by success or embittered by disappointment."

Mrs. Max Pease and infant daughter are down from Oscoda on a visit at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hewitt's. The mercantile house of Henry P. Glover changed hands Monday morn-ing, three of his clerks buying the entire stock. The firm reads now, Lamb, Davis & Kishlar. Arthur Smith, our popular young gro-ceryman, was dreadfully surprised, last Friday evening, by being reminded by twenty or more merry-makers that he had a birth-day to celebrate.

The Ypsilanti Bible society, which recently held its annual meeting, re-elected the old officers: President, Prof. Strong; secretary, Harry Coe; treasurer, Dr. James; depository, D. B. Green. Col. J. P. Sanford, a popular lecturer, filled an engagement on the Normal lecture course last week, but as he did not dig and delve down into unuttera-ble unutterableness, he was severely criticised by the much learned, and it is thought the Colonel will surely die when he hears of it. Old and young folks have been busy paying up election bets. One of the ec-centric wagers was that of Messrs. With her natural and acquired talent she well befits such a calling.

Just now is seen (not by the parents —they never go there) the need of a new school house. There is a lack of room, to say nothing futher. However, Fred S. Homer as teacher is doing his duty, and is giving satisfaction, as usu-

What is Catarrh

Catarrh is an inflammation of the mucous membranes, and may affect the head, throat, stomach, howels or bladder. But catarrh of the head is the most common, often coming on so gradually that it has a firm hold before .be nature of the trouble is suspected. Catarrh is caused by a cold, or succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood

Its local symptoms are a sense or fullness and heat in the forehead, dryness in the nose and back part of the throat, and a disagreeable discharge from the nose. When the diseas becomes chronic it is liable to develop into consumption. The eyes become inflamed and red, there is throbbing in the temples, ringing noises in the ears, headache, and sometimes loss of sense of smell and hearing

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the true remedy for catarrh. It attacks the source of the disease by purifying and enriching the blood, which as it reaches the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues, and ultimately cures the affection. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system and makes one feel as if made anew.

Happy Homes.

Much has been written and said about how to make home happy. The moralist and the p.eacher have hackneyed this theme untill it would seem nothing more remained to be said. But the philosophers have gone far out of their way to account for the prevalence of ill-assorted couples and unhappy homes, and have over look-ed the chief cause. Most of the unhappi-ness of married life can be traced directly to those functional derangements to wo men are subject. In nine cases out of ten the irritable, dissatisfied and unhappy wi'e is a sufferer from some "female complaint." A trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will produce more demestic happiness than a million sermons or philosophical treatises. It cures all those pe culiar weaknesses and ailments incident to women. It is the only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be re-funded. The average man or woman does not precisely hanker for it, as a rule, but when taken, wishes it to be prompt, sure and effective. Warner, a valiant man in the war of 1812, and eight distinguished physi-cians mark the H. H. Warner line in America. H H. Warner was horn in Van Buren, Onondaga Co., N. Y., Jan. 19, 1842. After an education at Dr. Wright's Academy at Elbridge, and acquiring the tinsmith's trade at Memphis, N. Y., he went west for five years. In 1870 he returned to Rochester as General Agent of the Mosler Safes of Cincinnati, Ohio, and for ten years was the most successful safe dealer in the country, and amassed a fortune. In 1879 he was prostrated by a severe disease. The best physicians gave him no hope of recovery. It was at this time that he used what is now known as Warner's safe cure and was fully re-stored to health thereby. Realizing that the world needed such a specific for kidney disease, he made a vow when sick that if it cured him he would spend his days proclaiming its merits to the world. On his recovery he began at once to manufacture, and to-day there are seven laboratories and the branck houses in seven different quarters of the globe. In 1883, the Warner Astron-omical Observatory, erected and en-dowed by Mr. Warner, was completed at an estimated expense of $60,000. It is located on East Avenue, and is the finest private Astronomical Observatory in the world. The telescope cost $13,-000. Since 1879, astronomical prizes to he extent of $5,000 have been awarded by Mr. Warner for scientific discovery. In 1882 he was elected a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In 1886 H. H Warner & Co. put Warner's Safe Yeast upon the market, and in 1887 Warner's Log Cabin Remedies, designed to reach diseases for which Warner's Safe Remedies are not specifies not specifics.

The Safe Remedies building on N. St. Paul St., with its four and a quarter acres of flooring, is one of the busiest and most imposing structures of the kind in the world. In 1887 H. H. His inaugural address to that Chamber was notable for its radical views and thorough-going sensible recommendations.

We also find that the Super-visor of the first district in Ann Arbor did, in the year 1878, assess said James for $10,000, personal property. And the matter was then brought before the Board of Supervisors for that year, and referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. W. I. Yeckley, John J. Robison and L. D. To the Honorable Chairman and Board of Supervisors of Washtenaw County: GENTLEMEN:-I herewith report to you a lady said to a clerk in a large grocery store. "You have no idea how ordinary soap is wasted. The servants let it remain in the bottoms of the wash-tubs, dish-pans, and scrubbing-pails, and when the water is poured off, the soap has the consistency of mush, and a new bar must be taken from the box. If the soap would only float, they would see it, and take it out of the water when they were through with it."

"I WISH YOU HAD SOAP THAT WOULD FLOAT."

The "IVORY SOAP" floats, replied the clerk. Oil will float; and, as the "IVORY SOAP" is made of oils, and is 99144 per cent. pure, as a matter of course it will float.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'lvory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

The Clever Comedy, "Zig Zag."

W. W. Tillotson's Comedy Company, from the Star Theatre, New York, appears at the Grand Opera House, on Monday night, Nov. 26, for that evening only, in the great New York success, "Zig Zag," a very merry and jolly Musical Farce-Comedy, which makes you roar with laughter in spite of yourself. "Zg Zag" is being played this week at the Detroit Opera House to enormous audiences. The Detroit Free Press of last Tuesday says of the Farce Comedy: "The house was packed and laughter was as much a feature of the evening as anything else. If anyone wants to laugh heartily he or she should see "Zig Zig." The New York "Herald" said of "Zig Zag :" "So continous is the fun, it's a wonder they came out alive "so that we may anticipate something of quite extraordinary merit. The Mythological Minuet and the Turkish Ballet are performances and nothing could be more picturesque or artistic than the former There are unlimited number of songs and tios and quartettes to say nothing of choruses in "Z g Zag" and the grotesque and Negro dances are simply side-splitting. The original scenery and costumes as used in New York will be seen here so that "Zig Zag" shall be produced in a perfect manner.
