

Dr. MACLEAN DOWNED

CONFRONTED BY HIS OWN STATEMENTS ABOUT THE CLINIC.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

T. or M. Hospitals Furnish Better Clinical Facilities Than Any Charitable Hospitals.

Last week, Dr. W. J. Herdman, Dr. V. O. Vaughan, Dr. Henry F. Lyster, and Dr. Obelz, of the medical faculty, and Regent Charles R. Whitman, appeared before the University committees of the legislature in Lansing at their request.

WHIPPED BEFORE THE COMMITTEES.

Dr. Lyster addressed the committees, and while he favored the hospital for Ann Arbor, he indulged in a lot of vague and unsubstantial talk about the Detroit scheme, which, with the newspaper interview since credited to him, show the folly and danger of having any Detroit men in the faculty, boldly violating the rule of the board of regents which requires the professor to reside in Ann Arbor.

1. Whether it was possible to sustain an illustrative medical clinic at Ann Arbor.

2. If the University needed $50,000 for that purpose.

He showed that at Ann Arbor has been sustained a more efficient clinic than is furnished by almost any other medical college in the country, not excluding those located in the cities.

Dr. Herdman explained that since the purpose of the establishment of our hospitals at Ann Arbor is primarily to furnish clinical instruction to the students of the medical departments, no patient comes who does not expect to be used in this way.

The present daily average of patients in the hospitals at Ann Arbor is about 80. During the years 1882 and 1883 the average was much higher.

It will be seen from this statement that the daily average of patients for clinical instruction at Ann Arbor compares very favorably with many large city hospitals, and when we take into consideration that every one of the patients coming to Ann Arbor is used for clinical purposes, and that it can be safely stated that not more than 50 per cent, received into charitable hospitals, controlled by laymen, are ever used for clinical instruction, the utility to medical students of the hospitals at Ann Arbor in comparison is clearly superior.

But, continued Dr. Herdman, it is as said that the hospitals at Ann Arbor, located in a small place, must of necessity receive a class of chronic cases which do not sufficiently illustrate disease. Of the 1176 cases which were presented to the medical clinics of the department of Medicine and Surgery in 1883-84, 331 were surgical; 301 medical; 477 diseases of eye and ear; and 67 diseases of women.

LEGISLATORS IN ANN AKKOIR.

About 150 People in the Lansing Party Left Friday.—A Good Time Kept.

If the legislators who visited Ann Arbor, last Friday, don't vote for the University appropriations asked for, it will not be the fault of the students; for the boys behaved with the greatest propriety and the "co-eds" were more charming than ever.

About one half of the members of the legislature were of the party, and they were accompanied by nearly 35 ladies. The special train of five coaches from Lansing reached Ann Arbor at 10 o'clock.

Once sealed in the hall and with the college songs disposed of, President Angell welcomed the law makers. He said that the University of Michigan had reached its present eminent position among American colleges, one of the two largest, because of the broad foundations conceived and laid for it by its founders.

President Pro Tem. Ball, our own farmer William Ball of Hamburg, was introduced to speak for the senate. He wouldn't pledge what the senate would do with the appropriations, but he declared that the senators felt well towards the University.

Speaker G. J. Diekema, of Ottawa county, is a graduate of the law department, and it was only a few years ago that he was heard as a student; for he is a young man yet.

The afternoon was devoted to showing the visitors about the University. College work went on as usual, except during the hour of meeting in University hall.

At 5:30 p. m. the visitors were given supper and escorted to their coaches at the 11. C. depot.

Last Friday one of Ann Arbor's well-known citizens brought out his two-seated carriage and went to the train to meet the legislators.

INAUGURATION CENTENNIAL.

Washington's Anniversary Observed with Much Attention in Ann Arbor.

On April 30, 1789, George Washington formally became the first President of the United States. Last Tuesday was April 30, 1889. The approach of this great centennial day suggested themes for most of the pulpits on Sunday.

In most of the churches of Ann Arbor on Sunday the music was largely patriotic. At the union Centennial prayer meeting, Tuesday morning, held in the Presbyterian church, patriotic and religious songs were sung, prayers offered, and interesting and appropriate remarks were made by Rev's Bradshaw, Carmen, and Gelston.

The Episcopalians spread themselves the most, and their effort was a great success. The branch Sunday-school in Dexter, Delhi, and Fosters sent 150 children and adults by railroad, and Geddes sent 35 people in their own conveyances.

At the close of the service, a noble passage from Washington's Inaugural address was read, and Pro. Stanley rendered on the organ glorious "Hail Columbia," "Yankee Doodle," and other patriotic airs.

The Episcopalians visitors went to University hall, where the law students held forth in commemoration of Washington's inauguration. Failing to have their usual annual patriotic address on Washington's birthday, the "laws" felt themselves especially favored by having a foreign opportunity in one year of doing honor to that august character.

The visiting Episcopalians had a regular picnic at Hobart hall at noon on Tuesday, for they were fed by the Ann Arbor brethren in hospitable style.

Ex-Representative George W. Walthew, of Detroit, is doing some good work in canvassing for the Khines Vote Recorder and Counter, a machine that is now before the legislature for adoption.

On Saturday afternoon, at Firemen's hall, Mr. Walthew will exhibit this machine to all who may call. It will be on exhibition all the afternoon, and all are invited to examine it and listen to the explanations.

THINGS DOCTORS DO NOT KNOW.

Their Ignorance Illustrates in the Robinson Folsom Case.

There was a commotion among the doctors at a recent meeting of the Massachusetts Medico-Legal Society, when it was found that reporters for secular newspapers were taking notes.

Dr. Holt declared that there was general ignorance of the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, and claimed that because of this ignorance the Robinson poisoning cases had gone on without arousing suspicions on the part of medical men.

The cases were all treated by physicians of large practice, prominent in the profession, and yet no suspicion of arsenical poisoning was aroused until an organization in which the victims were insured tried to determine by investigation why so many persons died suddenly in this family.

In support of his statement as to the ignorance of medical men of the symptoms of arsenical poisoning, the doctor remarked that certificates of death were given in five of the Robinson cases, as follows: pneumonia, typhoid fever, meningitis, bowel disease and Bright's disease.

The startling disclosure of the stupid ignorance shown in the treatment of those cases is quite in keeping with the usual indiscretion manifested by the profession in the treatment of persons who are sufferers from the slow and subtle poison which is generated in the system from a diseased state of the kidneys.

The afflicted are treated for consumption, apoplexy, for brain and various nervous disorders, when in most instances, it is shown, when too late, that the patient was wrongfully and ignorantly treated for a supposed disease which was, in reality, but a symptom of kidney disease, and should have been timely treated as such by the use of Warner's Safe Cure, which is the only remedy known that can be successfully relied on in the treatment of such disease.

Such exhibitions of stupidity by those who profess great intelligence in such matters is calculated to destroy confidence, and it can be well said that a remedy like Warner's Safe Cure, which places the direct means of preserving health in the sufferer's hands, is far more meritorious than high-priced medical advice which is generally worthless and too often based upon an erroneous opinion as to the true cause of illness.

Human life is just a little too precious to the average individual to be sacrificed to the bigotry or ignorance of others.

ing almost every form of surgical practice. In a report made to the board of regents in June, 1882, by the professor of surgery (Dr. Maclean), of the work done in the surgical clinic in that year, after the enumeration of a long list of interesting surgical cases that had been presented to the class and operated on before them, the following statement is made:

"From this partial list it will appear that almost every department of surgery has been illustrated by characteristic cases."

And the report of the house surgeon for the same year contains the following statements as to the inadequacy of our facilities for caring for the number of patients that were constantly applying for treatment:

"The capacity of the hospital has been strained to the utmost. With the exception of a few days during the holidays, from the day of opening up to the time of closing, the wards have been overcrowded all the time. All available room has been occupied, and patients were often glad to sleep in cots on the operating tables, chairs, or on the floor, rather than be turned away. If a department of this great University is to be allowed to grow, as it must and will, more room will be required. The large number of outdoor patients, and the great increase in attendance upon the clinics over previous years, must suggest some of its possibilities. We feel thankful to you for the many improvements you have given us during the past year. Let our needs be still many, and in conclusion I beg to call your attention to a few most earnestly needed, asking them not for ourselves, but in the name of the afflicted who will ask admittance and proper accommodations in the University hospital next year."

In a similar report presented to the board of regents in 1880, by the professor of surgery, in which 240 individual cases of Surgery were reported, the following statements occur:

"Of that number a very large number has been pre-ented to the class on several different occasions, for the purpose of illustrating the various phases assumed by the disease, and the alterations in treatment thereby rendered necessary. An important public clinic has been held every Wednesday and Saturday, and since the completion of the new amphitheater, a daily clinic has been held, and there never has been any scarcity of practical work to do. From the accompanying records it will appear that a large number of important operations have been performed, and almost every form of surgical affection has been presented and its treatment practically illustrated. It is hoped that this brief and fragmentary synopsis unavoidably is, it nevertheless, may afford something like a satisfactory basis upon which to form a just opinion of the extent and nature of the clinical work performed in the department of surgery."

From the statements and detailed reports it will be seen that both in quantity and quality the clinic in the department of Medicine and Surgery during this period furnished excellent opportunities for clinical instruction.

Dr. Herdman then asked: Who are those that are benefited by this free dispensing of professional skill at the expense of the state? Of the 1176 patients in 1883-84, 999 were residents of Michigan; Ohio, 66; Indiana, 33; Ontario, 27; New York, 13; Illinois, 5; Dakota, 5; Pennsylvania, 5; Iowa, 4; Kansas, 3; Quebec, Michigan, Nebraska, and Minnesota, each two; Montana, Wisconsin, California, Tennessee, Maryland, Texas, each 1; from which it will be seen that although we draw from all parts of the United States and Canada, more than five-sixths of them are residents of Michigan, and as the treatment is designed for the poorer classes, for inmates of county houses and asylums, and such as are unable to pay for skilled medical and surgical attendance, the direct benefit to the state by the relief of so large a number of its citizens, enabling many to become self-supporting who have hitherto been an expense and a burden to the state, is not only a charity worthy of support, but is directly in the line of wise economy.

From the foregoing facts Dr. Herdman thinks it is apparent that we are able to sustain a clinic in Ann Arbor in all respects adequate to the needs of undergraduate medical students. The class of cases presented to the students in Ann Arbor will compare very favorably with other general hospitals in the range of diseases which it covers.

It will also be evident from the report of the house surgeon that the facilities for accommodating even the number of patients already received are wholly inadequate, and when we have taken into consideration that the present hospital buildings were put up for temporary purposes, not expected to last more than five years before they would be replaced by other and better ones, and that they have been used 13 years, and that they are in a frightfully unsanitary state, without proper heating or needed accommodations of any sort, the necessity of new buildings with modern improvements need no farther argument.

In spite of the unsanitary condition of our hospitals, our death-rate has been less than one-kali that of any other hospitals with which we have compared them, while the cost to the state of sustaining a patient at Ann Arbor is but little more than one-third of the amount necessary to keep a patient for the same length of time in the Harper hospital at Detroit.

Dr. Vaughan showed that sick people of Michigan can be brought to Ann Arbor and can be cared for as cheaply as in Detroit. The majority of the cases must at all times be chronic. They require close study. The urine and the blood must be examined by the chemist, and the tissues by the pathologist. Laboratories for these purposes are in Ann Arbor. If the hospitals were in Detroit, these facilities would have to be duplicated.

It had been said that obstetrical cases would have to be kept in the hospital here two or three months and that the cost would be great. The average in the Cincinnati general hospital is 40 days. The cost for each case here would not exceed $25.

Dr. Vaughan said that the people of Detroit and those who have been urging the removal had never presented any definite proposition to the board of regents. Dr. Maclean was constantly saying, come to Detroit and reap the great harvest of clinical facilities in Harper's hospital.

WHAT HARPER'S HOSPITAL AMOUNTS TO. From Jan. 1, 1866, to Dec. 31, 1887, a period of 22 years, Harper's hospital in Detroit had 8,003 cases. That includes 12 months in the year. As the college year is only nine months, only three-fourths of those cases would have been available for use in clinics, or about 6,000 cases in 22 years. From July 1, 1881, to July 1, 1887, there were 6,887 cases in the University hospital. In six years the University hospital had had more cases than Harper's hospital had in 22 years. Harper's hospital has only 29 free beds. In order to make any bed free, it must have an endowment of $5,000. There fore, for the state to furnish 100 free beds in Harper's hospital, it would have to appropriate $500,000. Besides Harper's hospital is held under a charter by a board of trustees who can never sell or give the property to the state or University.

WHAT REGENT WHITMAN SAID.

Mr. Whitman told the committee that all the doctors were agreed as to the necessity of a new hospital. But Dr. Maclean claimed that it should be in Detroit. This position seems to be taken by him alone of all the members of the medical faculty. While Dr. Frothingham is reported as having made an argument before the committees in opposition to the appropriation, he states that he has been incorrectly reported, and that his argument before the committees was really in favor of the appropriation to construct a hospital at Ann Arbor. There could be no doubt that this was the argument of Dr. Frothingham, because the board of regents fully understood that those were his views. At the meeting of the board, when the subject of the appropriations which should be sought from the legislature was under discussion, a communication from a committee of the medical faculty, which was signed by Dr. Frothingham, was presented to the board recommending this appropriation, and in addition Dr. Frothingham appeared before the board and made an oral argument in favor of constructing a new hospital in Ann Arbor.

In view of the statement by Dr. Maclean to the committee that the board had never shown a disposition or capacity to deal with this clinical question, Mr. Whitman stated a few facts to the committee. More than a year ago the board appointed a committee of three, of which the chairman of the medical committee was made chairman, to investigate the subject of establishing a clinic in Detroit. This committee made several trips to Detroit, met Drs. Maclean and Frothingham and the trustees of Harper hospital and others concerned in the proposed measure. They learned at the outset that Harper's hospital was for this purpose worse than private property; the title rested in a board of trustees who had neither the lentil power nor disposition to deed it to the board of regents. They learned that every dollar that would be expended by the state for this hospital would necessarily become the property of the trustees. They were met with visionary a temens which presented no definite or feasible plan for the establishment of a clinic in Detroit. The committee devoted in the neighborhood of six months to these investigations and finally reported unanimously to the board adverse to the proposition.

President Argell also made a thorough and careful study of the subject, and in his annual report to the board presents a comprehensive and able summing up of the situation with the inevitable conclusion that the establishment of a clinic in Detroit was impracticable; that it would involve great expense; a large increase in the teaching corps, and would be destructive of the unity of the University. Mr. Whitman placed copies of this report in the hands of the committee.

He said that the board of regents is a constitutional body to decide all questions touching the policy of the University. The board consists of men who are representatives of various parts of the state, and who as a body can have no interest other than the true welfare of the University. If, at any future time, it should appear to the board of regents, lawful and expedient to provide a clinic in Detroit, or elsewhere, then can be no doubt that the board would act intelligently in the matter.

The only object that can be served by this present agitation by the appearance of an employee to defeat the will of his superiors, is to injure the University, and to deprive its medical department of needed facilities, to imperil the very existence of this department.

THE WRECK.

We stood upon the wind-swept beach of old Lake Michigan one day; The surf ran high, the heavy waves tossed noisily at their mad play; Their whitening crests broke into foam that fiercely kissed the storm-beat shore, And loud above the whistling wind was heard the water's sullen roar.

The huge waves, so fiercely tossed, we saw a white-sailed vessel ride; Whose hull dipped low, then rose again, borne swiftly on the incoming tide; And as we watched, our faces blanched, could she survive that awful gale? And now there nodded, down on the beach, men, High o'er the light-house dashed the spray, Scattering itself in furious way.

The heaving, swelling flood surged madly round the struggling ship; On some high crest she poised awhile, then in the waters blue she seemed to dip; Yet near and nearer still she came,—on, on through all that sea of foam, The churning channel she must make,— that dangerous pathway leading home.

But will she make it,—can she—oh! What agony these faces show!

For fathers, husbands, lovers, sons, as precious freight that vessel bore; To what avail those lives on shore, if all unawakened are the prayers that pour? O surely Heaven hath not in store so passing bitter fate for them; That they must see, within this hour, the perishing of those brave men; And now the vessel is so near, She's but a hand-breadth from the pier.

la fear we hold our breath—O, must they meet that awful doom? When but a few feet from the shore,—and almost now in sight of home? That monster wave, (the ninth, they say) that's rolling fast behind them now, May sweep the brave ship past the pier, and down the channel turn her prow. It comes—the ship is rocked and tossed, She strikes the pier,—all's lost,—all's low!

So calm! So bright! The glorious sun sinks slowly in the waters blue, leaving home; The lake's fair, peaceful surface now reflects the tint of heaven's own hue; The straying zephyrs passing by, cause scarce a ripple to be seen; And out as far as eye can reach, is spread a wondrous golden sheen.

But down below those waters blue,— Far down—the wreck lies hid from view, For THE REGISTER, by Alice S. CaUxwell, Saline, Mich.

A TRAGIC SUICIDE.

Fearful Plunge of an Old Man from the Top of a Four-Story Building.

CHICAGO, April 25.—One of the most blood-curdling scenes ever witnessed on the North side was the deliberate suicide of James Hogan, a man about 65 years old, Tuesday night at about 11:30 o'clock. The old man was crazy and had been drinking hard all day. He was living at Spains' Hotel 7 and 9 North Clark street, between the river and the industrial. Shortly after 10 o'clock the old man climbed to the top of the four-story building through the skylight, with the avowed intention of committing suicide. His friends in the hotel used every means in their power to persuade him to come down, but without avail. Every time any one would start after him he would run to the edge of the building and swing himself over. There he would hang by his hands until his pursuer would retreat through the skylight. Then he would draw himself back and walk up and down the roof. Finally several police officers went to the roof to arrest him. As soon as Hogan saw them he ran to the edge of the building and, without saying a word, he swung himself over, holding to the edge of the building by his hands. The crowd stood below in breathless silence. In one brief moment the old man loosened his hold and dropped backward. His feet struck a sign over the third-story window and his body turned a complete somersault, his head striking the pavement with a sickening noise that could be heard a block away. The man's brains were scattered for ten feet in every direction.

WILL SHUT THEM OUT.

The Canadian House of Commons Passes the Weldon Anti-Immigration Bill, Minus the Retroactive Clause.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 35.—The Weldon anti-Boodler bill passed the House of Commons Wednesday evening and now goes to the Senate. The retroactive clause was killed, but an amendment was inserted that all warrants issued for extradition should stipulate that the person should be tried only for the offense mentioned in the warrant. Procuring abortion and breaches of trust were added to the crimes mentioned in the bill and black-mailing and perjury were stricken out. As passed the bill includes murder, counterfeiting, forgery, larceny, embezzlement, obtaining money on false pretenses, rape, abduction, burglary, arson, piracy, abortion, breach of trust and any offense committed as felony by Canadian law. The bill will doubtless pass the Senate in a few days. It will not affect persons now in Canada charged with these offenses in the United States.

CHASTISED-BY WHITE CAPS.

Frank Gehrlne, of a Cincinnati Suburb, Unmercifully Whipped by a Mob of Masked Men.

CINCINNATI, April 12.—White Caps chastised a man within a mile of Cincinnati Friday night in a thickly-settled suburb. Frank Gehrlne, aged 48, lives at Riverside, and has frequently quarreled with his wife, and recently hit her with a pall. She has been supporting him while he spent his time in saloons. He has had several White Cap warnings. About 8 o'clock, as Gehrlne was in a saloon drinking, a boy entered and told him some one wanted to speak to him outside. Gehrlne, suspecting nothing, went to the door. He had scarcely reached it, however, when he was seized by a mob of masked men. They tied him to a tree, took down his pants and belabored him most unmercifully for half an hour. His screams attracted a great crowd of men and women, who looked on without interference. When finished the White Caps disappeared toward the river.

ST. LOUIS' CHAMPION.

The Man Who Gave the City the Name of "The Future Great" Passes Away.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—Logan U. Eavis, who died Thursday night at the city hospital, was one of the queerest characters in the West. He was born in Mason County, Ill., fifty-eight years ago, and first came to St. Louis in 1846. He purchased the Beardstown (Ill.) Gazette in 1855 and changed its name to the Central Illinoisian. He returned to St. Louis in 1855 and published the Press, which proved a flat failure. He then went to Washington as an office-seeker, but was disappointed. This embittered him against Washington, and he began to agitate the question of moving the capital to St. Louis. He wrote a historical and biographical work called "St. Louis, the Future Great City of the World," and he was given the sobriquet of "Capital Mover," while St. Louis was derisively called the "Future Great." The book passed through three editions.

AN EASTERN TALE.

A king once summoned his three sons, And thus addressed the anxious ones: "I'll forth, my sons, through all the earth And search for articles of worth; Then he who brings the choicest thing, sliall in my stead be crowned as king."

"I'll ne year" time again they meet. DR. HACLEAN HOWHKB.

In his speech before the legislative committees last week, Dr. Maclean said: "If I object to this appropriation, it is because I fear it [the appropriation] may open a stumbling block to a far wider and greater object."

What this "far wider and greater object" is it is not hard to surmise. Nothing Bhortof the dismemberment of the University and the building up of a medical college in Detroit, we suspect, will satisfy Dr. Maclean.

That Dr. Maclean has been thoroughly beaten at every point in argument is Yerjr clear. TUB KEGISTEB this week prints a synopsis of speeches before the legislative committees, in which it is shown by figures drawn from official reports that the University hospitals furnish plenty of good material for illustrating lectures in medicine and surgery; and that, instead of being inferior to Harper's hospital in Detroit, one of the hospitals in Ann Arbor has had more case* in six years than Harper's had in 22 years.

Dr. Mat-lean's own statement in regard to clinical facilities in Ann Arbor were read to him before the committees and were not denied. THE REGISTER print^d them in another column.

WKMUHI'I. IOWA COWS.

Mr. Coieinan, the ex-commissioner of agriculture who aspired to be Secretary of Agriculture when his bureau was made a department, has an article in the April North American Review in which the tries to prove that American farming pays, and that everything is all right, even to the mortgages. At the head of "scientific" agriculture in the United States, Mr. Coieinan ought to have known the condition of agriculture. He may be right in his main proposition that American farming pays, but he evidently knows very little about statistics. If he had done some figuring with his great totals, he might have detected their absurdity. The reason he didn't is probably his slavish reliance upon the census reports, when it is well known that they are unreliable. Why, look at Iowa cows, says Mr. Loring, WLen Iowa's wheat crop failed, Iowa farmers turned to cows, and the average Iowa bovine is a most marvelous creature,—according to the figures. On Jan. 1, 1887, Iowa farmers had 1,213,100 of the horned creatures, and they were valued at $32,541,792. These cows annually produce of butter and cheese, $277,477,429; of milk, $200,000,000; and of skimmed milk, $504,170,34. Just think of it! The average Iowa cow, worth about $27, produces annually over 40 of skimmed milk alone, and altogether it produces $424 annually. Thus a herd of 20 Iowa cows, worth about $350, would produce annually over $8,000. Lucky Iowa farmers! The famous New York dairy cow, a pretty slick creature, worth about $30, produces only $25 annually; but this Iowa cow, more hardy than the poor cow of the effete East, produces nearly 20 times as much, while she can be bought for less money. Verily, this performance of Ex-Commissioner Loring can only serve to bring discredit upon the agricultural department, of which he was so long the head.

WB ABB as thoroughly convinced as one can be who has not been and tested it, that the Rhines ballot machine, or something similar to it, is the coming method of voting. Absolute secrecy, complete check on fraud, and quick knowledge of results, are the great things to be gained by substituting this machine for our present clumsy and dangerous voting system. In the age of machinery and accuracy, to cling to the old printed ballots and slips, with ward workers, bribery, and corruption, and with the slow and tedious counts, is foolish. There is nothing inherently improbable in the system of recording ballots and in having them counted by a machine. The only politicians who are opposing ballot reform are the "bosses" who know how to use the paper ballot and slip in a corrupt manner. Some of the newspapers that opposed it, like the Lansing Republican and Detroit Free Press, have experienced a change of heart. There is every prospect for a great revolution in our electoral methods. The Rhines machine is now before the legislature.

It should be reinembe>>ed that the famous Zera Semon Novelty company begins a week's engagement at the opera house next Monday. Every person will be given a chance in the free distribution of prizes, and the articles given away will be useful. This company should have a big house each evening. The Lansing Republican says, "Zera Semon and his novelty company close their engagement this evening. It has been a most successful one, and the large audiences nightly have not only been well entertained but the gift feature has been carried out to the letter by Mr. Semon. He will wind up with an extra lot of presents this evening, including a gold watch, tea set chamber set, barrel of flour, and 100 other gifts."

William Roberts, M. D., F. R. C. P., of the University of London, Eng. says: "Passive congestion of the kidneys may be present, in which the urine contains not a trace of albumen, while the symptoms of intense venous congestion, dropsy, orthopnoea and pulsating jugular) are present. The urine becomes scanty, high-colored and dense." Warner's Safe Cure has cured thousand* if these symptoms, often called diseases, by putting the kidneys in a healthy condition.

SCROFULA

Is that Impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck, which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors," which, taunting upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy." W. B. PROF. T. CARTY Phrenologist and Lecturer, has visited Ann Arbor, and expects to remain for a few weeks, and labor in the interest of Phrenology.

The Professor respectfully invites the attention of the citizens of Ann Arbor to the science of Phrenology, which in his judgment is the most important subject relative to human life; and wishes to try that he feels competent to demonstrate to the public the truth of the theory of the most sceptical, that Phrenology embodies the whole of human life which a correct delineation and application of all our every day affairs and feelings, and a science furnishes the best means to effect personal and juvenile improvement possible.

As a Men of mental philosophy it aims to explain the faculties of the brain and feeling by studying the organization of the brain during life. If this be the most important fact, if it be false the quicker the public find it out the better. If true, teachers, preachers, legislators and administrators of justice, and particularly parents, should unhesitatingly and by applying its principles, derive the benefit which they must all receive; and if it be false, that part of the world which represents Intelligence, morality, civil government and the domestic training of children, cannot be too soon ascertaining it. The time has come when a slime of the shoulders, a shake of the head, a repulsive wave of the hand, or the bigot's avowal, can set aside a subject that calls for the most important fact that can attract the world's thought. The science of phrenology teaches that the character of each mental faculty points out our own and children's constitutional excesses, errors and defects, etc., and shows how to obviate them; it tests the natural talents, and thereby in what business, sphere or pursuits we, and they, can (and cannot) succeed, thus preventing failure and unflattering success and happiness; directs specifically just what physical functions and mental faculties either may require to cultivate or restrain. It shows how to make the most of whatever inborn capacities or virtues either may possess, as well as the best way to influence and govern each; and it is a teaching, are followed out in their bearings, a relation upon the life and brain, it will effect a complete physical and mental regeneration in the exigencies of the individual. The Professor is prepared to furnish reliable charts to parties desiring them at the very low figure of $1.00; verbal readings, 50c. Persons desiring these charts will not be obliged to pay for them unless they give entire satisfaction. The Professor gives free parlor entertainments where appropriate phrenologic addresses will be made; after which parties present can procure a card or verbal readings at the above prices. If those wishing to consult the Professor can do so by calling on him at his room, No. 4 Bowery, or by inviting him to their homes, which invitation can be extended by mail or by leaving a note at the above address.

Foreigners who visit us always expatiate on the beauty of Washington. It will be in time the most beautiful city in the world. It has all our doors to grow in. It attracts wealthy retired citizens from all parts of the Union, who go there because it is delightful as a place of residence. Congress and private citizens vie with each other in embellishing this city. Its museums are growing constantly in size and value.

The Boulangist party in France is called the National Revisionist party. Its programme is dissolution of the lower house of the French assembly and revision of the constitution. This revision signifies the abolishment of the French senate and a president elected for life, with the powers of a dictator, the president to be the picturesque Boulanger. Royalists, Bonapartists and Communists have rallied to his standard because they hate the republic. Boulangism makes strange bed fellows.

Gen. Washington attended divine service at St. Paul's church, on Broadway, New York, the day of his inauguration, April 30, 1789. President Harrison is to do the same when he repeats the inauguration ceremony. One hundred tickets were issued to ladies to attend this service. But the redoubtable centennial committee, who themselves have been quarreling like the monkey and parrot ever since they began their inauguration preparations, found that the hundred tickets "stirred up bad blood" among the women. They therefore withdrew the tickets. Consequently there will not be a woman present in the congregation that worships with President Harrison in St. Paul's April 30. It will be exclusively a stag party.

Burt Schumacher, who returned last week from Seattle, Washington territory, is not at all yearning for the West. Land values and rents are very high there. Those who invested in the land at the right time are now prospectively very rich; but the land boom is on the decline. Laborers are standing around, unable to get employment. One young man answered a newspaper advertisement for a book keeper, and found that 25 had the start of him. Skilled workmen even do not get work readily. There are chances yet for speculation, but Eastern capitalists have their agents on the spot to gobble them up. Like all the western towns, Seattle is a speculator-cursed place.

All the German societies in the city were represented, while some sent delegations. Louis J. Liesemer, of the Post, delivered an address of welcome and read a poem written for the occasion. The instrumental music given by Wm. Kuehn and children and Henry Otto and children was pronounced beautiful. The comical farce, "A Sohwabian Marriage," in which Wm. Schiller, John Berger and Gottlob Wenger, took part, and the recitations and declamations by William. Schiller, and others in the Schwabian tongue, occasioned considerable laughter. The entertainment throughout was a good one and a general good time was had. The Schwabian society is now but one year old, and as about two-thirds of the German-Americans in the city are Schwabians or of Schwabian descent, it will, no doubt, soon become a strong organization.

O, MOST WISE JUDGES! The Fall Opinion Rendered by the Cominik on-iv in the Luther James Tax Case.

Last Thursday, the three commissioners in the claim of the city of Ann Arbor against the estate of Luther James for taxes, met in Ypsilanti, Mr. Goldsmith being unable from sickness to come to Ann Arbor. Messrs. Bogardus and Brown had met on the Monday previous and had gone over the whole question together. The three commissioners were of one mind in the question, and decided in favor of Ann Arbor in the following wrds:

"The Q'ustion is, Was Luther James a resident or inhabitant of the city of Ann Arbor, under the law of April, 1883, and for the purpose of taxation?"

"To establish or decide this it is necessary, as has often been repeated, that the arguments for us to go back to 1870, it being needed that for years prior to that date, he was an inhabitant of the city of Ann Arbor."

"It is a question of fact that during the year 1870, and in 1871, he resided at a residence or inhabitancy in the town-ship of Lima."

"Did the fact of Mich change by acts and conduct of said James from 1870 until the time of his death, concur with Mich intent upon his part, and should the same be considered real or pretended?"

"A large amount of evidence is offered, pro and con a Kent deal of which is mere opinion of witnesses, and also declarati ns of himself to others and recitals in deeds, mortgage, wills, etc., as well as the fact of his voting for many years, with a change in the township of residence."

"Also of his own free will paying taxes in said township of Lima, and for some of these years paying taxes in the city of Ann Arbor, under protest, but during his life taking no steps to recover the name."

"The preponderance of evidence shows that there was no perceptible change in his habitancy in 1870 or hereafter, and that his acts and conduct from that time forward do not concur with such intent."

"The law, as well as voluminous decisions, as applied to inhabitant, resident, home, or domicile (all being considered as synonymous terms) for the purpose of taxation, and as cited by plaintiff and defendants, has been by us carefully peuse", as well as intently listened to when read and explained by the learned counsel on both sides, and we fail to find actual abandonment of residence prior to 1870, or that new residence was thereafter acquired, coupled with intention to do so."

"Our judgment is, from the law, facts, and evidence, that the claim should be by us allowed."

These ladies of the Baptist church, instead of arranging for a series of fairs, social and entertainments, for the present year, will endeavor to raise the sum usually thus obtained, by direct contributions. The ladies will themselves give what they would expect to give in time, money, and work in preparing for and patronizing these entertainments and fairs. They ask also that the members of the church and their friends in the community will give directly what they have been accustomed to give indirectly. They have planned for a gathering at the church parlors, Monday evening, May 9, which is about the time of the Floral festival, given by the ladies in years past. The ladies will provide tea from 6 to 8, and it is expected that the members and friends of the church will come that evening, each bringing an envelope bearing the name of the giver and a verse of scripture or other appropriate words, and containing either the amount or a pledge of the amount which will be given during the coming year instead of the amounts usually asked from the friends in the way of patronage.

It is perfectly wonderful how Burchfield holds on to his $4.00 pants sale. He has at least 500 different styles of terribly nice goods that he is selling for the small sum of 4.00, and all his goods are as low in proportion. He goes on the principle that Cash is King, and he is about right. A man that pays cash, only has to pay for his own goods. That's right, Burchfield, show them what can be done for cash. You will always find him at No. 6 East Huron-st, as j'llly as ever.

Owing to the increase of business, the directors of the Detroit Cyclorama company have decided to exhibit the great war scene, Battle of Atlanta, through the summer months. The reduction in the price of admission to 25 cents will insure the management a large patronage from excursionists and others.
