VOL. XV. NO. 25.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1889.-10 PAGES.

WHOLE NO. 756.

ONLY TEN VOTE NO!

New Hospital to be Built.—The Jainea Suit Compromised.—High School Commencement.—Exhibition or Drawings.—Common Council.—University.—High School Class Day.

On Monday the special election was held to vote upon the question of raising $25,000 in the city to assist in building a new University hospital. The project appeared to meet with universal favor and the lack of opposition to it was wonderful. The polls were opened at 9 o'clock and closed at 4 o'clock, 941 votes having been cast during that time, the largest number ever cast at a special election in the city. Of this number 931 were in favor of the tax and loan, and only 10 against it. The regents will get to work next week and a site be procured for the new building.

THE CITY WINS.

The Executors of the James Estate Pay It and the Appeal Settled.

This morning the executors of the estate of Luther James filed a notice of appeal in the circuit court from the decision of the commissioners, in the claim of the city of Ann Arbor against the estate for taxes. The amount allowed by the commissioners was $2,138.65.

Immediately after filing the appeal, the attorneys for the estate and the city met and settled the case, the estate paying the sum of $1,888.00, and each side paying their own costs in the suit thus far. This will end all contest on the taxes of the James estate until it is settled. The estate will be taxed in this city for $112,500 on personal property, the executors consenting to this amount. This ends one of the most important suits for taxes in this state and is a signal victory for the city.

The stipulation under which the appeal was settled is as follows:

State of Michigan, The Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw.

In this matter of the appeal of the executors of the estate of Luther James, deceased, from the allowance of eight-eight dollars in full of said tax claim for personal taxes of Luther James' estate; such payment to have the effect as if the same had been paid to the proper officer under protest, the said executors hereby waiving all rights of action to recover back said sum of money. No costs in this appeal to be paid by one party to the other.

Dated, Ann Arbor, June 20, 1889.

G. W. TUBNELL, Attorney for Executors.
T. D. KEARNEY, City Attorney.
E. B. NOREIS and J. E. KNOWLTON, Attorneys for the City of Ann Arbor.

Common Council Meeting.

A regular meeting of the common council was held Monday evening, President Belsler being absent and Alderman Miller presided.

The Mayor sent in a communication appointing James Murray patrolman, and advising that Fred Siple and Nelson Sutherland be made special patrolmen without extra pay. The appointment of Murray was confirmed, the matter of the special patrolmen being referred to the police committee.

The report of the special election on the hospital tax and loan was received and ordered spread on the minutes.

The committee appointed in regard to the new franchise for the gas company was given further time.

Alderman Allmendinger offered a resolution which was adopted, ordering bids to be received for lighting the city with electric lights in conformity with the four methods embraced in the report of the committee on lighting. The time for receiving bids was extended to Aug. 1.

Alderman Allmendinger introduced a resolution in opposition to the message received from the mayor in regard to the city teams being used for street work. The resolution set forth that the council deemed it inexpedient for the following reasons: 1st. The experiment had not proved successful in other cities. 2nd. Teamsters who now do the street work will do it cheaper than the city can do the same. 3rd. The city should engage in no branches of business not absolutely necessary. The resolution was carried.

The sum of $100 was appropriated for improving the city cemetery.

A motion was made that the width of the sidewalks on State-st. in front of the stores be made ten feet.

Aids, Miller, Ware and Dieterle were appointed a committee to investigate the city cemetery in regard to appointing commissioners. The clerk was ordered to notify the Electric Light Co. that the present contract for lighting the city shall terminate with the end of the year.

Frederic Alva Dean, lit. '86, a reporter on the New York Star, has written a novel, which is now in press and will be issued July 1. The title is, "The Heroic-episode of Petosiga."

UNIVERSITY HAPPENINGS.

The board of regents meets on Tuesday. The Glee Club was out serenading, Friday evening.

The circus and examinations were badly mixed Tuesday.

The alumni are beginning to arrive for commencement week.

Charles W. Woodrige, 76, of Norwalk, O., writes THE REGISTER that among those lost at the Johnstown flood was Charles A. Marshall, lit. 76, who was in the employ of the Cambria Iron Works.

Dr. Potter, who opened a dental office here some time ago, and who will graduate from Ann Arbor this month, has secured a very lucrative position in London, Eng., and has sold his business here to Mr. C. H. Edwards, a fellow student at Ann Arbor. Mr. Edwards is now ready for business.—South Lyon Picket.

The closing recitals of the School of Music occur as follows: Vocal recital by Miss Kate E. Jacobs, assisted by Miss Minnie L. Davis, pianist, Thursday evening, June 20, at 8 p. m. Saturday 4 p. m., general recital: Monday, 9:30 a. m. piano recital by Miss F. S. Buckley, assisted by Miss Carrie Ball, soprano. These recitals will be given in room 24 and the attendance of all music lovers is requested.

The U. of M. boys managed to capture some of the prize3 at the western championship meeting of the American Athletic Union, at Detroit, Saturday. Ducharme won the first prizes in the 120 yards hurdle race, 220 yards hurdle race and standing broad jump. Duffy won a trial heat in the 100 yards dash and took the third prize in the final heat. J. U. Haley took the second prize in the 880 yards run. W. C. Malley took the second prize in putting the 16 pound shot. J. Van Inwagen took third prize in the running high jump.

DELTA U PARTY.
One of the pleasantest parties of the season and one long to be remembered by those who attended, was given by the Delta D boys at their fraternity house, No. 6 Monroe street, last Friday evening. The roll of hacks, the spirited tuning of the violin, the riddle and flutter of delicately attired maidens and smiling youths betokened the joys which were to follow. Without—the broad, handsome porch decorated with blue and gold bunting, hung at artistic intervals with brilliantly lighted lanterns of the latest patterns, easy chairs, hammocks swung between bunting bound posts, soft mats and fancy rugs allured the merry dancers between whiles. Within—the canvas-covered carpet spread throughout the large and roomy parlors, the banks of foliage plants and flowers tastily arranged, hangings and draperies in old gold and peacock blue (the fraternity colors) and the hand-painted programs, all added to the luxury of the occasion and bespoke the tireless efforts of the boys to make everything as pleasant as possible. At 10 o'clock the music struck up a dreamy waltz and fifteen couples whirled away into enchantment Terpsichorean.

A sumptuous repast was served during the intermission, after which the dance was renewed with redoubled gayety until the wee sma' hours came crowding in inviting the dancers to their various abodes to dream of bygone joys. The patronesses of the evening were the Mrs. Profs. Perry, Greene and Cooley, assisted by Mrs. Jerome, of Saginaw, and Mrs. Ex-Gov. Crosswell, of Adrian. Visiting ladies—Miss Jerome, of Saginaw, Miss Lee, of Adrian, and the Misses Durfee and Hatfield, of Detroit.

High School Class Day.

The class of '89 of the Ann Arbor High School held their class-day exercises at Whitmore Lake yesterday afternoon and evening. The morning was rainy and threatening, but by noon the sky cleared up and a large number of the members went to the Lake.

The literary exercises were held at 3:30 in the afternoon, music being furnished by the Chequamegon. The oration was delivered by L. G. Whitehead; poem by Nellie K. Allen; class history by H. B. Walker; class prophecy by Genevieve C. Dygert. The literary exercises concluded with the class song, written by Mary E. Duffy.

The banquet was held at 9:30 p. m., after which dancing began. It was nearly daylight when the last number was finished and the participants returned to the city, several couples not arriving until breakfast time.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

Big egg stories are now in order. The mail boxes are being put up at Ypsilanti. F. A. Dean has been appointed postmaster at Belleville. The recent rains ruined 20,000 bricks for a South Lyon man. Ypsilanti is being renumbered preparatory to free delivery. The South Lyon band realized $26 from their social last week. A South Lyon's school picnic was held at Island Lake, Monday. The K. O. T. M.'s, of South Lyon, gave an excursion to Detroit Monday. Fourteen new members joined the Methodist church at South Lyon, last week. The commencement exercises of the Milan high school were held last Friday evening. The Methodist parsonage at South Lyon was offered for sale to the highest bidder last Saturday. A little daughter of Mr. Beadle living south of Ypsilanti, fell from a wagon and was run over last Thursday. A collection taken up at the Union services of the South Lyon churches netted $24.26 for the Johnstown sufferers. The German Workingmen's Society of Saline has purchased a fine grove for a park and expects to dedicate it on the Fourth. The citizens of Milan will have lots of fun this summer. A large drove of mustangs has been disposed of in that vicinity. Charles Smith, of Whittaker, has been bound over for trial in the circuit court for selling liquor before his bonds were accepted. Exercises were held at the Normal School, last Wednesday, commemorative of the Michigan monuments at Gettysburg. Thirteen county supervisors have elected a democrat for chairman although the republicans have a majority on the board. J. E. Smith, of Ypsilanti, receives $387.95 for loss of cord wood burned up on his place a mile north of Whittaker a short time ago. Clinton is trying hard to enforce the Sunday closing law and the proprietors of all kinds of business have been warned not to open on Sundays. Charles Durham, of Denton, has become violently insane and has been taken to the Pontiac asylum where his brother is already confined. E. T. Walker, of Salem, has a pair of yearling Percheron colts that weigh respectively 950 and 810 pounds, the get of Grand Duke.—Excelsior. An exciting boat-race is to take place on Base Lake, June 25, for $50 stakes. The race is to decide the superiority of boats built by two Dexter parties. An Ypsilantiian has been fined $50 for spearing fish in the Huron river. He only speared ten, and fish at $5 each are pretty dear even for the wealthy. Prof. Wm. A. Hearn, who has been principal of the schools at Milan for the past two years, has accepted a similar position in the schools at Manton, Wexford county. Some solid truths were expressed in Rev. W. T. Beale's sermon, "Generosity vs. Benevolence, or Impulse and Principle," at the Ypsilanti Congregational church last Sunday. Elmer E. Mugg's flock of 107 merino sheep and lambs have been sheared and he obtained an average from the whole of 13 lbs. 2 oz. each of unwashed wool.—Dundee Reporter. Two old pioneers of Dundee died on the 10th, Andrew Palmes, aged 79 years, and Samuel Warner, aged 75 years. Both of these men had lived in Dundee or vicinity for over 50 years. The store of Henry Gorton at Waterloo, was entered by burglars one night last week. They took $31.00 worth of stamps, several bottles of patent medicine and a piece of dress goods. Hattie Rose found a railroad torpedo at Manchester last week and thought she would like to explode it. She succeeded to her sorrow. The commencement exercises of the South Lyon schools were held last Friday evening, the graduates being John McKee and Misses Lena Dunlap, Alida Letts, Lotta Adams and Elma Wilson. Conrad Naumann, the Manchester saloon-keeper, who recently stabbed Fred Yermid in that village, cannot be found. It is said that his friends at Manchester are trying to settle the matter. Martin Merkel recently sheared a fleece of wool weighing seven and three-fourths pounds in twelve and one-half minutes, on the farm of Thos. Heim. Who can beat this record.—Chelsea Standard. The editors of the Herald and Standard of Chelsea are in the midst of a newspaper war, each claiming that the other is liable to fail. Take it cool, brothers: The proprietor of THE REGISTER "begs leave to differ." There were 679 births and 337 deaths in Monroe county last year, a decrease of 78 births and 15 deaths over the preceding year. Judging from the returns there will be no falling off in either in Washtenaw county this year. Another swindle, "the apple-tree swindle," is being worked upon the farmer. Watch out for the agent and kick him off your farm. If differs but slightly from other swindles and apparently shows big profits for the farmer. Dr. DnBois, of Unadilla, was arrested and fined $10 and costs for carrying a revolver. It will probably teach him a lesson and save him a term in prison, as a man that carries a revolver with him usually makes a mistake and shoots somebody. The Ypsilanti city council has decided to buy the Cornwell company's lower paper mill and will convert it into a water works plant. The electric light works will be located in the same building. The Cornwells will get $26,000 for the property. Hard luck is striking the editors of this vicinity. The editor of the Belleville Enterprise no sooner announces that his safe had been burglarized of $5, than our brother of the Pinckney Dispatch devotes a large space to mourning the loss of a young pig. Fred Wing, a boy 15 years old, wandered away from his home in White Cloud, Mason county, recently and became lost in the woods. He turned up at Saline last week, having suffered considerably by his exposure. His relatives took him home last Thursday. The State Grange of Illinois offers a reward of $10,000 to anyone who will invent a machine or device to attach to reapers that will bind wheat and oats with straw. This is something practical. The grange has already deserved the gratitude of many thousands of twice-monopoly oppressed farmers, whether the prize be won or not. It will receive their warm thanks if the offer results in their emancipation.—Chicago Tribune. The township of Salem, as an agricultural district, compares favorably with any in this county, the statistics of supervisor Wheeler showing that in 1888 the following crops: 51,862 bushels of wheat from 3,211 acres, there being this year 221 acres less planted; 144,269 bushels of corn from 1,803 acres; 68,538 bushels of oats from 1,677 acres. 15,731 bushels of potatoes from 168 acres, and that 2,876 tons of hay were cut from 2,903 acres. There are owned in the township, 799 horses, 725 cows, 533 cattle, 520 hogs, 6,349 sheep and 68 dogs (that are assessed.) Saline. Mrs. Luckhart, of Jackson, is visiting friends in town. The rain Sunday filled several cellars as well as cisterns. Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Schaffer the 10th inst., a girl baby. J. Everett Smith, of Ypsilanti, was seen on our streets the 15th. John Ottman, of Ann Arbor Sunday ed with his father, the 16th inst. Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Marsh and son Roy visited Ypsilanti the 15th inst. Prof. Townsend, of Annapolis, Md., has returned home to enjoy his vacation. N. A. Nichols, M. D., has returned from his trip to the northern part of the state. Mrs. McCoy, of Elyria, Ohio, with her two SOBS is visiting at Mrs. W. H. Berdan's. Miss Fannie Caldwell closed her school on Lodi plains the 14th inst. with a picnic. Geo. Jewett, of Ypsilanti, has been shaking hands with old friends for the past few days. F. C. Wood shipped for members of the farmers' club the past week 10,000 pounds of wool. Mrs. Richard Gauntlett and daughter Nellie, of Detroit, are visiting her son Fred, on Russell street. Many of our citizens are removing the fences in front of their residences, which improves the look very much. At the races at Tecumseh the 15th, Harmon's mustang took 1st money; Westfall 2nd; Stimpson 3rd. The school board have extended an invitation to all the teachers to remain another year, except the principal. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gauntlett were called to Morrowville to attend the funeral of Mr. G's grandfather, the 13th inst. Mrs. Pay, who has been visiting at Dr. Holmés', has returned to her home in Canada, Mrs. Holmes accompanying her as far as Detroit. A. B. Van Duzer, the tonsorial artist, has placed in connection with his shop, a very nice bath room, and now invites the public to keep clean. The ice cream social at the Baptist church the 14th was largely attended and all enjoyed themselves. The receipts for the evening were $16.00. E. W. Wallace, receiver for the Saline Manufg. Co., has had the old foundry painted. Ed. is determined to have things look well if it does not pay very well. O. A. Ainsworth, of Ypsilanti, was overcome by the heat the 13th inst., while in this section buying wool. Mr. Ainsworth was obliged to leave his rig and return home by the railroad. The German society have bought of H. W. Bassett 5 acres of ground situated in Lodi, for the purpose of using it for a garden for pleasure. They have decided to hold a grand picnic on the 4th of July. Some of our very naughty country and village boys took the back steps of the Baptist parsonage the 14th a can of ice cream. We understand they can settle the matter with J. E. Jones, or be obliged to settle with the court. Thilanti. Miss Fannie Boyce has returned from the Battle Creek sanitarium, improved in health. The Y. W. C. A. has changed its bible training class hour on Tuesday evening to Sunday afternoon. Mrs. M. S. Hall and daughter Grace, expect to start for the east next week, to spend most of the summer. Rev. Mr. Pratt, of Monroe, supplied the Presbyterian pulpit last Sunday and it is expected that Rev. Dr. Eddy of Detroit will perform the same duty next Sunday. Prof. Durand Springer, principal of the commercial department in Albion college, has accepted a position in geary's business college, which he will fill after July 1st. The opera house entertainment for the benefit of the flood sufferers netted about $175. This sum was added to the Richards Relief Fund, making in all over $800 sent from this city. Messrs. Campbell and Lavin, the rising young vocalists of Detroit, gave a fine recital at Conservatory Hall, Monday evening, assisted by F. A. Dunster, organist of Christ church. Mrs. Doctor Fairbanks, nee Rice, spent a pleasant week with her numerous friends in the city last week. The well known Riceomson society of the Normal, was formed while she was connected with that institution. The high school graduating class have decided to play the role of martyrs and not receive flowers or other gifts on commencement evening. The class colors of this self-sacrificing body of graduates are black and white. Ira Laflin, who has been living a few miles out of the city, came in Monday to attend to business matters and while resting at his sister's, Mrs. Ayers, was suddenly seized with a hemorrhage of the lungs, expiring in a very short time. Mr. Laflin had been successful as a teacher until lung trouble compelled him to give up the work. He leaves a young wife. Webster. Mr. Geo. Merrill had a barn dance last Friday eve. Mrs. Richard Helson, of Detroit, is visiting relatives here. Miss Georgia Lomas is rusticating with friends in Howell. Independence Lake now affords much pleasure to fishing parties, who find much success in the line. Strawberries in this vicinity are maturing quite rapidly since June has developed a few summer days. W. E. Boyden attended the short-horn cattle sale of J. C. Moore at St. Clair, June 12, but purchased nothing. Some farmers are planting beans in view of realizing a good crop of something. Corn is proving a failure in some places. This week will complete sheep shearing in this vicinity. The wool does not seem to be so rank a growth as formerly, but is selling higher, one clip being sold at 28c. per lb. John Cushing, who has been attending the reunion of the G. A. R. at Gettysburg, Penn., returned Saturday. He brought back a relic gathered from the battlefield, consisting of a piece of bomb shell and two slugs mounted on wood. The observance of children's day last Sunday was in every way considered a success. The marching of those who participated in the recitations both to and from the stage, certainly added much to the scene. The address of Mr. Lincoln was full of life and very appropriate and everyone carried home some useful thought. The offering at the close signified that the exercises were appreciative. HIM. The Saline river was higher on Tuesday than it had been in some years. Walter Bateman, a former typo upon Milan papers, was in town Monday last. What is the trouble with the Saline Observer man. Fifty plums upon a six inch bush? Were they small plums or big inches? Our school closed last week with but one graduate, Charles Robison. His oration exhibited much thought and was well delivered. What is our offense? For three times during the period consumed in building the piers for the new bridge, the water has risen above the temporary means of communication. Monday morning found everything afloat and out of position and traffic cut off. Everything is now ready for the improved way. Hence we hope that this is our last week of lingering trouble which has had such a depressing effect upon our business. Dexter. It begins to look as though every store in town will soon be occupied. Business is certainly picking up. Our old and respected miller, James Lucas, is on the sick list with little hopes of a speedy recovery. Luther Palmer is giving employment to quite a large number in his basket and fruit package manufactory. The lawn about our newly built school house begins to put on a coat of green. The drought of last summer nearly discouraged it. The Baptist house of worship is getting an outward coat of paint, to be followed with new stained glass windows and a furnace. Another big crowd at the opera house next Friday night, the occasion being the commencement exercises of the Dexter high school. Stony Creek. Thomas Talladys entertained a friend, A. Gilmore, from Ypsilanti last week. A severe rain storm occurred on Sunday, lodging the wheat and doing other damage. Wm. W. Calhoun, our popular young dentist, is soon to locate in Milan where he will open an office. There is to be an ice cream social at Peter Rodger's on the evening of the 20th inst. For the benefit of the Y. P. S. of the Presbyterian church. It will undoubtedly be interesting to those concerned to hear that in the case of trespass of F. Buck against L. Carme it resulted in no cause for action. Emery. Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Scholard spent Sunday at Hamburg. Geo. Frey, of Ypsilanti, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. M. Geiger. The Ladies Aid will give a strawberry festival at the residence of E. E. Leland next Saturday. Tea served between 6 and 8 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Burd were at Toledo last week to attend the wedding of Mr. Burd's niece. Fred Kapp met with quite an accident last week which may result in his losing one of his fingers. He caught his hand in a buzz saw while sawing wood. LITERARY NOTES. Prof. W. G. Sumner is to contribute to "The Popular Science Monthly," as the opening article of the July number, a discussion of the question, "What is Civil Liberty?" in which he reviews the ideas of liberty that have prevailed, and the relations that rights and duties have borne to each other, in the past, and points out the tendencies that threaten civil liberty in the present. William Blaikie, author of "How to Get Strong, and How to Stay So," and "Sound Bodies for our Boys and Girls," will write, in Harper's Magazine for July, upon the question "Is American Stamina Declining?" and will make a number of practical suggestions for reforming our system of education in the direction of physical training. Rev. Atticus G. Haygood, D. D., LL. D., author of "Our Brother in Black," and other works, and general agent of the John F. Slater Fund for the education of the negro, will contribute to Harper's Magazine for July a paper on "The South and the School Problem," in which he outlines the present situation. The Lincoln History in the July Century will contain chapters on "Lincoln Renominated," "The Wade-Davis Manifesto," and "Horace Greeley's Peace Mission." Major John Hay, one of the authors of this history, was the medium of communication between Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Greeley at the time of the remarkable conference of Mr. Greeley with the pretended Confederate peace-commissioners at Niagara. Much of the correspondence relative to the matter now first sees the light in the pages of the July Century. A BRIEF HISTORY OF GREEK PHILOSOPHY. By B. C. Burt, M. A., formerly Fellow and Fellow by Courtesy in the Johns Hopkins University. This work gives a concise but comprehensive account of Greek philosophy on its native soil and in Rome. It is critical and interpretative, as well as purely historical, its paragraphs of criticism and interpretative, however, being, as a rule, distinct from those devoted to biography and exposition. The wants of the reader or student who desires to comprehend, rather than merely to inform himself, have particularly been in the mind of the author, whose aim has been to let the subject unfold itself, as far as possible. The subject-matter is distinctly outlined throughout the volume by paragraph headings. The volume contains a full topical table of contents, a brief bibliography of the subjects it treats, and numerous foot-notes embracing references to original authorities and assisting the student towards a real contact with the Greek thinkers themselves. It fills admirably a want which has long been felt,—of a brief, clear, connected and suggestive guide to the history of Greek philosophy. Ginn & Company, publishers.

DR. FRUTH, —OF THE— Provident Medical Dispensary, MEW YORK CITY.

Ably assisted by a full corps of competent physicians and Surgeons, treats with unparalleled success all the Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear of every nature upon the latest scientific principles. He particularly invites all whose cases have been neglected, badly treated or pronounced incurable. Patients who are doing well under the care of their own physicians need not call on us, as our province is to treat those who cannot find relief otherwise. Believing that science is truth and "truth is mighty and will prevail," when known, and knowing that disease can be cured with positive certainty, he invites the afflicted to call and receive advice free and be cured of their diseases. There is no subject that requires so much study and experience as the treatment and cure of chronic diseases. The astonishing success and remarkable cures performed by him is due to a thorough knowledge of the structure and functions of the human system, and the cure of disease by natural remedies. Let those given up by others call for examination. He has successfully treated the following diseases since his arrival in this State: Eye and Ear diseases, Chronic Diarrhoea, Chronic Inflammation of the Womb, Chronic Inflammation of the Bladder, Painful or Irregular Menses, Fever Sores and Ulcers, Incontinence of Urine, Tape Worms, Crooked Limbs and Enlarged Joints, Spinal Curvatures, Club Foot, Bio Joint Disease, White Swelling, Discharging Abscesses, Sterility of Barrenness, Herworms and General Debility, Impotency, Disease of the Kidneys and Bladder, Leucorrhoea or Whites, Blisters, Pimples, Skin Diseases, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Dropsy, Cancer, Eczema, Erysipelas, Gravel, Gout, Gonorrhoea, Herpes, Hydrocele, Heart Disease, Headache, Piles, Hemorrhoids, St. Vitus Dance, Chronic Duetenja, Enlarged Testis, Fistula in An, Hernia or Rupture, Ovarian Tumors, Paralysis, Protrusion Uteri, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Scrophula, Consumption, Chronic Cough, Female Weakness, Saimalarthra, Mwiimatsm, etc. All surgical operations performed. Free Examination of the Urine. Each person applying for treatment will bring an ounce of their urine, which will receive a careful chemical and microscopic examination. Remarkable Cures performed in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated, no experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible send by express. Curable cases guaranteed. List of questions free. Western Address. DR. FRUTH, Toledo, O.

The Makers of a Well Known Churn write: "We have been often asked by dairymen: 'What is the very best soap to use to properly cleanse dairy utensils?' We have invariably replied, the 'Ivory,' but as for giving specific directions for washing dairy utensils, it is really summed up in making them thoroughly clean. Boiling water must be used, and that, in connection with IVORY SOAP, will thoroughly cleanse and deodorize the wood, leaving it clean and sweet for further use. Any dairy utensils half cleaned will spoil the delicate aroma of 'gilt edge butter,' which may be perfect in other respects." A WORD OF WARNING. There are many white soaps each represented to be 'just as good as the Ivory;' they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for 'Ivory' Soap and insist upon getting it. Copyright, 1886, by Procter & Gamble.

THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1889.

THE settlement of the suit between the city and the James estate, in the matter of taxation, in a satisfactory and equitable manner, without the expense and disadvantage of long litigation, is a matter worthy of congratulation to all parties interested. When the time comes when all such perplexing questions are settled by honest arbitration, a long step up the ladder of peace and prosperity will have been taken.

IN recent judicial decisions in Michigan it is held, in effect, that errors in the original assessment, or other legal defects, do not relieve the property liable to tax for special improvement from payment for the same, but that the municipal government may correct the defects by subsequent action and reassess until all taxes are paid. It is therefore quite useless for property owners to seek to escape from payment of taxes for special improvements through legal quibbles. If the first assessment is defective, another one can be made, and so on until everything is legally perfect and collection is enforced. Every tax-payer should thoroughly understand this and avoid unnecessary expense in litigation.

THE local option bill passed the senate Tuesday, by a vote of 19 to 10. Only three Republican senators voted with the Democrats against the bill. It is very gratifying to the true friends of temperance to know that the Republican party of this state has the courage to stand by its convictions of right, even though it may cost them, temporarily, some votes and the loss of some political power. Right will win in the long run; it always wins. It is to be regretted that this just action of our legislature is not likely to effect in any measure the situation in this county and that the saloons will continue for a while longer with open doors to entice our youth and manhood into associations and habits that lead to their misery and ruin; that costs our county many thousands of dollars every year, and that in every way is an unmitigated evil. But we have a right to demand the rigid enforcement of the existing laws and regulations of the traffic which would do much towards diminishing the evil of intemperance in this county, and to this end all temperance people should earnestly work.

AT this date the indications for the future prospects of our handsome and enterprising little city have a very rosy appearance. That the people are awake to the situation and understand the advantages of judicious, progressive effort in furthering our material interests is well demonstrated by their action on Monday in voting, 931 to 10, to bond the city for $25,000 as a gift to the state to be used in the building of a $75,000 hospital in connection with the medical department of the University. It is not every day that every city of any state has a chance to make such a profitable investment as this. Before the last payment is due the city will have received its money back many times over. Then there is the $300,000 from the state to be spent here on the University in the next two years. The 2000 students educated here spend on an average over $400 a year, making a total of over $800,000. The mercantile and manufacturing enterprises of our city although not wonderfully extensive are generally well established, profitable and growing. The commendable zeal displayed by our citizens lately in beautifying their residences, lawns, and streets will win the admiration and citizenship of many good and many wealthy people. Altogether the advantages, but slightly indicated above, should cause the present Ann Arborite great satisfaction, and he should see to it that the "chances" thus offered him are not neglected.

If America makes a poor showing in high art at Paris, there is one comfort we can lay to our souls, anyhow. Every important point urged by Americans at the Samoan conference was conceded by Bismarck. The principal matter our commissioners insisted on was complete independence for Samoa.

A gingle tax conference began in Paris June 11. It is a branch of the international land reform congress. French land reformers say there is now very little of the boasted peasant proprietorship of the soil left, only one-tenth of French land being owned by those who till it.

There are 150 of the coal tar or aniline dyes. The many beautiful new shades in textile fabrics are due to them. There are a dozen shades of color that were unknown a generation ago. The aniline dyes have almost entirely taken the place of former vegetable and animal dyes.

The greatest distance yet traveled by an ocean steamer in twenty-four hours is 515 miles, made by the City of Paris on her last trip to this country.

BEAUTIFUL SKATLIK.

An Ann Arbor Boy Writes The Kegster Concerning this Interesting
City.—Its Growth Is Like a Fairy Tale.

SEATTLE, May 25.—Seattle, or the "Queen City," as she is frequently called, is the capitol of King County, Washington Territory, and is the extreme north-west railroad terminus of the United States. It is beautifully located on Puget Sound, or, more properly speaking, on Elliott Bay, which constitutes an immense arm of the Middle Sound. Eastward and inland about three and one-half miles lies the beautiful Lake Washington, some thirty miles in length, and three to five miles in width. To the north, and also within the city limits, is another fine body of water—Lake Union; while to the south is to be found the Duwamish river. A canal connects Lake Washington with Lake Union, and another canal is in process of construction connecting Lake Union with the Sound; so practically Seattle may be said to be situated on an island. The city is built on an eminence which affords a most excellent view of its magnificent harbor and the entire bay; then makes a gradual descent until the highly picturesque banks of Lake Washington are reached.

Seattle can justly boast of one of the finest harbors, if not the finest harbor on the Pacific coast. Immense and equally magnificent iron steamers encounter no dangers from bars or shoals in the Sound. Indeed, so precipitous are the shores in many places along the Sound that steamers can plough their way along the banks with their sides almost touching the rocky cliffs. In short, it seems as if nature, in her most unselfish moment, had singled out this place for a fine harbor, and then with a generous hand had supplied every detail to make it such.

Directly west from Seattle, across the bay, about four miles, is what is now called, and soon will be in reality, West Seattle, situated on a high plateau running out into the bay in such a manner as to serve as a barrier, shutting off any high winds, thus rendering of Seattle proper a perfect haven, a veritable lagoon. On the natural shores, and far out into the bay, on pilings, are immense store-houses—store-houses which would cover whole blocks, and which, even then, are none too large to accommodate the shipping business transacted at this point. Here, big ocean steamers from San Francisco and elsewhere, "coal up" and take on immense cargoes, bound for Alaska; here, also, may be seen steamers and vessels from all parts of the world—from British Columbia, Mexico, Australia, Fiji Islands, China, Japan, England, Ireland, Scotland, Central America, South America and other countries.

Improvements of every description are being made at a rapid pace; new and elegant residences are being erected on every hand; business blocks are being put up as fast as capital and labor can build them. As a city, Seattle rivals, and, I truly believe, surpasses many of her older, eastern sisters. She has all of their modern improvements, and in addition, she has natural facilities which are destined to make her the metropolis of the north-west. Seattle now has two cable car lines, an electric car line, together covering a distance of some twenty miles, and a third cable line is soon to be constructed.

The streets are lighted by electricity (incandescent) and water is supplied from good springs and from Lake Washington.

To give some idea of the rapidity and enormity of Seattle's growth, I quote the following comparative figures: In 1880 the assessment of Seattle was $1,608,906; in 1888, 10,481,137; and the estimation for 1889 places the amount at $15,000,000.

EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS

are of a high character. Here is the seat of the state university and here also, are five large public schools and not a few private academies and schools. The courses of study in the university embrace: Literature, Science and Arts, Law, Medicine, Military Science, Classic and Modern Languages, Music and Fine Arts. Connected with the university is an excellent reference library containing 3000 volumes and 100 pamphlets. The public schools are the Denny, the Central, the South, the Madison-st and the Jackson-st. The most prominent of the private institutions is the Academy of Sacred Names, occupying a building four stories in height, and costing about $50,000.

CHURCHES

The religiously inclined are determined not to be outdone either, for they are represented by nearly every denomination, and most of them are provided with good and commodious churches. Every Sabbath services are held in the following: Methodist, 6; Baptist, 3; Roman Catholic, 3; Congregational, 2; Presbyterian, 2; Episcopal, 2; Lutheran, 2; Christian, 1; and Unitarian, 1, making in all twenty-three places where divine truth is preached. There are also maintained in the city two hospitals, the Providence and the Grace. The former is managed by the Sisters of Mercy, and is an immense structure, covering, with grounds, an entire block, and costing $120,000.

There are also many very nice residences in the city and many more are in course of construction. Especially is this true in that part of the city called Queen Anne Town. But enough about Seattle.

DEPENDS GREATLY ON ANN ARBOR.

My chums, Henry A. Kyer and John L. Campion, were both fortunate in securing good situations in the general offices of the Oregon Improvement Co., an immense and wealthy corporation owning and operating several coal mines, large mills, etc. They also have large lumber interests, and also own and run several large steam and sailing vessels.

But, notwithstanding these very flattering prospects of Seattle, to be honest with you I must confess that when we first arrived, and for a period of about two or three weeks after that date, Seat-tie was overdone. It seemed as though all western emigration headed for this city, and in consequence not a few men were idle, while a still larger number were not looking for anything to do at all—mere tourists; but those wishing employment soon sought, and I have no reason to doubt, procured situations in the immediate vicinity of Seattle, and in some of the neighboring towns. In fact, I was offered a situation at a place about 20 miles from Seattle, but I believed that this influx of strangers would soon diminish and could find something here, and in that belief was correct. And today Seattle is in a more normal condition, and I can see no drawback to steady and healthy growth here now.

We were very agreeably surprised May 29, by the unexpected appearance in Seattle of Fred Henion and Hudson Ellis, both Ann Arbor boys. Mr. Henion is permanently located at Portland, and Mr. Ellis also returns to Portland, where he has had some good inducements offered him. Of the original party who left Ann Arbor, consisting of John Campion, Henry Kyer, Frank Sutton, Bert Schumacher, Ed. Reyer, Albert Paul, Frank McCarby and myself, only John Campion, Henry Kyer and myself are in Seattle; Bert Schumacher returned to Ann Arbor on account of his father's illness after having been here only one week, and thus not being able to see much of the city; Frank Sutton leaves for Portland June 1st; the other three went direct to Portland. There are also in Seattle Messrs. Carol Remick, Dean and Frank Boylan, the first of whom has been here since last August. Last evening, by mere chance, ten (10) Ann Arbor boys all met at the Occidental hotel, and what a hand-shaking and talking bee there was. As regards your humble servant, I have a very good place with the Lowman & Hanford Stationery and Printing Co., which is the oldest established business of that nature in Seattle.

Truly yours,
KIRK H. J. CLARK.

The Drawing Exhibition.

The exhibition of drawings, done by the pupils of the public school, at the high school building on Friday, was pleasing and instructive. The exhibit covered the walls of the three rooms in the front part of the building. It showed the work of the scholars from the first to the eighth grades, taking the work from the first rude draught to the finished design in water colors. The designs were original with the children and many of them are very complicated. The moldings in clay and wood carvings exhibited are very well done. The work done by each school was separate, and the general exhibit of the second ward school showed the most taste and proficiency. The entire exhibit was very creditable and reflected credit upon Miss Alice Hunt and the other teachers under whom the work was done.

NOIITHIRI CALIFORNIA.

An Interesting Sketch of the Beauties of the Country and Climate by a Former Resident of Ann Arbor.

Editor of THE REGISTER: Your correspondent from San Francisco, under date of April 26th, 1889, makes what we know to be a very unfair statement in regard to this section of our state.

After speaking of the abundant rains in Northern and Central California, he says in substance that Southern California has no annual rainfall and that our immense grain fields require artificial irrigation in order to make good crops, thus causing the farmers to resort to an expensive system of irrigation.

Having been a resident here for 16 years, I can say that such statements are wholly untrue and if not made intentionally to injure or deceive, they must have been written in complete ignorance of the climatic and agricultural conditions of this part of the state.

The average annual rainfall in Southern California, has been eighteen inches; at San Francisco about one third more and in the extreme northern part of California, about double our average.

Ten inches of moisture will give us good crops of grain and since I have been here only one failure has occurred. That was in 1876-7 when we had five inches of rainfall and a drowth was the result.

One year of failure out of 16! Can this be said of many farming communities either in California or elsewhere?

Even then the drowth affected only the surface rooted crops. Our orchards, excepting those of Citrus fruits, were not irrigated as a rule but were given more thorough cultivation and the result was fruit of excellent quality but not up to the average in quantity. If your correspondent will visit us, he will find there is no system of irrigation provided for large tracts of grain land. It is rare that a grain farmer uses any water on his land and when he does do so, it is to irrigate a small tract of one to five acres in the months of September or October so as to have green feed before the heavy rains.

In the dry season, May to November, our water comes from springs arising in the mountain canons and they afford us a supply sufficient only for domestic purposes, and for summer irrigation of our orange and lemon orchards, vegetable gardens and tracts of alfalfa.

With thorough cultivation our vineyards and orchards of deciduous trees do not need irrigation and as a rule are not so treated.

The soil under proper treatment will retain enough of the winter rains to mature good crops.

Such being the case, why attempt to irrigate grain land, especially as it is doing its work of producing at the time when the ground has sufficient moisture.

Los Angeles County alone is larger than some of the States and from careful estimates just made, there are at least 300,000 acres of wheat and barley now maturing. Of this, 75,000 are in wheat and 225,000 in barley. 40,000 acres of the barley will be cut for hay and the balance for grain.

Taking a low estimate of 121 cents (or 20 bushels) per acre, this county will produce 2,225,000 cents.

Estimating 1,225,000 for home consumption, we shall have 1,000,000 for export. Besides the above, we will have a large crop of corn, the low lands in the southern part of the county giving 80 and in some cases 100 bushels to the acre; also fair crops of oats and rye and heavy crops of alfalfa—the latter yielding 4 to 6 tons per acre.

Add to the above an enormous fruit crop—15,000,000 lbs. having already been shipped from this southern country during the months of January, February, March and April, 1889, and one can see that there is something more here than a delightful climate.

Jane Crop Report.

The Michigan crop report for June shows that wheat was injured during the first part of May by the dry, hot weather, but that the rains during the latter part of the month helped it, the prospects being now for 87 per cent. of a crop in the southern counties. The crop is several days more forward than last year. The rainfall is only 68-hundredths of an inch above the normal for May and the total deficiency in precipitation in the twelve months ending May 1 is more than eleven inches.

Reports have been received of the quantity of wheat marketed at 289 elevators and mills showing the whole number of bushels to have been 393,693. Of this amount 51,337 bushels were marketed in Washtenaw county, nearly 20,000 more bushels than in any other county in the state. The total crop of 1888 was 23,581,504 bushels; reported marketed, 14,144,946 bushels; balance not reported or in the farmers' hands, 1,786,558 bushels.

The corn crop has been injured by worms and frosts, an average of seven per cent. of the area planted failing to grow. Oats and barley are about the same as wheat. Apples promise 82 per cent. of a crop in the southern counties. The number of sheep sheared in 102 towns in 1888 was 1,682,260; number of pounds of wool, 10,207,791; average per head, 6 and 6-hundredths pounds. The clip of the state this year will amount to about 11,360,000 pounds. The average wages paid for help by the farmers is as follows: southern counties, $16.86 with board and $23.70 without board; central counties, $16.75 with board, and $25.46 without board; northern counties, $18.67 with board, and $28.85 without board.

Bradlaugh, the English Radical, demands that parliament shall cut down the wages of Queen Victoria. He thinks she does not earn it. The poor old lady only gets $2,105,400 a year at present for her own expenses. It would be downright cruelty to diminish her supply of new caps and No. 6 shoes.

In 1886 Rhode Island adopted a prohibitory amendment to its constitution. Now, after three years' trial, it has been found to be unsatisfactory, and the question of repealing the amendment is to be submitted to the people. The vote will be taken on the 20th of this month. The people will then decide, after mature deliberation, whether they want prohibition.

The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph says plainly that Pennsylvanians should make good all losses to the survivors of the Johnstown flood. "Had the laws of the state properly guarded the interests of the Conemaugh valley the disaster never would have occurred," says the Telegraph. A loose dirt wall confined a vast weight of water in the artificial reservoir of the Pittsburg Fishing club.

Successive Ocean Steamer Records.

Fifteen days was considered very quick time in which to cross the Atlantic forty years ago. The steamers were very small. The iron screw propeller was not brought into use till 1858. It was not believed in at all, being tried first as a doubtful experiment. In 1856 a steamer made the ocean journey in 13 days, 6 hours and 7 minutes. It was as great an achievement then as the trip of the City of Paris in less than six days is now. In 1874 the Bothnia brought the time down to nine days. In 1876 the Britannic crossed in 7 days, 18 hours and 26 minutes. In 1887 the Umbria crossed the ocean in 6 days, 4 hours, 43 minutes. In 1888 the Etruria made the voyage in 6 days, 1 hour, 55 minutes. In May of this year the City of Paris crossed in 5 days, 23 hours, 7 minutes. When will this record be beaten?

The Fury of the Waters.

By the bursting of the South Fork dam at Johnstown, Pa., from 13,000 to 15,000 lives were lost and $25,000,000 worth of property destroyed. Corpses floated down the Ohio river past Pittsburgh, seventy-eight miles west of Johnstown. The losses in New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia from the great rainfall and flood will not fall short of $40,000,000. The Johnstown calamity was the direst disaster by flood that has ever overtaken an English speaking people.

Fifteen years ago the dam at Mill River, Mass., burst, causing terrible ruin and loss of life. In China, for centuries, the banks of the low lying Yellow river have been dammed and diked up, as is done at present with the Southern Mississippi. Higher and higher above the heads of the people the levees were built, until two years ago, 1887, the mighty water rose in its strength, burst the bonds which held it as though they had been paper and destroyed half a million people.

Within a year two other artificial reservoirs, similar to that at Johnstown, have broken their banks and caused wide ruin and loss of life. The first was at Montreux, Switzerland, the second in South America. There was one feature common to all three of these dam disasters. The embankments were known to be unsafe. Repeated warnings had been given, which were heeded neither by the hapless souls who dwelt in the path of destruction, nor by those whose duty it was to see that the works were secure. In any case man's puny strength can never measure itself against the nature forces. Sooner or later, be his achievement what it will, they rise and overwhelm him. Hereafter men should think twice before damming up great reservoirs upon hills above towns and cities.

There remains to be recalled the awful devastation of the waters in the Straits of Sunda, in the volcanic eruption of Krakatoa in the summer of 1883. Following that eruption, tidal waves forty feet high swept the shores of the straits and islands. Forty thousand persons were drowned by these waves. Vast ruin by flood has come upon different parts of the earth in the past seven years. In 1883 and '84 in America happened the fearful successive floods in the Ohio valley. In the spring of 1882 occurred the breaking of the levees and the overflow of the Mississippi, bringing terrible destruction, sickness and loss of life. At Jackson, Miss., the river was at one time sixty miles wide. It would be interesting to know what peculiar atmospheric or planetary disturbance has been behind it all.

The strangest feature of all in connection with the floods and ruin in the United States is that the storm which wrecked Johnstown seems to have gone around the world. Within a day or two after our great storm, a hurricane and water spout caused great destruction and death at Reichenbach, Germany. The same day there came from the other side of the world news that 10,000 lives had been lost in a hurricane at Hong Kong.

TEUKIFIC STORMS.

Great Destruction of Property in Various Localities.

Forest Fires Cause Serious Loss—Wind and Water Kill Houses and Crops, and Several Persons Lose Their Lives—Lightning; Also Plays Havoc.

SWEEP BY FLAMES

ELLENBUBO, W. T., June 17.—Forest fire prevailing on the east side of the Cascade mountains and are destroying vast quantities of line timber. The roar of the flames can be heard for miles and during the night the heavens are lighted by them. Lumbermen say that many millions of feet of lumber will be destroyed. A strong wind prevails at present and the fire is extending. Several small bridges along the Northern T'cinc have been burned, delaying trains.

CEOPS BURNED BY FLOODS. VINCENNES, Ind., June 15.—The June floods have worked disaster to the farmers of Southern Indiana who have crops in the bottom lands. Thousands upon thousands of acres of fine corn and hundreds of acres of wheat are covered by the water which now spreads over the fertile fields along White river. The farmers living in the White river bottoms have been driven from their homes to the hills. Serious trouble has been experienced in getting the stock and feed to places of safety. In places the grain is entirely submerged and in others the heads of the ripening grain is just seen above the surface of a vast sea of water. The corn prospects have never been better. From Edwardsport and other points along White river the flame report is sent The Washab is high and is rising steadily; so far the Washab is confined to its banks, yet farmers along this river are in danger if the rise continues. The Embarrass is flooding its bottoms. The mill dam at Lawrenceville is likely to be swept away at any moment. The crops are being destroyed and thousands of dollars worth lost.

DELTKD BY RAIN. SPUNG VALLEY, Ill., June 17.—The heaviest rains that have fallen for years in this vicinity fell Friday evening and Saturday. The Illinois river is overflowing its banks and thousands of acres of corn in the bottom lands are under water. The Eock Island track was partly washed out here and trains are delayed.

WBECKED BY THE WIND. LIGOSIEK, Ind., June 17.—A cyclone passed through this town Sunday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, tearing down shade trees and unroofing houses along its path. The fine brick dwelling of J. M. Betts was nearly destroyed, while the new dwelling of W. E. Harding is a total wreck. A laundry, Van Smith's big livery stable, Abe Goldsmith's residence, the Ligonier Hotel and a number of other buildings were unroofed. The big covered bridge across the Elkhart river was blown down and is a total wreck. Hundreds of fine shade and fruit trees were destroyed. Several miraculous escapes from death are reported. The loss will exceed $10,000.

WORK OF THE LIGHTNING. NEW YORK, June 17.—Dispatches from New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Eastern Pennsylvania, New York State and New England as far east as Maine indicate extensive damage to property and some loss of life by storms accompanied by lightning Saturday evening. In this city a Catholic church spire was struck, the cupola stripped away and stones weighing 300 pounds displaced.

An oil-tank in Jersey City was struck by lightning and 50,000 gallons of petroleum were burned. No lives were lost. Another fire from the same cause occurred in the lumber district, but was headed off. The telephone exchange caught fire and was burned out.

KANSAS STORMS. ELDORADO, Kan., June 18.—A flood in the Upper Walnut valley has been very destructive. Ten thousand acres of wheat have been ruined. The people and stock had ample warning to reach the high lands, and the damage is confined to crops.

HUMBOLDT, Kan., June 18.—The Neosho river is five miles wide at this point, but is falling. Ten thousand acres of wheat have been ruined. The people and stock had ample warning to reach the high lands, and the damage is confined to crops.

AUGUSTA, Kan., June 18.—The river here is receding. Several persons were washed down-stream Sunday night and many remained on house-tops and in trees until morning, when all were rescued.

CEDAR VALE, Kan., June 18.—Two brothers—Brack and Sheridan Hones—were drowned here Sunday morning in attempting to ford the Big Canadian river.

WIND IN AN OMBITTEBY. NOEWICH, N. Y., June 18.—A tornado yesterday devastated the large and handsome cemetery here, and nearly every headstone and monument in the path of the storm was broken or defaced so as to be practically ruined.

IN FLOEITIA. LAKE CITY, Fla., June 18.—Heavy rains have done considerable damage in Florida. A tornado at this place cut a swath 100 feet wide, destroying much property.

Devoured by Wolves. KANSAS CITY, MO., June 18.—Two children, aged 10 and 12 years, of Farmer Edward Bachus, living at Rosier, went fishing last Thursday. They failed to return at night and 3 searching parties were organized to look for them. Their bones were found Friday evening near a ledge of rocks that had long been known as wolves' den. A band of timber wolves have used this section for years and it is thought the boys were killed and eaten by the animals.

fratricide and Suicide. KEKWILLE, Mo., June 15.—Frank Propst, ex-Echool commissioner, was shot dead Friday morning by his brother, Joseph Propst, who then put a bullet through his own heart. No cause can be assigned save that the murderer and suicide was temporarily insane.

He Is Not Dead. TOMBSTONE, A. T., June 15.—John HUI-man, of Lawrence, Kan., who was supposed to have been killed several years ago, and whose wife received 140,000 from the life insurance companies, has been arrested here and will be taken to Lawrence at once.

The Oldest Lutheran Minister Dead. HEW YORK, June 15.—Eev. William N. Schall, D. D., of Canajoharie, the oldest living English Lutheran clergyman, died Thursday, aged 88 years. He was famous for building churches and was a successful and quiet preacher.

Burned to Death. BALTIMORE, Md., June 18.—Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, aged 85, and her baby, Benjamin Harrison Tyler, were burned to death Sunday night by the explosion of a coal-oil lamp at their home in Laynersville in Annie Arumel County.

THE CRONIN CASE.

Efforts Being Made to Bring the Guilty Ones to Justice.

CHICAGO, June 12.—J. D. Haggerty, a witness at the Cronin inquest, swore yesterday that Alexander Sullivan told him in 1885 that Dr. Cronin was a traitor to the Irish cause and should be exterminated. The jury found that Daniel Coughlin, Patrick O'Sullivan, Woodruff and Alexander Sullivan were either principals or accessories to the murder. Alexander Sullivan was arrested in the evening and placed in jail.

CHICAGO, June 13.—The special grand jury impaneled to act upon the verdict of the coroner's jury in the Cronin murder case began taking testimony yesterday. The jury is composed of business men, with only two Irishmen upon it.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 14.—A requisition was presented to Governor Hill Thursday from Governor Fifer, of Illinois, for the surrender of John J. Maroney and Charles McDonald, charged with the murder of Dr. Cronin. The Governor denied the application on the ground that the men had not been indicted.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Alexander Sullivan, charged with conspiring to murder Dr. Cronin, was admitted to bail by Judge Tuley yesterday in the habeas corpus proceedings. Bail was fixed at $50,000.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Frank Woodruff, under arrest for complicity in the murder of Dr. Cronin, made his fourth confession on Saturday, and in it he attempts to show the guilt of every person now under arrest or suspected by the police. In this confession he contradicts the confession he made to the officers and reporters at the Twelfth Street station after his arrest, the confession he made to Captain Schack and the confession he made to Chief Hubbard.

CHICAGO, June 18.—Martin Burke, one of the actual murderers of Dr. Cronin, has been arrested in Winnipeg, Man., and an officer of the Chicago force is now on his way there to bring him back. Burke has been referred to from time to time as Delaney, and is the man who hired the expressman to take the furniture to the Carlson cottage. The Carlsons identified the picture of Martin Burke which Captain Sellittier showed the grand jury as that of one of the "Williams" brothers who rented the cottage where Dr. Cronin was killed.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The three men who came on from Chicago for the purpose of identifying Maroney and McDonald as principals or accessories in the murder of Dr. Cronin visited the Tombs yesterday to see the prisoners, but failed, to identify them, and they were released from jail.

LONDON, June 18.—Michael Davitt, in an interview, declared that he placed no credit in the charges against Alexander Sullivan. He expressed the opinion that Mr. Sullivan's accusers were actuated by personal or political spleen. Mr. Davitt's political allies take the same view of the charges.

SIGNED THE TREATY.

An Agreement Reached by the Commissioners to the Saution Conference.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The agreement between England, Germany and the United States on Samoan affairs was signed at Berlin at 10 o'clock in the afternoon. It will not be made public until confirmed by the Senate. While it is called an agreement by officers of the State Department, Mr. Walker Blair said last evening that he thought it would undoubtedly require ratification by the Senate, as it is a matter affecting the foreign policy of the United States. The agreement was cordially approved by all the members of the conference and by their respective governments, and the best of feeling prevailed at the termination of the labors of the commissioners.

A Horrible Murder. MOBILE, Ala., June 15.—At Marion Junction Thursday J. P. Stevens, a section laborer, shot and killed H. G. Seemer, a conductor on the Mobile & Birmingham railroad. Stevens fired six shots, each bullet taking effect, and having exhausted his cartridges thrust the barrel of the still smoking pistol into the holes made by the bullets. He then beat Segner's head to a jelly with the butt of the weapon.

Three Hangings in Georgia. MACON, Ga., June 15.—Alexander Henderson (colored) was hanged at Bainbridge Friday for the murder of Amos Jackson and his daughter. Will Dibell (colored) was hanged at Tuomasville for the murder of a negro named Lang. John Pickett, a negro boy, aged 10 years, was hanged at Leisburg for the murder of an aged negro and his wife. All of the executions were public.

Five Paraders Killed by Lightning. BERLIN, June 18.—Severe hail-storms prevailed Monday in many parts of Germany, interfering greatly with railway traffic. While a procession was passing through the streets of a Silesian town five of the paraders were struck by lightning and killed. Forty others received severe shocks.

Three Women Drowned. NORTH MANCHESTER, Ind., June 15.—John Maple, a farmer, with his wife and three children attempted to ford Simonton creek, near here, yesterday, but when near the middle of the stream the wagon was overturned and Mrs. Maple and two children were drowned.

Down on Prohibition. EOCK ISLAND, Ill., June 15.—A resolution was passed in the Swedish Lutheran Evangelical synod of North America condemning prohibition and favoring moral suasion and high license as a means of advancing the cause of temperance.

Killed Himself. CHICAGO, June 17.—James M. Gamble, a real-estate dealer, who has lived at the Palmer House for the past ten years, was found dead in his room Saturday night. It is believed that he committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid.

Leprosy in Nova Scotia. MONTREAL, Can., June 18.—Three lepers-one man and two women—have been found on Cape Breton island, N. S. They will be sent to the Leprosy Lazaretto at Tracadie, N. B., and placed in charge of the heroic Sisters of Mercy there.

War on Moonshiners. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 18.—Citizens of Tuscaloosa County, Ala., have declared war on the "moonshiners," or illicit distillers. The latter are armed, and a bloody conflict is a going on near probabilities.

John Lewes, the Fat Man, Dead. ELMIBA, N. Y., June 18.—John Lewes, a phenomenal fat man, who weighed 610 pounds, died at his home here Monday from erysipelas. He was born in England and was about 40 years old.

Mother and Two Children Drowned. MONTREAL, Can., June 17.—A dispatch from Three Rivers states that Mrs. Geline and her two children have been drowned by the swamping of a boat in the Uuver Duloup.

Losses by Fire. NEW YORK, June 17.—The fire losses in the United States and Canada for the first five months of this year were $56,514,000, against $78,854,000 during the corresponding months of last year.

BUTTONS.

"Where's Buttons, Mary?" said little Alice Smith, the cash girl in a Fourteenth street dry goods store to her friend, Mary Simmons.

Mary blushed and looked guilty, although she hastily disclaimed any knowledge of the person alluded to.

"How should I know where he is? I don't even know his name. I can't imagine why you girls are always teasing me about him. And Mary petulantly went on with her work of rearranging the disordered showcase and with feminine tact displaying the newest goods in the most conspicuous places.

But, despite her disclaimer, pretty Mary was thinking more about "Buttons" than she was willing to confess. In fancy she could see his broad shoulders and the half bashful, half-conscious smile on his face as he appeared before her counter on the previous week. He certainly was a strong young man. She could tell that by his brown, muscular hand. And besides there was such an honest look in his eyes. She recalled his hesitation, too, when he asked for the buttons, from which the girls had nicknamed him, and Mary argued from his ingenuousness and his respectful manner that he must be entirely different from the young men whom she encountered on her way home at night and whose bold glances of admiration always made her blush.

A hundred times a day Mary found herself looking down the long store toward the door, expecting and hoping, although she did not confess the hope to herself—that he would come again. Twice he had been there already, and, to tell the truth, he had bought enough buttons to keep him in those useful articles for five years. What he could want with so many buttons was more than Mary could divine.

In anticipation of his coming Mary arranged and rearranged the buttons in the case. There was an almost endless variety of buttons. China shirt buttons, bone coat buttons, wooden buttons covered with cloth; glass buttons, iridescent, reflecting the gaslight in gleaming rays. But not one of these shone so brightly as the eyes which had met hers over the counter for one brief moment and then had been hidden by the long lashes which dropped over them.

The chances of his coming back seemed very small indeed to Mary when she remembered that he had bought two cards of shirt buttons and enough trousers buttons to start a small store.

"I wonder if he is going to sew them on himself," said Mary to herself, a smile indenting two dimples in her cheeks. "If he does, he will have buttons all over him."

In fancy Mary could see him sitting in his shirt sleeves with a slender needle between his clumsy thumb and forefinger, trying to fasten a button on his shirt. She could see it all. The compressed lip, the slip of the needle as it stole under his thumb nail, the muttered imprecation; and she laughed at her thoughts in such a merry way that the floor walker censured her, and she resumed her work with a conscious blush.

But the memory of "Buttons" gradually faded from Mary's mind as the weeks went by. He did not put in an appearance again, and as the girls stopped their chaffing there was nothing left for the interest to feed upon. Then came the anti-poverty fair, in which a great many of the girls were interested. Their sympathetic hearts were attracted by the golden hopes of a possible era when all want, all misery, all poverty would be done away by the new theories which were so rife in this city. What comforts, new dresses, unlimited ice cream and peanuts were contained in those magic words "anti-poverty!"

And so, urged on by her desire to help the community at large, and perhaps hoping just a little that she was going to be benefited personally by the movement, Mary entered into the fair with all the zeal of a zealot.

She was assigned to take charge of a stand containing articles of vertu and bric-a-brac, and in addition to these was an assortment of sleeve buttons, a most beautiful array, made of gold, pearl onyx, and some inlaid with precious stones.

Every night after the store closed Mary hastened, sometimes very tired and footsore from standing all day, to Madison Square garden. There were prettier girls than Mary behind some of the counters, but none with a more demure and winning manner, none with a more sunny smile or brighter eyes, and so the table over which she presided had no lack of customers.

One night when the band was playing and the bunting shined in the gaslight Mary looked up and found "Buttons" confronting her. As their eyes met he stammered:

"Oh, excuse me, miss. I didn't know it was you. I just called around to see if—"

"If what?" said Mary, kindly, anxious to relieve his embarrassment.

The young man fingered his cane uneasily, and carefully averted his gaze from Mary, for he could feel that she anticipated his want. Then he mustered up courage and blurted out:

"Before he could reply he added hastily: "The fact is that those 6hirt buttons I bought of you down at the store had such small eyes that I could not get the thread through them. It may be that the thread was too coarse. But, confound it all," he continued, his embarrassment melting away before her assuring and sympathetic smile. "I've had to pin my shirt collar together ever since I came to the city. Besides that, you can imagine what a job it is for me to pin one of these stiffly starched collars around my neck!"

"But I thought gentlemen were in the habit of wearing collar buttons," said Mary, with a reassuring glance.

"So they do here in the city. But when I left Otsego county my mother made me half a dozen new shirts in the old-fashioned way, and perhaps I—I—I—"

Here he colored up again, and Mary came to the rescue with:

"Of course, you like to wear the shirts because your mother made them. I'll tell you how you can fix it. Bring the shirts down to the store to-morrow and I'll get a poor woman to fix button holes in the shirt so that you can use collar buttons."

He stammered out his thanks and, bewildered by the glamour of the bright eyes which beamed so kindly upon him, he bought a $3 red velvet album, for which he had no use and which suggested each time he looked at it as it lay in his bedroom the deftly hands which had wrapped it so neatly in the paper parcel, the string and the paper of which he had hidden away in his valise.

Mary was not aware of it, but that night when she boarded a Madison avenue car to go home, a tall, swarthy young man, with a bundle under his arm, stood by the driver on the front platform. When she alighted at Grand street she was unaware that behind her, dodging along in the shadows, came the young man and the bundle.

How her heart would have fluttered had she known that when she lit the night lamp in her chamber its gleam was watched by a pair of dark eyes in the street below, and that only when a puff of breath from her rosy lips put out the shimmering flame did lingering footsteps die away upon the pavement in the direction of the Bowery.

But the next night found "Buttons" at the fair. This time he brought the shirts with him, and was even bold enough to ask Mary to go to supper with him. But he had not courage enough to ask if he could accompany her home.

Did Mary send the shirts to the poor woman whom she had spoken of? Oh, no; as tired as she was on arriving at home she sat up until 1:30 making button holes in "Buttons" shirts. And while she was snipping with her scissors, and her needle was flying in and out, her lover was pacing back and forth on the opposite side of the street, his heart on fire with the delirium of love.

Those were pleasant days for Mary. Her eyes took on a new luster, her cheek assumed a more rosy hue, the elixir of love had animated her with new life. All day she hummed under her breath:

Just a little sunshine.

Just a little rain;

Just a little happiness.

Just a little pain.

At last, one night just before the fair closed, "Buttons" mustered up enough courage to ask if he could accompany her home. His excuse was that the night was wet and she had no umbrella, and she consented, so shyly, oh, so shyly, and suggested that as the fair closed early they should walk. As they went down the Bowery with its brilliant shop windows and the sidewalk shining in the light it was necessary to walk close together because the crowd was so great and the umbrella was small.

It was curious, but neither had eyes for the dazzling scene along the route. "Buttons" beguiled the way with the story of his life. He told her—and she listened carefully fearing that she might lose a word—how he had come to the city from Otsego county and was fortunate enough to secure a job as a blacksmith in a railroad car shop. His name was Tom Murphy. He had a good trade, and one of these days he intended to get married if he found a girl who was willing to take a homely fellow like him. Here Mary archly said:

"Why, I don't think you're homely."

Tom gave her hand a squeeze, just a little one, and then they walked in silence for awhile and at last arrived in front of her father's house.

"I can't ask you to go in," she said, in a deprecating manner, "because it's too late. But can't you come around some other night?"

"Could he! Could the stars shine! Could a duck swim! Well, he should rather guess he could! But there was a little matter he wanted to mention. Here he became strangely silent, and held her hand while the rain fell with a slow drip on the umbrella.

"What is it?" she said, palpitating like a frightened rabbit.

A big lump came up in Tom's throat and a mist swam before his eyes. He turned pale as he placed his hand beneath her chin and raised her drooping head so that he could look into her eyes. "I was wondering," he continued, in an unsteady voice, "if you would be willing to give up selling buttons and devote your whole time to sewing buttons on my clothing!"

"Oh, Tom!" she said, struggling to get away. But he held her fast and for an instant the Irish frieze overcoat and the waterproof were pressed close together by a sturdy blacksmith's arm. A gust of wind came around the corner and carried the answer away, but it must have been favorable to his wishes, for Tom astonished the Italian chestnut vendor on the corner by buying out the whole stock and otherwise acting like a good natured lunatic.—New York Evening Sun.

MANY LONG FAREWELLS.

COMMENCEMENT DAY COMES BUT ONCE IN A LIFETIME.

Opening the Book of the World at the First Chapter—What It Means to the Graduate—Past and Present Contrasted by an Optimist.

BIRTHDAYS come around every year with a regularity which, as one grows older, becomes painful. The methodical milestones in the journey of life seem to slip by faster and faster.

We have Christmas and New Year's and all the other festivals of the year. We have centennial and semi-centennial celebrations, but commencement day comes but once in a lifetime; the happy days spent in school are left behind.

But hold on there, my young friend. What is that I hear you say? You've had a pretty good time. Plenty of fun, but mighty glad to get over it all. Mighty glad you can see the world, eh? Sick of books? Rather sit at a desk and write for dear life all day, would you? Rather run around and be errand boy, perhaps? Rather get down to solid business, and work from 8 until 6, than to be able to sneak off any afternoon and play ball? Think you would prefer a dusty, moldy office ten hours a day to a bright sunny school room with perhaps a lot of pretty girls sitting around you? Is that the idea? Seems strange, don't it? Not a bit of it, my boy. You've got that same feeling of independence which is common to us all.

But what's that I hear my friend down in the crowd say? Wish you were back at your books, do you? Regret all the time you wasted in school, eh? Would like to try it over again, would you? Happiest time of your life, did you say? You think so, that's all. You couldn't be hired to go back. My friend, you would rather get up at 4 o'clock in the morning and toddle around the front yard after a lawn mower, while last night's due percolates through your uppers, than be able to sleep until 8 o'clock and have your own gentle mother come upstairs and tell you three or four times in rapid succession that if you don't get up right away you will be late for school. Yes, you would. I know you. You would rather vibrate from one end of the room to the other with a shrieking child in one arm and a bottle of soothing sirup in the other, four hours a night, than be kicked out of bed by your older brother because you tried to steal the bed clothes away from him. Oh, those were happy days, were they? When you romped in the fields with never a care, with no thought for the morrow; when you could sneak into the pantry at any hour of the day and abstract therefrom a goodly hunk of bread and butter; when you used to go in swimming incognito and get licked because your shirt was wrong side out. But bless you, my friend, those cares that you didn't have then, all the troubles, the little things which make you walk the floor and tear your hair, and which drive you to think that your lot is so much harder than the lot of any one else, including Job's, those things are what you are living for. Don't you regret the time wasted over your books, either. If you could get back into the school room you would study all the time, would you? You would improve every shining minute, eh? How old did you say you were? Forty? and haven't learned any better than that? Well, well, unwind from your brain some of those bandages that you have been wrapping it up in so tenderly for the last twenty years. Sit down and think it over. And you will conclude in five minutes that you wouldn't do anything of the sort. You'll see right away, if you failed on that particular example in arithmetic, it was because you were having a rousing old time playing ball, and that perhaps the ball was a great deal better for you than figures; that is, better physically, and therefore mentally in the end.

But I haven't said a word about the girls. You have all heard this talk about the sweet girl graduate, the delicate bud of girlhood blossoming out into the full blown rose of a riper womanhood. Well, this is a good thought for Commencement day. All these bright young girls in their white dresses, their pretty faces glowing with the excitement of the hour and with expectation of the life which is to come. All very pretty, isn't it? Now I'm no iconoclast. But is this the right sort of veneer to paint a sound healthy young woman with? We liken them all to some delicate flower, and we build hot houses for them to live in, and every once in a while some fair Joan of Arc brooks the glass and steps out, and we realize that woman is not so weak sis we fefen pictured her.

What do the girls think about it? Go around among the hundred girls in the class and take a ballot. Ask each one if she likes to be thought of as a delicate flower fit to live only in a hot house.

How many of them will answer yes to that?

Tender, did you say? Delicate, and all that?

Look here, my friend, perhaps you've never lived in a big city and gone slumming down in the tenement district and seen pale, delicate looking women living for years in an atmosphere and working under a strain that would prostrate a Sullivan in six months.

But there's one thing you have noticed. You have seen the lines creeping up and down your own gentle mother's face day after day, you have watched that same dear face grow a little paler, a little sadder—you have seen her growing more patient as the weeks and months rolled on, but bless you, my friend, you never stopped to think of that then. Here is a romping, rollicking boy, bound to have fun, tearing his clothes at the slightest provocation, going half a mile out of his way to wade through a puddle of dirty water, spending hours devising some instrument of torture to let loose on the delicate harp strings of a woman's nervous temperament, anything to make trouble for his mother. But we mustn't blame the boy. He can't help it, and we have all done the same thing ourselves. But how about the mother? How long do you think a great strong, burly man would stand this sort of thing?

You come home at night and your wife Bays to you: "Bobby has been misbehaving again today, but, dear, I guess after all you'd better let him off this once," and what do you suppose the young rascal has done? Oh, nothing very much. He has only taken the five young kittens that appeared a few days ago and buried them alive in the back yard. Now, how long, my friend, could you stand this sort of thing? And yet your wife, pale, delicate creature that she is, would have a fit if Bobby were out of her sight for more than twelve hours. Let us stop a moment and think of what is going to become of all these pretty girls who have had their heads stuffed full of grammar and mathematics and Latin verbs—what are they going to be? Wives? Yes, and mothers, some of them; but tell me, my friends, can you bring this future that stretches out for a woman from commencement day to the end—can you bring it down to the narrow limits of a wedding ring?

How about the old maids, then? Now, let me whisper a word in your ear. As a matter of fact, marriage isn't the only thing a woman thinks about. How many old maids are there who are old maids from choice? Nine out of every ten. "How do you know?" some one in the crowd shout3 out; "you're not an old maid yourself." That is so, but, my young friend, you haven't a maiden aunt, have you? Come, own up now, like a man. Well, you don't know anything about it. My son, a maiden aunt follows right close after a mother and grandmother in a boy's heart, and the boy generally knows how many times she has said "No" to the most important question in a woman's life.

Let us take one farewell look at these smiling faces before the curtain falls forever on the last scene of school life. They have got through the preface of the book of the world. To-morrow they will begin on the first chapter, and as the bell rings and they fade away from our sight, let us send forth a wish that the book may have a peaceful and happy ending.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

SENATE—A resolution was passed on the 11th for final adjournment June 25. A resolution on appropriating $1000 for the Johnston sufferers was introduced, but it was referred to the Judiciary Committee on the ground that the constitution would not permit the Legislature to extend aid outside of the State. The Local Option bill was passed in committee of the whole.

HOUSE—Representative Connor's bill to take away from II. H. Warner, of Rochester, N. Y., certain lands in Huron County known as "Wild Fowl Bay," was passed.

SENATE—Bills were passed on the 10th to provide for lighting the capitol building and "ground" with electricity; amending the railroad laws to give greater security at crossings; providing for the regulation and license by townships of the business of hawking and peddling; relative to the formation of agricultural societies.

HOUSE—Bills were passed prohibiting the posting of obscene or suggestive pictures in public places; amending the charter of the city of Grand Rapids. The purity of elections bill was finished in committee of the whole and referred to the Election Committee for changes in construction, with instructions for an early report. The most important bill passed was that appropriating $7,000 for a home for the feeble-minded.

SENATE—On the 13th the Divorce law was repealed on the ground that the great majority of divorces granted in Michigan were really on account of incompatibility, and the power given judges to forbid them from marrying within two years, was liable to prove a hardship, to many men and women guilty of no offense, and who might be much happier by a second marriage. A large number of pending bills, were practically killed by an adverse report from the Judicial Committee, among them a bill providing for an increase of the salary of the State Game Warden from $1100 to $1250 and a bill prohibiting the transportation of the bodies of dead Chinamen or their burials across the State.

HOUSE—Bills were passed for the re-incorporation of gas companies whose charters were expired by limitation; making the waters of the great lakes, their bays and inlets, open to all persons for shooting, and for fishing with a hook and line; increasing the salaries of the deputy State officers from $1800 to $2400 each. The purity of elections bill was reported back from the committee and placed on the general order. The conference committee agreed on a compromise on the liquor bill. They fixed the retailers' tax at $100 and the brewers' tax at 165, and require the druggist to procure a permit to sell liquor and to make quarterly reports of their sales. The Senate final adjournment resolution was tabled.

SENATE—Bills were passed on the 14th authorizing Union School District No. 1, Jackson, to establish a school for manual training; submitting to the people the question of a revision of the constitution; appropriating $200 for the improvement of lands owned by the State in Lansing city; for the erection by railroads of properly guarded residence crossings when the railroad intervenes between the residence and the highway; and House bills calling for a popular vote on the question of a convention to remodel the constitution; providing for the relief of soldiers and their families outside the Soldier's Home by levying a special tax and creating a relief committee in each county to discharge it; prohibiting insurance companies from granting a rebate to the insured as is frequently done for the purpose of securing business. The Swift bill, providing for two cent railroad fares, and which passed the House, was killed. Adjourned to the 17th.

HOUSE—A joint resolution which had passed the Senate was passed by which the State relinquishes in behalf of the settlers all title to the mineral lands granted the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon, the Ontonagon & Brule River, and the Marquette & Bay De Nocquet railways, which were recently declared forfeited by Congress.

FROM THE TROPICS.

Nicaragua and Costa Rica Show a Disposition to Fight the Great Falling Off in Shipping Interests at Jamaica. United States Minister Hicks Reaches Peru.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Central and South American advices to June 5 are received today as follows: The army in San Salvador has been limited by law to 3000 men. The minister of foreign affairs of San Salvador in a report recently presented to Congress says that the friendly relations of that country with the United States continue to grow stronger and numerous amicable messages have recently passed between the two countries. The imports into San Salvador during 1888 were $4,081,547, an increase of 180,573 over the preceding year.

Shipping interests have fallen off greatly at Jamaica. May 16 there were only two vessels in the harbor, an occurrence that has not been witnessed since 1851.

Strained relations exist between Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The latter professed herself well satisfied with President Cleveland's adjustment of the boundary question, but now that the canal company is actually beginning operations an outcry is raised because some fifty miles of Costa Rican territory will be skirted by the enterprise. War preparations are in progress and all strategic points on the border have been inspected with a view of massing troops at vulnerable points. It is also stated that Costa Rica intends buying several war vessels from Chili.

Advices from Lima, Peru, dated May 21, say Mr. Hicks, United States Minister Plenipotentiary to Peru, has arrived, and was received by a large delegation of his countrymen.

May 8 telegrams were published in Valparaiso announcing that snow in the Cordillera had accumulated in vast quantities and traffic was suspended. Cattle died in large numbers, and the losses occasioned to farmers were very heavy.

Can it Van Swallow a Cannon-Imit?

Well, that depends. He can if his throat is large enough and the cannon-ball not to large. The question really seems worthy of some consideration in view of the size of some of the pills that are prescribed for suffering humanity. Why not throw them "to the dogs," and take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets? Small, sugar coated, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, in glass and always fresh.

Regular monthly meetine of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church this afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the church parlors.

Prof. Stanley gave an organ recital at the Plymouth Congregational church, Lansing, last evening for the benefit of the Johnstown sufferers.

Marshal Walsh arrested two tramps and ran seven more out of the city last night. They were drunk and raised a disturbance near the Michigan Central depot.

A young colored boy was sentenced to the Detroit House of Correction for ninety days by Justice Pond yesterday, the charge against him being begging and vagrancy.

Saturday night one of the dynamos at the electric light works burned out, destroying both the regulator and dynamo. The coils had to be rewound, taking over two miles of wire.

The Omega, the annual publication of the graduating class of the High School, was placed on sale this morning. The volume is a creditable one and is fully to the standard.

Clara P. Laraway has filed a bill for divorce against her husband, Guy L. Laraway, on the ground of non-support. The parties were married in Superior in 1885 and are well known here.

John Miller paid $5 fine and $5.95 costs for being drunk Monday by order of Justice Pond. He was fined a little extra because he had a revolver with him which he was flourishing around.

S. A. Moren, of Ann Arbor, has been invited to read a paper before the Short-hand Section of the American Business Educators' Association at the annual meeting in Cleveland, July 9.

Thomas Batemati, a stone-cutter, was drunk last Saturday and went out to Scio to sober off. He was found lying in the road there and brought to jail, Justice Pond sentencing him to jail for ten days on Monday.

One of the base ball players from Lansing neglected to obey Marshal Walsh's order to keep off the grass on the court house lawn, Saturday. He was marched before Justice Pond, where he was let off after receiving a lecture.

Hon. Oliver S. Smith, of Owosso, a member of the present legislature, who became insane last week, was orderly-sergeant of Company D., 4th Michigan Infantry, organized in Ann Arbor, and known as Captain Randolph's company.

Why would not the fair grounds make a good location for the new hospital? The association could sell off the front part, keeping the rear and buying the adjoining land. In this manner the society's indebtedness could be decreased.

The fakirs and confidence men reaped a rich harvest Tuesday. It is claimed that several of our citizens lost from $5 to $40 each on a "swing ball" game. The country people were more careful about being caught than those living in the city.

The supreme court rendered a decision last Friday against Mrs. F. E. Yale, of this city, in a suit which was to decide her right to dower in the estate of Francis Crawford, her former husband. The court held that she had no dower interest.

Next Sunday morning's service will be the last at the Unitarian church until after vacation. Rev. and Mrs. Sunderland expect to start for Europe on Friday of next week, sailing from Montreal, July 2, on the steamer "Lake Oatario," for Liverpool.

Latham Miller, of Chelsea, charged by the insurance department of the state with violating the insurance laws, was before Justice Pond last Thursday. He waived examination and was bound over for trial at the October term of the circuit court.

The Lansing council has just concluded to contract with the electric light company to light that city every night and all night at $100 per light per year. The contract in Ann Arbor runs out soon and our council is figuring to follow the example of Lansing.

"Bob" Kearney came in to see the circus Tuesday and one of the men connected with the show managed to get $30 of his money. Marshal Walsh succeeded in getting the money back for Kearney through a Pinkerton detective who travels with the circus.

Eliza J. Burnham has filed a cross bill in the suit for divorce brought against her by her husband, William H. Burnham. She denies that she ever committed adultery as charged by the complainant. She charges him with cruelty and non-support and asks that a divorce be granted to her and that complainant be ordered to provide her with permanent alimony.

The case of the estate of R. A. Beal vs. James Congdon, Thomas Wilkinson, et al., has been decided by the supreme court against the complainant. The suit grew out of mortgage deal between Beal and Wilkinson in which the former claims that he was defrauded by a false sale.

At a meeting of the Michigan Furniture Co. held last evening, it was decided to erect a new building in addition to those already in use. The new building will be used as the main factory building. It will be built of brick and will be put up at once, Armstrong & Roath having been awarded the contract.

The Pomological Society will meet June 29th, at 2 p. m., in basement of Court House. Preparations for shipping must be made at this meeting. All shippers of fruit should promptly attend, as there will be a large crop of berries and other fruit. Other topics will be discussed. Strawberry and flower exhibit.

Martin Hock, of Lodi, drank too much and was placed in jail Monday night. He was given the choice of paying $2 fine and $5.25 costs or going to jail for ten days. He chose the latter and was placed in jail rather than let his friends know the circumstances, but his brother found it out, paid the fine and he was released.

The third annual meeting of the Michigan music teachers' association will be held at Detroit, June 27-29. Prof. Stanley is a member of the programme committee. The beard of public works has contracted with George Weeks for grading and curbing fifty rods between the center row of trees on State street in front of the campus. The plot is to be 13 feet wide, curbed on both sides, and the price agreed upon is $5 per running rod. This will make a handsome improvement in that part of the city.

Last fall T. B. Pratt, of Selby, Col., was robbed of $600 at Ypsilanti, while under the influence of liquor. He charged E. J. Lemley and another man with the theft and they both left the city. On Monday, sheriff Dwyer went to Ypsilanti and arrested Lemley, who had returned. He went after the other man Tuesday but could not find him. He is also trying to hear from the complaining witness, but cannot find his whereabouts.

ForepaHgh's "hayseed" who drives by the side of the procession caught several of the patrolmen Tuesday. Murray, Carroll, Campion and Gidley each stopped him and ordered him to drive on another 60 feet. The man would argue for a minute and then make a sign to his trick horse, which would start on a run, leaving the officer to be laughed at by the crowd. The other officers charge that Marshal Wahh stopped the man, but he denies it emphatically.

The arrangements for the meeting and banquet of the alumni of the High School to-morrow evening have been about completed, but the full list of responses is not yet finished. There will be eight or ten responses and short addresses by several others. The banquet will be furnished by Mallory, of Detroit, which is authority enough for stating that it will be fine. The cost will be but 35 cents a plate to the members, although undoubtedly the society will pay more than this amount.

Six of the officers of company A—Capt. S. W. Millard, Lieut. B. D. Merithew, Sergeants John Fischer and S. Louis V. Dowdigan, aged 17 years, son of Mrs. Mary Dowdigan of Williams St., died suddenly at Yates City, 111, last Friday night. The trouble with him was rheumatism of the heart, the immediate cause of his death being a blood clot on the heart. He was taken sick the Monday previous. He had been visiting his sister at Yates City for six weeks and intended returning home this week. The remains were brought to this city Sunday evening, the funeral being held Monday afternoon at his mother's house.

Ann Arbor Commandery, K. T., has had the subject of a choice of routes for their trip to Washington next, fall under consideration for the past two weeks. Passenger agents from all parts of the country have been here advocating their routes. The committee, after having examined all the others, have chosen the route via the Michigan Central to Buffalo, Erie to Waverly, Lehigh Valley to Philadelphia and Baltimore and Ohio from there to Washington, and a contract has been made with these roads. This route carries them through the most picturesque parts of the country. Stops will be made at several places to give them an opportunity of viewing the beautiful scenery at Niagara Falls, Mauch Chunk and other places. The company from here will consist of from 60 to 70 people, and will go with other Michigan Commanderies in first-class Pullman cars. The members contemplate a glorious trip.

Lieut. W. H. Smith, of the First Michigan Infantry, on his return from Gettysburg passed Sunday in Jackson with his friends, the Messrs. Marshall and S. M. Isbell. He is one of the Stockbridge boys who went into the army in 1861, remaining in the service until the close. He was mustered out here July 21, 1865. He is a cousin of U. T. Foster, one of the pioneers of the Central City, where he is well and favorably known. For the past fifteen years Mr. Smith has been a resident of Gaylord, Otsego county, Michigan, where he has done his full share in developing that newer portion of our lower peninsula. Mr. Smith has always voted the way he shot during the war, and in him the Republican party has a faithful ally and a hard worker.—Jackson Citizen. Lieut. Smith belongs to a pioneer family of Washtenaw county. Lemuel Foster one of the earliest settlers of Geddes was an uncle, while his grandfather, Elias Smith, settled at Scio at about 1830. His own father, William Smith, was one of the early settlers of Stockbridge, Ingham county.

A Fine Recital.

One of the pleasant events of the week was the complimentary recital given by the Chequamegon orchestra on Monday evening, at the Masonic Temple, under the auspices of Fraternity lodge, F. and A. M. The handsome lodge room was filled with people, there being fully 400 invited guests present. The orchestra, in full dress suits, sat in the center of the room. Dr. Fred. H. Weir directed their movements, and the music rendered was such as only orchestras of fine talent and careful direction can play.

An overture, "Martha," was the first piece on the programme, followed by the "Polish National Dance." The clarinet solo, "Corinne Polka," which was rendered by J. M. McGill, is a very pretty composition by L. H. Clement. Eli L. Moore played a cornet solo, "Enchantment," and an encore, as did Fred. McOmber after his piccolo solo, "The Wren." The programme consisted of twelve selections, ending with a galop, "Accidental," composed by F. H. Weir, a very interesting composition with an appropriate name in which sleigh-bells, blocks of wood and a pistol are used.
