THE FRIEZE MEMORIAL.

SERVICES AT UNIVERSITY HALL SUNDAY.

The Hall Filled to Hear Dr. Augell's Address.—A Masterly Eulogy and a Fine Testimonial.

On Sunday afternoon, University Hall was filled with the former colleagues, friends and students of the much respected and greatly lamented Prof. Henry Simmons Frieze. The occasion of the gathering was to pay a public tribute to his memory by appropriate exercises.

The Choral Union rendered several fine selections, before Dr. Angell arose to perform the duty which devolved upon himof delivering the eulogy to his dead friend and companion. The address was remarkable on account of its smoothness and the beautiful manner in which the events of Dr. Frieze's life were woven together, the large audience hardly making a move until the last word had been spoken. Dr. Angell said:

"Gentlemen of the University Senate:

"We have gathered here to-day with that deep sense of loss which has weighed so heavily upon us for the past few weeks. Daily as we have entered these grounds or passed through these halls we missed the elastic step, the radiant face, the genial word of him who for more than a generation as the inspiring teacher, the helpful colleague, the charming friend, has left a benediction on every life he has touched. For five and thirty years he has formed so large a part of the university that we who are left behind feel in our privation as though a portion of the very life of the university had been cleft away. His lov-able and loving nature drew those of us who had known him longest and best so close to him that it seems often to us as though, in his death, something was riven from the inmost being of each of

"We have felt that we could not deny ourselves the sad pleasure of coming up to this place where we have listened in days gone by to his words of instruction and cheer, to recall the chief events of his life and the traits of his character and to express our appreciation of the man and of his great services to the university.

Dr. Angel then entered into a full and complete history of the life of Dr. Frieze, beginning at his birth and showing his struggles and works during the early part

"It is not strange when in 1854 a vacancy occurred in the chair of Latin in this university, Prof. Boise, who had been familiar with Mr. Frieze's career as a student and teacher, should have directed the attention of the university authorities to his friend. Mr. Frieze was appointed to the chair which he held until the day of It was a rare fortune which brought to the university in its early days two such classical teachers as Profs. Boise and Frieze. They so impressed them-selves on the institution in its plastic and formative days, they so commended the value of the studies committed to their care, they invested what were often contemptuously and ignorantly called "the dead languages" with such a charm, they so illustrated in their own minds the culti vating and refining power of the ancient literatures that from the very beginning of their labors an enthusiastic love for classical culture was nurtured in this uni-classical culture was nurtured in this university and has continued to this day.

"* * The spolia opinia which he brought from his literary, esthetic and archæological studies abroad added a new charm to his teaching. In his presence in his class room even the raw and untrained student felt at once the subtle influence of the spirit of culture which emanated from the instruction. The fineness of lit-erary perception, the delicacy of taste, which revealed themselves through all his interpretation of the ancient masters of thought, polished and elevated, while they instructed the class. His exalted ethilical nature led him also to impress upon his pupils without cant or platitudes, but in the most natural and effective manner, the moral, the heroic greatness, of the ancient characters of whom they were reading. He made those characters living, real persons, who had their me sages for our time and for us. The old literature was made vital with a fresh and throbbing life that poured its currents into the lives of the you hful students of our day.
"On the resignation of President Haven in 1869 he was appointed acting president of the University. His charactertistic modesty led him to hesitate about acceping the position, but he finally yielded to the persuasion of the Board of Regents. The two years during which he was the chief executive were marked by important events in the history of the institution. In 1870 women were admitted to all departments of the university. * Another important step was altogether on the suggestion of the acting president, that was the so-called diploma relation with the preparatory schools. * * * * It was owing to the prompt action of Dr. Frieze and the generosity of his friend, Philo Parsons, that the library of Prof. Rau, of Heidelberg, was secured for us, It was at the instance of the acting president that the age for admission to the literary department was raised from 14 to 16 years, that music was introduced into chapel service, that the custom of furnishing a dinner to the alumni and friends of the university on commencement day was introduced, and that in the hope of creating a common interest between the several departments, an attempt was made, though afterward abandoned, to observe a university day by public exercises. It was during his term of office that the Legislature voted the sum of $75,000 for the erection of the main building between the two wings of University Hall, and so es-every subsequent Legislature has followed in furnishing liberal means for the erec-tion of needed buildings for the univer-* * * * He was afterwards twice called to the position of acting president during the absence of the president.

"While conducting his own departments with the highest aims, Dr. Freize was ever seeking the improvement and development of the whole university. He was continually urging the lifting of the institution out of the narrow ruts of a small local college and giving it the scope and elevation and power of a national university. He never came so near the manifestation of impatience verging on anger as when some policy was proposed which he thought would bind us down to methods that we ought long ago to have outgrown and abandoned. His vision was ever stretching out to a broad horiz in for us. He was a stanch advocate of the policy of preserving the integrity and unity of the university by retaining all of its departments here.

In closing, President Angell said of Dr.

"And so death had no terrors for him He often spoke of it to me as one speaks of a coming brightness. At the beginning of each of the last two or three winters he had deemed it not improbable that bronchial complications might prove fatal. His chief anxiety seemed to be not about himself, but about his family and about his department of work in the u iversity.

After the death of his dear friend and associate, Prof. Elisha Jones, to whom he had hoped to leave the care of the instruc tion in Latin, he was extremely anxious that a successor in sympathy with his views of the conduct of the Latin work should be found and appointed."

"He began the labors of the year in good spirits and, as we thought, with a measure of strength which might at least carry him through the winter. We now know that the insidious and fatal disease which caused his death was even then sapping the foundations of his life. mind became clouded at times. But it was pathetic, may we not perhaps say characteristic, that his spirit of love and tenderness seemed to shape his visions even in wanderings of his mind. His attending physician has told us how in those half conscious hours of his last illness he recited with apparent delight the names of his associates, and expressed his grati tude that they had so cheered his life. Pure and loving heart! Not one ot us even gave to thee a tithe of what thou gavest to us.

"And now, after all I have said, after all that anyone could say, I feel and you feel how far short my words have come or any words can come of making a complete pertraiture of our friend. There was a something in his winning personality that eludes analysis. There was in him a cer-tain charm of soul, which cannot be fully depicted with such an instrument as human speech. But memory will preserve for us the sweet recollections of the winsomeness of that personality, of the attractions of that spirit."

COMMON COUNCIL MEETING.

The Question of Sewers to be Submitted.-Special Election March 31 .-

The regular meeting of the common council was held Monday evening, Ald. Dieterle and Barker being absent.

A communication was received from F. P. Borgardus, chairman of the Soldiers' Relief Commission, calling the attention of the council to Public Act, No. 193, Session Laws of 1889, relative to the relief of indigent soldiers, sailors and marines. Received and placed on file.

The rules were suspended and the several ordinances pending were passed, after being amended in minor particulars. On recommendation of the street committee, J. D. Baldwin's addition to the city, except Baldwin ave., from Hill-st to Wells-st, and Wells-st, was vacated as petitioned.

The lighting committee reported in favor of changing the light from Fuller-st at the railroad crossing to the corner of Fuller and Thirteenth-sts, which was or-dered by the council. Six new lights were ordered placed at the following places, one in each ward: Corner of Main and Hill-sts, corner of Jefferson and Fifth sts, corner of Fifth and Summit sts, corner of Division and Detroit sts, Traver-st near crossiae of T. & A. A. R. R., co ner of E. University-ave and Packard st.

The most important business of the evening was the submission of the various reports in regard to sewerage, which were submitted by Prof. C. E. Greene, the Board of Health, the Business Men's Association, and the special committee on sewerage which was appointed to investigate this subject. The report of Prof. Greene explained the salient points of the system, with the proposed plans, estimated cost and minute details. After dwelling upon the great necessity of a sewerage system in the city, the contaminated condition of the soil in many parts by reason of the cess pools which have been built in past years, and the disadvantage of the scavenger or cartage system which does not provide for disposing of the dirty water from bath-tubs, basins, water closets and sinks, which are often more injurious than other kinds of sewage, Prof. Greene entered into a detailed statement of his plan, which was accompanied by a map showing the proposed route of the sewer, the main features of which are given beow: convey all the sewage away from inhabited districts before decomposition has taken place in it. The sewers should be so ventilated that any gases contained in them shall have no access to the interiors of buildings. The first condition is provided for in the water carriage system, by giving the sewers such an inclination that two wings of University Hall, and so established the happy precedent which ity to remove the solid matters deposited Christian workers in any direction, to participate in this meeting. F. E. Clark, of in it. A mean velocity of three feet per second is generally sufficient to prevent deposits.

"By lar the greater portion of Ann Arbor, if not all, needs no under-drainage. Her porous subsoil is able to take up readily and allows to soak away, all rain fall that is moderate in amount. I have therefore planned a system for house-drainage exclusively. The moderate cost of the "separate" system makes it possible to carry out a system of sewers, when the expense of the "combined" system would make it impossible.

"The amount of sewage derived from the drainage of houses, etc, may be ap proximately taken as equal to the water supply at present, for Ann Arbor. That amount may be put at from 500,000 to 750,000 gallons daily. The calculations have been based upon 15 persons per hundred feet of sewer, or five persons to a house on each lot of 66 feet. The quantity of sewage calculated is 75 gallons per capita average daily flow, and a maximum discharge at times at the rate of 150 gal

"The contemplated outfall is 22 inches in diameter, to flow half full. Can one anticipate that the amount of sewage discharged by such a pipe will be n ticable in the Huron river below the city? It will bear but a moderate ratio to the water which runs through one wheel at Swift's mill. The sewer at the outfall is proportioned for the discharge of the sew-age of the whole city and for a population of 15,000 or 20,000.

"A system of sewers, branches and tapers like the trunk and limbs of a tree. The main or trunk sewer may empty at, 1st at the first railroad bridge below the city 2d at the highway bridge at the east end of Wall-st; or 3rd opposite the slaughter houses near the foot of 13th st, where the University sewer now discharges. passes by the side of the M. C. R. R., crosses under the railroad at Fifth-st to Summit-st, and thence west to Allen's creek, up which it runs, partly through streets and partly through private property as shown, to Madison-st. Its proposed sizes and lengths are as follows: From the outfall at R. R. bridge to Mainst, at the corner of Summit, 22 inches, length 6,200 feet; from Summit-st to Catherine st, 18 inches, length 2,300 feet; from Catherine to foot of William st, 15 inches, 2,200 feet; from William to Hill-sts, 12 inches, 3,500 feet; from Hill to Grovests, 10 inches, 700 feet.

"At the upper end of lateral sewers where the grade is moderate, automatic flush-tanks will be provided. Manholes are to be placed at all intersections, change of direction and grade, and no more than 300 feet apart. All of the pipes, except those of the main sewer above mentioned will be eight and six inches in diameter. "The cost of the sewers, exclusive of the lower portion of the main sewer, in cluding everything complete, may be put at from $1 00 to $1.20 per linear foot, or $6,000 per mile. The city engineer of Kalamazoo reports the total extent of the "separate" sewerage system was in 1887 twelve miles built at a total cost of $69,-256.13, an average of 1.09 per foot, and the total annual maintenance of which, with sem weekly inspection, was but $204.97

"The trunk sewer at lower end as far as Main-st, is estimated at $2.00 per foot. The piece from the the railroad bridge to east end of Wall st. will then cost $3,600; from Wall st to feet of 13th-st, $2,000; from 13th-st to foot of Main-st, $6,500. The sewer from foot of Mann-st to foot of Madison st is estimated for 6,000 feet at $1 50 or $9,000. The cost of the trunk sewer, on a liberal estimate, from Madison-st to the foot of 13th-st, where the university sewer now discharges, will be $15 000, and here it may terminate until the sewers are used to such an extent that the outfall becomes objectionable there, when it can be ex tended to the railroad bridge.

"That portion of the city from the old cemetery and Forest Hill cemetery northward, but thinly built up at present, will be readily sewered down 13 st, and the fifth ward will be sewered through Wallst eastward, as shown on the plan, bring-ing everything together at the same

Prof. Greene enumerated the various methods which provided for the payment of the cost of building the lateral sewers, giving the objections to many of the systems, and finally hit upon the following from the Kalamazoo ordinance on this question, as the best method: "In the construction of lateral sewers all property adjoining or abutting upon that portion of he street or alley through or along which the lateral sewer shall extend, shall be assessed at the rate of 331 cents per foot front, and at the rate of 331 cents for each foot of connecting sewer that may be necessary (or that may be desired by the property owner) to connect said lateral sewer with said property, and the ety shall assume and defray all other expenses incident to the laying of such lateral and connecting sewers."

The reports of the committee the Busiess Men's Association and the Board of Health were based upon Prof. Greene's report and supported his plan.

Alo. Allmendinger offered a resolution authorizing the mayor and clerk to call a special election at Firemens' Hall, on Monday, March 31, from 9 to 4 o'clock, to decide whether the electors will authorize the council to raise for such purpose by general tax, the sum of $20,000, one-half this year and the balance next year. After some discussion the resolution was adopted. The council then adjourned.

The March issue of the Electic has its usual supply of suggestive and strik ing papers, a large proportion of them on topics of vital interest. The opening paper, "The State and the Sermon on the Mount," by the Bishop of Peterborough, is a remarkable article which has excited the keenest interest in England. Dr. Bamberger (of the German Reichster) Reichstag) contributes an admirable study of the German Press. The Sym-posium by Besant, Hardy, and Mrs. Lynn Linton on English fiction is sure to attract widespread attention. Herbert Spencer's article on "Absolute Political Ethics" will attract the attention of all thinkers. Published by E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year.

The Cassell Publishing Company, announce three editions of the "Journal of Marie Bashkirtseff." The one they first issued at two dollars has been reduced to one dollar and a half; there is another in plainer binding at one dol-lar, and a third in paper at fifty cents. These editions are printed from the same plates, and the two former have the por-trait and illustrations as in the original edition, while the latter has the portrait only. Cassell & Co., New York.

Afloat in the Forest, or a Voyage among the Tree Tops by Captain Mayne Reid, with Life of the Author by R. H. Stoddard. It is a wonderful story re-lating how two brothers who went to South America in search of wealth became successfully settled, the one in Peru and the other in Brazil and who afterwards with their families went through innumerable stirring advent-ures. The Heart of the Alleghanies.

Writing of a recent trip across the mountains of West Virginia, a gifted ournalist says:

"Twilight on the grade is grand. The mountain summits look like the bushy tops of trees. The sun has disappeared in a ball of fire at his "jumping-off place," but the vivid lighting of the western sky by the still upturned illumining face below the horizon is in marked contrast to the gathering sheds behind the rushing train. From shades behind the rushing train. From shelf to shelf, from crag to crag, from brink to brink, we almost fly. Like a flashing transformation, rendering almost past belief the fact that the scene is in the midst of the Alleghanies, comes a bit of landscape gardening with all the beauties of walks and hedges and bright hued flowers, a mountain brooklet tumbling through the centre-Buckhorn Wall, the most noted and most admired view that can be had from any known point in the Alleghany range. To enable the road to span the tremendous gorges, a massive wall of cut stone was erected for a distance of several hundred feet, and more than a hundred feet above the foundation rock. hundred feet above the foundation rock. As the river makes an abrupt turn at right angles, a deep canyon is opened up for miles. Range after range of mountains disappear behind each other. The shadowy outlines of single peaks steal out through the haze."

DR. HARTMAN'S LECTURE

All About That Humor in Your Blood That Breaks Out Every Spring-Spring Blood Disorders Dependent on Scrofula.

Scrofula is a name given to a certain bodily temperament or tendency (dyscrasia) which is quite common in childhood, being less frequent in people of middle or old age. It affects principally the lymphatic glands of the body, but it may attack the mucous membranes, especially of the eyes, throat and lungs. It is a constitutional disease, and generally is inherited.

The causes of scrofula are inheritance (heredity,) unfaborable condiditions of life, low, damp dwellings, want of light, insufficient food, mental depression and acute diseases, especially measles. In fact anything that lowers the vitality of a young child is liable to take the form of scrofula. Crowding young chil-dren too rapidly with their studies frequently results in developing latent scrofula.

Enlarged glands at either side of the neck and throat, and also in the groins, a creamy white skin, with a tendency to fleshiness, too surely reveal the presence of chronic scroffula. Lumps in the breast, many of which are mistaken for cancer, are no doubt the great majority of them scrofulitic enlargement of the mammary glands. Chronic sores on the lips, ulcerated mouth and throat, are most always due to scrofula. Ulcers on various parts of the body, particularly about the head or shins are rarely due to other causes than scroffulitic taints. I have known cases where the body was nearly covered with ulcers, which had been treated for years as syphilis or cancers, to yield at once to remedies for scrofula.

The treatment of scrofula consists of external applications and internal medications. In regard to the external treatment of enlarged glands or scrofulitic tumors and ulcers, nothing but poultices of some kind should be applied. A flax seed meal poul-tice to the enflamed glands or other swellings is the proper external treatment for them, as it hastens the discharge of the pus. An open ulcer or running sore is best treated with the clay poultice as described on page 22 of my pamphlet "Ills of life". On no account should any treatment be allowed which has the effect of hindering the free discharge of the pus.

The diet should be liberal, consisting as much as possible of animal food, such as meat, eggs, fish, milk etc. Cod liver oil may be taken after meals, in cases where it is well borne by the stomach. I do not regard cod liver oil as a medicine, but simply a concentrated food, and I recommend it in all cases of wasting disease where it is agreeable to the stomach. But no food, however concentrated or nutritious it may be, will erradicate the poison from the system. La-cu-pi-a must be used to accomplish this result. With ordinary care as to diet and exposure, if La-cu-pi-a is taken regularly, a cure is certain.

In young children, as soon as the first enlarged gland of the neck or groin makes its appearance, the above diet should be begun and La-cu-pi-a given according to directions and such external treatment as the case seems to demand. When the gathering is in the head and the discharge is from the ears very little external treatment can be used except to syringe the ear out with warm water. In such cases La-cupi-a must be relied on entirely, for any medicine put in the ear will only do harm. In older people scrofula is more likely to appear in the form of boils, ulcers, carbuncles, or eruptions; also chronic inflammation of the eyelids, producing red watery sary to use in addition to La-cu-pi-a in the treatment of any case of scrotula is a good laxative in cases where the bowels are constipated. The laxative which experience has taught me to be the best is Man-a-in, and, as it works admirably with La-cu-pi-a, I advise any who finds it necessary to take any laxative while using La-cu-pi-a to get Man-a-lin. After many years experience I have never known a thorough course of the above described treatment to fail to cure even the worst cases of scrof-

Cheap Lands in the West.

Along the lines of the BURLINGTON ROUTE in Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and northwestern Kansas, particularly on its new extension in that territory, there is still some Government Land awaiting settlement, as well as other cheap lands held by individuals. These lands are among the best to be had anywhere in the country for agricultural and grazing purposes. In the comparatively new districts are many improved farms which can be purchased at a very low rate of that class of restless pioneer-settlers who are ready at all times to move "further west." In the territory embraced by the BURLINGTON'S lines west of the Missouri River, there are in the vicinity of two hundred new towns which offer to manufacturers and business men an excellent opportunity to locate with profit. Send to the undersigned for descriptive pamphlets and other matter giving location and full particulars concerning these lands.

THE BIG FLOOD.

Great Damage by High Water in Southern States.

The Town of Newport, Ark., Under Water -North Louisiana Submerged and the Loss Will Be Heavy-A Migsouri Town Submerged.

RAGING RIVERS.

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark., March 14.-The water from the Sappington break has flooded the town and surrounding country. Hundreds of hogs and sheep have been drowned and the people are in constant fear of a break in the levee in front of the city, where the water yesterday was four inches upon the sand bags on top of the levee. At Batesville all that portion of the town through which the Iron Mountain road runs is a foot under water and the trains are abandoned. Reports from the Black river valley show that the low lands are now under water at places so deep that tree-tops are alone visible. Jackson port is under water two to four feet.

NEWPORT, Ark., March 15.-The rivers commenced running over the levees at 10 o'clock Thursday night, and the whole town except Fort street is now from four inches to two feet under water. Business is entirely suspended The White and Black rivers have commenced falling, and it is hoped the worst is over. The damage to the adjacent country is great. Offtrough County, containing 75,000 acres of cultivated land, is now under water from six inches to twenty feet. The rise was sudden and without warning. Fences and every thing movable are gone, The country south of Newport, which embraces some of the finest farms in the State, is also inundated. The losses in Newport are very heavy, regardless of the loss of business.

CHARLESTON, Mo., March 15.-Bird's Point, Mo., is entirely submerged. All the people have moved out of the town to the higher ground. Deer, bear, wolves and other kinds of wild game have also taken refuge on the high ground and hunters are shooting them by thousands. The Iron Mountain railroad tracks are five feet under water. Over 100,000 acres of farm land is submerged and the flood is still rising.

Vickshung, Miss., March 18.-The river here fell four inches in the last forty-eight hours. The river is falling for a distance of twenty miles above and fifty miles below the Raleigh crevasse, which is steadily widening and is 1,600

The flood will submerge the finest portion of North Louisiana. Steamers are now removing stock from Tensas Parish and in localities reached by rail removal is the order of the day. Queen & Crescent authorities expect their Shreveport division to be flooded at Delta in a few days. The damage by the crevasse will be immense, though stock will undoubtedly he saved for the most part.

JUSTICE FOR LYNCHERS.

Four Persons Sentenced to Imprisonment for Life.

WHITEHALL, Wis., March 15 .- Sentence was pronounced here yesterday on the Trempealeau County lynchers by Judge Noonan. Charles Johnson, Ole Sletto, Mrs. Olson, wife of the murdered man, and her son were sentenced to imprisonment for life, three days in each year solitary. Mrs. Olson fainted and there was groaning and shedding of tears. The sheriff started for Waupun with the prisoners at 2 o'clock p. m. The thirty accessories to the crime were fined $107 each.

FRANCE'S NEW CABINET.

MM. de Freycinet, Ribot and Constans Get the Three Principal Portfolios.

PARIS, March 17. - The new Cabinet has been officially announced, and is composed as follows:

President of the Council and Minister of War, M. de Freychet; Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Ribot; Minister of the Interior, M. Constans; Minister of Finance, M. Rouvier; Min ister of Justice, M. Fallieres; Minister of Commerce, M. Roche; Minister of Public Instruction, M. Bourgeois; Minister of Agricult-ure, M. Develle; Minister of Public Works, M. Guyot; Minister of Marine, M. Barbey.

Dashed to Pieces.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 15.-Michael Mennow, a Hungarian laborer in the Lackawanna shaft at Olyphant, while coming out of the mine Thursday night fell from the carriage when near the top of the shaft and was dashed to death at the bottom. In falling he grasped hold of a boy in the carriage, who was saved from a similar death by his clothing giving away.

Took Their Heads Off.

London, March 17.—Advices say that a revolt is in progress against the Ameer of Afghanistan, and several of the Ameer's courtiers implicated in the plot against him have been captured and beheaded at his orders.

American Association Schedule.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 15 .- The schedule committee of the American Base-Ball Association met here Friday and made public the schedule for the coming season. The season opens April 17 and closes October 13.

Heavy Failure in New York. NEW YORK, March 14.-Harbison & Loder, wholesale dealers in dry goods, made a general assignment Thursday. The liabilities are between $300,000 and $400,000, and the nominal assets will exceed that amount.

Wiggins Heard from Again. OTTAWA, Ont., March 15 .- Wiggins, the weather prophet, predicts that a violent storm will soon be felt all over the world, and that it will burst over the continent of America between the 21st and 22d insts.

A Teacher Suicides.

CINCINNATI, March 18.—Miss Katie Ott, a teacher in the public schools, shot herself through the temple Sunday night at her home during a fit of despondency caused by ill-health.

Flood in an Australian Town. BRISBANE, March 15 .- Owing to incessant rains the river here has overflowed its banks and inundated the town. The damage is estimated at $1,500,000.

FROM WASHINGTON.

A Daily Record of Events of General

WASHINGTON, March 14.-The Treasury Department has issued a statement showing that the exports of breadstuffs from the United States in the month of February amounted to $3,903,726.

WASHINGTON, March 17.-President Harrison issued a proclamation on Saturday ordering all settlers off the Cherokee strip.

WASHINGTON, March 17 .- The work of the Pan-American conference has so far progressed that adjournment is confidently expected within the next thirty days. With that in view, arrangements are making for the trip through the South, which will end the official hospitalities of the United States to the delegates.

WASHINGTON, March 18 .- The Republican members of the ways and means committee of the House have decided upon a reduction of 50 per cent, in the duty on sugar, which would result in a revenue reduction of over $25,000,000. WASHINGTON, March 18 .- The President has sent to the Senate the following nominations: United States Consuls—William S. Preston, of New York, at Cognac; James S. Kellogg, of Louisiana, at Stettin; Alfred W. Street, of New York, at Coatleook; Samuel B. Zeigler, of Iowa, at Aix-la-Chappelle; James R. Danforth, of Pennsylvania, at Verviers and Liege.

WASHINGTON, March 18.-The Secretary of War has issued a general order transferring the headquarters of the Department of the Missouri from Fort Leavenworth to St. Louis, to take effect June 1. The public quarters at Fort Leavenworth will be utilized for an infantry and cavalry school and garrison. WASHINGTON, March 18.—The remains of Benjamin A. Jones, the defaulting pay-clerk of Major Goodloe, of the Marine Corps, who disappeared last Christmas Day, were found in the east branch of the Potomac river Sunday. The remains were identified by the deceased's widow and stepson.

HEMLICK ACQUITTED.

The Minister Who Shot Palmer at Neola, Ia., Found Not Guilty.

Council Bluffs, Ia., March 15 .- The trial of D. M. Helmick for the killing of Ed Palmer at Neola last August has just closed, and the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal. The result was not unanticipated, for the sentiment of the public has been with the preacher. He was the Methodist clergyman at Neola and was prominent in his warfare on the saloons of the place. He had made himself obnoxions to that element and also to Palmer, it was alleged, by interfering in his family affairs, and his life bad been threatened. The preacher armed himself, and when, on a dark night, he rode up to his own door and was greeted by a volley of eggs be drew his revolver and shot at random, and Palmer fell mortally wounded. He was indicted for manslaughter. A full and impartial showing of the facts in the case was made on the trial, and the verdict is a full vindication of the purpose of the preacher. When the verdict was read the crowd in the court-room cheered.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

A TEMPERANCE LESSON.

Some Reasons Why Boys and Girls Should Let Strong Drink Entirely Alone. Twenty millions of dollars are spent each day in this country for intoxicating drink.

One million men are employed in the manufacture and sale of liquors. Their wages amount to about three hundred millions of dollars.

It has been estimated that the money spent for strong drink last year would have supported one million and a half of missionaries. It would have supported our public schools for fifteen years.

Two-fifths of all arrests in the year are persons who were intoxicated when arrested. Noah Davis says that threefifths of all arrests may be directly traced to the use of intoxicants.

Here are some excellent reasons why our boys and girls should not use intoxicants:

1. God's word says that no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of Heaven (1 Cor. 6:10). If we do not use intoxicants we certainly shall not become drunkards. This is the only safe side to take.

2. History proves that some of the wisest and best of men have been crushed in the deadly folds of this ser-

3. Statistics prove that a large per cent. of the insane have become so through the use of intoxicants.

4. The influence of the life of the intemperate man extends to others as well as to himself, and causes others to He spends money for drink that should be used to buy the necessities of life for those who are dependent on him. Suffering, hunger, tears, have been the meat and drink of many a drunkard's family. We have no right to believe that we can escape such misery unless we abstain from the use of that which

5. The hereditary influences of intemperance are fearfully far-reaching. Many a one who is a drunkard to-day is so because of an inherited appetite.

6. If we once begin the use of intoxicants the difficulty of breaking away from the habit becomes greater and greater. 7. The use of intoxicants weakens the mind, the body, and threatens the soul with destruction.

8. We can put our money to much better use than to spend it for intoxi-unaccompanied with impurity, anger and the most famous profligacies (Chrysostom). Intemperance is death's prime mines-

Intemperance is a hydra with a hun dred heads. She never stalks abroad

Maudsley, in his "Crime and Insanity," says that an irresistible impulse to steal, to set fire to houses and to commit suicide often accompanies alcoholic excess. This shows that intemperance must be of the devil.

Ribot, in his "Diseases of the Will," declares that intemperance is one of the causes of the loss of will power. Shakespeare says: "O thou invisible spirit of wine, if thou hast no name to be known by, let us call thee Devil."

Four-fifths of those who were swept away by the cholera in 1832 were addicted to the use of strong drink. Out of twelve hundred attacked in Montreal not a drunkard escaped.

Of the 30,000 victims in Paris nearly every one was a user of intoxicants. Dr. Huber saw 2,160 perish in twentyfive days in Russia. He says: "Persons given to drinking were swept away like Dr. Sewall stated that of 204 cases in Park Hospital, New York, there were temperate persons, and they mly six recovered. Out of 366 who died in Albany 326 were habitual drinkers. These things show that alcohol is indeed a mocker.

For while it seems to strengthen the body it is only making it weaker and weaker. The microscope reveals the fact that alcohol deteriorates the blood. Experiments prove that it inflames the stomach and the brain and causes the heart to work much harder than otherwise would be necessary. - Rev. A.

THE Nashville Issue claims that the money that Tennessee pays annually to the whisky shops ($15,000,000) would meet all the regular expenses of the State for ten years. Nashyille saloon receipts alone would carry on the government.

SEE the wretched inebriate, woeful now, perhaps maudlinly tearful; the next moment crazy with anger, seeking contention, babbling out meaningless complaint, the mock of the small boys of the street-what a wreck of humanity is this poor idiot!-N. Y. Observer.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., has now for the fourth time voted "no license." Since the adoption of this policy the number of bank deposits has increased 830, the tax rate in 1888 was lowered one dollar and the total value of property has risen between two and three millions of

One can not but have noticed in the testimony given at the Cronin trial how much the implicated men had to do with drinking and with saloons. No one could tell his story without stating that he and others "took a drink," and then again "took a drink," so that drinking was a large part of their practice. Without the saloons we may suppose there would have been no Cronin case.-United Presbyterian.

THE Temperance Educational Society is out with another calculation of the possibilities of good which lie bound in the graveclothes of "Chicago's Annual Drink Bill." It finds that if the $70,-000,000 now paid out in that city every year for poisons were invested in working-men's homes for three years would pay in taxes $2,100,000, while the saloon licenses amount to but $1,985,000. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WASHTENAW, $88.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate office in the city of Ann Arbor, on Tuesday, the fourth day of March, in the year one theusand eight hundred and nine'y.

Present, J. WILLARD BABBITT, Judge of Probate

THE REGISTER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY

KITTREDGE & MORAN, TERMS: Oue Dollar per year in Advance $1.50

THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1890.

Five Michigan representatives belong to the congressional temperance society -Allen, O'Donnell, 'Brewer, Cutcheon and Burrows. They should influence the other six to join, and thus honor their state.

WE shall be pleased to publish notices of all the republican ward and township caucuses that we may receive. Republicans should enthuse this spring, and resolve to increase the number of republican officials. The domocrats have more than a fair share at present.

THE names of Charles E. Hiscock and J. T. Jacobs have been mentioned in connection with the coming nomination for the mayoralty. Either of the gentlemen would honor the position. Alderman Allmendinger declines the use of his name for any office but he threatens to increase his present title by the prefix "Ex."

THE present method of holding the | the hall in a few days. city convention on the Saturday before election, compelling the candidates to desecrate the Sabbath, if they do any electioneering, is wrong and should be changed. Three or four days should intervene. Some of our leading political workers have asked THE REGISTER to call attention to this matter.

Any state that admits that curse of the country-the Louisiana Lotteryinto its boundaries, ought to be turned out of the Union at once. The United States ought not to allow such a disgrace to blacken its fame any longer. A young man told the editor of one of our exchanges that he was employed for a year and a half in a place where tickets were sold for the Louisiana lottery. He sold about one hundred dollars worth a month, and during these eighteen months, only $5 was drawn by those purchasing tickets. Paying $1,800 for a $5 prize shows that there is plenty of work left for the fool-killer.

Let Us Have Sewers.

WHEN THE REGISTER began the agitation of the sewer question about ten months ago, we had little idea that the public would be so ready to endorse the matter, and that the conviction that something must be accomplished at once had taken such earnest hold of the public mind. Previous efforts in this direction, both by editorials and able communications, did not seem to have much effect, or meet with the hearty response we hoped for; but it is evident they must have served as a sort of educational leaven which has continued to work quietly but surely in inculcating right ideas as to the imperative necessity of prompt and efficient work. a necessity : that is settled Their cost and the kind of sewers was a question more difficult to determine. But we believe that the recommendations of the committee appointed by the city and Business Men's Association, and the plans they suggest in Prof. Greene's report will be accepted as the best for the present demands of the city. These plans of sewers are the same as have been in successful operation at Kalamazoo, where twelve miles were built at a cost of $69,256. Owing to the breaking up of the sewer pipe trust, which has reduced the price of pipe over 75 per cent, and the very favorable location of this city for sewerage, it is estimated that only $20,000 would cover the cost of the main pipes The lateral pipes leading from the houses to the main pipe could be put in by the property owners at a very moderate expense compared to the benefits received. On Monday, March 31, the electors of this city will vote whether or not to authorize the common council to raise by taxation $20,000 for this purpose. There ought not to be a vote against it. It will give the laboring men a great amount of work. Every business man knows it is more important to his interests than the sign over his door. We have got to have a system of sewerage here if we are going to have the growth and commercial success we are entitled to. A few money-holders who care more for their interest money in dollars and cents may conclude to oppose the extra expense. But there will be very few who will vote no on

We have been told of two very wealthy Detroit families who would have come to this city to reside had there been sewers. They would have spent far more money every year in this city than its interest on the $20 000 this important question.

Yesterday's Courier gives an illustration of interest in this connection. It says, "that within the past few weeks Ann Arbor was visited by some wealthy capitalists who were looking up a site for a private insane asylum. They intended to purchase a hundred acres of land, erect handsome buildings, lay out grounds with trees, arti-ficial lakes and drive-ways, and spend a couple of hundred thousand dollars to canandaigua, N. Y. For the advertising which the 300 doctors leaving here every year could have afforded, they preferred to locate at Ann Arbor instead of at any one of the other points under consideration. Such an institution must have sewerage connections, and when they found none could be had here they gave up the idea, to locate at Flint. Thus was lost what not only would have been a great ornament to the city but a considerable source of revenue—all because we had no sew-

The seniors held a class meeting, Saturday morning. After much discussion, it was decided to allow each member of the class seven double tickets to the senior reception, the limit being placed at ten. The class tax was made $10, and Gibson was elected class photographer.

The election of officers of the Base Ball Association was held in Room A, Saturday morning, with the following results: C. A. Higley, president; Frank Anderson, vice-president; F. Wade, secretary and treasurer; Messrs. Field, Haines, Willhartz, Stillman and Nye, directors.

The reception given the Glee and Banjo Clubs at Bay City and East Saginaw, last week, was royal. After the concert at Bay City, Friday evening, the boys were given a banquet at the Frazer House, which cost their hosts $3 per plate. There's nothing too rich for a U. of M. boy.

The Glee Club boys are in luck. They have obtained the use of the handsome sportsmen's palace car "City of Saginaw," owned by the Saginaw Sporting Club for use on their western trip. The car is one of the finest yet built, and is thoroughly equipped with every modern convenience, including kitchen and dining room, so that the boys will not be bothered with hotels on this trip.

The "St. Nicholas Songs," which were repeated by the Unity Club last Thursday evening, proved as entertaining as on the first rendition. Many of these songs were composed by Prof. A. A. Stanley, and the pleasure derived from his playing the accompaniments to his own songs, added greatly to the success of the evening. The dancing of the Granger children, as well as the minuet in costume, proved attractive features to a large audience.

THE CASTALIAN.

The Castalian will be out Tuesday. The history of its publication is well-known to our readers. Being, as it is, a new venture, and coming after a year of the hottest political struggles ever known in the University, from the victorious party, which has hitherto had no organ, its advent is important and significant in a political way. In a literary and artistic way it is still more so. It is and must remain a monument of what student enthusiasm and enterprise can do. The chief features are literary articles by Profs. Kelsey, Dewey, D'Ooge, Walter, Vaughan, Hinsdale and Hudson; cuts of Profs. Demmon and Thomas and Dr. Ford; a mass of excellent prose and verse by undergraduates; a poem by Fred Scott; a wealth of illustrations that goes far beyond both in quantity and quality any publication hitherto brought out at the U. of M.; complete class lists and organizations; grinds, and a very neat and attractive cover, made up in the college colors, with beveled boards and fine cloth. The volume is a fine specimen of the printer's art, from a typographical standpoint, and is sure to take. REGENTS' MEETING.

The Junior Exhibition.

The juniors of the high school are to be congratulated on the excellent way in which they acquitted themselves at the annual exhibition, given by them last Saturday evening. The program was as follows:

Was as follows:

1. "American Commerce," Charles Duncan, Ann Arbor.

2. "Spectacles," Jessie E. Midgley, Ann Arbor.

8. "Men who can not be Bought," James S. Handy, Ann Arbor.

14. "Circles," Winifred Orr, Ann Arbor.

5. Perseverance the Ally of Genius," Claude J. Price, Ann Arbor.

6. Recitation. "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," Emily J. Purfield, Ann Arbor.

7. "Some American Characteristics," Ira Severance, Walled Lake.

8. "The Story of a Pen," Florence E. Smith, Ann Arbor.

9. "The Scholar's Hope," Emily M. Treadwell, Ann Arbor Town.

10. "Brazil and Her Deposed Emperor," J. Sterling St. John, Highland.

11. "Military Heroes," Jeannette S. West, Jackson.

The exercises were opened with music, followed by prayer by the Rev.

J. W. Bradshaw. This class had the advantage of being the first to appear in the new chapel, which is a beautiful hall, and a striking contrast to the monotonous old chapel in which junior exhibitions were for-merly given. The main audience room was very prettily decorated with the class colors of '91, while at the rear of the stage was to be seen the class motto, "Nil sine labore."

According to the old established cus-tom the gallery was reserved for the seniors and their friends. This was also tastily decorated with the colors of '90, and just outside the gallery railing was their motto, "Sapiens quin assidious." The members of the school board and Supt. Perry and Prof. Pattengill, with the successful juniors, occupied the stage. The recitations, orations and essays were interspersed with music by the Chequamegons, and the whole af-fair, helped out by a large and appre-ciative audience, consisting mostly of patrons and parents, was in every sense a complete success.

The junior exhibition has been in vogue in our high school for a number of years, and it cannot be too much encouraged. There is no doubt but that these exhibitions add force to the whole high school course, both as to scholarship and general standing of the school. The persons chosen to represent the class are selected for their high standing and this forms a great incentive to do good work. And besides it gives the young people a chance to see and be seen, which they like, you know. It also gives them anopportunity to do something on their own responsibility, which is especially pleasing as well as helpful to them. While it is what the juniors want, it affords a chance for the school authorities to show to the public the kind of young men and women they are bringing up.

It now remains to the juniors to see to it that they do as well by the seniors next commencement, as they themselves have just been done by, for the seniors simply outdid themselves in deco-rating the room and making everything agreeable and attractive for "ye

Dear Sir:-We purchased a Guild Piano of you nearly (or quite) nineteen years ago. We also purchased a Boardman & Gray of you four years ago. If the B. & G. will do as good service as the Guild has we will be perfectly satisfied with it. Thus far, however, the Guild has stood better, and required less tuning than the Boardman & Gray.

Yours truly, South Lyon, Mich., March, 1890.

Mr. W. F. Griffith, of Howell, (in the employ of Farrand, Williams & Clark, of Detroit), has just decided on a "Guild," after looking the field over pretty generally. Said a teacher of many years experience, "it is the best Upright Piano I have ever seen." It is the best selling Piano I have ever sold; for the reason that it is a PERFECT Piano at a REASONABLE price. Sold for cash or on easy monthly or quarterly

I have sold a good many "Guild" Pianos. Every one without exception, has given complete satisfaction. They are EXQUISITELY finished and please the most fastidious customer. I say emphatically that I have never seen a more perfect piano in detail, AT ANY PRICE, BEARING ANY NAME. Finished in mahogany, walnut, rosewood, etc. See them before you buy. Prices reasonable. Over 25,000 in use. Have been manufactured in Boston nearly thirty years.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stag. No man or woman now living will ever date nent without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain ter years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one bundred years. There is another "9" which has also come to stay It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889 where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only

Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor. The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

SEWAGE TREATMENT.

A System Which Practically Prevents the Formation of Sewer Gas in Houses.

In the various systems of sewage treatment that have been introduced from time to time, the principal generally adopted has been to treat the sewage at the point where it is collected for deodorization and disposal. This necessarily involves the unchecked formation of gases in the sewers through which the sewage passes, and which gases have to be dealt with by ventilation-which means their emission into the atmosphere-or by other means.

After having devoted several years to the practical study of the question, Mr. E. Harris Reeves claims that he has perfected a system of sewage treatment which goes to the root of the evil. He deodorizes the sewage as it is run into the sewers from the houses, or even attacks it in the houses themselves, and thus prevents the formation of sewer gases; but if they should be formed, they are at once rendered inodorous and

This is effected by placing in the manholes in the streets a small earthenware apparatus containing two chemicals, which, in combination, act simultaneously on the gas present in the sewers and on the sewage itself. The chemicals employed are strong sulphuric acid and a solution of manganate of soda, which are automatically mixed and give up sulphuric acid gas and nascent oxygen. Of these two gases, the former is a complete destroyer of putrefactive and contagious organisms, while the latter is a perfect deodorizer. The solution formed by the union of two chemicals consists of a liquid containing a large percentage of permanganic acid and a small quantity of sulphuric acid. This solution overflows into the sewer from the chamber in which the admixture takes place, and deodorizes the sewage to a greater or less extent on its way to the precipitating tanks.

At the same time, whatever gases are evolved from the sewage are neutralized by the chemical gases, for to reach the outer atmosphere the sewage gases must pass through the chamber in which the chemical gases are generated.

We recently inspected Mr. Reeves' apparatus at Putney, where it has been applied. Its chief application, however, has been at Frome, where it is in extensive use, with every success, as certified by the engineer to the local board, after nearly a year's experience of its working. He states it to be a simple and efficient method of sweetening the sewers by the destruction of sewer gas, and at the same time of deodorizing the sewage on its way to the precipitating tanks. The deposit in the tanks is stated to be devoid of smell and very valuable as a manure, while the effluent is clear and oderless and fulfills the ordinary tests for purity.-London Times.

The American Engineers' European Trlp. "One of them," in communicating his impressions and reminiscences of the trip to Europe to the Engineering and Mining Journal, is satisfied with its results, which include: "Five pounds increase in weight, stronger nerves, better digestion, had a good time for two months, gained some knowledge, had some Yankee conceit knocked out of me, yet became prouder than ever of my American citizenship and of the engineering profession; met many distinguished men, saw many wonderful works, and had so many delightful experiences that the memory of them will be a life-long pleasure." Consequently, hough the trip cost him $500, it paid Moreover, it must be a source of great satisfaction to him, the editor of Iron adds, to find that he can now get his hat on his head without the aid of a shoehorn, suffering not in the least with the "swelled head" which stay-at-homes thought those who went abroad were afflicted with. His head now being reduced to normal size, there remain in it some memories of the trip, which he communicates to the readers of our American contemporary.

Tight Wooden Battery Boxes.

It has long been a subject of complaint with regard to wooden battery boxes, says La Lumiere Electrique, that, in spite of internal and external coats of varnish, they always begin to warp and leak after a certain time. With a view of remedying this defect the following process has been recently tried, it is said, with very satisfactory results: The boxes are dried and placed in a closed vessel, which is then exhausted. The protecting liquid is next allowed to run in, and when the boxes are well covered air is admitted, and the pressure of the atmosphere drives the varnish right into the pores of the wood, rendering it highly impermeable.

Pneumatic Tubes in Buenos Ayres. Buenos Ayres in the Argentine Republic has become one of the most progressive cities in the New World. In addition to railways, telegraphs, telephones, electric lights and other modern conveniences, a system of postal pneumatic tubes is now being prepared for the more rapid distribution and collection of mail matter throughout the city. A recent number of El Ingeniero Civil, an admirable engineering publication, contains drawings of the proposed location of the pneumatic tubes, as prepared, under the direction of the Director-General of posts and telegraphs Dr. Ramon J. Carcano, by Otto Krause, WINTER FEEDING.

Some Excellent Racks for Feeding Sheep. Those who feed their animals in sheltered yards or under sheds may employ racks for retaining the fodder. which may also be provided with troughs for holding grain or meal when It is fed separately. Those who appreciate neatness will desire to construct such racks as present a neat appearance. Such a one is represented in Fig. 1 of a rack for feeding sheep. The posts may be of hemlock or other timber, 2 by 4 inches and 3 feet long. The boards must be planed on the edges, so as not to catch the wool. The end pieces may be boards a few inches wide and 31 inches long. The long bottom boards will make a tight bottom, and the posts will be about 3 feet long. The slats are 23 inches long and 214 wide. All the feed that drops through the slats is caught in the trough, and afterwards eaten by the sheep.

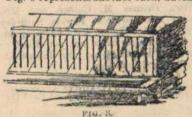

Fig. 2 is a cross-section of this trough, showing the 12-inch space at a, through which the sheep pass their heads for the fodder in the rack; bb are the long boards; e.c., flat bottom; d.d., inclined bottom, and ee, slats. The flat boards are about 8 inches wide, and the inclined ones, d d, are 11 inches. The length of this rack will correspond with the length of the boards used in constructing it, and it will feed about two small sheep for every foot of running length, but for large sheep about 16 inches are required.

A modification of this rack is made by covering tight with boards the part of the slats over the heads of the sheep, thus preventing the hay-seed from dropping down on their heads and wool. An advantage is likewise gained by separating the spaces for the sheep from each other by nailing an inch board upright for each space, leaving seven inches opening for each sheep and thus allowing sixteen inches for each, which would be required for large breeds. (The upright boards at each end would of course be only half as wide as

Fig. 3 represents another rack, having some advantages over the one just described. The front, from which the sheep feeds, is vertical, so that the hayseed can not fall into the woel.

The back side is boarded tight, and has a slope for the hay to fall down against the rack. The feeding trough is in front and separate, so as to be turned over for cleaning. The attendant walks behind and fills the space with hay.

Another and a more elaborate sheep rack is represented by Fig. 4, the construction of which is shown in sections by Figs. 5 and 6. In both these cross sections A A are the feed boxes; B and D D the timbers receiving each ends of the rounds C C; E E, folding boards, represented open in Fig. 5 and shut in Fig. 6, for sweeping the troughs or boxes. The boards being mostly only half an inch thick, the whole feeding rack is quite light an leasily moved. The following dimensions of the different parts will enable the owner to understand the construction without difficulty: The 3 posts on each side are 2 by 3 inches and 38 inches high; leaving 30 inches high above the bottom; the side horizontal inch boards are 3 and 5 inches wide; bottom cross-pieces, 2 by 3 inches; the 34 rounds are % inch and 15 inches long, and are 4 inches apart from center to center; the folding boards or "leaves" are a foot wide and half an inch thick. Doors at the ends allow sweeping out the dust. Such a rack will cost about $10. These different racks have been in use many years .- Country Gentleman.

A Snug Garden. A man in Indiana writes to the New York Tribune that in a small garden containing fifteen square rods of ground he raised this year plenty of nice, crisp, fresh radishes, lettuce and onions for a family of five during the season, and peas, beans, tomatoes, cucumbers and corn enough for two families, besides four bushels of beets, one of carrots and three of sweet potatoes (should have been ten), one bushel of ripe, sweet popcorn and eleven bushels of potatoes. From five halls of pumpkins thirty-four good ones were gathered; small ones were thrown into the poultry yard. Fifty have sunflew as grew in nooks and corn. A FIERY FURNACE.

Twelve Firemen Lose Their Lives at Indianapolis.

Nearly a Score More Injured, Some Fatally-The Terrible Accident Caused by the Tumbling of Walls.

A DOZEN DEAD.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 18 .- What at first seemed an insignificant fire in the Bowen-Merrill book store Monday afternoon resulted in a catastrophe in which at least twelve men were killed and a dozen wounded, some of whom will die. The building occupied by the book company was a four-story and basement marble front facing Washington street just west of Meridian. The fire started shortly before 8 o'clock near the furnace in the sub-basement, and the department, when it arrived, seemed at a loss to locate the flames and began pouring water into the front of the building. For two hours the fight had continued in this way until a majority of the spectators had left, under the impression that the fire was out.

About 5:30 o'clock, however, there was a terrible crash and the entire building, with the exception of the front wall, fell inward. At the time a number of firemen were on the roof and were buried in the debris, which was piled forty feet high within the walls of the burned building. The work of rescuing the living and extricating the dead was immediately begun by at least 500 volunteers. At a late hour the following twelve men, all firemen, had been taken out dead.

The physicians say that half of those injured will die. All are more or less burned. It was almost a red-hot furnace where they fell into, and it seems remarkable that a single man who went down came out alive. The fall itself (sixty feet) was enough to kill all those who were on the roof of the ill-fated building. The injured are receiving all the attention possible at the various city hospitals, more than half a hundred physicians having volunteered their services.

The Bowen-Merrill Company carried stock valued at $125,000, on which there was an insurance of $70,000. The building was owned by Silas T. Bowen, and the loss on the structure will be $30,000. H. P. Wasson, dealer in dry goods, suffered a loss of $10,000 by smoke and water, and Byram & Sullivan lost half that amount. Several smaller stocks are badly damaged. Bowen & Merrill have secured a new location and will reopen in a few days.

The calamity is by far the greatest that has ever befallen any fire department in the West. The unfortunate men, too, are the oldest and best men in the department, some of them having been in the service for twenty years. The killed are all men of families, and already steps for the relief of the bereft are being taken.

UNDER THE WHEELS. Three Lives Sacrificed in an Accident at a Railway Crossing.

JACKSON, Mich., March 17.-Henry Purdy, his wife and a neighbor's girl named Emerson, the latter 13 years old, were driving into the city from South Jackson Saturday at 10 o'clock. At the crossing on Francis street, a mile out, the Air Line mail struck the rig and all three were killed, as well as both horses. Mr. Purdy and his wife were almost instantly killed, and the girl lived about fifteen minutes. The flagman at the crossing which is an extremely dangerous one, says he warned Purdy not to attempt to cross ahead of the train, but the latter said: 'I will get across all right; don't stop me." The train was coming in at frightful speed and struck the buggy with tremendous force. The face of Mr. Purdy was somewhat bruised, and also that of the girl, but no serious marks were visible. Death is supposed to have resulted from the force of the shock.

Under the Wheels.

READING, Pa., March 17 .- Saturday morning while Lemuel Eastburn, aged 65, a farmer of Upper Merton, with his wife and son, was driving across the track of the Reading railroad at Bridgeport, the team was struck by a southbound passenger train. Mr. and Mrs. Eastburn were instantly killed. Their bodies were terribly mangled.

CINCINNATI, March 18.-Norwood L. Royce's livery-stable in this city was destroyed by an incendiary fire yesterday and ten horses were burned.

KILLED FOR MONEY.

The Terrible Fate of an Iown Farmer and His Wife.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 14.—A wealthy farmer named Henry Nurre, living near Brown, Clinton County, was found murdered Thursday morning and his wife was badly wounded. The assassin is unknown. Mrs. Nurre lived two miles east of Brown's station on the Milwaukee road. Though the murder is believed to have been done Wednesday the fact was not known until Thursday morning, when a son-in-law called and found the old man dead in the kitchen, where he had been dragged from the sitting-room. A further search found the aged wife of the murdered man upstairs nearly dead from having been beaten and pounded while engaged in a conflict with the murderers. The room was disarranged and bespattered with blood. Physicians say the old lady can not live. Robbery is supposed to have been the incentive to the deed, for Mr. Nurre frequently had large sums of money in the house. It is thought that none was secured by the robbers, for a hand-sachel was still in the house with $1,105 in it, which had been collected by the murdered man Sunday, and as the combination to the safe was broken off, it is thought an unsuccessful attempt to open it had been made. Mr. Nurre is said to have been worth $75,000.

TRAGEDY IN ST. LOUIS.

A Woman Smothers Her Child and Makes an Effort to End Her Own Life.

Sr. Louis March 15.-The home of W. J. Dayball, an employe of the A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Company, was the scene of a horrible tragedy Friday afternoon. Mrs. Dayball for several months been troubled with insomnia. She frequently told her friends that the sufferings she endured would drive her insane. Mr. Dayball returned home at 5 o'clock Friday evening and discovered his wife up stairs bleeding from two gashes in her wrist, while beside her on the bed lay her child, four months old, dead. She had deliberately smothered the child with a pillow and then cut the veins in her wrist. She was unconscious when found, and had lost so much blood that the physicians say she can not recover.

A Mystery in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 18. - Jennie Mc-Garvey, a grass widow aged about 27 years, was found in an unconscious state early Monday morning at the corner of Garfield boulevard and Morgan street in the town of Lake. She was taken to the county hospital and died at 5:45 o'clock Monday afternoon. The books of the hospital give fracture at the base of the skull as the cause of death, but whether the fracture resulted from accident or assault is not known. The death is a mystery.

Fate of a Ploneer and His Wife. AUSTIN, Minn., March 18 .- The residence of F. Augustus Carll near Lansing was burned Sunday night. Monday morning neighbors found the charred bodies of Mr. Carll and his wife among the smoldering ruins. Mr. Carll was an early settler and owned considerable property. Nothing is known about the origin of the fire.

Charged, with Murder.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., March 15 .- The body of Mrs. Charles Whiteland was found on the outskirts of New Albany yesterday morning. Her brother-inlaw, Henry Ritter, was arrested for her murder. She lived in the house with him, and his wife admits they quarreled early yesterday morning.

Badly Burned.

South Bend, Ind., March 18 .- Mrs. Henry Hamer, her mother and an adopted girl, were terribly burned yesterday morning, Mrs. Hamer so badly that her recovery is doubtful. The sad affair was the result of an exploding gasoline stove.

A Fatat Land-Slide.

TROY, N. Y., March 17 .- A land-slide occurred on Saturday on Warren's hill which demolished two residences, killing Mrs. Margaret Noonan and her daughter, Mrs. Johanna Hogan, both widows, and Annie Burns, 11 years old.

Three Prisoners Shot.

MONTE VISTA, Col., March 17 .- Three prisoners, John McCann, Charles Harris and Thomas Gallagher, who escaped from jail at Monte Vista, Col., were shot dead on Saturday by Sheriff Renner in his efforts to recapture them.

FROM BAD TO GOOD.

The Evolution of a Poultry House from a Useless to a Useful Structure.

The accompanying diagrams illustrate the manner in which a convenient and well-arranged poultry house and yard were evolved from very imperfect ones by S. D. Webster, St. Louis County, Mo. He writes to the American Agriculturist: "I found on the place I purchased a chicken house and yard, arranged as in Fig. 1. The only access to the yard was through the wicket shown in the diagram. The house could be entered only through the door near the corner. The house was divided by a cross partition into two rooms, the roosts in one and the nestboxes at the further extremity of the other. The door had to be left open for the hens to reach the nests. The house was inconvenient in every way, and I remodeled it as shown in Fig 2.

The cross partition was moved forward, and a second one was built lengthwise, near the base of which the nestboxes were arranged on a shelf about fourteen inches from the floor. A door was placed on the side of the house opening into the main yard, and another into the small yard, which had been picketed off for chicks. A small house was built for chickens which had outgrown the motherly care of the hens opening into a picketed yard by itself. The nest-boxes are movable, each one furnished with a lid which can be lifted to remove the eggs. Each box is halved down at one end, as shown in Fig. 3, to admit the hen, but when she wants to sit the box is turned around, and she enters it from the room C, Fig. 2, while she can not be disturbed by the other hens. Food and water are kept in proper receptacles in both rooms, and ample dust-boxes in the open space of the room B. The advantages obtained by the changes are clearly seen by a study of the two diagrams.

GEESE.

Raising Geese a Profitable Business-They Require Little Care and Are Always in Demand.

Why so few farmers go in for this lucrative business is a question that has often puzzled us, because after the goslings are two months old they require hardly any attention, as they will forage for themselves, and find quite enough food (with one small feed before letting out) during the day to keep themselves in good healthy condition by wandering over the meadows, along the roadside or by picking over the refuse of the rick

The breeding stock should consist of a gander and three geese. They should have full liberty, and not be over-fed, or unfertile eggs will be the result. When breeding, a small pond or piece of water is necessary.

During this period it is best not to meddle with them, as the gander is generally very spiteful and does not like any interference. The same birds may be used for breeding for a number of years, as geese live to a great age.

The varieties of geese best known are the Toulouse, the Embden, the Sebastopol, the Chinese, the Egyptian, the Canadian, the Gambian and the Cereopsis. The two first named are the varieties that find most favor, and are the best for general purposes. The Toulouse are large, handsome birds, and grow quickly, attaining tremendous weights. The Toulouse crossed with the Embden produces good birds for table purposes, as they grow quickly and the flesh is very tender.-Fanciers' Gazette,

ABOUT SHEEP.

A Prominent Kentucky Breeder Discusses Their Care and Feeding and Gives Some Valuable Advice.

Sheep, like all animals but man, are regular in their habits. They will take water and salt once a day, or even oftener. Salt is the best of all tonics, and I give all my stock, winter and summer, salt at will. It is not well to put salt into feed of any kind, but let he animals judge of their necessities. It is a mistake to suppose that salt causes purging; it does when after long intervals the sheep take too much, but it prevents diarrhea, which is indiges-

Sheep require as much water as other animals. In the winter they will eat snow and in summer succulent grass, obtaining in these much of their needed supply. On dry food they require as much water as any other animal. I find bells on sheep prevent the raids of banded dogs. They make a great noise and marauding dogs are scared off; if not the shepherd can come to their relief. I have not had banded dogs attack my sheep in twenty years since I adopted bells. I lose an occasional sheep from neighbors' dogs or my own, when they get used to the bells, but no regular raids are made.

What advertisements have most influenced you? If you have ever thought upon the question your reply would be: Such as have given me intelligent, agreeable and truthful information of things I needed or wanted. Many sneer at advertising, not pausing to think of its importance. Imagine your newspaper without advertising, if you can-to do it would stretch your imagination. What a blank! How many questions unanswered; without it you might not have any newspaper. at least a vital part would be gone, Agreeable advertising has influenced you. Why is this column printed with clearest type? To gratify your eyes—to read easily.

Intelligent advertising has influenced you when something has been told you that was new.

Honest advertising has influenced you. Faith gained a victory when you tested and found you could believe what advertising said.
