JUDGE CAMPBELL DEAD.

END OF A WELL SPENT LIFE.

The Learned Judge and Ex-Professor Passes Quietly Away While Sitting in his Library, Yesterday. Heart Disease the Cause.

The state was surprised yesterday by the sudden death of Judge James V. Campbell, of the supreme court, at his home in Detroit, Wednesday, March 26. The deceased had been feeling unwell for several days but his illness had not appeared serious. Yesterday morning he arose and went to his library to read the morning paper. His daughter noticing a deathlike pallor spread over his face, became alarmed and sent for assistance, but before it arrived the learned judge had passed to the other shore. He sat in his chair as if asleep, and his death was swift and peaceful. His death was the result of heart disease. He leaves a daughter and five sons, his wife having died about two years ago.

Judge Campbell has been closely allied with the university and it is to his efforts that the department of law owes much of its prosperity and influence. At the organization of the department in 1859, he was made Marshall professor of law, a position which he held until June 1885. At the commencement exercises in 1866, the degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him by the institution for which he had done so much. His death, when announced during lectures yesterday, cast a gloom not only over his former colleagues in the department, but also over the students who had learned to hold his name in reverence. President Angell has called a meeting of the University Senate to be held next Monday evening, when appropriate resolutions will be passed regarding his death.

Judge James V. Campbell was born in Buffalo, N. Y., February 25, 1823; accompanied his parents to Detroit in 1826, and has since resided in that city. He attended school at Flushing, L. I., matriculated at St. Paul's College in the same place and was graduated with the class of 1841. Returning to Detroit at the close of his college course Mr. Campbell studied law in the office of Douglas & Walker, was admitted to practice in October 1844, and formed a law partnership with his preceptors, which continued until Mr. Douglas was elected to the bench.

In 1857, the law establishing the supreme court was passed, the election being held in the spring of the same year. The judges then chosen were George Martin, Randolph Manning, I. P. Christianity and J. V. Campbell, all of whom took their seats Jan. 1, 1858. From that time Justice Campbell remained constantly upon the bench up to the time of his death, and was the only official survivor of the bench of 1858. His service was the longest ever rendered by any judge of that court. Some idea of the vastness of his labors may be gained from the fact that his opinions are embraced in over sixty volumes of the Michigan state reports. An examination of these reports shows that there is scarcely a legal point in all the range of law that has failed to receive attention from his careful hand. No one man has done so much to add important contributions to the body of our law.

At the bar, as in every relation of life, he was remarkable for attentiveness of intellect, mental and oratorical facility, and for that breadth and exactness of knowledge which well earned him the reputation for learning which he had. He well appreciated and applied the rules of personal and professional courtesy. He never enjoyed and always avoided controversy for controversy's sake, and his success at the bar stands as a practical argument for the superiority of legitimate professional methods over the gross resorts and petty tyranny of the little men of the law.

Judge Campbell carried the principles and practices of the hall of justice into his everyday life. That life was a unit, and whether considered as citizen, friend or justice, will always be found in perfect harmony with the high standards set in the court of justice. His central characteristic seemed to be an innate love of justice. Judge Campbell was particularly opposed to summary legislation and to the tendency of centralization of power.

In politics, Judge Campbell was a conservative republican, although his official position precluded his engagement in active politics. In church life he was an active and interested Episcopalian, and was a life-long member of St. Paul's church, Detroit.

NOT TO VOTE ON SEWERS.

Unless the Council Passes the Resolution Over the Mayor's Veto. The Executive also Objects to Expending too Much.

The resolution passed by the common council at the last meeting, providing for the question of sewers to be voted upon by the electors of the city, March 31, is not to be carried out as proposed, Mayor Beakes having discovered that such action would be illegal and against the provisions of the charter, and has filed a message vetoing the resolution. The mayor also disapproves a too liberal expenditure of the public funds, especially as the city treasury is not overflowing at present, just as the old council is about to finish, and for this reason he has filed a message vetoing the action taken by the council at the last meeting, in ordering six new electric lights to be placed in various parts of the city.

In his message in regard to the sewerage question, the mayor says:

To the Common Council:

I hereby return to you my disapproval of the resolution passed in the common council, March 17, 1890, providing for a meeting of the electors on March 31, 1890, to vote on the proposition to spread $10,000 on the assessment rolls for 1890 and $10,000 for the year 1891, for the purpose of building a main sewer for this city.

In disapproving this resolution, I do not desire to be understood as seeking in anyway to prevent the electors of the city from deciding for themselves, whether or not they desire the system of sewerage recommended by Prof. Greene, the Board of Health and the council. Nor do I oppose sewerage.

That part of the proposition submitted to the electors providing for the levying of $10,000 tax in 1891 is, I believe, contrary to section 186 of the city charter. And, as under the resolution, this tax cannot be separated from the tax to be levied in 1890, I am constrained to return the resolution disapproved. A meeting of electors, legally called, can vote a tax for the year in which the meeting is held for an amount which will not run the total city tax levy over one per cent. But I do not believe they can vote a tax for the next year without an enabling act from the legislature, as provided for in section 186. If they could do it for next year, then they could do it for the next twenty years, and section 186 of the charter would be practically abrogated.

The theory of the charter is to prevent the city being run in debt without due consideration or on the impulse of the moment. A costly, permanent improvement which can commend itself to the sober second thought of the people, has nothing to fear from the delay caused by waiting for an enabling act of the legislature. Such enabling acts have hitherto been obtained in this city when the electors have voted money to be raised in subsequent years. To spread an extra tax on the rolls for 1891 without an enabling act, would be a plain violation of the charter, and in this connection I would refer to Putnam vs. Grand Rapids, 58 Mich. 416-423, and Niles Water Works vs. Niles, 59 Mich. 311, where the supreme court has considered somewhat similar provisions. If such action were allowed, that part of section 177 of the charter, which provides for only two electors' meetings in any calendar year, would lose much of its force, for $10,000 might be voted this year for 1891 and two be held in 1891, which would in effect make three meetings for that year. If a tax is illegally spread on the tax rolls it will cause a vast amount of trouble.

I need not refer to the fact that an electors' meeting held March 31, does not give the electors sufficient time to consider the merits or demerits of the proposed sewerage system, and if it is a meritorious system, it might fail of passing because not understood.

If it is necessary that the question be submitted before the legislature meets, there are other ways in conformity with the charter in which the question can be submitted.

Respectfully submitted,
S. W. BEAKES, Mayor.

Rev. L. Smith Hobart.

Regarding the above named divine who at one time was a pastor in this city, the Chicago Tribune says:

The Rev. L. Smith Hobart, to whose indefatigable labors the Congregational denomination in the West owes the Chicago Theological Seminary on Ashland-ave., died at Springfield, Mass., March 8, in the 76th year of his age. Mr. Hobart graduated in the famous Yale class of '37, having for his classmates William M. Everts, Chief Justice Waite, Edwards Pierpont, ex-Minister to England, and other eminent men. At one time Samuel J. Tilden was in the same class with Mr. Hobart.

After graduation from the University Mr. Hobart took a theological course, and in 1840 began preaching in Union City, Mich. It was there he married his first wife, the daughter of Mr. Goodrich, the New York publisher and author of a History of New York. She lies buried there beside two children who died in infancy, and it is here he will be interred, the funeral being from the church which was his first charge. Hillsdale, Ann Arbor, and Adrian were other pastorates he held.

It was while in Ann Arbor that he first proposed the idea of a Congregational Theological Seminary to the Michigan conference.

He was appointed a committee of one to perfect the plan, and by his earnest solicitation such an interest was taken that the seminary was built. Col. Hammond, then Superintendent of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy railroad, who gave the funds to build the Hammond library, was a connection by marriage of Mr. Hobart.

ON THE CAMPUS.

Spring vacation begins Apr. 11.

The Oracle is expected out soon.

Over 600 Castilians were sold on Tuesday.

The caste of the Latin play held a rehearsal, Saturday.

E. L. Miller has been elected manager of the base ball team.

The Dramatic club will produce a play at the opera house, May 2.

The annual meeting of the Choral Union was held Tuesday evening.

The members of the base ball team practice at the rink, three times each week.

The engagement of Miss Louise Randolph and Mr. E. F. Gay is announced.—Argonaut.

The first edition of "The Yellow and Blue" has been exhausted and the second edition is now on sale.

G. R. Haviland leaves this week for the west to complete arrangements for the spring tour of the Glee Club.

Prof. Hinsdale is in charge of The Ottawa County Teachers' Institute, which is being held at Holland, this week.

Judge Cooley has received an invitation, to deliver the commencement address at the University of Wisconsin, in June.

The university hospital was crowded to overflowing, last week. Friday and Saturday 72 patients were taken care of there.

The freshmen met Saturday afternoon to discuss class hats and class colors. Pretty nearly time for the class cane and hat rushes.

Whist is considered an important study in the senior curriculum, and a whist club has been organized among the members of that class.

The ball club expect to have every thing in shape at the new fair grounds, so that practice games can be commenced in a few weeks.

The Glee and Banjo clubs went to Ypsilanti, Friday evening, and gave a concert. A large delegation of students accompanied them.

C. M. Coolidge has resigned from the managing editorship of the Technic, on account of poor health. L. C. Sabia has been elected in his place.

The T. & A. R. R. will offer students one and one-third fare during the spring vacation, and is the only road that will offer this reduction.

Judge Cooley received notice, Monday, that he had been elected a member of the American Academy of Art and Science, in place of the late Rowland G. Hazard, of Rhode Island.

One of the editors of the Castalian received a large amount of free advertising, Tuesday morning, the sidewalks being covered with "snipes" on which was printed, "E. L. Miller?"

One of the most important matters discussed by the regents at their meeting last week, was the extension of the law course to three years. No decision was reached and probably the change will not be made until next year.

J. W. Keating, formerly of medical class of '89, was a graduate of the Detroit Medical College, last week. Another graduate was Geo. E. Frothingham, who for two years was a member of the medical class of '90.

The students should turn out and give the University of Wisconsin Glee and Banjo clubs a rousing reception, when they appear here, Apr. 5. When the U. of M. club visited Madison, last year, everything possible was done to entertain them.

Several students have been compelled to give up a lucrative business, by the edict of the dean of the law department, prohibiting type-writer copies of the lectures. A student has made from ten to fifteen dollars a week, by furnishing the lectures to his class-mates.

The base ball team are contemplating a trip through the east. Dates have been offered for games at Cornell, Columbia, Union, Madison and several smaller colleges. All that the boys now need is a generous subscription from the students, and leave of absence from the authorities.

Dr. H. L. Obetz, of the homeopathic department, is one of the stockholders in a $10,000,000 company organized to push an invention called the Terrestrial Equipoise, warranted to heal every disease of man and beast, and foretell the weather, and perform other equally remarkable things.

The Glee and Banjo clubs sang at the Detroit Opera House, Monday evening, for the benefit of the treasurer, Mr. J. M. Lathrop, and were greeted with as large and select an audience as has turned out in that city this winter. Every seat was taken, the receipts being over $1,000. At the close of the concert, a banquet was given the club by the Detroit Club.

The final oratorical contest of the senior law class takes place next Friday evening, in the law lecture room. The judges are Judge Kinne, Prof. D'Ooge and Rev. J. M. Gelston, and the person they decide to be the winner of this contest, will be selected as orator of the senior class. This is an excellent way of choosing this officer, and is one in which merit is bound to win.

An educational magazine, The Academy, for March, publishes a report of a recent conference of the Massachusetts High School Master, in which occurs the following: "It is said of Prof. Frieze, at Ann Arbor, that it was his custom so to direct his pupils as to send out annually a large number of admirably equipped teachers, whose influence has long been conspicuous in the schools of Michigan."

The Veil of Peace,

RUTH WARD.
O the struggles of the soul,
Wrestling with doubt and fear!
Mingled voices come to her,
A discord of sounds,
In the midst of them a still small voice,
Calls softly on the divine man
To rise up and follow.
Softly as falls the snow,
The veil of peace descends.
With glory like that of dawn
Glow the clouds of sense
Over the bright day star,
And glows in the twilight soft,
Pure and sweet.
O veil of peace descending!
O light of God inward burning!
O purity and strength divine,
That tent in the earnest soul!

Since it was first published, in 1867, it has passed through numerous editions. A highly important and very interesting work upon which The Cosmopolitan Magazine has entered, is the offering of a premium of two hundred dollars to architects for the best designs for public Winter Bath-Houses for the poor of large cities. This offer has received the attention of architects in many parts of the country, and a very distinguished committee has undertaken to decide upon the merits of the plans submitted. The Committee is composed of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Hon. Seth Low, the President of Columbia College, Captain Hoxie, of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, Mr. D'Oench, formerly Superintendent of the City Department of Building, New York, and Mr. Richard M. Hunt, President of the American Institute of Architects. While some of the larger cities, like New York, have provided Summer Bath-Houses, it remains a matter of fact that there is no place where the poorer class of people can go in winter to bathe. There is no reform, probably, that, in a small way, would be so desirable as that of providing for public baths at an expense which would be within the reach of those who have but little money to spare on other than the absolute necessities of life. The Cosmopolitan also offers premium plans for public Laundries for the poor, and for Tenement-House Co-operative Kitchens. The Cosmopolitan, New York.

DR. HARTMAN'S

SPRING CATECHISM FOR FAMILY USE.

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE—FIRST LESSONS IN PSYCHOLOGY.

A Complete Explanation of the Disorders Peculiar to Spring-time Made Novel and Easy by Short Questions and Answers—Strictly Accurate in Every Particular.

SPRING CATECHISM.

Why is there so much said about blood disorders every spring? Because of the unusual prevalence of them. Why should impurities of the blood be more common in the spring than at other seasons of the year? There are many reasons, but they can all be traced to one of three distinct sources? What three sources do you mean? Atmospheric changes, digestive disturbances, and blood humors.

What are the changes of atmosphere peculiar to spring which favor blood impurities? They are four in number. First, in early spring there is less oxygen in the atmosphere than at any other season of the year; second, there is more moisture in it than at any other season; third, the electrical disturbances of the atmosphere are greatest in the spring; and, fourth, the rapid change from invigorating cold of winter to the depressing heat of summer occurs (of course) only in the spring of the year.

You say there is less oxygen in the atmosphere in early spring; how do you account for that? Every green leaf not only takes from the atmosphere poisonous gases, but pours into it fresh oxygen. There are in this climate during the winter only few green leaves to perform their work, consequently the atmosphere becomes greatly contaminated during the winter, and constantly growing more so until the leaves appear again. Is it the want of oxygen that causes that depressed, "tired feeling" one hears so much of at this season? Yes, the oxygen is nature's blood purifier; and when the air contains less of it than usual the blood becomes heavy with poisonous gases, which more oxygen would neutralize. What is the name of the poisonous gas that oxygen takes out of the blood? Carbon dioxide, commonly called "carbonic acid." It is the presence of unusual quantities of this gas in the blood that produces the tired, languid, sleepy feeling so common in the spring. Is there no help for it but to wait for the green leaves to appear and replenish the air with fresh oxygen? Yes, there is; Peruna is a specific for this condition; it quickens the flagging circulation, which brings the blood into contact with a greater quantity of oxygen and cleanses it of foul gases.

In what way does the increased moisture of spring air favor blood impurities? It is well known to scientists that moist air carries spores, disease germs, miasma, and other blood contaminations better than dry air; hence the spring months are especially bad in this respect. Can there be nothing done to protect the system from these dangerous enemies? Nothing but to increase the vigor of the body by using some reliable tonic like Peruna.

Can you explain why it is that during the spring months there is more electrical disturbances than at other seasons? Partly because the air is moister (as moist air is a better conductor of electricity than dry air), and partly because the sun's distance from the earth is less than at any other time of the year, and a portion of its great store of electricity is imparted to the earth. How does the increased electrical condition of the atmosphere affect the health of the people? By depressing of the nervous system and lowering the vitality. The symptoms which this causes are nervousness, confusion of the mind, weakness, cold feet and legs, disturbed sleep, specks before the eyes, and so on. Is Peruna recommended for this condition also? Yes, and it never fails to relieve promptly, as thousands testify who have used it.

You mentioned the change from cold to warm weather as having a bad effect on the system; will you explain how? During the winter in order to maintain the heat of the body against the cold more fatty foods are necessary; but, as soon as the weather gets warm, the blood becomes overloaded with unnecessary nutrition, and becomes thick and sluggish. There is more fuel than is needed to keep up the animal heat, and it becomes a contamination to the blood. What medicine is applicable to this condition? Man-a-lin is exactly adapted to this form of blood impurity, as it stimulates the kidneys and liver to eliminate from the blood all superfluous material or poison.

To send for the doctor every time you don't feel just right. My doctor's bill for years was over one hundred dollars a year, which made a pretty big hole in my wages. For the past two years, I only spent ten dollars, with which I bought a dozen bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and health has been in my family since using them. Robert Johnson, Mechanic.

GENERAL SCHENCK IS DEAD.

After a Short Illness He Expires at His Home in Washington. WASHINGTON, March 24.—General Robert C. Schenck, ex-Minister to England, died at his residence in this city at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon of pneumonia after a brief illness. He had been sick only a few days, and his condition was not considered dangerous until Saturday, when a change for the worse took place. He was conscious until a few moments before his death. The funeral arrangements will be in charge of Mr. Warder. The interment will take place at Dayton, O. In view of the diphtheritic complications in the case the funeral will be strictly private.

Robert C. Schenck was born in Franklin, Warren County, October 4, 1829; graduated at Miami University in 1857; was admitted to the bar in 1831 and settled in Dayton. He served in the Ohio Legislature in 1849-50, and was a Representative in Congress during 1851-52. He was appointed Minister to Brazil by President Fillmore, and during his residence in South America took part in negotiating a number of treaties. He entered the army in 1863 as Brigadier-General. He was elected to Congress in 1882, and was re-elected to the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth and Forty-first Congresses, serving part of the time as chairman of the committee on ways and means. In 1870 he was appointed Minister to England, and it was while serving in this capacity that he issued his famous treatise on the National game which gained him the sobriquet of "Poker Bob," which, by the way, he disliked. Upon his return to the United States he settled at Washington, where he had since been engaged in the practice of his profession as a lawyer.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The funeral of the late General Schenck took place at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The remains were sent to Dayton, O., for interment.

PRAIRIE FIRE IN KANSAS. Loss of $100,000 in Cattle and Produce Reported Near Wichita. WICHITA, Kan., March 24.—A prairie fire started near here about noon Sunday. The wind was blowing almost a gale from the southeast and it was impossible to stay the flames. The stock on the farms was driven before the fire, some of it outrunning the flames, while others fell from exhaustion and the heat and were consumed. The flames were driven by the wind in a northwesterly direction as far as the Santa Fe railway, where, having no fuel to feed upon, it died out. Four farm-houses, with their barns and sheds, were destroyed, but no human lives were lost. The loss to property, including live stock, is estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. Ten quarter sections were burned over and every thing combustible was consumed.

Twelve Victims Dead. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 24.—Fireman William Jones, who was taken from the wreck of the Bowen-Merrill building Tuesday morning, died Saturday, making the twelfth victim. The other injured firemen will probably recover. The relief fund now reaches $28,500 and subscriptions are still coming in rapidly.

Prairie Fires in Texas. ABILENE, Tex., March 22.—Prairie fire has been raging in the southwestern portion of this county for the last two or three days. The greatest loss will be the grass, as the scope of country burned was well watered and heavily stocked with cattle driven in there for the water.

RAMPANT RIVERS.

High Water Doing Great Damage in Various Localities. The Allegheny and Monongahela Overflow, Submerging Portions of Pittsburgh and Allegheny City—Three Persons Drowned.

HIGH WATER. GREENVILLE, Miss., March 22.—Work on the Offutt's crevasse is progressing slowly. The southern end of the break, which was thought to be secure, gave way again and about 600 feet of the levee has been washed away. An attempt was made Friday to secure it. The Government boats are at the scene of the break and are rendering all the assistance possible. An immense body of water is passing through this break. It has spread over a large area of territory. The outlook at present is rather gloomy. A large number of colored people are gathered on the levees. Men, women and children in small groups are nearly desolate. They look upon the ruin wrought, upon farms laid waste, and their homes completely under water. Many of them are utterly destitute, having neither sufficient clothing nor shelter, and are suffering for food, despite the bravery of more fortunate neighbors who are making every effort to relieve their immediate wants.

PITTSBURGH Pa., March 24.—The Monongahela river touched the highest note of the present flood at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when the marks registered 24 feet even. The Allegheny river reached the same point a short time later and is still rising. So far no serious damage has been done.

A large portion of the lower part of Allegheny City, the South side and the West end are partially submerged. Traffic has been entirely suspended on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad, the tracks being covered for six miles. In the vicinity of what is known as Barefoot square the water completely surrounds many of the houses and has cut off all communication with them except by skiffs. The residents were busy all day moving their effects to the upper stories.

On the Pittsburgh side the water overflowed the basements of nearly all the business houses on Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets, Duquesne way, the lower end of Penn avenue and Water street, doing considerable damage and causing a great deal of inconvenience. The lower floor of the Exposition building is under water and it is feared that the building will be seriously damaged if the water rises much more. In the West end the first floors of many of the houses are under water, while on the north and south banks of the Monongahela nearly all the mills and factories have been compelled to suspend operations until the water subsides.

Dispatches from points along the upper Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers report considerable damage to farm lands and houses along the banks of the streams, but nothing of a serious nature.

A GALE'S VICTIMS. Further Details of the Recent Cyclone in South Carolina. NEW YORK, March 25.—A Columbia, S. C., special gives further details of the storm in that State. The dispatch says that the fury of the cyclone was principally felt in Sumter. Every house was shaken to its foundation, roofs were carried away, fences demolished and trees uprooted. Ida Richardson was killed by a falling house; two men, names unknown, were fatally injured and many persons were badly bruised and cut. Many buildings were demolished. The bridge over Broad river, on the Spartanburg, Union & Columbia railroad at Shelton, was blown off the piers into the river and completely demolished. An unknown man standing on the bridge was carried with it.

In Chester County the tornado did great damage. Several small villages are also badly wrecked. At Blackstock the academy building was destroyed and several smaller structures blown down. One woman and several children are reported fatally injured. In Orangeburg County many houses were unroofed. In this city the immense ventilating roof of the State penitentiary was torn from its position and thrown down upon an adjoining building. A score of convicts narrowly escaped death. It is reported that the town of Prosperity has been swept away, but as the wires are down nothing can be learned.

A special from Camden states that the cyclone struck a house there, killing Mrs. Easterling, who was in the act of giving medicine to her step-daughter. The bed the sick child was on was torn to pieces and the mother killed, while the child, though thrown into the yard, escaped without the slightest injury.

"Stop" Nature Has a Cure.

EATON RAPIDS, MICH. J. M. LOOSE Red Clover Co., Detroit.—Two years I was afflicted with a very severe attack of Erysipelas. After two physicians had used their treatment for several weeks and I continued growing blind, and in their diagnosis concluded that there was no earthly help or hope for me, I gave up, having tried all the remedies I knew or heard of. My neighbor, Mr. Miller, came in to see me one day, and said try Loose's Extract of Red Clover, as he had known of its working remarkable cures. I told him I had lost hope, that nothing would do me any good in this world. He insisted, and taking his hat went to the drug store bought me one bottle and urged me to try it, which I did. Ten days afterwards I sent for two more bottles, and it was wonderful how I improved. I continued using it and to-day I am better than I have been in years. No sign of Erysipelas has shown itself and I heartily recommend it to suffering humanity as the greatest and best blood purifier in existence. Yours truly, HENRY MARVIN.

DEATH OF JUDGE CAMPBELL.

The sudden and unexpected death of Judge James N. Campbell, of the supreme bench of Michigan, which occurred at his residence, in Detroit, about eight o'clock yesterday removes from this state and nation one of the most eminent jurists and one of the purest, noblest and most revered citizens. The sad event will cause universal grief and every one who has known the good man will feel the great loss. His associations with Ann Arbor in his very long career as law professor in the university, will cause nearly every one here to feel a personal loss to his demise. His life has been a noble one for the ambitious youth of our land to pattern after. His example and influence for good will be enduring and a heritage better for those who live after him, than the millions of money of unworthy men.

This sudden and unlooked for death, by paralysis, of Major-General George Crook, U. S. A., at Chicago, March 21, is an event of national importance, and will cast a shade of gloom over our entire country. He was a brave, patriotic, and high principled man and officer, and his valuable services to this nation has earned a debt of gratitude that will cause his memory to be long enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen.

The Detroit Tribune, was defendant in a $5,000 libel suit instituted by Charles M. Welch, one of the jurors in a recent case in which the jury rendered a most outrageous and unjust verdict. The Tribune in expressing its opinion of the action of the jurymen called them "prize jackasses." Welch wanted $15,000 for this offense to his reputation, but the jury in the libel suit required only a few minutes to decide that he had no cause of action, and that as a public officer he was subject to criticism by the public and the press. The verdict for the Tribune was a just one. The scorching it gave the jurors in the infamous Brule case referred to was not more severe than they deserved. By this time Welch is probably convinced that the Tribune's title for him was about correct after all; if not before, now surely.

The Kalamazoo sewerage system is the kind recommended as most expedient for this city to adopt. In a recent report, Mr. George S. Pierson, city engineer, says: "The entire system has continued to operate satisfactorily throughout the year. There have been no stoppages in any of the mains or laterals which has made it necessary to excavate. A few partial stoppages have been removed without difficulty by a hose or by cleaning rods in manholes or lampholes. The entire cost of maintenance of the system for the year is $146.68 and the entire cost of repairs, $41.65. The sewerage system, as inaugurated in 1880, has now a total extent of 12.77 miles, exclusive of connecting sewers. This system was built at a cost of construction, proper, of $69,595.41 an average cost per foot of $1,032." As Ann Arbor needs only about half as many miles of pipe, with the cost of piping reduced over one-half, it is reasonable to estimate that this system can be adopted here at a cost not far from $20,000. This is a small sum compared to the advantages that would result. We venture to predict that in a single year this city would secure more actual benefit in material wealth than the cost of the main sewerage system. We must have sewers and that soon. It is an advantage we need both for the health of the entire community and its commercial prosperity.

The REGISTER would advise nothing on the part of the city that would be extravagant, injudicious or unbusinesslike. It would not favor running deeply in debt for improvements that could be dispensed with for a time. It believes in the pay-as-you-go system; but it does not believe that a great and wealthy corporation like Ann Arbor should go without what it really needs, because its treasury is not overflowing with cash. Scarcely an exception is known to the habit of the most successful men of the world, of occasionally using their credit to a safe amount, when to the best of their judgment a profit would be the result. We not only believe that the expenditure of $20,000 or more in sewers would be a great pecuniary advantage to this city, but what is of far greater importance, the health of the city demands the sewers, and the sooner the better. Sufficient time should be taken for a thorough discussion of the question. The best and most economical plan should be agreed upon and then the work pushed vigorously and done honestly. This city has credit enough to secure all the funds it needs at the lowest rate of interest for such enterprises as the good judgment of its best financiers would deem profitable. Mayor Beakes' vetoes are all right, but the results should be early reached in a businesslike constitutional method.

The United Friends.

The members of the Goethe Commandery of the United Friends of Michigan are so enthusiastic in furthering the objects and benefits of this order that their wives and lady friends are considering the practicability of organizing a ladies' commandery in this city. The scheme has proven a success in Detroit where there are over 200 in one commandery. Women have shown themselves often more efficient than men in spreading the influences of the order, and in increasing its membership. The wife of Supreme Treasurer Ulsmann (who recently instituted Goethe Commandery here,) brought in one month over thirty new applicants for membership to the commandery of which she is a member. In fact several of the officers of the Supreme Commandery are ladies. The success of the venture is an assured thing, for the rates are low and this is one of the few organizations in which a wife or mother can make provision for those who are left in case of her death. Miss Mary F. Miley, 20 W. Washington st., will be pleased to give information to those interested.

March Crop Report.

For the March crop report, the secretary of state has received reports from 854 correspondents, representing 651 townships, 576 being from the southern four tiers of counties.

Four hundred and forty correspondents in the southern four tiers of counties and 128 in the central counties reported wheat was injured during February, while 128 in the former section and 26 in the latter reported it not injured. The weather conditions during the month were such as to warrant the belief that the plant was injured. The average temperature for the entire state was 29 degrees, or six degrees above the normal, and in the southern four tiers of counties it was 32 degrees, or eight degrees above the normal. In the southern and central sections of the state, where 98 per cent of the wheat crop is grown, the average temperature was seven degrees above the normal. In these sections the average day temperature was 7 degrees above, and the average night temperature 7 degrees below the freezing point. The mean daily temperature was below the freezing point on only 13 days of the month.

Storms were frequent during February and prevailed generally on the 4th, 7th, 14th, 25th, 26th and 28th, yet the total precipitation in the state was .82 inches below the average. In the southern four tiers of counties the precipitation was .93 inches and in the central counties .80 inches below the average.

Reports were received of the quantity of wheat marketed by farmers during the month of February at 320 elevators and mills. Of these 258 were in the southern four tiers of counties. The total number of bushels reported marketed is 517,291. The number of bushels reported marketed in Washtenaw county being 23,421, making 206,024 bushels marketed since last August.

In December an investigation was begun to ascertain the number of purely-bred cattle, that is, cattle that were registered, or entitled to registry, in the state. Seven hundred and ninety-five correspondents responded to the request for information. The Washtenaw county report of purely-bred cattle was as follows: Devons 13, Hereford 7, Holstein-Friesian 68, Jersey 51, Norfolk-Suffolk 1, and Shorthorn 507. The condition of live-stock in the county was as follows: Horses, 96; cattle, 94; sheep, 96; swine, 97.

Sixteen correspondents from this county said that wheat had suffered during the month, while 4 thought that it had not.

GEN. ALGER AND THE VETERANS.

A Few Lines the G. A. R. Men Will Enjoy.

A correspondent of the Inter Ocean who was with Gen. Alger and his party, when they visited the Grand Army Encampments of Indiana and Illinois, writes some pleasant things about Alger and the camps that our ex-soldier readers will enjoy. The letter from which we quote is dated Chicago, March 10: "I have been sailing through the realms of Grand Armydom as a sort of satellite to Commander-in-chief Alger. I took in two Indiana and Illinois encampments, and I'm panting for somebody to put me in my little bed. As a promoter of fun and fatness department encampments are a roaring success; but as tributaries to "tired nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," they fall a little below my highest ideal. I never yet saw a dry department camp fire, but I've seen a "power" of "dry" men after the campfire was over—or heard them rather—and it takes them a long while to dry up."

Gen. Alger and staff, with a deputation from the encampment, visited the Women's Relief Corps, (of Indianapolis) where the General made a very graceful and effective speech, and General Weissert, Colonel Duffield, Major Osman—Michigan's immensely popular Secretary of State—and the rest of us brought up the rear. Mr. Alger in his speech alluded in eloquent terms to these women, who had "hovered like angels around the hospitals during the war," but Colonel Duffield spoiled the whole thing by declaring that from the appearance of their pretty faces he would make oath that there was not one of them who had not been born since the war, and the idea of their "hovering" was a myth.

We came through from Indianapolis to Quincy in General Alger's special car. This is the car that is crushing more democratic hearts than the car occupied by the late Mr. Juggernaut, although not so elegantly decorated and upholstered as is that of Senator Brice, of New York. It falls in another point of resemblance also: It was not paid for with money made in trusts and stock gambling, but with the earnings of legitimate business, helpful alike to the country and the individual laborer. In that car we were brought to Decatur over the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western Railroad. The engine not only carried us with a velocity that smelted of ozone, but it had an e-ctric headlight that was the astonishment and admiration of all. General Alger and all our party rode upon the engine by turns to witness the power of that light. At Decatur we were picked up by the Wabash and whirled into Quincy three hours ahead of the committee's programme, and it was amusing to look into the faces of the committee of reception as they saw Gen. Alger saunter up to the register of the Newcomb. Visions of a grand parade in open carriages, with sashes and ribboned batons and all glistening. But, after a while, when they went into the Opera House General Alger "hoofed it" through the mud with the rest of the procession, and his staff followed his example "for the lack of the thing." Quincy has no such grand auditorium as Indianapolis, but it is ample for ordinary gatherings. Quincy's crown of glory is her State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home. It is just three years old, says the commandant, and has sheltered 1,564 veterans to date. It now carries 1,084 upon its roster, but some are absent on leave, so that 900 about covers the answers to roll-call. The roll of the dead numbers 142, of whom 100 lie in the home cemetery. The average age of those now there is 59. It costs $100 a year to feed, clothe, and pay traveling expenses of each resident, and the General Government pays half of this, and ought to pay the whole.

We shall miss her bright presence in the class room, and her cheerful companionship in the social circle. We will ever remember her noble qualities of heart and character, and try to emulate her bright ambition to live a worthy and useful life.

We extend to the sorrowing friends our sincere sympathy, knowing full well that their loss here is more than compensated by her gain in the home above.

Mr. Clark Puts us in the Soup.

Editor Register:—In your issue of Feb. 27, in connection with Bishop Newman's lecture you say: "Mr. Clark of Detroit will sing," etc. Now I object to being yanked out of the county in that way. I don't know who is responsible for the item, but you see I have always lived at Saline—a kind of detached suburb of Ann Arbor, situated on the Ann Arbor, Adrian, Cincinnati and Mackinac R. R. (The other railroad I don't count) and I like to be correctly located. In the following issue you did not correct it so I suppose I am still in Detroit.

I suppose editors always go to church (sometimes the D—l does,) but think you were not there, because if you were you could have told by the singing that I was not from the city, but only one of your subscribers. Yours Respy.,

A. FRANK CLARK.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy."

THE SECRET

Many wonder why we have sold more goods in the past year than ever before in the same length of time, while our competitors and in fact most every other dealer in the State, are complaining about a falling off in trade. To make a long story short it is our Superior Advantage for Buying Goods.

We are connected with two of the best and largest manufacturers in the United States, thereby giving us a knowledge which other dealers do not have. This together with Fair Dealing and One Price to All, not only in Word but in Fact is what is making our business boom, in what are called hard times by others.

We haven't space to speak of what we intend to do this Spring, but a visit to our Mammoth Store will convince all that we are prepared to meet the wants of the people.

OUR SPRING OVERCOAT LINE

Will be the greatest ever seen in Ann Arbor. Winter Gloves and Mittens, Underwear and Winter Overcoats at greatly reduced prices until April 1st. We have a few odd Suits and some odd Pants which we will sell at one-half price.

The Beautiful Guild.

ALVIN WILSEY, ESQ., Ann Arbor, Mich.

Dear Sir:—We purchased a Guild Piano of you nearly (or quite) nineteen years ago. We also purchased a Boardman & Gray of you four years ago. If the B. & G. will do as good service as the Guild has we will be perfectly satisfied with it. Thus far, however, the Guild has stood better, and required less tuning than the Boardman & Gray.

Yours truly,

South Lyon, Mich., March, 1890.

WM. DOTY.

Mr. W. F. Griffith, of Howell, (in the employ of Farrand, Williams & Clark, of Detroit), has just decided on a "Guild," after looking the field over pretty generally. Said a teacher of many years experience, "It is the best Upright Piano I have ever seen." It is the best selling Piano I have ever sold; for the reason that it is a PERFECT Piano at a REASONABLE price. Sold for cash or on easy monthly or quarterly payments.

I have sold a good many "Guild" Pianos. Every one without exception, has given complete satisfaction. They are EXQUISITELY finished and please the most fastidious customer. I say emphatically that I have never seen a more perfect piano in detail, AT ANY PRICE, BEARING ANY NAME. Finished in mahogany, walnut, rosewood, etc. See them before you buy. Prices reasonable. Over 25,000 in use. Have been manufactured in Boston nearly thirty years.

We believe Ann Arbor is the Best City in Michigan
IN WHICH TO LIVE.

The Educational Advantages here are unsurpassed!
The Streets are broad and well kept!
Ann Arbor has a low rate of taxation!
It has the best system of Water Works in the West.

Our Addition is just five Blocks from the University of Michigan; it has a front of One Hundred Rods on State Street, the best residence street in the city. Its location is unsurpassed for health and convenience. The levels taken by our Engineer, Geo. W. Sanborn, show the lowest point to be higher than Main Street in front of the Savings Bank. The slope of the ground is such that the drainage is perfect, having a fall of from six to ten feet.

We have filed our Plat and have given

8 1-2 Acres for a Park.

We have paid Fifty Dollars for a handsome and attractive plan for a Park.

Work will commence on the streets and Park early in April. Four new houses are already contracted for to be built upon our addition this year. New sidewalks will be laid, shade trees will be planted upon the streets and Park. Two professors in the University have already purchased Lots in this addition, and will soon build good houses on their lots.

All the Lots have an Alley 16 feet, Wide in the rear. We have made the price of the lots very low. If you buy a Lot we believe you will double your money in three years time.

The Investment is Safe

as a Savings Bank, and the gain much more rapid.

We will sell Lots for Cash.

We will sell lots on time Payments.

We will sell Lots to parties who wish to build houses at once, and will help them to furnish money to build.

Buy a Lot, Money Made!

Payments may be made by the week, by the month, or by the year as suits purchaser.

Call at Sheehan's Store, or at Hamilton Block to see the Plat. We have the Park Plans. We desire those intending to purchase lots to examine them. Call and see them.

The new buildings on State Street this year will amount to Fifty Thousand Dollars. Investigate what we have, then judge for yourselves. This is better than a Loan and Investment Association. Your money is kept at home.

DEATH OF GEN. CROOK.

The Hero of Many a Battle-Field
Lays Down His Arms.

His Brilliant Military Career Ended by an Attack of Heart Disease at Chicago—A Brief Record of His Active Life.

HIS WAR-FARE ENDED.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Major-General George Crook, of the United States Army, died very suddenly at 7:10 o'clock a. m. yesterday in his apartments at the Pacific Hotel, where he has lived for two years. He has not been in perfect health since his return from the Southwest a month ago when he made a trip with General Strong and other friends, but he has not been confined to his room. He was one of a box-party at a theater Thursday night, and was in good spirits. He returned and went to bed without complaining of any unusual symptoms. He arose before 7 o'clock and partially dressed himself. He stepped from his sleeping-room into his parlor to take some exercise with an apparatus, as is his custom. A moment later his wife heard him fall heavily on a sofa and cry: "Mary, Mary, come quick; I can't breathe." She rushed to his aid but was unable to relieve him. Dr. Hurlburt was summoned and only arrived to see the General expire. The cause of his death was undoubtedly failure of the heart.

GENERAL CROOK.

"General Crook undermined his constitution in his Indian campaign," said Major McClellan yesterday morning. "As every one knows, he was a wonderfully active man. He would stop at nothing and denied himself every pleasure or comfort. He constantly refused to incur himself with things that might conduce to his comfort, so that he might move around more quickly. There never was a point of danger in these western campaigns that he did not place himself in, so that a good example would be set for the army. I think the campaign of 1876 was the foundation for his troubles. Then he started out with thirty days' rations for his force and was gone nearly a year, spending a terribly severe winter in the mountains and on the western prairies far away from the forts and posts. This hard service, together with the irregularity of meals and the scarcity of food, resulted in his stomach troubles which immediately affected his heart."

General Crook was born near Dayton, O., September 23, 1829. He entered West Point in 1848, graduating in 1852, with Generals Sheridan, Schofield and others who afterwards gained fame. He was first assigned as Second Lieutenant of the Fourth Infantry. At the breaking out of the war he was made Colonel of the Thirty-Sixth Ohio. He fought throughout the Virginia campaign as Brigadier-General. Ordered to Tennessee, he distinguished himself at Chickamauga. Under General Sheridan he aided in defeating the rebels at Cedar creek, and planned the attack upon Early at Fisher's hill, from which Early never recovered. After the war, as Lieutenant-Colonel of the Twenty-third Infantry, in the Department of the Columbia, he did good work in quelling hostile Indians. From the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel he became a Brigadier-General of the United States Army in 1874, something in the way of promotion very rarely heard of. During his career as Commander of the Department of the Platte, by his conquering the hostile Sioux and Cheyennes, he opened up to settlement a stretch of country larger than France.

In 1882 General Crook returned to Arizona, forced the Mormons, squatters, miners and stock raisers to vacate the Indian lands on which they had seized, encouraged the Apaches in planting and pledged them the protection of the Government. In the spring of 1883 the Chiricahuas entrenched themselves in the fastnesses of the mountains on the Northern Mexican boundary and began a series of raids. General Crook struck the trail, and, instead of following, took it backward, penetrated into and took possession of their strongholds, and, as fast as the warriors returned from their plundering excursions, made them prisoners. He marched over 200 miles, made 400 prisoners and captured all the horses and plunder. During the two years following he had sole charge of the Indians, and in that time no depredation occurred. He then set them all at work on their farms, abolished the system of trading and paying in goods and store orders indulged in by contractors, paid cash direct to the Indians for all his supplies and stimulated them to increased exertions. The Indians became self-supporting within three years.

April 6, 1888, President Cleveland nominated Brigadier-General George Crook to be Major-General, vice Terry, retired. His headquarters were established in the Pullman building, in Chicago, and his time would have expired in 1894.

CHICAGO, March 24.—The funeral of the late Major-General George Crook, United States Army, took place yesterday afternoon. The remains were taken to Oakland, Md., for interment.

Says He Has Raised the Dead.
ROCKFORD, Ill., March 22.—Schweinfurth preached his first sermon before the convention Friday. He reiterated his claims of being the Saviour, and insisted that he had power to raise the dead and work other miracles. He claimed that a 2-year-old boy at "Heaven" had died a short time ago and that he had restored the lad to life and health by the laying on of hands.

Defiant Moonshiners.
DANVILLE, Va., March 21.—More than 200 moonshiners have established a fortified camp in Franklin County, this State, and openly defy the authorities. They have over 100 illicit stills in operation and are producing thousands of barrels of whisky on which no duty to Uncle Sam is paid.

The Failure Record.
NEW YORK, March 22.—The business failures reported number 200 in the United States this week, against 209 last week. The total number of failures in the United States since January 1 is 3,167, against 3,385 in 1893.

The Champion Skater.
MONTREAL, Can., March 22.—In this city yesterday C. Gordon, the five-mile champion skater of 1893, won the ten-mile amateur skating championship of Canada in 39:43. The time is 3:05 below the American record.

An interesting program will be given in the law lecture room next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock by the Prohibition students in an oratorical contest. Mr. W. H. Nichols speaks on "The Political Conscience"; Mr. C. V. Nafe on "The Manifest Destiny" of Prohibition; J. F. Backner, on "The Sophistry of the Liquor Revenue"; E. F. Van Vechten, "Necessity of a New Political Party"; and W. E. Goddard, on "Prohibition as a Power." Pleasing music will be rendered by the Chequamegon orchestra. No admission charge.

On Saturday, a darkey named McCoy, was brought to the University hospital from Ypsilanti, where he had been engaged in a quarrel with another darkey by the name of Jones, and had a badly fractured skull as the result. Jones struck McCoy over the head with a stone, and from what can be learned of the causes leading to the quarrel, it appears that Jones was justified in doing as he did. Thirteen pieces of McCoy's skull were taken out by the surgeon at the hospital, and he is now in a fair way to recover.

The state encampment of the G. A. R. will be held at Adrian on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next, at Crosswell's opera house. The headquarters of the G. A. R. and the W. R. C. will be at the Lawrence house. Adrian is making every arrangement for the entertainment of the veterans. Camp fires will be held at which Gen. Luce, Gen. R. A. Alger, Gen. William Gibson, of Ohio, and Gen. J. C. Black, of Illinois, will be present. Also the national president of the W. R. C., and Mrs. Thompson, department president of Michigan.

George L. Moore and H. M. Tabor have purchased the stock of books, stationery, etc., of Andrews & Co., and will take charge of the business Apr. 1. Both members of the new firm are well-known citizens here and are active, wide awake business men, who will undoubtedly make a success of their new venture. The new firm will occupy the Hunt store on Main-st., next to Schairer & Millen. The store will have a new front similar to that of Schairer & Millen's, and will be generally refitted inside in hard wood, making one of the handsomest stores in the city.

Louis J. Liesemer, author of "Playing with Hearts" now running in the Detroit Sunday News, has just completed a long sensational novel, entitled "One Hundred Nights." It is a novel novel. There are one hundred chapters, each night constituting a chapter; one hundred characters, fifty men and fifty women; and the scenes are laid in Detroit, Chicago, Jackson, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, and most of the characters represent some of the elite of the above-named cities. "One Hundred Nights" will not appear as a serial, but will be published in book form by a New York or Chicago firm.

Lyman D. James, of Williamsburg, Mass. has been in the city this week, looking after his large real estate interests here. Mr. James has decided to clear up the property on the northeast corner of Washington and Fourth-sts., raze the old buildings to the ground, build a stone sidewalk along the property, and then place the property upon the market for business lots. This will be one of the most decided improvements to be made in the city this year, as the property, really very valuable, has been in its present condition a disgrace and a drawback upon other property in that vicinity.

On Saturday, Gilbert M. Smith, of Ypsilanti, died in jail from the combined effects of the grip and delirium tremens. Smith had not been a drinking man for several years past, but being taken with the grip he took whisky as a remedy. This led him to drinking and he went to Detroit on a spree. Returning he was carried by Ypsilanti and came to Ann Arbor, where patrolman Murray found him about four o'clock one morning last week after he had laid out nearly all night. He was placed in jail and there had the tremens, and the exposure brought the grip back on him, from which he did not recover. The body was taken to Ypsilanti, Monday.

The Sons of Veterans will assist the members of the G. A. R. post in canvassing the city between the 1st and 8th of April and sell tickets for the lecture and concert at University Hall, April 8th, for the benefit of the crippled and needy veterans of the civil war. Every body should buy the tickets and attend. It promises to be a first class entertainment. The fund will be used only for charitable purposes. In addition to frequent calls upon the relief fund of the Post for aid in the city and vicinity there are now calls from Dakota for funds to buy flour and wheat for spring seedings by soldiers who have gone from Michigan to Dakota and are suffering for supplies. Tickets only 25 cents.

The second literary entertainment of the Young People's Society of the Baptist church was well attended and very pleasing. Miss Carrie Berry Pnelphs, whose readings were the principal feature of the occasion, acquitted herself well, the strongest of her selections being "The Chariot Race," from Ben Hur, although the lighter piece, "The Farmer and the Wheel," was much appreciated. The musical part of the program was very enjoyable also. Mrs. Beman, Miss Cramer and Miss Minnie Davis, did their customary meritorious work, Mr. F. T. Lidge, of Detroit, made an excellent first impression, and the Page brothers, of Ann Arbor, delighted the audience with their guitar and mandolin duets. The fine Haines Bros.' piano was kindly furnished by the Allmendinger Piano and Organ Co.
