THE FARMERS' PICNIC.

A GLORIOUS TIME AT WHITMORE LAKE.

Eloquent Speeches on Leading Issues by R. W. Coleman and Azariah S. Partridge.-Incidents of the Day.

A bright, cool morning, growing into a warmer noon-day, gratified the hearts of the five thousand picnickers who on Saturday last gathered together at Whitmore Lake. The morning train brought hundreds of people from Ann Arbor, and from 9 o'clock till 12, wagon load after wagon load of happy families arrived upon the scene. Washtenaw, Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties were all well represented. A more prosperous or happier throng of farm-ers could not be assembled together from any other four counties in the United States. All the conditions were favorable for a good time, and nothing occurred to mar the festivities of the day. During the foremoon the Superior occurred to mar the festivities of the day. During the forenoon the Superior Grange Band rendered a number of se-lections in front of the Clifton House. The dinner hour soon arrived and then the picnic proper was enjoyed. After the eating came the speaking. All but the young people, who preferred to spend the afternoon in dancing or in boating, gathered around the platform in the grove where the exercises of the day took place. The first thing on the program was music by the Walker Club of Salem. Then the Rev. Mr. Gelston invoked the divine blessing. Music by the South Lyon GleeClub followed, after which President R. C. Reeves spoke a few words of welcome. There were so many good speakers on the platform, he said, that he did not propose to make a speech himself. After a short selection by the Superior Grange Band, R. W. Coleman, Alliance Lecturer for the state of Mississippi, was introduced. He spoke for about an hour and a half and veritably took the audience bystorm. The answer is found in the universal de-mand that the people give their attention to these issues? Because up to this time. for thirty years, they have not given their attention—and this in face of the fact that issues of the greatest importance have arisen. In 1880 there were 30 per cent more homeless people in the United States than in 1870. What do the farmers think of this? The wealth of the agricultural classes. from 1860 to 1870, increased 43 per cent, in spite of the rawages of a cruel war and the practical de-struction of millions in slave property. From 1870 to 1880 their wealth increased only 9 per cent. In 1850 the farmers constituted about one half of the population, owned 70 per cent of the property and paid 75 per cent of the taxes. In 1860 they comprised 51 per cent of the taxes. In 1860 the taxes. In 1880 they owned 28 per cent of the taxes. In 1880 they owned 28 per cent of the taxes. In 1880 they owned 28 per cent of the taxes. In 1880 they owned 28 per cent of the taxes. In 1890 the manufacturers has in-creased greatly out of proportion to that of the farmers. There are some who do not look upon this fact as an evil and view the increase in man-infacturing as advantageous to all classes, but let us took at the question a little more closely. If you increase any branch of industry out jof pro-portion, you practically make that increase is a which industry has rested. If you build too many mills for the amount of cotton raised sympt to lock up his money in any business where it will be idle. Consequently you are paying a dispro-which is non-productive. Then his function upon the question of mo-nopolies. There is not a single product in the country, he said, save one, which is not con-trolled by some combination of capitalists. He selected the standard of locompany as illustrative of the growth and working of a trust, and showed how farce competition 1d d to combinations. The oil men asked for special privileges and re-ceived them. Then there entered into modern that any other principle since this republic was founded. When you grant a privilege to one man, you destroy individual liberty and make the privilege to one man, you destroy individual liberty and make the privilege to one man, you destroy individual liberty and make the priviles. They finally saw, however, that here indications. They finally saw, however, that here must either combine or be content with the second privations state gove numents set up a vigorous con-petition. The people of the contry have always been put to light in our legislative hells. Some years ago a wave of indignation against polygamy swept demanded its abolition and a bill in accordance with this demand was introduced. What hap, pend? Why, the New York board of trade held araphteneous control of the second the pro-serve of the contrast pro-graph the new stores dropped and it has never gain been brought up in its original form. One board of trade, by its own power, thus in warted the will of the whole people. It has never asked of regislation, but it has received it. As a re-sult of such a state of things, people are been fing poople are being gradually time out of their nones—which is the most dangerous sign of all, or government itself is founded on the preserva-tion of homes. In 1900, if conditions do not hange, nine tenths of the American people will publican listitutions go down in an anarchy of blood. There can be no other result. How do I brough about the fight of every mation that has ever arisen. The speaker here glanced at the nikory of Egypt Cartage, Greece and Rome, when Kome was in the highth of its glory, one thousand eight hundred mer owned the entire known world. The result while point what the Imperial city fell incominiously and became hencetoric the dwelling place of the stand owls. The politicians elected on such issues go to Washington and walk down Pennsylvania Avenue arm in arm. We send them there on account of their working on out prejudices and they sell us both out. Mr. Coleman, at this juncture, owelt upon the exploitation o the partnership with them many years ago, said he, and now they have the money and we the ex-perience. There are 180,000 of them and we have 300,0000 tramps. Men have said that farmers are gulfible, and they are, but they are going to do a little thinking for themselves after this. In bistissippi we realize the actual state of things better than you do. At a recent couvention, interaction of the solutions were ex-confid-erate soldiers, a resolution was introduced, to this effect, that so far as the farmers of Mississippi were concerned, no further sectionalism would one to their talk. Sketch of the Lives of Peter Cook and J. Evarts Smith .- Their Views and Public Services.

is an enthusiastic admirer of the "old times." Many years ago when he came to Michigan, he passed through the usual log-cabin experiences, and nothing can persuade him now that pioneer life is not the best thing for humanity. He says that the log house is the most comfortable thing ever invented, inasmuch as it is warm in winter and cool in summer. "To be sure," he adds, "such houses are not supplied with carpets or upholstered chairs, but nevertheless people in those days enjoyed them-selves better than they do in these days of useless luxury. All this talk about the sufferings of picneer life is mere bosh." When he came here the whole country looked like an orchard. Wolves and deer were plentiful, and farmers had to pen up their sheep in order to protect them. There were no roads in those days, and when Mr. Cook went to Saline or Ypsilanti for the purpose of marketing, he had to make his way through the words. His father purpose of marketing, he had to make his way through the woods. Hisfather, who came to Michigan in 1831, when Peter was but three years old, took about 1,400 acres of land, part for him-self and part for his brothers. The large family of sixteen dwelt together in one log-house in peace and security. They never even saw an Indian. Hunt-ing was good and Peter then imbibed a love for that sport which has never for-saken him. In fact he is, even now, not happy unless he can go north every saken him. In fact he is, even now, not happy unless he can go north every year and spend several weeks hunting deer. When he was a boy he used to think it great fun to fight the forest fires which occasionally started up, but, as he confesses, he was sometimes frightened by them. The young boy attended the old fashioned district school near his home and there acquired that knowledge, upon the basis of which that knowledge, upon the basis of which he has since obtained a good deal of practical information. When he was scarcely twenty-one years of age, Mr. Cook was wedded to Miss Harriet Carver, who died in less than two years often her marriage. In 1852 her mee after her marriage In 1853 he was again joined in the bonds of matrimony, this time to Miss Ann Hinckley. Seven two of whom are married, two are teaching at distant places and the rest are still at home. The family now re-side on the farm, which consists of 260 acres and is located near the T. & A. A. railway station at Urania. Mr. Cook owns an elevator near the track, from which he ships grain. He is also at present performing the duties of station agent for the Ann Arbor road. Without neglecting his private interests he has at times performed public services. He has acted as town clerk and supervisor during several periods and has been a justice of the peace for no less than a quarter of a century. For two years he represented this county in the legisla-ture. A republican to t e back-bone ture. Mr. Cook is a very shrewd student of political questions and he is always on hand when the interests of farmers are at stake. J. EVARTS SMITH

J. T. JACOBS & CO.

The audience listened very intently throughout the whole of Mr. Coleman's speech, and many statements mide therein gained their hearty approval. After another selection by the Walker glee club, President Reeves introduced the other speaker of the day, Azariah S. Partridge, Grand President of the Michigan Patrons of Industry. Mr. Partridge was evidently a little nervous, for some parts of his address were hard to follow. The substance of what he said is as follows:

him a much wider reputation than is usually accorded to any one who bears the humble name of Smith. Hundreds of people in this state possess the same cognomen, but, strange to say, not one o' them is related to the subject of our sketch.

Mr. Smith is a native of the state in which Molhe Stark once came very near being a widow. Two years before the battle of Lexiogton, his great-grand-father moved from Connecticut to Rut-land, Rutland county, Vt. He is said to have been the second white settler in that township. He bought 1,200 acres, upon which he located with his five upon which he located with his five sons and one daughter, giving each a good farm. The old homestead is still in the hands of two representatives of the family. The father and two elder sons served with Ethan Allen during the war of the revolution—the father and one son as captains and one son as lieutenant. During the trouble be-tween the governor of New York and the holders of the so-called Hampshire active co-worker with Ethan Allen, Remember Baker, Seth Warner and others and was included with them, in the reward of £50 each offered for their capture by the governor of New York. J. Evarts Smith, in whom we are more particularly interested, was a member of a large family, comprising five sisters and four brothers. J. Evarts is the only one of the latter who still survives. When Mr. Partridge had concluded his remarks, the glee club sang the Flag without A Stain, and the exercises were brought to a close.

NOTES.

In the evening dances were given at both the Lake and Clifton Houses. Three young men from Ann Arbor who attempted to set up a wheel of fortune in the morning were at once driven away. Candidates E. B. Winans and Wm.

Ball were on the ground together. Both disclaimed any political ambition. The former thought that politics shouldn't enter into state elections; after all, it was a question simply as to which party presented the best candidates. Yes, he might run for governor, if the nomination were offered him, but he would never ask it, no never.

R. W. Coleman, whose speech made so deep an impression upon all who heard him, is a young man whose manheard him, is a young man whose man-ner and appearance proclaim his south-ern origin. He is only twenty-three years of age, but looks at least five years older. He graduated from the University of Mississippi when he was only eighteen years old. Since that time he has devoted a great deal of at-tention to economic questions.

Afloat in a Boat All Night.

The small schooner Minor, of Saginaw, started for Bay City the other evening, with Captain Frank Alien and wife, Jonas Coby and Joseph Paul on board. About midnight a leak was discovered and the pumps were resorted to, both men working hard. There was no small boat, and the men, seeing that she could not be kept afloat, began making a raft. Captain Allen embarked, and succeeded in reaching the shore near Linwood, where he procured a sailboat and returned to find the rest of the party. They were floating about until 3 o'clock the next afternoon before being rescued.

server. Mr. Azro Fletcher, says the Ypsilan-tian, is one of the successful young farmers of Superior township and doesn't lie awake nights over the sad condition in which the free-traders claim the farmers to be. Whether his farm is mortgaged or not we cannot say; it wouldn't be strange, as most young men start out that way, turning their character for honesty, industry and thought to good account, by making it stand for capital in hand. This year, he is especially happy over a good rehe is especially happy over a good re-turn from his orchard. His hay is another source of revenue and who buys of him always gets first quality and full weight. Mr. Powderly Issues an Appeal to the People-Vice-President Webb on the Situation - The Company Will Not Arbitrate

POWDERLY'S APPEAL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.-Mr. Powderly has issued an appeal addressed "To the people." He repeats the charge against the company of dis-charging employes because they have been leading members of the Knights of Labor and gives a resume of his interviews with Mr. Toucey and Mr. Webb, the causes leading to the strike and the repeated efforts made by him and others to settle the matter by arbitration. He continues:

"Finding all efforts to effect a peaceable set-tlement of their grievances impossible, and be-ing convinced that it was only a question of time when Knights would one and all be dis-charged unless they forfeited their manhood and abandoned their privileges as citizens of a free country by renouncing their rights to join their fellows in an organization calculated to protect their just rights without intrenching upon those of others, the district executive board had no alternative but to order a strike, which they did.

"The public may have formed erroneous im-pressions of the position of the Knights in the controversy. We do not pretend to dictate to the company that it shath not discharge its em-ployes, but in all fairness the discharged man should be told why he is dismissed. "We did not seek the guarged. The gracest

"We did not seek the quarrel. The general executive board knew nothing of it until it was executive board knew nothing of it until it was thrust upon them and now that we have to face it we ask of the entire order of the Knights of Labor to come to our assistance with the means to win the strike. We are not craving for sympathy. We are not in need of moral sup-port. We have to fight a power which owes its lofty bearing to the wealth it has piled up from the labor of its employes; untold millions are at its command and we want money to carry en-the struggle. the struggle.

"We ask all members of organized labor to come to our aid. We not only ask labor organizations, but we ask of the great public beyond our organizations of labor to come to our relief. It is not because a few cents more a day or some It is not because a tew cents more a may or some pairty concession to the men was required that this strike was precipitated. The real animus lies in the fact that our order has been struggling with the questions which concern the control of trusts, corporations and syndi-cates by the government of the people. The allied forces of the Knights of Labor and the Farmer's Alliance are marching on to Wash. Farmers' Alliance are marching on to Wash-ington to secure legislation favorable to the whole people and secure the repeal of certain unjust laws. It is in the hope of turning our attention away from these matters that this warfare is made on the part of the allied forces.

"The conduct of the men since the strike be-gan has been most orderly and commendable, and until its close no Knight of Labor will be found in an unlawful act of any kind. We are pledged to maintain the law. We will obey the legal commands of the State, but not of the corporation which defies public opinion and has no regard for justice when dealing with its Conciliation and arbitration can employes. deal with the most intricate questions of dis-

The writer represents directly and indirectly over 20,000,000, of workmen. Shall dollars alone be heard and humanity re-main silent? Will dollars win when fiesh and blood are shot down in the streets of the capital city of the Empire State at the dictation of this wealth? "T. V. POWDERLY, "General Master Workman, K. of L." NEW YORK, Aug. 23.-State Arbitration Commissioner Donovan on Friday sent letters to Messrs. Powderly and Webb inviting both to a cona view to devise either by arbitration or such other method as might be agred upon whereby the present and threatened strikes may be settled. Mr. Powderly replied that the executive board of the Knights of Labor was ready to do any honorable thing to terminate the strike or avert the threatened one. Mr. Webb has issued a reply to Powderly's manifesto in which he says that neither public nor private business could be carried on subject to dictation by workmen who declared that only this or that amount should be performed. No employer could tolerate insolence and insubordination based on the belief that the insolent and insubordinate employe would be supported by a secret organization. He declares that he did not discharge men because they were Knights of Labor, but for drunkenness, incapacity, breach of duty, insubordination, and because of lack of work to employ them. It would be moral and criminal neglect to omit to discharge switchmen for drunkenness upon whose sobriety and fidelity depended the safety of millions of passengers. He con-cludes: cludes: "The foregoing gives, without setting forth the name or place of employment, the causes which called for the discharge of the fifty or sixty men referred to in Mr. Powderly's appeal. For these discharges and to avert a threatened strike I have been called on by Mr. Powderly and his as-sociates to consent to the monstrous ab-surdity of satisfying, by some kind of arbitra-tion or investigation, persons other than the tion or investigation, persons other than the constituted authorities of the company, that these causes existed—a demand which as long as I occupy the position with which I am in-trusted I feel it to be my duty to firmly de-NEW YORK, Aug. 25.-Mr. Powderly has written another letter in answer to the manifesto of Mr. Webb, in which he declares that the men were not discharged from the service of the New York Central road because they were Knights of Labor, but because of drunkenness, incompetency, breach of duty and insubordination. A synopsis of Mr. Powderly's letter is as follows: He says this alleged explanation is even less creditable to Mr. Webb than his hitherto He says this alleged explanation is even less creditable to Mr. Webb than his hitherto silence, and does not in any way excuse the stand he has taken. The Knights have aever questioned the right of the company to dis-charge men for the reasons stated, but they do demand that each and every one of the fifty or sixty men in dispute be informed, as they have the right to know, whether they were dis-charged for cause. Mr. Webb's charge is gen-eral and might be applied to one or all of the discharged men, or he might have had ref-erence to the discharge of employes who were driven out of the service ten years ago. Not one of the men discharged is named in connec-tion with the reasons given, and Mr. Webb can not assert with any degree of accuracy that any one of them was dismissed for the canse set forth. He merely depends on statements made by subordinates, fore-men and superintendents. He can only learn positively by the personal investigation which he refuses to make. Mr. Powderly says he knows of no reason why Mr. Webb's says he knows of no reason why Mr. Webb's word, based on reports from subordinates, should stand unquestioned or have any more weight than that of an hon-est working-man. The discharged men had been in the employ of the road for from five to twenty years, but it was only when they joined the Knights of Labor that it was dis-covered that they were intemperate or incom-petent. Mr. Webb, he says, denies the right of arbitration in the face of the plain, states-manifice words of his superior in office. Channeev manlike words of his superior in office, Chauncey M. Depew, whose declarations in addresses or various occasions prove that he does not or did not sustain Webb m the position he has as-sumed. The first owners of the road were not averse to talking direct to the workmen. They relied on them. They had confidence in the men, and that f-eling was reciprocated by the etunioves. Then the corporation had the men employes. Then the corporation had the men and were in need of money, now they have the money and don't care for the men. Mr. Powderly says that men whose words he has never had reason to doubt make the statement to him that they were called up before their foremen or super-intendents, asked if they were Knights of Labor, and when they frankly admitted that they were they were discharged. He con-cludes: employes. Then the corporation had the men cludes

"It is not arbitration alone that you have re fused. First, you have refused to arbitrate; second, to investigate; third, to face those second, to investigate; third, to face those men in my presence and to satisfy your-self whether your foreman told you the truth; fourth, you have defied the laws of the State in ignoring the Board of Media-tion and Arbitration; fifth, you have re-fused to listen to the voice of the public, which asks for simple justice and cares noth-ing for the personalities of either parties to the controversy: and sixth and last you Ing for the personalities of either parties to the controversy; and sixth and last, you have shown that humanity has no claims upon you whatever. You have refused to satisfy the men whom you have discharged, and that act will always stand to pro-test your claim to true manliness. Had you satisfied the men there would be nothing for us to ask. You are a much induct hourd to set to ask. You are as much in duty bound to sat-isfy them in this matter as you are to satisfy the legally-constituted authorities of the company.

WON'T GIVE UP.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 28 .- The gen eral executive board of the Knights of Labor held sessions here Monday, together with district assembly No. 246. Mr. Powderly closely questioned every delegate present who had been discharged from the employ of the New York Central road. There There were about twenty of these. All had been working for the road for from three to twenty years. They denied that intoxication or incompetency could be truthfully put forth as a cause for the discharge of any of them. Three of them said they would make affidavit to the fact that previous to their discharge they had been asked by an official of the road whether they were Knights of Labor and had replied in the affirmative. Their discharge followed immediately after.

A preamble and resolution were adopted calling upon the State Board of Arbitration to order a prompt investigation of the existing difficulties, saying that the strikers were ready and anxious for one.

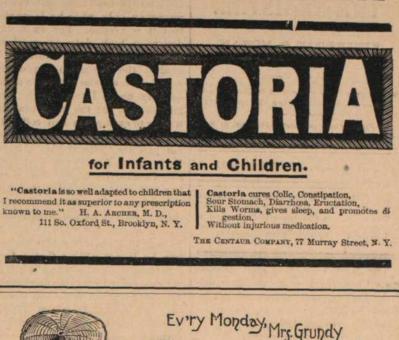

A BIG MASS-MEETING. ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The mass-meeting at the rink Monday night was one of the largest labor gatherings ever seen in this city. Fully 4,000 men at-Addresses were made tended. Messrs. Devlin, Wright, Maguire and Powderly. The latter was received with a perfect tumult of applause.

At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. Powderly offered the following resolutlon, which was adopted by a storm of unanimous approval: "Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the introduction of an armed force in the State of New York in a time of peace is an outrage against the laws of our State, is in violation of every law of humanity, and should be forever stopped at the next session of the Legislature of New York State."

Republican Congressional Convention.

The Republican Congressional Convention of the 2nd district will be held at Adrian, September 2nd, at 2 F. M. By order of the Committee. F. K. Owen, Chairman.

THE New York Mail and Express calls Chauncey Depew "the most distinguished private citizen of the republic." Is this the opening note of the presidential campaign?

ALTHOUGH somewhat overdrawn, Mr. Coleman's speech at Whitmore Lake contained a good deal of truth. It is to be noticed, however, that the speaker did not advocate free trade as a panacea for the farmer's woes.

The passage of the anti lottery bill by an unanimous vote is a very good sign. It means that the general sentiment of the people has so moral a toue that even politicians feel obliged to accede to the demands of duty and conscience.

PROBABLY no professor in the University of Michigan, or in any other great school of this country, is better known than Henry C. Adams. Not only as professor of political economy but also as statistician of the inter-state commerce commission, he has won a reputation which reaches from the Atlantic to the Pacific. His last report on railway statistics, just published, is a work valuable not only through the vast fund of information contained in its pages, but also through the deductions which the professor makes and the suggestions he offers. The mileage of all the railroads in this country on June 30, 1889, was 157,758.83 miles. If to this be added the secondary tracks and switches, the length of track was a little over 200,000 miles. There were 40,600 bridges, 649 tunnels and 117,271 trestles in use at the same time. Most of the railroads of the country are built with a gauge of from 4 feet 81 inches to 4 feet 9 inches. The greater part of the remainder use the three-fcot gauge, so that over 99 per cent. conform to two fixed standards. The equipment of the railroads comprises 29,036 locomotives and 934,246 cars. Over 700,000 men are employed in various capacities. The railroad property of the United States is controlled by 436 independent corporations. A movement toward consolidation is very perceptible. The total railroad capital of the United States is $9,015,-175,374. During the year ending June 30, 1889, 472,171,343 passengers traveled 11,553,820,445 miles. Over 539,000,000 tons of freight were carried. The railroads earned $964,816,129, in gross income, spent $644,706,701 and received a net return of $320,109,498. If from this be deducted the amount credited to interest and dividends, there remains a surplus of $19,278,538. During the year 5,823 persons were killed and 26,309 persons injured in railway accidents. Besides much more interesting matter in the line of facts and figures, the report contains plans for a better classification of statistics. The work represents no end of work and reflects great credit upon Prof. Adams. WHEN James G. Blaine puts forth an idea, it may very reasonably be inferred that that idea is a good one. Especially is this true when Mr. Blaine expresses himself on the tariff. Probably no one in the United States has given this vexed question more careful study than he. Not only has he with great acuteness compared the abstract theories of free trade and protection, accepting most enthusiastically the latter, but he has also given thirty years of careful attention to the facts and figures which bear on this subject. In his present office Mr. Blaine has had an unusually good opportunity to study the question. and he has given especial attention to the trade which exists between this country and the Latin American republics. When, therefore, he advocates reciprocity, we may be sure that he knows what he is talking about. It is equally certain that he has no intention of advocating the abandonment of the protective principle. Scorning as he does the illusive vagaries of the free trade doctrinaires, he must derive a great deal of amusement from the fact that the democratic papers so eagerly laud his suggestion and even claim him as a fellow-worshipper of Cobden. To the intelligent man at least, Mr. Blaine's own statement that he is in complete harmony with the principles incorporated in the McKinley bill, would carry considerable weight. The fact is that reciprocity, under proper conditions, is entirely consistent with protection. The upholder of the tariff system does not, as does his opponent, insist that a general principle be applied to every particular case at every time and The afternoon was spent very pleasantly under all or unsacce. If always in talking of the past analyzes the conditions and advocates protection only when he is convinced that it is needed. For example he desires a high duty on steel rails, because in the manufacture of that product the American manufacturer would otherwise be obliged to compete on very unequal terms with foreign mill-owners. At the same time, he is willing to exempt tea and coffee from duties, because the United States could not produce those articles if it tried. He is also in favor of admitting sugar free because the United States never has and never can raise that article successfully. Mr. Blaine accepts all these ideas, but he has, in addition, an idea peculiarly his own. While he is willing that sugar be admitted dutyfree, he is not willing that a foreign government should take advantage of our generosity by levying an export tax upon that article. He is also unwilling that the South American republics should exclude our agricultural products by laying upon them high import duties. Inasmuch as we open our markets to the sugar-raiser of Brazil, he thinks it is no more than right that Brazil should open its markets to the wheat-raiser of the United States. These results he proposes to attain by means of reciprocity, and no intelligent man can fail to see the reasonableness of the suggestion. There is, however, no antagonism between McKinley and Blaine. The only way in wh ch they differ is that the latter goes farther in the right direction.

DR. DOUGLAS DEAD.

The Oldest Ex-Professor of the University Passes Away.—Sketch of his Life.

On Tuesday evening the news quietly spread about town that Dr. S. H. Douglas was dead. Three years ago he received a paralytic stroke, which has rendered him an invalid ever since. His death was therefore not unexpected. The story of his life, which was an eventful one, was told in yesterday's Free Press, as follows:

"Dr. Douglas was born in Chautauqua county, New York, in 1816. Hegraduated from the University of Vermont and afterwards took a master's degree from the same institution. In 1838 he came to Michigan, locating in Detroit, where he studied medicine with Drs. Rice and Pitcher. He graduated in medicine at the University of Maryland and re-turned to Detroit, where he was connected with the geological survey and nected with the geological survey and with a government party negotiating Indian treaties. In 1843 he moved to Ann Arbor and began practice. In 1844 he was appointed assistant professor of chemistry and two years later was ad-vanced to a full professorship of the same branch, filling this and other positions in the University until 1875. He was largely instrumental in the es-He was largely instrumental in the es-tablishment of the medical and chemical department of the University and had charge of the erection of the observatory, the medical building, the chemical laboratory, south wing of the main building and the university system of water works. His name was brought prominently before the people by the celebrated Rose-Douglas investigation, in which the disappearance of certain moneys belonging to the university was brought out, and which investigation and decisions of the various courts and the supreme court entirely vindicated Dr. Douglas. Dr. Douglas twice served the city as mayor, and under his rule many reforms were adopted, the great-est being the present license system of the liquor traffic, and he may well be called the father of the system. Ann Arbor had upwards or eighty saloons under prohibitory laws when he took the helm, and his first act was to frame a license ordinance. This local license ordinance was tested and upheld ly the supreme court, and the legislature following adopted the same plan for state license. In politics he was a staunch Democrat. In 1859 he organized the Ann Arbor Gas Company, and for twenty years has been president of this organization. Dr. Douglas was married in 1845 to Miss Helen Wells, who died In 1845 to Miss Helen Wells, who died in 1880. Seven children survive him: Kate, Alice H., William W., Sarah L., Louise and Henry W., of this city, and Samuel T. Douglas, of Detroit. He was a brother of Judge Samuel T. Douglas, of Detroit, and Mrs. Lydia Almond, of Portland Ontario." Portland, Ontario."

ANN ARBOR, June 7th, 1890.

DEAR SIR :-- I enclose the testimonial for which you asked. It gives me pleasure to send it to you, as I like my piano so much. When you can make it convenient, come out and see how it has stood the wear and tear of nine years. Yours Truly,

LILLIE BAESSLER,

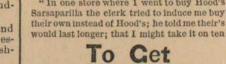

* * * With regard to the Guild purchased of you nine years ago. * * * Its tone is as mellow and sweet as ever, and in standing in tune I have never seen its equal. Any one contemplating the purchase of a piano, will find it to their in-Respectfully, terest to examine the Guild.

LILLIE BAESSLER.

The Guild has stood "wear and tear" better, and held its own better than any piano I have ever sold. Over 25,000 have been manufactured, and sold very largely in Boston and vicinity. The great music publishing house of Ditson & Co has sold over 800 of them in the City of Boston. The simple (patent) tuning device is the greatest improvement of the day, and will save expense to the owner besides the satisfaction of having a piano constantly in tune.

The swinging music desk running the entire length of the piano is perfection They please, they sell. Why? See them, and you will learn. Manufactured in Boston for nearly thirty years.

No Help from the Outside for the Knights of Labor.

Decision Reached by the Supreme Council of Federation-Constitutional Restrictions Prevent Ordering a Strike-Powderly Praised.

NO GENERAL STRIKE.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 26.-The supreme council of the Federation of Railway Employes has decided that no strike will be ordered by the federation on the New York Central system because, under the rules of the federation, no strike can be declared except for a grievance against the road by one of the orders comprising the federation and the Knights of Labor order is not a member of the federation. On the subject of financial assistance to the striking Knights no final action has been taken. Another meeting will be had on that question.

The decision of the council is stated in a manifesto addressed "To all labor organizations, men and brothers." A synopsis follows:

Synopsis follows: It recites the facts of the strike and the ef-forts of Powderly and the officers of the federa-tion to have it arbitrated; the rejection by the New York Central officials of all overtures to that end and the appeal of Mr. Powderly to the federation to call their men out in order to force the Central to come to terms. force the Central to come to terms.

The manifesto then proceeds:

The manifesto then proceeds: 'In making their report to the council the members who went to New York to confer with Mr. Powderly found all the statements made by him fully corroborated by the facts. In an interview with Mr. Webb he refused to enter-tain any proposition looking to a settlement of the difficulty. He would not arbitrate any question nor make any explanation or con-cession whatever with regard to the discharged employes. He claimed the right to discharge employes at will without making explanation or giving to the victims of his power any reasons for his despote action. He would manage his road to suit himself, without reference to any rights claimed by its employes or any rights claimed by labor organizations to interfere in the matter to protect their members.

the matter to protect their members. "The council, having heard the statement of its members who had visited New York for the purpose of ascertaining the true condition of affairs, exhaustively discussed every important proposition and arrived at conclusions as fol-lows: lows:

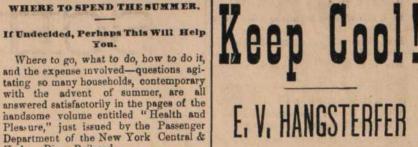

lows: "1. That the position of the Knights of Labor as set forth by T. V. Powderly, General Master Workman, and the general executive board of the Knights of Labor meets with our unqualithe Knights of Labor interest of the Knights of field approval. "2. That the course pursued by H. Walter Webb toward Mr. Powderly and the Knights of Labor, notwithstanding his declaration to the contrary, evinces a purpose to disrupt and destroy labor organizations on the New York Central & Hudson River railroad, as was done by Austin Corbin on the Philadelphia & by Aust Reading.

Reading. "3. That the policy of H. Walter Webb is despotic to an extent that outrages every prin-ciple of American citizenship, and if generally adopted would, if successful, reduce American working-men to a degraded condition. "4. That H. Walter Webb, by the employ-ment of Pinkertos theves, thugs and mur-derers ville workthes from the slums and heath.

derers, vile wretches from the slums and broth-els of New York and other cities, to kill work-ing-men because they dared to protest against his rule and strike for their rights, has participated in a crime of such enormity as will asso-ciate the name of H. Walter Webb forever with those who, dressed in a little brief authority, have used their money to secure power to de-grade their fellow-men. "5. That the resorts now being put forth by H. Walter Webb to destroy the Knights of Labor would, were circumstances changed, in like manner be made to destroy the organ-tantions of andress firmen conductors izations of engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen, and if successful it is only a question of time when a similar effort will be made to seal the fate of other labor or ganizations. "In view of the foregoing facts the supreme council puts upon record its unanimous and council puts upon record its unanimous and unqualified approval of the strike on the New York Central for the quies set forth by T. V. Powderly, as also the efforts made by Mr. Powderly to bring the strike to an honorable termination. In this general expression of approval of the action of the Knights of Labor the course of Vice Presi-dent Webb is unequivocally condemned. The power of the supreme council in the matter of the strike has been exerted to add the Knights of Labor, through their representa-tives, to secure the recognition of their order by the officials of a rich and powerful cor-poration. In this the council met with fail-ure owing to the autocratic attitude of H. Walter Webb. It now becomes necessary for the supreme council to say that, owing to the the supreme council to say that, owing to the fact that the order of the Knights of Labor is not a member of the Federation of Rallway Employes, the laws of the council do not permit its doing more than it has done to aid the Knights of Labor, and its inability to participate in the strike is known and appreciated by Mr. Powderly.

POWDERLY HEARS THE NEWS.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 26.-A reporter showed General Master Workman Powderly the dispatch from Terre Haute saying that the strike would not be or-dered by the federation. Mr. Powderly said that it was the first intimation he had received of such action, but declined to talk, saying that it would not be policy for him to make any comments upon it until officially notified. He did not seem to be very much surprised or downcast at the result.

WHAT MR. WEBB SAYS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.-Vice-President Webb heard the news that the supreme council of the United Order of Railway Employes had at Terre Haute declared against a strike. In reply to a question he said that was the only wise course to take. "There was no principle involved in which they could be interested," said he. "The entire trouble was local in character and had nothing further to do with organ-ized labor. Whether the Knights of Labor will now take further steps will make but little difference. There are only a few Knights in the employ of the New York Central."

Later in the evening Mr. Webb said: "It is a queer commentary that the supreme council of the federation can find no grievance upon which to order a strike, yet it has censured the New York Central and its officials. They also decline to give any support to the strikers, but appeal to the public to furnish it. This, I think, embodies all that I have to say.'

Not Yet Ended.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.-The engineers' and firemens' strike at the stock yards in this city ended yesterday in a victory for the strikers. Soon after the result was announced the switchmen struck for higher wages, and all business at the yards was stopped.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Summary of the Week's Work in the Senate and House.

Important Measures Under Consideration by the National Law-Makers-A Record of Events of General Interest.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.-In the Senate Tuesday the Quay resolution providing for an adjournment after the passage of the tariff bill and some minor measures-thereby allowing the Federal election bill to go over to next session without action, was laid over for one day. Senator Hoar (Mass.) gave notice of an amendment to in-clude the election bill among the meas-ures to be considered at this session; and that voting on that bill shall begin September 5. A resolution offered by Senator Plumb (Kan.) to prevent the sale of spiritous, vinous or malt liquors in the Senate wing of the Capi-tol went over for a day. The rest of the session was devoted to discussion of the tariff bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.-The Senate Wednesday took up the Quay resolution for an adjournment of Congress after the vote has been taken on the tariff bill. Senator Hoar introduced his amendment to include among the other measures to be acted upon at this session the Federal election bill. During the debate the hour of 19 was reached, and under the rules the resolution went over, and the tariff bill was taken up as unfinished business, but soon laid aside, and the Senate concurred in the House amendments to the agricultural college and meat inspection bills, and they were sent to the President for his signature.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—In the Sen-ate on Thursday a bill was introduced by request of the Farmers' Alliance to provide for banks of deposit. A telegram was presented from the members of the Grant Monumembers of the Grant Monu-ment Association in New York protesting against the proposed removal of General Grant's remains to Washington. During the morning hour the resolution to prohibit the sale of liquors of any kind in the Senate wing of the Capitol was debated, but went over without action. To the surprise of Senators the Quay resolution was not called up, a conference of Republicans having agreed that it should go over for a day. WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 .- In the Senate on Friday the resolution to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in the Senate restaurant was taken up, but owing to the absence of its author went over without action. Consideration of the tariff bill was then resumed. WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.-In the Senate on Saturday the day was devoted to eulogies of the late Senator Beck, of Kentucky. WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—In the Sen-ate yesterday Senator Aldrich (R. I.) asked unanimous consent that general debate on the tariff bill should close September 3; that debate on the amendments continue under the five-minute rule until September 8, and that the final voting then begin. At the request of Senator Plumb (Kan.) the matter went over. Senator Quay (Pa.) announced the death of Congressman Watson, of Pennsylvania, and offered a resolution, which was adopted, adjourning the Senate as a mark of respect to the deceased Representative. HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.-The House on Tuesday by a vote of 92 to 79 laid on the table a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Nat McKay bill was passed. The bill to amend the alien land law was discussed during the morning hour the first morning hour the House has had for several months), but no action was taken. The Senate bill making an appropriation for the relief of agricultural colleges was passed. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.-In the House Weanesday the bill to exempt mining land from the alien-land law was laid on the table. The bill for the adjustment of accounts of workmen and mechanics under the eight-hour law was then taken up, no action being taken. The resolution calling for information as to Russia's proscription of Jews was reported and adopted. The House then passed the Senate meat-inspection bill. WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.-In the House further discussion was had on the bill for the adjustment of accounts of laborers, workmen and mechanics arising under the eight-hour law. The morning hour expired before action was taken, and the remainder of the day and evening sessions were devoted to debate on the lard-refining bill. WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 .- In the House Friday the conference report on the bill making the appropriation for an increased clerical force to carry out the provisions of the dependent pension law was agreed to. The House then went into committee of the whole on Senate amendments to the river and harbor bill. After non-concurring in about one-half the Senate amendments the committee rose. A joint resolution was introduced proposing an amend-ment to the constitution providing that neither the United States nor any State shall pass a law authorizing the estab lishment or maintenance of a lottery or any scheme for the distribution of prizes by chance. WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.-In the House on Saturday consideration of the Senate resolution looking to the removal of the remains of General Grant to Arlington was postponed. A joint resolution was introduced to amend the constitution so as to prohibit any State from passing a law authorizing the establishment or maintenance of a lottery or any scheme for the distribution of prizes by chance.

Gness this Conundrum What is the reason that a physician will not indorse a good thing when he knows as well as he knows anything that the article in question has been used for years and is a valuable remedy, but because it is a proprietory medicine they cry it down. There is not a pre-scription case in any drug store in all this broad land that does not hold this same article. There are few if any physicians who do not prescribe it. And yet when the same article is made and sold in larger packages, and the price is so much below a prescription that is where the shoe pinches. But there are physicians who are willing to indorse a good thing, as the following will show. I have used quite extensively in my practice of late Loose's Extract of Red Clover for Indigestion, Consumption, Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles, with by spepin and Stomach Troubles, with the very best results, and have found it worthy of all and more than is claimed for it. The only disappointment to physicians is that it exceeds its recommendation. F. H. KNAPP, M. D. Findlay, Ohio.
