DEATH OF KENDALL KITTREDGE ON THURSDAY LAST.

Sketch of a Life, Useful and Eventful. -Resolutions of Respect Passed by the Printer's Union and the Mystic Circle

The young, the beautiful, the good die all too soon; Fair flowers, too early withered in earth's sultry

And one of these, a good and true, has passed from sight; A gentle, modest, loving man, yet strong to fight With error, wrong and ignorance unceasingly. Think you that such can die? Increasingly Good deeds live on and on forevermore. And so the soul which wrought is only o'er The hindrances of earth, its cares, its fears, its nah:

pain; While ours is all the loneliness; his, all the gain; Our tears the tokens of his worth, the show of love That pities most itself. We know he is above The reach of grief; -- and yet we weep above the sod That hides the form of him whose spirit is with F. P. M.

Ateleven o'clock on Thursday evening last, Kendall Kittredge gently passed He had returned, only two awi v. nights before, from Alma, where he had gone early in the summer, hoping that complete rest and good medical assistance would better his condition. Mr. Kittredge was not the possessor of great physical strength, and hence was never able to endure the hard labor which his industry and ambition forced upon him. About a year ago, exhausted by overwork, he gave up almost entirely the active management of his business, but notwithstanding the fact that he was confined to the house, he continued to do a good deal of writing for the paper and carefully read all the proofs. He seemed very much indisposed to give up. Friends and relatives of Mr. Kitt-redge have feared for some time that he redge have feared for some time that he could not recover, but no one of these, it is safe to say, expected that his life would end so soon. Physicians c dled his trouble spinal disease—which in its nature was very obscure and hard to diagnose. Although he was for some time aware of the fact that his death was only a question of time, he never lost one iota of that modest courage and upmiffled patience which were always was only a question of time, he never lost one iota of that modest courage and unruffled patience which were always prominent traits of his character. Mr. Kittredge was in the prime of life when he was called away. He was born, forty-five years, ago in Sodus, Wayne Co., N. Y. His father was a Presbyterian minister, highly educated and greatly respected throughout the entire community. When Kendali was still a small boy, the family re-moved to Michigan and settled near Marshall. Subsequently they went to Mason, where Kendali learned the rudiments of the profession which he afterwards followed. His father, however, desired him to have an aca demic education and accordingly sent him in 1862 to the Ann Arbor high school from which he graduated in the following year. He then entered the University, remaining a student there for three years. He was, however, anxious to embark in the active busi-ness of life and without waiting for graduation he bought a part of the Ing-nem county News published at Mason. graduation he bought a part of the Ing-ham county News, published at Mason. He ran that paper successfully until 1875. Then he took charge of the Char-lotte Republican, which he continued to publish for three years. He bought the Eaton Rapids Journal in February 1879, and sold that paper in the latter part of 1883, in order to purchase THE REGISTER. For seven years he has successfully con-ducted this establishment. Under no previous management has the office been on sogood a financial basis as under his. A practical knowledge of the business from top to bottom, an unflagging in-dustry and a keen and sharp business tact combined to make him a most suc-cessful publisher. Another element in He ran that paper succe cessful publisher. Another element in his success was the fact that Mr. Kittredge seldom made an enemy. his success was and unite inter that inter-Kittredge seldom made an enemy. His employes all unite in saying that they never worked for a man more courteous or more generous. All who knew him loved and respected him. His influence was always in the direc-tion of good. He was an active mem-ber of the Presbyterian church and for several years performed the duties of Sunday-school superintendent. His piety was quiet and unobtrusive, albeit firm and sincere. Not only in religion but in politics as well, Mr. Kittredge had decided views of his own. He was a republican on principle—not nar-rowly partisan. His genial disposition and knowledge of human nature did not permit of intolerance on any sub-ject. not permit of intolerance on any sub-ject. Mr. Kittredge thoroughly enjoyed his family life, which dates from 1870, when he was married to Miss Eunice Wilsey, a sister of Alvin Wilsey, of this city. His wife and three children Genevieve, Carlyle and Bessie mourn the loss of a kind and self-sacri-ficing husband and father. Besides his immediate family, Mr. Kittredge leaves a step-mother and a sister, both of whom reside in Mason. a step-mother and a sister, both of whom reside in Mason. The funeral, which was largely at-tended, was held at the house last Sat-urday afternoon at four o'clock, Rev. Mr. Gelston conducting the services. Geo. H. Pond, S. D. Lennon, S. A. Moran and J. B. Williams acted as pall bearers. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, thus bespeaking the great esteem which was universally felt for Wr. Kittredge. Mr. Kittredge.

William P. Brown, one of the oldest and most prominent residents of Ann and most prominent residents of Ann Arbor township, died at his home, last Sunday, at the a lvanced age of seventv-six years. He was a native of Norfolk county, England, but came to America in 1837. Railroads were not common at that day, and Mr. Brown was obliged to make the trip from New York to Detroit by means of the canal and the lakes. He walked from Detroit to Dex-ter, and when he arrived at his destina-tion found that he had only one half-sovereign with which to begin life. overeign with which to begin life. #### A SHORT HISTORY OF HER LIFE AND SERVICES.

She Had a Rare Power of Making a Happy Home," and Was Possessed of "Good Sense, Rare Capacity and Noble Character."

Mary Elizabeth Cooley, wife of Judge Thomas M. Cooley, died at her home n this city at 2 o'clock on Sunday norning last. Mrs. Cooley was born at Alexander, N. Y., June 18, 1830. Her father, David Horton, removed with his family to Michigan in 1837, settling at Adrian. She was the old-est child and was given such an academic education as was then ob-tainable in Michigan. On December 30, 1846, she was married to Thomas M. Coclor, then inst shout to herein the cooley, then just about to begin the ractice of law at Tecumseh. She was, practice of law at Tecumseh. She was, as will be seen, very young at the time, but all young people matured earlier in, the pioneer state, and she especially tid so, so that there was no seeming im-oropriety in so early a marriage. Mr. Cooley did not remain long at Tecumseh but returned to Adrian, where he be-mame the partner of Mr. Beaman, who for ten years was a member of congress from that district. Mrs. Cooley became a rom that district. Mrs. Cooley became a eader in society there, but neither then nor at any time did she have taste for for at any time did she have take for merely fashionable society or empty fisplay. She attached people to her rather by her solid qualities than by any attempt to be a leader, or make ex-hibition of showy accomplishments. In 1859 her husband was appointed to a professorship of law in the University and they removed to Ann Arbor at the opening of the college year, from which time until her death she has contin-ued to reside in this city. Here again her social and intellectual qualities were recognized, so that she was always a notable figure in society, though never at any time making the slightest effor o give herself personal prominence she connected herself with the Con gregational church and was alway prominent in its work, being presiden of the Ladies' Benevolent Society a ong as she would consent to hold the position. She was very active in the building of the new stone church edi ice and a very liberal contributor to it She was also active in other enterprises, sepecially those of a literary nature. She was one of the founders of the Ladies' Library Association and an ad-viser of the erection of their building. the work of this association sh took great interest to the very last, and was always ready to assume her ful share of all its necessary expenditure She was a great reader of books, espe cially those of a solid nature, and also cially those of a solid nature, and also a good writer, though she was never disposed to write for the press. Only a single article by her for publication is now recalled. On the opening of the campaign of 1888, the proprieto s of the new Home Magazine, which was meant to be especially for ladies and youth, were desirous of giving a biographical sketch of the wives of the several can-didates and Mrs Cooley was requested idates, and Mrs. Cooley was requested o furnish one of Mrs. Thurman, whom he had known very well, having been with her considerably when her husband was on the advisory com-mission with Judge Thurman and Min-tra Washburn to settle the matter of Washbu lifferential railway rates as between the everal Atlantic cities and the west. Sh several Atlantic cities and the west. She therefore prepared a notice, it being really a work of love, for she had be-come greatly attached to Mrs. Thur-man. Mrs. Cooley's official life began early in 1881, when Gov. Jerome ad dressed to her a letter saying that the state greatly needed the services of a lady possessing her qualities of head and heart, on the board of control of he Industrial School for Girlsat Adrian, and requesting her acceptance of a po-ation on the board. This she did, hough with reluctance, for she feared hat it would break in too much upon per home life. The board consisted of her home life. The board consisted of two gentlemen and three ladies, the former being at that time, Theo-dore Hinchman, of Detroit, and Chas. R. Miller, of Adrian, men whose ability is recognized throughout the state. Mrs. Fuller. of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Stebbins, of Lansing, were the other lady members. Mrs. Cooley's usefulness on the board was recognized from the first by her associates and she was after a time made president of the board, a position which she had held for several years at the time of her death, having been re-elected by her associates during years at the time of her death, having been re-elected by her associates during her last illness. The position was a very difficult one, involving large e-penditure of money and the care of a great number of disorderly characters, but she proved herself fully equal to it. but she proved herself fully equal to it. When her first term expired, she was re-appointed by Gov. Begole and after-wards by Gov. Luce, the existing term not expiring until 1593. It is believed that not a single member of the board, or a prominent subordinate connected with the institution, failed to become strongly attached to her as a result of their official association. Of her father's family, three are now living. One brother entered the army at the age of eighteen and remained in the service till the loss of the steamer Sultana, which will be remembered as one of the great calamities of the war He was on that boat at the time of its destruction and was lost with many He was on that boat at the time of its destruction and was lost with many hundred others. Her father and mother have of late been living with her. Her father, however, died within the year, upwards of 90 years of age, but her mother still survives. Mrs. age, but har mother still survives. Mrs. Cooley had six children, all of whom are living, Eugene F., a prominent business man at Lansing; Edgar A., a lawyer of Bay City; Fannie C., wife of Alexis C. Angell, a lawyer of Detroit; Chas. H., now at Washington in charge of the street railway statistics in the census bureau; Thomas B. and Mary B., who are still at home, not having com-pleted their education. She also leaves thirteen grand children. Mrs. Cooley's most important work, after all, was that of home maker. Nothing could exceed the constant care and attention in a gave to everything which pertained to her children and her home. Har

DEATH OF MRS. COOLEY. Children were all present during her last illness, as were also her mother and sister. Among the numerous messages of condolence received by the family which, since her death, have come from all parts of the country, the mention of her qualities as head of the household and mother of a large family has been most conspicuous, and evi dently most in the minds of her friends I have,' says a gentleman well known throughout the state, "met with very few persons for whom I have entertained so persons for whom I have entertained so profound a respect, alike for good sense, rare capacity and noble character, as Mrs. Cooley. She had a rare power of making a happy home." One of the ex-governors of the state who with his wife had been sometimes her guest, exsses himself in equally strong terms and speaks of her death as a personal loss to him and to his family. The funeral services were held at ten o'clock Tuesday morning at the house and were conducted by Prof. Ryder, of Andover, who was formerly pastor of the Congregational church here, and who came immediately to see Mrs. Cooley, when he heard of the danger-ous nature of her disease. The house was filled with floral gifts from her lady friends and the constant to the constant riends and the cemetery lot wa ose who desired in this way to testify to their affectionate regard for the associate whom they had lost.

LITERARY NOTES.

Pestalozzi: His Life and Works is the title of vol. xiv. in the Interna-tional Educational Series, published by D. Appleton & Co., and edited by W. T. Harris It is a translation from the second French edition of Roger de Guimps by J. Russell, B. A., Assistant Master in Univ. College School, Londón. The Introduction by the Rev. E. H. The Introduction by the Rev. R. H. Quick, M. A., gives us the connection which Pestalozzi sustained to his time which restatozzi sustained of his value to it and a general estimate of his value to it and to posterity. The book is written in a most pleasing style and should be in the hands of all educators and teachers who, it is certain, could not fail to derive much pleasure as well as profit from the study of this great educational reformer. Since Pestalozzi has written comparatively little of present value, his life as here pre-sented will be found to be most in-structive. Frequent quotations from his works and letters add much to the interest of the whole by bringing the mode into direct contract with the sime reader into direct contact with the aims, the purposes, as well as the difficulties and failures, of this noble and selfacrificing teacher. D. Appleton & Co., New York.

Henry Cabot Lodge writes on International Copy right in the August At-lantic. His article is worth studying. The Use and Limits of Academic Cul-ture, a paper by Prof. N. S. Shaler, is a noticeable paper of the number. It is followed by a sketch of Madame Cor-nucleonal Medame de Conjarres by nuel and Madame de Coulanges by Ellen Terry Johnson. Miss Murfree's Felicia and Mrs. Deland's Sidney continue their course. The poetry of the number is particularly good. Mrs. Fields has a sonnet; Mr. Whittier a three page poem on the town of Haver-hill; and Dr. Holmes ends his insta lment of Over the Teacups with some verses which will have great vogue, entitled The Broomstick Train, or The Return of the Witches. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

Harper's Weekly for August 16th con-tains an illustrated supplement on The Fishing Craft of the World by Captain J. W. Collins, of the United States Fisheries Commission.

William Hamilton Gibson's series of illustrated articles on natural history, now being published in Harper's Young People, is attracting very general atten-tion as a povel feature in juvenile literature. Harper & Brothers, New York.

The next issue of Harper's Weekly will contain, among other attractions a portrait, with biographical notice, of the late Cardinal Newman; also an account of the National Encampment, Boston, of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The August number of The Magazine of Art has for its frontispiece a photo-gravure from the painting by Ford Madox Brown, called The Last of England, and the opening article is devoted to the consideration of the work of this English art reformer by Lucy Madox Rossetti. There are several wood en-gravings from Mr. Madox Brown's bestknown pictures, which will serve to in-troduce him to the American public, to troduce him to the American public, to whom he is at present little more than a name. In this number of the maga-zine is begun what promises to be a most interesting series of papers on "Illustrated Journalism in England." "Current Art" is well commented upon by M. H. Spiemann and carefully illus-trated. Cassell Publishing Company, 35 cents a number, $3.50 a year in ad-

From every section of the county, says the Chelsea Standard, the report are favorable to a very large quantity of rabbits. This will make the hearts of our nimrods rejoice. The cause of this large increase is attributed to the want of snow last winter which prevented too much hunting. It may not be out of place to sta e that rabbits destroy many fruit trees, so be on the lookout for the pests.

Indications point to the farmers in this vicinity having reasonably fair products this year, also an excellent market for them The wheat market opens strong and if reports are to be credited, it will improve. True, the season has been in a measure a disap-pointment, but taking everything into consideration Washtenaw county farm-ers have much to be thankful for, and they should realize and admit it .- Dexter Leader.

If there is a happier man in Ypsilanti than George Preston, the tailor, please tell us who he is. When George came to the United States, he left his wife in England, and when she came the con-dition of her health was such that she was compelled to leave her baby, a little daughter born soon after her husband's departure, with its grandparents Thus Preston had a child he had never seen, and which his wife had not seen in four years. This summer Mrs. P. re crossed the ocean and on her return brought her little girl, now five years old. George is pleased, and-well, we repeat that if a happier man exists in city, we don't know it .- Ypsilanti Sentinel.

FIRE-BUGS AT WORK.

They Cause the Almost Total Destruction of the Town of Oxford, Ia.

Iowa CITY, Ia., Sept. 2 .- Fire at Oxford Sunday night practically destroyed the business portion of the village. Reports as to incendiaries cutting the rope of the town fire-bell and injuring the fire apparatus are conflicting, many parties claiming that the fire apparatus had not been practiced with for months and was entirely out of order. A few brick buildings alone prevented the total destruction of the town. There is no doubt but that the fire was incendiary.

CAPT. ALLEN was nominated by acclamation at the Adrian convention. It is to be hoped that on election day the republicans will be equally unanimous.

Ir is strange and a disgrace that in a city the size of Ann Arbor and with her well drilled officials who certainly know what their duties are, to have the saloons open on Sunday after Sunday where many a man spends his hard earned week's wages while his wife and children perhaps to hungry and cold. It is supposed that these places will be closed, at least one day in the week, and yet there are many saloons in this city that pay no attention to the law and sell this death dealing soul destroyer to men and boys on Sunday. Surely something ought to be done to have these places closed.—Ann Arbor Demoerat.

Most certainly. There is no excuse whatever for inaction in the matter. The city officers are elected for no other purpose than to enforce the laws, and whether or not they personally believe in the wisdom of compulsory saloonclosing on Sunday, has nothing whatever to do with the case. When an official has taken an oath to enforce the laws, it is his duty to make at least an attempt in that direction.

THE state ticket recently placed in nomination at Detroit deserves the hearty support of every good republican. Washtenaw, it is true, preferred Rich for governor, yet we doubt not but that this county will give the successful candidate most hearty support. The democrats are unable to bring one valid count against either the ticket or the platform, nor do they presume to make any definite charges against the course of Gov. Luce during the past four years. They propose to fight the campaign solely on the basis of national issues, regardless of the fact that such questions as the tariff, silver and the force bill have nothing whatever to do with state government. The real point to be decided is just this: shall we retain in ower the republican party, whose effi ciency has been shown by years of faithful service, or shall we, in its stead, place in power a party whose only pretensions are based on pure demagogy and clap-trap? THE REGISTER is convinced that the intelligent citizens of this commonwealth will pursue the former course.

STREET RAILWAY WAR.

WAGED IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER LAST MONDAY.

The City Fathers Listen to Much Talk But Do Nothing With Regard to New Franchise.-Route of Ann Arbor Road Changed Back to Washtenawave.-Minor Matters.

A fierce battle of words raged for nearly three hours at the last meeting of the council. Ann Arbor's sharpest merchants and most elequent lawyers were the lieutenants. Haynes and Corlies were the less demonstrative captains. The humble councilmen and citizens were the privates. Perspiration ran freely and the king's choicest English was slaughtered. Unfortunately the battle came to no conclusion. It re. sulted in a "draw." What will come of it, Providence only knowc. The third reading of the ordinance, changing the route of the Ann Arbor street railway back to Washtenaw-ave excited no com-ment, and the amendment was unanimously adopted. The first mutterings of the real battle came when a petition, of the real battle came when a petition, bearing 109 signatures, was read, asking that the franchise desired by the Ann Arbor, Ypsianti, & De'roit Street Rail-way Co. be granted. Then came the blast of the first cannon, in the shape of a report from the ordinance com-mittee comparison the second committee opposing the requested grant. No franchise, it was said, should be granted until the two companies inrerested could be made to work in harmony. The committee thought that the city was under a "moral" obligation to the Ann Arbor street railway company and that consequently no other road should be permitted within the city limits, until that company had com-pleted its line. On motion of Ald. Mil-ler, the report was received and placed Then the battle commenced. on file. Lawyer Thompson spoke for the Ypsilanti company and was followed by Mr. Sawyer, who did not desire to see the franchise granted. Mr. Cramer scouted the idea advanced by the committee, that Ann Arbor was under any moral obligation whatever to the Ann Arbor road. The city coul i not grant an ex-clusive franchise if it desired. The only question for the council to conroad. only question for the council to con-sider was whether it was public policy to grant the desired right of way. Messrs. Dean, Norris and Ald. Hall carried on the warfare and then J. B, Corliss, secretary of the Ann Arbor road, rose to exulain his position. He and Mr. McLaughlin had $80,000 in-vested in the line now building, but if dummy engines were to be allowed if dummy engines were to be allowed on the streets, as requested by the Ypsi-lanti company, they would sell all their electric appliances, buy steam motors and save $35,000 of their investment as well as from $1,000 to $2,000 of their yearly running expenses. He claimed that the council had no right to permit a road to be laid on any street, without first giving his company the right to build it. They would meet the Ypsi-lanti road on any street and exchange passengers or draw its cars at any price fixed by the council even if it were not more than one cent a passenger. He though that it would be unjust for the city to allow a foreign corporation to crush the Ann Arbor road before it had been placed on a paying basis. Just as the warfare was the hottest, J. T. Jacobs unfurled the flag of truce. He stated that Mr. Haines would agree to the proposition made by the Ann Arbor company. If satisfactory service could be obtained the former would be willing

The mayor's communication announced the appointment of E. S. Manly and Wm Jolly as deputy marshals on the farm of C. G. Clark, and called attention to the pecessity of compelling the railway necessity of compelling the railway companies to place flagmen at the crossing of Liberty, Huron and Main-sts, and to place lights at the crossing of Wash-ington, High, Miller-ave, and Wall st.

There are 43.93 miles of single and 17.33 of double track. The total length of the road, including sidings is 85.15 miles. The total mileage of the fiftysix cities before mentioned in 1880 was 1,689.54 and in 1889 3,150.93, of which 2,351.10 miles are operated by animal power, 260.36 by electricity, 255.87 by cable, 61.79 by steam elevated roads and 221.81 by steam surface roads. On December 31, 1889, 476 cities and towns in the United States possessed rapid transit facilities and the total number of independent street railways was 807. This number bids fair to be largely increased within the next ten years, and it is safe to say, further, that the greater part of the roads in 1900 will use some means of propulsion other than animal power -probably electricity.

sion began again, Messrs, Thompson and Cramertaking part. Prof. Cooley was called upon to give his views on the subject of dummy engines. He stated that motors had been constructed which were practically noiseless, and emitted very little smoke or steam. Mayor Manly then made a few remarks, in the course of which he asserted that no absolute franchise had been granted to the Ann Arbor company. The ques-tion before the house then came to a vote, and on motion of Ald. O'Mara, the report of the ordinance committee op-posing the grant was laid on the table. Thereupon Ald. Hall offered the following resolution: "Resolved, that it is the sense of this council that whenever the Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti & Detroit street railway company have completed their line to the city limits the Ann Arbor street railway shall be required to pay one cent and a half for every passenger carried into and out of the city. Matters seemed to be reaching a climax, when unfortunately the discus-to extend its line to meet the former road on whichever street they come in upon." Upon motion of Ald. Taylor, this resolution was tabled, and the council was just as near a conclusion as

A Few Words on Water.

EDITOR REGISTER :- Every good citizen must be interested in an adequate supply of pure water for family use, as well as protection from fires and sprinkling streets and lawns. In all well regulated cities it is deemed a matter of vital importance. It is emphatically a matter of public concern, and municipal authorities are justly held responcipal authorities are justly held respon-sible for results. New York is now ex-pending $24,000,000 to increase its sup-ply of pure water. Chicago, Detroit, Jackson and other cities are expending large sums for like purposes. The city of Ann Arbor, as I understand, en-deavors to shirk the responsibility by letting out the job by contract to a pri-vate corporation. But the municipal authorities are not thereby relieved from their responsibility. Pure water can be furnished in abundance for all purposes, and that too at comparatively small expense. small expense.

Of the terms and conditions of their contract with the water-works com-pany I am not advised, but am bound to suppose them to be fair and reasona-ble, and capable of enforcement. I have no complaints as to the amount of water furnished. And for the purpose of sprinkling lawns it is admitted to be excellent. Indeed it acts as a fertilizer and greatly promotes the growth of vegetation.

I beg to inquire whether the contract is sufficiently specific as to quality? Is there a common arbiter to determind that matter? If so, I would be pleasee to have him publish a report. As a private citizen I may be allowed to say I make no use of the water as a beverage in the summer months, neither do I furnish it to my family or strangers. I travel daily to the campus for our water rations, and there I meet my neighbors — men, women and children — with pails, pitchers, cups and stone crocks, waiting their turns to catch the overflow of the precious fluid that drips from a half-inch gaspipe. Thanks to the University, its pumping station is not on the bank of the mill-

SCROFULA Is that impurity of the blood which produces

unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy." W. B. LILLIE BARSLER.

The Guild has stood "wear and tear" better, and held its own better than any piano I have ever sold. Over 25,000 have been manufactured, and sold very largely in Boston and vicinity. The great music publishing house of Ditson & Co has sold over 800 of them in the City of Boston. The simple (patent) tuning device is the greatest improvement of the day, and will save expense to the owner besides the satisfaction of having a piano constantly in tune.

TIRED OF LIFE.

Holzhay, the Bold Bandit, Makes Another Attempt at Suicide.

Holzhay, the bandit of the Northern woods, made another unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide in the prison at Marquette the other night. He was found in his cell in an unconscious condition from loss of blood, he having severed the arteries of his wrist with a sliver of tin, secured from a slop bucket. His scalp and the top of his head was also reduced to a pulp from attempts to dash out his brains on the prison walls. Holzhay was placed in a straightjacket.

Salvation Army Captains Wedded.

Weddings seldom take place in the Salvation Army, and because of this the followers of General Booth in Detroit have had much food for gossip. A great deal of bass-drum thumping, and horntooting and tambourine-shaking, interspersed with choruses of "hallelujahs" and "amens," attended the wedding the other night of Captain James W. Johnson, formerly of Detroit and now connected with Salvation Army work at Cheboygan, and Captain Lizzie Paul, a rather tall, round-faced, brown-haired lass of Toronto. Major Cozzens performed the ceremony.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the State Board of Health by sixty-eight observers in different parts of the State for the week ended August 23 indicated that membranous croup, inflammation of the brain, erysipelas, typhoid-malarial fever, scarlet fever, puemonia and influenza increased, and whooping cough and diphtheria de creased in area of prevalence. Diphtheria was reported at twenty-six places, scarlet fever at twenty-three, typhoid fever at thirty-three and measles at eleven places.

Died in Africa.

News has been received at Grand Rapids by William H. Miller of the death of his daughter, Mrs. E. Kingman, at Sierra Leone, Africa, July 11 last. She went to Africa early in the spring, following her husband, who left two months before, as a missionary. The letter says that two other missionaries with whom Mrs. Kingman went had just died of African fever, and that Mr. Kingman had just passed the crisis favorably, but his recovery was still doubtful

This time he was arrested and charged with attempted suicide. Brown was thought to be mentally deranged.
