SOCIAL DOINGS.

RECORD OF A WEEK'S PARTIES, ENTERTAINMENTS AND VISITS.

St. Patrick's Day—Junior Exhibition Entertained His Employees—A Sleight Ride in Michigan—Junior Hop—The Kirmess—Minor Social Notes.

Green badges in honor of Ireland's patron saint were conspicuous on Tuesday, and no one, no matter how unobtrusive, could have failed to know that the 17th of March was St. Patrick's day. He would have been still better convinced of this, had he been so fortunate as to attend the brilliant reception and banquet which was held in the evening at Hangsterfer's hall. From eight to half past nine, Hibernians and friends of Hibernians, from Ann Arbor, from Chelsea, from Ypsilanti, from Dexter, from Northfield, gathered in the reception room, where they were introduced to Congressmen Gorman and Weadock, the honored guests of the evening. Shortly after ten o'clock the large company proceeded to the banquet hall, which was elaborately decorated with the stars and stripes and the insignia of the Hibernians. The collation served did credit to the caterer, Ed. V. Hangsterfer. Ever and anon the Chequamegon orchestra delighted those present with some of its choicest selections, the Irish jigs and medleys being particularly fine. Edward Duffy performed, in a graceful manner, the duties of toastmaster. St. Patrick's day, said he, is the festival day of all the calendar. Then Irishmen of every clime and country meet to renew their vows of friendship. The record of Erin's struggle against English oppression has been a brilliant one, and Irishmen in this country have not been slow in renewing their covenants of fidelity to their brave countrymen across the water. Mr. Duffy read letters of regret from Governor Winans, A. J. Murphy and others.

W. E. Thompson, senior in the law department, responded to the first toast, "The Day We Celebrate," in an eloquent manner. He praised the fidelity of Ireland to the cause of freedom, which, said he, is as great now as when St. Patrick, fourteen centuries ago, illumined the land with the Christian faith. Daniel Dwyer, of the medical department, whom the toastmaster designated a very modest man, responded gracefully to the toast, "The Ladies." All men, he asserted, worship the fair sex, and with justice. History is replete with the records of noble deeds performed by women. Catherine Drexel, one of the modern heroines, who forsook fortune and position for the life of a convent, was highly eulogized by the speaker.

W. B. O'Neil, senior law, declared, in a forcible way, his loyalty to "The University of Michigan," which, said he, is a fit crown to free institutions. This toast, therefore, is very happily combined with that of Ireland, the country that, above all others, has devoted itself to the cause of freedom. At the University of Michigan many Irishmen have taken their degrees, some of whom, like Tarsney, Atchinson, O'Donnell, and the two distinguished gentlemen present, have won fame and honor.

Hon. James S. Gorman handled the broad subject of "The United States of America" in a witty and pleasing manner, first paying his respects to the members of the press, who, said he, generally twist his remarks so that even he cannot recognize them. He held that it was right for Irish-Americans to retain their love for the land beyond the seas, which some of them had left in the early days for the purpose of founding a nation in America whose foundation principle should be the greatest civil liberty compatible with good government. Another great principle which Americans contended for was that no man should take from you that which you would not willingly give, and when the British government attempted to levy an unjust tax the people rebelled. The United States, from the earliest time has continued to progress, so that today it stands the peer, if not the superior, of any other nation, not only in material prosperity but in letters, science and even art, as well. America recognizes no class. We all stand equal. Every step that we have gained should be carefully guarded, for we cannot permit our nation to retrograde. One of the dangers which should be guarded against is the consolidation of capital in the hands of the few. It is not to the credit of the American people that they permit such miscarriages of justice as recently so disgusted the people of New Orleans that they rightly took the law into their own hands. Mr. Gorman then yielded the floor, saying that he was a plain, blunt tiller of the soil and not much given to after-dinner speaking.

John V. Sheehan dissected "The Irish American" in a witty and effective manner. One striking peculiarity of the Irishman is the fact that when he reaches the American shore he at once ceases to be an Irishman—he becomes immediately a policeman or an alderman. Mr. Sheehan told several stories; then, striking a more serious vein, emphasized strongly the loyalty of Irish-Americans to their adopted country.

Congressman T. A. E. Weadock, of Bay City, responded to the last toast of the evening, "The Ancient Order of Hibernians." Mr. Weadock is a graduate of the University, and his opening remarks were largely of the nature of reminiscences. He paid a touching tribute to the memory of Father Van Erp. The Ancient Order of Hibernians, said he, is a band of free men who associate together not only because they love their native land but because they are American citizens. It is also a charitable institution. It is willing to work for the Irish people abroad, but it is constrained to ask in advance, under what king will they serve? They ask their brethren, in the first place, to agree among themselves; they must cease to be divided in factions. They must throw aside the leader who dishonors them, for the Hibernians are a moral order.

THE JUNIOR EXHIBITION. The annual junior exhibition is one of the most intensely interesting events of the college year. That which was given at the chapel on Thursday evening last was no exception to the rule. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. W. O. Waters, of St. Andrew's church, and music was rendered by the Chequamegon orchestra. The first paper on the program was "The Results of Arctic Exploration," by David E. Carman, of Berrien Springs. With clearness and force he depicted the great sufferings undergone and the glorious results achieved by the brave men who have gone in search of the north pole. "Echoes," by Miss Gertrude M. Case, of South Lyon, was written in a much lighter vein. She related the old echo myth and then applied it very happily to the commonplaces of life. Theresa A. Grube vividly related some of the great prophecies made in the past, taking, for the most part, a rather skeptical view. "Forestry a National Necessity," by Conrad Georg, was one of the effective productions of the evening. It was replete with interesting facts and sound argument. Owing to unexpected illness Mabelle Hallack was unable to deliver her essay on Boreas. The next paper on the program was "A Piece of Patchwork," by Eunice A. James. In a fanciful way she gave her impressions of some of the books which she had read. Edson R. Sunderland treated the subject of Boulders, and told in a graphic way what he learned about them by observation and in books. Under the title of "A Peculiar people," Emma C. Klais described very vividly the Shaker community in Kentucky, which was founded by the famous Ann Lee. "The Holy Vehme," by Johanna Neumann, was a good description of the secret tribunal which existed in medieval Germany. Bessie B. Stevens ridiculed very effectively those persons in every sphere of life who "Know More than the Captain." Theodore C. Williams, of Stockbridge, delivered the concluding paper, "Castle Garden," which was not only entertaining but instructive. Rev. J. T. Sunderland then pronounced the benediction, and the audience left the hall, well pleased with the efforts of the young orators.

THE FRATERNITY MEN. The fraternity men and their lady friends are already filling out their programs for the annual junior hop, which, this year, takes place on Friday, April 3. The committees of arrangement include the following persons: G. G. Prentiss, general chairman; G. M. Wisner, secretary and treasurer. Invitation committee—W. M. Johnstone, chairman, G. M. Wisner, H. VanInwagen, Jr., chairman, D. McMorrin, D. C. Morgan, C. C. Warren, C. C. Warden. Schremsler's orchestra, of Detroit, will furnish the music, and some thirty-nine regular dances will be given.

A FRATERNAL GATHERING. On Monday evening E. F. Mills celebrated the first anniversary of his opening in this city by inviting all the employees in his store to spend the evening at his home on Terrace Hill. A very pleasant time was had; tiddly-winks being one of the amusements. On behalf of the employees, L. C. Goodrich presented Mr. Mills with a handsome pastel painting, expressing at the same time their appreciation of the courtesy their employer had always shown them. Mr. Mills responded thanking them in an equally happy manner.

Mrs. W. H. Gardner, formerly of Stanton and now of Edmore, has engaged with the McCull opera company for next season at an alleged salary of $6,000.

The state fishery commission announces that it has planted 1,000,000 brook trout in the streams of the state this winter and will plant 550,000,000 more prior to April 1. The hatching station is located at Paris, and fish have been sent to twenty-eight of the eighty-one counties of the state.

OUT OF THE DEPTHS.

In the black earth my buried body lies, With eyelids closed against the feverish day, Cold and tasteless as the covering clay. That hides the narrow room from the broad skies; In the most grave it lies, and at the head A marble tombstone fondly lezended.

And one comes weeping to my grave each day, And, strewn flowers bedewed in tear drops, calls Upon my name against the voiceless walls, As if beneath the moderating turf I lay; Grieving, he tells in love, mad distress His sorrow and ceaseless love and loneliness.

But I among the purging shadows go Of this dark nether region, vast and strange, In smothering gloom that never knoweth change, Moving on restless pinions to and fro, Refit of the light of God's eternal day, Till every earthly stain shall pass away.

And hovering ever on unresting wing, I bide the eternal mercy with a fire Of deathless prayer to Heaven, with desire To look upon the face of God, my King; Oh, thou, in tears so idle and so vain, How would thy prayers redeem me from this pain?

With thee, with thee, O weeping love of mine, My earthly thoughts full oft were wont to stray; In shady paths we loitered when the day Was full of light, and pleasure's sun did shine; And earth so mad with happiness did seem 'Twas every heaven, and death was but a dream.

Ah, me, thou hast not yet forgotten me! But oh, to me the memory were more sweet Of deathless love and waiting, with desire To look upon the face of God, my King; The gates of glory open, and I the night Pass swift away in everlasting light.—D. J. Donahoe in New York Sun.

Johnny's Cherry. The way in which children put things is often very droll from the association of ideas which it makes in their young minds. They have so much to learn that it is no wonder that it takes them a good while to separate their ideas, so as to keep things from being jumbled up in their thoughts and in their speech.

In a San Francisco kindergarten one day the teacher distributed a little basket of cherries which had been sent in by a friend, and so many were the children that there proved to be but one cherry for each child. It is the rule that when there is any treat of this sort the children shall wait until all are served, and not begin to eat until all are ready.

"Johnny," she said, pleasantly, "I am afraid you have eaten your cherry." He opened a little grimy fist, disclosing the stem and stone of the departed fruit. "Yes, m'm," he answered, cheerfully, "I've eaten all but the bone and the tail."—Boston Transcript.

The Gullible Englishman. There was once published in an American paper a story purporting to describe the process invented by an ingenious Yankee for manufacturing eggs. He was able, the story ran, to make them at a trifling cost, and the eggs were so perfectly imitated that chickens could be hatched from them. An obscure English paper got hold of the story and actually discussed it seriously.

Left Handed Ball Players. Some of the best baseball players are two handed men, or in the parlance of the diamond field, "south pawed." Kilroy is probably the best known as a powerful thrower. Then come Clements, Titcomb, Slattery—who rivals Kilroy—Getztein, Tom Brown and Bill George. All these men use the left hand naturally, and all possess the same peculiarity in causing the ball they throw to take an "outshoot" curve which will bring a few feet of the hands of the catcher. Johnny Ward is not left handed, but he couldn't strike a pitched ball in a week unless he stood with his left side to the plate.

An Old Family. The notices of the death of a farmer at New Lots, L. I., named Rapelle describe him as of an old family. There never was truer word written. The first white child born on this island was a little girl named Rapelle, and the news of her birth was sent to Holland by a west ship that left here after the trading post was established on Manhattan island. She was in all probability born within the stockade which stood where Bowling Green now is. There are only fourteen Rapelle families on the island now, and not one belongs to the race of the hundred. They spell Rapelle in six different ways, and only one follows the old spelling of the name.—New York Sun.

FELT THEIR WRATH.

Awful Work of the Infuriated Populace at New Orleans.

Chief Hennessy's Murder Avenged—A Mob, Headed by Leading Citizens, Storms the Jail and Lynches Eleven of His Slayers.

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—In response to a published call signed by 100 of the leading citizens a mob of infuriated men broke into the parish prison Saturday morning and lynched eleven of the Italians who were acquitted on Friday of the assassination of Chief of Police Hennessy. The victims were: Antonio Scofield, Joseph Machea, Pietro Monastero, James Caruso, Rocco Geraci, Frank Romero, Antonio Marchese, Louis Trahina, Loretto Comitez, Antonio Bagnetto, Manuel Politz.

The call ended with the sentence "Come prepared for action," and at 10 o'clock in the morning several thousand excited men assembled at Clay square. Speeches were made by W. S. Parkerson, a prominent lawyer, as is also W. D. Denegar, who followed him. James D. Houston, the third speaker, is one of the foremost men of the state. The great crowd, excited to frenzy by the remarks, rushed along to the arsenal where arms were supplied, and from there to Congo square.

Sheriff Viller, after arming his deputies, started to find Mayor Shakespeare, assisted by the Italian consul. The governor had no time to act and the police were powerless. The great crowd battered down the doors, overpowered the turnkey, and securing the keys, dragged out the terrified Italians and either shot or hanged them to convenient posts. Geraci was shot in the head. Romero, who had fallen to his knees, was mercilessly slain. Monastero and James Caruso fell together, their bodies riddled with bullets. Comitez and Trahina, who had not been tried but who were accused jointly with the others, were killed. Machea, Scofield and old man Marchesi ran upstairs but were followed and shot in their cells.

Politz, the crazy assassin, was locked in a cell but was shot, dragged out and strung up to a cross-bar in the lower corridor. Bagnetto was shot in the first rush and his body was taken out and hanged to the limb of a tree.

After the bloody deed Parkerson addressed the crowd and asked it to disperse, but he was seized and hoisted to the shoulders of brawny men and carried to the street. The lynchers retraced their steps to Clay square and then dispersed. O'Malley, the detective, and many of the jury that acquitted the Italians are in hiding.

The leaders in the movement held a secret meeting Saturday night and discussed the occurrence of the day and the action to be taken in the future. It was decided that there should be no more bloodshed, but that the men who have not yet been tried for the murder as well as those who suborned the witnesses and the jury shall be vigorously prosecuted before the courts of the city.

At a meeting of the cotton exchange Saturday afternoon resolutions were adopted declaring that "deplorable administration of criminal justice in this city, and the frightful extent to which the bribery of juries has been carried, rendered it necessary for the citizens of New Orleans to indicate outraged justice; and while deploring at all times the resort to violence, we consider the action by the citizens to be proper and justifiable." Resolutions of similar purport were also adopted by the board of trade (produce exchange), the sugar exchange and the stock exchange.

WILL DEMAND INDEMNITY. WASHINGTON, March 16.—The New Orleans mob has got the United States into a grave international scrape. Such of the victims of the mob as were not naturalized citizens were entitled to the protection due to all subjects of foreign governments. The failure of the state authorities of Louisiana to give them protection falls upon the federal government, because no foreign nation can deal with a single state. The fact that six of the accused Sicilians had been acquitted and the other three given a verdict of mistrial emphasizes in international law the outrageous nature of the mob's work.

Money damages will probably be demanded and other reparation be asked. Secretary Blaine has sent the following telegram to Gov. Nicholls at New Orleans: "DEPARTMENT OF STATE, March 15.—His Excellency, Francis T. Nicholls, Governor of Louisiana, New Orleans: It has been represented to the president by the minister accredited to this government that among the victims of the deplorable massacre which took place in the city of New Orleans yesterday were three or more subjects of the king of Italy. Our treaty with that friendly government (which under the constitution is the supreme law of the land) guarantees to the Italian subjects domiciled in the United States the most constant protection and security for their persons and property, making them amenable on the same basis as our own citizens to the laws of the United States and the most constant protection in their due and orderly administration.

"The president deeply regrets that the citizens of New Orleans should have so disparaged the purity and integrity of their own judicial tribunals as to transfer to the passionate judgment of a mob a question that should have been adjudged 6 passionately and by settled rules of law. The government of the United States must give to the subjects of friendly powers that security which it demands for our own citizens when temporarily under the jurisdiction of another power. It is the hope of the president that you will cooperate with him in maintaining the obligations of the United States toward Italian subjects who may be within the perils of the present excitement, that further bloodshed and violence may be prevented, and that all offenders against the law may be promptly brought to justice. JAMES G. BLAINE."

The telegram which Secretary Blaine sent to Gov. Nicholls was the result of a conference between the president and the secretary about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Baron Fava, the Italian minister, having previously called on Secretary Blaine and earnestly protested against the killing of his countrymen, demanding at the same time protection of all other Italians in New Orleans.

ROME, March 16.—The Italian government has instructed Baron de Fava, the Italian minister at Washington, to present a vehement protest to the United States government against the action of the mob in New Orleans. The Rifina denounces the New Orleans lynching as an outrage and says it is a disgrace to the United States that such acts are possible within its borders. The general feeling is one of the utmost indignation and thirst for reprisals in some form. An English visitor who was mistaken for an American had a narrow escape from being mobbed. It is expected that the subject will be brought up in the chamber of deputies. In the talk on the street and in public places strong protests were uttered against any representation of Italy at the coming world's fair.

LONDON, March 16.—The News says that "Italy's indignation is shared by the whole civilized world."

CHICAGO, March 16.—A mass meeting of Italian citizens was held at Ullrich's hall yesterday afternoon. About 1,500 men were present, most of whom claim American citizenship. There were many vehement speeches made denouncing the affair at New Orleans and demanding reparation. Dispatches were sent to Secretary Blaine invoking the aid of the department of state, and to the Italian consul and the editor of the Italian paper in New Orleans, calling upon them to do all in their power.

DISPATCHES FROM NEW YORK, PITTSBURGH, KANSAS CITY, MILWAUKEE AND OTHER CITIES announce the holding of similar meetings by Italians.

THREATENED WITH DEATH. NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—W. S. Parkerson, who led the crowd against the jail and who had only performed a painful but necessary duty last Saturday. He denies that there was any race prejudice in his action. He and Mayor Shakespeare have received notices threatening them with death. The mayor says he considers the massacre as justifiable.

DEMAND SATISFACTION. PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 17.—A committee of twelve Italians passed through Pittsburgh Monday en route to Washington to see Secretary Blaine, President Harrison and the Italian minister and to demand of them that steps be taken immediately in the New Orleans murders. Pasquel Corite, who was spokesman for the party, was very much in earnest. He said: "If the Italians in other cities will follow our example there will be raised in a few days a fund of $500,000 to aid the work of securing justice or revenge. I believe the killing in New Orleans will result in war. If the Italian government does not force to a complete and satisfactory issue the reparation necessary I will say now that an army of Italians will assemble in New Orleans which will fully and effectually avenge the murder of our countrymen."

THE FEELING IN ROME. ROME, March 17.—The Popolo Romano, referring to the New Orleans tragedy, says that, "relying on the foresight of the American authorities, and out of regard for a sincerely friendly power, Italy has refrained from sending an iron-clad to the mouth of the Mississippi."

The weak in America are at the mercy of a ferocious, bloody populace and are tortured and murdered in daylight." The Don Chisciotte Della Mancia remarks that "Italy ought to demand that instant measures be taken to protect the Italian colony in New Orleans," adding, however: "It is just also to recognize the fact that similar incidents would not occur if the towns on the Atlantic littoral were not infested with the ex-galley slaves of Europe."

PRESIDENTIAL POSTMASTERS APPOINTED. WASHINGTON, March 16.—The records of the post office department show that during the two years of the present administration ended March 4, 1891, there were 2,754 appointments made of presidential postmasters. Of this number 478 were made upon resignations, 965 were made upon the expiration of the commissions of the incumbents, 778 were made removals, 74 were made to fill vacancies caused by death and 459 were made at offices which were raised from the fourth to the presidential class during these two years.

Bloody Battle in Chili. SANTIAGO, March 16.—With 1,200 infantry, twenty-five cavalry and two guns the government forces attacked, on the 6th of this month, 3,500 rebels. A general massacre followed of the government forces. It is estimated that 500 rebels were killed and 400 wounded. Col. Robles, commander of the government troops, was killed.

Lynched a Woman. MOUNT STERLING, Ky., March 17.—A mob went to the house of Mrs. Wigginton, whose husband and sons are charged with poisoning Ferguson and Watts, and hanged her, and the crowd is now searching for Mr. Wigginton, who has fled. Two of the Wigginton boys are in jail, which is strongly guarded.

Rockefeller's Latest Gift. New York, March 16.—John D. Rockefeller has added to his long list of charitable bequests by giving another $100,000 to the American Baptist Educational society. This, added to his previous gifts to this society and to the university of Chicago, makes his total contributions $1,900,000.

Struck by a Train. CHICAGO, March 14.—The west Chicago avenue patrol wagon, containing three officers and ten prisoners, was struck by a train at a crossing on the Chicago & Northwestern road Friday evening and three of the occupants were badly hurt.

Killed Himself. DECATUR, Ill., March 17.—Nelson Greengrove, an old resident of this city, aged 63 years, took a butcher knife Monday, went into an outhouse and cut his throat from ear to ear. He was temporarily insane and will die. He has a family.

Death of Frank Frayne. CHICAGO, March 17.—Frank I. Frayne, the well-known actor, died Monday of neuralgia of the heart. He was born in Danville, Ky., in 1839, and went on the stage in 1853. He was married to Miss Margaret Reed in 1855.

A Sound and Winning Platform.

The newly appointed Secretary of the Treasury says that he is in favor of "protection, reciprocity and honest money," the three things, by the way, which are to bring about the election of a Republican President in 1892.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Lecture on Fools—Admit One.

A gentleman who lectured on fools, printed his tickets as above. Suggestive, certainly, and even sarcastic. What fools are they who suffer the inroads of disease when they might be cured. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is sold under a positive guarantee, and its benefit or curing in every case of Liver, Blood and Lung disease, or money paid for it will be cheerfully refunded. In all blood taints and impurities of whatever name or nature, it is most positive in its curative effects. Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, and all Skin and Scalp diseases are radically cured by this wonderful medicine. Scrofulous disease may affect the glands, causing swellings or tumors; the bones, causing "Fever-sore," "White Swellings," "Hip-joint Disease," or the tissues of the lungs, causing Pulmonary Consumption. Whatever its manifestations may be, "Golden Medical Discovery" cures it.

An Act of Folly.

Governor Hill's refusal to acknowledge the authority of Governor Bulkeley of Connecticut so far as to honor a requisition paper is another piece of demagoguery and scandalous partisanship.—Syracuse Standard.

Love's Young Dream. Love's young dream was a very bright one, and its fulfillment will be bright, too, if the bride will remember that she is a woman, and liable to all the ills peculiar to her sex. We remind those who are suffering from any of these, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew the hue of youth in pale and sallow cheeks, correct irritating uterine diseases, treat and cure necrosis and inflammation, and infuse new vitality into a wasting body. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Tariff Pictures. Yes, we do pretty well in leather goods, and even export them. Our average exports of leather manufactures for five years (1885 to 1889) were $9,839,469 while in 1890 we exported $12,438,847.

And this increasing export is going on in spite of our wicked protection system.

MANY VICTIMS.

Terrible Result of the Recent Storm in England. Over a Hundred Lives Lost—Thousands of Sheep and Cattle Also Perish—A Number of Bodies Found—Trains Still Delayed.

GREAT SUFFERING. ST. PETERSBURG, March 14.—Floods which have followed the recent heavy snow-storms have destroyed one-half the winter crops in many places in southwest Russia. The Vistula has overflowed its banks and has inundated a great part of Warsaw. The inhabitants of that city are in distress owing to the floods, the severity of which can be judged from the fact that the ramparts which form a part of the fortifications have been in parts destroyed by the rising waters.

LONDON, March 16.—The blizzard was general in southern England and northern France. Somerset, Devon and Cornwall were visited with particular severity. From many places in the two latter counties there has been no communication of any kind since last Monday, and how the people fare there is only a matter of conjecture. The record so far shows that 115 lives have been lost and thousands of cattle and sheep. The railway lines are still blocked.

LONDON, March 17.—Reports of the loss of life which occurred during the blizzard are now coming in. The body of a laborer named Charles Bisgood was found Sunday at Uffwell near Honiton buried in the snow. He had been missing since Tuesday of last week. The body of a workman named Jeremiah Buckley, who had been missing for three days, was discovered Saturday on the Varteg mountain imbedded in the snow. Five people perished in the Welsh mountains during the storm which occurred last week. The body of Henry Bridger, a pensioner 71 years of age, was discovered thickly covered with snow Friday evening in an isolated spot which adjoins the common at Greenham.

Crawford had been forcing his attentions upon her, and it is supposed that, in a fit of anger, because she would not listen to his suit, he committed the deed, cutting her throat.

A LIST OF THE VICTIMS. NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 14.—The beautiful Central insane asylum, situated seven miles from this city, is almost a mass of ruins; beneath it are the charred bodies of half a dozen of the unfortunate inmates, and in the outhouses near by are huddled the remainder of the 400 poor, demented inmates of the asylum. At 10:15 Friday night Watchman Fitzhugh discovered an ugly tongue of flame breaking through the roof of the western main wing of the building. How it caught none could divine, but it reached the ground through the second and third stories and cut off the few rooms that were behind it. There were twenty-eight men in the wing when the fire caught and twenty-two of them were quickly removed to the main hall, the other six being left to their fate behind the impassable wall of flames.

The list of the dead are as follows: J. S. Johns, Rutherford county; J. Burt Dexter, Wilson county; Blue Preston, Cannon county; John Kelly, Wayne county; W. H. Beasley, Hickman county; B. F. Holloway, Davidson county.

In another column THE REGISTER publishes a copy of the petition which is being circulated by the leaders in the citizens' movement. The list of names contained therein is certainly sufficient to insure to the movement a most hearty support by the better class of our citizens, irrespective of party affiliations. The leaders in the movement are very sanguine of the success of their efforts at the coming spring election.

THE ARGUS opposes a citizen's ticket because "a non-partisan government is a weak one." Why so? Because it is responsible to no party? True, but is it not responsible, in greater degree than any party government, to the people? Is it weak because it antagonizes those saloon-keepers who violate the laws? If that is the case, the present government must be possessed of almost herculean strength. The Argus should not attempt to belaud the real issue by uttering such silly twaddle. A little frankness in that quarter would be greatly appreciated.

If city officials do not do their duty, they are often not the only ones to blame. Guided by the right kind of public sentiment, no man will do wrong. Oliver Summer Teal, one of the prominent leaders in the agitation for municipal reform in New York city, enforces this point in the following words: "The men who represent us will always be the index of our own political morality; for if we do our duty they will do theirs; if we guard and protect them, they will guard and protect the city; but if we care not, they will care still less." The citizens of Ann Arbor would do well to bear this in mind.

MR. SESSIONS, at the last temperance mass meeting, struck the nail on the head when he said that no effective steps could be taken against law-breaking saloonists, unless the citizens form some kind of an organization. A people's municipal league, composed of, perhaps, fifty of the best men in the city, irrespective of party, bent upon prosecuting all persons who violate state laws or city ordinances, could practically force the most unwilling mayor to perform the duties which pertain to his office. Merely temporary organization cannot be very effective, for the instant that the forces of law-abiding citizens are scattered, the law-breakers will again slip to the front and assume control of municipal affairs.

WHAT a world of shams this is! The democratic party claims to be the party of reform. By means of reckless promises it succeeded last fall in capturing several republican strongholds. What has it done? In New York it has elected a senator, in place of Wm. R. Everts, the most notorious political trickster in the country; it has championed a bill authorizing every bar room to sell liquor all night long; it has tried to remove many other restrictions which oppressed their allies, the saloon keepers. In Michigan it has ejected republicans from their seats, in a manner which, if not contrary to the letter of the constitution, is clearly contrary to its spirit; it has devised plan after plan for the gerrymandering of the state; it has sent its representatives on junketing tours at the state's expense; it has carried the spoils system to such an extreme that it taxes even the poor little messenger boys in order to perpetuate its power. The course of the democratic party in Michigan and New York thus stands as a lesson to those recalcitrant republicans who, because they dislike some one move of their party, rush blindly into the opposing camp.

THE massacre of Italians in New Orleans last Saturday by a mob of infuriated citizens was one of the most infamous events of the present century—surpassing almost, in its enormity, the Haymarket tragedy itself. Justice had indeed been bribed and guilty men were likely to escape punishment which should have been dealt to them. There seemed, thus, at first blush, to be some excuse for the ruthless conduct of the mob. But, does one crime ever justify another? Because a kills B, has C any right to slay A, without the warrant of law? Will any honorable man answer this question in the affirmative? Lynching is never justifiable; no possible combination of circumstances can ever excuse it. Suppose the law is insufficient; insufficient law is, nevertheless, better than no law. Suppose officials are venal or criminally negligent; irresponsible mobs have, nevertheless, no right to usurp their functions. Every man who drew a musket on the fatal afternoon is a murderer, and should be prosecuted as such, and if the state of Louisiana cannot attend to this, then it is the duty of the United States government to establish military rule in that state.

MUNICIPAL REFORM.

A NON-PARTISAN CITIZENS' MOVEMENT INAUGURATED.

Petitions are being circulated asking that forty-five leading citizens select a ticket.

For some time the leading citizens of both parties have privately expressed their dissatisfaction with the present city government, by some of whom it has been called the most inefficient Ann Arbor has ever had. This dissatisfaction has finally crystallized in the form of a citizens' movement, and forty-five of our best citizens, representing all nationalities, all parties, all vocations, have consented to take charge of the matter. This petition, which is being circulated, meets with much public favor:

We, the undersigned, citizens of Ann Arbor, Michigan, having an interest in the welfare and good name of the city and believing that our city government should be conducted upon business principles and with the strictest economy and independent of party or political questions, respectfully request the following named persons, to-wit:

to meet at the Supervisor's room, in the Court House, on the evening of the 24th day of March, at 7:30 o'clock, local time, and nominate and place in the field a full city ticket, including ward officers, to be voted for at the ensuing city election, and we hereby pledge ourselves to use all honorable means to secure the success of such ticket at the polls.

WORK FOR TEMPERANCE.

Mass Meeting at the Unitarian Church—Forcible Addresses by Rev. J. W. Bradshaw and Messrs. Childs and Sessions.

That the people of Ann Arbor are awakening to the necessity of doing some work for temperance is shown by the large numbers who attend the weekly mass meetings. Rev. J. T. Sunderland, who presided over the last of these meetings, opened by reading a recent editorial which appeared in this paper. He endorsed it most heartily, and said that it was not in the least overdrawn.

W. K. Childs followed Mr. Sunderland with a very forcible address. He said that he would not undertake to prove that intemperance is a great evil. The calamities of the great civil war cannot compare with those caused by intemperance, but men are so accustomed to seeing it that it no longer makes any impression upon them. Hundreds are daily staggering into drunkards' graves. Do we realize that we have responsibilities in the matter? We have hopes that the weak and feeble laws against selling liquor on Sunday, late at night and to minors may be enforced. Why have they not been enforced? Simply because business men have been afraid of the liquor traffic—afraid of a thing which is as harmless as a jackass in a lion's skin.

J. Q. A. Sessions was equally forcible in his remarks. He called attention to the fact that many railroad and steamboat companies will employ no drinking men, and he advised temperance people to encourage this practice as much as possible. He urged the law-abiding citizens of Ann Arbor to effect an organization for the purpose of fighting the liquor traffic. Let suits be brought against those dealers who violate the laws. Bondsmen and saloonists would at once take alarm. He advised the formation of a permanent association with a capital stock of $50,000, which should take upon itself the duty of prosecuting law-breakers. Without organizing nothing can be done. Mr. Sessions advised, as a second means of reform, the formation of a young men's Christian association. In conclusion, he urged very strongly the necessity of running non-partisan tickets at city elections.

The concluding address was made by Rev. J. W. Bradshaw, who demonstrated, in a forcible manner the responsibilities of citizenship. If the people of this country do not soon awaken to a sense of duty, the nation must inevitably perish.

Before the meeting adjourned, Mr. Sunderland announced that the next meeting would be held at the Presbyterian church.

Rev. M. F. Dowling's address on "Is the Present State of Society an Indictment Against Christianity?" drew a large audience. The speaker eloquently described existing evils and pointed out the mission of Christianity, which, he was sure, would ultimately triumph.

The Limited Mail.

Every one who visited the entertainment given by "The Limited Mail" last October at the Opera House cannot forget the marvelous scenic effects of that great production; the flight of the Limited Mail across the stage, the message flashed over the wires by electricity, the locomotive, hand cars, the saw mill in operation, the wreck, and other scenes. This play produced a sensation in this city when they were here in the fall, and will draw an immense crowd on their special return engagement next Monday night. This play was in Detroit a few weeks ago, and turned people away every night. This has been the history of "Limited Mail" throughout the season. It is said that they have not played a single losing engagement. Undoubtedly this will be the last opportunity to see this great play as next season it plays only week stands in the large cities. Speaking of its success, Grand Rapids papers say: The Limited Mail packed the opera house at both performances yesterday. The wonderful realistic railway scene is the talk of the town.—Grand Rapids Telegram-Herald, Sept. 24. People had to stand up again at the performance last night.—Grand Rapids Telegram-Herald, Sept. 24. The standing room sign was used again last evening. The great effects used in The Limited Mail carries the audience by storm.—Grand Rapids Telegram-Herald, Sept. 24.

In Memoriam.

The Washtenaw Pomological Society desires to express its grateful tribute to the memory of the late Dr. Alexander Winchell, as a citizen and as a foremost scientific promoter of all the interests which concern the resources and advantages of the state of Michigan offers to agriculture and horticulture, and its appreciation of the services of Dr. Winchell to this society as officer of climatology for a number of years.

We therefore extend our inmost sympathy to the family of our friend, hoping truly that they will reap the harvest partly denied to this noble and profound worker, during his life-time, by the authorities of the state of Michigan.

We would therefore remind ourselves, the citizens of Michigan in general, and our state authorities in particular, that Alexander Winchell is the foremost climatic fact of our state by which it was demonstrated that, from the peculiar climate of Michigan, this state is better adapted to the interests of agriculture and horticulture, and also to the comfort and health of its citizens, than the climate of any other northwestern state, which facts were published in his report "on the Grand Traverse region" in 1866, and in his paper read the same year at the Buffalo meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, entitled "The Fruit Belt of Michigan and Michigan Condensed Popular Sketches on the Topography, Climate and Geology of the State in 1873," by Alexander Winchell, LL. D., Chancellor of Syracuse University, etc., etc.

That these papers, with the isothermal charts, were reproduced in "Der Michigan Wegweiser," in Hamburg, Germany, and also in "Der Zeitschrift, der Oesterreichischen Gesellschaft fuer Meteorologie in Vienne, Vol. VIII; and that these works of the late Dr. Winchell, representing the greatest interests of state, were published and re-published, at home and abroad, by newspaper and magazine managers, emigrant agencies, learned societies, medical journals and horticultural associations, while the public authorities of Michigan have neither instigated, aided nor endorsed their publications; but incredible as it may seem, have actually declined, with expression of derision, to publish them to their own citizens and the world. (See Michigan Legislative Proceedings, for March and April, 1871.)

And that it is our candid opinion that, from the above stated facts, the state of Michigan is owing a sacred debt to the heirs and to the memory of this great benefactor and noble citizen of this great state, which he fondly called Michigan! My Michigan!

OUR YPSILANTI RAMBLER

Tells What He Has Seen and Heard in that Burg During the Past Seven Days and Nights.
There's nothing that stirs up the average Ypsilanti like the ringing of the fire-alarm bell; and Sunday afternoon, when the peal went forth, there also went forth between two and three hundred people, all in their Sunday clothes, to witness the tussle of the fire element with the old Barton house. Undoubtedly the old house would have given in after a fierce struggle had not the brave fire laddies come so promptly to the rescue. However, the boards had to hustle out in a hurry, and furniture, trunks, stoves, bedding and frosted cake were piled in a tempting heap by the roadside. Lessee Thos. Spooner claims loss of about $1,200 and owner, Thos. Phillips, of $5,000, with small insurance. One of our best known physicians, Doctor Oakley, who has been ill so long, died Monday afternoon. He leaves a widow and one daughter. We learn also that Doctor Batwell, who is so widely known in these parts, is considered dangerously ill. Business circles were considerably astonished, Monday, to find that Hewitt & Champion, boot and shoe dealers, had been obliged to make an assignment under financial embarrassment. J. M. Chidister has charge of their affairs but at this writing it is quite impossible to obtain a correct statement of liabilities. Quite a number from this city went to Hastings, Tuesday, to attend the marriage of Mort Tower, formerly of this city, and Miss Fanny Mixer. Mrs. Wartz has hied herself Chicago-ward to express her intense admiration of the young grandson which she found in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ed. Bogardus. The "Little Gleamers," a missionary band of girls, gave an entertainment in the Presbyterian church parlors Wednesday evening, which was very enjoyable. The proceeds went to help make up the yearly sum needed to aid in the education of a young girl in Persia, in whom the band is greatly interested. Along with the rest of the excitement of the first of the week, came the rumor that one of our young lawyers had suddenly but firmly left this city of sanitariums and few lawyers' fees, to seek a place where quarrels and law suits do abide and lawyers flourish and grow wealthy. Whether he has yet found this desired haven we have not learned, as he has sent no message to his anxious friends. Next Saturday evening four members of the Normal Prohibition club will plant their feet firmly on the stage before an admiring audience in Cleary Business College hall and pour forth such a deluge of eloquence as has not been heard by the natives in one while. The speaker who uses the biggest words, most gestures and best lung power will represent the club in the State Inter-collegiate oratorical contest which will take place in April.

A FITTING MEMORIAL.

The University Senate Passes Fitting Resolutions on the Death of Professor Wells.
At the meeting of the University Senate last week a fitting memorial was adopted, eulogizing the late Wm. P. Wells. Besides much which relates to the biography of the departed professor, they say:
"The people of the state of Michigan have mourned with a great loss Professor Wells was, in the truest sense of the term, a public man. His time was freely given to the consideration of questions of national and state importance, and he was always ready and well equipped. In the many serious controversies that have arisen during the past thirty years over legal, educational and political subjects, so comprehensive was his knowledge that he was seldom excluded from the forum of discussion for want of technical learning. He was a wise counsellor, and his views were eagerly sought for. He frequently expressed them from the rostrum, and here he had but few equals. The force of his logic, the elegance of his diction, and the dignity and earnestness with which he discussed an issue, always commanded the admiration and respect of his adversaries.
"In politics Professor Wells took an active part, but of political warfare that did not involve the discussion of principles he knew nothing; a strong party man, but not a politician in the popular sense. The people of the state mourn the loss of one who gave much of his best thought to the solution of vital public questions, without expecting or receiving any reward from the emolument of office. He will be missed in the councils of the state.
"But few men at the bar of this state have had a larger professional acquaintance than Professor Wells. For the period of thirty-five years he was actively engaged in the practice of law in the state and federal courts. He met in the trial of causes many practitioners of national reputation, and argued important constitutional questions before some of the ablest jurists of our country. He stood in the front rank of his profession and glorified it by his high standard of professional honor and legal attainment. He did not practice law as a means to the acquirement of wealth. Too often, perhaps, for his own good, he forgot the honorarium. To him the law was a sublime science, and the price of the law a noble profession, which brought its reward in something other than financial results. Some of his most valuable work was without compensation.
"Among his instructors at the Harvard Law School were such men as Joel Parker, known to this day as the chief justice of New Hampshire, and Theophilus Parsons, still the leading authority on contracts in our courts. It is easy to see the influence of these great minds upon the life of Professor Wells. The method of instruction known as the lecture system, which they had adopted in the Harvard Law School, and which was introduced in that institution by Joseph Story and Simon Greenleaf, was followed by Professor Wells and his associates in the law department of our University. It is with a feeling of profound sorrow that we note the withdrawal from active service of the last member of that distinguished law faculty, which may be said to have been influential in establishing our present system of instruction.
"As a law professor, Prof. Wells was a marked man among his peculiarly qualified for the position which he filled. His vast experience in litigation, his profound knowledge of technical law, his clearness of thought and force of expression rendered his lectures of great value to the students. Thousands of young men in this country mourn with us today over the loss sustained by the law department of the University.
"In his person Prof. Wells was a dignified and genial gentleman. His manners were almost faultless. He was unobtrusive, but cordial, and, being somewhat retired in his habits, sought but little recreation in society. His leisure hours were spent in study. With the students he was patient and painstaking, and always in full sympathy with their work. As a member of the faculty, he was a kind and considerate counsellor, uninfluenced by any pet theories or peculiar notions. We could always count upon his doing the right thing.
"The University Senate, appreciating his most excellent qualities of mind and heart, sympathize with the members of his family in this hour of deep sorrow."

DR. HARTMAN ON CATARRH.

The Fallacy of Catarrh Cures.

The fatal mistake which so many physicians, of all schools, make in the treatment of catarrh is, that it is regarded as a local disease and not a systemic disease. If the patient has catarrh of the nose or throat, sprays and gargles are used; if the catarrh is in the larynx or bronchial tubes, inhalants are used; if the catarrh is in the stomach, medicine is swallowed; if the catarrh is in the bladder or urethra, injections are resorted to; hoping in each case to cure this disease by applying the medicine to the exact spot where the disease is located.
While it is a fact that sprays, inhalants, gargles and injections are often helpful in the treatment of a case of catarrh, they can never accomplish a cure. Catarrh is a disease of the system, which manifests itself in some mucous membrane, oftenest of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or lungs, but frequently of the stomach and bowels, and again of the urinary and sexual organs. A persistent use of Pe-ru-na according to the directions on the bottle will remove the catarrhal taint from the system, after which the diseased part, wherever located, will soon recover. That this is the correct theory of the treatment of catarrh is amply proven by the multitude of testimonials that are constantly pouring in from all parts of the country. Catarrh in all stages and varieties, colds, coughs, bronchitis, la grippe, catarrhal dyspepsia, all yield, surely and permanently, to the curative virtues of Pe-ru-na.
John B. Risley, of Merrimac, Wis., writes, July 3, 1890: "I received in December last one of Dr. Hartman's 'Treatment on Catarrh,' and after a careful perusal of it I concluded to give it a remedy by a trial, as I was afflicted with nasal catarrh. I did so and gained eleven pounds in weight the first month, with a steady increase in health and vigor that has been permanent so far, with but very little symptom of catarrh left. His remedies are the only ones I have ever found able to give me any relief."
The following cases need no comment, save that each one was cured by taking Pe-ru-na simply, without any local treatment whatever:
FLINT, MICH., March 2, 1891.
DAVISON, MICH.—My wife has suffered with catarrh and chronic headache. One bottle of Pe-ru-na was a great relief, but three bottles has cured her so that she does her own work without any trouble.

THE GUILD PIANO.

IS IT UNKNOWN? Read what the greatest Music Publishing firm in this country says of it:

We have rented and sold your pianos extensively, and recommend them as being in every respect reliable and satisfactory.

Messrs. Oliver Ditson & Co. have purchased upwards of 800 of our Pianos and never had occasion to make a demand on us for any defect in the instruments.
No finer instrument has ever come under my inspection. . . . I cheerfully recommend them as inferior to none in the market.
HENRY S. CUTLER,
Organist of Trinity Church, New York.

I predict for your unrivalled pianos the highest popularity. They are now in the front rank of superior workmanship.
Sincerely yours,

Organist of the "Church of the Unity" (Rev. Hepworth's), Boston.

"Are the perfection of musical mechanism."—Providence Journal.
"It is the sweetest-toned piano I ever heard."—From Mr. Harris, of England, the inventor of the celebrated "Harris Engine."
Mr. H. C. Barnabee, the celebrated vocalist, says: "They are splendid in tone and action, and the handsomest pianos I ever have seen."

I consider the Guild method of tuning the nearest perfection of any I have ever seen. I have often wondered why some method was not devised to tune the piano without turning the pins in the pin block. Guild has the right idea. The piano must stay in tune, and will certainly wear longer.
G. W. RENWICK,
Muskegon, Mich., August 9, 1890.

No "slipping" or "springing" of tuning pins. The most beautiful cases. Guaranteed not to check. Mr. Guild recently wrote: "I am distracted with orders; make no new agencies. My improvements take like wildfire." It has been impossible for me to secure half the number of these pianos needed. They are coming on again, and I cordially invite all to call and see them.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors"; which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.
How Can CURED It Be
By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.
"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to foot. We took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy."

weeks. It was also decided that as many of the members as could should visit the regular meeting of the W. C.
