The number receiving each degree is as follows: Bachelor of Letters, 3; Bachelor of Science (Biology), 2; Bachelor of Science (Chemistry), 7; Bachelor of Science (Electrical Engineering), 3; Bachelor of Science (Mechanical Engineering), 4; Bachelor of Science (Civil Engineering), 10; Bachelor of Science (General), 10; Bachelor of Philosophy, 34; Bachelor of Arts, 51; Civil Engineering, 2; Master of Science, 3; Master of Philosophy, 2; Master of Arts, 11; Doctor of Philosophy, 4. In the other departments the graduates are as follows: Medicine, 101; Law, Bachelors, 164; Masters, 15; Pharmacy, 30—Master 1; Homeopathic, 18; Dental, 29.

The weather has been less oppressive than is generally the case in Commencement week.

The attendance of alumni is not large but those who are here seem enthusiastic. The exercises throughout have been of a high order.

SUNDAY JUNE 21.

AT NEWBERRY HALL.

A fitting opening to the exercises of the week was the dedication of the Newberry building, which took place Sunday afternoon. The beautiful hall was fittingly decorated with evergreens, flowers and plants.

The exercises opened with a Te Deum by the choir, after which Rev. A. S. Carman offered the invocation and Rev. R. Rust read an appropriate scripture passage.

A brief history of the association was given by A. E. Jennings. It was founded in 1855 and was the successor to the "Mission Society of Christian Endeavor." It became a corporate body in 1883. Subscriptions started, and in 1887 there was money enough to buy a lot. In the same year Mrs. J. S. Newberry contributed $15,000 for a building. Other large gifts followed. On the first Sunday in April, 1888, the corner stone was laid. Subsequent history is familiar to all.

Dr. W. J. Herdman gave a short treasurer's report. From all sources $35,822.02 (including $1,000 for library) had been received. Of this $21,000 came from Mrs. Newberry and other large contributors, $10,000 from the citizens and students of Ann Arbor, $3,000 from Michigan, and the remainder from all parts of the known world. The liabilities amounted to about $2,244.

The dedication ode, composed for the occasion by Prof. F. N. Scott, was read by Rev. J. W. Bradshaw, and a dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. J. M. Gelston.

President Angell then gave a short address, at the beginning of which he read a letter from Mrs. Newberry, offering to make up the deficit so that the building might be dedicated free of debt. He congratulated the men who established the association, the trustees, the members of the society, Mr. Bearly, Mrs. Newberry and finally the state and the world at large over the happy event which they were celebrating.

Prof. D'Ooge followed the president with an interesting paper, full of memories of the past and suggestions for the future. He hoped that the organization would never lose that simplicity and catholicity which had always been the sources of its power. Finally he handed the key of the building to the president of the association, C. P. McAllaster, who accepted it in a short address.

Resolutions thanking the several donors were read by Professor Spaulding. The exercises closed with an anthem by the choir and the benediction by Rev. Henry Tatlock.

THE BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS
by the president is always looked forward to with pleasure. This year he took as his subject: "Leadership through Self-Surrender."

The teachings of Christ in depicting life, said he, "abound in paradoxes. The Beatitudes, pronounced in the sermon on the mount, contain perhaps one of the most remarkable collections of paradoxes in literature."

"Another of these spiritual paradoxes which our Lord seems to have been fond of repeating, in one form and another, to his disciples is that through humility we reach exaltation, that we are to move and lead and bless men by ministering as servants to them rather than being served by them."

"This doctrine of leadership through self-sacrifice may well be commended to your thoughtful consideration today. If there is any class of persons who are called to the duty and the privilege of leadership, it is the class who like you have received the advantages of higher education. The conditions of success in this leadership it is well for us to understand."

"Let us notice some erroneous views concerning what is involved in cultivating the Christian spirit of self-sacrifice. It is an error to suppose that such a spirit forbids intellectual development and culture. It is pedantry which is proud. Great scholarship is modest. Again it is an error to suppose that the spirit of self-sacrifice does not exist in one who is conscious of intellectual and moral power. In all ages great men of marked endowments, of strong convictions, of mighty moral force have come to the front, speaking as those having authority. Yet these leaders have been men of the sweetest and most devoted spirit. While then we do not need to stifle our consciousness of power, we do yet need to remember that one of the besetting sins of men is to overestimate their power. It is an error to suppose that the spirit of self-sacrifice is incompatible with a sense of gratification at the approbation of good men. It encourages and strengthens us in right doing. It is an error to suppose that the spirit of self-sacrifice must rob us of delight at seeing our labors bringing forth good fruit and of the privilege of manifesting our delight."

"In one word, it does not call us to a mean and cringing and craven and ascetic life but to a sweet and large and forceful life."

"Let us observe now some of the grounds on which it is affirmed that the spirit of self-sacrifice is one of the essential qualifications of high leadership. It needs no argument to convince us that selfishness in a man never attracts us but always repels us. We are drawn at once towards the man of large heart and noble soul."

"On the other hand a man may have large intellectual gifts, great genius and great learning, but if he is known to be mean and selfish in spirit, he cannot long remain a leader in any good work."

"Again, it will help us to understand how the spirit of self-sacrifice qualifies one for the leadership of men, if we remember that men are moved to action through their moral nature and not necessarily through their intellect. The eloquence which most powerfully sweeps men on to action must come from a sincere and noble heart. Cold intellect, however dazzling its manifestations, does not long or strongly move men."

"Again, if a man is to be a conspicuous leader, he must convince others that he cares more for the truth, for the cause which he is espousing, than for being praised as the defender of the truth or the champion of the cause. If it becomes apparent that his motive in securing the triumph of a principle or a party is primarily to secure his own exaltation or fame, he is at once bereft of his power."

Dr. Angell, at this point, stopped to examine the characters of some of the great leaders of the world, such as Moses of Israel and Saul of Tarsus. But, after all, said he, "the supreme example of leadership through humiliation and self-sacrifice is that of our Lord and Master himself."

"Even the meanest of us may reverently and trustfully hope that as we share the spirit of our Lord we shall also have something of the power of leading men aright. Without this spirit you may perhaps win a certain admiration from men for your intellectual gifts, you may even wield a positive power in leading men astray, your vanity may be tickled a while by the consciousness of such power; but can there be any permanent satisfaction to you in the exercise of any leadership, however conspicuous, except the leadership towards good? I know well enough the generous and noble impulses of early life to be sure what is the response of your hearts at this moment to the question. In this hour, so full of lofty aspirations, you do desire to make the world happier and better. What wiser counsel, then, can I give as my parting advice than to ask you to treasure in your hearts those words of our Lord to his disciples: 'Whoever would become great among you shall be your minister; and whosoever would be first among you shall be your servant; even as the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many.'

MONDAY JUNE 22.

LAW CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

At ten o'clock the Chequamegon orchestra struck up the "Schauspiel Ouverture" and the speakers of the day marched on the platform, which was decorated with the University colors and potted plants. The president, N. A. Phillips, gave a short salutatory. The class, said he, had neither regrets for the past nor misgivings for the future.

The history, by Harry Dimick Jewell, was full of reminiscences. Ninety-one entered with 285 members. During the first year the principal events were the visit of the Pan-American congress, the base ball victories and the circus embroil. The latter he describes in verse as follows:

"Showmen to right of them,
Showmen to left of them,
Showmen behind them,
Holler'd and thundered.
Oh, how the tent-pins and crow-bars whacked!
Rushed thro' the barb-wire fence
Into the mud canal,
All that was left of them,
Left of the Six Hundred."

The following statistics, among others, were presented: Seventy members of the class come from Michigan, thirty-two from Illinois, twenty-six from Ohio, nineteen from Indiana, seven from Ontario, four from Japan—the remainder representing twenty-four states and territories. Twenty-eight members of the class are married. Twenty-one are of foreign birth. The oldest man is 44, the youngest 19. Political preferences were reported as follows: Republicans, 133; Democrats, 55; Prohibitionists, 12. Seven members think Carlisle, fifteen Cleveland, and 178 Blaine, the greatest American statesman. The annual yearly expenses of students ranged between $125 to $1,500, the average being $441.52. The historian presented other statistics and closed with a fitting reference to the late Prof. W. P. Wells.

The class poem, by F. A. Henry, contained many reminiscences.

L. S. Baldwin, the class orator, forcibly defended the legal profession from the aspersions frequently cast upon it.

The class prophecy was read by E. R. Sutton. He compared the class of '91 to a galaxy of stars and viewed the various members with an astronomer's eye. The figure was well carried out.

S. E. Low gave the valedictory, the effect of which was somewhat marred by a faltering delivery. He referred to the great social changes which had taken place in recent years and showed the relation these necessarily bear to law.

After "Hail to the Chief," by the orchestra, the portrait of Prof. Wells was unveiled and presented to the law department by President Phillips in behalf of the class. Prof. Knowlton responded with appropriate remarks. This concluded the exercises of the day.

TUESDAY, JUNE 23.

LITERARY CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

Shortly after ten o'clock the Chequamegon orchestra struck up a lively piece—a fitting overture to the interesting program which followed. The class orator was Walter Hammond Nichols who during the past year has also enjoyed the distinction of being president of the Students' Lecture Association. His subject was "The College Graduate." The oration was replete with illustrations.

At the outset he remarked that by graduate he meant "she" as well as "he." He upheld the policy of co-education.

An interesting anecdote was given,

which went to show that colleges breed

many "unpractical wittlings."

The speaker referred also to the feeling that college graduates are often obstructionists.

They have scoffed at many of the greatest inventions and, said he, "even in the closing years of the nineteenth century, in a university town, an electric railway has a hard struggle against junctions."

Mr. Nichols treated at some length the charge that college men shirk their political responsibilities.

"Yet the college graduate has his right to be and his place to fill. Brice says while reforms have to depend upon the middle classes, 'the original impulse which has set the cause in motion, in the inspiring ideas that have drawn men to it, have no doubt come from lofty and piercing minds, and minds generally belonging to the cultivated classes.'

Again, said the speaker: "The diploma is not the magic wand that shall open to us the doors of wealth, fame, ease, and, least of all, happiness.

The most of us will probably earn money enough to feel decent and do enough good to form the skeleton of a funeral service."

"The educated man is forever doomed to be misunderstood, and a man's foes shall be those of his own household."

The speaker maintained the necessity of cherishing high ideals. It depends upon men as individuals just what ideas they shall choose.

Some of the graduates, said Mr. Nichols, are to be teachers. Many look upon the teacher as a mechanic without a mechanic's interest in his work.

To another the word calls up a large procession of great men and women—philosophers, philanthropists, men of science and men of letters." In the words of Herbert Spencer, "education is preparation for complete living." Teaching may very well represent the other callings.

"No one can afford to have a mean ideal. The world is unconsciously full of small, mean ideals. Cynics often tell the young that they will think differently when they grow older. They are like acid poured into milk. Shall we let them with the day? In the words of Voltaire, 'Crush the wretch.'

"Whether we will or not, we shall infallibly realize some ideal. He who lets slip the golden morn of youth without electing to follow the true, shall unconsciously elect to follow the false."

The class poem, by Miss Ida Z. Hibbard, was a pretty little gem.

UNDER THE TAPPAN OAK.

The pretty custom of holding a portion of the class day exercises under the historic Tappan Oak was again observed this year. Music was rendered, after which Orville R. Hardy read the class poem.

When ninety-one entered upon college life, "The examining pros were carried away by our ready and volatile way of doing things, especially Devoe's, and even Prexy gave us an unusually encouraging word in his annual Room A address on 'cold feet.'

The historian referred to the political crisis the first year and told how "Tom Cooley persisted in making speeches in class meetings."

The subsequent events connected with the class were traced up to the senior year. Of '90 the chronicler said, "A gawker, sillier, fresher set of Freshmen never passed through our alma mater's portals."

"How miserable this rickety old world is to a senior! How much better Prexy could direct affairs if Shoemaker or Reid were consulted now and then!"

Of '91's base ball record he said, "What would the Varsity team have done in the east without '91? Who sent Cornell back with a broken back, held Yale down to two hits, made Brown tremble and laid the crimson low? A young man from '91."

In the literary world '91's career was marked by the establishment of the Daily and the Inlander, the consolidation of the Chronicle and Argonaut and the publication of an excellent Palladium and Castalian.

The usual number of statistics were presented. The oldest man, G. A. Sharpe, is thirty-nine years of age; the tallest, Charles Hill, six feet two inches high; the shortest, I. N. Smith, five feet four inches; "the meangest withdrew and graduated with '90." The average age of the male members is twenty-three, that of the female twenty-four. The sons and daughters of farmers outnumber those of any other class.

In conclusion the historian paid fitting tributes to the memory of his deceased classmate, J. L. McAllister, and to that of the late Professor Winchell.

The class prophetess, Miss Katherine E. Sumner followed with a metrical vision into the future. She imagined that she saw Ann Arbor a city of 30,000 inhabitants, with 8,000 students, a fine gymnasium, a school of fine arts, a first-class hotel and a magnificent theater. The future history of the members of the class was depicted in a graceful manner.

The exercises concluded with a brief address by the president, R. P. Lamont.

He thought that the members of the class might well look into the future with confidence.

REGENTS' MEETING.

The board met in annual session Tuesday morning, all the members being present except Draper, Hibbard and Kiefer.

The following appointments were made: Elmer E. Brown, assistant professor of teaching for one year; W. J. Hussey, instructor in astronomy; A. J. Hall, instructor in mathematics; G. H. Mead and A. H. Lloyd, instructors in philosophy; C. E. Adams, director of gymnasium; W. H. Sherzer, instructor in geology; F. E. Wagner, instructor in mechanical engineering; R. L. Weeks, instructor in French; Drs. Muirhead, assistant to Dr. Abel; Mr. Highby, instructor in general chemistry; Dr. L. P. Hall, assistant to Dr. Watling; I. J. Ohnan, assistant in drawing; Dr. Rowe, house surgeon.

Dr. Corydon L. Ford tendered his resignation as dean of the medical department and Dr. Vaughn was appointed in his place. Prof. J. C. Knowlton was made permanent dean of the law department, and Prof. J. J. Abel permanent professor of materia medica. Dr. Herdman and Prof. Dorrance were allowed assistants. Another assistant for the general library was provided for. Dr. N. S. Hoff was made full professor of practical chemistry.

The regents decided to locate the gymnasium on the northeast corner of the campus.

THEY WANT SILVER.

Meeting of the Free-Coinage Men in New York City.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The national executive silver committee held meetings in this city Friday and Saturday.
The following members were present: Gen. A. J. Warner, of Ohio, chairman; Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada, vice chairman; Lee Crandall, of Washington, secretary, and
L. M. Ramsay, of Missouri. Edwards
Pierrepont was unable to be present.
Samuel Jones and Stewart, of Nevada, were in consultation with the committee during the sessions. Saturday evening the committee issued an address, in which it says:

"The national silver committee desires to call the attention of the country to the object of the Free-Coinage movement, the desperate strangle of the great financial system on both sides of the Atlantic to increase the gold reserves to avoid bankruptcy and ruin, and to the fact that any increase by one necessarily diminishes the reserves of others. For eighteen years the basis of credit in gold-standard countries has been growing narrower as the single standard of gold has fallen off, while the structure of credit has been growing proportionately larger and more insecure, until the relation of credit to actual money, as disclosed in the Barings' failure, in gold standard England has alarmed the world and started a new scramble for gold that threatens all business undertakings and stalks as a menace to the world. The time is ripe for the restoration of bimetallism. Place our money system again upon the broad basis of gold and silver as the money of ultimate redemption instead of gold alone. Support the credit system of the banks and the country by both the metals under free and unlimited coinage. A stable and not a fluctuating currency is required by legitimate business. Who knows where the next crisis will come? Money coined from the metals automatically regulated than in credit devices that to day are and to-morrow may vanish."

The committee says this is the paramount issue in this country and should be made such in the elections this year.
All other issues are involved in this and cannot be separated from it.

JOSEPH E. McDONALD.

Death of One of the Most Notable Figures in Indiana Politics.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 22.—Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald died at 11:35 last night at his home in this city.
Mr. McDonald was born in Butler county, O., August 29, 1819, and taken to Montgomery county, Ind., in 1826. In 1843 he was admitted to the bar, and the same year was elected county prosecutor. Later he was elected attorney general and served two terms, and two years later was elected to congress, serving one term. In 1856 he was again elected attorney general of the state and reelected in 1858. In 1859 he came to Indianapolis.
In 1864 he was the democratic candidate for governor, but was defeated by Levi P. Morton. In 1875 he was elected to the United States senate. He failed to be his own successor, Benjamin Harrison being chosen. Mr. Mc-Donald leaves a wife (his third) and two sons.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 23.—The flags on public and private buildings are at half mast in respect for the late Joseph McDonald. Telegrams of condolence are pouring in from all sources.
The following was received by Mrs.
McDonald from President Harrison:

"JOHN CALVIN POYNT, N. J., June 23.—Mrs. Harrison joins me in offering to you and your family my sincere sympathy in your loss. Your loss is one which has fallen not only upon you and but upon the community in the death of Mr. McDonald, and I regret that I am not able to unite with other home friends in the last of fee of respect and honor."

REFLECTIONS.

The past two weeks have been proud weeks for Ann Arbor. Seventy young men and women have left her great academy and 620 have bade adieu to the pride of Michigan.

All these, the pick of the nation's young, will soon be scattered abroad through all parts of the country—even through all parts of the civilized world. Wherever they go the fame of Ann Arbor goes also, and by thousands of lips her praises are sung.

No one has heard of Michigan without hearing also of her greatest pride, the University, and no one mentions the name of Ann Arbor without calling to mind the name of its great preparatory school.

Think of it—3,000 students congregated together in a city which has scarcely passed in age three score years and ten!

It is not strange, therefore, that the eyes of the civilized world are directed towards Ann Arbor, and that hundreds of celebrated men find quiet and pleasant homes within its beautiful precincts. There is every reason to believe that the "Athens of the West" will, from year to year, grow more worthy of the flattering name thus applied to her.

The salary of C. G. Taylor, superintendent of the mechanical engineering shops, was raised from $1,600 to $1,800 a year.

Dr. George Dock was appointed professor of the theory and practice of medicine in place of Dr. Christopher, resigned.

Other less important business was transacted.

A SCENE OF GAYETY.

The muse Terpsichore must have rejoiced as she gazed upon the brilliant scene of Tuesday evening. Society in Ann Arbor, in Chicago, in Detroit, all were represented by the votaries of the dance. As gentlemen and lady walked from their hack down the lighted walk they ran the gauntlet of the eyes of many curious persons gathered on either side.

The scene in the chapel was a brilliant one. In the center of the room stood the reception committee, comprising Misses Marion I. Watrous, Marguerite, B. Cook, Emma M. Ballantine; Messrs. T. B. Cooley, J. Lowenhaupt, J. M. Crosby, W. B. Kelly and R. E. Van Sycle. They were assisted by Mesdames Angell, Nancarrow, Adams, Petter, Kelsey, Stanley, Greene and D'Ooge.

Shortly after ten o'clock the happy company marched into the tented dance room, which proved much too small for the large numbers present. Owing to some difficulty about the programs the grand march was dispensed with and the festivities began with "La Gitana" waltz. Beautiful music was furnished by the Schremser orchestra of Detroit. The sun had already risen above the horizon when the company departed.

Refreshments were served from time to time in Room A, where James Shirley, of this city, presided over the tables. One of the honored guests for a short time was ex-Secretary of State Bayard. Several of the regents and many old graduates were present.

The costumes of the ladies were more than usually elaborate. The evening was cool and delightful. The floor was excellent. Ninety-one has good reason for congratulation over the very successful society event with which they have marked their exit from alma mater.

Wednesday—Alumni Day.

S. C. A. MEETING.

At nine o'clock the alumni of the S. C. A. met for the first time in the parlors of Newberry Hall. Rev. H. W. Golston, '78, of De Land, Florida, presided. A number of reminiscences were given, among the speakers being Prof. Sole, of Union College, Alliance, Ohio president of the association in '61; Rev. Mr. Hurd, '59, Prof. V. M. Spaulding, C. P. McAllaster and W. H. Nichols. Frequent reference was made to Prof. Adam K. Spence, one of the founders of the association.

SPECIAL CLASS REUNIONS.

The "boys" of '61—at least eleven of them—gathered yesterday at the residence of their classmate, Prof. W. S. Perry. The following were present: Homer A. Flint, Detroit; Hoy Post, Detroit; Rev. C. P. Quick, Concord; Dr. J. A. Post, Detroit; Prof. Wm. Soule, Alliance, Ohio; S. S. Walker, St. Johns; I. H. Elliott, Princeton, Ill.; Daniel Kilpatrick, Morning Sun, Iowa; B. M. Cutcher, Manistee; H. M. Utley, Detroit.

The class of '71 held a pleasant reunion yesterday. About twenty of the "old boys" were present, as follows: A. P. Boyer, Goshen, Ind.; A. G. Otis, St. Paul; C. A. Rust, Saginaw; R. M. Littlefield, Farwell; W. B. Millard, St. Clair. At five o'clock the alumni gathered on the spacious lawn of Prof. M. L. D'Ooge, where a splendid banquet was served.

The alumni of '81 were also present in considerable numbers, the following, among others, being present: H. H. Kingsley, Evanston, Ill.; D. E. Hooper, Kanka, N. Y.; E. E. Goff, Cleveland; T. B. Wood, Adrian; S. N. Schermerhorn, A. H. Frazer, Detroit; O. T. Hunt, Detroit; A. R. Rood, Grand Rapids; Mrs. A. M. Cunningham, Ann Arbor; G. L. Williams, Detroit; Jean A. Wetmore, New York.

About twenty members of the class of '88 met yesterday afternoon in Room G, partook of refreshments and exchanged greetings. At the business meeting the following officers were elected: Percy B. Richardson, president; Miss Carrie Gelston, secretary and historian; S. A. Moran, treasurer.

The next reunion will be held in 1894. A committee was appointed to arrange for a special reunion at the world's fair in 1893.

LITERARY ALUMNI MEET.

About 100 members of the Literary Alumni society met at two o'clock in the chapel. W. H. Wells, of Detroit, presided, and Prof. J. E. Reighard acted as secretary.

Reports by the treasurer and necrologist were read. During the past year $2,526.31 was received. The disbursements amounted to $2,514.08. The Williams professorship fund amounts to $44,733.09, of which $10,625 is invested in real estate mortgages. The remainder consists of the King note, King library, bills receivable and personal accounts. The necrologist reported thirty-one deaths during the past year.

The thanks of the association were extended to Joshua W. Waterman for his gift to the gymnasium.

Officers were elected as follows: President, O. J. Campbell; vice-president, E. W. Pendleton; orator, O. H. Dean; alternate, F. P. Davick; Poet, F. N. Scott; alternate, C. W. Tufts; secretary, J. E. Reighard; treasurer, S. S. Walker; necrologist, T. R. Chase; committee, C. B. Grant, C. H. Gleason and L. R. Barber.

A committee of three, consisting of Profs. Thomas, Demmon and Pattengill, was appointed to see whether it is desirable to abolish the offices of orator and poet.

Judge C. B. Grant urged the association to use its influence and power towards raising a larger gymnasium fund.

S. S. Walker, J. C. Knowlton and W. A. McAndrew were appointed a committee to settle up definitely on a cash basis the indebtedness of Zina P. King to the association. Other business, less important, was transacted.

THE MEDICAL ALUMNI

met yesterday morning in the lower lecture room of the medical building. An interesting paper was read by Dr. Eugene Boise, of Grand Rapids, the president of the association. He emphasized the duties and responsibilities of the medical profession.

New officers were elected, as follows:

President, Dr. A. N. Alvard, of Battle Creek; first vice-president, Miss Ella Marsh, '87; second vice-president, A. H. Lau, '84; third vice-president, Dr. Powers; fourth vice-president, J. H. Leon, of Chicago; fifth vice-president S. M. Yutzy, '91.

At half past twelve the meeting adjourned to Nickel's hall, where an elaborate banquet was served. Toasts were responded to by Dr. Smith, of St. Clair; Miss Fletcher, '91; Dr. W. E. Stevens, Detroit; G. L. Kiefer, '91, and Dr. Carow, row.

PHARMACEUTICAL ALUMNI.

After transacting routine business the association elected the following officers:

President, J. O. Schlotterbeck, '87; first vice-president, C. W. Parsons, '81; second vice-president, E. C. Bassett, '83; third vice-president, D. M. Russell, '91; recording secretary, B. C. Hesse; corresponding secretary and treasurer, A. E. Mumford, '85.

At the conclusion of the business the alumni adjourned to Hangster's hall, where a banquet was served.

DENTAL ALUMNI.

met at two p.m. After a number of speeches, the following officers were elected: President, Dr. William Cleland, Detroit; vice president, Miss Lucy Wateroo, St. Clair; secretary and treasurer, L. P. Hall, Ann Arbor.

LAW ALUMNI

elected the following officers yesterday: President, Thomas M. Conroy; secretary, J. C. Knowlton; treasurer, Alpheus Felch.

FRATERNITY REUNIONS.

Seventeen members of the Zeta Psi fraternity met yesterday, including Judge H. H. Swan, Judge McAlvy, Elroy Avery, I. M. Weston, J. C. Knowlton and others. The sum of $1,500 was raised for a chapter house. The Beta Theta Pi, Delta Upsilon and Delta Tau Delta fraternities also held reunions.

DISINTERESTEDNESS OF PUBLIC SERVICE.

This was the title of an able discourse by ex-Secretary of State Thos. F. Bayard before the law alumni yesterday.

On the platform in University Hall sat the speaker, President Angell, Prof. J. C. Knowlton, Alpheus Felch, Judge T. M. Cooley, Regents Whitman and Cocker, Prof. B. M. Thompson, Judge H. H. Swan, of the United States Circuit court, Judge C. B. Grant, of the Michigan Supreme court, President D. C. Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, W. A. Moore, of Detroit, Judge McAlvy, Elroy Avery, of Manistee, Judge E. D. Kinne and A. J. Sawyer, of this city.

Judge Cooley, in a short speech, introduced the speaker, whom he eulogized as a worthy successor of Jefferson and Webster as secretary of state.

62 R. S. GREENWOOD, AGT.

At the outset Mr. Bayard remarked that the United States government, from the time of its establishment to the present day, has remained practically unaltered, while most states have undergone deep changes.

In order to secure the blessings of liberty our forefathers laid as the foundation-stone of our government "non-user, for personal aggrandizement or private objects, of whatsoever belonged to the people and was useful for their government." One of the safeguards of individual liberty was the ordinance that private property should not be taken for public use without just compensation. "If" said the speaker, "in addition to the protection of private property from public appropriation, we could equally secure public property from being taken and public power from being perverted for private use, we would by a single stroke have deprived much of our present legislation of its inequality."

In following out his theme, Mr. Bayard attacked the trusts, the spoils system, the inequalities and ambiguities of the tariff laws and official corruption. Anything but a complete report of the address fails to do it justice.

THE CONCERT.

Space does not permit an extended account of the commencement concert. An orchestra of forty-five pieces, from Detroit, led by Wm. Luderer, furnished excellent music, and the soprano, Mrs. Genevra Johnston, Bishop, of Chicago, was well appreciated. Prof. A. A. Stanley deserves great credit for having secured so fine an attraction for commencement.

Senate Reception.

A large number of ladies and gentlemen remained to take part in this annual event. The members of the faculty and their wives received in their usual graceful manner.

To-day's Program.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning the 620 graduates of the University marched two by two around the State wall and into University Hall, where a large audience was assembled. President Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, delivered the address.

The afternoon the annual commencement dinner takes place.

Addressess will be made by prominent men. Thus will end the forty-seventh commencement of America's greatest university.

Discussed Fruit.

J. Austin Scott presided at the June meeting. Mr. Ganzhorn reported that Georgia expected a 25 percent crop of peaches; New Jersey and Delaware are short; about Ann Arbor, the prospects for peaches were never better. B. J. Conrad was chosen to fill the vacancy of Charles Parshall resigned, as chairman of the committee on transportation. The undersigned reported that all the debts are paid in connection with transportation of last year. July meeting to be held 11th of July, because first Saturday is the 4th. The committee on transportation are to report at the next meeting or, if shipping of berries would commence before that time, to Emil Baur, the cor. sec.

We were all glad to see Mr. Stephen Mills, our veteran fruit-grower, in this and last meeting.

A splendid display of fruit: Mr. Ganzhorn exhibited the following cherries: Elton, large pale yellow and red, one of the best; Napoleon, nearly the same color, larger; May Duke, large dark red; and Governor Wood.

Luther Palmer, of Dexter, exhibited the finest strawberries. Jessie, his best yielder, Jewell, Buhach, Belmont, John Schenk, of Ann Arbor town, had the largest Haverland, Eureka, Pine Apple and other sorts of strawberries. The apple crop was reported short except greenings. Blackberries very promising.

Lovers of cherries and strawberries had a feast. EMIL BAUR COR. SECY.

A. & is the shortest line to all northern resorts—Traverse City, Petoskey, Mackinac, Bay View, Harbor Springs, Frankfort, Cadillac and Manistee. R. S. GREENWOOD, AGT.

Pond member for two years and A. D. Chisholm for one year. The prosecuting attorney was requested to investigate the matter of unpaid liquor licenses.

The supervisors also decided to charge the railroad expenses of the circuit judge to the county, so that he would be able to return all railroad passes.

James Kearns was appointed delegate to the state board of equalization. The basis for this county is $28,000,000.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to foot. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have

LITERARY NOTES.

Elizabeth Robins Pennell, who during her residence in Great Britain has had ample opportunity for observing the social distinctions, peculiar to that country, contributes an entertaining article on "The English Middle Class" to Harper's Bazaar published June 12th.—Harper & Brother, New York.

A double-page portrait, drawn from life, of Thomas A. Edison in his laboratory is published in Harper's Weekly for June 10th. A sketch of the Yale and Princeton base-ball teams, with portraits, is another interesting feature of the same number. The four-page Supplement comprises an article on the New York Coffee Exchange, written by Dr. Richard Wheatley and amply illustrated.—Harper & Brother, New York.

PAINTING IN OIL—A practical manual for the use of students. Square 12mo. Cloth, $1.00. The thorough preparation that appears in Miss McLaughlin's writings, and her clear, direct style, have given her a place of distinction among makers of art books. In the present volume, she gives a lucid statement of the scientific theories and facts relative to colors, treating the whole subject broadly, as well as technically. This book is also largely realistic, enlarging on the material side of the subject, the tools which the student should use, and the best method of handling them.—Cincinnati Gazette. Sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of the price. Robert Clark & Co., Publishers, Cincinnati, O.

One of the principal subjects of the June "Century," and a timely one in view of the current commencement, is the education of women. There is an illustrated article entitled "Women at an English University," in which Newnham College is described, with pictures of the College and portraits of Miss Clough and Miss Gladstone. The paper is by Eleanor Field, and one by Catherine Baldwin follows on the "Health of Women Students." In the Open Letters "Female Education in Germany" is discussed by Countess von Krockow.

General Sherman's last speech, delivered at the Press Club dinner to Henry M. Stanley, January 31, is for the first time printed in this number from manuscript dictated by General Sherman before the speech was made.

The essay of the most importance is another of the Present-Day Papers contributed by the Sociological Group. It is written by Professor Sloane, of Princeton, and is on the subject of "Pensions and Socialism."—The Century Publishing Co.

HERE AND THERE.

A proposition has been made to remove to the World's Fair the house at Amherst, N. H., in which Horace Greeley was born.

That tired feeling, now so often heard of, is entirely overcome by Hood's Saraparilla, which gives mental and bodily strength.

It is a fact worthy of note that although a woman may be elected school commissioner in Missouri, she cannot vote for one.

"Who best can suffer, Best can serve."

Is true, the mother love exemplifies this. In another column we present a picture of Mrs. J. Hibbard who "45 years ago lost her nose and upper lip from the effects of hereditary scrofula. She named the remedy that cured her Hibbard's Herb Extract and made the placing of it within reach of the afflicted her life long work."

An Indianapolis man swore in court that he did not know his wife's first name, though they have lived happily together for thirteen years.

Short in His Change.

Sam Small, the reverend hypocrite who has been villaining mankind by the employment of vulgarity and bad grammar for a number of years past, has himself been dropped from the rolls of the Methodist Episcopal church by the Colorado conference. To be polite about it, Mr. Small is short in his accounts, whatever that is.—Daily Journal.

Conscience, or What?

"Conscience doth make cowards of us all," says the poet. But it is just so with the nerves. When a man's nerves are unstrung, through indigestion and torpid liver and impure blood, what wonder that he feels depressed and nervous! He starts at every little unexpected sound; is afraid of his shadow, and feels like a fool. Let such a man go to the drug store and ask for a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great blood-purifier and liver invigorator guaranteed to benefit or cure, or money will be promptly refunded. It cures indigestion, dyspepsia, and from its wonderful blood-purifying properties, conquers all skin and scalp diseases, salt-rheum, tetter, eczema and kindred ailments. All blood-poisons, no matter of what name or nature, yield to its remedial influences.

Wise Men.

She—How do you expect me to pay much attention to you when you pay so much attention to other girls?

He—Because if I did not pay so much attention to other girls you would not pay so much attention to me.

The Housekeeper's Friend.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and such a friend you will always find in Sulphur Bitters. They cured me of dyspepsia, when I had given up in despair and was almost at death's door. They are a true friend of the sick.—Mrs. R. Crague, Hartford, Connecticut.

The Graduates.
Although they're well equipped and fairly armed
To fight the fates,
And for their future not the least alarmed,
Undoubtedly will make a better show
To get the floor
When they've forgotten much of what they know.
And know some more.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, relieves all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. 0

Prussian Longevity.

Statistics of longevity just published by the German Government show that in 1888 there were ninety-one persons in Prussia who were over 100 years old, and between 1864 and 1888 upwards of seven thousand persons of over 100 died, and from these 155 were more than 100.

Landes Try

Great French Remedy. Dr. Le Due's Periodical Pills from Paris, France, act only upon the generative organs in females, and positively cure suppression of the menses (from whatever cause) and all periodical troubles peculiar to women. Established in Europe, 1839; England, 1850; Canada, 1878; United States, 1887. A safe, reliable remedy, warranted to excite menstruation, or money refunded. The larger portion of the ill to which ladies are subject is the direct result of a disordered and irregular menstruation. The American Pill Co., proprietors. Price, $2. Sold by Eberbach & Son, druggists, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Close Up the Banks.

The Republican army must maintain its discipline, its loyalty and its equipment. So doing, nothing can stand in the way of its winning a grand national victory.—Rochester Democrat.

Is He Your Friend?

Is the family doctor your friend? How many unnecessary visits does he make you? How many days does he keep you sick when you ought to be at your work, and so doing how many hard-earned dollars does he extort from you. Would it not be better for you to place your trust in Sulphur Bitters? Try them, they will be a true friend. Saving you a long sickness and a large bill, which you have hitherto paid to some avaricious doctor.—Editor State Journal.

Not the Kind of a Man They Like.

Mr. Wanamaker is not a saint, but his moral character is above reproach, and he believes in the value of religious institutions. That is sufficient to make him a special mark for Democratic scorn and defamation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Explosion of a Bomb

startles all within hearing. So the pains which arise from derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, quickly alarm those who experience them. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets afford a speedy and inexpensive cure. Sick headache bilious headache, constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks yield like magic to this wonderful specific. Only one tiny, sugar-coated pellet for a laxative dose. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. The action is prompt and pleasant. Absolutely the best Liver Pill made. Your money given back if they do not give entire satisfaction. The only pill possessed of such merit as to warrant being sold on trial.

Young Men for Work.

"The kids run this convention," is the expression with which a dispatch from Columbus to a Democratic paper is opened. It was intended as a sneer. It is, in fact, a compliment and an omen of success to the Republicans of Ohio.

"Old men for counsel, young men for work," is a combination that has wrought wonders in every branch of human endeavor. If the "kids" run the convention they will run the state also.—New York Press.

I Was Disgusted

with the learned doctors after swallowing their costly medicine in vain for over a year for the relief of catarrh in my head, when I cured myself by using six bottles of Sulphur Bitters. My wife is now taking them for nervous debility.—Abiel Carter, Parker House, Boston.

The Simile Completed.

"This seems like one of the old fashioned ring performances, doesn't it?" he whispered, as he slipped the golden circlet on her finger.

"I don't know, Harry," she answered, dubiously, "But I am afraid there will be something of a circus when you speak to papa."

I Had a Severe Attack of Catarrh and became so deaf I could not hear common conversation. I suffered terribly from roaring in my head. I procured a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and in three weeks could hear as well as I ever could, and now I can say to all who are afflicted with the worst of diseases, catarrh, take Ely's Cream Balm and be cured. It is worth $1,000 to any man, woman or child suffering from catarrh.—A. E. Newman, Grayling, Mich.

Appropriate to Ann Arbor.

The perspiration from cheek and brow in rivers is pouring down, "I'm not well now" That is said to be "out of town."

Handsome Versus Homely.

Who is that fine looking lady that we just passed, Clara? Why, that is Mrs. Snow. Well, there, what a change; when I saw her last, her skin was so yellow and muddy looking, it's no wonder I didn't know her. What has produced that lovely complexion? I heard that she took Sulphur Bitters, the great Blood Purifier, and now would not be without them.

No Use in It.

There have been 400 systems devised for perfecting the memory, and it is just as easy to forget what one wants to remember and to remember what one wants to forget as it ever was.

A Hot Temper.

Something that can receive a blow even when in a heated condition, without returning it, although it does sometimes flare up a little—a lighted lamp.—Drake's Magazine.

General Grant's sister, Mrs. Mary Grant Cramer, of Orange, N.J., is lecturing to ex-soldiers in central New York.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT HIGH SCHOOL HALL.

An Unusually Bright Class Graduates—Synopsis of the Papers Delivered—Alumni Banquet.

High School Hall was comfortably filled, Friday morning, by those who had come to witness the commencement exercises of '91. On the platform sat several members of the high school faculty, a number of ministers, the board of education and the speakers of the day.

After a musical selection by the Chequamegon orchestra, prayer was offered by Rev. R. H. Rust, of the Methodist church.

The eleven orations and essays which were given covered a variety of subjects in pleasing and convincing style. The first of these was by Miss Jessie O. Barber, of Kent, Ohio, who discussed namely religious liberty. Liberty, she urged, is not alone absence of physical restraint. It applies also to the power of thought—in short concerns man's personality itself. Religious liberty was, for the first time in the history of the world, guaranteed in the constitution of the United States. By liberty is meant not only the right to be religious but also the right not to be. Forces are at work now which are likely to injure or destroy this right. The enforcement of Sunday laws seems a noble purpose, but to the Jew, Sabatarian or infidel it seems like tyranny. Many think the constitution ought to be changed with the name of Christ at the head. What sacrifice to make Christ the head of a nation where so much crime and oppression are found!

"A CURRENT QUESTION,"

The speaker thought that all such questions as the opening of the Columbian exposition on Sunday, the Bible in the public schools, the exemption of church property, appointment of chaplains in the army, and others, ought to be carefully considered.

In conclusion, she protested against all religious legislation. Let it be said that in this century the first attempt to deprive American citizens of God-given rights utterly failed.

"THE FUTURE OF AMERICA," was treated by Charles H. Duncan, of this city. At first glance, said he, everything looks bright for this country. There is no example in history of a republic like ours. All others originated from royal concessions; ours was born of the people.

Grave evils menace its future, such as the slight interest of the people in politics, foreign immigration, the saloon, the oppression of the laboring classes and corruption in public places. The government is of the people and for the people but administered largely by the almighty dollar.

The speaker took a rather pessimistic view of present conditions. Some time in the twentieth century, he thought, this republic must round the dangerous promontory which no nation before it has rounded with safety. But we are to remember that no nation before had such a ship. This government is what the people make it; it is for them to determine whether it shall stand or fall.

Mrs. Duncan's delivery was forcible but too monotonous. The thought of the paper was good but showed too clearly the influence of a certain gloomy literature which is quite too popular in this day.

"MY ALBUM PICTURES"

was the title of a pretty essay by Miss Jessie E. Midgley, of this city. In imagination she opens the family album and the photographs of her father, mother, brothers, sisters and other relatives suggest to her a number of mental pictures which she describes in easy and graphic English. The picture of the old country home and its surroundings was particularly good. The paper is entitled to much praise for its originality.

"OUR TREATMENT OF THE FOREIGNER," by Harry L. Griswold, of Whitehall, Ill., was a plea for the restriction of immigration. In the past, said he, this government welcomed all Europeans who chose to come. Why? Chiefly because immigration was necessary to the development of the country.

This necessity no longer exists. Another policy should now be adopted. The foreigner no longer comes to develop the country but to scrape up what money he can, join the anarchists, run a saloon or get office. Statistics show that only ten per cent of immigrants go into agriculture. Many go into manufacturing and it is from them that strikes originate. They work for little or nothing and thus decrease wages, and they constitute a turbulent element in the large cities.

Desirable immigration is decreasing, while the undesirable is constantly growing larger. If this nation is to preserve itself it must no longer tolerate these inroads.

A certain hesitancy on the part of the speaker marred his delivery. The thought was good but many of the statements too extreme.

"AMERICANISMS,"

by Emily J. Purfield, of Ann Arbor, dwelt with the idiosyncrasies of speech which are heard in the different parts of the country. These might be expected from the fact that this land was settled by diverse nationalities. Such colloquialisms as the "I guess," "ske-daddle," "is it possible?" of the Yankees; the "reckon," "toted," "of no account," of the south, which show negro influence; the forcible "tenderfoot," "pull up stakes," "bee line," "blizzards" of the westerners; besides many words in general use, which originated among the Indians, were explained by the essayist in a graphic and interesting manner.

In conclusion, she uttered a protest against the growing use of slang by speakers and newspapers.

"THE STRUGGLES OF LIBERTY," although a commonplace subject, was well treated by James S. Handy, of this city. He traced the history of this country from 1820 to the present time, referring, as might have been expected, to the revolution and the rebellion.

After all these struggles, said he, we call ourselves free. But are we? Listen to the cry of the negro, who in certain states is compelled to vote contrary to his convictions. The solid south has not learned that the black man is to be educated not by shot guns but by schools.

Another complaint comes from the laboring men, who are ground down by the iron heel of monopoly. Mentally, physically and politically they are slaves. In many places they are driven to the polls like sheep.

Is this consistent with our boasted freedom? A brilliant past gives hope that the grand old American flag may float some day over a nation free and united in every sense of the word.

"THE PEOPLE WE MEET."

These Miss Lurene Seymour, of St. Louis, Mo., characterized in pleasing fashion. At the outset she remarked that biography was the most pleasing part of history. General truth is monotonous but stories about individuals appeal pleasing variety.

The people we meet furnish good material for study. The sight of a new face, or an original thought, gives pleasure and leads to meditation.

The man who despises punsters, the man who invariably asks, "Have you read the latest novel?" the poet, the mathematician, the metaphysician, the absent-minded man, the frivolous person, the serious person, were all discussed by the essayist with happy illustrations.

"BEGINNINGS,"

an oration by J. Sterling St. John, evinced a philosophic turn of mind on the part of the speaker. He maintained that the beginning of everything has, in germ, the end also. The creation of the universe was the first and best beginning. Everywhere is great regularity. If there were no fixed principles in the universe it would be impossible for men to study it.

Mr. St. John compared the Virginia and Massachusetts settlements in this country. The one was a failure; the other succeeded because it was grounded on deep and sound principles.

It is sometimes said that it is good for a boy to sow his wild oats, but wild oats never become wheat. Such boys will fill our prisons and die drunks' deaths.

Life cannot be successful unless sound business principles are followed. Enthusiasm also is necessary. A clear conception of the plan must precede the execution of any work.

In conclusion, the speaker addressed some words of advice to his classmates.

"THE MAN IN THE MOON"

was the somewhat fanciful subject of a somewhat fanciful essay by Miss Florence E. Smith, of this city. With pleasing fallacies she proved that a man in the moon actually does exist. She hoped and believed that science would devise some method of communicating with him. How many vexed questions he might settle, such as "who was Cain's wife," and the like.

The essayist scoffed at the old idea that the man in the moon was an ignoramus or a lunatic.

"EARTH'S BATTLEFIELDS"

was the subject of a thoughtful paper by Miss Nettie Treadwell, of Ann Arbor town. She described a decisive battle as one which changes the whole course of history.

Like the battles of history are the battles of the heart. Through them strong and manly characters are built up. These battles are often fought in the hearts of young children. They seem hard but they are necessary to success. There are higher prizes yet than mere earthly success. The gate of heaven is open to all who will enter in.

The essay contained a number of cogent illustrations.

"A PAGE IN HISTORY,"

by Vance P. Wilkins, of New Orleans, was the last paper on the program. He told about the uprising of slaves in Hayti in the latter part of the eighteenth century. Napoleon was called upon by the terror-stricken planters. He responded, with the evident design of taking possession of the island.

What happened? In three months his soldiers were driven out of the country by the despised blacks. Had Napoleon succeeded, French possession of Hayti would have been a menace to the young American republic.

The speaker is entitled to much credit for having opened up an entirely unknown page of history. The effect of the paper was considerably marred by poor enunciation.

"THE FINALE."

At this point Superintendent Perry distributed seventy-one diplomas; seven to classical, eighteen to Latin, twenty-three to English, fourteen to scientific, six to engineering and nine to commercial students. The exercises closed with the benediction by Rev. J. M. Gelston, and the large audience filed out, leaving the happy graduates to gather up the many floral tributes which friends had sent them.

ALUMNI BANQUET.

A large number of alumni and friends of the high school attended the banquet Friday night. Prof. J. C. Knowlton was toastmaster, and the following responses were made: "Alumni of the High School," A. W. Hamilton; "Class of '91, Our Youngest," James S. Handy; "The Teacher and the Scholar," Miss Sarah Whedon; "Our Literary Societies," A. C. Gormley; "Our Bygone Days," James R. Angel; "Our Girls," J. V. Sheehan. The program concluded with dancing.

"THE HOW OF IT."

How poor, how rich, how abject, how august, how complicated, how wonderful, is man; and it might be added, how "more so" is woman. With her peculiarly delicate and intense organization, she is the superlative degree of man. Even in diseases she excels him, having many that he has not. She has, however, found out a grand remedial agent, for the cure of her diseases, in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; a medicine suited to her nature, made for the express cure of those diseases which affect her. It is especially effective in all diseases incidental to motherhood, while it is also a potent restorative tonic for the feeble and debilitated generally.

The First Step Towards Sewerage.

The joint committee on sewerage, composed of members of council, board of public works and Business Men's association, met last Friday evening in the council chamber. After discussing several plans they decided to recommend that the council send a delegation to the legislature, allowing the people to raise $20,000 for sewerage. Of this $2,000 is to be placed upon the tax rolls this year, and the remaining $18,000 to be divided into instalments of $3,000 each, the first of which is to be liquidated the year after the last hospital bonds become due.

The plan contemplates the assessment of the cost of lateral sewers upon property-owners benefitted. On Saturday evening the council adopted the suggestions of the committee, and this week Attorney Norris and Clerk Miller have been interviewing the legislature.

The battles of history are the battles of the heart. Through them strong and manly characters are built up. These battles are often fought in the hearts of young children. They seem hard but they are necessary to success. There are higher prizes yet than mere earthly success. The gate of heaven is open to all who will enter in.

"A PAGE IN HISTORY,"

Livingston County Republican, Howell, Mich. The fact that Dr. Fruth has made twenty-nine professional visits to this city is beyond doubt the very best evidence of his superior skill in the treatment of chronic diseases. The doctor is no stranger here and we know personally of many patients who would gladly bear witness to the efficacy of his treatment and the permanency of his cures. We pride ourselves upon being an intelligent community, ever recognizing and liberally rewarding true merit, but quacks and impostors who have ventured in our city have rarely ever shown themselves a second time.

Dr. Fruth does not parade the name of patients before the public in print, nor use boughten testimonials to advertise himself, but is always ready to show the skeptical his record of cases cured when hope of cure has been abandoned.

By this extraordinary success in his practice he has made many friends among those whom he has treated at this place. Socially, the doctor is a gentleman, which combined with courteous address and strict business integrity, place him above the would-be competitors in his profession.

DR. FRUTH'S VISITS.

Plain and simple, Dr. Fruth's visits are the best. He is a man of great tact and knowledge, and his services are highly valued. His fees are reasonable and his patients are satisfied.
