

THE ANN ARBOR REGISTER.

VOL. XVII. NO. 44.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1891.

WHOLE NO. 879

SOCIAL DOINGS.

RECORD OF A WEEK'S PARTIES, ENTERTAINMENTS AND VISITS.

The Hawley-Mack Wedding—A Conundrum Social—Surprise Party on L. H. Clement—Other News and Gossip.

Orange blossoms have not been very plentiful of late, and society has assumed quite a prosaic aspect. The wedding of Harry W. Hawley and Miss Clara L. Mack, which took place at high noon yesterday, was therefore, an event of unusual interest. The spacious residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Mack, was fittingly decorated. There was no display and the wedding was very quiet throughout. The bride wore a plain traveling dress. She was attended by Miss Grace Hawley, of Kansas City, while Edwin F. Mack, of Detroit, acted as groomsman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Max Hein, of the Zion church, in the presence of about forty relatives and intimate friends. Many telegrams of congratulation and valuable presents were received by the happy couple. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to the guests present. Mr. and Mrs. Hawley took their departure at 2:19 for Chicago, whence they go to their future home in Denver.

Among the guests present were the groom's parents and sisters, Misses Grace and Bessie Hawley, from Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Tappan, Peoria, Ill.; Miss Helen Smith, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Willis J. Abbott, of Chicago; Edwin F. Mack, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. N. Schmid, of Manchester, Miss Clara Meiser, of Detroit; and Misses Bertha and Mollie Kirchofer, of Manchester.

The groom, Harry W. Hawley, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. His first journalistic experience was gained as city editor of The Register from 1882 to 1884. He afterwards located at Minneapolis, and was instrumental in building up the Journal of that city. He is now a large stockholder and manager of the Denver Times. He is a young man of great ability, and holds a high position in the profession which he has adopted.

The bride has lived in Ann Arbor all her life, and has held a high position in social circles. Her departure from the city will be regretted by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

CONUNDRUM SOCIAL.

A large company, including young people from Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Chelsea, filled the Odd Fellows' hall to overflowing, Monday night, the occasion being the installation of the new officers of the Ann Arbor Lodge I.O.G.T. An interesting program was rendered, consisting of an opening address by the newly elected Chief Templar, Frank E. Legg, songs by the I.O.G.T. male quartette, a recitation by W. H. Rosencrans, banjo and guitar solo by Mell Gillespie, recitation by Miss Mary Blackburn, vocal solo by J. R. Bowditch and speech by W. H. Nichols. Then came the supper with a menu of "stewed jack-lanterns," "skipper's home," "McGinty's pards," and other choice dainties described after the manner of conundrums. The Good Templars may well congratulate themselves over the success of their socials.

ODDS AND ENDS.

A somewhat unique entertainment was given at the Methodist church Saturday evening by the Wesleyan Chapter of the Epworth League; to wit, a library social. Fifty ladies and gentlemen, dressed in various costumes, represented some of the most famous books in the world. To each person present a card was given, upon which were to be written the names of the various books guessed. Elmer E. Beal made twenty-six correct guesses out of forty-seven and was awarded the prize.

Death of John Clancy.

The comparatively sudden death of John R. Clancy, which occurred Monday night, was a severe shock to many of his friends. He had been ill only a week. The cause of his death was lung trouble. Mr. Clancy was the son of Mrs. Margaret R. Clancy, of Williamston, and was in his twenty-second year at the time of his death. He was a graduate of the Ann Arbor high school, attended a military academy at Dayton, Ohio, and was pursuing this year's work of the junior dental class of the university. He was a good student, a genial fellow and popular with both young and old, and possessed a sterling moral character.

The funeral services were held this morning in St. Thomas' church, many friends and fellow-students attending.

At the Catholic fair they are voting for the most popular man in Washtenaw county, the four candidates being Dr. W. B. Smith, J. F. Schuh, John Eisele and Morgan O'Brien. To the person receiving the highest number of votes will be given a fine buggy presented by Martin M. Seabolt.

Bishop Geo. D. Gillespie, of Grand Rapids, called upon Chas. H. Richmond Saturday.

C. E. Hiscock left Monday evening for Velasco, Texas.

(CONTINUED ON PAGE 4.)

Doings of the Supervisors.

A resolution introduced by Supervisor Case was passed on Monday, thanking the prosecuting attorney for his efforts in compelling the payment of liquor taxes and appropriating $200 for his services. Over $6,000 has been covered into the county treasury through the efforts of Mr. Lehman.

Harrison Ruthruff has been re-appointed drain commissioner.

The estimated expenses of the county for the ensuing year are $35,000.

Dr. John Kapp will attend sick prisoners in the jail for $35, during the ensuing year.

Jacob Stark will serve as janitor for $475 a year.

The Farmers and Mechanics Bank will take care of county funds next year, paying 3½ per cent. for balances and charging 5½ per cent. for overdraws.

The county has been divided into two new representative districts. The first, consisting of Salem, Northfield, Webster, Dexter, Lyndon, Sylvan, Lima, Scio, Ann Arbor and Freedom, has a population of 21,717; the second, consisting of Sharon, Lodi, Pittsfield, Superior, Ypsilanti, Manchester, Bridgewater, Saline, York and Augusta, has 20,493 people.

Supervisor Kearns was paid $300 a day for his services on the state equalization board at Lansing.

Passed Away.

Mrs. Peter D. Woodruff died Monday morning of heart failure at her residence on White-st. She had been unwell for several months, but did not become dangerously ill till quite recently. Mrs. Woodruff's maiden name was Phoebe Woodruff—a singular coincidence, as she was not even a distant relative of her husband. She was seventy-five years old at the time of her death. In 1836 she removed from her home in Seneca county, N. Y., to Pittsfield. Eleven years after she came to Ann Arbor, where she has resided ever since. She leaves three children: Mrs. Wm. Merrill, of Saginaw; Miss Jessie Woodruff, of this city, and F. A. Woodruff, of Detroit. Mrs. Woodruff was a quiet, domestic woman, to whom home was the chief delight. She was unshelish and courageous in a marked degree.

The funeral services will be held at two o'clock this afternoon at the late residence, Rev. J. M. Gelston officiating. All the children of the deceased will be present.

Funeral of Stephen Jacobs.

The remains of the late Stephen Jacobs, who was killed by a Toledo train, were laid away on Sunday last. Short exercises were conducted at the home of the deceased and then the body was conducted, under the escort of Welch Post G. A. R., to the basement of the Methodist church. Rev. A. Cottman, of this city, and Rev. G. B. Pope, of South Bend, formerly of this city, conducted the ceremony, the latter paying a touching tribute to the memory of Mr. Jacobs. A large congregation, too large for the room, was present. The following members of Welch Post acted as honorary pall bearers: Comrades Fisher, Bowen, Freeman, Duffin, Sweet and Hill. A long procession followed the remains to Forest Hill Cemetery.

The life of Stephen Jacobs was an eventful one. He was born a slave in Virginia in the year 1813. He escaped from bondage during early manhood and fled to the north, going to Canada when the fugitive slave law was passed. At the time of the emancipation proclamation, he was in Boston and there received an offer of $700 if he would serve in the army as a substitute for a young man who had been drafted. He spurned the money and enlisted as a volunteer. Since the war he has lived in this city. He leaves a wife and one son.

Death of John Clancy.

The comparatively sudden death of John R. Clancy, which occurred Monday night, was a severe shock to many of his friends. He had been ill only a week. The cause of his death was lung trouble. Mr. Clancy was the son of Mrs. Margaret R. Clancy, of Williamston, and was in his twenty-second year at the time of his death. He was a graduate of the Ann Arbor high school, attended a military academy at Dayton, Ohio, and was pursuing this year's work of the junior dental class of the university. He was a good student, a genial fellow and popular with both young and old, and possessed a sterling moral character.

The funeral services were held this morning in St. Thomas' church, many friends and fellow-students attending.

At the Catholic fair they are voting for the most popular man in Washtenaw county, the four candidates being Dr. W. B. Smith, J. F. Schuh, John Eisele and Morgan O'Brien. To the person receiving the highest number of votes will be given a fine buggy presented by Martin M. Seabolt.

Bishop Geo. D. Gillespie, of Grand Rapids, called upon Chas. H. Richmond Saturday.

C. E. Hiscock left Monday evening for Velasco, Texas.

(CONTINUED ON PAGE 4.)

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.

NEWS AND GOSSIP GLEANED FROM THE CAMPUS.

A Law Student Elopes—Football Games—Class Elections—The Attendance Lecture Course and Concerts—Minor Jottings.

Cupid has winged one of Michigan's law students, who now, thanks to successful strategy, is enrolled among the Benedictines. The story is told in a dispatch from Bad Axe, as follows: "Robert Wallace is a very wealthy pioneer quarryman, having operated quarries for many years at Grindstone City. He has four sons: Lee and John, who have a quarry at Grindstone City; Will, manager of the Bayport quarries, and Sam, a medical student at Ann Arbor and a chum of Mr. Reed. The latter has long been an admirer of his chum's pretty sister but, it seems, was not acceptable to her parents. Last week Miss Annie went to the Bayport quarry to visit her brother Will. The Saturday morning train brought Sam and Annie from the University. On their arrival Mr. Reed was asked his business by Will. He answered that he had an invitation to spend Sunday with Miss Wallace. Will promptly ordered him to leave by the first train. Mr. Reed, however, stayed around till later in the day, when Sam and Annie drove over to the Bayport summer resort for some fish, taking Reed with them. On arriving at Bayport Sam went down on the pier to buy the fish, very considerably leaving the other two alone. Reed hunted up a clergyman, and, having previously obtained a marriage license, was united to Miss Wallace, immediately leaving on the first train for parts unknown."

THE CONCERTS.

The University Musical Society has arranged an exceptionally fine list of concerts this year. They are as follows: November 13.—Detroit Philharmonic Club, and Miss Bloomfield-Zeisler, Pianist.

December 9.—Ovidie Musin, and a superb company.

January 30.—Mockridge Concert Company, Mrs. Rhodes, Mr. Mockridge, Mr. Berresford, and Miss Belle Botsford.

February 12.—Choral Union, (240 Voices), Mrs. Ginevra Johnston-Bishop, soprano, and a full orchestra in a superb program.

May 7.—Boston Symphony Orchestra, (70 performers) Arthur Nikisch, conductor. The date cannot be announced until the details of the orchestra's western trip are arranged.

May 17.—"Damnation of Faust," Berlioz, Choral Union; Mrs. E. M. Haskell, Boston, soprano; Mr. Heinrich Meyer, baritone, and a grand orchestra of 60 performers.

In addition to the attractions promised in the proposed Choral Union series of this year, negotiations are in progress looking to the engagement of Herr Andreas Dippel, a magnificent tenor. Mr. Dippel would appear as Faust in the final concert. Of course such an engagement would necessitate the sale of a larger number of tickets than proposed; but we are confident no one who knows of the record of this series for the past two years will deny the possibility of selling almost any number. The importance of securing tickets immediately cannot be overestimated, as the competition for an artist like Dippel is very great. The executive committee of the Choral Union desires to sell the entire number of tickets necessary to ensure the success of the series before the first concert, November 13. Remember an associate membership ticket cost but $2.00; that the course is superior to any in the state; that tickets may be secured at Calkins' and at the Ann Arbor Organ Co.'s store.

AROUND THE CAMPUS.

No field day exercises will be held this year.

Fifty students are taking the master-piece course this semester.

There are now over 78,000 bound volumes in the University library.

Work on the new additions to the law and engineering buildings has begun.

Mr. Eiting won the tennis championship in the tournament which took place last week.

At Tuesday noon there were enrolled 78 homoeopathic, 182 dental, 603 law, 373 medical, 83 pharmacy, 1199 literary students; total, 2518.

J. B. Middlecoff, H. D. Jewell, T. W. Hughes, A. C. Gormley, E. B. Sutton and E. F. Johnson have been appointed quizmasters in the law department at $100 each.

Rev. B. F. Brimblecum has been elected president of the sophomore class. It was decided Saturday to challenge the freshmen to a tug of war contest to be held November 14.

The funeral services were held this morning in St. Thomas' church, many friends and fellow-students attending.

At the Catholic fair they are voting for the most popular man in Washtenaw county, the four candidates being Dr. W. B. Smith, J. F. Schuh, John Eisele and Morgan O'Brien. To the person receiving the highest number of votes will be given a fine buggy presented by Martin M. Seabolt.

The rugby game between Michigan and Oberlin, which took place on the fair grounds Saturday, was well played, resulting in a score of 26 to 6, in Michigan's favor. H. G. Prettyman, of this city, acted as referee.

The U. of M. foot-ball team will play next Saturday with the Butler team, the champion team of Indiana. There will also be foot-racing on the fair grounds.

W. C. Quarles will represent the University at Chicago on Washington's birthday. Representatives of different colleges will speak under the auspices of the Union League club.

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

Cupid has winged one of Michigan's law students, who now, thanks to successful strategy, is enrolled among the Benedictines. The story is told in a dispatch from Bad Axe, as follows: "Robert Wallace is a very wealthy pioneer quarryman, having operated quarries for many years at Grindstone City. He has four sons: Lee and John, who have a quarry at Grindstone City; Will, manager of the Bayport quarries, and Sam, a medical student at Ann Arbor and a chum of Mr. Reed. The latter has long been an admirer of his chum's pretty sister but, it seems, was not acceptable to her parents. Last week Miss Annie went to the Bayport quarry to visit her brother Will. The Saturday morning train brought Sam and Annie from the University. On their arrival Mr. Reed was asked his business by Will. He answered that he had an invitation to spend Sunday with Miss Wallace. Will promptly ordered him to leave by the first train. Mr. Reed, however, stayed around till later in the day, when Sam and Annie drove over to the Bayport summer resort for some fish, taking Reed with them. On arriving at Bayport Sam went down on the pier to buy the fish, very considerably leaving the other two alone. Reed hunted up a clergyman, and, having previously obtained a marriage license, was united to Miss Wallace, immediately leaving on the first train for parts unknown."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26, Henry H. Ragan, "A Trip to Alaska."

The Students' Lecture Association have secured an unusually good list of lecturers. They are as follows: November 7, Leland T. Powers, "David Garrick;" November 28, George Wendling, "Saul of Tarsus;" December 12, T. De Witt Talmage, "Science of Good Cheer;" January 9, The Schubert Quartette of Chicago; January 23, "Bill" Nye and A. P. Burbank; February 5, John J. Ingalls, "Problems of our Second Century;" March 5, W. C. P. Breckenridge, "Southern Problems;" March 26

THE REGISTER.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1891.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Saline Methodists will build a chapel. Chelsea's German school opens Monday.

Manchester people are wicked. They chant on Sunday.

Geo. Vinkle has removed from Dexter to Ann Arbor.

About $1500 was paid in Manchester last Friday for poultry.

A number of cases of whooping cough are said to be in Milan and vicinity.

About fifty Shropshire sheep were sold at the Ypsilanti fair grounds on Thursday last.

M. D. Sullivan, of Unadilla, raised this season 12,66 bushels of beans per acre.

The pension of Lewis Conk, of Chelsea, has been raised from $30 to $72 a month.

S. B. Weinett has rented his farm south of Saline and will soon remove to Muskegon.

L. A. Wood, of Lodi, has just shipped sixty Merino sheep to Australia, via New York.

Bert Stoll, Stockbridge's saloon-keeper, was fined $25 last week for selling liquor without proper bonds.

Geo. J. Nissly, of Saline, has been appointed one of the members of the world's fair committee on poultry.

A bed of peat has been discovered underlying Ypsilanti. This proves that the prehistoric settlers of Ypsilanti were Irish.—Adrian Press

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wyman had quite a fortune fall to them on Monday. A pretty little blue-eyed, two-year-old girl from the Little Water school has come to cheer them.—Dexter Leader.

At the foot social held at Prof McNamara's last night, $11.65 was taken in. At five cents per foot that would get 233 feet of solid girl. Five feet eleven inches is the highest point scored by a single South Lyon girl.—Excelsior.

As yet Dexter has no electric light plant, neither is she blessed with that inestimable boon, water works; but wait, we see a cloud not the size of a man's hand. What the outcome will be the only business men and capitalists of Dexter can tell.—Leader.

We are told that a certain farmer just out of town is holding his wheat for $3 per bushel, and says that not a kernel of this year's crop will be sold below that. We admire his grit, but believe that the sun will rise in the west before he sells at that price.—Saline Observer.

Dan Hitchingham, of Augusta, lost a valuable horse last Tuesday morning. He drove his two teams down to the depot just before the 10 A. M. train was due, and as the trains neared the station the horses became frightened, and this one raised up and fell backwards, and broke his neck.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

The mean people are not all dead; there is at least one lone yet; that one got into the Presbyterian church in some manner not yet determined, and set some time during the last two or three weeks, broke open the Sunday school box and pocketed the contents amounting to about $42.—Milan Leader.

A bunch of berries is not a great rarity but a cluster of ripe red raspberries plucked from the vines on the sixteenth of October is worthy of note in this latitude. Wm. Johnson, who resides southwest of the village, brought into town Friday the tops of the above mentioned canes which bore berries in various stages of ripeness.—Manchester Enterprise.

The following communication has been received by THE REGISTER: "We take this REGISTER around Dixboro wish for the truth in regard to the clover seed that Gee, Zeeb threshed last week on the farm of F. Butterfield. He threshed in one day and a half seventy-eight bushels. Now this is the truth. Please print this. Why not have the truth?"

The editor of the Manchester Enterprise evidently doesn't like sorghum. Listen to him: "A large amount of sorghum is being brought to Carl's mill at this village by farmers from all the surrounding townships. Why farmers continue to raise this stuff and pay twenty cents a gallon to have it made into syrup at such low prices is more than we can understand, but, perhaps they like the flavor of the stuff and are bound to have it regardless of expense."

Albert Hauer, of Augusta, has bought the old Dr. Silas Newcomb farm in the town of London, Monroe county, 37 acres, for $1500. It joins Mr. Hauer's farm in Augusta, and with its good buildings and other improvements will make a nice home for one of his two sons, Everett A. and D. S., who now live with their father. This makes the whole property 180 acres in a body. Mr. Hauer helped his father clear up the old home farm on which he lives, and is one of Augusta's pioneers.—Ypsilantiian.

Last Sunday evening, Geo. Renz, Jr., drove up to C. F. Hill's in Lodi, hitched his horse and went to the house, after remaining there a short time he went to get his rig which to his surprise was not there. Mr. Hill soon came to his assistance and as they went to the barn thinking possibly someone (might have thought Geo. would stay a little) had left it there. They found one of Mr. H's best horses harnessed and ready to go. A diligent search was made about the premises but with no effect, the rig was gone. Monday morning Sheriff Dwyer was notified and at once set out in search. The horse, which was a valuable one, belonged to John Gordon.—Saline Observer.

Mrs. Roff, of Clinton, had a very narrow escape from death by asphyxiation last Sunday. She retired Saturday evening at her usual time and Sunday, about eleven o'clock, her daughter, Mrs. James Haase, went there and was unable to rouse her. Dr. White was called and they worked over her an hour and a half before she revived sufficiently to talk. She remained feeling very sick in the night and found herself on the floor, but lost consciousness immediately after. She was found just in time to save her life. The coal stove had become clogged with ashes unknown to Mrs. Roff, thereby allowing gas to escape.—Tremont Herald.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

WILL BE TRIED FOR MURDER.

Sixteen years ago, August 23, Edward Molitor, politician and businessman, was shot dead in his store at Rogers City as he sat at his desk. Although the names of the murderers were well known no direct evidence was obtained until the present summer, when one of the conspirators confessed, and his confession was followed by several others. The evidence is direct and the disclosures startling. The prisoners number a dozen of the most prominent men in the country and five of them are said to have confessed to the crime with which they are charged.

HEALTH IN MICHIGAN.

Reports to the state board of health by sixty-two observers in different parts of the state for the week ended October 17 indicated that inflammation of the brain, puerperal fever, membranous croup, whooping cough, rheumatism and typhoid fever increased, and inflammation of the kidneys, scarlet fever and diphtheria decreased in area of prevalence. Diphtheria was reported at thirty-four places, scarlet fever at thirty-five, typhoid fever at forty and measles at four places.

MONEY FOR THE POTTAWATOMIES.

Simon Polakow, chief of the remnant of the Pottawatomie tribe of Indians which are domiciled in southwestern Michigan, will soon receive $20,000 from Washington for distribution among 250 members of the tribe.

A bed of peat has been discovered underlying Ypsilanti. This proves that the prehistoric settlers of Ypsilanti were Irish.—Adrian Press

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wyman had quite a fortune fall to them on Monday. A pretty little blue-eyed, two-year-old girl from the Little Water school has come to cheer them.—Dexter Leader.

At the foot social held at Prof McNamara's last night, $11.65 was taken in. At five cents per foot that would get 233 feet of solid girl. Five feet eleven inches is the highest point scored by a single South Lyon girl.—Excelsior.

As yet Dexter has no electric light plant, neither is she blessed with that inestimable boon, water works; but wait, we see a cloud not the size of a man's hand. What the outcome will be the only business men and capitalists of Dexter can tell.—Leader.

PIERCED WITH A SILVER.

A hardwood silver 7 inches long, not more than a half inch in diameter, at its widest point and weighing less than one ounce, flew from a buzz saw and pierced S. Lessard, of Big Rapids. The silver passed through a blue jacket, the bands of overalls and heavy trousers and two shirts, and deep enough into the unfortunate man to make his recovery doubtful.

OVER A CENTURY OLD.

Mrs. Almina Demund, of Woodland, Barry county, is dead at the age of 105 years.

Death by a Mob.

QUEEN CITY, Tex., Oct. 27.—The sky is lit up in every direction by the lurid glare of prairie fires. Some of the fires have been burning three days, and have done a great deal of damage. Hundreds of farms have been swept of crops and fences and in two score or more of cases the houses and barns have been consumed, the stock perishing and the people escaping only with their lives in the Iowa country. The fire has gotten in the timber and will burn for weeks. It is feared a number of people have perished there. Cimarron City, a small town northeast of here, has been entirely wiped out, the people escaping by jumping into the river. M. B. Evers, stage driver to Chandler, and the Perkins mail carrier were caught in the fires and both terribly burned.

TERRIBLE REVENGE.

A Negro Murderer in Texas Burned to Death.

QUEEN CITY, Tex., Oct. 27.—The negro, Lee Green, who murdered the wife and child of Farmer Law, 7 miles from this place, on Saturday, was Monday burned at the stake in sight of the scene of his double crime. Before he died he confessed the murders and said that he committed the crime for the money, $80, which he obtained.

The crowd which witnessed the burning of the murderer numbered about 1,000 and was made up about equally of whites and blacks. There was no attempt to conceal the identity of any those engaged in the execution, all of them being friends of Mr. Law and having known the negro.

Mr. Egan, in presenting the Chilian junta with this statement of the assault on the American sailors, expressed in distinct terms the feeling of great indignation which the state department at Washington feels at the whole affair, and especially at the brutal conduct of the police of Valparaiso in joining with the mob in the latter's attack upon the Baltimore's seamen and in dragging their bayonets and using them against the unarmed Americans. Mr. Egan particularly called attention to the additional brutality of the police of Valparaiso in using horses to drag the Americans to prison.

After making a brief but pointed summary of the facts to which he had been instructed to call attention, Minister Egan informed the representative of the junta that in the name of the United States, he demanded reparation for the insults and injuries complained of.

Slosson defeats Schaefer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The great billiard match at the 14-inch ball game on a 5x10 table, 800 points up, for stakes of $1,000 and the whole net gate receipts, between Jacob Schaefer, of Chicago, and George Slosson, of New York, drew a great crowd of billiard experts and admirers of the game to Chickering hall Monday night. Slosson won the game in the thirty-sixth inning. Score: Slosson, 800; Schaefer, 392. Averages: Slosson, 22.3; Schaefer, 11.45.

Crawled into a Red-Hot Furnace.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27.—At Fosteria, O., Monday night Ralph Cunningham, son of a prominent business man, tried to kill himself by crawling into the red-hot furnace of the spoke factory, of which his father is part owner. The engineer pulled him out, but not until his head and body had been roasted. He will die. Poor health was the cause of the act.

Blaine Resumes Work.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Secretary Blaine has resumed the discharge of his duties as secretary of state. He rose early and soon after breakfast went over to the white house. Secretary Tracy soon joined him there, and together they had a long consultation with the president. It was nearly noon when Secretary Blaine left the white house and walked to the department of state. He entered his private office and plunged at once into business.

A Packing-House Destroyed.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Oct. 27.—The pork-packing house of Brittain & Co., employing 150 men, burned Monday night. The fire was caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp which Mr. Bell, one of the proprietors, was carrying. The stock of meat and packed products was burned. The loss will reach $50,000; insurance, $102,000. The plant will be rebuilt.

Two Girls Asphyxiated.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—A special to the News from Terre Haute, Ind., says: Lucy Jewett and Sarah Prater came here from Paris, Ill., Friday night, stopping at a hotel near the depot. In the morning they were found dead in bed. They had blown out their lamps.

George Labadie, a West Bay City 3-year-old, fell head foremost into a well and was drowned.

It was declared in Judge Gaynor's court at Detroit that one man could drink six quarts of beer in a two-hour sitting without being the worse for it.

A branch of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has been organized at East Tawas.

The Josco county supervisors have decided to submit to the electors the proposition of bonding the county in the sum of $5,000, to reclaim some 25,000 acres of swamp lands by drainage.

Marquette hunters discovered the lifeless body of William Whitehill hanging from a tree in the woods northwest of the city. He was a wood turner, formerly from Detroit.

George Beltinger, working in a foundry at Muskegon, walked into a pot of molten metal and was fatally burned.

William Malmord has been re-appointed warden of the prison at Marquette.

The inter-collegiate Rugby tournament will be held at Jackson November 7.

The old war in Charlevoix county has been revived by a petition from Charlevoix to the board of supervisors now in session to have the county seat removed from Boyne City to the summer resort town. A lively time was looked for.

Greatest on Record.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Official figures issued by the bureau of statistics show that the foreign commerce of the United States during the past year was greater than any other year in the history of the country.

TONS OF HAY DESTROYED.

Farmers Lose Heavily by Fires in the Wisconsin River bottoms.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 26.—Fires in the Wisconsin river bottoms and those rivers tributary to the Wisconsin have caused heavy losses to the farmers living along the rivers. Curtis Hazelton, of Mazomanie, who owns about 20,000 acres of marsh lands in Dane, Sauk and Iowa counties, says most all of the hay grown on his land was destroyed by fire. He has leased the marsh in small parcels to farmers, and those placing almost sole dependence for hay on the marsh are in desperate straits and will be obliged to sell their cattle at whatever their starving. Mr. Hazelton estimates that 50,000 tons of hay have been destroyed in southern Wisconsin alone. Along the Wolf river and its tributaries marshes have burned out and farmers were unable to rescue their hay which had been stacked in them. In many places the fire is still burning. Stock can be purchased at almost any price along these rivers, tame hay having been a failure on account of the drought. The loss cannot as yet be estimated.

SWEEP BY FIRE.

Widespread Loss Occurred in Oklahoma Territory by the Flames.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Oct. 27.—The sky is lit up in every direction by the lurid glare of prairie fires. Some of the fires have been burning three days, and have done a great deal of damage. Hundreds of farms have been swept of crops and fences and in two score or more of cases the houses and barns have been consumed, the stock perishing and the people escaping only with their lives in the Iowa country. The fire has gotten in the timber and will burn for weeks. It is feared a number of people have perished there. Cimarron City, a small town northeast of here, has been entirely wiped out, the people escaping by jumping into the river. M. B. Evers, stage driver to Chandler, and the Perkins mail carrier were caught in the fires and both terribly burned.

GOING SOUTH.

The United States Sends a Stern Message to Chili.

The Junta Formally Notified That Ample Reparation Must Be Made for the Attack on the Crew of the Baltimore.

DEMAND AN APOLOGY.

The United States Sends a Stern Message to Chili.

The Junta Formally Notified That Ample Reparation Must Be Made for the Attack on the Crew of the Baltimore.

UNCLE SAM AROUSED.

SANTIAGO, Oct. 27.—The United States government on Monday, through Minister Egan, formally demanded reparation from the government of Chili for the attack recently made in Valparaiso upon a number of the seamen of the United States cruiser Baltimore. The demand made by the United States minister is no informal suggestion that the government at Washington expects some kind of satisfaction for the killing and wounding of the Baltimore's sailors. It is a firmly put notification, given according to direct orders received from the state department at Washington, that the United States demands an immediate explanation of the whole affair and reparation for the injuries inflicted.

Acting upon the instructions sent to him from Washington Mr. Egan presented the junta with a detailed statement of the results of the investigation made by Capt. Schley, of the Baltimore, and by Mr. Egans, himself. These investigations show that Charles Riggan, one of the Baltimore's petty officers, was severely assaulted by several Chileans while he was riding on a street car. Riggan resisted, but was dragged from the car and murdered by a pistol shot while in the arms of his companions. Turnbill, another of the Baltimore's wounded men, who died Monday from his injuries, received no less than eighteen wounds in the back, two of them penetrating his lungs. After giving a full list of the Baltimore's crew who were injured by the mob Mr. Egan's statement called attention to the fact that thirty-five of the cruiser's crew were on the day of the riots arrested, unnecessary violence being used by the police, and that they were detained in custody without due cause. In conclusion, Mr. Egan said that the surgeons of the United States warship expressed the opinion that some of the wounds inflicted upon the American sailors were bayonet wounds, and that this clearly showed that the police officers of Valparaiso, who were armed with bayonets, took part in the attack. The Americans were without arms and practically defenseless.

Mr. Egan, in presenting the Chilian junta with this statement of the assault on the American sailors, expressed in distinct terms the feeling of great indignation which the state department at Washington feels at the whole affair, and especially at the brutal conduct of the police of Valparaiso in joining with the mob in the latter's attack upon the Baltimore's seamen and in dragging their bayonets and using them against the unarmed Americans. Mr. Egan particularly called attention to the additional brutality of the police of Valparaiso in using horses to drag the Americans to prison.

After making a brief but pointed summary of the facts to which he had been instructed to call attention, Minister Egan informed the representative of the junta that in the name of the United States, he demanded reparation for the insults and injuries complained of.

My preparations are for sale, by wholesale druggists in Chicago and every city west of it.

26

Cure Headache and Relieve all the Troubles Incident to a Bilious State of the System, such as Distress, Nausea, Drowsiness. Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, etc. What their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

Uncle Sam Aroused.

SANTIAGO, Oct. 27.—The United States government on Monday, through Minister Egan, formally demanded reparation from the government of Chili for the attack recently made in Valparaiso upon a number of the seamen of the United States cruiser Baltimore. The demand made by the United States minister is no informal suggestion that the government at Washington expects some kind of satisfaction for the killing and wounding of the Baltimore's sailors. It is a firmly put notification, given according to direct orders received from the state department at Washington, that the United States demands an immediate explanation of the whole affair and reparation for the injuries inflicted.

THE REGISTER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
SELBY A. MORAN,
ANN ARBOR, MICH.

TERMS:

One Dollar per Year in Advance.
$1.50 if not paid until after one year.

For Fifteen Cents per Year additional to Subscribers outside of Washtenaw County.
Fifty Cents Additional to Foreign countries.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1891.

THE REGISTER requests all of its friends, who have business at the Probate Court, to send their printing to this office. Reasonable rates only are charged.

LEGAL REFORM.

AMONG all modern movements, that for legal reform is one of the most important and necessary, for upon the proper administration of justice depends the perpetuity of all free governments. We are permitted to print the following extract with regard to this subject from the forthcoming book of Judge N. W. Cheever on Probate Practice, first quoting an article by G. A. Lomax in the London National Review on "Free Law."

"In these days," says Mr. Lomax, "when the prefix "Free" seems to be the girt that adorns all gingerbread, political, moral and social, manufactured for public consumption—when our politicians tempt us with Free Trade, Free Education, and Free Land; our ecclesiastics with Free Churches, and our advanced moralists with Free Thought and Free Love—it seems somewhat strange that no embryonic Cobden thirst for notoriety has entered the arena with the battle cry of Free Law."

"In the primitive community, law as a code did not exist, and was mainly confined to what would today be considered criminal matters. With advance of civilization, law became more complex, the injustice of arbitrary sentences was recognized, precedent began to exert an influence, and a demand arose for a tabulated code.

"These first codes, like the Code of Draco, or the Commandments of Israel, were very simple, and within the mental grasp of the layman, who continued to be his own lawyer; but as it increased in bulk and intricacy it required a special training for its interpretation and recollection. A distinct class of professional advocates arose in response to the demand; and from the day that the first fee was paid to the first advocate the equality of the law for rich and poor alike was undermined.

"This system of paid advocacy has flourished until it has become the ivy on the tree of justice; the more it has increased and thriven the more it has sapped the vitality of the tree, and the higher it has raised a barrier between the poor man and justice. A poor man contending with a rich company may win his case, and be deliberately ruined by litigation on appeal.

"The first necessary reform consists in some system of legal procedure, whereby the man who has not £5 in his pocket may obtain the same advantages as the millionaire. Any revision and simplification of law is beyond hope. Consequently the necessary reform must be sought in the mode of administration. This is a case in which State interference could be productive of no evil; on the contrary it would be plainly to the advantage of the community large, and at the same time such a loyal attempt to rectify and purify the application of the principles on which all good government depends for its very existence, that it would be hardly possible, except on selfish grounds, to deny the beneficial intention of its action.

"The first reform, therefore, would be that the entire bar should be reconstructed as a branch of the civil service, and a scheme devised of state prosecution and defense, which should extend to all lawsuits the principle which determined the employment of a public prosecutor. It would be necessary to curtail the choice of counsel by the litigant, and to assign a due proportion of the work to each member of the bar, and it would be necessary to the proper administration of justice that the comparative trial should not be pitted against the experienced practitioner.

"An objection to the scheme of state-paid law lies in the facilities it would afford to the quarrelsome and litigious to rush into legal proceedings for mere bagatelle at the cost of their peaceful neighbors. To meet this objection the system must include some tribunal which shall command the implicit confidence of the public, and exercise a strictly impartial censorship over all cases submitted to it.

"The first and most natural objection, all the more serious because it would be raised by the law-abiding section of the community, would be the question of expense. It is probable that the scheme would be expensive, and there is an apparent injustice in taxing the peaceable citizen for the benefit of his litigious neighbor; but, after all, such anomalies already exist. The citizen is taxed to maintain our prisons, our system of poor relief and the education of our children. It is the price he pays for the privilege of membership in a community which protects his law-abiding propensities. Moreover, the system might be made to some extent self-supporting by exacting a percentage on money or property recovered, and by the imposition of fees on complainants who might waste the court's time unnecessarily by bringing unfounded, vexatious, or malicious claims.

"That such a scheme as is here proposed must have many defects is not denied; but under our present system there does exist an inequality between the rich and the poor, and, therefore, some reorganization is urgently needed. We recognize the propriety of State prosecution in criminal matters; which is merely another form of stating that when criminal injury is done to the individual, the community suffers in his person. All we need is to extend the principle to every form of injury, and to admit that if the individual suffers the smallest wrong the community is injured until it is redressed."

"I have inserted the foregoing article," remarks Judge Cheever, "because it contains much truth in regard to our courts. The remedies suggested may not be practical, but some remedy will have to be found or our courts will cease to command the confidence and respect of the people, which is their chief support. There is much reason to suppose, that the practice of influencing juries by improper means is becoming very general throughout our country, and is especially prevalent in the large cities. In some places can be found men who devote most of their time to this department of court practice, and are known as jury fixers. It is a secret business, and only a few are caught, but in such a business where one is caught, we may reasonably suppose that there are a hundred more who are not detected. In many ways, some of which are suggested in the above article, our courts are becoming the instruments for the fatal delay or utter denial of justice. We suggest some changes in the present practice in courts for the bar and legislators."

"In the examination of witnesses, direct or leading questions should be allowed in all civil cases, in the direct examination. If a witness is inclined to give false testimony he can be successfully led to it by the indirect questions as the direct or leading questions. The only difference is that by leading questions the lying would all be done in ten minutes, while by the indirect questions it sometimes takes an entire day to accomplish the same result. The indirect method of direct examination serves to consume a great deal of valuable time; but does not mark many marked degree prevent false testimony."

"In civil cases a two-thirds majority of the jury should be allowed to render the verdict. Have all judges and justices of the peace appointed by the governor with the approval of the state senate, and judges of the supreme court to hold their office for life, or during good behavior, and the circuit judges to hold their offices for ten years or during good behavior. This would give us a more independent judiciary and would expedite business. Most of the useless adjournments and delays of cases are caused by the political influence of attorneys and litigants. The decision or judgments of all courts, commissioners and arbitrators, not exceeding in amount the sum of one hundred dollars, should be final and conclusive.

"A much larger class of cases should be taken from the jury, and determined by the court.

"In criminal cases remove all presumptions of innocence. The prosecution should not be obliged to overcome useless presumptions! Let every criminal come before the court, without any presumption for or against him.

"Remove the requirement that the prosecution must prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. These rules were established when the people had to protect themselves against irresponsible individual tyrants. It served a good purpose then; the only purpose it serves now is to enable acknowledged criminals to escape just punishment. There is no greater danger than an American jury will convict a criminal unjustly.

"In criminal cases the sentence should be for the longest period fixed by the law, or until cured of crime as determined by the board of pardons appointed by the governor. The board of pardons should also have the power to grant a conditional release, to last during good behavior, and in case the prisoner fails to conduct himself properly, then he shall be returned to the prison to serve out the remainder of his sentence. It would pay the state to provide some employment for released criminals, at least until they can procure employment without the aid of the state.

"No many of these suggestions apply to probate courts, still some of them do, and they may serve to excite interest in these matters, and lead to remedies, if not the ones suggested here."

The Midnight Alarm.

If enthusiasm and long continued applause is indicative of success, then the first appearance of "The Midnight Alarm" was in the nature of a triumph. There was no cessation of interest from the beginning to the close of last night's entertainment. The play is modern, a comedy-drama, strongly realistic in its tendencies, and takes place in New York City. James W. Harkins, Jr., the author, is included in the cast, in the role of Capt. Harry Westmore of the Hayes Truck. The company is one of the most evenly balanced seen here this season, and gives a very strong performance. The scenery and effects, taken collectively, are most complete. Act one, the East River Wharf scene with the Brooklyn Bridge looming up big and majestic from the back ground, is a marvel of scenic art. Another very effective set is the New Jersey farm scene—a delightful air of rustic completeness pervading it. But the crowning scene of realism is embodied in the Hayes Truck House, New York City, at the midnight hour when the titular alarm is rung in. The spectacle of the huge trucks, engines and carriages, preceded by plunging horses, rushing merrily across the stage, took the house by storm. Two irresistible curtain calls rewarded this splendid piece of work. The company made themselves deservedly popular by their strong conscientious work. The advance sale of seats denotes great houses for the balance of the week.—Baltimore American.

Randal's Holiday, Opening next week. Beginning Monday, Nov. 2.

Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, vs.
COUNTY OF ANN ARBOR, 1888.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, held at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Monday, the 26th day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight.

Present, J. Willard Babbit, Judge of Probate, in the Matter of the Estate of Eli Bentor, deceased.

Courtstock F. Hill, the administrator de bonis, with the will annexed of said estate, comes into court and he represents that he is now prepared to render his final account as such administrator.

Thereupon it is Ordered, That Tuesday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, he assigned for examining and allowing such debts, expenses, legacies and other personal effects of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be held in said County, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed. And it is further ordered that said administrator give notice to the heirs of the deceased, and to the holder of the property of said account, and the heirs thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Ann Arbor Register, a newspaper printed and reading daily, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

J. WILLARD BABBITT,
Judge of Probate.

W.M. DORR Probate Register.

A beautiful silver medal has been received by the Ann Arbor Agricultural company. It was awarded by the Royal Manchester, Liverpool and North Lancashire Agricultural Society for the best hay tedder exhibited at the Bury fair.

SOCIAL DOINGS.

[CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.]

L. H. Clement was in Toledo Monday. Mrs. M. M. Tuttle has returned from Chicago.

Mrs. Mary Newton left Tuesday for California.

Mrs. Arthur Brown has been visiting in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Seyler are visiting in Detroit.

Mr. Philip Bach left Thursday evening for the east.

Wirt Doty, of Detroit, spent Sunday with his parents.

Dr. L. N. Palmer, of Brooklyn, was in the city Saturday.

Chas. H. Kline left Tuesday evening for New York.

Mrs. H. Dodsley returned on Saturday from Chicago.

F. H. Abbott, of Crystal Falls, Mich., is visiting old friends.

The Ypsilanti Light Guards give a hop tomorrow evening.

Dr. W. J. Maynard and wife left Monday evening from Chicago.

The Presbyterian ladies serve tea this evening in the church parlors.

Mrs. J. F. Swathel left Tuesday for a two weeks' visit in New York.

Mrs. Adolf Krause, of Grand Rapids, is visiting relatives in the city.

Miss Katie Diehl, of York, spent Sunday with her mother in this city.

Mrs. Margaret Flint, of Newport, is visiting her niece, Mrs. C. S. Fall.

Mrs. S. C. Baker, of Jonesville, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wade.

Miss Mary Fiegel, of Pittsfield, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Enoch Dieterle.

Mrs. E. A. Hill, of Cambridge, Mass., has been visiting Mrs. A. S. Carman.

C. Jacobs, of Boston, attended the funeral of his father, Stephen Jacobs.

Wm. Grossmann, of Saginaw, is visiting his brother, Michael Grossmann.

The Wolverine Cyclers will give a dancing party Thursday, November 5.

F. C. Wetmore, son of Rev. W. W. Wetmore, is practicing law in Cadillac.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Osius, of Detroit, have been visiting L. Gruner and family.

Fred Schulz and family, of Detroit, were in the city visiting friends, Sunday and Monday.

Washtenaw Lodge No. 9, I. O. O. F., will give a dancing party next Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Green, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Clemert, returned to Detroit yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Jones, of Wichita, Kan., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. B. F. Watts, left yesterday for Flint.

Mrs. Torrants and her son James have returned with Mrs. C. B. Cady, and will spend a couple of weeks in Chicago.

Philip R. Whitman, who for two years has been in business in Mexico, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Whitman.

Paul G. Suekey, of the Hausfreund, returned from Germany Friday. He was greeted by a number of friends and a brass band.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Blitz were in Detroit a few days this week, welcoming Mr. Blitz's brother, Louis Blitz, back from Europe.

The members of the Chequamegon orchestra, to the number of twenty, pleasantly surprised their leader, L. H. Clement, on Tuesday evening. Among those present was Edward N. Billie, a former leader of the orchestra who has been studying in Germany during the past three years. Many of the old tunes were played over again, in honor of the past and present leader.

OUR YPSILANTI RAMBLER.

Tells What He Has Seen and Heard in Those Days and Nights.

A good many former Ypsilantians have been visiting old friends here this week. Among them: Mrs. T. W. MacLean, of Bay City, and Miss Little Lee of Chicago. Mayor Glover is still very sick, as is also George Wise. Miss Morey is rapidly recovering. Rev. and Mrs. Scofield, of Dallas, Texas, returned home after their summer's visit in this place and eastern places of note. The Normal foot ball team allowed the Ann Arbor high school boys to gain the victory in the little game played at the fair grounds last Saturday. While half of our Ypsi ladies crowded over to Ann Arbor last Saturday, a delegation of ladies from that city wisely made a trip to this city. They took in the sights, visited the sewing school, did some shopping and in many other ways enjoyed the day. Miss Susie Lamb, a popular young society lady of our city, was married quietly at her home last evening to Mr. Henshaw, of Canada. Our young people are greatly in favor of "annexation" with our cousins across the creek, and the indications are that several others of our young ladies will soon show their friendliness in a way like unto Miss Lamb.

RAMBLER.

The members of the Chequamegon orchestra, to the number of twenty, pleasantly surprised their leader, L. H. Clement, on Tuesday evening. Among those present was Edward N. Billie, a former leader of the orchestra who has been studying in Germany during the past three years. Many of the old tunes were played over again, in honor of the past and present leader.

DR. FRUTH.

Formerly of New York, now the celebrated Examining Physician of the FAUTH MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE, Chicago, Ill., by request of many Friends and Patients, has decided to visit

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Chas. H. Miller, Saline 28
Anna E. Cobb, York 18
Edwin P. Reed, Ann Arbor 22
Anna E. Wallace, Port Austin 22
Edwin D. Henwood, Walkerville, Can. 30
Arthur Bradley, Milford 27
Addie Knaggs, Milan 18
H. W. Hawley, Denver, Colo. 29
Clark L. Mack, Ann Arbor 26
Lewis M. Olds, Ypsilanti 25
Dora D. Ambrose, Ypsilanti 25
Geo. W. Scott, Grand Rapids 21
Nora Tabies, Ypsilanti 17

GRAND OPERA HOUSE!

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

Friday Evening, October 30th.

MR. H. T. THOMPSON'S

Gorgeous Production of the Realistic and Powerful Comedy Drama, the

MIDNIGHT ALARM!

ORIGINAL IN CONSTRUCTION,

THRILLING IN ACTION!

INTERPRETED BY A FULL COMPANY OF METROPOLITAN ARTISTS.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS INVESTED IN MECHANICAL AND SCENIC EFFECTS.

THRILLING FLIGHT OF A GENUINE

FIRE ENGINE

DRAWN BY TWO SPIRITED HORSES!

NEW YORK WHARF SCENE.

FAIRGROUND BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

STATUE OF LIBERTY.

AND BROOKLYN IN THE DISTANCE.

A WHOLE CARLOAD OF SPECIAL SCENERY USED IN

THE ORIGINAL NEW YORK PRODUCTION

NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 2d, 1891.

MISS LOTTIE WILLIAMS

The Beautiful Protean Character Souvenir Queen, in the Powerful Dramatic Creation, entitled:

"New York, Day By Day"

A FRESH, CRISP PICTURE OF LIFE IN NEW YORK CITY.

Under the Management of MR. CHAS. MELVILLE.

REALISTIC IN THE EXTREME!

Full of Exciting Scenes, Dramatic Situations and Magnificent Scenery, Artistically Picturesque, and Interpreted by a Powerful and Carefully Selected Company!

Among the startling effects in this great production are

New York City by Midnight.

The Battery in 1865.

Harlem Bridge in a Blizzard.

The Police Patrol.

The Burning Patrol.

The Electric Call.

The Whole Portraying to Nature Life in the Great City.

PRICES, 35c, 50c and 75c.

Reserved Seats Tickets now P. O. New Stand.

No Money Required of Responsible Parties to Commence Treatment.

FURNITURE, CARPETS, DRAPERS,

MARTIN HALLER'S,

54 S. Main and 4 West Liberty-sts., Ann Arbor, Mich.

You have some furnishing to do this fall. It may be a whole house, it may be a single room, or it may be that you need only a single piece of Furniture.

I am prepared to show you such an assortment of goods that I know you can find just what you want. Having recently returned from the great Furniture Centers, CHICAGO, and GRAND RAPIDS, where I have made careful selections of the latest designs and novelties from the best manufacturers. I am convinced that I can gratify your wants, and give you a chance to select from a stock that is equal to the best in Detroit or Toledo, with the exception that I have not put fancy prices on the goods.

CARPETS: I am not the only Carpet dealer in the city, but I think I can show a line of samples that will enable you to find just the styles that suit you. I know that prices will.

Splendid patterns in Chenille, Lace and Silk Curtains.

Give me a chance to show you what I have and you will not regret it.

Very respectfully,

MARTIN HALLER

ADAM'S BAZAAR

LAMPS! LAMPS! LAMPS!

ALL THE BEST AT LOWEST PRICES.

Pittsburgh, Rochester, Trenton, Royal, Student, Piano and Banquet Lamps; Hanging Lamps with Decorated Front and Shade. Also cheap Lamps of every description. Chimneys, Burners, Shades, etc. Also Crockery, decorated and plain. China, Toilet Sets, decorated and plain Glassware, Tinware, etc.

13 South Main Street.

ADAM'S BAZAAR.

LATEST COUNTY NEWS.

Stony Creek.

The Misses Minsey are entertaining friends from a distance.

Dr. Wm. Calhoun is slowly recovering from his late illness.

The Young Brothers are again in this vicinity threshing beans.

Mrs. S. H. Conde, who has been east several weeks, has returned.

Mrs. Iva Harper, of Manchester, was the guest of Mrs. Harper last week.

Miss Minnie McGraw was the guest of her brother Gilbert, of this place, recently.

Saline.

Orange blossoms will bloom in our vicinity this week.

Miss Bemish, of Tecumseh, is the guest of Miss Ella Potter.

Misses Luela Clarke and May Cody are spending a few days in Ypsilanti.

Miss Kittie Sauer finishes her first term of school in the Judd district this week.

Dr. H. Nichols and P. W. Weinnett have returned from their hunting expedition in the Northern Peninsula.

The spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Davenport was thrown open on Friday evening for the entertainment of the Methodist society at their church social. A fine literary and musical program was rendered.

Scio.

Mrs. Thomas Quinn left Tuesday for her home in Bancroft.

Born—October 21, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cunningham, a son.

Miss Kapell, of New York, has been the guest of Mrs. Snyder.

Mrs. Anna Hughes left last Saturday to spend a week in Detroit.

Mrs. Tuomey and children, of Jackson, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Holmes.

Miss Belle Hanchett, who has been visiting Miss Alma Litchfield for the past two weeks, returned home Monday.

Wm. Quigg and sister, Miss Mary Quigg, Mrs. Carragher and daughter, Miss Mary Carragher, attended the Nanny—Carragher wedding at Northfield, last week.

Miss Alma Litchfield gave a party to a few of her young friends last Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Hanchett. The evening was spent in playing tickle-winks and other games.

Webster.

The semi-annual meeting of the Jackson Association met at the Congregational church of Webster the 20th and 21st inst.

The Woman's Home Missionary society held sessions Tuesday morning and afternoon. Greeting was given by Mrs. Lincoln, and response by Mrs. Putman, of Ypsilanti. Reports were then given of all the home missionary societies represented. After dinner Mrs. Thayer read a paper on Christian Giving, and Mrs. Harris spoke about "Work in the South."

The evening sermon of the Association was preached by Rev. Mr. Shannon, of Salem, whose text was, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me." The Lord's Supper was administered at the close.

Wednesday morning was devoted to devotional exercises and business. Rev. Dr. Holmes, of Chelsea, presided and Rev. Mr. Van Auken, of Grass Lake, acted as secretary.

"The Religious Unrest of the Times," was very ably discussed by Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, of Ann Arbor, and Rev. Mr. Morris, of Dexter, showed "Its result on the Church Universal." A good discussion followed. Rev. George Foster, of Jackson, then read a paper on "How to Win Our Young People to Christ." Of the 400,000 young men in Michigan between the ages of sixteen and thirty-five, only five per cent, he said, attended church.

The afternoon session opened with devotional services. Mrs. Judson Thompson, of Salem, told how to interest the children in the prayer meeting. Rev. Mr. Putman, of Ypsilanti, followed with a paper on ministers' duties and privileges in relation to politics, in which he urged the importance of grappling the questions of the day and of using the ballot. Rev. Mr. Auken, of Grass Lake, spoke on the "Bible as an Educator." "How shall we make the prayer meeting a success?" was the subject of a paper by Rev. Mr. Thurston, of Pinckney. One secret of success, he thought, was earnestness. Missionary and Sunday school work was then taken up by Rev. Mr. Ewing, of Lansing. Many at this time left for the train, and Rev. Dr. Holmes closed the sessions by explaining the importance of keeping church records.

Chelsea.

Mrs. Brackbill is very sick.

The Chelsea union school has about 360 pupils.

Rev. O. C. Bailey exchanged pulpits with Rev. H. A. Putman last Sunday.

The basement of the Methodist church has been repainted and repainted.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hatch have gone to Dundee, Ill., to visit Rev. J. E. Reilly and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Sawyer have returned from a pleasant visit in the state of New York.

Fred Canfield has purchased the home now occupied by W. P. Schenck, on Orchard-st.

Miss Nettie Hoover, who has been in Stockbridge for some months, is at home again.

Rev. C. Haag is entertaining his sister, Frieda, who has recently arrived from Germany.

Rev. O. C. Bailey entertained Rev.

and Mrs. J. C. Van Auken, of Grass Lake, last week.

The Lutherans held a fair at the Town Hall, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church.

Whitmore Lake.

Mr. Spiegelberg is entertaining two nieces from Elyria, Ohio.

Eddie Slosson was over Sunday from Ann Arbor visiting his grandfather, Douglass Stevens.

i Allie Stevens returned from his yachting excursion on Saturday. He reports a fine time and lots of sport.

The friends and neighbors of W. H. Green turned out last Saturday and got up a nice wood pile for him.

F. M. Dodge was stabbed one night last week in his left leg, just above the knee. Two young men were trying the temper of their knives, when accidentally one slipped and Mr. Dodge received the blade as above stated. He is able to be around by the aid of crutches.

Philip Roper died last Thursday evening. The funeral service was held at the residence on Sunday at 10 A.M., after which the remains were placed in the vault at South Lyon. An immense congregation was present to pay the last sad rites of respect to the deceased. We can hear but one comment on the virtues and character of Mr. Roper, which is that he was an honest, upright man and sincere Christian.

Lima.

John Steinbach was in Ann Arbor Wednesday.

Godfrey Luick has the frame of his new house up and nearly enclosed.

Fred Wedemeyer, our general supervisor, is in attendance at the meeting of the board of supervisors at Ann Arbor

The following officers of the lyceum were elected Saturday evening: President, Arlington Guerin; secretary, Miss Estella Guerin; treasurer, Eddie Beach,

The Progressive New York Central.

One of the events of a progressive time is the fact that the New York Central has changed its policy, and from the most conservative, it has become one of the most progressive railroads in the world. This evidence has been cropping out for a year or more past in the adoption of the most modern safety devices, limited through passenger trains, increased suburban passenger service, special fast freight trains, etc. The latest evidence in the breaking of the world's record for long distance speed, on Monday, September 14th, making the run from New York City to East Buffalo, 436 miles, in 439½ minutes. This was the inclusive speed. The stops to be deducted were, Albany 3 minutes, 28 seconds, changing engines; Syracuse 2 minutes, 58 seconds, changing engines; Fairport 7 minutes, 50 seconds, hot journal. No allowance is made for slackening speed to take water. The actual running time was thus 425 minutes, 13 seconds. The average speed, excluding stops, was 61.56 miles an hour.

The physical characteristics for the ideal railroad are more nearly approached on the New York Central than on any important railroad in this country. Practically a level roadbed; a remarkable freedom from curves, considering the topography of the country through which it passes; four main tracks and ample side track room, providing for the movement of freight and passenger traffic on separate tracks, and a good water supply. In referring to the ideal railroad we have in mind the one that shall handle its passenger and freight traffic with the maximum celerity and minimum immunity from accident. These are the possibilities open to the New York Central.—From the Official Railway Equipment Guide, October, 1891.

"Sayings" of the Press Throughout Michigan.

THE TWO SAMS'

CLOTHING HOUSE IS THE FINEST IN THE STATE.

"SAYINGS" OF COMMERCIAL MEN ON THE ROAD:

At THE TWO SAMS, Ann Arbor, I can find more Fine Clothing at a less price than in any other city in the state, and is the most complete store known to the trade.

VISITORS FROM DETROIT AND OTHER CITIES:

We can not find the same class of Goods in our Stores. THE TWO SAMS have no equal in producing Fine Styles at a less cost than others; either in Clothing or Furnishings.

THE DOCTORS, LAWYERS AND MINISTERS SAY:

We are proud of having an Establishment such as THE TWO SAMS are conducting. Everything first-class and at a less price than any other concerns sell inferior goods.

THE FARMERS "FROM EVERY PART OF THE COUNTY SAY:"

I would rather buy my Clothing for myself and Children at THE TWO SAMS than at any other store.

"What They Say."

THE MECHANIC AND LABORING MAN SAYS:

THE TWO SAMS is the only place we Mechanics ought to trade. They have the line of Overcoats, Suits and Pants we can use at right prices.

THE OLD STUDENTS THAT HAVE GRADUATED SAY:

THE TWO SAMS have the only store I was ever in where a person can purchase a first-class article at a reasonable figure. Such are the expressions of thousands of people that daily crowd the store.

It will certainly pay to call this week and see the immense line of Overcoats and Suits and Hats !

SHOWN IN THEIR SHOW WINDOW.

LOOK AT THE BARGAINS !

At THE TWO SAMS,

L. BLITZ.

DID YOU MISS YOUR OPPORTUNITY?

DON'T FAIL TO ATTEND THIS SALE!

We are in position to Clothe one-half of Washtenaw County at

THE STAR CLOTHING HOUSE, ANN ARBOR

If the people look to their own interest. We have the goods. We can name the right prices. When visiting the EASTERN MARKET we had great success in buying goods upon our own terms. Wholesalers were over loaded. We relieved them.

OUR SATURDAY SALE WAS A GRAND SUCCESS!

The People were happy, and no wonder, Great Values for little Cash bring Smiles.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY OVERCOATS AND ULSTERS, from the Wagner purchase, still going at one-quarter off from the regular price. Everyboby remembers our June Cyclone.

LOOK OUT NOW FOR OCTOBER AND NOVEMBER WHIRLWINDS!

We are offering Splended Inducements in Suits at $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00, and we have selected ONE HUNDRED (100) SUITS—Good Value at marked prices, but IN THEY GO FOR $8.67. This May Cover Cost of Cloth and Trimming. They are in part from the Wagner purchase, Winter Weights, goods laid aside after the June rush, and just opened to CREATE A CLOTHING SENSATION. But Our Chief Pride is the TAILOR-MADE SUITS AND OVERCOATS. These surpass the Best Merchant Tailoring in Style and Workmanship.

IN THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT, We will mention one leader in each line—CHILDREN'S SUITS $1.79 BOYS' SUITS $2.50, both worth two or three times as much. Ask also to see our Children's Suits at $2.50, $4.00 and $5.00. A CASE OF UNDERWEAR, worth 50c per garment, closed out at less than one-third of cost, reduced during this sale to 29 cts. ANOTHER DRIVE is our $1.00 White Shirts—selling rapidly—only 69c.

EVERY DEPARTMENT CROWDED TO SUFFOCATION AND ACHING TO BE UNLOADED.

COME TO HEADQUARTERS AND GATHER THE RIPE FRUIT OF CHOICE GOODS AND RARE BARGAINS.

35 South Main St., Ann Arbor.

A. L. NOBLE,

Leading Clothier and Hatter.

IVORY SOAP

99⁴⁴₁₀₀ Pure.

THE BEST FOR EVERY PURPOSE.

PILES

"ANAFESIR" gives instant relief and is an infallible Cure for Piles. Price $1. By Druggists' mail. Sample free. Address—A. KERK, Box 2616, New York City.

SALARY and Commission to Agents, Men and Women, Teachers and Clergymen to introduce a new and popular standard book.

MARVELS OF THE NEW WEST

A new book sold in every book store. Price $1.25. Over 250 original engravings. 10,400 copies sold in ONE WEEK. Exclusive territory. Endorsed by the greatest men of our country. Agents thoroughly instructed. Apply to

The Henry Bill Publishing Co., Norwich, Conn.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deaths Bilious Spells depend on SULPHUR BITTERS it will cure you.

Do you suffer with ataxia? If so, use SULPHUR BITTERS it will cure you.

Operatives who are closely confined to the mills and work-shops, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

If you do not wish to suffer from Rheumatism, take SULPHUR BITTERS it never fails to cure.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will regret it.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

Try SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will sleep well and feel better for it.

You want the best Medical Work published.

Send 3 cent stamps to A. ORDWAY & CO., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy, free.

ANN ARBOR FRUIT-FARM!

PEARS AND GRAPES A SPECIALTY
All kinds of Fruit and Ornamental Trees and Flowers, from EWING & BARRY.

Order Early by Mail.

Syrups, Medicinal Wines, Raspberry Syrups, Bonets, Dandelion and Other Domestic Grape Wines, prepared especially for Invalids.

Pure Plymouth Rock Eggs.

EMIL BAUR,
W. HURON-ST.

New Firm!

HAVING BOUGHT THE

WOOD YARD

AND FEED BUSINESS

O. G. H. HAZELWOOD, we propose to keep WOOD of all kinds, Kindling Wood; also Baled HAY and STRAW, FLOUR and FEED, of the best quality, Charcoal, etc.

Goods delivered free to any part of the City.

Cash paid for Corn and Oats.

The firm will continue the Truck Business of C. H. JONES, as before.

Orders by Telephone promptly attended to.

H. C. CLARK,

Telephone No. 14.
33 E. Huron-St.

Purify YOUR Blood WITH Hibbard's Herb Extract

A WONDERFUL CURE.

This is a true likeness of me wearing artifical nose and upper lip after Scrofula had consumed my nose and upper lip, cured by HIBBARD'S HERB EXTRACT. This is not a patent med-

cine, but a simple preparation of roots and herbs that cured me over 47 years ago, since when I have cured thousands with its use. It requires a powerful vegetable remedy to effect such a cure as my own, and my argument has always been that the remedy that cured me would cure all forms of Scrofula or other Blood and Skin Diseases. Its success has been phenomenal. Send for list of testimonials and printed history of my case, or call on me any day, or write and describe your case. Advice freely.

Mrs. J. HIBBARD.

Avoid imitations. Be sure above trade-mark is on wrapper. $1.00 at druggists.

HIBBARD HERB EXTRACT CO.,

207 Canal St., Chicago, Ill.

MISS BRETHERTON

By MRS. HUMPHREY WARD,
AUTHOR OF "ROBERT ELSMERE."

[CONTINUED]

doubtful business, that her acting is as good as anybody's, and that her special mission is to regenerate the manners of the stage. To have the naked, artistic view thrust upon her—that it is the actress' business to act, and that if she does that well, whatever may be her personal shortcomings, her generation has cause to be grateful to her—but must be repugnant to her. She, too, talks about art, but it is like a child who learns a string of long words without understanding them. She walked on beside me while I cooled down and thought what a fool I had been to endanger a friendship which had opened so well—her wonderful lips opening once or twice as though to speak, and her quick breath coming and going as she scattered the yellow petals of the flowers far and wide with a sort of mute passion which sent a thrill through me. It was as though she could not trust herself to speak, and I waited awkwardly on Providence, wishing the others were not so far off. But suddenly the tension of her mood seemed to give way. Her smile flashed out, and she turned upon me with a sweet, eager gracefulness, quite indescribable.

"No, we won't throw stones at her! She is great, I know, but that other feeling is so strong in me. I care for my art; it seems to be grand, magnificent—but I think I care still more for making people feel it. A good woman can do, for holding my own in it, and asserting myself against the people who behave as if all actresses had done the things that Mine Desforets has done. Don't think me narrow and jealous. I should hate you and the Stuarts to think of me. You have all been so kind to me—such good, real friends! I shall never forget this day. Oh! look, there is the carriage standing up there. I wish it was the morning and not the evening, and that it might all come again! I hate the thought of London and that the theatre to-morrow night. Oh, my promises! What a wretch I am! I've lost them nearly all. Look, just that bunch over there. And Kendal, before we leave the common!"

"I sprang to get them for her, and brought back a quantity. She took them in her hand—how unlike other women she is, after all, in spite of her hatred of Bohemia!—and, raising them to her lips, she waved a farewell through them to the great company lying behind us in the evening sun. 'How beautiful! This English country is so kind, so friendly! It has gone to my heart. Good night, you wonderful place!'

"She had conquered me altogether. It was done so warmly, with such a winning, spontaneous charm. I cannot say what pleasure I got out of those primroses lying in her soft, ungloved hand all the way home. Henceforward, I feel she may make what judgments and draw what lines she pleases, she won't change me, and I have some hopes of modifying her, but I am not very likely to feel annoyance towards her again. She is like some frank, beautiful, high spirited child playing a game she only half understands. I wish she understood it better. I should like to help her to understand it, but I won't quarrel with her, even in my thoughts, any more.

"On looking over this letter it seems to me that if you were not you, and I were not I, you might with some plausibility accuse me of being—well—in love with Miss Bretherton! But you know me too well. You know I am one of the old fashioned people who believe in community of interests—in belonging to the same world. When I come coolly to think about it, I can hardly imagine two worlds, whether outwardly or inwardly, more wide apart than mine and Miss Bretherton's."

CHAPTER V.

During the three weeks which elapsed between the two expeditions of the "Sunday League" Kendal saw Miss Bretherton two or three times under varying circumstances.

One night he took it into his head to go to the pit of the Collopy, and came away more persuaded than before that as an actress there was small prospect for her. Had she been an ordinary mortal, he thought, the original stuff in her might have been disciplined into something really valuable by the common give and take, the normal rubs and difficulties of her profession. But as it was she had been lifted at once by the force of one natural endowment into a position which, from the artistic point of view, seemed to him hopeless. Her instantaneous success—dependent as it was on considerations wholly outside those of dramatic art—had denied her all the advantages which are to be won from struggle and from laborious and gradual conquest. And more than this, it had deprived her of an ideal; it had tended to make her take her own performance as the measure of the good and possible. For, naturally, it was too much to expect that she should herself analyze truly the sources and reasons of her popularity. She must inevitably believe that some, at least, of it was due to her dramatic talent in itself. "It is very possible that I am not quite fair to her. She has all the faults which repel me most. I could get over anything but this impression of bare blank ignorance which she makes upon me. And as things are at present, it is impossible that she should learn. It might be interesting to have the teaching of her! But it could only be done by some one with whom she came naturally into frequent contact. Nobody could thrust himself upon her. And she seems to know very few people who could be of any use to her."

On another occasion he came across her in the afternoon at Mrs. Stuart's. The conversation turned upon his sister, Mme. de Chateaubriant, for whom Mrs. Stuart had a warm but very respectful admiration. They had met two or three times in London, and Mme. de Chateaubriant's personal distinction, her refinement, her information, her sweet urbanity of manner, had made a great impression upon the lively little woman, who, from the lower level of her own more commonplace and conventional success in society, felt an awe-struck sympathy for anything so rare, so unlike the ordinary type. Her intimacy with Miss Bretherton had not gone far before the subject of "Mr. Kendal's interesting sister" had been introduced, and on this particular afternoon, as Kendal entered her drawing room, his ear was caught at once by the sound of Marie's name. Miss Bretherton drew him impulsively into the conversation, and he found himself describing his sister's mode of life, her interests, her world, her belongings, with a readiness such as he was not very apt to show in the public discussion of any subject connected with himself. But Isabel Bretherton's frank curiosity, her kindly eyes and sweet parted lips, and that strain of romance in her which made her so quickly responsive to anything which touched her imagination, were not easy to resist. She was delightful to his eye and sense, and he was as conscious as he had ever been of her delicate personal charm. Besides, it was pleasant to him to talk of that Parisian world, in which he was himself vitally interested, to any one so naive and fresh. Her ignorance, which on the stage had annoyed him, in private life had its particular attractiveness. And, with regard to this special subject, he was conscious of breaking down a prejudice; he felt the pleasure of conquering a great reluctance in her. Evidently on starting in London she had set herself against everything that she identified with the great French actress who had absorbed the theatre going public during the previous season; not from personal jealousy, as Kendal became ultimately convinced, but from a sense of keen moral revolt against Mine Desforets' notorious position and the stories of her private life which were current in all circles. She had decided in her own mind that French art meant a tainted art, and she had shown herself very restive—Kendal had seen something of it on their Surrey expedition—under any attempts to make her share the interest which certain sections of the English cultivated public feel in foreign theatre. Kendal took particular pains, when they glided off from the topic of his sister to more general matters, to make her realize some of the finer aspects of the French world, of which she knew so little, and which she judged so harshly; the laborious technical training to which the dwellers on the other side of the channel submit themselves so much more readily than the English in any matter of art; the intellectual consciousness and refinement due to the pressure of an organized and continuous tradition, and so on. He realized that a good deal of what he said or suggested must naturally be lost upon her. But it was delightful to feel her mind yielding to him, while it stimulated her sympathy and perhaps roused her surprise to find in him, every now and then, a grave and unpretending response to those moral enthusiasms in herself which were too real and deep for much direct expression.

"Whenever I am next in Paris," she said to him, when she performed rose to go with that pretty hesitation of manner which was so attractive in her, "would you mind meeting Mme. de Chateaubriant—if I asked you to introduce me to your sister? It would be a great pleasure to me."

"You had thought," said Kendal, "I remember, of Mrs. Pearson for the heroine."

"Yes; I should have tried her. She is not first rate, but at least she is intelligent; she understands something of what you want in a part like that. But for poor Isabel Bretherton, and those about her, the great points in the play will be that she will have long speeches and be able to wear 'medieval' dresses! I don't suppose she ever heard of Aragon in her life. Just imagine her playing a high born Spanish woman of the Fifteenth century! Can't you see her?"

"You had thought," said Kendal, "I remember, of Mrs. Pearson for the heroine."

"Yes; I should have tried her. She is not first rate, but at least she is intelligent; she understands something of what you want in a part like that. But for poor Isabel Bretherton, and those about her, the great points in the play will be that she will have long speeches and be able to wear 'medieval' dresses! I don't suppose she ever heard of Aragon in her life. Just imagine her playing a high born Spanish woman of the Fifteenth century! Can't you see her?"

"Well, you know, how could she help ruining it? She couldn't play the part of Elvira—you remember the plot—even decently. It's an extremely difficult part. It would be superb—I think so, at least—in the hands of an actress who really understood her business; but Miss Bretherton will make it one long stage scream, without any modulation, any shades, any delicacy. It drives one wild to think of it. And yet how, in the name of fortune, am I to get out of it?"

"You had thought," said Kendal, "I remember, of Mrs. Pearson for the heroine."

"Yes; I should have tried her. She is not first rate, but at least she is intelligent; she understands something of what you want in a part like that. But for poor Isabel Bretherton, and those about her, the great points in the play will be that she will have long speeches and be able to wear 'medieval' dresses! I don't suppose she ever heard of Aragon in her life. Just imagine her playing a high born Spanish woman of the Fifteenth century! Can't you see her?"

"Well, after all," said Kendal, with a little laugh, "I should see what the public goes for mostly—that is to say, Isabel Bretherton in effective costume. No, it would be a great failure—not a failure, of course, in the ordinary sense. Her beauty, in the medieval get up, and the romantic plot of the piece would carry it through, and, as you say, you would probably make a great deal by it. But, artistically, it would be a gaudy failure. And Hawes! Hawes, I suppose, would play Macias! Good heavens!"

"Well," said Wallace, leaning his head on his hands and looking gloomily out of the window at the spire of St. Bride's church. "Pleasant, isn't it? But what on earth am I to do? I never was in a greater hole. I'm not the least in love with that girl, Kendal, but there isn't anything she'd ask me to do for her that I wouldn't do if I could. She's the warmest hearted creature—one of the kindest, frankest, sincerest women that ever stepped. I feel at times that I'd rather cut my hand off than hurt her feelings by throwing her off in her face, and yet that play has been the apple of my eye to me for months; the thought of it spoils by clumsy handling is intolerable to me."

"I suppose it would hurt her feelings," said Kendal, meditatively, "if you refused."

"Yes," said Wallace, emphatically, "I believe it would wound her extremely. You see, in spite of all her success, she is beginning to be conscious that there are two publics in London. There is the small, fastidious public of people who take the theatre seriously, and there is the large, easy going public who get the only sensation they want out of her beauty and her personal prestige. The enthusiasts have no difficulty, as yet, in holding their own against the scoffers, and for a long time Miss Bretherton knew and cared nothing for what the critical people said, but of late I have noticed at times that she knows more and cares more than she did. It seems to me that there is a little growing soreness in her mind, and just now if I refuse to let her have that play it will destroy her confidence in her friends, as it were. She won't reproach me, she won't quarrel with me, but it will go to her heart. Do, for heaven's sake, Kendal, help me to some plausible fiction or other!"

"I wish I could," said Kendal, pacing up and down, his gray hair falling forward over his brow. There was a pause, and then Kendal walked energetically up to his friend and laid his hand on his shoulder.

"You oughtn't to let her have that play, Wallace; I'm quite clear on that. You know how much I like her. She's all you say, and more; but art is art, and acting is acting. I, at any rate, take these things seriously, and you do, too. We rejoice in it for her sake; but, after all, when one comes to think of it, this popularity of hers is enough to make one despair. Sometimes I think it will throw back the popular dramatic taste for years. At any rate, I am clear that if a man has got hold of a fine work of art, as you have in that play, he has a duty to it and to the public. You are bound to see it brought out under the best possible conditions, and we all know that Miss Bretherton's acting, capped with Hawes', would kill it from the artistic point of view."

"Perfectly true, perfectly true," said Wallace. "Well, would you have me tell her so?"

"You must get out of it somehow. Tell her that the part is one you feel won't suit her—don't let her justice."

"Much good that would do! She thinks the part just made for her, costumes and all."

"Well, then, say you haven't finished your revision, and you must have time for more work at it; that will postpone the thing, and she will hear of something else which will put it out of her head."

"There are all sorts of reasons against that," said Wallace; "it's hardly worth while going through them. In the first place, she wouldn't forget it, whatever happens, and it would only put the difficulty off a few weeks at most. I feel so stupid about the whole thing. I like her too much. I'm so afraid of saying anything to hurt her, that I can't fess up. All my wits desert me. I say, Kendal!"

"Well!"

Wallace hesitated, and glanced up at his friend with his most winning expression.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Kendal took time to think.

"Perfectly. You mean that play by that young Italian fellow which you altered and translated? I remember it quite well. I have meant to ask you about it once or twice lately."

"You thought well of it, I know. Well, my sister has got me into the most uncomfortable hobbles about it. You know I hadn't taken it to any manager. I've been keeping it by me, working it up here and there. I am in no want of money just now, and I had set my heart on the thing's being really good—well written and well acted. Well, Agnes, in a rash moment two or three days ago, and she told me to bring it to you."

"Pedicler—Yah, yer needn't get mad. I pedicler, an' you pedal. Don't that make us brothers in a professional way?"

Yankee Blade.

Both in the same business.

Pedicler (to bicyclist) Hello, brother. Bicyclist—Brother! What do you mean?

Pedicler—Yah, yer needn't get mad. I pedicler, an' you pedal. Don't that make us brothers in a professional way?"

Yankee Blade.

THE REGISTER.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1891.

Everybody should visit the store

of

BACH, ABEL & CO.

THE OLD RELIABLE

DRY Goods

HOUSE

Grand Opening

—OF—

Autumn and Winter Dress
Goods and Cloaks.

We offer the Largest Line of Imported Dress Goods and Suitings, ever brought to this City. The Stock is Complete in all Lines.

HANDSOME AND STYLISH,
Scotch Cheviot Suiting.

ELEGANT PATTERN DRESSES.

The most complete assortment of French Serges and Henriettes, all Shades, Colors and Prices.

BEAUTIFUL LINE OF BEDford Cords (very popular).

COMPLETE LINE OF COLORS
in Twilled, French Broadcloths, 46 inches wide at $1.00 per yd.
Great value. These goods are not to be found anywhere else in the city.

100 PIECES OF BROCADES
Cords (all colors) in 1/2 Dress Goods at the uniform price of 15 cents per yard. The Cheapest lot of goods ever offered to the trade.

60 PIECES OF AMERICAN
Cashmere at 25 cents per yard.
Choice colors and unequalled value
for the money.

AN IMMENSE LAY-OUT OF Dress Flannels and Home Spuns.

CLOAKS

OUR STOCK NEVER WAS SO large and handsome. Reefer Jackets, the correct garment this season. In all qualities from $5.00 to $25.00. Plain and Fur trimmed, a grand collection of serviceable and stylish garments.
An examination will convince you of their merits.

PLUSH CLOAKS ARE STILL
on top, and we offer the celebrated Walker Plushes in all the various grades. The goods are guaranteed for wear and beauty.
The best in the market.

ALL OTHER DEPARTMENTS
crowded with first-class goods,
and all goods at bed-rock prices.

Remember the Place and give us a call.

The Old Reliable Dry Goods House.

Bach, Abel & Co.,

26 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

SCHOOL SHOES

WE HAVE RECEIVED THE BEST GRADE CHILD'S,

MISSES', BOYS' AND YOUTH'S

SCHOOL SHOES MADE.

WE WARRANT EVERY

PAIR TO WEAR SATISFA-

TORY. DON'T FORGET TO

CALL AND GET OUR

PRICES. OUR WOMEN'S

AND MEN'S, $3.00 WILL

SURPRISE YOU.

SAMUEL KRAUSE,

48 S. MAIN STREET.

Ice Cream.

Vanilla, chocolate, coffee, pistachio,
strawberry, macaroon, tutti-frutti, bisque, mango. All Sunday orders should be given the day previous.

E. V. HANGSTERFER,

THE CITY.

Workmen are grading the grounds of Newberry Hall.

Farmers are complaining on account
of the scarcity of help.

Rev. J. T. Sunderland preached in Bloomington, Ill., Sunday.

Ray Gooch, aged six years, died on
Monday morning of diphtheria.

Thad. Thompson has been appointed trustee officer. Bad boys, look out.

The Ann Arbor Guitar and Banjo
club play at the Catholic fair tonight.

The Chequamegons played last night
for the Duff Opera Company in Ypsilanti.

The waterworks improvements this year will amount to between $7,000 and $8,000.

The butter and cheese company is paying eighty-five cents per hundred
for milk.

The second house on Packard-st built by D. F. Schairer this season has been commenced.

The Business Men's Quartette sing
this evening at the Methodist church and
the rink.

Tomorrow evening at the rink, Junius
E. Beal will formally present a flag to St
Thomas' school.

H. D. Doddsley has shipped between 1000 and 1,200 barrels of apples from
Ann Arbor this fall.

A. W. Ames reports that the express business this fall is much larger than
it has ever been before.

Mrs. Daniel Mayer, mother of David
Mayer, formerly of Mayer & Overbeck,
died on Friday last in Ann Arbor.

Rev. John Fulton, D. D., will deliver the Baldwin course of lectures before
the Hobart Guild this year.

Geo. Laubengayer appeared before Justice Pond, Monday, charged with being drunk on the streets. He was fined.

Emil Baur received eight varieties
of strawberries from the Michigan
Agricultural College for the purpose of experimentation.

Work on the superstructure of A. E.
Shaw's new residence on the old fair grounds has commenced. The building will cost $3,500.

Mrs. J. J. West died on Saturday last
at the age of forty-five. Her funeral,
Tuesday, at the Second Baptist church
was attended by many of her friends.

Louis Liesemer has written for the Detroit News a story entitled, "In a
Madhouse; or the Story of an Ivory
Bracelet." A few chapters from the life
of an Ann Arbor student."

John Schmidt on October 11 killed
some chickens belonging to Philip
Blum. Schmidt appeared before Justice
Pond, Monday, and was bound over to the circuit court, $200 in bail being demanded.

During the concert by the Gesang
Verein Lyra at the rink, Monday evening,
the platform on the west side gave
way, creating a good deal of laughter
and consternation, without injuring any one.

Geo. Haas, a farmer living in Ann Arbor town, died Sunday evening of inflammation of the bowels. He leaves a wife and eight children. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday by Rev. Max Hein.

Mrs. Thos. C. Trueblood will read
George Eliot's masterpiece, "Silas
Marner," at the high school hall, on Friday evening of this week. Miss Cole and Mrs. Edwards will give several musical numbers.

The opening lecture on the wit and humor of the Bible by Rev. Camden M.
Coburn attended a large audience at the Methodist church Sunday evening. Oriental and modern wit were very aptly compared.

Henrietta M. Coolidge, wife of J. T.
Coolidge, died on Thursday last at Waterloo, Iowa. Her remains were brought to this city Sunday and interred
in Forest Hill cemetery. She was sixty-six years of age.

During the temporary absence of the family, Sunday evening, some practical
joker went into the residence of D. C.
Fall and piled the furniture of three rooms in one large heap. The perpetrator must have been a student at some time.

The contract for building the new
Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan
bridge over the Huron in this city has been let to the Smith Bridge Company,
of Toledo. The bridge will consist of five steel spans and the foundations as far as the water's edge will be made of cement. The under truss will be used.
Work on the structure will commence
within a few days.

The monthly meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held in the court house, on Saturday, November 7,
at two o'clock in the afternoon. The following topics will be discussed:
"Which is our best fruit market?" and,
"Is the growing of vegetables and fruits overdone in Washtenaw county?" The committee on vegetables, fruit and flower exhibits will report.

THE CITY.

Farmers are complaining on account
of the scarcity of help.

Rev. J. T. Sunderland preached in Bloomington, Ill., Sunday.

Ray Gooch, aged six years, died on
Monday morning of diphtheria.

Thad. Thompson has been appointed trustee officer. Bad boys, look out.

The Ann Arbor Guitar and Banjo
club play at the Catholic fair tonight.

The Chequamegons played last night
for the Duff Opera Company in Ypsilanti.

The waterworks improvements this year will amount to between $7,000 and $8,000.

The butter and cheese company is paying eighty-five cents per hundred
for milk.

The second house on Packard-st built by D. F. Schairer this season has been commenced.

The Business Men's Quartette sing
this evening at the Methodist church and
the rink.

Tomorrow evening at the rink, Junius
E. Beal will formally present a flag to St
Thomas' school.

H. D. Doddsley has shipped between
1000 and 1,200 barrels of apples from
Ann Arbor this fall.

A. W. Ames reports that the express
business this fall is much larger than
it has ever been before.

Mrs. Daniel Mayer, mother of David
Mayer, formerly of Mayer & Overbeck,
died on Friday last in Ann Arbor.

Rev. John Fulton, D. D., will deliver
the Baldwin course of lectures before
the Hobart Guild this year.

Geo. Laubengayer appeared before
Justice Pond, Monday, charged with being drunk on the streets. He was fined.

Emil Baur received eight varieties
of strawberries from the Michigan
Agricultural College for the purpose of experimentation.

Work on the superstructure of A. E.
Shaw's new residence on the old fair grounds has commenced. The building will cost $3,500.

Mrs. J. J. West died on Saturday last
at the age of forty-five. Her funeral,
Tuesday, at the Second Baptist church
was attended by many of her friends.

Louis Liesemer has written for the
Detroit News a story entitled, "In a
Madhouse; or the Story of an Ivory
Bracelet." A few chapters from the life
of an Ann Arbor student."

John Schmidt on October 11 killed
some chickens belonging to Philip
Blum. Schmidt appeared before Justice
Pond, Monday, and was bound over to the circuit court, $200 in bail being
demanded.

During the concert by the Gesang
Verein Lyra at the rink, Monday evening,
the platform on the west side gave
way, creating a good deal of laughter
and consternation, without injuring any one.

Geo. Haas, a farmer living in Ann Arbor
town, died Sunday evening of inflammation of the bowels. He leaves a wife and eight children. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday by Rev. Max Hein.

Mrs. Thos. C. Trueblood will read
George Eliot's masterpiece, "Silas
Marner," at the high school hall, on Friday evening of this week. Miss Cole
and Mrs. Edwards will give several musical numbers.

The opening lecture on the wit and
humor of the Bible by Rev. Camden M.
Coburn attended a large audience at the Methodist church Sunday evening. Oriental
and modern wit were very aptly compared.

Henrietta M. Coolidge, wife of J. T.
Coolidge, died on Thursday last at Waterloo, Iowa. Her remains were brought to this city Sunday and interred
in Forest Hill cemetery. She was
sixty-six years of age.

During the temporary absence of the family, Sunday evening, some practical
joker went into the residence of D. C.
Fall and piled the furniture of three
rooms in one large heap. The perpetrator must have been a student at some time.

The contract for building the new
Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan
bridge over the Huron in this city has
been let to the Smith Bridge Company,
of Toledo. The bridge will consist of five steel spans and the foundations as
far as the water's edge will be made of cement. The under truss will be used.
Work on the structure will commence
within a few days.

The monthly meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held in the court house, on Saturday, November 7,
at two o'clock in the afternoon. The
following topics will be discussed:
"Which is our best fruit market?" and,
"Is the growing of vegetables and fruits
overdone in Washtenaw county?" The
committee on vegetables, fruit and
flower exhibits will report.

The contract for building the new
Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan
bridge over the Huron in this city has
been let to the Smith Bridge Company,
of Toledo. The bridge will consist of five steel spans and the foundations as
far as the water's edge will be made of cement. The under truss will be used.
Work on the structure will commence
within a few days.

The monthly meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held in the court house, on Saturday, November 7,
at two o'clock in the afternoon. The
following topics will be discussed:
"Which is our best fruit market?" and,
"Is the growing of vegetables and fruits
overdone in Washtenaw county?" The
committee on vegetables, fruit and
flower exhibits will report.

ROYAL Baking Powder

is the only one made free from lime, alum, and all extraneous substances, and ABSOLUTELY PURE. It is in every way superior to every similar preparation. WITNESS:

I find the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others. It is pure, contains none but wholesome ingredients, is of 23 per cent greater strength.

F. X. VALADE, M. D.,
Public Analyst, Dominion of Canada.

The Royal Baking Powder is perfectly healthful, and free from every deleterious substance; purest in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge.

W. M. MCMURTRIE, E. M., Ph. D.,
Late Chief Chemist Agricultural Department.

The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure. It is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

HENRY A. MOTT, Ph. D.,
Late Chemist for U. S. Government.

BY THE WAY

HAVE

YOU

SEEN

The Melkin

PIANO.

We Sell It!

And Others!

NOTICE!

DANCING!

Mrs. Annie Ward Foster will open a class in Dancing; also in Delaars in November. Also will have evening assemblies after class.

PROF. I. HUBERT'S MALVINA CREAM

For Beautifying the Complexion.
Removes all Freckles, Tan, Blemishes, Pimples, Liver Spots, and other imperfections. Not covering, but restoring the skin to its original freshness. For sale at your Drugstore, or send postpaid on receipt of price—50c.

PROF. I. HUBERT, TOLEDO, OHIO.

Inspect the ornamental and beautiful articles for sale or raffle at the Catholic Fair, in Palace Rink. Open every evening during the remainder of October. Refreshments every evening.

See the great pyramid of flowers at St. Thomas Fair.

10