It was a week's work for several men to get the models of the great bronze doors of the Capitol at Washington, a part of the Rogers collection, from their packing cases to their final position in the Art gallery. On Wednesday all was in place but the panels, and the doors of the gallery were first thrown open for their inspection. Some damage need yet be repaired, but the exquisite design is perfectly appreciable.
Dr. Brown, a graduate of the University, who went to Corea as a missionary, recently sent word to his friends of the Presbyterian church of this city that he had found a city of 100,000 inhabitants who had never heard the name of Christ. He said that a free dispensary would be a most useful aid to his work, and would cost about $600. A missionary collection was taken up for this purpose, Mrs. Mary C. Whiting volunteering to give $400 if $200 more could be raised. Her offer was readily met, her check was drawn, and the whole $600 will be sent at once to Dr. Brown.
The New Y. M. C. A.
The two committees appointed at the preliminary meeting of December 2, 1892, for the purpose of promoting the organization of the Y. M. C. A., announced themselves ready for a report of progress, and called those who were interested together last Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at Wagner's store.
It was originally intended that when the membership committee should obtain 100 names that the finance committee should go to work. One hundred and forty names were reported.
The finance committee were to see whether it were better to lease or to build. They reported in favor of building. The expense would be $16,000, and this committee have set out to raise that amount.
The committees are constituted as follows: Finance, G. F. Allmendinger, chairman, H. S. Dean, A. L. Noble, H. N. Chute and F. G. Schleicher; Membership, C. W. Wagner, chairman, N. Stanger, E. V. Seyler, S. A. Moran, E. E. Calkins, M. W. Blake, Ed. Storms and Paul Snauble.
The latter committee expect to obtain 200 names easily. They solicit signatures to the following:
"We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to join the Young Men's Christian Association, in Ann Arbor, when formed, and to pay the regular annual membership fee of Five Dollars per year when the rooms are open for use; provided, that the said association shall furnish reading room, gymnasium, baths, and such other rooms and privileges as the means at their disposal will allow."

Ypsilanti Rambler.
We have been with you in spirit even if we have not written lately. It has taken all our time to write and thank our kind friends for Xmas gifts. All of our family make it a point to exchange presents. This year my wife gave me a cute little spindle legged chair. She said it would be so pretty in our parlor, so I gave her a good box of cigars, and explained they would look well in the handsome smoking set I own. One of our family remarked that at Xmas people gave away things they liked and got things they did not like.—There are a great many young people here to spend their vacation, and it has given our usually quiet city a waking up socially.—Miss Cora Cornwell, who is attending school in the east, is at home and has a friend with her. Mrs. Cornwell gave a dinner party for them one day this week.—Miss Caddy Saunders is home from school in the east.—Miss Lydia Spencer's heart has been made happy by the presence of her two nieces, Miss Millie and Miss Jessie Camp. They are just here for their rest from teaching.—Mr. and Mrs. Gus Van Cleave and two little daughters return from New York this week and will make their home here, and on the 15th of this month Mr. J. W. Van Cleave will go on to New York to take the place that his brother has just given up in their bible business.—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Foster Key and little son Foster have been visiting Mrs. Key's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hawkins. They return to their home in Ann Arbor this week.—Mrs. Hartwell, of Chicago, is visiting Mrs. Denike, of Congress-st. Mrs. Hartwell will be better known by her maiden name of Myrtha Ely. She was here at school two years.—Miss Zayde Spencer, of Lansing, is visiting her many friends here.—Miss Josie Hemphill gave a charming lunch party to a number of her young friends this week, and on Friday last Miss Caddie Saunders was at home from 3 to 5 to about fifty of her friends.—Thursday night, the ladies of the Episcopal church gave a Xmas tree for the little ones of their Sunday school. Every one had a good time. Friday evening the Presbyterian church gave a grand good supper to their Sunday school. One hundred and fifty-five little ones enjoyed it, and then those who waited on the youngsters had their turn.—The many friends of Miss Alice Morey will be pleased to learn that her health is much improved.—Mr. John Taylor is confined to the house from the severe strain he received four weeks ago.—Miss Lou Armsden, of Bay City, who has been at home for a few days, the guest of her parents, has returned.—Mrs. Clay Green has been called to Cleveland by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Chester Alexander.—Wishing you one and all a Happy New Year, we are as ever,

Extinct Mammalia of Michigan.
THE ELK.
The American elk or wapiti, before the entrance of Europeans and the introduction of fire-arms among the Indians, had a range of distribution covering the whole of the United States; along the northern line of which it overlapped upon the territory occupied by the moose.
There is abundant proof of the former existence of the elk in the lower peninsula of Michigan. Their horns and bones are frequently found in swampy places, where they have been protected from forest fires and have been rapidly covered by decaying vegetation.
Such remains are abundant near Ann Arbor in Washtenaw county. They have also been found in Montcalm county. The Industrial News of Jackson of December, 1892, states that by the burning of a marsh in the township of Waterloo that county, large number of horns of elk were exposed. Prof. Wheeler, of the Agricultural college states that he found large number of bones of elk with two skulls in a springy place cut through by the railroad between Muir and North Plains in Ionia county.
No doubt these instances can be multiplied so as to include every county in the lower peninsula. These remains are not fossils and in many cases, are not yet entirely covered by decaying vegetation.
On the settlement of Michigan by the whites the elk would seem to have already become limited to the northern and northeastern parts of the state; no authentic accounts having yet been found of its occurring in the southern counties. The reason for its early extermination from the open glades and prairies and marshes of the southern counties, where they had once been so abundant, will probably be found as above stated, in the early introduction of fire-arms among the Indians. JANUARY
MARK DOWN SALE!

Commences Tuesday Morning, January 3d, and continues the entire month.
All cash buyers who desire to save money will find abundant opportunities during this sale.
CLOAKS!
Our success in this new department has been very gratifying. We have less than 200 garments on hand. Every one must be sold! How? In away that will crowd our cloak room with buyers.
Tuesday Morning we shall place on sale 100 CLOAKS at
ONE-HALF OFF
And shall offer the balance of the stock at a reduction that will surprise and please every buyer.
We guarantee our customers, and we think our word will be sufficient for this that not a Cloak will be marked up, but that half off will be just half the regular price, which as we sell Cloaks at "One Price" means much more than "half off" would from others "come down" prices.
