U. OF M. RAH-RAH! RAH-RAH!

HOW ANN ARBOR WELCOMED THOSE "KIND LEGISLATORS."

Inspection by Gas Light—Flowers Music and Feminine Eloquence—That Vat—Pouring into University Hall—Some Noise—Points Forcefully Driven in by the President—Wit, Wisdom and Enthusiasm.

They arrived on time and in special coaches at 6 p. m. Thursday and were taken to the Cook House for supper. The trip down had been a very pleasant one. The Schubert Club of Grand Rapids sang for them. The reception committee from Ann Arbor managed everything to their comfort and nothing jarred.

At the Cook House an elegant supper had been prepared which put the guests in fine humor for the evening performances.

At 8:30 the party assembled in the chapel of the University. Here a most elegant basket of flowers which had been brought from Lansing for the purpose was presented to President Angell. The Glee Club sang several college songs, one of which to the tune of the "Old Oaken Bucket" being new and noticeable.

And long we'll remember the wise legislators Who visit Ann Arbor to hear the boys cheer. Be they doctors or lawyers or raisers of taxes, They'll find a warm welcome awaiting them here.

Those kind legislators, those wise legislators, They'll find a warm welcome awaiting them here.

From the chapel the party proceeded to inspect the Museum and Library buildings. At the one the collection of Michigan animals for the World's Fair, the tamaroo group brought by Prof. Steere from the Philippines and the ever interesting gift of the Chinese Government were especial objects of attention. At the other the fire proof book-stack and the Rogers art collection were lingered over, certain old books and the models of the Columbus doors of the capitol were examined with keen appreciation. During this tour of inspection a committee of lady students found opportunity to urge the claims of the ladies' gymnasium, and the abominable lighting of the buildings argued forcibly for an electric light plant. In the library reading room there was more singing and then the guests were taken possession of by their numerous hosts and carried off for the night.

Friday morning, inspection was resumed, and the dental college, the nucleus of a gymnasium, Nagley's vat, the dissecting rooms and the various laboratories were visited. By 11 o'clock everyone was ready for the most imposing and impressive part of the exercises which were to take place in University Hall. President Angell at that hour escorted Governor Rich to the platform in the hall and the remainder of the visitors followed filling the platform completely. Nearly 300 people, members of the faculties and their families, gathered in the front seats at the right center of the hall. Then the march of students began. The doors were opened and they came pouring in through every aperture like bees from so many hives. But rapidly as they came it was thirty minutes before the last man reached his place. As soon as a class was fairly in its place the yelling began. Class cries, department calls and the old University yell resounded on every side. There were new and original yells, many of them witty and appropriate.

Medics: We diagnose, we prognose, We cure you every man Not homeop but orthodox Are the docs of Michigan. Homeop, Homeop, Quack, Quack, Quack, Going to Detroit, Never get back.

Lit. 96: Boula Boula, Agora Dix, Viva la, Viva la '96. Of course the tax should be one-sixth Michigan, Michigan, '96.

Here we are up to our tricks Down with the Sophomore, '96.

Lit. 93 (sung): Roo-rah, Roo-rah, Roo-rah ree, Michigan, Michigan, '93.

The Dents had a Zulu yell: U. of M. Dent. Aye! I ope! Ma-zen-do-da! Pa-no-ne-con! Maroo! Maroo!

With the advent of the laws who were first in the gallery came the tin horn, and several strong lunged fellows blew all the witty and pleasing elements of these preliminaries out of hearing; all after this was just noise until the speaking began. The din at the Pan-American reception was a mere whisper compared with that of this occasion. At times the horns would stop long enough for the junior laws to yelp out their sharp, penetrating, Ki-yi! Ki-yi!

Ki-yi! Ki-yi! Ki-yi! Michigan, Michigan, '94 Law. or the senior laws to shout Boom-a-lacker! Boom-a-lacker! Boom, Boom, Baw! Michigan, Michigan, '93 Law. (Continued on Fifth Page.)

The Strike.

The T. A. A. & N. M. Ry. has been having an aggregation of difficulties this past week, with two large washouts, a deep sink hole and a big strike on its hands all at once. The strike centers at Owosso, and the Times of that city makes the following statement concerning the situation.

"Briefly stated the case is as follows: The engineers and firemen have been required to work 14 hours before being entitled to receive extra compensation; this they claim is in excess of the rules of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The men, however did not complain of this. They asked for an increase of wages amounting to about 15 per cent. which was denied. The company also issued an order, requiring the men to work 12 hours before any allowance would be made for extra time and required engineers to coal up their own engines. The real cause of the strike is the question whether 14 or 22 hours shall be considered as a day's work. The engineers sent a committee of men to Toledo to consult with the railroad management, and if possible to arrange for a settlement of the difficulties without a strike. The company said the earnings of the road would not warrant any increase in wages, and that their orders in other ways must be acceded to. This the engineers refused to do, hence the strike. Charges and counter-charges enough to fill up several columns, have been made by both sides, which we do not deem of importance to our readers, hence this brief statement.

"The places vacated by the strikers have been partly filled by men from Detroit, Chicago and other places, and passenger trains are running about as usual. Yesterday freight trains were also run over the road both ways. The real fight will come when the employees on the connecting roads refuse to receive freight from the T. A. & N. M. Ry. when the Brotherhood will show its strength and may make it possible for the engineers to win their fight."

Chief Arthur says that the Toledo road engineers are the poorest paid in Michigan. Engineers have regular runs usually and are paid by the mile, it being customary to give extra pay if they are kept out more than a certain number of hours, say fourteen, in a day. Strong efforts are being made to effect a compromise but the end is not yet.

A Horrible Crime.

A horrible murder occurred at Ypsilanti last Saturday night at the Hay and Tod mill. Jay Pulver, the night watchman was the victim. The man who was to relieve him in the morning found him lying in a pool of blood with his head crushed in, the instrument of assassination, a pair of pipe tongs, sticking in the wound. There were no signs of a struggle. The deed must have been committed between 10 and 11 Saturday evening as he had finished sweeping below, a portion of his work which usually occupied him until 10 o'clock, and he had not begun upon his up stairs labors.

Clifford Hand has been arrested on suspicion and lodged in the county jail in this city. Hand was discharged sometime ago from the Hay & Tod mill for abusive language and disorderly behavior about the works. He had been employed there as a mechanic for a long period, and since his discharge he has made many threats against prominent men in the company, and also it is said against Pulver. His keys were found in the room with the dead man and blood was found on the boots and trousers worn by him that evening. He was found in a saloon by the officers.

Hand is about 34 years of age, addicted to drink and when under its influence is quarrelsome. His parents live in Ypsilanti, and he himself is married.

Pulver was about 45 years of age, a temperate man and generally respected. He was a member of the Baptist church. He leaves a wife and four children two girls and two boys, the youngest one Albert being fifteen and attending school. He has educated his other children well, the two girls having graduated at the normal and are teaching, one at Rawsonville and the other in the northern part of the state. The eldest boy is in the employ of F. Davis the druggist.

How conclusive the evidence is against Hand cannot be stated here; it is sufficient to cause his detention for trial. Public sentiment seems against him, many people believing in his guilt.

S. C. A. Membership.

For some time a feeling has been growing in the Student's Christian Association that the existing basis of membership was not the best one for this particular association owing to the conditions peculiar to a University city.

A slight effort at modification was made last year but it was not until this year, last November, that the question came up in a way to show how vitally important it was.

In December it was voted to go from the Y. M. C. A. basis, which requires a person to be a member of some evangelical church before becoming an active member of the S. C. A., to a personal basis which requires each student to subscribe to the following pledge:

"So far accepting the aim of this Association that I can work in harmony with its members I agree to abide by its laws and seek its prosperity; I desire that my life be guided by the spirit of faith, prayer and love which animated the life of Jesus Christ; I will cultivate a Christian friendship and sympathy with my associates, and will ever strive to help them to a knowledge of God and a realization of the spiritual possibilities of the Christian life.

The aim of the Association is declared in its constitution, to be as follows:

"The purpose of this Association is to lead men to an earnest study of the Scriptures; to a renunciation of sin; to a knowledge of Jesus Christ as their Divine Lord and Savior; to the acceptance of His words and the Holy Spirit as the guide of life; and to the cultivation of Christian fellowship.—Art. II, Constitution.

Immediately after Christmas the work of adopting the articles of incorporation was taken up and those who had held so strongly to the Y. M. C. A. basis of membership urged a special qualification for the officers. This caused many discussions and a compromise was at last effected which requires the trustees to subscribe specially to the "purpose," and four of the trustees are the four principal officers of the Association. The other eight trustees are members of the faculty of the University. Harmony has at last been fully restored.

The Ypsilanti Rambler.

The man who awoke one morning and found himself famous wasn't any more surprised to have greatness thrust upon him so early in the day than Ypsi was to have such a load of wickedness heaped upon her last Sunday morning. That such a brutal murderer could be roaming around our city and at last kick as quiet and inoffensive a man as Mr. Jay Pulver, was a sudden and not pleasant revelation. If Mr. Clifford Hand is found to be the guilty party it will not greatly surprise many people, for his sullen ugly disposition has long been a subject of comment and since his discharge from the employ of The Hay and Tod Mill, where the murder was committed, he has been a heavy drinker. Mrs. Pulver and family have the sympathy of the entire community. It has been said, and not without cause, that criminal offenders in this county invariably get free by some means or other but we trust that in this case the murderer, whoever he may be, will certainly and surely be brought to justice.—We hope that learned body, the State Legislature, were duly impressed by their visit to the twin cities and were able to recognize a good thing or two when they ran across 'em.—We hear that the "Varsity yell of 'Gym, Gym. Give us a Gym" just shocked some of the good old fellows most in pieces, so the Normals "caught on" and raised their voices in dulcet harmony and plead in an A minor key, double soft, for "A Physical Culture Plant," and would you believe it, those wise and most learned State Paters were almost melted to tears and 'lowed they'd tend to the Normal or—dynamite themselves!—The Episcopalians have caught the fever of the times and are busily engaged in tearing down the old rectory simply to rebuild it in a little more modern fashion and give their new pastor, Rev. Mr. Goodwin, a bang up nice house to live in.—Our sportsmen are determined to have some quail to hunt next fall and so have chipped in and purchased pretty nearly $300 worth of Missouri quail to be distributed around where they'll grow up with the country and prepare to get in shootable condition. RAMBLER.

Prof. Lucy M. Salmon.

The college alumnae resident in Ann Arbor have arranged to have Prof. Lucy M. Salmon of Vassar give her course of five lectures on "Domestic Economy" for the benefit of the Woman's Gymnasium fund. The first lecture will be given March 18th and the others during the following week at times announced elsewhere in our columns. Miss Salmon is one of the few experts in this new department of science which is arousing interest in other colleges. She is a graduate of the U. of M. and should find many hearers among students while her subject is of importance to all housekeepers. The course tickets are now on sale at the usual places for the low price of 75 cents; single tickets 25 cents.

The Municipal Club.

EDITOR REGISTER:

We often hear the question asked—'Is there substantial reason for the existence of a Municipal Club?' Let us look at it. Our several official city boards, and numerous city officers are elected to care for the material interests of the city and the well being of its citizens. To these boards and officers we must look for good schools, lighted streets, comfortable walks, water supply, sewerage, freedom from immoral houses, gambling dens, offensive slaughter houses, lawless saloons, etc.

Now these are important trusts, grave responsibilities, whose proper conduct requires native competency, personal honor, and a good degree of special fitness. And when we need men to execute these duties, and to take in their hands some of the dearest interests of our lives, it would seem to be but the most common place wisdom to select for these official positions men who have the mental and moral fitness for such service as these particular duties demand. But such is not the case. It is the unexpected that happens. Men are selected for these duties first because they hold this or that opinion about the tariff, silver coinage, land grants to rail roads, Indian policy, annexation, or what is worse because they have been active partisans and perhaps have made stump speeches on these state questions.

Can political folly appear in more glaring colors? Nay, isn't there something in such political action worse than folly? When local interests are set aside or subordinated to the demands of national parties whose aims are wholly foreign to the needs of our city, what can we name such action but disloyalty to our city's highest interests? It is often times better not to vote at all than to permit one's ballot to be so diverted from its proper end.

It is hardly too much to say that the greatest obstacle to good city government is met in the national party organizations. They thrust themselves forward, and practically seize the reins of city government, if they are strong enough, as though the city's local interests were proper prey for their partisan ambitions.

No man or set of men have moral right to attempt to put the common good of a local community to such an unhalloved use. The highest patriotism says, "In all concerns purely municipal, drop your national party spirit and action, and cast your influence and your vote with reference solely to the welfare of the city."

If history teaches anything regarding the matter, it is that the township government of early New England was the type and seed-bed of the purest government the world has ever seen; and it is pretty certain that we shall best hold to this type when we cast national parties and everything alien out of our city politics.

We think we have local interests that have justified our state legislature in conferring upon us by charter certain powers of self-government. We have accepted the responsibility and now no duty ought to appeal to us with more force than that which commands the good citizens of this highly privileged town to drop all political differences when the concerns of the city are at stake, and work as one man for the common good.

Let us have home interests managed on home principles. To divide on bonding the city for sewers is eminently appropriate, but to elect men to office in this city because of their opinions on the tariff, or their fidelity to their party is the height of absurdity, tinged with an appearance of disregard for the city's welfare. Can any body tell why demagogues and republicans, as such, should cut a figure in the common council any more than the city school board? W. S. PERRY.

The Sunday Schools.

Next week Tuesday evening and Wednesday there will be held in the first Congregational church the sixth annual convention of the Washtenaw County Sunday School Association. The Tuesday evening exercises will consist of a devotional service at 7:30 and a lecture at 8:00 on "The Land and the Book" by the Rev. E. W. Ryan, D. D., of Ypsilanti. Wednesday forenoon after a short praise service there will be papers read by S. R. Crittenden of Saline, W. H. Reynolds of Hillsdale and Mrs. A. M. Witte of Dexter on important topics connected with Sunday school work. In the afternoon Rev. H. M. Morey will give a blackboard sermon, E. A. Hough of Jackson will speak on "State and County Work," Rev. C. M. Coburn will give some "Hints as to the Best Way to study the Bible," Prof. B. A. Hinsdale will make "Some Pedagogical Suggestions to Sunday School Teachers" and Mrs. E. H. Cornhill of Jackson will discuss "Infant Class Work."

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

The M. C. R. R. has been laying new steel rails on its main line through Dexter.

Over $250 has been raised for stocking Washtenaw county farms with quail.

Thos. Bogg of Dexter came within two of winning the recent Detroit News guessing contest.

A Dexter hen in a spasm of virtuous and timely activity recently laid an egg six inches. That is a tremendous waste of energy when eggs are sold by the dozen.

Speaking of minstrel "gags" here's one: In what does Ann Arbor differ from a basted turkey? Ans.—The turkey is not stuffed with chestnuts till after death.—Adrian Press.

Fourteen divorces were granted at the last term of the Monroe court. Cold feet in the small of the back, caused most of them it is said. Been a mighty tough winter and don't you forget it.

A cold unromantic Britton school teacher objects to one of the big boys squeezing one of the big girls at intermissions. And thus is the course of true love made rougher than a corduroy road.

The broken-armed beggar recently worked the city of Dundee. He needed half a dozen carloads, all of one kind, till somebody breaks the other arm and breaks it sure enough.—Adrian Press.

The plaining mill and store room owned by Samuel Ellsworth at Stockbridge, was entirely consumed by fire one day last week. The loss is estimated at $4,000 with $500 insurance. Cause of fire unknown.

Deerfield is to have a new Catholic church, which will be built this summer. It will be 70x100 and is to cost $11,000. The new will not be upholstered nor the floor carpeted but the church will be a model in its appointments.

It cost Oakland county $1,500, to try officer Eaton for shooting Griffin, the colored rapist. That sum would once have bought a brand new "nigger"—a much more loveable one than Griffin. The officer was acquitted, hence the money was squandered.—Adrian Press.

It would be common sense for all the potato growers within reach of the same shipping station to plant some one approved variety. A carload of half a dozen carloads, all of one kind, can be sold a half a dozen times over before a "mixed lot" will be even looked at.—Farm Journal.

An exchange tells of an economical farmer who had no money to waste on "them d— agricultural papers" and who "knew how to farm without reading about it," who had a load of pork to sell during the recent boom. He brought it in and was offered $6 per hundred for it and promptly accepted. After he had unloaded and got his check he learned he might just as well have had $8.25 as $6, if he had been posted. The difference on the load amounted to exactly $12, lost because he couldn't afford to take a paper.

The women of Branch county are to exhibit a banner in the Michigan building during the exposition in Chicago. The material is satin, of a light color, 63x42 inches in size, upon which is painted in oils a female figure thirty inches in height, standing upon a pedestal of three steps. In the right hand she holds a shield with the State coat of arms; from the left hand depends a bunch of streamers, upon each of which is written the name of a town in Branch county. The whole is the work of Mrs. Dr. Voorhes of this city, and is a beautiful work of art.—Coldwater Weekly Courier.

Monday afternoon Charles Comstock, laborer, was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. The particulars of the case are as follows: Saturday evening, Hiram Cook, a well known character in this city, was invited to Comstock's home over M. Brady's harness shop. While there Comstock made an insulting remark to a young woman, who boards with his father and mother, which Cook resented. Comstock in a fit of anger procured a shot-gun from an adjoining room and commenced firing at Cook, who stood only ten feet away. As Cook ran into the street, Comstock fired again, but with no success, except to graze Cook's fingers. Comstock, in default of $500 bail, was taken to the county jail to wait examination, which is on call Friday after.—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Veterans of the Blue. At the annual encampment of the Michigan G. A. R. in Benton Harbor the reports show the department to have 20,469 members and not a delinquent post in the state. The annual election of officers resulted as follows: Department commander, Col. J. H. Kidd, of Ionia; senior vice commander, Col. L. M. Ward, of Benton Harbor; junior vice commander, E. C. Anthony, of Nagaunee. The Woman's Relief Corps elected Mrs. A. Bliss, of Saginaw, department president. The corps has gained 500 members during the last year and has expended $5,000 for relief of needy veterans.

Serving Her Hundredth Sentence. Della Miner is now serving out her one hundredth sentence at the Detroit house of correction for drunkenness. During the last twenty years she has spent sixteen of them behind the bars and the periods between arrests have averaged but sixteen days. During eighteen months she spent in Toronto she was out of jail but sixty days. She is but 52 years of age and sprang from an old French family whose representatives still hold positions of responsibility in Detroit.

Another Landmark Gone. The celebrated old Pontiac tree in Detroit, a famous landmark in local history, the witness of the great battle between Pontiac and the British troops under Dalmell in 1763 and other stirring scenes in the great Indian chief's life, has been removed to make way for business. The tree for thirty years had been decorated with a statue of Pontiac. The remains of the tree were distributed among relic hunters and some of them will be sent to the world's fair.

Health in Michigan. During the week ended March 4 the reports sent by seventy-eight observers in various portions of the state to the state board of health indicated that cholera morbus increased, and inflammation of the kidneys and intermittent fever decreased in area of prevalence. Typhoid fever was reported at thirteen places, diphtheria at thirty-four, measles at thirty-five and scarlet fever at forty-three places.

Gov. Rich's Appointments. Gov. Rich has announced his appointments as follows: State librarian in place of Mrs. Margaret Custer Calhoun, who declines a reappointment; Mrs. Mary E. Spencer, of Lansing, members of the soldiers' home board; Louis K. Bishop, of Grand Rapids, and James A. Crozier, of Menominee; trustees of the Michigan asylum, Alfred J. Mills, of Kalamazoo, and William M. Robinson, of Grand Rapids.

Michigan Railroad Earnings. The official report issued by the railroad commissioner gives the earnings of Michigan railroad companies for November last as $10,014,316, as against $8,406,188 in November, 1891. From January 1 to December 31, 1892, the aggregate earnings were $109,812,393, or $8,148,667 greater than for the like period of the previous year. The per cent. of increase was 14.99.

Reducing Their Force. The Norrie iron mine at Ironwood, the largest in the world, employing 1,800 men last season, has discharged 400 men. The reduction is caused by the bad outlook of the ore market. No sales have been made for 93 delivery, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The Norrie mined and shipped $97,000 tons of ore last year.

Short But Newsworthy. Samuel Robbe died at Belleville, aged 86. He came to Wayne county in 1831. Mrs. Mary J. Gould committed suicide at Traverse City. She was thought to be insane.

The gang of toughs at White Rock entered the church there recently and carried off the organ. C. W. Ashford, editor of the Honolulu Leader, one of Hawaii's leading journals, is a Lansing man.

The Michigan board of prison inspectors has appointed ex-State Senator William Chamberlain warden of the state penitentiary at Jackson.

Silas Hubbard has given $30,000 to build a new church for the Unitarian society in Kalamazoo if a suitable site is provided. It is to be open every day in the year.

Ottawa county has 107 maple sugar makers who will apply for the government bounty.

Thomas J. DeLanty, of Muskegon, has been ordained priest at the American college, Louvain, Belgium.

Enoch W. Scribner has been appointed first assistant keeper of the light station at Detroit river, Bar point.

Charles Swanson, a miner, aged 37, was instantly killed by a falling rock at the Buffalo mine in Negaunee.

The schooner Winder has been sold to Holland to J. Woolman, of Chicago. It will be run in the grain trade between Chicago and Muskegon.

A. H. Boies, Hudson's meteorological observer, has kept his weather eye out for many years. Twenty years ago he made garden March 1.

The water in the big heating boilers at the Traverser City insane asylum was allowed to run low and they were nearly ruined.

Construction work has begun on the first of the two new sawmills to be located at L'Anse. Three hundred men will be employed.

John Bolden, of Kalamazoo, who has served three prison sentences for indecent exposure, was arrested again on the same charge. He is thought to be insane.

J. B. Chandler, traveling agent for the International and Wells Packing company of Chicago, disappeared from Menominee, leaving a shortage in his accounts with the company of over $8,000.

The Manufacturers' Trap Shooting association of America will hold a tournament in Lansing May 16 and 17, and the annual shoot of the Michigan State Trap Shooters' league will take place at the same days.

ALL ARE NAMED.

List of Chairmen of the Several Senate Committees. WASHINGTON, March 14.—The senatorial steering committee has practically completed its labors. The positions of democratic senators will occupy on the various committees during the democratic ascendancy in the senate have been decided upon. Senator Voorhes (Ind.) will be chairman of the committee on finance. Senator Cockrell (Mo.) is made chairman of the committee on appropriations. Senator Gorman (Md.) is chairman of the committee on printing. Senator Hill (N. Y.) has been given the chairmanship of the committee on immigration. Senator Murphy (N. Y.) has been made chairman of the committee on elections.

All the populist senators have been given chairmanships of lesser importance. The democratic senatorial steering committee has not disturbed the republican assignments on committees. It is assumed that the republican senators will keep the places they now have on committees, and by the addition of a democrat or the removal of a republican place the democratic members of each committee in the majority.

Senator Brice (O.) has been added to the appropriations committee. A new committee has been formed out of the old committee on the president's message transmitting the report of the Pacific railway commission. This committee is now officially known as the committee on Pacific railways, and Senator Brice is named as its chairman.

KANSAS PRAIRIES ABLAZE. Many Houses and Barns Destroyed and Several Persons Seriously Burned.

GARDEN CITY, Kan., March 14.—Extensive prairie fires have been causing much damage in this vicinity and many houses and settlers have lost all or a large part of their buildings, household goods, hay, grain and farming implements. So far nine cases are reported of families having lost everything but the clothing on their bodies, and S. F. Anderson and wife, an elderly couple being 3 miles from town, were so badly burned that both will probably die. Several schoolhouses were also burned. The total losses will be large.

PLAINVILLE, Kan., March 14.—A prairie fire started Sunday in western Rooks county and was driven by a furious gale southeast across Rooks into Ellis county. Nearly everything was swept away in the path of the fire, which was several miles wide. The town of Palco was burned except three buildings. The total loss is about $8,000. Sylvester Scannell and Oscar Lilly, farmers near Ambury, were caught in the fire. The former's clothing was burned entirely off and he will die. The latter will recover. The buildings of Sam Wise, a farmer, were burned, with contents. The loss is heavy. The Bopra schoolhouse, southwest of Plainville, was also burned. The fire ran southeast across Saline river.

To Keep Out Cholera. CINCINNATI, March 13.—Officers of the National Board of Health association met here Saturday and expressed the opinion that cholera will be prevalent abroad all summer, and that only the most careful and strenuous efforts will keep it out of America. A call was issued for a convention in New York city April 5. Representatives of state boards of health of the United States, Canada and Mexico, port quarantine officers, and the supervising general of the marine hospital will be present.

No Extra Session of Congress. WASHINGTON, March 13.—President Cleveland, in conversation Saturday, is reported to have said that he would not call an extra session of Congress, as the only object—the repeal of the silver purchase act—could not be effected this year. Close times in money matters might make congressmen more reasonable by December, and local theories and sentiments be lost sight of.

Hanged. CENTER, Ala., March 11.—Sherman Arrp, a negro, was hanged here on Friday. Arrp killed an old white farmer named Hoque several months ago. The murder was committed for the purpose of securing a sum of money which Hoque had in the house. On Wednesday Arrp sold his body to a medical student for $12.50, and spent the money for choice viands and whisky.

Death of Dr. Peabody. BOSTON, March 11.—Rev. Dr. Andrew P. Peabody, for fifty years associated with the faculty of Harvard college, died on Friday aged 76 years. He was long known as the "Grand Old Man of Harvard." He was at one time editor of the North American Review and published several religious works.

Drowned in Panama. PANAMA, March 11.—Mrs. Wilson, daughter of Henry Schubert, the oldest American resident in Panama, was out boating with Capt. Shackford and Miss Wilson. The boat swamped and the three were thrown into the water. Mrs. Wilson was drowned.

Senator Allen His Own Successor. OLYMPIA, Wash., March 11.—The governor has appointed John H. Allen United States senator to succeed himself, the legislature having adjourned without choosing a senator.

SPRING FRESHETS.

They Cause Heavy Losses in the West and East.

Property Destroyed in Michigan and Illinois and Lives Lost.—The Edison Works at Schenectady, N. Y., Partially Ruined.

IN MICHIGAN.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March 14.—A report has just been received that the dams at Howlandville, south of here, and at Plainwell and Otego to the north, have gone. Thousands of acres of land are inundated and many lives and much property are no doubt lost. The Kalamazoo river was never before known to be so high.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 14.—The river is the highest seen here in thirty years. The water now stands 14 feet 9 inches above the low-water mark. Many big factories have been obliged to shut down. The city and railway bridges stand the pressure well. Reports are coming in of enormous damage to the agricultural districts above and below here. Many township bridges are gone, log booms broken, etc. The sewers in this city are badly clogged, but no great destruction to property has yet been reported.

IN ILLINOIS.

HAVANA, Ill., March 14.—For a week past the Illinois river has been rising, until it is now nearly as high as it was during the big floods of last season. The damage done by the flood is far greater than that of last year. The heavy ice in the river went out with a rush, carrying with it everything in its pathway. The river had overflowed vast regions of lowlands over in Fulton county and the huge blocks of ice drifted across farms and lowlands, carrying with them many houses and small buildings, fences, trees and other improvements.

IN NEW YORK. SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 14.—All railroad traffic on the main line of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad between this city and Albany has been stopped by the overflow from the Mohawk river. Water held in check by the ice gorge against the Fitchburg bridge overflowed the river banks, flooding Edison park and that part of the city occupied by the Westinghouse Agricultural Implement company and the Edison General Electric company. The first floors of the Edison General Electric company, which covers sixteen acres, are covered with water 3 feet deep, and both plants have been closed. More than 4,000 persons were thrown out of employment. All the exhibits which the Edison company was preparing for the world's fair are practically destroyed by the water, as is almost all of the machinery and stock on the first floor. The loss is estimated at over $500,000.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 14.—The freshet in the Hudson is the highest since 1883. The lower part of the city is under water, and railroad trains and electric cars are prevented from running.

IN PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—The floods in the eastern section of Pennsylvania are abating and no further damage of a serious nature is anticipated. In the mining regions a number of mines have been flooded, throwing probably 4,000 men and boys out of work. It is expected that mining will be resumed in a few days.

IN MARYLAND. PORT DEPOSIT, Md., March 14.—The breaking of the immense ice gorge at McColl's Ferry, 20 miles above here, Sunday night was followed Monday morning by the giving way of the frozen mass at the railroad bridges near Havre de Grace, and now the Susquehanna is running at the rate of 20 miles an hour. The worst of the flood is now over. The damage here will reach $60,000.

Frozen to Death. PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—A terrific blizzard has been raging over all northern Wisconsin. It was much fiercer than the one of two weeks ago, and that it will result in fatalities is certain. From Bayfield comes report of one death. George Coleman was found 40 rods from shore on the ice of Chequamegon bay, frozen. He was caught in the storm, which came up in an instant, and wandered about until exhausted. At no time could he have been over 40 rods from shelter.

Reading Nearly $5,000,000 Short. PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—The statement of the receivers of the Philadelphia & Reading railway company and the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron company of the current liabilities and assets of both companies on February 20, 1893, is given to the press for publication. It shows total liabilities of $18,472,828; assets, $15,779,784.

Luke Schoolcraft Dead. CINCINNATI, March 13.—At 11 o'clock Sunday night at the Hotel Stratford in Cincinnati Luke Schoolcraft, the famous comedian, died. He was a member of the Russell Comedy company and played at the Walnut Street theater last night. The cause of his death was gastritis complicated with heart disease.

Eight of the Crew Drowned. BUENOS AYRES, March 11.—The British bark Alice M. Craig has been wrecked at Rosario on the west bank of the Parana, about 230 miles by water from Buenos Ayres. Capt. Ross, master of the vessel, his wife and eight of the crew were drowned.

Given in Charity. CHICAGO, March 14.—The will of the late Mrs. Julia M. Tompkins, widow of William F. Tompkins, has been probated. She bequeaths nearly $100,000 to various charitable institutions in Chicago. This is almost the entire estate.

TRADE REVIEW.

Business Feels the Effect of the Monetary Stringency and the Weather.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The weekly review of trade says: "Business during the week has been affected by the severe weather, but even more by stringency and uncertainty in the money markets. The quantity of wheat coming into sight continues at the rate of half a million bushels per day, which is extremely large for the season when crops are supposed to be short and prices are low. The exports are quite small and the price declined a cent for the week. Corn was firmly held and advanced over a cent, and oats nearly as much, while pork was raised 25 cents, though lard and hogs were lower.

"At Boston extremely high rates for money have held throughout the week, but business is favorable. Money is tight in Philadelphia because recent failures induced large withdrawals from banks. Increasing demand is seen for iron. Trade is good at Baltimore and iron is fairly strong at Pittsburgh, with glass in good condition. Cleveland notes good trade in hardware. The cigar trade is good at Cincinnati and cloak manufacture is becoming a leading industry, exceeding last year's. The car movement at Indianapolis is heavier than last year and manufacturers are busy and Detroit shops are running full time, but collections are slow on account of the weather. At Chicago money is in strong demand, banks discriminating closely. Sales of building material here are large and general business good, but railroad blockades and the strike of switchmen threaten to interrupt business. At Milwaukee storms retard trade. A fair increase is seen in wholesale trade at St. Louis with bright promise for the spring. The jobbing trade is quiet at St. Paul and heavy snow retards business and collections there in Minnesota, but prices of lumber advance with good trade. The jobbing trade is good at Kansas City and fair at Omaha, generally good at St. Joseph, improving at Denver and quiet at Salt Lake. Trade is satisfactory at Little Rock, improving at Memphis, and quiet at other points in Tennessee, shrinking with tight money at Columbus, but fairly good at Atlanta; better, with increased shipments of lumber, at New Orleans and fair at New Orleans, with sugar firm, but rice lower.

"The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 225, as compared with totals of 251 last week."

PAYING HIS DEBTS. Gov. McKinley's Outstanding Notes Are Nearly All Taken Up.

CHICAGO, March 13.—In less than three weeks every dollar of the obligations which fell upon Gov. McKinley through the failure of Mr. Walker will have been paid, for Trustee Kohlsaat has received nearly $95,000 by popular contributions ranging from $1 to $5,000. Ever since the trouble occurred the generous public has been individually trying to help McKinley out by sending in small amounts. The governor's pride caused him to return the money. But those who were of like political faith with the governor, and even those who disagreed with him, were anxious to pay tribute to his sterling worth. When it was found that Mr. Kohlsaat was receiving donations to help Ohio's governor out of financial straits the contributions came in a deluge. To prevent a second refusal the trustee has gone quietly to work and has taken up the Walker paper as it has matured and by the first of April will have all of the indebtedness incurred by McKinley's indorsements paid up, which will save both the governor's and his wife's property intact, and there will be no necessity for McKinley's withdrawal from politics. Many touching tributes were contained in some of the letters.

Vandalism in the White House. WASHINGTON, March 14.—An act of vandalism was perpetrated Monday in the green parlor at the white house which may result in closing all the parlors of the executive mansion against the public. Some one smashed the magnificently upholstered Nile-green sofa and curtains so that repairs are out of the question, and a new suit of furniture will be made necessary.

Deadly Explosion. CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 14.—An explosion occurred Monday morning in the Whitsett mine of the Rainbow Coal & Coke company near Perryopolis. Ten men were injured, five of them fatally. They were badly burned about the face and body. The explosion was caused by a party of miners who were inspecting the mines in some way firing a pocket of gas.

Wholesale Resignations. WASHINGTON, March 11.—All the prominent officials in the treasury department, including the two assistant secretaries, the commissioner of internal revenue, the three comptrollers and all the auditors, except Messrs. Patterson and Fisher, have verbally tendered to Secretary Carlisle their resignations.

FIRE'S FIERCE FURY.

A Large Business Block in Boston Swept Away.

The Property Loss Estimated at $4,500,000—Two Persons Known to Have Been Killed—A Large Number of Others Were Injured.

A FEARFUL BLAZE. BOSTON, March 11.—One of the most destructive fires in the history of Boston, next in magnitude to the famous one of Thanksgiving day, 1888, and in the same district, broke out shortly after 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

At 4:25 o'clock the alarm was rung in from box 52. It was soon followed by a second and then a general alarm.

The flames spread with incredible rapidity, and in a very few moments the entire interior of the building was burning.

The usual avenues of escape were at once cut off and then began a scramble for life which sickened beholders.

The panic-stricken inmates fled to windows and roof. Some escaped by sliding down telegraph poles, others by leaping into blankets.

Several jumped to the pavement, six or eight stories, and were terribly mangled, and others—how many cannot now be told—fell back into the cauldron of flames or were overcome by the dense black smoke, which suffocated all who did not speedily escape.

The fire spread rapidly from building to building, and despite the heroic efforts of the entire fire systems of Suffolk county it was not controlled until the whole square bounded by Essex street on the north, Lincoln on the east and Kingston on the west had been leveled; also one building north of Essex street extending along Columbia street, three more on the east side of Lincoln street and one corner of the United States hotel, south of Tufts street, which corner contained the emergency hospital.

Among the losers are the following firms: Woonsocket Rubber company, Barbour Bros. thread, Amazeuse Machine company, Consolidated Last company, Merrick Thread company, A. Packard & Co., R. M. Appleton, Hanover Shoe company, W. G. Rogers, Lariat Manufacturing company, Claffin, Larobe & Co., United States Rubber company, Redpath Bros., S. B. Thing & Co., J. A. Jaguth, Rubber company, Tapley Machine company, Horace Partridge & Co., Hathaway, South & Harrison, J. S. Forz, M. A. Packard, Ewing Bros., Sanford Bros., J. F. Ryan, C. W. Spurr, Cape Cod Glass company, Smeets Bros. American Pie company, Otto Kreisman, D. W. Howland, Singer Manufacturing company, Walter S. Barnes.

Following is the list of dead so far as known: Leonidas H. Redpath, senior partner in the firm of Redpath Bros. Manufacturing company, died from multiple injuries at the city hospital.

Fred Meadowcroft, 33 years old, jumped from the third story and fell on his head, died on the way to the hospital; unknown man, cremated.

The injured so far as known number about thirty. Hoseman O'Connor of engine 7 stated to a reporter that his engine was the first at the scene of the conflagration, and he was sent to the second story of the Ames building to help save the employes of the Horace Partridge concern. Said he:

"I have been in many a tight place, but what I have been through to-night I shall remember as long as I live. When I reached the second story and entered the room on the Lincoln street side the sight was most pitiful. Men, women and girls, frozen with fear, were struggling to reach the windows to throw themselves into the street. Taking one at a time, I lowered them by the hands as far as I could, and then dropped them into the nets spread for them below, at the same time fighting the mad crowd back from the windows. The cries of the frightened creatures were heartrending, while the men seemed to lose all presence of mind and fought like demons. I think I succeeded in lowering some twenty-five or thirty. I should say that there must have been at least thirty who never came out of the burning building alive."

Killed by an Exploding Engine. HARTFORD, Conn., March 14.—Locomotive No. 33 of the Philadelphia, Reading & New England railway exploded at St. Elmo, N. Y., Monday morning. George A. Shuffeld, fireman, of this city, and Horace Lambert, brakeman, of Bangor, N. Y., were instantly killed, and the engineer, James A. Lannigan, of this city, was fatally injured.

Death of Aaron F. Perry. CINCINNATI, March 13.—Aaron F. Perry, a prominent lawyer of this city, died of paralysis at his home in Mount Auburn Saturday morning, aged 78 years. In 1870 Mr. Perry was elected to represent the republicans of the First district of Ohio in congress.

Wheat on Hand. WASHINGTON, March 11.—The estimated proportion of wheat on hand in the United States is 26.3 per cent. on the last crop, the smallest percentage in ten years. The quantity on hand aggregates 135,000,000 bushels, 58,000,000 bushels less than last March.

Under Falling Walls. CHICAGO, March 11.—Four men at work on a tower on a three-story stone building at Sixty-fifth and State streets were badly injured on Friday by being buried beneath the ruins of the collapsed turret. One of the unfortunates will probably die.

ANOTHER CRISIS.

France in a Tremendous Uproar Over Late Panama Disclosures.

The Minister of Justice Resigns Because of Charges Implicating His Department—Paris in a Ferment of Excitement.

RESIGNED HIS OFFICE. PARIS, March 13.—M. Bourgeois, minister of justice of the French republic, has resigned his office. As a consequence, partly of that action and partly because of the sensational development of the Panama trial during the day, a grave crisis has again arisen.

During the day Mme. Cottu had testified practically that a representative of the government had come to her with the proposal that she give up certain papers that were damaging to officials as the price of her husband's freedom. M. Soinoury attempted to contradict this testimony, but did so in a weak way.

M. Bourgeois, in his letter to M. Ribot announcing his resignation, said that he resigned because M. Soinoury's evidence had failed to establish the fact that he had never authorized any one to approach Mme. Cottu in connection with the Panama case, and he felt that there was no alternative but to resign in order to free himself from all suspicion.

The cabinet crisis inaugurated by the resignation of M. Bourgeois has been shown to be beyond hope of repair by patchwork. At a cabinet meeting Sunday morning the ministers agreed that every effort should be made to induce M. Bourgeois to reconsider his resignation, and in the hope that the efforts would be successful, it was decided that no new minister should be appointed until M. Bourgeois should have given evidence in the assize court and should have explained to the deputies his position.

In the afternoon several ministers called upon M. Bourgeois, but when the cabinet reassembled Sunday evening M. Ribot announced that M. Bourgeois had been deaf to all argument and had insisted that he would not return to office. Subsequently, at Mr. Ribot's request, President Carnot signed a decree giving to M. Develle temporarily M. Bourgeois' portfolio.

M. Soinoury, the police official who tried to get from Mme. Cottu documents compromising royalist deputies, has resigned from the directorship of the penitentiary department. Police Commissioner Nicolet, who arranged the interview between him and Mme. Cottu, will be dismissed. The excitement has been exceeded since the beginning of the Panama disclosures. It is thought that only good luck can save the Ribot ministry.

As a result of the developments Paris is in a ferment of excitement. Everybody seems to distrust everybody else and there is a special lack of confidence in anything that is official. The crisis is as great as, if not greater, than that which followed the Panama disclosures of several weeks ago. The evidence given in the case has destroyed almost the last bit of confidence in the present government. The general public knows not what to believe nor whom to trust. The government that was so vigorous a short time ago in prosecuting Panama swindlers is now busy defending itself against charges as serious as any it formulated. The pressure brought to bear on the Panama crowd was stronger than the government wished. When the swindlers began to confess they confessed too much, and the stories told have involved the prosecutors.

TREASON OR SURRENDER. Chief Arthur Must Stop a Strike or Come in Conflict with a Court.

TOLEDO, O., March 14.—A new complication is given the Ann Arbor strike by the order issued by Judge Ricks of the United States district court at Cleveland to the Pennsylvania, the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central, the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, the Wheeling & Lake Erie, the Hocking Valley and the Ohio Central roads, enjoining "their officers, agents, servants and employes" from refusing to interchange traffic with the Ann Arbor. Chief Arthur hurried over from Cleveland on the early morning train to look over the situation. On his face it is a very awkward one for him. If he orders a general refusal by brotherhood men on connecting roads to haul Ann Arbor freight, he must do so in the face of the law. Hence he called the heads of a local committee on adjustment and after a long secret session in the forenoon overtures were opened with the Ann Arbor management looking to a settlement of the dispute.

Harry Kernell, the Comedian, Dead. ASBURY PARK, N. J., March 14.—Harry Kernell, the famous Irish comedian, died in Bloomingdale insane asylum at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon of paresis. Mr. Kernell was in his 45th year and leaves a widow and two sons. His wife is better known in theatrical circles as "Queenie Vassar."

The Week's Clearings. NEW YORK, March 11.—The exchanges at the leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ended yesterday aggregated $1,301,850,710, against $1,870,596,008 the previous week. The increase as compared with the corresponding week of 1892 was 2.9.

The Grains Supply. NEW YORK, March 14.—The visible supply of grain in the United States yesterday was: Wheat, 70,104,000 bushels; corn, 15,098,000 bushels; oats, 4,933,000 bushels; rye, 914,000 bushels; barley, 1,520,000 bushels.

Forteen Killed by a Falling Building. CARLEISAD, March 14.—A building in the Sprudell Strasse collapsed Monday while twenty men were repairing it. Fourteen were killed. Seven of the bodies have been taken from the ruins.

A Trust Company Falls. ARCHIBOX, Kan., March 14.—The Kansas Trust & Banking company here closed its doors yesterday with liabilities of $800,000; assets, $700,000.

AN ATTRACTIVE RESIDENCE.

A Well Arranged House in the Style of Modern American Architecture.

The style of architecture should be adapted to an American landscape, and secondarily attractive composites scattered here and there through our states are preferable for this purpose to any feudal importations. The style should also depend much on the location. There are two methods of making a building beautiful—by the fullest and most subtle development of constructive requirements, and by the application of forms which accentuate the organic qualities of the work.

The first necessity is stability, which means that all lines should be horizontal or perpendicular, and that the bottom must not be incapable of supporting the top. Home means rest, quiet and simplicity. Not that a house must be bare and simple in every part, but simplicity must be the keynote. Certain parts, both inside and out, can of course be elaborately treated, but it must seem natural, and not an isolated piece of work, and the reason for the elaboration must be apparent. It must, too, be borne in mind that elaboration to be effectual must be simple, at any rate in its main lines.

I am not saying anything about the convenient arrangement of the house. It goes without saying that a house must be convenient, but mere convenience is not alone sufficient. The arrangement of the kitchen is the point of most importance to every housewife. There is no denying the fact that a majority of the home owners are, to put it in a mild term, negligent and careless as to the convenient arrangement of the kitchen and other much used parts of the house. The obtaining of water for domestic purposes is a source of great trouble and labor to many housewives. The well pump is located out of doors and often some distance from the house, but the water must be had regardless of the inclemency of the weather, and when the pump is out of order and the well deep it entails considerable labor to obtain the required daily supply, and when tubs, pails and old barrels are depended upon to catch a supply of soft water from dripping eaves the climax is reached.

Painting the kitchen walls will be found more economical than papering; use some warm tint—do not use white or blue—and if varnished every four or five months you can wash and clean them quite as safely and readily as you do the woodwork.

A door should open from the kitchen into the cellarway and the stairs should be lighted by a convenient window. You should not be obliged to leave the door ajar at each trip to and from the cellar, as too many are obliged to do or grope their way in the dark.

The plan here offered is that of a well arranged and neatly designed frame house in the attractive style of modern American architecture.

It has four principal rooms on each floor, besides halls, bathroom, pantry and numerous closets.

The convenience of the interior is apparent on examination of the floor plans. Entering from the front through a stair hall of good size, connected with the parlor, 12x15-3, the dining room, 12x17, and a bedroom, 11x15. The hall, parlor and dining room are connected by wide sliding doors.

The kitchen and dining room are connected by an entry, 5x5, and by a slide panel in wall of china closet. The kitchen might be considerably enlarged by increasing the porch and removing the interior wall. Then an entrance could be furnished from a porch placed in the angle of present dining room and entry. The bathroom is well fitted with tub, bowl and closet. Back stair to the second floor leads up

FROM THE MUNICIPAL CLUB'S CONSTITUTION.

SEC. 2. The object of the Municipal Club shall be to secure (1) an honest and efficient non-partisan administration of the city government; (2) the enforcement of all laws, particularly those relating to gambling, the keeping of houses of ill fame, and the liquor traffic; and (3) the nomination and election to office of men who are pledged to do all in their power to obtain these results.

LISTEN to the wailing and gnashing of teeth in the editorial sanctum of the county Democratic newspaper all over this broad land, and in Washtenaw County particularly. See the big chunks of Stygian hued gloom that litter up the room and protrude ominously from the transom. That is not a wig that adorns the editorial table; but a stack of raven locks plucked in the first frantic paroxysm of anguish from the editorial head. The cause, what is the cause? The new administration has officially announced that it will not place editors in appointive offices and special application is made of the rule to the case of the editor and the post-office. "Let no editor ask for a post-office" says Bissell with a fat frown "for I'll sit on him." Alas! Alas!

The editor of the Tecumseh Herald is like an amateur comedy company, he is funniest when he is serious. At the recent spring election in that enterprising but peaceful hamlet there was only one ticket in the field, the result being that in one of their two voting districts 19 legal votes were cast, and in the other, 23. "This shows the absurdity of having only one ticket in the field" moralizes the editor. The election "cost the village about one dollar per vote. Rather an expensive election." "Next election should see two tickets in the field." It is obvious that our financier has a great scheme for reducing the cost of election. The Tecumseh people should see to it in the future that enough votes are polled so as to get the cost per vote down to a more reasonable figure.

VOTE FOR SEWERS.

Next Monday the people of Ann Arbor will be asked to declare themselves for or against sewers. Do not fail to go to the polls and vote. The proposition is to bond the city for $30,000 to begin the sewer system with. Many believe that the whole amount of $150,000 should have been raised at once, but do not let that stand in the way of your supporting the present measure. A beginning must be made, and the method adopted is a good one for the laborers if it is not so satisfactory to investors. The time has come when our city must have sewers in order to maintain her standing as a residence city; no investment can be made that will be more immediately valuable in attracting people here to live.

The first question nine out of ten people ask who come here to look at property is, "Do you have sewers?" The city will build her own sewers; and consequently it will be a good thing for our laboring people. They will have a steady paying job for some time to come. In voting for sewers the laborer is voting himself work to do, while the property owners are making a good sound investment.

THOSE BEAN THROWERS.

Some of the law students have felt called upon to defend the actions of certain unlicked cubs amongst them that disgraced their department at the meeting to greet the legislature by throwing beans and small sacks of flour. They even claim to feel aggrieved at the wholesome thrusts given them by the president in his subsequent remarks. The method of defense is this, "the lads threw beans at us on Washington's Birthday, and we were getting even with them."

The facts were these: Some hoodlum unknown to the laws who was in the gallery on Washington's Birthday threw beans and a rubber down at the laws. The laws jumped to the conclusion that said hoodlum must have been a lit—where is the lecturer on evidence—and consequently to get even with him some of their number made greater hoodlums of themselves than their model. In justice to the law department it should be said that the element capable of such atrocities is a small one, and the prevailing sentiment is strongly adverse to such behavior.

The American Library Association which has the co-operation of nearly all the great libraries of the country, will make a notable exhibit at the World's Fair. It will include samples, models and photographs, showing articles and devices in actual use; printed matter, forms, blanks, constitutions, by-laws, rules for subscribers; catalogue, classification and reference departments binding department, with samples of binding, temporary covers and recipes for restoring, mending and cleaning; shelf and building departments; and an architectural exhibit showing plans, elevations, perspectives and models of the best library buildings. There will also be a model library of 5,000 volumes, selected from lists prepared and sent in by the various librarians of the country.

"A Fair Rebel."

The brilliant military comedy drama, "A Fair Rebel," which will be given at the Grand Opera House, Thursday, March 16, is one of the strongest and interesting plays that has been produced of late years. It is based on incidents of the late war. The scenes of the play are laid in the famous Shenandoah Valley, Richmond and Libby Prison, and are full of strong and startling situations and bristling all over with comedy. The revolving scene showing the interior and exterior of the celebrated old Libby Prison, it is said has not been equaled by any thing on our stage. This is the same play that made such a tremendous hit at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, last season, and according to the newspapers of that city is by far the greatest military play that has been produced. The company is said to be first class in every respect, and includes a quartet of trained voices.

COL. SILLWAYE SPEAKS.

What a Colonel of Gen. McClellan's Staff Says.

HE SAVED PRESIDENT LINCOLN FROM CAPTURE.

He Was the Preserver Also of John Jacob Astor.

Col. William A. H. Sillwaye is 60 years old. He resides at Bellows Falls, Vt., and is connected with the Bellows Falls Times. He has something of the most vital interest to say to his fellow soldier of the G. A. R., and to his fellow men the world over.

In "Rifle Shot and Bullet Shells," there can be found a sketch of Col. Sillwaye, wherein it is shown that he indirectly saved the Union, when, in 1863 he prevented the capture of Lincoln by the Confederates. He also saved John Jacob Astor from a similar fate in 1862, in the Peninsular campaign. Col. Sillwaye served four years and eight months in the army and navy during the war, and from April, 1861, to February, 1863, he served his country without pay or reward of any kind.

He knew all the Union generals and Secretary Stanton and Mr. Welles. He was lieutenant-colonel on Gen. McClellan's staff in 1862. Col. Sillwaye is a practical printer, engineer and linguist. He has set up works in Greek, French, Spanish, Latin and Hebrew. He was employed during five years at Oxford, Eng., on Homan's Greek Bible, and there, in 1859, the degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him. His first wife was a daughter of Sir William Blackie and niece of Sir Richard Houghton. His present wife is a relative of Hon. William M. Everts, and a very gifted lady.

Col. Sillwaye is a very modest man, and only consented to talk to the writer after it was shown that it would be criminal for him to keep his knowledge to himself while others suffered. So here is his story as it fell from his lips. He saw it written out and he indorsed every word of it.
"On the 19th of April, 1861, I enlisted in the army of the North. I weighed 162 pounds. After serving four years and eight months in the army and navy, and suffering from wounds and rheumatism I was discharged. I weighed the day I was discharged 109 pounds.

COL. SILLWAYE

Every year I had attacks of nervous prostration; shortness of breath, and loss of appetite were not the least of my misfortunes. I tried numberless things. Nothing did me any good. While employed in Boston, I was compelled to resign my position on account of ill health. I consulted several eminent physicians and took their medicines. No use—I grew worse day after day. They told me I could not live. I could not walk alone in the street without falling or clinging to railings. At times I would shake and twitch. Had spells of falling down in the office and on the street. In the house I had to lie down or drop down. Several times I believe I was at death's door.

I had been commander of three different G. A. R. Posts and my comrades advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I bought a bottle and when I had taken two-thirds of it I began to improve. I kept on taking it, improving all the time. I now weigh 130 pounds and feel like my old self again.

You can put it in your paper that I attribute my good health to nothing but Dr. Greene's nerve remedy. I am perfectly satisfied that it saved my life. I am 60 years of age, but, as you can see for yourself, I am active as a man of 40 and can do a good day's work as people here well know. My friends in Boston, New York and other places are surprised at my recovery. Indeed, I am surprised myself to be so well. I advise everybody afflicted to buy and try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy at once.

At this season of the year when everybody needs and is using a spring medicine we advise the use of this wonderful health restorer. It is by all odds the best spring medicine ever discovered, and immediately invigorates the blood, strengthens the nerves and restores a healthy action of all the organs.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is as harmless as it is good, and it is purely vegetable. It sells at $1 per bottle. Physicians recommend it to their patients as it is not a patent medicine. It is the discovery of that eminent specialist, Dr. Greene, who can be consulted personally or by letter, at 35 W. 14th-st., New York, at all times.

TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

THE O. E. MILLER HERNIA TREATMENT COMPANY respectfully call the attention of the medical profession to the fact that they have succeeded in perfecting a Mechanical and Physiological treatment for hernia, and they will take pleasure in demonstrating the same to any reputable physician who will call at their offices.

TO SUFFERERS FROM RUPTURE.

It is with feelings of gratification, that our efforts to relieve the sufferings peculiar to rupture, have met with such success and encouragement, that we are able now to enlarge our facilities and place our treatment within the reach of those living in the interior of the state.

From Christian Advocate, Detroit, Mar. 5, 1892.
"The O. E. Miller Co., of this city, are rapidly coming to the front as hernia specialists. Their Detroit office was opened Nov. 14, '90, and since that time they have effected some wonderful cures. Dr. H. W. Marsh, the physician in charge, was formerly associated with Prof. O. E. Miller in the Denver office. The doctor is both skillful and conscientious in the practice of his specialty, two important factors commending him to those suffering from rupture."

From Free Press, Detroit, March 4, 1892.

THE GUILD PIANO AGAIN.

"Mr. Geo. M. Guild, Boston, has received a special silver medal from the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics Association for the Guild Piano. This is very strong endorsement of the instrument of Mr. Guild's manufacture. The Association is prominent one and the findings of its judges are highly respected. Mr. Guild's manufactures have won many honors in past years and these distinctions have always been acquired upon the merits of his productions. Inasmuch as there was strong competition in the recent exposition, Mr. Guild must feel elated over walking off with such high honors."

The above is from "The Presto" of Jan. 19, 1893, a leading musical journal published in Chicago.

Reference is made to "strong competition." THE GUILD PIANO won its laurels in competition with Chickering, Miller, Kränich & Bach, Haines, Mehlin & Sp, Blaisius, Sulz & Bauer, and Pease.

THE GUILD PIANO received a silver medal and a Special Award of a Silver Medal Diploma. The improvements in the Guild were heartily endorsed and approved by the judges.

We present a list of purchasers of The Guild Upright Piano in Ann Arbor and vicinity, and could we have obtained all the pianos we wanted, the list could be extended.

We have During the Past Year Been Obligated to Reject Cash Orders for the Guild Piano.

ALL of these pianos were sold by ONE salesman. We are now receiving the piano more freely, as facilities for their manufacture have been greatly increased

GUILD UPRIGHT PIANOS.

We could add many names, and very strong testimonials from many well known people who bought the Guild Square Piano twenty-five years ago. No piano manufacturer in this country, aside from Geo. M. Guild has ever received such recognition abroad as we find in the following:

PARISIAN INVENTORS' ACADEMY.

PARIS, May 12, 1892.

Geo. M. Guild, Esq.
SIR:—We beg to inform you that after examination of your last invention (American Piano Action) the academy has conferred upon you the title of HONORARY MEMBER, (member d' Honneur) WITH AWARD OF THE FIRST CLASS DIPLOMA AND THE GREAT GOLD MEDAL.

We remain, sir, your obedient servants,
E. BOETTCHER, President.

Manufactured in Boston for nearly thirty years. Over 20,000 in use. Taken 80 first premiums. Beautiful in finish. The Best Music Desk ever put on a Piano. The best workmanship. Best material. Everything Best. People like the piano like the price, and buy the Guild.

Send for catalogue. Examine the Guild carefully before you buy any piano. You will find many vital improvements in it that are found in no other.

It is the Most Popular Piano Ever Sold in Ann Arbor by odds.

MY PRINCESS.

We had been friends for years, Dorothy Kent and I. She was the beautiful, motherly daughter of Squire Kent of Kent House and five years my senior, but I was only the daughter of her father's gardener. When I was born, I was christened Dorothy, in honor of the squire's wife; that made me choose Dorothy for my princess. I knew that mother was once a very dear friend of Mrs. Kent's—mother told me that herself—and I was so proud of the fact that once the princess' mother and my own had trudged to school together.

And I remember so well how I loved to follow father on his route of work, if just to play around the home of my princess and dream of her. I was always called an imaginative child, and to me the faraway Dorothy appeared as a beautiful princess, clad all in white and crowned with flowers. And then, too, in the winter evenings it was always my greatest delight to have mother draw her chair up to the cheerful grate fire in our "best" room, let me rest my head on her knee, and then tell me over and over again all she knew about Dorothy Kent.

"She has her mother's blue eyes and yellow curls, my dear, and everybody loved her—just as they did her mother, my poor dead Dora," and then she would hurriedly give me a good night kiss and bid me hurry to bed, as if she did not care to recall the past any longer. And the next morning I was generally sure to scribble on all the available paper stories and imagined descriptions of my princess. And one day she came. I remember how I grumbled that morning in early June when mother said I must dust the great, queer wooden mantel in the inner room, and I remember, too, how a little after I heard mother scream and how I ran to the kitchen just in time to see her drop my pretty little flower vase, her last birthday gift to me, and run excitedly to the doorway. And there, framed in the honey-suckle vines, dressed all in white and carrying a few sprays of pink and white hyacinths, was my beautiful princess. "For Auntie May and the other Dorrice," I heard her say, pointing to the flowers. But mother did not heed her. She was just clinging to her as if she never could leave her, murmuring incoherently all the while something about her "poor Dorrice" over again, her "poor, dear Dorrice."

As to me, I was jealous, and I wondered, too, that mother should be called "Auntie May," and why I couldn't have such beautiful, big blue eyes as she had. But still I think now that that day was the happiest of my childhood. It came about through Dorrice's influence that I was instructed as well as she was, and not a day passed that did not see us together. We loved each other devotedly, and so the years flew until one day Dorothy was 18 and must resume her travels. In a week she was gone. I lost my little princess.

And a year later I lost my dear mother also. Time passed, and I was told that there's eyes were very weak—so weak that unless immediately attended to he would soon be totally blind. "My child," said good old Dr. Caver, "your father's case needs the attention of some one like Dr. Trowe. I would advise you to go to him at once." And so we did. I was 19 now and could earn a nice living by my stories, so father always had the best of care. It was destiny that bade me go—destiny that made my father blind.

Dr. Richard Trowe was not a very young man any more; indeed his last milestone was numbered 82. But that was neither here nor there. He was so noble that every one loved him, so kind that the poor fairly worshipped him, and was no exception. I learned to love the obliging, earnest, sympathetic doctor with all my heart. I would not have let him know it, though, for that made my father blind.

Of course the princess came; of course the doctor was fascinated; of course Dorothy loved in return. Oh, those bitter months that followed! One day, quite by accident, she discovered that I, too, loved the doctor, and instantly she changed; her business affairs called her west; she would write and let me know. The doctor and myself became more familiar. I wrote to Dorothy and begged her to return, telling her how low my father was and how very kind the doctor consented to be. "Still one can tell that he pines for you," I concluded. This was the letter I received in reply:

MY DEAREST DOROTHY—I feel that the time has come for me to tell you my secret. 'Tis nothing awful or of the sensational sort. 'Tis this: Dorrice, did you ever know that your mother and my father were lovers once? Yes, your mother was the prospective Mrs. Kent once, but for some unaccountable reason she broke the engagement. That reason was that she found that her dearly beloved friend, Dorothy Dean—my mother—loved him also. My mother's father was in some great financial trouble at the time, and his cares would be relieved by a rich marriage. Dorothy, your mother knew this and gave her love for her friend's sake. No one guessed it. She never mentioned it to any one, but my mother knew still. Dorrice, you can, you must, guess the rest. I cannot find heart to write more.

My little princess! We are married now, Richard and I have been married for nearly five years. Dorothy was with us until last week; then she went to her mother and mine. Yes, she is in heaven now, my beautiful, sainted princess!—Edna W. Aug.

Cheap Frames For Prints. The many really artistic supplements, with the other excellent pictures supplied now by the several illustrated periodicals, often tempt and deserve framing. A simple frame can be made from ordinary lath, cut to fit the picture and joined even at the corners, or left with crossing ends. A covering of China silk, Japanese crepe, or small figured cretonne is then shirred on. A glazier will supply and cut the glass, if such is wanted, at a trifling additional expense, and with a piece of manilla paper neatly glued at the back for firmness and protection from dust a satisfactory framing is obtained.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Kitty's Scratches. "How did kitty come to scratch you, Georgie?" "I guess he did it with his paws," said Georgie.—Harper's Bazar.

HANDSOME TWO STORY HOUSE.

It Contains Twelve Rooms and Can Be Erected at a Moderate Cost. (Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.)

One architect is greatly disturbed by people who wish a bedroom on the ground floor of a two story house to be used in "case of sickness." For instance, people of moderate means want an eight room house—five rooms on the ground floor and three on the second floor. The architect explains that the house can be built at a less cost by having four rooms on the ground floor and four on the second floor, but the invariable answer is, "We want a bedroom on the ground floor in case of sickness." Of course the idea is that one who is sick requires constant attention, and that such attention can be more readily given to one who occupies a bedroom on the ground floor. On the other hand, there is no more inconvenient place to have a bedroom, so far as the care of the room itself is concerned. On the second floor, where there is a bathroom, one can get rid of the slop water and other refuse from the bedrooms by pouring them into the water closet. With a bedroom on the first floor of the ordinary house, all this has either to be carried up stairs to the bathroom or into the back yard, where there is usually no adequate place to put it.

The plan here given, in deference to the demand for a bedroom on the first floor, has such a room.

In some respects this plan is a very attractive one. There is a vestibule surrounded by spindle work of an attractive design, which forms a little room on one corner of the hall, in which may be placed umbrellas, coats, wraps, etc., and thus keep these things out of the hall proper. Thus the hall forms one of the living rooms. In one end of it is a grate and in another a window. Off from this hall is a parlor, and back of this a dining room, and next to it the room which, for the sake of principle or tenacity, I will now call library. The china room is properly connected with the kitchen by means of a china closet or china passage. In this passage is a china cupboard, which has panel doors below and glazed doors above, in which to display attractive china.

On the second floor there are four bedrooms and an alcove. If desired one could use the front bedroom on the second floor as a sitting room and the alcove for the bedroom. Each room has its closet, and there is an extra closet in the hall for bed linen. Over the side porch is shown a little platform, with a railing around it, which would be a very good place in which to sun bedding. The bathroom is conveniently arranged for economical plumbing, and is readily accessible from all the rooms in the house. The rear stairway, which goes up from the dining room below, lands next to the girl's room and is continuous from the hall to the attic. There is a stairway cutting off this back stairway and the girl's room from the front part of the house if so desired.

The roof in this house is steep, and hence in the attic there is space enough for three or more good bedrooms.

This building was built for $2,700. This does not include walks, furnace, gas fixtures, water-closets or plumbing. These items would add from $650 to $900 to the cost mentioned. LOUIS H. GIBSON.

THE ORDERLY.

The sergeant majors were awaiting the colonel's arrival. Not a word was breathed, for the air seemed charged with electricity. The fact is the great chief's orderly had been imprisoned the evening before (no one knew why), and the commandant himself appeared anxious.

Some alleged that Privante Loumy, the colonel's orderly, full of solicitude for his superior, had thought it a part of his duty to taste the wine before serving it at table. Others, with more elevated ideas, gravely surmised that the orderly had abused his master's confidence and betrayed France by divulging to Germany certain secret plans of attack.

Suddenly each one stood up, examined the position of his feet, curled his mustache and began to assume the most complete immobility; the clock had just struck 9, the exact moment when the colonel usually appeared at the door of the guardhouse.

But on that day he did not arrive until a quarter of an hour after the usual time, and then dictated more calmly than usual this simple line:

"Nothing new today, comma; the band will be dispensed with; full stop. That will do."

The astonishment was such that it degenerated into positive fear. Assuredly the affair must be serious, since the colonel had shown such composure; there could be no doubt that the country was in danger through the faithlessness, nay, the treason, of the colonel's orderly.

Each one withdrew, without daring to look behind him for fear of being accused. The commandant, Toulouret, bravest of the brave, alone remained ready to support the shock. Stirring neither head nor foot, he stood motionless near the colonel, who was signing some papers.

"My orderly has placed me in a most awkward position," suddenly said the great chief.

"Undoubtedly, colonel, it is a very serious matter."

"What, then, you know?"

"Oh, no, colonel, not at all!" quickly replied Toulouret, who feared to be taken for an accomplice.

"Well, just imagine, this booby—by the bye, is he still imprisoned?"

"Oh, yes, colonel, under double lock and key. I placed him in solitary confinement, and, moreover, his papers are ready for the council of war."

"For the council of war? Goodness gracious, commandant! What a pace you are going at?"

"But I thought for so serious a case nothing less than a council of war, colonel!"

"Of what crime do you imagine him guilty?"

"High treason, they say, colonel."

"Treason? What treason?"

"Having disclosed to Germany certain secret plans of attack."

"Secret plans! What secret plans? And disclosed by Loumy?"

The colonel burst into loud laughter.

"Well, then, colonel, I can make nothing of it at all."

"I had this idiot shut up just to put a little sense in him. You may release him to-day. Here, commandant, you shall judge of this case yourself. Yesterday I said to Loumy:

"I don't feel very well today. Go and tell Mrs. Dorville, at whose house I was to dine, that I cannot accept her flattering invitation for this evening. And, Loumy, as it is 6 o'clock bring my dinner when you return."

"On his return I sat down to table. My orderly first served me with excellent soup, then a salmon of prime quality, then pheasants, then a prodigious quantity of delicate viands of various kinds. I could see no end to it."

"There must be a banquet going on at the mess this evening," I said.

"Oh, colonel, that is not all!" he replied; "there's champagne, and the lady says to me, 'Your colonel must drink my health in a glass of this.'"

"I don't feel," where did you get my dinner from?"

"Why, colonel! Didn't you say to me, 'Bring me my dinner when you come back?' So I says to the lady, 'You must put the colonel's dinner in a basket.'"

"Judge of my anger, commandant."

"A happy thought came to me, the only way to make amend for this fellow's stupidity."

"Run quick to a forist," I said to Loumy. 'Buy a nice bouquet and take it, with my compliments, to Mme. Dorville. Hurry!'"

"In half an hour Loumy returned in high spirits."

"Well, you left the bouquet with the lady? I hope you chose one that was nice and fresh."

"Oh, yes, colonel! and the lady—she wanted to give me a franc."

"Which of course you did not accept."

"Oh! never, colonel, and I said to the lady, 'Humbly asking madame's pardon, the bouquet cost me 10 francs.' And then the lady she gave me 10 francs, and here they are!"

"That's my case, commandant!"—Buffalo News.

A Story of a London Tower Clock. "I can remember the old clock in the steeple of the Church of St. Magnus in London just as well as if I only saw it yesterday, although it is 90 years since I left London," said Thomas F. Anderson at the Laclede. "There was an interesting history attached to that old clock. Along about the latter part of the seventeenth century Thomas Duncombe, afterward Sir Thomas Duncombe and lord mayor of London, had to wait for his master on the bridge, and time and time again he was puzzled to know the time. It was while waiting there one bitter cold night that he made a resolution that if he was ever able he would put a clock in that steeple, so that other people would not have to worry as he did. He prospered in life and kept his word, and that old clock has been in that steeple now for nearly 180 years, and it is keeping time yet for the whole neighborhood of Bridge—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Tricks of Language. Cunning in the use of language to give false impressions is a Yankee trick celebrated in song and story. Many instances of its use come to light in the testimony given in courts. An illustration of such dishonest craftiness is related by Maine gentleman. A man came to him wanting him to buy a share in a country lottery in which the principal prize was a horse. "I'll take one," he said, "if you'll warrant me I shall draw the horse." "Oh, yes," said the seller glibly, pocketing the cash. "I'll warrant you to get the horse." The horse went in another direction, and the ticket holder, meeting the seller, said jokingly, "I thought you warranted me to draw that horse." "Oh, no," said the other shrewdly. "I did not say warrant, but want. I said I wanted you to get the horse, and I did."—Bangor Correspondent.

U. OF M. RAH-RAH! RAH-RAH!
when the Lits and others would derisively yell
Chaw-tobacco! Chaw-tobacco!
Chew, Chew, Chaw!
Michigan, Michigan, '93 la.w.
This stage of the proceedings witnessed a disgraceful performance on the part of several law students who hurled handfuls of beans and several small sacks of flour from their station in the gallery upon the lits below.
Several neat devices for identification were displayed. The Dents held up an enormous molar on a stick. One or two banners were waved. The senior laws unfurled their base-ball championship banner and each freshman lit carried a small white flag which he waved vigorously on every provocation and a very pretty effect it produced too.
Every seat was filled and many were left standing about the walls when at last President Angell arose and held up his hand for silence. Far more impressive than the immensity of the throng of students, far more impressive than the wonderful uproar they were making, leaping up and howling strange slogans, was the perfect and respectful silence that fell instantaneously upon that vast assemblage. What a stranger might easily have taken for a howling uncontrollable mob became in the twinkling of an eye a perfectly quiet audience of dignified self-possessed, young ladies and gentlemen.

President Angell's address was simply beyond commendation. He said everything that the occasion required in the most telling way. He presented the students and faculty to the legislature as the real University and explained that those shouts and demonstrations were the way the young people had of saying welcome. The exact number of students for this year, he stated to be 2774, of which one-half come from Michigan, and the others from 44 states "not counting the Hawaiian Islands," and seventeen foreign countries.
Concerning the economy of the management of the University, he showed that Michigan expended last year $320,000, and Harvard with about the same number of students $981,000. Cornell with half as many students spent $535,000, while Yale with two-thirds as many spent about twice as much. These figures showed that $1 at Michigan was made to go as far as $1.50 at the other places. Pres. Angell next spoke of the questions connected with the foreign students. Contrary to an impression which seems to prevail, the foreign students pay twice as much money in fees the first year and 50 per cent. more every other year, than do the Michigan students. A careful estimate shows that the foreign students are a source of profit to the University. The expense of running the institution if the foreigners were excluded would only be diminished on a very liberal estimate $25,000, while their tuition fees alone for this year amount to $57,918, or $33,000 more than their presence adds to the expense account. In the law department the fees of the non-resident students pay all the expenses of the department and $4,700 over.

Proceeding, he showed the economy of the mill-tax method of supplying the needs of the University over that of biennial appropriations. Then he mentioned the most pressing needs of the University some of which had not been named in the regents memorial, as the electric-light plant, the engineering department and the ladies' gymnasium.

In conclusion, the president said that he was asking these things not for his University, not for the University of the faculty but for their University, the University of the people of Michigan. The University does not belong to the faculty, they come and go, and they must all go in a short time. Some of them could make more or less of a living elsewhere if necessary. But the University exists forever, it lives for generations yet unborn. The institution must be made the peer of any in the land. The University is not the rich man's school, it need not be maintained for him, he can send his children where he pleases, it is the poor man who must use the institution near at hand; shall we force his children to receive instruction and training inferior to that received by the children of other countries? He left the future of the University confidently in their hands.

At the conclusion of this address the Freshman Mandolin Club played and then Governor Rich was introduced. Owing to an indisposition he was unable to speak but rose to greet them silently. He received a rousing ovation, and conquering his illness he said a few words in acknowledgment. Senator Hopkins, the father of the one-fifth mill bill, was next introduced and made a very witty speech. Representatives Newkirk and Sullivan, and Senators McLaughlin and Morrow also made well timed and interesting remarks.

Adjournment for dinner followed and then after a brief visit to the hospitals, our guests left for Ypsilanti on the motor line.
Judge C. B. Grant.
Judge C. B. Grant of the supreme court will act as one of the judges in the oratorical contest next Saturday evening. While in the city he will meet the committee of arrangements for the reunion of the Old High School to take place April 14th. Judge Grant was principal of the high school from '59 to '62 resigning his position to take charge of Co. D, 20th Mich. Reg., many of the high school boys following him.

NEWS AND GOSSIP GLEANED FROM THE CAMPUS.

Items of Interest Regarding Our Big University.—A Column Especially Devoted to University News.—Personalities, Gossip, Etc.

The glass has been set in the Gymnasium sky light this past week.
Last Saturday evening the senior lits held a class social at Newberry Hall.

The students are circulating a petition to have the library opened at 8 A. M.

The base ball practice has begun and about forty candidates have gone into training for positions on the nine.

A new plank walk was laid between the dental college and "gym" so that the legislative foot could pass dry shod last week.

The freshmen lits have taken up a collection of fifty cents apiece to raise $50 for their base ball team and $20 for their mandolin and glee club.

Pres. Angell was one of the judges on thought and composition for the recent annual state intercollegiate oratorical contest of Indiana, won by DePauw.

About forty-five senior medics visited the Wayne County poorhouse last week and spent the day visiting the various cases there, under the charge of Drs. Herdman, Dock and Breaker.

The Michigan Mining School Catalogue for the current year recently appeared and shows that school to be in a prosperous condition. The faculty numbered about 16 and the students 83.

They are talking of forming a University alumni association at Saginaw. Mr. E. S. Crawford of that city lately presented the advantages of such an organization in the Saginaw Globe.

A movement is on foot among some of our prominent citizens to secure for the University, the large Farrand and Votey pipe organ now building for exhibition at the World's Fair. It is said that the new Chicago University is after it also.

The Students' Lecture Association have been swindled they think of about 400 tickets. Everyone should turn in and help the boys discover the fraud if there has been one. They want every season ticket traded for single admission tickets and the holder to tell where and of whom he bought his ticket.

Did Howell plagiarize has been the question of the hour. The student committee said yes, and then referred it to a faculty committee that said no. Every student concerned is warm enough to melt a path to the North Pole. The row is all about an oration handed in for the preliminary contest to select orators to meet Oberlin in joint debate.

At the interesting joint program of Alpha Nu and Adelpi literary societies last Saturday evening Mr. Thaum, a student from the Hawaiian Islands, gave an account of his home. Among other things he said that they had compulsory education in the islands and that the per cent. of illiteracy was smaller than in New York or Pennsylvania. Next Saturday evening the two societies will have another public joint program.

Wonderful and True
Totally Blind with Scrofulous Sore Eyes

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Back Her Sight, and Joy to Her Father's Heart.

"Waterbury, Vt., Nov. 19, 1892.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"In April, 1889, my little girl Mamie, who was then 3 years old, commenced having ulcerated eyes, also had sores back of her ears. Her sight began to grow dim, and I feared she Might be Blind.

"I then lived in Jericho, Vt. In the early days of June I went with her to the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington, and there she was treated four different times—a surgical operation each time, one of which left the scars now visible on the eye balls. She recovered from this treatment each time, a slight improvement for a few days, was soon worse than ever. She could discern daylight from darkness, but could not see to walk across the room.

"I next went to a large hospital in Hartford, Conn. At this hospital no surgical operations were performed, but medicine was dropped into her eyes and given her to take. She was at this hospital about ten weeks, continually growing worse, and when I took her in November

Was Totally Blind.

"I arrived at my station in Jericho with the child, sad in spirit and impoverished in pocket completely discouraged. On our way to the house from the station, we stopped at the store of Capt. McKinnan, who was an old sea captain, to warm ourselves. The captain had known the child before we went away. While we were warming ourselves Mamie said:
"Papa, it's dark, where are you? I can't see you, come to me."

"The captain's heart was touched, and with tears in his eyes he said:
"Charley, you go and get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and give it to her, and if it don't help her I will pay for it."

"That very afternoon I got Hood's Sarsaparilla and commenced giving it to her according to directions. The first beneficial result was a brightening of the eyes, which continued steadily improving until, under the treatment of Hood's Sarsaparilla, on the ninth day she could see to pick up a pin on the floor without its being pointed out to her, and before the first bottle was all used.

Her Sight was Entirely Restored.

"I keep Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house always, and when the child gets a little cold, if her eyes appear inflamed, a few doses settles it. I thank God first, Hood's Sarsaparilla second, and Capt. McKinnan third. Many of the first families in Jericho can vouch for the facts given above. I am glad to give this testimonial of what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me, which is good and lots of it."

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

LITERARY NOTES.

Parents of girls will be especially interested in a practical article on "What it Costs to Dress a Daughter," which Mrs. Mary C. Hungerford contributes to the current number of Harper's Bazar, published March 11th. Harper Bros, New York, N. Y.

The Massachusetts Prison System" is described by the Rev. Samuel J. Barrows, editor of the Christian Register, in the March New England Magazine. Mr. Barrows has served on the Prison Commission, and is thoroughly acquainted with the subject. The article is well illustrated from photographs taken specially for the purpose. New England Pub. Co., Boston, Mass.

The current issue of The Eclectic opens with an incisive paper on the needs and tendencies of modern education, by Prof. Mahaffy, one of the greatest of all contemporary scholars and teachers. Madame Darmesteter contributes a fascinating paper on the social aspects of medieval life. The discussion of an important question by Mr. George Miller in the article called "Female Brains and Girl's Schools" is racy and timely. Published by E. R. Pelton, 144 Eighth Street, New York. Terms, $5 a year.

In The Popular Science Monthly for March Prof. C. Hanford Henderson completes his illustrated account of The Glass Industry, describing the gradual advance of glass-making in America from 1800 to 1880, and the immense stride it has taken since the introduction of natural gas as fuel. Considerable light is thrown upon the problem of irrigating our Western lands in an illustrated article on Artesian Waters in the Arid Region, by Robert T. Hill. New York: D. Appleton & Company. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

Senor Castelar, the eminent Spanish statesman, is the writer of the article on the city of Madrid, which appears in the last number of Harper's Weekly, published March 8th. This is the nineteenth paper in the unrivaled series on the "Capitals of the World." The same number of the Weekly contains a double-page engraving of Cleveland and Harrison on Inauguration day; views of the Columbian exposition, including pictures of the Horticultural Building and of the Esquimaux at the fair; and other attractive and timely illustrative features.

The Century for March contains an unique feature in an account from the manuscript of Captain Thomas Usher, E. N., of "Napoleon's Deportation to Elba," in which is given a familiar account of all the circumstances of the trip, and a careful report of Napoleon's frank comments on men and events. The article is preceded by a portrait and a short sketch of Captain Usher, who was the officer in charge, and the frontispiece of the magazine is appropriately an engraving from the bas-relief of Napoleon by Boissot, which was the property of Joseph Bonaparte, and is now in the possession of the Pennsylvania Historical Society. The Century Co., New York, N. Y.

The March number of the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science is distinctively a financial number. The principal article is by Mr. Horace White, editor of the New York Evening Post and discusses the question of "National and State Banks." This is followed by papers by Hon. A. B. Hepburn, Comptroller of the Currency, on "State and National Bank Circulation," by Congressman M. D. Harter, of Ohio, on "American Banking and the Money Supply of the Future," by Congressman J. H. Walker, of Massachusetts, on "The Banking System, Old and New," and by Congressman Henry Bacon, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency in the Fifty-second Congress on "The Basis of Security for National Bank Notes." In addition to these five papers on financial subjects, this number also contains a report of the speech by Hon. W. L. Trenholm, Ex-Comptroller of the Currency, and by Hon. Michael D. Harter, before the Academy at its meeting on January 12. The other papers in this number are "The Surplus Gains of Labor," by Prof. J. B. Clark, of Smith College; "Consumers' Surplus," by Prof. Alfred Marshall, the English economist, and "Compulsory Voting," by Judge John Broomall, of Media, Pa. There are, as usual, Book Reviews, Personal Notes and Notes. A supplement sent with this number is a translation of the Constitutional and Organic Laws of France, with an Historical Introduction by Prof. C. F. A. Currier, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Tammam leads the list of American turf winners for 1892 with $72,380 to his credit.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

It is reported that Mr. Richard Crocker is going to have a big racing stable next season.

TUTT'S PILLS adapted to old and young.

The first horse that trots a mile in two minutes will average forty-four feet a second.

Street-car drivers and others who are constantly exposed to all kinds of weather, and cannot find time to lay by should ever bear in mind the plain fact that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures coughs and colds. It is unequalled.

La Tosca, the best 3-year-old on the American turf last season, will race again next season.

Premature baldness may be prevented and the hair made to grow on heads already bald, by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

The state of Maine added forty-six new-comers to the charmed circle—the 230 list—during 1892.

Mild, gentle, soothing and healing is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Cures the worst cases permanently. No experimenting. It's "Old Reliable." Twenty-five years of success.

In Massachusetts they are sure that if the 2-minute trotter ever does come it will be Kremlin or one of his colts.

The Fire Department in every city could not do better than to keep a dozen bottles of Salvation Oil at each station. It instantly relieves all burns, scalds and bruises, and in a few days makes an effectual cure of the wound. 25cts.

It is that Pierre Lorillard, Jr., will next season be associated in the ownership of the Racococ stable with his father.

Ely's Cream Balm is especially adapted as a remedy for catarrh, which is aggravated by alkaline dust and dry winds.—W. A. Hover, Druggist, Denver.

The recent horse show at Madison Square garden was a great financial success. It is estimated that over $100,000 was cleared.

FITS—All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch Street, Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours.

It is that Kitty Bayard, who got a trotting record of 2:12 on a half mile track in 1892, will be out as pacer in 1893.

My catarrh was very bad. For thirty years I have been troubled with it, but have tried a number of remedies without relief. A druggist advised Ely's Cream Balm. I have used only one bottle and I can say I feel like a new man. I make this voluntary statement that others may know of the Balm.—J. W. Mathewson, (Lawyer), Pawtucket, R. I.

A table of the winnings of Edward Corrigan's horses for 1892 shows that Lorillard of the western turf captured in excess of $70,000 in prize money.

That old established cough remedy, Down's Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a "home remedy," and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known as it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unqualified recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.—Burlington, Vt., Free Press, January 26, 1882.

Budd Doble is credited with saying that he could have driven A. A. Bonner's 2-year-old trotter Tony V to a record of 2:15 in 1892 had it been desirable.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. Baron Hirsch's mare, La Fliche, won $126,990 during the season. Her victories included the One Thousand, Oaks, St. Leger, Annapolis plate and Cambridgehire.

You've tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have you and you're disappointed. The results are not immediate.

And did you expect the disease of years to disappear in a week? Put a pinch of time in every dose. You would not call the milk poor because the cream doesn't rise in an hour? It is the same with the cream in life. It is the same with the cream in life. It is the same with the cream in life.

How are the mighty fallen! Benzoin, best known to fame as the "Jubilee plunger," had a modest sovereign on Miss Dollar when she won the Duke of York stakes, though it was at the tidy price of 100 to 1.

Ripans Tabules banish pain. Ripans Tabules cure scrofula. Ripans Tabules cure dizziness. Ripans Tabules cure rheumatism. Ripans Tabules cure jaundice. Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia. Emperor William of Germany has shown his appreciation of the World's Fair and especially his respect for Director-General Davis, by authorizing Herr Wermuth, his imperial World's Fair Commissioner, to present Col. Davis an elegantly bound work bearing on the discovery of America. The German title is "Die Entdeckung Amerikas." This work was issued by the Geographical Society of Berlin in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America. Toward the publication of the work Emperor William has himself contributed a large amount of money.

HOW TO TEST COINS.

Information That Will Enable You to Detect Counterfeit Money.

"Here's the way we test coins in the treasury," and the expert swiftly poised the dollar piece horizontally on the tips of his forefinger, holding the thumb a quarter of an inch away from it, and gave it a brisk tap with another coin. A clear, silvery ring sounded out. "Good; but here, listen!" and he repeated the operation with another coin that gave out a dull, heavy clink that ceased almost as soon as it began. "Type metal and lead, molded too. That is a wretched counterfeit."

"How do you tell that it is molded?" He held the two coins so that the light struck on their edges.

"Just compare the reading, will you, or milling, as most people call it. In this genuine coin this is very clear and sharp cut, in the counterfeit it is coarse and dull. That is because it is molded instead of being stamped in cold metal like the government coins."

"Why do the counterfeiters not use the same cold process?"

"It costs too much and makes too much noise. With a mold, you see, a counterfeit can carry on his work in a garret, and if a policeman comes in he can shy the whole outfit out of the window. But it takes great power to run a die. Still some high flying counterfeiters do use them, and their work is usually harder to detect, though it is never so perfect as that of the government mint."

"What is the surest test for counterfeit coin for popular use?"

"The looks of the reading, as I was telling you. The milling, by the way, is on the face of the coin and not on the edge, as most people think. That's the street and easiest thing, but of course other tests have to be used, especially for weight and thickness. A little scale for weight and measure is the handiest thing to settle that. Then for plated coin a drop of acid squirted on the edge where the plating wears most will chew up the base metal in a hurry."

"What acid do you use?"

"For gold coin; a mixture of strong nitric acid, 64 drams, muriatic acid, 15 drams, and water, five drams, is used; for silver, twenty-four grains of nitrate of silver and thirty drops of nitric acid, with one ounce of water. One drop is sufficient. If the coin is heavily plated we scrape it a little before putting on the acid."

Great Oaks. From little acorns grow, so also no fatal diseases spring from small beginnings. Never neglect symptoms of Kidney Trouble; if allowed to develop they cause much suffering and sorrow. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm is a certain cure for any disease or weakness of the Kidneys. A trial will convince you of its great potency.

Nature's Surest Ally.

If nature did not struggle against disease, even in weakly constitutions, swift indeed would be the course of a malady to its fatal termination. While nature thus struggles let us, lest we befall us, aid her efforts with judicious medical help. Experience must be our guide in battles with disease, and that "lamp to our feet" indicates Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe and tried and thorough ally of nature. If the blood be infected with bile, if the bowels and stomach are inactive, if the kidneys fail to expel impurities of which they are the natural outlet, a course of the Bitters is the surest reliance of the sufferer, one, moreover, that is sanctioned by professional indorsement and use for nearly half a century. No American or foreign remedy has earned greater distinction as a remedy for and preventative of chronic liver complaint, malaria, constipation, kidney and rheumatic trouble and debility.

CHAPTER XVIII.
OFF FOR THE UNION LINES.

phacton, drawn by her pony. Mrs. Fain entered the former with Alice, Daniel being in the driver's seat. Laura and Mark got into the phacton.

Mark took the lead, desiring to make for Battle Creek. The distance was not twenty miles, and he knew that they could make it in a few hours. It was a bold game he was playing, but the proximity of the halter was wearing on him, and he desired to get rid of suspense. Besides his presence, connected with his critical situation, was wearing on Laura. He therefore felt an exhilarating pleasure when they drove out of the gate and trotted along the pike westward. Hope cheered him.

All went well during the first ten or twelve miles, when Mark received a piece of information which seriously interfered with his plan. Meeting a courier riding toward Chattanooga, who looked as if he might be the bearer of some important news, Mark hailed him and asked if he had anything from the front.

"The Yankees air gotten no'th right smart," the man replied. "Reckon th' air left Battle Creek."

Mark argued that if this were true there would be confusion on that route, and it would be better to take another. They were not far from the road leading from the Chattanooga pike north to Anderson, on which the Slacks lived. Mark concluded to take this road as far as Anderson, and then strike west with a view to reaching McMinnville on the other side of the mountains. Mrs. Fain left all to Professor Rhett, in whom she had perfect confidence, and on coming to the road in question Mark led the party northward.

The change of route was unfortunate, inasmuch as it would add another day to the journey. The departure from the Fain residence had been delayed by the preparations till nearly noon. McMinnville was a considerable distance over the mountains, and Mark knew they could not reach it that night. He remembered that they would soon pass the Slacks, and it occurred to him that it would be a capital place to pass the night, giving them a good day of twelve hours light on the morrow to pursue their journey. His disappointment at the delay was compensated for by the thought that he would likely learn something of Souri and Jakey, of whom he had heard nothing since he left them in the Chattanooga jail.

Mark told Laura of his plan. She was distressed at the delay. Something seemed to tell her that it would bring trouble. But Mark's reasoning was unanswerable, and there seemed nothing else to do. If they must spend a night anywhere it would better be among those upon whom Mark could rely.

At last they drove up to the Slacks' gate. Mark handed the reins to Laura and jumped from the phacton impatiently. Not seeing any one in the front of the house he proceeded to the rear. The first person he met was Jakey. He took the boy up and hugged him.

"Are you glad to see your big brother, Jakey?"

"Air th' corn ripe?"

Souri came out of the house, her big eyes glistening and her expressive face radiant with pleasure and excitement. She had heard nothing of Mark since he left her in prison. Mark seized her by both hands.

"You uns air safe. I knowed it," she said, almost in a whisper. She could hardly speak for joy.

"For the present, Souri, thanks to you."

Mark asked no questions then. He knew that they were safe and at home, and he hastened to inform them and the father and mother who came out to welcome him that he was with a party who was unwary of his true character, which they must not betray, and desired permission to stay in the house over night. Then he led them around to the gate. Daniel had meanwhile caught up, and the two vehicles were halted in the road.

"We will spend the night with these good people," said Mark. "They are quite willing, and will make us as comfortable as possible."

The party alighted and the horses were driven to the barn. Mrs. Fain and her daughter were given the room in which Mark had changed his clothes when he went through to the south, and Mark was assigned a bivouac on the gallery, or in the barn, or any other place he might select.

An apology for a meal was carried in to Mrs. Fain and Laura, which they left untasted, preferring a luncheon they had brought with them in a basket. After supper Laura came out and begged Mark to bring Souri and Jakey to speak to her. She smoothed Jakey's tumbled hair out of his eyes and asked him if he remembered her. Jakey was about to reply in his usual fashion when he checked himself, and for the first time since Mark had known him answered directly. Souri stood eying Laura from the corners of her black eyes with a mingled expression of admiration and antagonism. Laura spoke to her kindly, but got only monosyllables in reply.

Mark passed the evening with the Slack family listening to a recital of Souri's and Jakey's experience after he had left them in the jail at Chattanooga, and he gave them an account of his own adventures.

After all were asleep that night Mark took Farmer Slack out into the yard,

"You uns a gentleman, and I air poor white trash."

Mark's first impulse after Fitz Hugh's departure was to leave the house at once. He tried to say something to Laura to soothe her, to excuse his own unfortunate part in her breaking with her lover. He could only go to her and taking her hand kissed it without a word. Then he told her that he should take the risk of capture and depart instantly.

He was discoursing upon the method of his departure in quick, excited tones, when a horseman entered the yard, and riding up to the veranda drew a letter from his belt and handed it to a negro who went out to receive it. It was for Mrs. Fain. It had been sent through the lines from Nashville, where her husband was lying dangerously ill, and begged her to come to him.

After its perusal Mrs. Fain determined to set out the next day, taking with her her daughter and the maid Alice. Daniel would drive them.

"You shall go with us," said Laura to Mark. "This is fortunate. In our company you will be far safer than trying to make your way alone."

It occurred to Mark that since he was being hunted as a half starved creature in the disguise of a negro girl he would be less liable to suspicion as a well dressed man traveling with a party of southern ladies than in any other character. At any rate he took this view of it, and when Mrs. Fain announced her intention to go he offered to escort the party to the Union lines.

The offer was accepted, and preparations were made to leave the next morning. Mrs. Fain wrote a note to the officer in command at Chattanooga (to send with the letter she had received from her husband for his personal) asking for a pass for herself, her daughter and two servants. Mark took the missives and went out to find Daniel, who had just returned from Chattanooga.

"Well, Daniel?"

"I be'n dar."

"What did you learn?"

"I hear ebery one talken 'bout sojers goen to 'de norf, and dey sayd day was goen to Knoxville. Dey was marchen 'n marchen all de same way. I follered 'n dey bring up at de depot, 'n I sor one train after anudder go out full o' sojers inside and hangen on to de platfo'm and on de roofs."

"How many trains did you see go out?"

"Bout forty hundred."

"Daniel," said Mark, smiling at the figures, "you're smart as a whip. But you'll have to go right back to Chattanooga, and take this note to the commanding officer with this letter from your sick master to show him. The note is a request for a pass for the party to the Union lines. Keep your wits about you, and if he is an easy going sort of a man, you might try to get him to put in three servants instead of two. At any rate try to ring me in if you can. Do you understand?"

"Reckon I do, sah."

"Can you read?"

"A leetle. Missie Laura learned me."

"Well, read the pass he may give you and ask him to fix it so that it will include me as a servant. But you must use your judgment."

Daniel drove again to Chattanooga. Mark waited anxiously for his return. Indeed so impatient was he that he thought the negro had been gone twice as long as he had when he saw him drive into the yard. He at once went out to the barn to meet him.

"Any luck?" he asked anxiously.

"I got de pass for misses and de res', but I didn't get what yo' wanted. I got a paper hyar. Mebbe it'll do."

Mark took the paper. It was a pass for Thomas Green and wife from Chattanooga to the Union lines.

"How did you get this," asked Mark, surprised.

"I hab to wait while folks was gotten passes. De officer go out to de udden room for a moment. Dis was layen on de desk 'n I tuk hit up and brung hit away."

"Well," said Mark, "it's not exactly what I want, but ingenuity will have to help me through. You're a trump, Daniel."

In the morning when all was ready for the departure two vehicles were brought around to the door, the one, a two horse carriage, the other Laura's where they could converse th'heard, and developed a plan he had conceived for Souri and Jakey.

"It is due to your son and daughter," he said, "that I am here at this moment, indeed that I am alive. I belong to a wealthy family and am wealthy myself. It only requires means to make a splendid woman of the girl and a fine man of the boy, for means will produce education, and education is the open door to a desirable career. I am going to leave with you a letter to my father in Ohio, which will contain an order for a sufficient amount of money to insure both Jakey and Souri an education. Take or send them north, present the letter, and you will find everything provided for you. Souri may not consent at once, but doubtless she will in time. Now I must have pen and paper."

"You uns is a good un, stranger. Y' treat us far. Hadn't you better send the letter when y' git no'th?"

"No. I must write it tonight. I am by no means safe; my neck is still in a halter."

The man led the way to his bedroom, where the old woman was sleeping. There he produced writing materials, and Mark wrote an order which, whether he lived or not, insured the future of his two friends, his preservers among the "poor white trash" of Tennessee.

The night was passed with snatches of sleep by all the party. In the morning, after the pork and corn bread meal of the country, the travelers again got into the carriages. While they were standing before the gate prior to departure Mark saw Souri out by the well-house. He went there to bid her goodbye.

"Souri," he said, "I wish there was some way in which I could show you the gratitude I feel toward you. When I think of my fate, had you not appeared in the nick of time to save me by your wit and daring and sacrifice, I feel that I would like to make some corresponding sacrifice for you."

"Laws, I didn't do nothin. Besides" — she leaned over the well and looked down into its depths — "you uns and me is too differ. You uns is a gentleman, and I air poor white trash."

There was an inexpressible melancholy in her tone.

"Souri," Mark went on, "I have made an arrangement with your father to make a lady of you. I can't make such a sacrifice for you as you have made for me; that is impossible; but I can do this if you will act with me and consent to the plan. I shall be off in a moment, and before I go I want you to promise me that you will consent. I am still in danger, and you must grant me this as perhaps a last favor."

The girl burst into tears.

"I don't keer what I do."

"Do you promise?"

"Yes, I promise."

With a pressure of the hand he turned away, and stalking to the gate got into the carriage beside Laura. Daniel and Mrs. Fain had started. Mark followed, and had gone but a short distance when he heard Jakey calling to him. He pulled in the pony and waited for the boy to come up. Jakey was holding something out to him, which, as he drew nearer, Mark recognized as the red silk handkerchief.

"Souri sent it ter y'."

"Tell her that I'll never part with it."

"'N I got the squirrel gun," said the boy.

"All right, Jakey. Keep it to remember me by."

Mark grasped the boy's hand and then drove on. Laura Fain leaned back on the cushions in silence.

CHAPTER XIX.
THOMAS GREEN AND WIFE.

"Do you take me to be your husband?"

Mark designed driving to Anderson, some twelve miles from the Slacks' house, whence he knew there was a road leading up in the mountains through a place called Altamont, some twenty miles farther, to McMinnville. He was informed by people he met on the road that Altamont had been recently occupied in force by the Union troops. With luck they might reach the Union lines, which would doubtless extend several miles from Altamont, that afternoon.

"Within six hours," said Mark, "I shall either be safe among Union soldiers or on my way back to Chattanooga."

Laura shuddered, but said nothing.

Mark found a very different condition of affairs at Anderson from what he had found along the road. The Confederates had some cavalry force there and more at Dunlap, five miles north. On the road he heard that General Bragg was at Dunlap, but with no troops save cavalry.

"I see it all," said the spy to himself. "The wily fox is confronting our forces with a handful of cavalry, while the two divisions of Cheatham and Withers are marching north behind him, and the main force has gone to Knoxville by rail on a line still farther east. No wonder our generals are puzzled and watching a line from Battle creek to Cumberland gap. If the Lord will only let me get through to carry this information, I'll never ask to live to go on another such expedition."

The party were stopped near Anderson by a picket. Mrs. Fain produced her pass and stated that the two behind were in her company. The officer took no especial care in reading it, and when Mark and Laura came up they got safely through without question.

Mark was now anxious about the picket which must be passed in a few minutes on the road leading west from Anderson. Mrs. Fain was still ahead, and he hoped that all would go as well as at the picket just passed. Not a word was spoken between him and Laura; both dreaded getting out of Anderson, but once past the next picket they would breathe easier.

When they reached it Mrs. Fain had been passed through and gone on. The officer in command, however, had read the pass carefully. He had not noticed any mention of Mark in it.

"Where's your pass?" he asked.

"Didn't the lady ahead show it to you?" asked Mark.

"Her pass didn't include you."

"Didn't it?" Mark feigned surprise.

"No."

"Oh, I forgot; mine and my wife's is separate," and he drew out the pass of "Thomas Green and wife."

Meanwhile Laura had turned white as a cloth. The officer read the pass, and would doubtless have let them go had he not noticed Laura's agitation.

"You'll have to go back to headquarters and get Major Taliaferro's order on that. He commands at Anderson."

Mark remonstrated. He argued that he would become separated from Mrs. Fain; he urged his wife's desire to reach her sick father. All in vain. He was told that the headquarters were only half a mile down the road and he would lose but little time. He made a virtue of necessity and drove back with apparent good nature.

When he reached the house that was pointed out to him as headquarters, he left Laura in the phacton and went inside. The commanding officer had gone to Dunlap, five miles away, to pay his respects to General Bragg, and would not be back for an hour or two.

Mark resolved to report his absence to the officer of the picket post, in the hope that he would not be compelled to wait. He drove to the picket and used his tongue persuasively, but to no purpose. The more anxious he seemed the more resolved grew the captain.

There seemed to be nothing to do but return and await the arrival of the commanding officer. Mark reluctantly turned the horse's head and drove back to headquarters. Laura's heart sank within her.

It was sunset when Major Taliaferro, a pleasant looking man of twenty-seven or twenty-eight, rode up to the door, and turning his horse over to an orderly entered the office.

"Major Taliaferro?" asked Mark.

"At your service, sir."

"Major, I have been detained by the officer at the picket, who wants your name on my pass. My wife's mother has gone on, and her daughter is very anxious to join her. It is extremely unfortunate for us to get so far separated from Mrs. Fain."

"Fain, of the Fains of Chattanooga?"

"The same."

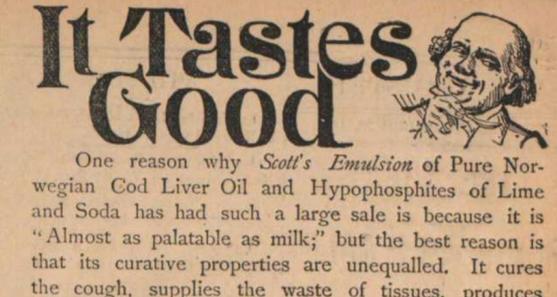

"I have heard of the family, but have never had the pleasure of meeting any member of it. One of my friends is engaged to Miss Fain. I have just parted from him at Dunlap."

Mark and Laura cast a quick glance at each other—a glance of terror on the part of Laura.

"We are fortunate in falling into your hands," said Mark, and I beg you will not delay us a moment." And Mark handed him the pass.

It Tastes Good

One reason why Scott's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda has had such a large sale is because it is "Almost as palatable as milk," but the best reason is that its curative properties are unequalled. It cures the cough, supplies the waste of tissues, produces flesh and builds up the entire system.

Scott's Emulsion cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Scrofula, and all Anaemic and Wasting Diseases. Prevents wasting in children. Almost as palatable as milk. Get only the genuine. Prepared by Scott & Bowne, Chemists, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA

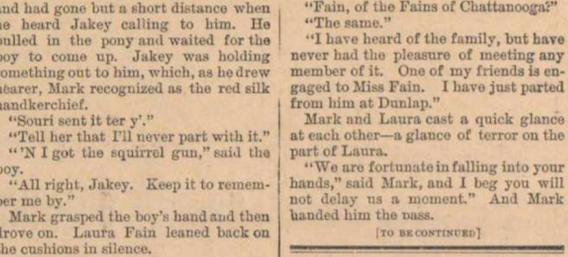

is in no way injurious to health, and that it is decidedly more nutritious than other Cocoas.—It is certainly "Pure" and highly digestible.—The quotations in certain advertisements (from Trade rivals) from my book on Therapeutics are quite misleading, and cannot possibly apply to VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA. The false reflection on VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA is thus effectually refuted, and the very authority cited to insure it, is thereby prompted to give it a very handsome testimonial. It
