MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

SOME SOUND SENSE ABOUT SELECTING CITY OFFICERS.

City and National Politics Should be Separated—The Officers Should Have a Better Chance to make a Record—The Citizens Should Have a Chance to Aid the City—Enforce the Laws—Importance of Local Questions—What Element Now Controls Elections.

Municipal Club.

It seems to me the municipal club idea is beyond all question the right one. I believe in it.

First. Because it is an attempt to separate municipal affairs from national and state politics. The city government is largely a matter of good business sense. Probably $50,000 are expended every year by our local authorities. Questions of the greatest importance both to the prosperity and well being of this city are decided. These issues belong exclusively to the people of this city. They have no more to do with affairs at Washington or Lansing than has the business of our banks, stores, or factories. It would be quite as sensible for the business houses of this city to entangle their affairs with party politics as it is for the affairs of the city to be so entangled.

By electing city officers on party lines, it comes to pass that they are voted into office on other issues than those which enter into the question of city government. The real issues of the city and its needs are not the basis of the citizen's decision in casting his vote. These issues are lost to sight, in a zeal for party. Some party advantage or gain are the things sought rather than the best city government.

The vice of the whole system too is seen in the fact that it is not the judgment of the people as to how the city should be governed, which finds expression at the ballot box. Instead of taking the government of the city into their own hands, studying its needs and meeting its responsibilities, the matter is left to the chance of party strife. This verily is not a government by the people, but by chance.

Again when the best people adhere to party lines in municipal elections, it is impossible that they should govern the city. The casting vote in such a case is sure to fall into the hands of the less competent and more lawless classes.

The result is, that even if a good man is elected under this system he finds his hands tied. The power, which held the casting vote will not let him do as well for the city, as in his heart he would choose to do. I have not the slightest doubt that this is often the case with public officers in our cities. Being elected on party lines and on issues remote from the real interests of the city, they find that when they would serve these local interests, they have no solid vote behind them. What would under a strictly municipal vote, be the easy and most practicable thing to do, he finds to be wholly unpracticable.

This question of the separation of municipal affairs from national and state politics, is rapidly becoming a very serious one for the whole country. It was the warning of D'Israeli, that astute statesman, that Republican institutions would fall when it came to the government of large cities. Already it is freely confessed, that the ignorant, incompetent and lawless vote rules our great cities. Why is this? Is it because the intelligent and better classes are outnumbered? No. It is because these classes are maintaining their party lines in municipal elections. The idea of the municipal club is to correct this evil, and secure the united judgment of the people upon city affairs.

Second. I believe in the municipal club idea, because it would give every officer a chance to do the best he could for the city. A solid vote behind an officer is necessary, under our form of government, to executive or official power. Some men may in loyalty to personal convictions, go beyond the sustaining power of the vote behind them; but only a few will. It is unfair to any city officer, to have to ask more than the question, "what is the best thing for the city?"—when in addition he must ask, "will it make votes for my party?"—"what will the party managers say?"—"what will be the effect on the state or national elections?"—the interests of the city become hopelessly entangled. To tie a public officer in that way, by entangling diverse and often opposing interests, is to render a whole hearted and clean public service almost impossible. The wonder is when men are handicapped by such conflicting issues, that we have as good service as we do. The fault is with the system. It is radically wrong. Give the public officer a solid vote behind him on local issues, and you make it easy for him to do the best thing, where now it is difficult and often impossible.

Third. I believe in the municipal club idea, because it enables the voter to do the best he can for the city.

As with the officer so with the citizen the single question before him should be the welfare of the city. When this question is entangled with issues at Washington or Lansing, he cannot give a clear decision by his vote as to what he thinks is best for the city. Now it is the right of the citizen to have this chance to express at the ballot box his individual judgment concerning these local interests. Nothing short of this is really a government by the people. Whatever entangles or prevents this judgment is hostile to the best municipal government. Disentangle the mind of the voter from all remote issues. Give him a chance to carefully weigh and decide by vote the interests of the city, and the city government will be vastly improved.

Fourth. I believe in the municipal club idea, because it will secure the full enforcement of law in the city.

It is a fact patent to all that some are in favor of only a moderate enforcement of certain of our laws. Others are in favor of a full and impartial enforcement of all laws. As the matter now stands a minority are practically deciding the question. By divisions made by party lines this minority hold the casting vote. They have the power to dictate. It is difficult for any officer to enforce the law more fully than his power permits.

Yet here is the truth. There is not a law on the statute books which cannot be enforced in this city if the people of the city demand it at the ballot box. To make this demand by resolutions in public assemblies is not enough. The municipal club idea would give all citizens a chance to say whether the laws shall be fully and impartially enforced. It would take the decision out of the hands of a minority and give it to the citizens as a body. A vote taken upon such an issue and in such a way would be decisive. The executive officer would know what was required and what support he could depend upon. The executive of the laws would be easy in such a case, because it would be the voice of the people and not the individual assertion of one man.

J. M. GELSTON.

Local Self-Government.

The fundamental principle of our American institutions is that of local self-government; with the emphasis on "local." The root-idea is that government is business. Public as distinguished from private business; the business of the community as distinguished from that of the individual.

Associated with this are the two assumptions that the whole people are better qualified to conduct this business wisely and equitably than any class; and that the people of any community can best manage their local affairs. The public business which pertains exclusively to the township can be more judiciously transacted by the township, than by the county, the state or the general government. Local self-government, with the "local" in italics.

Another reason for putting the emphasis on "local" is the fact that the public business which pertains exclusively to the township is far greater in extent, and of more direct influence upon the citizens, than all other public business, county, state or national. Good sanitary conditions in this city, an ample supply of pure water; proper lighting of the streets; the maintenance of the present high character of our public schools; the good condition of the highways; the enactment and enforcement of proper police regulations; these and similar things affect the welfare of the citizen of Ann Arbor far more directly and positively, than the adoption of the policy either of protection or free trade by the general government, the granting of subsidies to ocean mail-steamers or the annexation of Hawaii.

If anything is evident it is that these local affairs should elicit the chief interest of the citizens; and that they should receive the first and controlling consideration in the discharge of the functions of citizenship. It would seem that the most ordinary business judgment would lead intelligent men to put the most stress upon the matters which affect them most directly, most positively and to the greatest extent. That in the use of time and effort they would give these the principal place; and that, so far as organization was necessary, it would be constituted with chief reference to these matters. So far from this being the case, however, it is notorious that, with the great majority of the most intelligent citizens of the United States, precisely the opposite is true. They organize, or allow themselves to be organized with reference to some remote national issue, concerning which it is of importance that they express themselves but once in four years, or at most once in two years; and then permit this division into national parties to control all their affiliation and all their action in the conduct of local affairs, which have about as much connection with these national issues as with the moons of Jupiter or the seas of Mars.

Two estimable citizens, two hundred or two thousand estimable citizens, who are entirely at one as to matters of local concern, agreed with reference to the taxes to be levied, the character of the schools to be maintained, the sanitary conditions to be secured, the kind of man who should be police-magistrate, street-commissioner or marshal will allow themselves to be divided into two equal, contending parties, and permit an insignificant minority of men far less qualified to speak upon the administration of municipal affairs, but who know on which side their bread is buttered, to hold the balance of power, throw the decision to one side or the other as they choose and so secure their own selfish ends.

It is occasion for astonishment, that so many men, in most respects level-headed, should in the conduct of local political affairs be so blinded to their own interest and the public good.

There is promise, however, in the fact that attention is being turned to this matter; that so much is written concerning it, and that awakened interest is manifested. If there is any city in the United States where such interest should be intense and positive in its effects it is Ann Arbor. The intelligent, judicious and orderly element of society is so predominant here that if citizens of this class would but exercise their good judgment, and forgetting all partisan distinctions, unite for the securing of the very highest administration of municipal affairs, they could accomplish anything desirable. It is to be hoped that, through the agency of the municipal club or other means, this may be effected.

Junior Exhibition.

The commodious chapel of the high school was comfortably filled with an appreciative audience last Friday evening, it being the occasion of the junior exhibition. The room and platform were tastefully decorated with bunting and plants, while to the rear the motto Ergo no Logoi, "Deeds, not Words," was displayed.

Promptly at 8 o'clock those people who were to occupy the platform began to take their places. These were the members of the school board, several of our city pastors and several members of the high school faculty. Then came the twelve representatives of the junior class, seven girls and five boys, whose excellent records had won for them the honor of speaking upon this occasion. They filed in and seated themselves in a charming group at the right hand of the presiding officer of the occasion, Principal Pattengill.

The Chequamegon orchestra opened the exercises with one of their finest selections. They were at their best and rendered it in an unusually brilliant style even for them. The invocation was offered by Rev. Wetmore, and then after another selection by the orchestra Miss Winifred Beman discussed Sharps, Flats and Naturals. She said that society like music is kept from monotony by the sharps and flats. Her oration abounded in clever turns of expression and pat illustrations. The points were sharply made, her delivery was most charmingly natural and there was nothing flat about it.

Walter Curtis, of Salem, spoke upon the Restriction of Immigration. He pointed out both the dangers and advantages of immigration in a clear and concise way and advocated an educational test for admission.

Miss Josephine Daniels, of Gregory, spoke upon the Minor American Poets. Her idea is that a utilitarian age like the present does not encourage poets; but we have some fine successors to the earlier illustrious group. She especially dwelt on T. B. Aldrich and E. C. Stedman giving some characteristic quotations from their works.

Ralph Farnum received a small ovation from his numerous friends in the audience when he arose. His subject was the Russian Peasant. He told how the Russian, once free, had by princely treachery and Tartar conquest been reduced to serfdom. The prince now rules through ignorance of the peasant, and schools and newspapers are controlled by the Czar. One means to education and progress remains in some customs of local self government. Evils in Russia were abating not increasing, and a better day is coming.

After a musical interlude Miss Genevieve E. Mills, of Pittsfield, gave a very pretty imaginative sketch of the Children Who Lived in a Shoe. It was a button shoe with the top wide open a patch at the side and a rim behind; and such an old lady, and such children. The story was most gracefully told.

Lewis McCandless, of Prescott, Arizona, gave an account of Prehistoric Arizona. The speaker was a bright looking boy, with a slight lisp and his account of the ancient cities and cliff dwellings of Arizona was well told. He showed that those ancient peoples had considerable engineering skill and aesthetic taste.

Miss Marie E. Perry told the story of Arachne most delightfully, pursuing the account down to the latest times showing how Athena's curse had been carried out and had proved a blessing to mankind.

Miss Florence Sunderland explained a Fine Art. It was the art of making others happy. In a dream, a fairy conducts a discontented child to various scenes where the value of kind acts and household usefulness are finely illustrated. The story was very skillfully handled.

More music and then Claude Newton discussed Brutal Sports. People in all ages had enjoyed sports in which there was an element of danger; gladiatorial sports in Rome, the tournament in the middle ages, bull fights in Spain, and pugilism among the English speaking people. J. L. Sullivan was like Spartacus. The tendency of civilization is to abolish them.

Miss Louise P. Weinmann told about Discontent and related in a very interesting way a story that illustrated the evils thereof.

Miss Florence Wetmore chose the somewhat sadly retrospective subject of "It Might Have Been." She showed how neglected opportunities were ir retrievable losses.

The last speaker was Samuel H. Warriner, and his subject Inter-Oceanic Canals. He showed the immensity of the east and west traffic and the importance of the shorter water communication. Then he spoke of the Panama failure and scandal, and of the Nicaragua route favored by the U. S. which nation he said should control it.

Rev. Sunderland pronounced the benediction thus closing a very successful and entertaining Junior Exhibition. The speakers all did well; there were no hitches or awkwardness. The young orators displayed a fertility of idea and grace of expression that is a great both credit to their own mental powers and to the skill of their instructors.

A. H. Hammond.

Last Saturday afternoon Mr. Albert R. Hammond was struck down suddenly in the midst of his labors. In trying to pull a door out from a pile of them leaning against the wall he accidentally pulled the whole stack over upon himself. He was struck upon the back of the neck so that several of the bones of the neck were broken. He was instantly paralyzed below a line that could be distinctly drawn across his breast from shoulder to shoulder. Above that line he felt and lived, below that line he was practically dead, except that those internal organs controlled by nerves from the head still acted. He was removed promptly to the hospital where every effort was made to save him. His temperature at first was so far below normal that an operation could have availed nothing. It rose slightly but the rally was too slight to permit of any hope of recovery and at 1 o'clock Sunday morning he passed away. His funeral occurred Tuesday.

Mr. Hammond's death is a great loss to Ann Arbor. He has made a most enviable record for business integrity and professional skill.

Mr. Hammond was born in Ypsilanti in 1848, his parents coming from Vermont. He married Miss Fanny Wood, daughter of the late Darius Wood, who survives him.

Mrs. Mae Gilmore.

The sad death at the early age of 24 of Mrs. Mae Gilmore, nee Banghart, wife of Mr. E. S. Gilmore of this city, was mentioned in our last issue. The deceased and her family are well and favorably known here in Ann Arbor, where they have resided for a good many years. She was born in Dixboro but has lived the greater part of her life in this city. Her mother is Mrs. M. M. Banghart of E. Ann-st. The funeral occurred last Thursday at the house, the Rev. C. M. Coburn officiating.

The cause of her death was la grippe, and this disease also attacked the then two days old child so early bereft of her mother, with the result that three days later the mother's coffin was opened to place the dead child back in her arms.

Mr. Gilmore has the heartiest sympathy of the whole community in his double bereavement.

Wm. W. Saunders.

William W. Saunders, of No. 28 E. Catherine-st, Ann Arbor, died last Friday morning of Bright's disease. The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his late residence.

He was twice married. His second wife and three children, Etta Saunders and Eva Davison, of Ann Arbor, and Dr. William Saunders, of Grand Rapids, survive him.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Ishpeming is putting in an electric fire alarm system. The next G. A. R. State encampment will be held in Owosso. There were never so many farms for sale and farm auctions in Lenawee county as now. A Portage man says he killed 32 snakes one day last week. There is no jag institute at Portage. Earnest Witchock of Pontiac, has been appointed foreman of the farm at the Agricultural college. The Maybee creamery association has been organized with a capital stock of $4,000 and the money paid in. A farmer near Fowlerville has acquired five watches by drawing prize packages in boxes of smoking tobacco. N. Goodyear's market and the building occupied by the Owosso Plating Co., were burned at Owosso last Monday, loss, $8,500. At Clare a man applied to the T. A. A. & N. M. for employment as engineer. He said he got some experience running a threshing engine on a farm. A Lansing married man tried to elope with an Eaton county girl, and ran straight to the house of an uncle of hers. The uncle promptly forbade the ban.

Although Michigan's apple crop was voted a failure last year, the Riverside Evaporator at Flint worked up 21,000 bushels of apples, into products valued at $9,700.

Fr. Ternis, of the German catholic church at Adrian, offers $25 for information that will lead to the arrest of the vandals who mutilated a crucifix in the cemetery.

The supreme court in the mandamus proceedings of Mr. Stock to prevent the city of Hillsdale from selling bonds and erecting an electric light plant was decided for the city.

Two Ogdan farmers invented a knotting attachment for a self-binder that makes a hard knot instead of the usual bow knot. They have been offered $50,000 for it, says the Adrian Times.

Two weeks ago Walter Glasgow near Jonesville sheared his sheep. Last Friday he "dipped" them to destroy ticks. Friday night the weather suddenly turned severely cold and Saturday morning he found 110 of his flock dead.—Hillsdale Leader.

The Michigan Lutherans will erect their old folks' home just south of Monroe city as soon as the weather permits. Thirty-five hundred dollars was given the institution to locate there. Mt. Clemens offered $5,000, and lost because it was not rightly located.

Rufus Curtis, a farmer living near Webberville, committed suicide Monday night by hanging himself in the barn. He had fallen in love with his brother's widow, and his affections not being returned he became despondent and took his own life.—Livingston Democrat.

The dog that runs out in the road and barks at teams should die, no matter whose dog he is or of what breed. He is one of the most dangerous animals in the community. A man who drives a high spirited colt p at the door of a house infested with such a brute runs a greater risk of losing his life than he would taking a trip across the Atlantic.—Livingston Democrat.

Fred Mapes, aged 30, living at Gaines, five miles east of Durand, shot himself in the temple last Monday morning with a 31-caliber revolver, while lying in bed. He died instantly. He had attempted suicide with morphine the night before, but took an overdose and could not keep it down. His sweet-heart had rejected him and he did not care to live any longer.—Evening News.

George Force, of Eaton, felled an elm tree a few days ago, out of which he has taken considerable timber. The butt of the tree was too large to be easily handled for saw logs, so he cut 33 cords of wood; then he cut one 16 foot log, one 14 foot log and two 12 foot logs. This used up all of the log, but the top remains in which there is about 15 cords of buzzwood and enough large branches to cut about 30,000 feet of fence slats.—Charlotte Leader.

What She Should Do. Bertie had been forbidden under severe penalties to play in the rain barrel, but the other day, sad to relate, his mamma and grandmother found him splashing in it in high glee.

His mamma's face hardened, and the grandmother's kind heart led her to make a plea for the offender.

Bertie heard the plea, and when his mamma asked him sternly what she should do to a little boy who did not mind what was told him, he answered promptly: "I think you had better mind your mummy."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Charged with Bigamy. A woman giving her name as Mrs. Joseph K. Snyder, who has been stopping at the Huron house in Port Huron for some time past, says that she is the wife of Joseph S. Kite, a prominent citizen. She claims that Kite's real name is Snyder, and that he deserted her in California twelve years ago, then married another woman and went to Port Huron, where he has since resided. Kite says that the woman's story is false and that she is crazy. Kite, however, has paid Mrs. Snyder many visits at the hotel during the last few months.

Will Not Give Up the Keys. John R. Van Evera, appointed warden of the state prison at Marquette, finds more difficulty in securing evidence to the prison than some people do in getting out. Warden Malmberg, appointed two years ago by Gov. Winans, refuses to yield possession. The prison board has cut off Malmberg's salary and has notified him to yield possession, but he declines. On what grounds he refuses to turn over the prison is not known.

A Religious Exhibit. The committee appointed by the Michigan board of managers for the world's fair to make the exhibit of the condition and strength of religious denominations and of moral and benevolent organizations in the state request pastors of churches and other leaders in the lines indicated to aid them in this work. Space for this religious exhibit has been secured in the Michigan building, second story, adjoining the newspaper department.

State Board of Health. From various portions of the state the reports of fifty-nine observers for the week ended March 11 show that diphtheria, intermittent fever and pleuritis increased, and that inflammation of the bowels decreased in area of prevalence. Scarlet fever was reported at fifty-four places, measles at thirty-four, diphtheria at thirty-seven and typhoid fever at eighteen places.

Jail for an Ex-County Treasurer. Ex-County Treasurer Charles M. Jackson was arraigned before Justice McElroy at Grayling. He waived examination and was held to the circuit court, which will convene in May, under bonds of $15,000. So far he had failed to procure bonds, nor was there any likelihood of his doing so. He was committed to jail until he gives bonds or stands trial.

Tragedy in Detroit. An attempted murder and suicide took place at Kittle Place's house of ill-repute. Joseph Esser, 23 years old, shot and seriously injured Annie Shea, an inmate of the place, aged 28. He then placed the revolver to his right ear and blew his brains out. The cause of the shooting was jealousy. Annie may recover.

Earnings of Michigan Railways. The earnings of Michigan railways for December, 1892, were $10,108,222; for the corresponding month last year, $8,803,683; an increase of $1,304,539. The total earnings from January 1 to December 31, 1892, were $110,922,658; for same period in 1891, $95,472,329; an increase of $14,450,329 or 14.95 per cent.

Michigan Crop Report. The Michigan crop report for March, issued by the secretary of state, says that owing to the snow and ice which have covered the wheat fields for more than two months no satisfactory estimate of the condition of wheat can be made, but there is a feeling that it has been considerably damaged.

Short But Newsworthy Items. During February the copper output at the Quincy mine was 700 tons; Franklin, 187; Atlanta, 215.

George J. McCandless, rector of the Episcopal church at Mt. Pleasant, and grand chaplain of the free and accepted masons of Michigan, died the other evening.

John Weischamp, a tailor, attempted to shoot his wife at Menominee and then put a bullet into his head, dying instantly. A love for strong drink was the main cause of the trouble.

John Campbell's handsome residence in North Muskegon was burned, causing a loss of $4,000; insurance, $2,000.

Fifty men will engage in the fishing business this season for Mayor Kirby, of Grand Haven.

A. E. Preston, postmaster at Scotts, Kalamazoo county, has resigned.

Gen. Alger and a company of capitalists have purchased timber lands in the province of Quebec embracing 1,200 square miles.

The water in the Ashland mine is said to be full of eyeless fish, indications that it comes from some subterranean stream.

T. F. Langsdorf, a mill man of Bay City, dropped dead of heart failure in a physician's office at Seattle, Wash. He was there on business.

Maple sugar makers near Vicksburg have commenced work.

John Smith, of Ash, aged 68, and Catherine Martin, of Flat Rock, were married at Monroe.

The Bortree manufacturing company at Jackson is turning out 150 hoop skirts per day.

The prospects are that the Norrie mine at Ironwood will restore a night shift of 500 men laid off the first of the month. By April 1 the mine output will reach a million tons this year.

Michigan Good Templars have let contracts for the erection of a state headquarters' building at Hackley park. It will cost $8,000 when completed.

In a fight in the Athletic club rooms in Grand Rapids Fred Wright, a young man of that city, was knocked out in the third round, sustaining concussion of the brain, from the effects of which he would die.

W. J. Cleland left his overcoat on the river bridge at Kalamazoo on the following note: "I have lived long enough, so here goes in the river. W. J. Cleland." He leaves a wife and three children in destitute circumstances.

FIRE'S FELL WORK.

The Famous Tremont Temple in Boston in Ruins.

The Structure Was Owned by the Union Baptist Temple Society and Was Valued at $400,000—Other Losses by the Fire.

BOSTON, March 20.—Smoldering ruins mark the site of the historic Tremont temple, and one wall stands as a memento to Boston's narrow escape from a conflagration that at one time bade fair to be more serious than any in the history of the city. Coupled with this was a close call for over 1,000 sleeping guests of the Parker house adjacent. The property loss will reach $500,000, only one-third insurance being carried.

It was 7:10 o'clock when the fire was discovered in the temple auditorium, breaking up through from the boiler room, and before the department arrived, a matter of less than four minutes, the entire interior was a roaring furnace. Never did a fire gain such headway. The alarm was given from box 729, the private box of the Parker house.

Three alarms were sounded in quick succession, but when the firemen reached the entire upper part of the building was in flames and the Parker house on the north and W. S. Butler & Co.'s big dry-goods establishment on the south side were in imminent danger.

Five streams from standpipes from the Parker house and engines poured water into the building, and after two hours the firemen had conquered and the flames were kept within the walls of the temple, though some damage was done to the adjacent buildings.

By 10 o'clock the fire was practically subdued, and all that remained was a front wall of granite, which is badly cracked.

Tremont temple was of stone and brick and had a frontage of 74 feet on Tremont street, running back 150 feet toward Chapman place. It was owned by the Union Baptist Temple society and portions of it were leased. It cost $375,000. The insurance was $95,000 on building, $40,000 on the great organ and $8,000 on the fixtures. The society's loss will be about $300,000, including $200,000 value of the Gilbert collection of rare music and paintings.

The damage to the Parker house, J. Reed Whipple, proprietor, will reach $15,000, mostly a water loss to carpets and decorations, fully covered by insurance.

William S. Butler & Co.'s loss will be heavy and it is impossible more than merely to approximate it at $50,000. The firm employs 300 clerks and carried a heavy stock, which is badly damaged by smoke and water.

The Watchman, the Independent, Women's League, Loyal Women of American Liberty, Woman's Voice, American Baptist Missionary union, the Kingdom, the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary society, the American Baptist Home Missionary society, the Baptist State Mission all had offices in the temple and lose their books and furnishings.

The fire is supposed to have originated from overheated steam pipes or from an electric wire in the organ loft.

The loss to insurance companies will be about $240,000. The lines are well distributed, and no one company will sustain a greater loss than $10,000. All the firms in the vicinity who suffer losses by smoke and water are well covered by insurance; indeed the only real losers by the fire are the Tremont temple people, whose official title is the Union Temple Baptist church. The amount of insurance on the temple was but 85 per cent. of the assessed valuation.

The organ, which cost $28,000, was insured for but $9,000, while the four small organs, the pianos, the Gilbert library, a rare and valuable collection of music, and the paintings of former pastors and others, amounting in all to almost $10,000, were uninsured. The loss to the temple owners, over and above all insurance, will not be less than $70,000. Dr. Lubin, of the pharmacy, places his loss by water at $5,000, covered by insurance. The occupants of the first floor of Tremont temple lose heavily, but the insurance will cover in each case.

Rev. Dr. George C. Lorimer, formerly of the Immanuel Baptist church, Chicago, is the pastor of this great congregation which once more has been made homeless by fire.

Tremont temple, which was originally a theater, has been one of the most conspicuous public buildings of Boston in the current generation. Since 1863 it has been celebrated all over the country as the largest Baptist church in New England. It is not in America, and the headquarters of that denomination. The purpose of taking it for religious uses was stated in the original appeal for purchase money to found a free church in Boston, where "all persons, whether rich or poor, without distinction of color or condition, might worship." The night of March 31, 1892, the temple was burned, and John Hall, a citizen, was killed, and George Estes, a fireman of engine No. 7, Charlestown, had his back broken and died shortly afterward. The loss was $178,365; insurance, $45,244. A new building on the old site was completed, however, in December, 1883, at a cost of $125,000. August 14, 1879, the building was destroyed again by fire but was promptly rebuilt and reopened October 17, 1880, at a cost of more than $250,000. The auditorium was one of the largest in the country, being 122 feet in length, 72 feet in width and 66 feet in height. The seating capacity was equal to an audience of 2,000 people. Beneath this great hall was the Meloson vault with a seating capacity of 1,000.

A Minnesota Mill in Ashes. JORDAN, Minn., March 20.—The City mills burned Sunday morning. The elevator was saved. The mill was valued at from $120,000 to $140,000, and was probably insured for $50,000.

AN AUBURN MIRACLE.

AN ACT OF HEROISM IS FOLLOWED BY DIRE RESULTS.

Edward Donnelly Saves a Life Almost at the Cost of His Own—After Years of Suffering He is Restored to Health—His Story as Told to a Reporter of the Auburn Bulletin.

(Auburn, N. Y., Bulletin.) It is upon record that upon a chilly April day, a few years ago, an eight year old boy fell into the East river at the foot of East Eighth-st., New York, and when all efforts to rescue him had failed, Edward Donnelly, at risk of his own life, plunged into the water and, when himself nearly exhausted, saved the boy from drowning. It was a humane and self sacrificing deed and received deserved commendation in all the many newspapers that made mention of it. Edward Donnelly was then a resident of New York City, but his wife was Amanda Grantman of Auburn and sister, Mrs. Samuel D. Corry of No. 71 Moravia-st., which gave a local interest to the incident. All this was some time ago, and both it and Mr. Donnelly have passed out of the mind of your correspondent until, a few days ago, while in Saratoga, N. Y., was shown a letter to a friend from which he was permitted to make the following extract:

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 26th, '92. I am taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have cured me of that terrible disease, Locomotor Ataxia. When I commenced taking them, I was wholly unable to work and nearly helpless. I am now improved so much that I have been picking apples and wheeling them to the barn on a wheelbarrow. Yours truly, EDWARD DONNELLY, 71 Moravia-st., Auburn, N. Y.

Immediately on reaching Auburn, your correspondent called at the above address and found Mr. Donnelly out in a barn, where he was grinding apples and making cider with a hand press and he seemed well and cheerful and happy.

Moravia-st is one of the pleasant suburban streets of Auburn, and No. 71 is about the last house on it before reaching the open country, and nearly two miles from the business center of the city.

"Why yes" said Mr. Donnelly, "come into the house, I will tell you all about my case and how Pink Pills cured me, and will be glad to do it and to have it printed for the benefit of others, for I am sure I owe my restoration to health and happiness wholly to those simple but wonderful pills." Then in the presence of his wife and Mrs. Corry and Mrs. Taylor, who all confirmed his statement, he told your correspondent the story of his sickness and of his restoration to health by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"I was born in Albany, N. Y., and am 42 years old. The greatest portion of my life, I have lived in New York City. I was general foreman there of the F. A. Mulgrave Saw Mills, foot of Eighth-st on the East river. It was on the 29th of April, 1889, that the boy fell into the river and I rescued him from drowning, but in saving his life, I contracted a disease, which nearly cost me my own life. Why, Sir, I am sure I should have died long ago if Pink Pills had not saved my life, and I wouldn't have cared then for my sufferings were so great that death would have been a blessed relief; but now, thank God, I am a well man again and free from pain and able to work and to be happy."

"You see when I saved the boy, I was in the water so long that I was taken with a drenching chill and soon became so stiffened up and weak that I could neither work nor walk. For some time I was unable to get out of bed. My general treatment, of Dr. F. A. Mulgrave Saw Mills, foot of Eighth-st on the East river, it was on the 29th of April, 1889, that the boy fell into the river and I rescued him from drowning, but in saving his life, I contracted a disease, which nearly cost me my own life. Why, Sir, I am sure I should have died long ago if Pink Pills had not saved my life, and I wouldn't have cared then for my sufferings were so great that death would have been a blessed relief; but now, thank God, I am a well man again and free from pain and able to work and to be happy."

"The numbness began in my hands and pretty soon the whole of both my feet became affected. There was a cold feeling across the small of my back and downwards and a sense of soreness and a tight pressure on the chest. The numbness gradually extended up both legs and into the lower part of my body. I felt that death was creeping up on my vitals and I must say I longed for the hour when I should relieve me of my pain and misery. I was still taking the medicine ("It was Iodide of Potassium," said his wife) and was being rubbed and having plasters put all over my body, but with no benefit.

"The latter part of last June I learned of the case of Mr. Chas. Quant, cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had never heard of those blessed Pills before, but I thought if they could cure Mr. Quant of the same disease with which I was afflicted, perhaps they would also cure me. So I sent to the Chas. H. Sagar Company, the popular Auburn druggists and chemists at 109 and 111 Genesee-st., and got three boxes of the Pink Pills and began taking them at once, following all the directions closely. In three weeks time I was so improved that by being helped, I was able to help myself and to get up and go to work and to walk every day from No. 74 Walnut-st., where I then lived, to Osborn's New Twine Factory, Seymour and Cottage-st.—(More than a mile) where I was then employed, but all the while I was taking Pink Pills.

"Then Dr. Patchen, of Wisconsin, uncle of my wife, and who was here on a visit, began to poo-poo at me for taking Pink Pills and finally persuaded me to stop taking them and to let him treat me. When he returned to the West he left prescription with Dr. Hyatt of Auburn, who also treated me. But their treatment did me no good, and after a while the old trouble returned and I was getting bad again. Then I began again to take Pink Pills; have taken them ever since, am taking them now; have taken in all nearly 20 boxes, at an entire cost of less than $10.00 (My other treatment cost me a pile of money) and again I am well and able to work."

"In New York Dr. McDonald said my disease was Locomotor Ataxia. He treated me by striking me on the knees without giving me pain; by having me try to walk with my eyes closed; by trying to stand first on one foot and then on the other, but I couldn't do it, and so after a while he said I had Locomotor Ataxia and was incurable, and that I had better go into the country among my friends, who would make the few remaining days of my life as comfortable as possible and give me kind attendance. Well I came, or rather was brought from New York into the country, but instead of dying, I am a well man, nearly as well as ever before in my life. Pink Pills did it. If I was able I would, at my own expense, publish the virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the whole world and especially in New York City, where I am much better known than I am here."

"Another thing," said Mr. Donnelly, "I am sure that the Pink Pills for Pale People (and they are well named) are the best remedy for impure blood and the best blood maker in the world, why, when I was sick and before I took them, if I cut myself the very little blood that came from the wound was thick and dark and watery. A few days ago I accidentally cut my hand slightly and I bled like a pig and the blood was a bright red. Just look at the blood in the veins of my hands." So indeed they were, and his cheeks also wore the ruby flush of health with which only good blood and plenty of it can paint the human face.

Your correspondent again called upon Chas. H. Sagar & Co., at their request, and was much interested in the case and cure by use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and told of several other instances, which had come to their knowledge where the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had proved efficacious in making most wonderful cures. These pills contain in condensed form all the elements necessary to give a new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as erysipelas, carbuncles, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excess of whatever nature.

The Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and Brockville, Ont., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cts a box, or six boxes for $2.50. Bear in mind that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk, or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who suffers substitutes in this form is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which these pills are sold make a course at treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

CONDITION OF TRADE. Distribution of Goods Continues Large Despite a Number of Drawbacks.

NEW YORK, March 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Distribution of goods continues large for the season in spite of extraordinary weather, some failures and a tight money market. Storms and severe cold have retarded trading and collections throughout the country, but the demand and doubtless cause much of the monetary pressure, though a larger part is due to the great excess of imports over exports. Europe is not shipping products from the country as usual nor lending money as much as usual to carry products here until they are needed, and accumulated stocks at commercial centers, with slow collections in the country, make the demand for money unusually large.

Exports of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions, cattle and oil in February were $40,982,331, against $63,204,712 last year, which, with the increase of nearly $9,000,000 in imports at New York, makes a probable excess of imports in that month of about $100,000, against an excess of exports in the same month last year of $21,000,000. Exports in March also have been small at New York, $4,540,000 less for two weeks than last year. Speculation in products has been naturally depressed, cotton being at one time a quarter and now 3/16 lower than a week ago, with sales of over $20,000,000. Wheat is 2/16 lower, with sales of $5,000,000 bushels; the government report of 18,000,000 bushels in farmers' hands, besides 79,000,000 bushels in visible supply, making it clear that a great surplus would have to be carried over next July.

Bessemer products are stronger than usual at Pittsburgh, hardware is more active and coke improves. At Cleveland trade is fair at $20.00 a ton. Iron is quiet, but tobacco quiet and firm. At Indianapolis money is close. Trade at Detroit is equal to last year's and in lumber heavy. Chicago reports great demand in the farming regions, and active trade in merchandise with satisfactory orders. Storms interrupt at Milwaukee, but at St. Louis trade is heavy, especially with the southwest, while lead is strong, but flour mills are running half time. Cattle receipts at Kansas City are liberal, the tone at Omaha is sanguine and collections are improved at St. Joseph. No improvement is seen at St. Paul, but trade at Cincinnati is quiet, but tobacco quiet and firm. At Montgomery and Atlanta fair. At Columbus collections are slow and money tight at Mobile business is good. At New Orleans, the market is quiet, but tobacco quiet with firm money but in ample supply. The iron industry shows improvement. Prices are steady, though extremely low, with less pressure on sizes, and a little more demand is seen for bar and plate iron and steel. Structural works are well employed, though not at better prices. Copper is steady. Lead firm at 3 3/8, but tin 1/16 lower. The shoe business is large. Cattle receipts at the west are smaller, and bad weather and strikes, or fears of strikes, affect all railway movements to some extent.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 230, as compared with totals of 225 last week. For the corresponding week last year the figures were 240.

NO HOPE LEFT. Vessel in Port Which Passed Two of the Naronic's Empty Lifeboats.

BREMEN, March 21.—After long-continued anxiety regarding the fate of the White Star line freight steamer, Naronic, which sailed from Liverpool February 11 for New York, and which had not since been heard of, intelligence has been received showing beyond any doubt that the vessel is lost. The British steamer Coventry, Capt. Wilson, from Pernambuco February 10, has arrived at this port. She reports that at 2 o'clock in the morning of March 4, when in latitude 42 north, longitude 46 west, she passed a lifeboat painted white, bearing the name Naronic. The boat was floating keel upward. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day another lifeboat from the Naronic was passed. This boat gave evidence of having encountered heavy weather. There is a chance that the occupants of the boats were picked up by a passing vessel.

Internal Revenue Receipts. WASHINGTON, March 20.—Commissioner Mason has prepared a statement showing that the aggregate collections from internal revenue for the first eight months of the current fiscal year were $107,820,542, an increase over the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year of $7,154,194. The aggregate receipts for February were $561,382 less than a year ago.

Justice Brewer's Opinion. WASHINGTON, March 21.—At a meeting of the Congressional club yesterday Justice Brewer, of the United States supreme court, held that it was an injustice for congress to discriminate against and ostracize the Chinese. He also said that aliens should not be allowed to vote until after a residence of twenty-one years in the country.

The Sentence Stands. PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—The supreme court has refused to grant the petition to admit to bail and allow a special allocatur to Hugh B. Dempsey, the Homestead poisoner. The same tribunal made a similar order in the case of Robert Beatty, a Homestead laborer.

A DRUNKEN BRUTE. He Shoots and Kills a Man and Woman in St. Louis.

St. Louis, March 21.—Scott Jones and a woman with whom he lived were shot and almost instantly killed Monday afternoon by Louis Kammande, a bartender. The tragedy occurred in the house of the murdered people where Kammande, who was intoxicated, had pursued a colored boy from a neighborly saloon who had beaten him playing cards. The woman, Cora Thompson, first encountered Kammande, and, producing a pistol, tried to drive him out. He shot and instantly killed her. When Jones appeared he picked up the weapon dropped by the woman and tried to use it, but was also shot down, dying almost instantly.

Two Lives Lost. NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 21.—Fire at Athens, Ala., at 4 a. m. destroyed several stores and small buildings. The total damage will not exceed $5,000. William Chandler, of McKenzie, Tenn., a student at the Alabama agricultural college, and Owen Brown, of Athens, were caught under falling walls and crushed to death.

A Successful Cast. CHICAGO, March 20.—Sixteen hundred pounds of sterling silver were melted in a crucible at Grand Crossing Saturday. At noon the molten mass was poured into a huge mold and Montana's silver statue of Justice, a reproduction of Ada Rehan's ample proportions, was an accomplished fact.

Left Her a Fortune. NEW ORLEANS, March 21.—Abingdon Baird, the wealthy English sportsman who died in this city Saturday, left Mrs. Langtry, the actress, $200,000 a year and the whole of his racing stud and his magnificent establishment at Newmarket.

Postmasters Dismissed. WASHINGTON, March 20.—On Saturday Postmaster General Bissell ordered the discharge of thirty-nine postmasters of the fourth class. The territory thus devastated embraces Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland and Virginia.

The Grain Supply. WASHINGTON, March 21.—The visible supply of grain in the United States yesterday was: Wheat, 79,021,000 bushels; corn, 15,241,000 bushels; oats, 4,676,000 bushels; rye, 946,000 bushels; barley, 1,390,000 bushels.

SAD LOSS OF LIFE.

Prisoners Chained Together Perish on the March to Siberian Mines.

St. Petersburg, March 21.—Siberian advices give details of a sad loss of life among a band of convicts bound for the prisons of Siberia. The band numbered in all 374 persons. The convicts were marching during a snow-storm and when six hours from Tomsk the storm had become so severe that all the roads were obliterated. Chained together the convicts struggled along until gradually the weaker ones fell in the deep snow, dragging the stronger ones down with them. Despite the efforts of the Cossack guards the exhausted people could make no attempt to save themselves and they were abandoned to freeze to death, while the others were driven forward those in charge hoping to get them to a place of shelter. When the guards managed to get what few remained of their charges to a place of safety they found that of the 374 persons they had started with only ninety-one survived. Sixty-two of those who had perished were political prisoners. Among those lost were Mme. Lazarov, six other women and four children.

UTTERLY INSOLVENT. Liabilities of the Capital Bank at Omaha $700,000; Assets, $13,000.

OMAHA, Neb., March 21.—Evidence taken by the committee of the legislature which inquired into the condition of the state funds on deposit in the defunct Capital national bank was filed Monday evening. It shows the bank to be utterly insolvent. Bank Examiner Griffith testified that at no time within a year could the Capital national have paid the state the money on deposit. There was $235,000 of the state money in the bank. Receiving Teller Oscar Funke testified that the night the bank was closed there was due depositors nearly $700,000, and the bank's cash on hand was $13,000, with no other funds available, its accounts with correspondents being overdrawn and all available paper re-discounted.

LOOKS LIKE MURDER. A Mystery Surrounding the Death of a Freeport (Ill.) Couple.

FREEPORT, Ill., March 20.—The residence of Henry Boedecker, a well-known citizen of Freeport, burned to the ground at 3 a. m. Saturday and the charred bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Boedecker were found in the ruins. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Boedecker was one of our leading coal merchants and has been doing a good deal of collecting of late. It is believed that burglars entered the house in the night and that they were surprised at their work by Mr. Boedecker, who gave them battle. The supposition is that the burglars killed both Mr. and Mrs. Boedecker and then set fire to the house to cover up their crime.

LIVING FISH. A Car Load of the Finny Tribe Arrives at Jackson Park, Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 21.—United States Fish Commissioner Marshall McDonald reached Jackson park Monday with a car load of live fish for the fisheries building. This is the first consignment of fish to reach the world's fair grounds and is the forerunner of a display which will include all the different kinds of fish known to the inland and coast waters of the United States. The project of bringing a live whale, Mr. McDonald said, had to be abandoned, but he will have sharks and porpoises.

Forty Years for a Murderer. BLOOMINGTON, Ill., March 20.—George Price, on trial for the murder of John Hay, was found guilty, the jury sentencing him to the penitentiary for forty years. Both Price and Hay were farmer neighbors in this county. Sunday, August 21 last, both became intoxicated and got into a quarrel, which resulted in the stabbing and killing of Hay after he had twice been knocked down with an alcohol bottle.

Immigration Statistics. WASHINGTON, March 21.—The total number of immigrants that arrived in this country during the twelve months ended February 28 was 216,925, against 309,484 for the corresponding period last year. The greatest number, 65,000, came from Germany, the next largest, 50,000, from Russia, and the third in point of numbers, 23,500, from Italy.

FERRY IS DEAD.

The Famous French Republican Passes Away Suddenly.

The Sad Event Causes a Great Shock in France—He Was But Recently Elected President of the Senate.

DIED SUDDENLY. PARIS, March 18.—M. Jules Francois Camille Ferry, president of the French senate, died suddenly Friday evening from heart disease. The fatal attack was due to the effects of a bullet striking a rib near the base of the heart at the time he was attacked by Aubertin in 1887. He was seized with spasms early in the morning, and despite every effort made by the physicians who were hastily summoned the convulsions continued to grow in violence until at 6 o'clock in the evening he expired in a terribly severe spasm. Nothing had been known of his illness and the news caused a most profound sensation in Paris. Ferry was but recently elected to the senate's presidency, and his power was just beginning to be felt.

M. Ferry was born at Saint-Die in the Vosges, April 5, 1832. He studied law in Paris, was admitted to the bar there in 1854, took part in journalism and joined the opposition to Napoleon III, being one of those condemned in the trial of the thirteen in 1854. In 1859 he was elected to the corps legislatif and sat with the left. He quickly made himself conspicuous, proposing the abolition of the court that acquitted Prince Pierre Bonaparte, and also the dissolution of the corps legislatif as no longer representing the people. He voted against the declaration of war with Prussia. When the empire fell in 1870 he was made secretary of the provisional government of the national defense, and subsequently held several high public offices.

After the resignation of Marshal MacMahon in 1879 M. Ferry was appointed to a place in the cabinet of President Grévy as minister of public instruction. Under his administration the Jesuits were excluded from teaching in the public schools, and as a result the ministry was overthrown.

In 1883 the ministry was reconstructed under the premiership of M. Ferry. In the following year his administration was forced to resign in consequence of the public outcry against their policy in regard to the expedition to Tunis. Two years later he again became prime minister and immediately undertook his disastrous invasion of Tonquin. In the spring of 1885 M. Ferry was hauled from the premiership by an indignant house of the deputies as a "tool of Prince Bismarck."

M. Ferry's failure to meet Gen. Boulanger in a duel after having grossly insulted the latter did much to render him unpopular in France. The seconds chosen were Messrs. Antonin Proust and Raynal for M. Ferry, and Gen. Favrot and Count Dillon for Gen. Boulanger. Gen. Boulanger insisted, through his seconds, upon such conditions of meeting as would insure a serious combat. These conditions were evaded by M. Ferry's representatives, and the seconds of the respective parties failed to come to an agreement.

WORK OF A HURRICANE. Many Villages Reported Destroyed at New Caledonia and New Hebrides.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., March 21.—A destructive hurricane March 6 swept over the New Hebrides islands and New Caledonia, destroying many villages and causing great loss of life. Large numbers of the natives are said to have perished. New Caledonia forms with neighboring islands the most important penal colony of France, and particulars are anxiously awaited as to the destruction of life and property at Noumea and other points. The New Hebrides have but few white inhabitants. Among these are missionaries from America and Europe. The hurricane was the worst ever experienced in the region. It raged incessantly for three days, and the rainfall was enormous. Half of New Caledonia is flooded. In Tobiou alone ten persons were drowned. The loss of property was at least $600,000. Most of the settlers were ruined.

Laid Side by Side. MILWAUKEE, March 21.—The remains of Miss Nunemacher and Mr. Miller, the young lovers from this city who died together in the woods near Pass Christian, Miss., arrived here at 5:30 o'clock Monday morning on the fast mail train from Chicago. At the depot the bodies were placed in an undertaker's wagon and before 7 o'clock were in the receiving vault at Forest Home cemetery. No friends followed the undertaker's wagon to the cemetery and no public funeral will be held.

Death of Gen. Kueffner. St. Louis, March 20.—Gen. William C. Kueffner died at his home in Belleville, Ill., aged 53 years. He was a soldier in the Crimean war at the age of 15 years, and emigrating to America in 1850, enlisted in the union army. He organized the One Hundred and Forty-ninth Illinois infantry.

A Sad Spectacle. PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 20.—Willie Duffy, aged 7; James Dougherty, aged 11, and Willie Gettis, aged 13, who were picked up on the street in this city yesterday by the police, were found to be unconscious and in a dying condition from the effects of liquor.

Heavy Loss by Fire. NORTH EASTON, MASS., March 20.—E. J. W. Morse & Co.'s large brick cotton thread factory at South Easton has been destroyed by fire. The loss on building and machinery is estimated from $175,000 to $200,000, only partially insured.

Only a Child Himself. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 18.—Lizzie B. Hinkleley, the 12-year-old wife of Henry Hinkleley, of this city, gave birth to triplets, two girls and a boy. The couple have been married one year.

For Supreme Court Justice, FRANK E. HOOKER, Charlotte. For Regents of the University, FRANK W. FLETCHER, of Alpena, HERMANN KIEFFER, of Detroit, For County Commissioner of Schools, JOHN W. BENNETT, of Ann Arbor. For Circuit Judge, EDWARD D. KINNE.

FROM THE MUNICIPAL CLUBS CONSTITUTION.

Sec. 2. The object of the Municipal Club shall be to secure (1) an honest and efficient non-partisan administration of the city government; (2) the enforcement of all laws, particularly those relating to gambling, the keeping of houses of ill fame, and the liquor traffic; and (3) the nomination and election to office of men who are pledged to do all in their power to obtain these results.

JUDGE E. D. KINNE.

Judge Kinne was nominated by a unanimous vote at the judicial convention held in Dundee and he has consented to be a candidate for re-election. The people of this district must understand that Judge Kinne cannot be re-elected unless some hard work is done by his friends in his behalf. All admit that he has made an excellent judge, that his fine legal attainments have made the work of a circuit judge comparatively easy for him and the record which he has made in the last six years is one any lawyer would have been proud to make for himself.

The tax payers of the district are directly interested in this election. With the experience which Judge Kinne has had, he will be able to expedite business in his court much faster than a man could of absolutely no legal experience and of limited ability like his opponent, Mr. Gilday.

In many of the districts of the state the parties have united and nominated but the one candidate. With a record surpassed by no judge in Michigan, Judge Kinne was entitled to this preference from all parties in the district. Had the district been a close one, the Democrats would have been quite willing to do this, but the party leaders gave out the word that this must not be done and Mr. Gilday has been nominated. Now the leaders are trying to hold their party vote. We do not believe this can be done. It ought not to be done and we sincerely hope Judge Kinne's friends will see to it that a full vote is polled for him. There is no doubt what the people of this district would do if they have their own way about it. They can have it if they will only see to it that the men who wish to vote for Judge Kinne have the opportunity to do so.

While the Democrats in this district have a majority of two thousand yet this can be overcome if Judge Kinne receives the legal support of all those who are interested in maintaining the high character of the judiciary in the district. We say vote for Judge Kinne because he is an able, honest and upright judge, and do not vote for Mr. Gilday simply because he is a Democrat.

The people of Ann Arbor are to be congratulated on the fine working majority in favor of sewers. It shows that there is a general appreciation of our necessities in that direction among our citizens. It is to be hoped that in the coming election of city officers the people will bear in mind the necessity of having the right men in position to manage the building of our system. The oratorical contest last Saturday evening was a very fine and successful affair. There were seven contestants Messrs Long, Reynolds Nelson, Allen Walker, Howells and Chapman. Mr. Long, a lit, won first place his subject being "The Relation of Modern Isms to Progress," and consequently upon him devolves the honor of representing the University in the approaching contest with Oberlin. Mr. Nelson, a law, won second place.

Last Saturday a number of students submitted themselves to a complicated series of tests devised by a psychological investigator named Galton. The tests were concerned with the memory and vision and were requested by the American Psychological Society to make a portion of their exhibit at the World's Fair. Each of the leading universities are requested to furnish 100 such tests.

Prohibition Convention. The Prohibitionists of this city will hold a convention at the Good Templars Hall on State-st next Friday evening, March 24, at 8 o'clock, to make nominations for the coming city election.

Social Doings.

Mrs. Root visited in Detroit over Sunday. Fr. Fierle, of Ionia, was in the city Monday. Alderman Prettyman was in Detroit Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Goodyear were in Detroit Tuesday. Mrs. E. Rehberg has returned from her visit in Detroit. Mrs. Wood, of Chelsea, was visiting friends in the city yesterday. Miss Price, of Jackson, left this city to visit Detroit friends Tuesday. A very pleasant party at the residence of George Allmendinger last week. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mack went to Shelby, Ky., her former home, last week. Prof. and Mrs. Gaines, of Detroit, spent Sunday with Ann Arbor friends. Miss Josie Herey entertained Carrie Barker of Whitmore Lake the past week. Miss Mayme McLouth, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Miss Nina Doty.

A dancing party was given by Mrs. M. Hudson, of Washtenaw-ave last Friday evening. Mrs. A. C. Eyckelshymer, of Chicago University, recently arrived here to spend a few weeks. There was a pleasant party at the residence of Mr. Nelson Sutherland last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Wm. Caspary and Will Caspary were in Chelsea Sunday to attend the funeral of Fred Wunder of that place. The Misses Louise and Mamie Paine, of Manchester, who were visiting Mrs. Quincy, of Forest-ave., returned home this week. Col. C. V. R. Pond has been in the city for nearly a week on G. A. R. business. He and Mrs. Pond are the guests of Col. and Mrs. Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Phineas L. Paze expect to move to Chicago before many weeks, so as to be with their sons, both of whom are in business in that city. Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Darrow have been visiting Mrs. Darrow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cornwell, for a few days. They left for Minneapolis Tuesday.

Tuesday was the Rev. John Neumann's birthday. He was serenaded by the Christian Endeavor and Young Ladies' societies of the Bethlehem church. Cards are out announcing the wedding on Wednesday, March 29, of Miss Rosa Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Schneider, and Mr. John Fischer.

The engagement of Miss Dora N. Agnew, daughter of Mr. John Agnew, of Munnhall, Pa., to Mr. John A. Nichols, a former Ann Arbor boy, chemist at the Carnegie Steel Works, is announced.

Prof. Salmon's Lectures. Miss Lucy M. Salmon, professor of history at Vassar College, began this week a series of five lectures on Domestic Service in the University Chapel under the auspices of the resident members of the association of collegiate alumnae, all funds in excess of expenses going to the woman's wing of the Waterman Gymnasium. These lectures, the result of many months of research and of a series of statistics collected by herself, have been given in Indianapolis, Madison, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and elsewhere to arouse a new and more enlightened interest in the difficult question of household service. The ladies at Ann Arbor are enabled to secure Miss Salmon as she is at present giving ten courses of lectures in Detroit on this same subject. As Miss Salmon is a former graduate of the U. of M. all should delight to honor her with a hearing, and in some valuable information and assist materially in the good cause of helping on the woman's gymnasium. Two lectures have already been given.

The subjects and dates are as follows: Lecture I. Sat. 18th, 4 p. m. Some Historic Aspects of Domestic Service.—The influence on household employments of a century of inventions, and on domestic service of political changes in Europe, resulting in emigration. Lecture II. Wed. 22nd, 7 p. m. Some Economic Aspects of Domestic Service.—The application to domestic service of laws governing other forms of labor. Lecture III. Fri. 24th, 7 p. m. The Present Condition of Domestic Service.—The economic advantages and disadvantages in the conditions of service as seen by employers and employees. Lecture IV. Mon. 27th, 7 p. m. Suggested Remedies for Existing Difficulties.—An examination of the different measures proposed for lessening present difficulties and their relation to these difficulties and also to the industrial principles found in other occupations. Lecture V. Time to be set by lecturer. Possible Remedies for existing Difficulties.—An examination of the present industrial, social and educational tendencies in accordance with which an improvement in household service can be secured.

Tickets for the course, 75 cents. On sale at Sheehan's. Epworth League. For the State Convention Epworth League at Grand Rapids April 5th to 7th, the Toledo, Ann Arbor and North Michigan E. Y. will sell excursion tickets at one and one third fare for the round trip, good going April 4th, 5th and 6th, and for return April 7th. 53

SHE WAS SURPRISED.

So Will You Be When You Read It. It Certainly Has Been a Source of Wonder and Comment. But the Lady is Ready to Substantiate Everything.

Charlestown, Mass.—There has been in this place much wonder and comment of late in regard to a certain lady—a Mrs. Agnes S. Morton, who resides at 388 Main street, Charlestown, Mass. She was seen at her home and explained the whole interesting matter as follows: "I do not know how to express myself to you and the public at large about this matter," she said, "but I feel it my bounden duty to say something.

"Everybody knows that I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for twenty-five years and that I tried most everything and different doctors, but all were failures. I became so weak that I was unable to walk steadily, had no appetite and what I did eat was the most simple kind of food; but my stomach was unable to retain even that. "I could not sleep at night, had no ambition for anything, and was a total wreck. I knew I would have to do something as I could not stand it many weeks longer. Why I could not go up stairs without sitting down, and my heart would beat and I would be all of a tremble. I got a bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and had taken scarcely one-half of it when I began to have an appetite and when I finished the remainder the trembling had left me, the palpitation was better and I could sleep nights. I took four bottles and then left off to see if the great benefit I had received was permanent for everything I had taken before had proved only temporary.

The debate on the franchise began by Ald. Prettyman asking if the city attorney had examined it whereupon the legal gentleman expressed the opinion that it would hurt nobody. Ald. Prettyman thought a standard of gas should be established or else the consumer was not protected by the price, like milkmen who care nothing for the price of milk as long as water is cheap. Considerable discussion followed. It was urged that to insist on a definite number of heat units per 1000 ft was to tie the company to one system of manufacture; they might wish to put in another system and give twice or three times as much gas to get the same number of heat units at a less actual cost in the end. It was asked why not make the price a definite rate for 1000 heat units and not make the number of feet of gas any item in the matter. The technical knowledge of Mr. H. W. Douglas who was present was drawn out, and he stated that the term heat unit was theoretical, and ascertained in laboratories by a process of computation based on the component parts of gas. The franchise finally was tabled for one week. An ordinance extending the franchise of the Ann Arbor Gas Co. for thirty years was read a second time, and then the board of inspectors appointed to hold the sewer election reported that 1357 votes were cast, 795 yes, 536 no, 23 doubled and 3 blank.

Ald. Ferguson offered a resolution appropriating $300 to widen and tile South State-st., from Packard to city limits. He stated that property owners would furnish the tile if the city would do the work. Considerable discussion arose over this resolution but finally it prevailed. The city attorney gently and quietly slid out just in time to miss Ald. Snow's war worn resolution about George Palmer. A motion to table it pending the city attorney's report was lost, but adjournment was taken immediately after with Ald. Snow making wild eyed threats about next time.

The Hired Girl Question Philosophically Treated. University chapel was over half full last Saturday afternoon to hear the initial lecture in the series on Domestic Service now being given under the auspices of the collegiate alumnae by Prof. Lucy Salmon of Vassar College. The first lecture, introductory and historical in character, showed why the important subject had so far failed to receive the scientific investigation it had merited. The lecturer told on what statis-

MRS. AGNES S. MORTON.

"But I found that it was not so in this case. I have not taken it now for some time and its results are just as good and permanent. "I must tell you I am like a new person. I have an excellent appetite, can eat anything and everything, and I feel buoyant and ambitious.

"I cannot express half I want to, and all this is perfectly true, as all my friends and acquaintances are knowing to all the facts. "I never expected to be cured as my case had been of so long standing. I hoped for nothing more than relief for a while; but I am cured, perfectly cured. Yes, I do not hesitate to say that through the blessing of God and Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy I am completely cured."

Such is the lady's remarkable story, and we doubt if such wonderful cures have ever before been made as are effected by this truly valuable discovery, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a fact that everybody needs a spring medicine, something to tone up and strengthen the nerves, invigorate the blood and start up a healthy action of the organs; and no medicine in the world so perfectly and completely does this as Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is the ideal spring invigorant and restorative.

All can secure its great benefits as it is for sale by druggists for $1. It is, too, a purely vegetable and harmless medicine, the prescription in fact of the well-known, successful specialist, in nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th Street, New York, who can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

WADHAMS, RYAN & REULE.

The Common Council.

Alderman Fillmore presided over the deliberations of the council last Monday evening in the absence of Pres. Cooley. Everyone was present eventually except Alderman Taylor. The mayor sent in a veto message disapproving of the transfer of $698 from the contingent to the street fund on the ground that there were fewer votes for it in the council than the charter required. The veto was sustained.

A petition for a fire hydrant at the corner of Benjamin and Mary streets was referred to the water committee and another for a plank sidewalk on Catherine street from Ingalls to Thirteenth, was referred to the sidewalk committee.

Ald. Martin read for the third time the ordinance granting a franchise to a new fuel gas company. This provided for the gas to be supplied at not more than 75c per 1000 cubic feet to private parties, and at not more than 50c to the city. It was also provided that in case the gas run less than 600 heat units to the cubic foot that the price should be lowered. The time asked for was thirty years, and the company asked for about three years to build in. Ald. Herz who had arrived during the reading of the ordinance said they ought to have an ordinance to prevent aldermen from smoking during the reading of ordinances, and Ald. Schairer suggested a clause to prevent them coming in late and grumbling, whereupon Ald. Herz sputtered until sat upon by the chair.

The Nelson Comic Opera Co. will present "La Mascotte" at the Grand Opera House on Friday evening, March 24. It is unnecessary to say much of the opera for a great many have seen it and know it is one of the best and funniest operas ever written. Miss Essie Barton will appear as "Bettine," the Mascotte. This little lady is a most charming sourette, with plenty of chic and grace, and seems possessed of all the artifices that the stage is heir to. She is bright, vivacious, of agreeable presence, and acts the part allotted to her discreetly, giving them all the required force, yet keeping modestly within the bounds of good taste. Miss Jene Weaver, the famous skirt-dancer, late of Kiratzy's Ballet, will be seen in her clever dances, also in the third act the march of the cadets with their fascinating evolutions will form a most pleasing picture. Nelson and Hageman as Rocco and Lorenzo will keep the audience convulsed with laughter for two and one-half hours. There are 30 people in this organization and the prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. This is the Latest. Charles Staebler has removed his stock of wall paper from his old stand on W. Huron-st to more commodious quarters at 25 S. Spring Styles. Nothing gives half the promise of Spring that some of our dry goods stores do. In E. F. Mills' store for example the display of Spring goods will fairly dazzle a man. Silks in unlimited profusion! To be in style is to be in silk in whole or in part. And dress goods! A lady who spent a day in Detroit last week shopping and who usually trades there said she saw nothing so satisfactory there. And another who buys largely by sample in Chicago, said her samples were not to be compared with these goods. Only a woman can stand it to go on into the bewildering profusion of new spring wraps, or still further on to where the new carpets are displayed.

"La Mascotte." The Nelson Comic Opera Co. will present "La Mascotte" at the Grand Opera House on Friday evening, March 24. It is unnecessary to say much of the opera for a great many have seen it and know it is one of the best and funniest operas ever written. Miss Essie Barton will appear as "Bettine," the Mascotte. This little lady is a most charming sourette, with plenty of chic and grace, and seems possessed of all the artifices that the stage is heir to. She is bright, vivacious, of agreeable presence, and acts the part allotted to her discreetly, giving them all the required force, yet keeping modestly within the bounds of good taste. Miss Jene Weaver, the famous skirt-dancer, late of Kiratzy's Ballet, will be seen in her clever dances, also in the third act the march of the cadets with their fascinating evolutions will form a most pleasing picture. New Constitutional Amendments.

The people of Michigan will be required to vote on the following four amendments to the state constitution at the coming spring election, April 13.

It is proposed to permit Grand Rapids to issue bonds to improve Grand River, so sec. 9, art. 14, is to read:

Section 9. The state shall not be a party to, or interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engaged in carrying on any such work, except in the expenditure of grants to the state or land or other property: Provided, however, That the legislature of the state, by appropriate legislation, may authorize the city of Grand Rapids to issue its bonds for the improvement of the navigation of Grand River.

The salaries of certain state officers are to be increased so sec. 1, art. 9, will read:

Section 1. The governor shall receive an annual salary of $4000; the lieutenant governor shall receive an annual salary of $1,200; the judges of the circuit court shall receive an annual salary of $2,000; the secretary of state shall receive an annual salary of $2,000; the commissioner of the land office shall receive an annual salary of $2,000. They shall receive no fees whatever for the performance of any duties connected with their office. It shall not be competent for the legislature to increase the salaries herein provided.

A third amendment concerns good roads, sec. 49, art. 4, being made to read:

Section 49. The legislature may provide for the laying out, construction and maintenance of county and township roads, and may provide that any road heretofore laid out shall be a county or township road. County roads may be maintained at the expense of the county, and township roads at the expense of the township.

County roads shall be under the control of a board of commissioners not to exceed five in number who shall be elected by the people, the number of said commissioners to be fixed by the board of supervisors of the county.

For the construction and maintenance of county roads the commissioners may provide for an annual tax not exceeding two dollars upon each one thousand dollars of the assessment roll of the county for the preceding year.

No county shall incur any indebtedness or issue any bonds for the construction or maintenance of county roads except upon a vote of two-thirds of all the supervisors elected, and then to be approved by a majority vote at any general or special election; nor shall any such indebtedness at any time exceed three per cent. of the valuation of the county upon the last preceding assessment roll.

The legislature may modify, change or repeal the powers and duties of the township commissioner of highways and overseer of highways. The legislature may pass all necessary laws to carry this amendment into effect: provided, That any act or acts passed by the legislature to carry this amendment into effect shall provide for a county and township system, and the county system shall become operative only in such counties as shall adopt it by a majority vote of the electors of said county, after the said question has been submitted to them by a two-thirds vote of all the members elect of the board of supervisors of such county, at a general or special election called for that purpose.

Concerning circuit courts sec. 8, art 6, is to read:

Section 8. The circuit courts shall have original jurisdictions in all matters civil and criminal, not excepted in this constitution, and not prohibited by law; and appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals and a supervisory control of the same. They shall also have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, quo warrant, certiorari, and other writs necessary to carry into effect their orders, judgments and decrees, and give them general control over inferior courts and tribunals within their respective jurisdictions and in all such other cases and matters as the supreme court shall by rule prescribe.

THE LOTTERY OF WAR

HAD NO BLANKS FOR GENERAL GORDON'S SIXTH ALABAMA REGIMENT.

Struck by a Cyclone of Bullets in the First Fight at Fair Oaks, Its Luck Never Changed on the Score of Fields That Came Afterward.

(Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association. Book rights reserved.)

ABOUT 10 o'clock on the morning of May 31, 1862, Lieutenant J. B. Washington, aide-de-camp of the Confederate general, Joseph E. Johnston, rode into the Union picket outpost at Seven Pines, a point six miles from Richmond, but not half so far as it turned out from the fresh night bivouac of the Army of Northern Virginia. The mishap for such it was—meant a trip to northern prisons for the luckless aid, but that was nothing compared with the evils it was to bring upon the cause he served. He was taken to the headquarters of General Keyes, commander of the Union forces, and examined. He had ridden from Richmond way along the Williamsburg stage road, the most direct route from the city to the Chickahominy river, and on nearing the Union outpost crossed the country to the Nine Mile road which paralleled the stage road, expecting to overtake a column of Confederates led by General Longstreet. Longstreet hadn't reached his destination, and Keyes' men took in the wanderer. His full war harness and his morning stroll between the lines in mud splashed boots and uniform indicated that he was not out for his health, and General Keyes rightly inferred that there was mischief afoot in the enemy's camp. The outposts were warned, the picket line strengthened, and heavy detachments of reserves were sent to the front outside the breastworks that ran across both the stage and Nine Mile roads.

The post on the stage road was manned by Casey's division of Keyes' corps. It consisted of an earth and log redoubt near the road, breastworks extending a short distance each side, and abatis of felled timber along the whole front. An old farm clearing had been extended by slashing down woods, so that it reached to the front in the direction of Richmond, west about 80 rods and the same distance north and south on both sides of the road. The woods left standing on the south side of the clearing extended 40 rods to the borders of the morass known as White Oak swamp, a region supposed just then to be impassable for troops marching to battle. It had rained in torrents for two days, and the swamps were running a flood, partly from the excessive rainfall and partly from the overflow of the Chickahominy river. Casey's camp was on high ground, but at no great distance on all sides there were marshes covered with water from six inches to three feet in depth. The congregates, thinking the flood would give them the advantage, marched out 60,000 strong to overrun Keyes' camp and the reserves behind it—about 30,000 in all—and drive them into the river. But Lieutenant Washington's misadventure spoiled the game. No one in the Confederate lines knew his fate or suspected that he had alarmed the foe. So the different columns went bounding along over picked roads for the most part, bent on a quick and certain victory.

Scarcely had Casey's reserves taken their stations at the front when a line of Confederate skirmishers dotted the clearing from the stage road to the fringe of wood south of it and advanced, firing. The lieutenant's trousers of the men were coated quite up to the waist with inky black mud, and they were drenched to the skin in from fountaining and swimming across White Oak swamp to reach the field on time by a short cut. After crossing the mire they had pushed their way through a thicket grown up with tall briars that scratched and tore their hands and faces, and when at last they got sight of the game that had led them such a chase they were in that rasy, settled, tightish phase of temper that only finds a vent in biting and hitting back at something or somebody. They were Alabamians—Colonel John B. Gordon's Sixth regiment.

Two of Casey's regiments, the Eighty-first and Eighty-fifth New York, had formed a double line across the stump lot of the clearing, the Eighty-first being partially in the woods between the clearing and swamp. The fire of the Alabamians being returned by the New Yorkers, the former threw themselves down behind logs and stumps and eased their tempers by a few picked shots where they could count their scores. "I dropped him!" "I saw him fall!" they would exclaim and creep nearer for the next trial. They kept this up, too, when the fight afterward became more exciting, and the victims in Casey's ranks were nearly all hit in the head or chest. In a few minutes the New Yorkers left the stump field for the shelter of the woods and intrenchments. The Sixth Alabama was followed by a brigade line under General Rodes, to which had been given the task of driving Casey's men out of the clearing and intrenchments south of the stage road. A brigade under General Rains was to do the same in the woods between the clearing and the swamp. When Gordon's skirmishers had the game well started, Rodes gave the order to charge the works. Gordon's skirmishers rallied on the colors, and mistaking a word of command faced about and started to the rear. Discovering the error the "faced about again, and madder than ever over a blunder that nearly drew upon them the odium of cowardice, charged through the tangled abatis and over the intrenchments without a halt. The New Yorkers, surprised by the tactics that changed a retreat into a bayonet charge, hurried back to a second line at Seven Pines, half a mile in the rear. Gordon's men rushed after them across the clearing until they plunged blindly into another morass two or three feet in depth. There, as elsewhere, the forest had been cut so that the intertwined branches and trunks and the thick growth of briars together formed a trackless labyrinth. Rushing deeper and deeper in, every man for himself, the Alabamians were soon caught like

THE CHARGE AT FAIR OAKS. Rides in some places ran in currents strong enough to carry a man off his feet, and the heads of the wounded had to be propped up to prevent strangulation.

The brigade of Rains', that was supposed to keep abreast of Rodes' line and drive Casey's men out of the woods as far as the border of the swamp, did not keep pace with the Alabamians, so that Gordon's men had no protection on their right flank, where the woods invited their enemy to take shelter. Seeing the Confederates completely snared, the Union general (Berry of Kearny's division) sent the Third and Fifth Michigan regiments into the woods on Gordon's flank. The Alabamians, still fighting mad and still hoping that Rains would charge along the forest belt to their rescue, held on, and for the space of an hour perhaps there reigned one of the most appalling scenes of slaughter imaginable. Gordon's horse had been shot under him, and he was on foot and escaped personal harm, but his clothing was riddled with bullets. Lieutenant Colonel Willingham and Major Mesbit were out down, and also the adjutant, who tried to make his way out of the slashing into the woods to hunt up Rains' dilatory column. Several other messengers on the same errand shared the same fate. Finally Gordon resolved to protect his own flank and keep the Michigan men at their distance in the woods and ordered Captain Thomas H. Bell of Company A to face his men south on a line perpendicular to the east front and stand off the enemy at all hazards. Captain Bell had 50 men and the usual number of commissioned and noncommissioned officers in his company. He fell wounded under the first volley that greeted his change of front and was so close to the enemy that he lay upon the ground and emptied his revolver several times with deadly effect upon the Michigan boys. Every officer of the company except one corporal was killed or disabled, and with them fell 44 of the men, 21 of the 44 killed on the spot. Rodes saw the folly of such a waste of valorous lives and sounded the retreat. When the word reached the spot where Company A had been, the corporal and his squad of 12 survivors were coolly loading and firing and counting their good shots just as they had done all day. The Third and Fifth Michigan advanced through the clearing and followed Rodes' men back almost to the captured redoubt.

The rough handling of the Alabamians was the best stroke of the day on the part of Keyes' men. Rodes and Rains, had they moved abreast and carried out the surprise which was a success up to the time of Lieutenant Washington's capture, could hardly have been checked by any obstacle in their path on the stage road. The loss of the Sixth Alabama was only once exceeded on the Confederate side, and never in a single day's fight. There were 91, including off-

cers, killed outright, and 277, including 23 officers, wounded, a total of 373 out of 633 engaged. The Twenty-sixth North Carolina lost 89 killed and 592 wounded at Gettysburg, but the losses were incurred in two separate actions, July 1 and July 3. In the multitudes of regiments forming the units of an army only now and then one gets caught in a slaughter pen a second time during a long war. The Sixth Alabama was one of the exceptions. Within 30 days after Fair Oaks it went in on a charge at Galena Mill and again at Malvern Hill, losing 69 out of 230 rank and file. At Malvern Hill its dead lay nearest the Union guns. It was not on the field at Second Bull Run, but at South Mountain, Md., on Sept. 14 occupied the skirmish line in the pass at Turner's Gap, fighting desperately and cutting its way out when surrounded by General Seymour's brigade of Pennsylvania reserves. At Antietam it was in the slaughter along Bloody Lane and was reduced by losses to less than 100 men. Gordon was shot twice through the right leg, through the left arm and shoulder—two bullets—and in the face. At Chancellorsville, May 2, 1863, the Sixth had picked up to a fighting strength of 450 men and held a place of honor in the front line when Stonewall Jackson swooped down on the Eleventh corps on the plank road. It charged in direct line over two miles, a part of the time under grape and canister fire, passed over three Union breastworks, capturing four guns in the first and planting its flag on the parapet ahead of all others. Among its captures were 105 Union prisoners. The loss that day was 150 killed and wounded, which included its commander, Major A. C. Gordon, and three color bearers killed and six officers and three color bearers wounded. Early on the morning of the 3d the Alabamians went ahead down the plank road and fought the Third corps reserves, charged the interments under a grape fire, taking five men, and were finally beaten off for lack of support in their dashing assaults.

At Gettysburg 350 men answered the roll call, but after charging the Eleventh corps again on the first day and capturing a line of breastworks under the guns of the Twelfth corps at Culp's Hill on the third there were less than 200 in line. They held on in the captured breastworks at Culp's Hill three hours under a galling fire of canister and bullets. At the Wilderness the regiment was nearly wiped out in the fight with Crawford's division on the plank road May 7. The battleflag and a batch of prisoners fell into the hands of the Twenty-second Massachusetts. At Spotsylvania, May 12, when Hancock captured the Bloody Angle, the regimental adjutant and a handful of men went into the trenches and fought Hancock's men across the logs until the adjutant was killed and the last man of their dead or disabled. But still the mad valor born at Fair Oaks was not spent. The exchanged prisoners and the wounded got another flag and carried it across the Potomac on Early's Washington raid, as Winchester and Cedar Creek in the Shenandoah valley, and again at Petersburg and Appomattox in 1865.

A New Certain Cure for Piles.

We do not intend to endorse any except articles of genuine merit; we therefore, take pleasure in recommending to sufferers from Piles in any form, a prompt and permanent cure. The following letters speak for themselves:

Mrs. Mary C. Tyler, of Heppner, Ore., writes: One pkg. of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely cured me of piles from which I have suffered for years, and I have never had the slightest return of them since.

Mrs. E. O'Brien, Rock Bluff, Neb., says: The pkg. of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely removed every trace of itching piles. I cannot thank you enough for it.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is a new, certain painless cure for every form of piles. It is safe, sure and cheap. Any druggist will get it for you if you ask him.

And now it is rumored that Detroit will have a University; probably the rumor and University have an equally imaginative foundation.

It is rumored that during their Ypsilanti engagement one of the Nelson Opera Company girls became engaged to a University student.

The Jeffersonians won in the joint debate of the two law societies last week. It was decided that the elective franchise ought to be extended to women.

The Glee and Banjo Club gave concerts in Romeo and Port Huron last Friday and Saturday evenings. At the latter place they were given a reception after the concert.

The Juniors have asked for the gymnasium for their hop in April, but the unfinished condition of the building renders it hardly a safe place from the stand point of health.

It is rumored that a law student became weary of the straight and narrow way and listened to the allurements of the siren. She blackmailed him to the tune of $300, and then he left for a less expensive locality.

Prof. F. N. Scott begins a series of University extension lectures on "Modern French and German Painting" in Detroit this week. The lectures will be illustrated with lantern views of the pictures to be exhibited from those countries at the World's Fair.

The indoor athletic meet to be held in the Opera House the evening of March 30, promises to be very interesting. The entries are numerous. Expert fencing, is one sure feature. Wrestling, boxing, club-swinging and kicking, are promised, and the finest athletes in college will appear.

The sixth-mill bill passed. In the house the vote was 74 to 7. It is said that one of those seven was the guest while in Ann Arbor, of Secretary Wade, and that is why people laugh when they drop in to congratulate him on the successful way in which he managed the University's part of the recent legislative reception.

Prof. Thompson in an opinion on a moot court case in the law department made the following statement about the printed contract of a telegraph company: "The stipulation contained in the telegraph company's blank in so far as it attempts to relieve the company from liability arising from its own negligence or that of its servants is against public policy and therefore void."

It looks now as though the junior hop would be held in the new gymnasium. Temporary floors will be laid, stove put in to dry the walls and everything done to make it a safe place.

The junior hop committee has decided upon the list of patronesses for the occasion, eight of them being ladies of prominence from outside the city. The list is as follows: Mrs. J. B. Angell, Mrs. G. J. Bundy, Mrs. G. B. Carpenter, Mrs. J. H. Conrad, Mrs. George Dock, Mrs.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy know that their medicine perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh. To prove it to you, they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, they'll pay you $50 in cash.

The homeopaths of the state are giving us a fine exhibition of what Mark Twain calls French calm, and they will smash up the faculty of their department of the University if the regents do not hastily dose the whole crowd with high potency nuxvomica, or some such anti-belligerent. President Nottingham of the state society hisses "traitor" between his set teeth at Dean Obetz, which that gentleman retorts "you're another" and indicates that the term might appropriately be applied to everyone else but himself. And it all arises from that scheme of uniting the two departments of medicine promulgated some time ago by our non-resident Dean. It is suggested that Nottingham and Obetz settle their difficulties by the duel, weapons prescriptions.

The Power of The Grip Broken by Hood's

Pains Driven to the Four Winds—Good Health Renewed

Mr. S. N. Mahan, Rockford, Mich.

"I am 63 years old. Christmas eve I contracted a very severe cold which settled all over me; every bone in my body was in rebellion. I soon procured the aid of a doctor. His remedies gave some relief, but the grip had me in its power and for several weeks I did not get out of the door. When I did recover sufficiently to get out, I found myself

Without Strength, No Appetite, all tired out, and after eating what I could, what little strength I did have gave way and I could not walk farther than my barn before sitting down to rest. This was my condition when advised by our druggist to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. With much hesitation and Doubts as Black as Night, I went to taking it according to directions. Before the one bottle was gone I told my wife I was feeling a great deal better. Up to the present time I have taken about four bottles; my appetite is now good, strength has returned, pains have been driven to the four winds, and I give Hood's Sarsaparilla credit for all. This medicine has also cured my dreadful cough and I am well and happy as well as thankful. I tell my neighbors I am surprised at myself and never forget to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." S. N. MAHAN.

THE REGISTER.

THURSDAY, MARCH 16, 1893.

LITERARY NOTES.

Among the short articles that will appear in the North American Review for March are "A Reply to Amelie Rivers," by Bertha M. Rickoff; "The Migrations of the Brahman," by Titus Munson Coan; and "The Canadian Question," by George Stewart.—North American Review, New York, N. Y.

The Overland Monthly for March will contain three descriptive sketches of the Hawaiian Islands and its volcanoes, illustrated with typical scenes, entitled "In the Wilds of Hawaii," by Edward Wilson; "A Dead Volcano," by N. E. Fuller; "The Footsteps of Pele," by Mabel H. Closson.—Overland Pub. Co. San Francisco, Cal.

The Young People's Society of the Church of Christ will give a basket social in the church parlors next Friday evening. All are cordially invited. The ladies bring luncheons for two in baskets which are purchased by the gentlemen and eaten with the lady whose name appears in the basket after it is bought and opened.

Among the miscellaneous articles in the March Atlantic are: a paper by Havelock Ellis, on "The Ancestry of Genius"; "Persian Poetry"; by Sir Edward Strachey; and the extremely picturesque and pathetic sketch of the life of a Japanese dancing-girl, written by Lafcadio Hearn. A paper on "Words," by Agnes Repplier, however, should not be forgotten by those who have enjoyed this clever woman's essays in past numbers of The Atlantic.—Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston, Mass.

A figure picture by Luke Fildes has been reproduced by the photogravure process for the frontispiece of the Magazine of Art for March. It is called "La Zingarella" and belongs to the Venetian period of Mr. Fildes' art life. The opening article of the number is a criticism of the "Royal Society of Painters in Water Colors," by Frederick Wedmore. The illustrations are full, and show the paintings to be above the average.—Cassell Pub. Co., 35 cents a number; $3.50 a year in advance.

Harper's Magazine for March will contain several illustrated articles of more than ordinary value. Among these there will be a comprehensive and timely article on "Slavery and the Slave Trade in Africa" by Henry M. Stanley, with several striking illustrations; by Frederic Remington, a paper on the famous palace and monastery of "The Escorial," by the late Theodore Child, with numerous illustrations; an attractive and graphic description of Florida—"Our Own Riviera," by Julian Ralph, illustrated by W. T. Smedley; and the first of a series of articles on "Washington Society," by Henry Loomis Nelson, with appropriate illustrations by C. S. Reinhart.—Harper & Bros., New York, N. Y.

The Arena continues to be the greatest ethical review of our day, reflecting the most advanced and vital thoughts along social, economic, religious and educational lines. In the March issue the eminent English scientist, Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace ably discusses "The Social Quagmire and the Way Out of It," the editor of the Arena contributes another of his thoughtful studies of the Social Celler, under the caption "A Pilgrimage and a Vision." In this paper social contrasts in Boston are vividly portrayed, and many suggestive hints are given. Mr. Flower also contributes an editorial, which in a sense is a companion paper, entitled "What of the Morrow?"—Published by Arena Pub. Co., Boston, Mass. Single number, 50 cents. Per annum, $5.00

Nothing could be more timely and nothing could be more well-informed than the companion articles in the Review of Reviews for March upon America in Hawaii and England in Egypt. The discussion of American influence in Hawaii and of the strategic value to the United States of the Sandwich Islands, is from the pen of Mr. Sereno Bishop, than whom no other man in Honolulu is better qualified to discuss the subject. The Review of Reviews, by the way, comes out in this number taking very strong editorial grounds in favor of the complete annexation of Hawaii. The article on England in Egypt is from the pen of Mr. Stead, and is based upon the brilliant new book of Mr. Alfred Milner, who tells the story of the English occupation of Egypt and of the achievements of English administration there during the past ten years.—Review of Reviews Pub. Co., New York, N. Y.

Great Oaks

From little acorns grow, so also no fatal diseases spring from small beginnings. Never neglect symptoms of Kidney Troubles, if allowed to develop they cause much suffering and sorrow. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm is a certain cure for any disease or weakness of the Kidneys. A trial will convince you of its great potency

The Pyramid Pile Cure Is a new discovery for the prompt, permanent cure of piles in every form. Every druggist has it.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Whatever may be the cause of blanching, the hair may be restored to its original color by the use of that potent renewer, Hall's Vegetable Siccilian Hair Renewer.

Straight collars, cut as high as can be borne comfortably, are most fashionable for dress.

Hood's Sarsaparilla positively cures even when all others fail. It has a record of successes unequalled by any other medicine.

Nothing for youthful women can be more effective or more fashionable than the fitted blouse waist of tartan silk that times well with the dress skirt.

It is by all odds the best liniment. Mr. Chas. Metzger, 217 Geyer-ave., St. Louis, Mo., is of the same opinion. He says: "Salvation Oil is the best remedy we have ever used in our family. It is the best remedy on earth."

Waistcoats of fur, merely silk lined to keep them from looking bulky, are introduced in cloth dresses, usually when the fur neckscarf now popular does not cover the chest.

TUIT'S PILLS do not nauseate or gripe. Following a popular English caprice, red corded silk costumes in ottoman faille and bengaline are made into fur trimmed Russian costumes for bridesmaids at church weddings.

I have not used all of one bottle yet. I suffered from catarrh for twelve years, experiencing the nauseating dropping in the throat peculiar to that disease, and nose bleed almost daily. I tried various remedies without benefit until last April, when I saw Ely's Cream Balm advertised in the Boston Budget, I procured a bottle, and since the first day's use have had no more bleeding; the soreness is entirely gone.—D. G. Davidson, with the Boston Budget, formerly with Boston Journal.

Patterned reps appear among the late importations, the grounds of which are bottle or reeds green, marine blue, vandyke brown and magenta, and in spite of the elaborate corsages now fashionable, material of this class looks better made simply.

A number one cough cure. Mr. Jas. H. Barnes, 243 Cedar-st., Buffalo, N. Y., writes thus: "I am using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in my family and deem it a number one medicine for coughs and colds, and my house shall never be without it."

ETS—All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2.00 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch Street, Phila., Pa. For sale by all druggists; call on yours Beautiful capes for dressy wear are made of dark green corded silk, with immense empire bretellelike revers spreading over the shoulders and back from a few inches below the neck. The capes are of dark green velvet, edged with a roll of otter, seal or other rich fur.

That old established cough remedy, Down's Eliza, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a "home remedy," and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.—Burlington, Vt., Free Press, January 26, 1882.

Silk petticoats for evening wear, if possible, more elaborate than ever. One model is of green and crimson silk, the lower edge alternately frilled with red and green silk. Narrow ruffles of rich black lace fall over these, the upper edges of both being threaded in and out with bebe ribbons in the combined colors.—New York Post.

Editor—No, my dear sir; as a posthumous poem, these verses would be good. But I do not see my way clear to publishing them just now.

Sufferers From Piles Should know that the Pyramid Pile Cure will promptly and effectually remove every trace of them. Any druggist will get it for you.

Nature's Surest Ally.

If nature did not struggle against disease, even in weakly constitutions, swift indeed would be the course of its fatal termination. While nature thus struggles let us, lest worse befall us, aid her efforts with judicious medical help. Experience must be our guide in battles with disease, and that "lamp to our feet" indicates Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe tried and thorough ally of nature. If the blood be infected with bile, if the bowels and stomach are inactive, if the kidneys fail to expel impurities of which they are the natural outlet, a course of the Bitters is the surest reliance of the sufferer, one, moreover, that is sanctioned by professional endorsement and use for nearly half a century. No American or foreign remedy has earned greater distinction as a remedy for and preventative of chronic liver complaint, malaria, constipation, kidney and rheumatic trouble and debility.

Useless.

The Language of Presents.

George—What's wrong? Jack—I can't make out what Miss Pinkie's little present to me means.

George—If it's useful, it means that she is interested in your comfort, and would probably say 'yes.' If it's only ornamental, it means that the present is sent merely as a little token to a friend.

Jack—The one she sent me is both useful and ornamental. It's a handsomely decorated individual salt-cellar.

George—That means that she considers you both useful and ornamental, but a little too fresh.—N. Y. Weekly.

It is strange That people suffering from Piles will endure them for years or submit to dangerous, painful, and expensive surgical operations, when all the time there is a painless, certain lasting cure, which gives instant relief and costs but a trifle. It is called the Pyramid Pile Cure and can be found at all druggists. Any druggist will get it for you if you ask him.

A Slow Young Man's Trifling.—Miss Keechick (to her sister)—Mr. Linger has been coming to see me for several years, so I told him that if he had anything to say it was time he said it.

Miss Margaret—What was his reply? Miss Keechick—The horrid thing said he never was much of a conversationalist.—Vogue.

You ask me why I left there? It really made me grieve: But master and missus quarreled so much That at last I had to leave. The language it was dreadful, And awfully they looked.

A Surgical Operation. For the cure of Piles is always painful, often dangerous and useless, and invariably expensive; on the other hand there is a new certain cure, perfectly painless, gives instant relief and permanent cure and costs but a trifle. It is the Pyramid Pile Cure. It is a more certain cure than a surgical operation, without any of the intense pain, expense and danger of an operation. Any druggist will get it for you.

Old Friend—What became of that beautiful full-length portrait of yourself and your first husband?

Mrs. Twotimes—It is hidden away up garret. My second husband has never seen it yet. I'm keeping it for a surprise.

A Sewing Machine Free. A $65 Sewing Machine which we sell at $11.00 to $23.50 will be placed in your home to use without cost of one cent to you.

"Not at Home." The absurdities of some phrases of fashionable life receive very frequent illustrations.

Let's reason together. Here's a firm, one of the largest of the country over, the world over; it has grown, step by step, through the years to greatness—and it sells patent medicines!—ugh!

Wait a little—This firm pays the newspapers good money (expensive work, this advertising) to tell the people that they have faith in what they sell, so much faith that if they can't benefit or cure them that don't want your money. Their guarantee is not indefinite and relative, but definite and absolute—if the medicine doesn't help, your money is "on call!"

Suppose every sick man and every feeble woman tried these medicines and found them worthless, who would be the loser, you or they?

The medicines are Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" for blood diseases, and his "Favorite Prescription" for woman's peculiar ills. If they help toward health, they cost $1.00 a bottle each! If they don't, they cost nothing!

HEART DISEASE! STATISTICS show that one in four has a weak or diseased heart. The first symptoms are short breath, oppression, fluttering, faint and hungry spells, pain in side, then mothering, swollen ankles, dropsy (and death) for which DR. MILES' NEW HEART CURE is a marvelous remedy. I have been troubled with heart disease for years. My left pulse was very weak, could at times scarcely feel it, the smallest exertion would always weaken my nerves and heart and a fear of impending death stared me in the face for hours. DR. MILES' NERVE AND NEW HEART CURE is the only medicine that has proved any benefit and cured me.—L. M. Dyer, Cleveland, Md. DR. MILES' LIVER PILLS are a sure remedy for Bilelessness and Torpid Liver. 50 Boxes 25 cents. Fine book on Heart Disease, with wonderful cures. Free at druggists, or address DR. F.A. MITCHELL. LATE U.S.A.

COPYRIGHT, 1892, BY AMERICAN PRESS ASS'N.

"Certainly not." And the major took up a pen to write his indorsement. First he read the pass carefully. He was thinking of what his friend Fitz Hugh had told him of the Fains. He was under the impression that there was but one daughter.

"Mr. Green," he said, looking up from the pass, "hadn't you better stay here over night? The road is mountainous and infested by guerrillas. It is positively dangerous to travel."

"By no means. What would Mrs. Fain think of our not joining her on the road?"

"It is dangerous for her as well as you. I'll send a messenger after her and advise her stopping at some farmhouse. I'll do better than that. I'll send a corporal and half a dozen men to insure her safety till morning."

There was something in the man's tone, polite as it was, that indicated to Mark that he was held for further information.

"As you please, major."

"And I shall insist upon your accepting my hospitality. One connected in any way with my friend Fitz Hugh must not want for any comfort I can supply."

The house occupied by Major Tallafiero belonged to a family who had gladly given up a portion of it for the safety insured by the presence of a commanding officer. The major was given a room down stairs for an office, and a bedroom up stairs. When it was decided that Mark and Laura should remain he gave Mrs. Green, as he called her, the use of the latter for the purpose of arranging her toilet before supper.

When Laura was up stairs Mark was looking out of the window of the major's office. He saw the men ride off to overtake Mrs. Fain. To his consternation another cavalryman, with a letter in his belt, mounted his horse and dashed down the road.

Laura came down at that moment, and Mark said to her anxiously, "I am detained on suspicion. I shall be taken back to Chattanooga, and he pointed to the courier.

The color left Laura's cheeks. They had got so near to safety, and now, after so many dangers, the end was at hand. She could scarcely sustain herself as she tottered into the room occupied as the office.

This is the letter the courier bore northward. It was addressed on the envelope to Captain Cameron Fitz Hugh, near Dunlap:

ANDERSON, Aug. 20, 1862.
MY DEAR CAMERON—A man purporting to be Thomas Green, with his wife, formerly a Miss Fain, of Chattanooga, is here, desiring a pass to the Union lines. There is something suspicious about the man. The couple are separated from the wife's mother, and the father lies very ill at Nashville. I dislike to detain them, and I do not regard it safe to pass them. Can you help me out of the difficulty? Yours very truly,
WALLACE TALLAFIERO.

Major Tallafiero soon joined Mark and Laura in his office, and offering his arm to Laura led the way to the supper room. His treatment of both was most deferential, but it failed to deceive either that they were prisoners.

There was a strength of nerve in Mark that would not break while there was hope. He chatted with the host or jailer, whichever he might be called, with ease, and at times with gaiety. Not so Laura. The situation was too frightful for her to endure without some manifestation of anxiety. She ate nothing. She did not hear what was said to her, and her eyes plainly showed the troubled spirit within. Mark made no reference to her condition till after supper. Then, when all three went out to the veranda, he said to her:

"Come, let us take a stroll. You have been traveling all day, and this delay troubles you. A walk in the air will revive you."

Mark assumed with such apparent carelessness that he was free to walk about where he liked that Tallafiero had not the will to stop him. Besides he had no heart to interfere with the pleasure of a woman whom he was pretending to treat as a guest. The couple walked leisurely down the road, Mark looking at the sunset tints with well assumed indifference, occasionally pointing to some object by the way or in the distance, calling Laura's attention to it at the same time. He knew the major's gaze was fixed upon him, and he was doing all this for a purpose.

Laura stood, the very impersonation of despair.

"All I can do to atone for this," Mark went on rapidly, "and it is nothing—is to make you my wife, since I have passed you as such. Laura, will you marry me?"

She looked at him earnestly. Her eyes were big with deep emotion. There was a look in them that he could not understand.

"No!"

"Then I can do nothing for you."

"I will marry only the man who loves me, and whom I love."

"Oh, Laura," he said, "if your heart were only mine, then it would be different. I love you so well, I worship you with such fervor that I would go back to that dreadful jail without a word could I place you where you were before you met me. But you—"

Laura burst into a torrent of tears. This man, who had so suddenly appeared in her life; who had won her sympathy; who had absorbed her whole being into his daring, chivalrous, reckless nature—this man loved her, and he was doomed.

With a cry she threw her arms around his neck.

"Laura, sweetheart," said Mark, caressing her, "we have but little time. We know not whom we shall have to face. My true character must soon be known. Will you give yourself to one who will doubtless tomorrow be claimed by—"

Pale as ashes she put her hand over his mouth that he might not speak the word "death."

"Will you? Speak?"

"Yes, now, quick; what can we do?"

"Marry ourselves."

"How?"

He grasped her hand. There was a ring upon it—a plain gold band. He took it off, and putting it on her finger again said:

"I, Mark—"

"Is it really Mark?"

"Yes, I am Mark Maynard. I, Mark, take you, Laura, to be my wife. Do you take me to be your husband?"

"I do."

"Then we are man and wife in the sight of God."

"And for man we care not."

"Man and wife under the law. We are really married."

Scarcely was this hurried ceremony over when a cavalryman came riding leisurely from the direction of headquarters. He had been sent by Major Tallafiero—who, as soon as Mark was out of sight, became anxious with regard to him—with instructions to keep him in sight without appearing to do so.

There was nothing left for them to do but return to the house. As they walked Mark whispered:

"I feel again all the confidence I have ever felt. I must live to make you happy. Be ready for anything that may happen, my darling, my wife. I shall doubtless play some bold game; I don't know what, but it will be bold. If I leave you suddenly, meet me (should I succeed in my attempt) within the Union lines. If not, we will meet—in heaven."

These few words were all that Mark had time to say to his newly married wife. For scarcely had they turned to go back when they met the major. He was uneasy lest Mark should depart without leave. He accompanied them back to the house.

CHAPTER XX.
EPILOGUE.

It was nine o'clock in the evening. Major Tallafiero and his guests were sitting in his office room chatting. A clatter of horses' hoofs was heard at the front of the house and some one dismounted. In another moment there was a tramp of cavalry boots in the hall; all turned to the open door—and there stood Captain Cameron Fitz Hugh.

For a moment he regarded Mark and Laura sternly; then advancing a few steps he bowed low to Laura.

"Captain," said the major rising, "I suppose it is useless to deny to this lady and gentleman that I deemed it my duty to make sure of their identity before allowing them to pass. The family to which they claim to belong is known to you; therefore I sent to you for information. I see you have answered my inquiry in person. If you vouch for them I shall be happy to pass them in the morning, and shall apologize for their detention at the same time—my excuse being the cause we serve."

"If you had not been my rival I would love you as a brother."

"I usually smoke at this time of night."

"Here are cigars, gentleman," said Tallafiero, producing a box.

"If you smoke, captain," added Mark, "I shall be pleased with your company."

"With pleasure."

All lighted cigars, and Mark and Fitz Hugh strolled out on the veranda.

"Captain," said Mark as soon as they were outside, "I have never met a man whom I have so admired, so honored, as you, and yet I have robbed you of your love. This last act of kindness to her and to me, so well indicating your magnanimity, is more than I can bear. I cannot accept anything more, even for her sake. I cannot stay here to be shielded by you and behind her skirts. I am about to leave this veranda and fly to the Union lines. Thank God, I have met one who is the soul of honor, in whose charge I leave my wife. Consider her under your care. She will doubtless be captured before tomorrow noon. If you were not my enemy, if you had not been my rival, I would love you as a brother."

Without waiting for a reply Mark left the veranda, and in another moment was lost in the darkness.

Captain Fitz Hugh stood as one petrified. So many conflicting emotions were within him that nothing seemed real. For a time he was in a sort of stupor. When he emerged from it the first thing that took definite shape in his mind was a deliberation as to what he should do. Should he go in and confess all to the major? Should he keep the secret—Laura's secret? He leaned against a pillar of the veranda and passed his hand over his brow.

He could not stab Laura; he could not even betray the man who had left her in his care. He did nothing.

Half an hour had elapsed when Tallafiero, who had been busying himself with some papers, began to wonder what had become of the two men. He got up and went out on the veranda.

"Where's Green?" he asked quickly.

"Gone."

"Gone?"

"Yes, gone half an hour ago."

"What does this mean, Cameron?"

"It means that I have been keeping from you what I can keep no longer or I would. This man Green is a Federal spy."

Tallafiero threw up his hands in horror.

"And you have been protecting him!"

"Yes."

"Cameron—my friend—great God—are you a traitor? There is something back—tell me, quick."

"Twice before he has crossed my path. He was taken and tried at Chattanooga. I was detailed to defend him. I had never seen him before. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged, but escaped."

"When I met him again it was at the Fains' house. Laura Fain, the woman up stairs, then my betrothed, but now—his wife, was concealing him."

"Well?"

"I saw that she was infatuated with him. She claimed him for her guest."

"Well, go on."

"I could not honorably inform on him."

"Oh, Cameron—what absurdity—what idiocy—what—"

"This afternoon you sent for me. I came. I saw the man I had seen twice before—with my—with the loveliest, the noblest of all women—his wife."

The major only stared at his friend; he had no words to express his feelings, his sympathy.

"When we came out here he told me that he would accept nothing further for himself at my hands; that he would not shield himself behind a woman's skirts. He walked away before me."

"And you?"

"I permitted him."

Tallafiero shuddered. He knew that his friend by his act had placed himself in a terrible position.

"Cameron," he said, "do you know you are liable to be shot for this?"

"I do."

"I always told you," the major went on anxiously, impatiently, "that your notions of honor were absurd, quixotic."

"The highest sense of honor is never quixotic. It is best fitted for a Christian, a soldier and a gentleman."

"And do you expect me to let this spy go?"

"No. Protect yourself—the cause. Send after him. It is I who have convinced at his escape, not you. You must not suffer."

"The cause alone is enough."

"Orderly," he called to a man standing by the gate.

The soldier approached and stood at attention.

"Go tell Captain Heath that the man who was here this evening has gone, and I want him followed and brought back. Tell him to send by all the roads."

The man saluted and went away.

"Cameron," said the major, after giving the order, "God grant that this act of yours may not be known. It will not be, for I am the only one who knows of it, and it will never pass my lips."

"I am responsible for my act, and if it becomes known I trust I shall have courage to meet the consequences like a man."

"And now, Wallace," he continued, "I am going. The young wife who was left in my charge I leave in yours. I would gladly protect her myself, but I prefer to spare her the pain of being under my protection. If her husband is taken and she needs me, send for me."

"Cameron, you are leading me to hope that he will not be taken."

Fitz Hugh went to the gate near by, where his horse was standing, and mounting rode away.

As soon as he had gone Tallafiero called a negro woman, and told her to go to the lady's room and ask her (if she had not gone to bed) to come to him, as he had a communication to make. Laura had no thought of taking off her clothes. She was waiting for what might happen. When she received the major's message she went down to him with a heart beating wildly.

"Madam," said the major deferentially, "your husband has gone."

"Where?" asked Laura, with a blanched cheek.

"He walked away in the presence of Captain Fitz Hugh, who would not detain him or inform me that he had gone till he was obliged to do so."

Laura clasped her hands and mutely breathed a blessing on the man who had spared her husband for her sake.

"How long has he been gone?" she asked.

"More than half an hour."

"Have you ordered his pursuit?"

"I have."

"And he has a start of—"

"Thirty minutes."

"You'll never take him. He bears a charmed life."

"And now, madam, what can I do for you? My friend charged me to see that you have every attention."

"I will go on and join my mother."

"Tonight?"

"Tonight—now."

"Your phanton shall be at the door in a few minutes. You must accept my escort. There will be a guard besides."

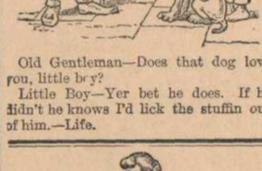

"It is not necessary for you to go."

"I shall not permit you to go without me."

"Orderly! Hey, orderly! The lady's phanton at once. And send for a corporal and six men."

In ten minutes Laura, Major Tallafiero seated beside her, six stalwart cavalry men in gray about her, was on her way to join her mother.

TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.
THE O. E. MILLER HERNIA TREATMENT COMPANY respectfully call the attention of the medical profession to the fact that they have succeeded in perfecting a Mechanical and Physiological treatment for hernia, and they will take pleasure in demonstrating the same to any reputable physician who will call at their offices.

TO SUFFERERS FROM RUPTURE.
It is with feelings of gratification that our efforts to relieve the sufferings peculiar to rupture, have met with such success and encouragement, that we are able now to enlarge our facilities and place our treatment within the reach of those living in the interior of the state.

From Christian Advocate, Detroit, Mar. 5, 1892.
"The O. E. Miller Co., of this city, are rapidly coming to the front as Hernia specialists. Their Detroit office was opened Nov. 14, '90, and since that time they have effected some wonderful cures. Dr. H. W. Marsh, the physician in charge, was formerly associated with Prof. O. E. Miller in the Denver office. The doctor is both skillful and conscientious in the practice of his specialty, two important factors commending him to those suffering from rupture."

From Free Press, Detroit, March 4, 1892.
"The Miller Hernia Treatment," as practiced by Dr. H. W. Marsh and assistants, this city, is meeting with well-deserved success. Dr. Marsh is a skilled specialist and recognized authority on the treatment of Rupture. Persons suffering from this troublesome and dangerous disease can learn something greatly to their interest by consulting the doctor in person or by letter."

Mr. William Goat is the latest addition to the fire department. He will superintend the manerie and initiate new members into their duties.

Some one left the water running from the special supply pipe by the gymnasium Tuesday evening and caused a young flood on the campus.

Rev. Wm. Dowe, D. D. who lectured here not long ago on "John Wycliffe, the Morning Star of the Reformation" will preach in the M. E. church next Sunday.

Officer McCabe arrested Thomas J. Rice, Monday, near Hamburg on the charge of procuring a buggy under false pretences from Walker & Co. of this city.

The Young People's Society of the Presbyterian church give a reception next Friday evening at McMillan Hall from 7:30 to 11, to the S. C. A. of the University.

"Some of Balzac's Women" will be the subject of a paper by Mr. B. P. Bourland, at Unity Club, Monday evening; while Mr. A. H. Loyd will tell of a "Summer's Trip to Norway."

The student who has been stealing from Harris Hall and who was caught last week has been discharged without prosecution. His father convinced the authorities that the boy's mind was unbalanced.

It is reported that a Cleveland ore firm ranking among the heaviest lake shippers will this season get all its ore shipped via the T. A. & N. M. to Toledo, it being transferred to Frankfort on the new ferries.

The body of Tommy Shaw, of Ypsilanti, drowned last winter while skating was discovered by two gentlemen Monday while hunting. The body had passed over three dams and floated a considerable distance.

The St. Patrick's Day banquet in Ypsilanti last Friday evening was well attended by Ann Arbor people. It was a fine success, but the business men's quartette were unable to sing, as one of their members was too ill to leave home.

One of our city's editors is said to be publishing a series of articles on the subject of "Modesty in Journalism." Two numbers were recently issued from his press entitled, "How 'I' Got Street Signs" and "How 'I' Got Sewers."

Hon. W. R. Castle, one of the commissioners from Hawaii to the U. S. is in the city this week. Tuesday evening he addressed the local Political Science Association on the subject of Annexation, and last evening he spoke again in University Hall.

Next Friday evening, Welsh Post, G. A. R. will be entertained by Jas. B. Saunders, who will relate his reminiscences of ten months spent in rebel prison pens. No member of the Post fails to be present at these meetings held in the camp-fire style.

Rev. J. T. Sunderland will speak next Sunday morning on "The Indestructibility of Truth," and in the evening on "Socialism and Nationalism."

The Confirmation services at the Dexter Lutheran church next Sunday will be attended by a number of Ann Arbor people, among them Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wild, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brown.

The confirmation services at St. Andrew's church last Sunday were more than ordinarily impressive on account of the large number, seventy-two, confirmed. The ages ranged from six to sixty apparently.

The original company of Mrs. Jarley's Waxworks will appear Saturday evening, Mar. 25, at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the Methodist church. Several new character will be presented. Admission 10 cents.

N. S. Boynton, great record keeper of the Maccabees, came to Ann Arbor yesterday to open a school of instruction for the benefit of the recently organized tent. Johnson tent started off with a membership of about sixty.

The next concert in chamber music series will be given by the Detroit Philharmonic Club Thursday evening, March 23. The Romantic School of Music will be illustrated. Mr. Yuncik will play a solo. Mr. Perry will give his recital March 29.

Mr. Asad M. Rustum, of Syria, a graduate of the College at Beirut, will speak at the Congregational church next Sunday evening on "Missionary Work in Syria." His sister, Miss Effie Rustum, will accompany him and will sing hymns of the people of Syria.

One of the instructors in the U. of M. tried to go to church in Detroit last Sunday evening, but he managed to forget the name of the church, its location and the name of the pastor, so he went to a restaurant and ordered a great juicy beefsteak as a consolation.

The vote polled last Monday was a large one. The total number of ballots was 1,357, of which 23 were doubled and 3 marked in such a way that they could not be counted. Of the remainder 795 said yes and 536 no, making a clean majority of 259 for the sewers.

When Mr. Hammond met with the fatal accident last Saturday which broke his neck and paralyzed his whole body below his neck, he was still able to tell a workman to take out $80 from his pocket and pay his workmen their week's wages. Few such men are living in our city.

The agent of the North American Review is in town and he proposes to give Ann Arbor a write up to be published in the Review, the length of the article to be proportioned to the number of new subscribers he obtains. Some of our business men are encouraging him heartily in his project.

Mayor Doty ordered the Postal Telegraph Co. to desist from putting up poles on the south side of the court house square, the company having previously received permission from the board of public works. This illustrates one of the beauties of our present system of municipal government.

George Newell Lovejoy, formerly of Ann Arbor, now of Berger, N. Y., will furnish an original poem for the reunion of the Old Ann Arbor High School to be held April 14th. Mr. Lovejoy is now doing literary work exclusively and is a regular correspondent for the Boston Transcript and the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe, of Detroit, will lecture at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in McMillan Hall, in Tappan training course. Subject, "The Gospel of Health." The lecture is free to all. A bright three year old in this city on being told recently by his mother "if you do that I shall certainly punish you" replied "I think you are mistaken, Mamma." He persisted and his hands were slapped quite severely when he went off holding the smarting member in the other remarking to himself, "Well, I'm dumbfounded."

Last Friday, St. Patrick's day, was a great day for the Mystic Shriners, as well as for the wearers of the green. The imperial grand potentate of the U. S. Wm. B. Melish was in Detroit and other high officials. A class of 125 were given the 32nd degree, and a reception and banquet was held at the Cadillac. Judge A. J. Sawyer of this city responded to the toast, "The Law yer as a Shriner."

W. W. Bliss of 20 E. William-st became violently insane last Friday. He recently disposed of his billiard hall and had retired from business. He has been acting queerly at times but at last his malady developed dangerously violent symptoms. He was taken to Pontiac after a brief stay in the jail where he was taken by the officers as a measure of safety to his family. It is supposed that excessive cigarette smoking is the cause of his difficulty.

The Michigan Lutherans will erect their old folks' home just south of Monroe city as soon as the weather permits. Thirty-five hundred dollars was given the institution to locate there. Mt. Clemens offered $5,000, and lost because it was not rightly located.

Dr. Carraw's lecture before the Inland League last Monday night was one of the most interesting numbers of the course and added very materially to the general stock of information of every one present in regard to that side of Chinese life which has more directly to do with medical practice.

Dr. Carraw's lecture before the Inland League last Monday night was one of the most interesting numbers of the course and added very materially to the general stock of information of every one present in regard to that side of Chinese life which has more directly to do with medical practice.

"Prof. Schaeberle, of Lick Observatory, who is on his way to South America for the purpose of making photographs of the eclipse of the sun on April 16, expects to prove that the corona of the sun, or the halo of flame which is seen to surround its obscured disc during an eclipse, is caused by volcanic action. The Professor's mission involves great hardships, including a sea voyage of nearly 12,000 miles; but the true scientist will go to the uttermost ends of earth to grasp a fragment of truth; and if Prof. Schaeberle shall make his expected discovery, he will have solved a problem that has baffled the great astronomers of all ages."—Philadelphia Record.

Whitmore Lake is sometimes an elusive place to seek for, even for organizations as incorruptible as the I. O. G. T. It is certainly a suspicious circumstance that last Friday evening a large segment of the local lodge were unable to reach there. When about two miles out an alleged joke was perpetrated, which reaching the ears of the horses rendered them suddenly so wary that there was no moving them ahead. So they boosted out a few Jonah's, turned around and started for home again. When N. Main-st was reached the whole party must have been in a peculiar condition. The driver was no longer capable of steering their ark and after a vain attempt to drive up the T. & A. a switch the bus was capsized and smashed into toothpicks. The passengers were heroically rescued by certain colored washer ladies and coachmen who live in the vicinity, who also did great service in collecting and preserving for restoration the stray features and limbs that had been broken off the victims and tramped into the fine juicy mud for which that region is noted.
