MAYOR AND MARSHAL.

THE CASE TO COME BEFORE THE COUNCIL TONIGHT.

The City Council will tonight sit as a jury and decide whether Murray shall be fired. General invitation extended.

The Council in Special Session.
The council met last Monday night in special session upon the call of Mayor Thompson. The call was to convene the council to act upon the appointment of Wheeler as city marshal, to listen to the order of the Mayor suspending Marshal Murray and the reasons why he did so and to act upon the Mayor's order removing Murray.

There was a full attendance of the council, excepting President Watts. There was also a crowded gallery of eager persons, made up mostly of saloon keepers, with a sprinkling of preacher, and others. The crowd was so great that even City Attorney Norris found it difficult to gain admittance. The Mayor also was present, so also was Prosecuting Attorney Kearney and the suspended marshal and his attorney. It was evident that a struggle was imminent. The nervous tension seemed to be at a "high pressure" figure, so much so that even the whiskey laden atmosphere seemed to quiver. When the time came to call the meeting to order, Clerk Miller rapped for order and called the roll. Immediately Ald. Kitson moved that Ald. Manly act as chairman for the evening. Ald. Manly said that Martin who acted at the last meeting should continue until the President returned, but the council decided that Manly act and he took the chair. Clerk Miller then read the call of the Mayor for the meeting and the chairman at once ruled that the matter of the confirmation of Wheeler as marshal was one which must come up at a regular meeting and could not be acted upon at a special session. The council then approached the great question of the evening. Clerk Miller read again the Mayor's message stating that he had suspended Marshal Murray for cause. Ald. Herz at once moved that the message be laid upon the table until further proof could be offered. Ald. Snow seconded the motion. Ald. Prettyman moved as a substitute that the charges be read. Ald. Herz sprung to the floor like a jumping jack and, forgetting to recognize the president, declared that it was a waste of time to have the charges read, that all the members of the council had already read in the papers what the Mayor's charges were. Ald. Manly called Herz' attention to the fact that the charges had not as yet been officially brought before the council and that the proper thing to do was to have the charges read. As a result the council decided to hear read the Mayor's charges against the Marshal which Clerk Miller proceeded to read, and which were the same as appeared in last week's REGISTER. Following this the clerk stated that he had just received the reply to these charges from Mr. Lawrence, the suspended Marshals' attorney. Upon the request of the clerk Mr. Lawrence then read the reply which he had prepared for Mr. Murray. Ald. Prettyman then moved that the council meet in special session to-morrow night, and hold as it were a court of inquiry to investigate the differences which had arisen between the Mayor and Marshal. Ald. Herz here turned one of his brilliant flash-lights of eloquence upon the murky atmosphere by asking if Ald. Prettyman was the Mayor's attorney in the case! This seemed to be a great hit, though some of the duller ones have not as yet been able to absorb much of the great volume of light which illuminated the room after this brilliant remark. Ald. Ferguson then moved that the resolution of Ald. Prettyman be laid upon the table. This motion, and a motion to change the night when the special session should be held to settle the matter between the Mayor and Marshal, created some little discussion, the most important being the plea of Ald. Herz that he wanted "more light" on the subject. The result of the discussion was that the council adjourned to meet this evening at 7:30, local time, to settle the matter between the Mayor and Marshal.

Another Raise.

The Supervisors have again raised the city and lowered most of the towns. The following is the report of the committee appointed by the Board of Supervisors on equalization: Ann Arbor city $5,175,000, Ann Arbor town $930,000, Augusta $502,000, Bridgewater $765,000, Dexter $540,000, Freedom $730,000, Lima $823,000, Lodi $920,000, Lyndon $400,000, Manchester $1,115,000, Northfield $730,000, Pittsfield $1,113,000, Salem $915,000, Saline $1,130,000, Scio $1,315,000, Sharon $750,000, Superior $955,000, Sylvan $995,000, Webster $855,000, York $972,000, Ypsilanti town $950,000, Ypsilanti 1st district $1,885,000, Ypsilanti 20 district $535,000. Total, $25,000,000. By this equalization the valuation of

Ann Arbor city is raised $200,000, Ypsilanti raised $50,000, Ann Arbor town lowered $10,000, Bridgewater lowered $15,000, Dexter lowered $10,000, Freedom lowered $10,000, Lodi lowered $20,000, Lyndon lowered $10,000, Manchester lowered $25,000, Northfield lowered $10,000, Pittsfield lowered $20,000, Salem lowered $15,000, Saline lowered $15,000, Scio lowered $15,000, Sharon lowered $20,000, Superior lowered $15,000, Webster lowered $20,000, Ypsilanti town lowered $20,000. Total, $250,000. Augusta, Lima, Sylvan and York remain unchanged.

Biblical Instruction.

The work of the Bible Chairs, recently organized in Ann Arbor, and whose beginning was noted some weeks since in THE REGISTER, is now fully under way, and has already assumed very promising proportions. The instruction is given in Newberry Hall, and consists of lectures and studies on Bible subjects, conducted in a manner which utilizes the latest and best equipments for scientific study of the Scriptures. The courses offered cover nearly all the material of the Old and New Testaments, and sufficient classes have been organized to illustrate the spirit and methods that will characterize the work. Prof. Willett and Lockhart who have charge of the work are not only competent biblical scholars but earnest, enthusiastic teachers—they are both trained instructors in their special lines of work.

During the first week about thirty persons enrolled in the various courses, and since then the registration has increased to about forty-five. The work thus far done has been largely introductory, so that the classes can still be entered to advantage. They are open to all persons, whether students or residents, and visitors are welcomed at any time. Prof. Willett has a class in the Life of Christ on Fridays at 4 P. M., one in the Life and Epistles of Paul on Saturdays at 10 A. M., and one in Prophecy on Saturdays at 11 A. M. Prof. Lockhart has a class in the Greek New Testament, which meets on Mondays and Wednesdays at 3 P. M., one in the Life of Christ which meets on Tuesdays at 5 P. M., and Saturdays at 9 A. M., and one in the History of Israel on Thursdays at 7:30 P. M.

The Church and Present-day Problems.

The Church of Christ on S. University-ave, though organized only two years ago with less than a dozen resident members, is steadily growing in numbers and influence. The establishment of the Bible Chairs by the national Society which built the house of worship has already strengthened the work of the congregation. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Young, will be absent much of the time this winter traveling in the interest of the Bible Chairs, but the pulpit will be ably supplied by Prof. H. L. Willett. Prof. Willett is well-known in Ann Arbor as an excellent preacher as well as a thorough Bible scholar. His sermons, brief, compact and well-delivered, are model pulpit productions. Next Sunday he will begin a series of Sunday night sermons on "The Church and Present-day Problems." The first sermon in the series will be "The Church and Young Men." This will be followed by such subjects as "The Church and Politics," "The Church and Amusements," "The Church and Social Problems," "The Church and the Press," "The Church and Death," etc. Young men are especially invited to be present next Sunday night.

The Marshal's Defense.

Marshal Murray answers Mayor Thompson's charges against him by declaring that the men in Dennison's saloon had broken into the place and were not there with the knowledge and consent of the owner of the saloon and that therefore, Dennison certainly could not have been guilty of having broken the law as his only reason and purpose for being in the saloon on the Sunday in question was to put out the intruders who were despoiling his property. The Marshal further claims that the arrest of those who broke into Dennison's saloon was the duty of the sheriff or of his deputies—that they were breaking state laws with which he has no more to do than any private citizen. If Marshal Murray can sustain this line of defense he certainly will not be deposed with the consent of the city council. This, however, will be settled at the meeting of the council to-night.

Rev. M. J. Savage at Unity Club.

Rev. M. J. Savage, of Boston, and the distinguished preacher, lecturer and writer, will lecture in the Unity Club Course on next Monday evening. Subject: "Evolution and Religion." It is doubtful if any other man in America can handle this subject with so much power as Mr. Savage. He is the author of more than a dozen books, several of which are upon Evolution. For ten years Phillips Brooks and Mr. Savage stood at the head of the Boston pulpit. Since Dr. Brooks' death Mr. Savage is confessedly the leading preacher of that city and of New England.

V. TRAVEL AND TRANSPORTATION.

The question, How did the few settlers get here with their households and household goods? is one which may well be answered before we proceed to notice the architecture and the social and business activities of our town. Indeed, I purposely committed an anachronism in my last paper, in order that I might leave for a time in the reader's mind the beautiful conception of the original Oak Orchard, marred, or adorned—for people may differ on the point—only by two tents, for which a sled-box turned upside down supplied the fixed portion.

Nor does this question of travel and transportation assume any of its true grandeur until we transfer our view of it from any fixed locality, or section, and regard its contemporary march over the grand field of the movement from the Atlantic westward. Kentucky was the first section really settled on the western side of the Alleghanies, if we except, indeed, the French settlements which dotted the whole water way from the mouth of the St. Lawrence to that of the Mississippi. Daniel Boone, regarded generally as a mere hunter, was the chief engineer who laid out the road which not till about thirty years later was made passable for wagons. We may look upon Philadelphia and Baltimore as each the starting-point of a branch of this road. From the place where these branches unite, the way passes through the Valley of Virginia to the Cumberland Gap, which is near the line between Kentucky and Tennessee. Thus far the direction is southwardly. The Gap passed, the way into Kentucky took a northwesterly course to the Falls of the Ohio, or Louisville, 826 miles from Philadelphia. Daniel Boone passed the Gap and entered Kentucky in 1769, blazing the trees to show the path which the footman and the horseman might pursue. A branch of this path, leaving the main one in Southern Virginia, held its southwesterly course to Nashville. I give a single illustrative example of commerce on these bridle-paths.

The horse is now still somewhat known in commerce, though fast going out of use. Let the reader imagine a train of nine or more horses, under pack-saddles, each laden with about two hundred pounds of merchandise, stringing along in single file by such a path. A man is with the forward horse, another with the rear one, a third between the two. The horses have bells, though these in moving are sometimes stuffed to stop their tinkling. A hopple made of a hickory-withe is kept for each horse and put on him at night to prevent his straying too far, while the bells help in finding the animals in the morning. In March 1784, such a train drew up before a log-hut in Nashville—a place which has since given two presidents to the United States. The train had been six weeks on its way from Philadelphia. I shall not attempt to hint what its lading may have been; but the reader will not fail to guess it from the prime needs of frontier life. The people of Nashville assembled about the shop to witness the novel scene of unloading and putting up the goods. General Jackson was not in Nashville until four years later; but this may have been the shop to which he sent his note asking for half a dozen pairs of "sox"; perhaps, when the articles came, he wrote "O. K.," the original of which abbreviation is attributed to him, on the bill and enclosed the money.

This mercantile method was in extensive use. A caravan, as it was called, of this kind, was once or twice a year fitted out from frontier settlements, destined for Philadelphia, Baltimore, Hagerstown, Fort Cumberland, Old Town, or Winchester, according to the situation of each interior community, and such was the method between the west of Pennsylvania and Virginia and the Atlantic cities, as well as between these and Kentucky.

The route taken, as described in an earlier paper, by the New England settlers at the mouth of the Muskingum, was as early at least as 1787, as far as Pittsburg, used for vehicles as well as pack-horse trains. This was sometimes taken by migrating parties destined for Southern Ohio and Kentucky; but it was unsafe. I shall not enter into details to show either how this was, or how the bridle-path and the single horse with the pack-saddle gave way to wagon-roads. But I can securely say that men have brought families to Michigan and to the place of our own little town, in ways not more dignified, nor more comfortable than the passage of Virginia dames and their children, mounted on horses before or behind bales of goods, or on the top of these. Both of these methods alternated always

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1893.

AT LAST, after one of the most bitter fights in our congressional history, the Silver Bill, repealing the silver purchase clause of the Sherman Bill has passed the Senate by a vote of 43 to 32. Now we may expect better times. Confidence will be restored, money will be easier, business will revive and new life will be infused into the commercial world—unless the Democratic majority begin to tinker with the tariff. This alone is the rock which is to be feared. The people may be congratulated that an almost unanimous Republican delegation in both houses of Congress stood by the repeal Democrats and made it possible to pass the Voorhees Bill. If we could only be sure that enough from among the Democratic ranks would stand by the Republicans to prevent any change in the present tariff laws we would indeed be fortunate.

The following from The Nation of N. Y. City, one of the most radical of Democratic papers in the country, is certainly very complimentary to the Republican members of Congress:

"The attitude of the Republicans in Congress during the long controversy has been such as to merit the warmest praise. In the House, during August and in the Senate, since early September, they have stood firmly for repeal with the exception of the few from the silver states, and (in the Senate) Don Cameron and 'Bill' Chandler. They have resisted more than one temptation to try and seize partisan advantage by assisting a compromise that would undoubtedly have hurt the Democrats but would also as undoubtedly have worked vast harm to the country. They sustained the Democratic leader in the Senate in his 'test of endurance,' they supported the Democratic President against the opposition of fully half of his own party, and, though in a minority of the body, they will furnish the majority of the votes that will carry repeal. In short, the record of the Republican party throughout the controversy is one that it may well be proud of."

DURING the last fortnight two men died in France who had arrived at a ripe old age and departed full of honors, secured in widely different fields. One of these was Marshal MacMahon, the soldier, statesman, and ex-President of the French Republic, and the other was Gounod, the musical composer. Of the two the latter was known to a less numerous circle but perhaps better known in that limited circle all around the world. Perhaps, also, his operas will keep alive his memory when MacMahon is forgotten, but in our times, and especially in western Europe, the soldier has filled the larger figure. His family is of Irish origin, and followed the Stuart Kings to France when they were exiled from Great Britain. He first came into prominence by the storming and capture of the Malakoff at Sebastopol in the Crimean war. In the war of France with Austria in 1859, he was the principal commander, and ended in the contest by the great victory of Magenta. In the Franco-German war he was outnumbered and defeated by the Crown Prince, was ordered to Sedan in opposition to his judgment, was wounded and captured. After the war ended he was chosen to succeed M. Thiers as President of the Republic in 1873. He was chosen for a term of seven years, but resigned in less than six on account of struggles with the Parliament. Since then he has lived in retirement. As a statesman he was free from corruption, of strict integrity, but, like Gen. Grant, was too much of a soldier to master the tangled and corrupt maze of practical politics. His best work was on the battle-field.

The following editorial from an exchange is worthy of reproduction. "While Alexander Mohammed Webb is sounding the praises of Mohammed and the Koran and shallow-minded Americans are vocal with admiration, the central seat and religious capital of Mohammedanism is furnishing the world an object that will be far more impressive than words. We have noted the fact already that the pilgrimage to Mecca, the filthy habits of the Mohammedan devotees, and the unsanitary condition of the city, were the means of propagating cholera over western Asia and Europe. Every pilgrim must not only kiss the Kaaba, but drink of the holy well Zem Zem, and a scientific expert who obtained and analyzed some of its waters declares that 'it contains nothing but liquid cholera-water swarming with cholera germs.' Hence the vast crowd of pilgrims are infected with the disease, and those who survive carry the germs to Egypt, Syria, Algiers, and Constantinople, from whence they are ready to move westward. Dr. Hart of London predicted another outbreak this year, and the latest reports have more than confirmed his forebodings. Of the nine thousand persons who started from Tunis and neighboring ports last May, only one-half have returned. On June 21, when more than 100,000 pilgrims were gathered on the sacred mount at Mecca, the disease seems to have struck them as if it had been a visible force; the ground was literally covered with the dead and dying. The plague had assumed a form so virulent that it was impossible to approach the place. Finally a Turkish regiment, seven hundred strong, was ordered to remove the bodies. When the work was done, only two hundred of these soldiers remained. The lateness of the season may prevent another outbreak of the disease, but the plague has been sown all through the East, and next summer there must be a fearful harvest.

THE report of the Interstate Commission, referred to last week, summarizes the mortality and perils of railway employment in the following startling figures: the number of employees killed in the year ending June 30 was 2,554; the number injured, 23,267. The number of passengers killed was 376 in 1892 as against 293 in 1891; the number of passengers injured was 3,227 in 1892, as against 2,972 in 1891. An assignment of casualties to the opportunity offered for accidents shows 1 employee to have been killed for every 322 employees, and one employee to have been injured for each 29 men in the employ of the railways. A similar comparison shows 1 passenger killed for each 1,491,910 passengers carried or for each 35,542,282 passenger miles, and 1 passenger injured for each 173,833 passenger miles carried or each 4,140,966 passenger miles. The largest number of casualties to employees resulted from coupling and uncoupling cars, 378 employees having been killed and 10,319 injured while rendering this service. Of the total number killed in coupling and uncoupling cars 253, and of the total number injured 7,766 were trainmen. The accidents classed as "falling from cars" were in this year as in previous years responsible for the largest number of deaths among employees, the number killed in this manner being 611. Of this number 485 were trainmen. Collisions and derailments were responsible for the death of 431 employees. Of this number 336 were trainmen. This class of accidents is responsible also for the largest number of casualties to passengers. Thus 177 passengers were killed and 1,539 were injured by collisions and derailments during the year. Collisions alone were responsible for the death of 286 employees and 136 passengers. With a few more horrible affairs like that at Jackson and also at Battle Creek recently it will, doubtless greatly increase the total of killed among passengers during the current year. The proportion, however, of the number killed to the number actually carried will probably be less owing to the great number of World's Fair passengers this season.

THE assassination of Mayor Harrison of Chicago, last Saturday night was an act to be deplored by every law-abiding citizen. Such acts are to be especially regretted, not only because one man holding a prominent position has died at the hands of an assassin, but because every man in official position is likely to have his career cut short at any moment by just such deluded fiends. The question of how best to prevent in the future acts of this kind from becoming more frequent is one of vast importance, and a question which will be a most difficult one to solve. It is doubly unfortunate that a man like Carter Harrison should have met his death in the manner he did and while holding such a high position. Carter Harrison was a man of unusual ability in a great many ways. He had by his political shrewdness gained a powerful hold upon the political powers of Chicago, having been five times elected mayor of that city, and he was already reaching out over the state and had, practically, within his grasp the election to the U. S. Senate. The death of such a man under such circumstances is sure to call out a deep feeling of sympathy and we are apt to hear only words of praise for the unfortunate victim. It is charitable to overlook one's faults and speak only of the good. But this may be overdone as we think has been the case in this instance. To speak nothing but praise of such a person is to lead many a young man to think that his example was a worthy one which might be creditably imitated. The unstinted praise which has been poured out upon the murdered man cannot help leading to such a result with thousands of young men ambitious for public preferment. While we deplore as deeply as any the sad fate of the dead we must warn young men from following the example set by men like Carter Harrison. Though a great man in many respects his unscrupulous political methods were of the worst possible sort. While we would draw the veil and say peace to his ashes we would also say to young men, avoid the example he set.

Missions in Mexico.

Mrs. Scadin, of Webster, has given THE REGISTER permission to publish the following letter which she recently received. The writer, Mr. Scott Williams, and his wife are both well known in this county, and the letter will no doubt be read with much interest:

SAN LUIS POTOSI, MEX. My Dear Mrs. Scadin:—Your letter found me very busy trying to straighten out the work that had been accumulating during my absence. Just at present I have a big job on my hands in getting started the work on our new chapel. It is to front on one of the principal plazas and will have a tower much in appearance like an American church. It will be built entirely of stone, as that is the cheapest building material here. It is situated within a stone's throw of two large Roman Catholic churches, and side by side with it is a large brewery, so we are meeting the enemy on his own ground. I think that this church will be a great help to us in our work. The priests are accustomed to say that the protestants do not amount to much and that their only object in coming here is to make money or to steal children, and even here in this big city where there are so many foreigners, there are many who believe it. Hitherto we have been holding our worship in a little room that was so ill looking that few were attracted to enter. It may seem a costly way of evangelizing, but a display of wealth, at least such a display as will demand respect is necessary here. For instance, I own a very nice revolver. When I went out on my trips the first time I did not carry it as I thought in such a peaceful mission as preaching the gospel it would not be needed. But it is the custom here in the country for every man to carry a revolver, no matter whether it will shoot or not. I soon perceived that I lacked a part of the dress of a gentleman and was therefore underrated. The next time I carried my revolver and the many envious glances and signs of respect I received, paid me for the burden of the useless and extra weight.

I suppose you know that there are several of the Home Boards who have missions in Mexico. The history of Mexican missions dates back to soon after the Mexican war, but no very great efforts were made till late in the sixties. The Presbyterian church began its work in 72. Other societies followed soon after. At present there are eight or nine different missions, the churches of the Southern states being well represented. The work of the American Board in which, of course, you are most interested is in the northwestern part, in Chihuahua (pronounced Chihuahua) (and also in the southwest in the State of Jalisco. This is the most populous region in the whole country, and Guadalupe, the capital, is the next largest city in the republic. I am sorry that I do not know more of that work but I have had no opportunity to visit it. Next April there is to be held a National Sunday School convention over there and I hope to go.

In the early days there was a great deal of enthusiasm and a great deal of opposition. In several places the fanaticism of the Catholics led them to deeds of violence and the churches count an honor roll of martyrs who gave their lives for the truth. Even now there is persecution, but of a different sort. The government has always given prompt protection to all protestants, but it often happens that the poorer people are frightened away from making appeals. We could largely increase our work if it were not for the fear that many stand in of their employers who are very strict Catholics. On the ranches and large farms where all is the property of one man, the gospel has to creep in silently. In many places the Bible is secretly read for fear of dismissal and abuse if it were known. Some of these owners persist in this course, not simply through zeal for the Catholic church, but because they realize that knowledge is power, and that when a man knows the truth he will not remain the abject slave that these grasping owners desire. Indeed, in many places the people are little better off than slaves, constantly in debt.

Of course there are hundreds of districts where as yet the Gospel has not been preached. But on the whole, I can say that the mission work in Mexico is well advanced. To speak simply of our church, we have ten missionaries, fifty-four native helpers, ninety-three churches and perhaps twice as many more preaching stations, besides day schools and Sabbath schools with an enrollment of about 3,000. The number of members is 4,462 of whom 374 have been added during the year. The work is steadily advancing. I have just received a letter from one of my native helpers informing me that there are quite a number awaiting my next visit to that field to receive baptism.

I could enter into detail and tell you many interesting things in regard to my own personal work, but I have not the time. In addition to the mission work I have been very busy in fixing up our own house. It is going to be a very cozy place and you must think of us, not as enduring hardship, but as living very comfortably in a nice large house with large garden, and beautiful flowers. Mrs. Williams has all the roses she desires, and probably will have every day for the rest of the year. We have left the winter behind us and live now in the land of perpetual summer. With best wishes to all our friends,

Very sincerely,
C. SCOTT WILLIAMS.

SKETCHES OF OUR CITY.

That I may not seem to the reader to have quite forgotten the subject of my purposed sketches, I will here observe that our fellow citizen, Daniel Hiscock, can give us his recollections of the journey of his father's family to this place in a wagon drawn by three horses, himself at the time a boy. They had come from Wayne county in the extreme north-east of Pennsylvania. This was in the year 1829. Nearing their destination, for Mr. Hiscock had entered his land some years earlier, they met a boy of whom they made inquiry and who took passage with them and conducted them to his father's house, where they were hospitably entertained. The boy thus opportunely met was John W. Maynard, and Mr. Hiscock well remembers that he had at that time the same vigorous laugh, which he has ever since continued so freely to exercise.

I am proceeding upon the conviction that the history of no locality appears in its true proportions and significance except as a single figure in a grand whole. I trust that the reader will cherish no apprehension of my failing in the end to give our city its due prominence in the kaleidoscopic view; or, to use another figure, that I shall fail to present it as an elegant embossment upon the bosom of western life.

Communication.

To the Editor of the Register:
The people of this city ought to be more interested in the appointment of a man for marshal than they seem to be. A good man in that place means more than most people are aware of. Fathers bringing up a family of boys or even girls are interested in who is marshal. The appointee, whoever he is, should be a man above suspicion, sober and of good moral character, otherwise, what security has the public? We are altogether too easy in matters of this kind pertaining as they do largely to the welfare of our city. Murray is unfit for that place and every body knows it. Then why try to fasten such barnacles on us? It is about time the people looked at things as they are—the whole police force, if decapitated, would be for the good of all concerned. Only a short time ago a certain party was on our streets at 2 o'clock in the morning and he was awfully dry. He hailed a policeman who escorted him to a saloon when they were regaled with the best in the house. Mind you, 2 o'clock in the morning and yet that officer has sworn to do his duty to see the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city are enforced. Now, that can be proved. Now, do the good people of this city like such conduct in a public official? If necessary, more could be said but for the present let this suffice.
Yours for the right,
Oct. 31, '93. (Citizen.)

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

Is the only Baking Powder free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulteration. Hence the only Wholesome One.

Baking Powders branded "Absolutely Pure" Contain either Alum or Ammonia.

When high, flaky white biscuit, pastry of surpassing fineness, delicacy and flavor

Cake that is light, sweet and retains its moisture is desired,

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

is indispensable and incomparable.

Its higher leavening power makes it more economical than any other, and it never disappoints.

EVERYBODY KNOWS HIM.

A Prominent Member of the Maine Legislature.

WHAT HE SAYS WILL RING OVER THE WHOLE LAND.

As the Trumpet Toned Utterances of One of Our Great Men.

The word of Hon. John R. Prescott, formerly a prominent member of the Maine legislature is all powerful.

Mr. Prescott lives at Rome, Me. Everybody knows him, everybody respects him and everybody believes what he says.

And it is an interesting story which he tells in an eloquent tribute which he pays.

"Thirty-two years ago," he says, "I was attacked with neuralgia in my face and head, mostly confined to the right side. There was not often a day or an hour that I was not suffering with that terrible severe pain, so severe a great many times that for several days and nights I could not sleep or take any food excepting a little gruel.

"My nerves were terribly affected and I grew weak and feeble, and my many friends in the state of Maine, and more particularly in Kennebec County will testify to.

"About five years ago I was taken with what the physicians claim to be a liver and kidney trouble, a soreness over the right kidney; so much so that I could not bear to be rubbed.

"My bowels were very much constipated, could not urinate freely, and suffered severe pain at such times.

"My troubles increased very much, and for the past six months I could not get up from my bed in the morning and dress me before I would be in pain in my back and bowels.

"I would often be forced to drop down and rest me and many times be in such pain that I would cry like a child and ask why I could not die.

"I have used for the neuralgia all the liniments I have ever seen advertised for the cure of that disease, and for my nerves and kidney and liver trouble I have taken so many remedies that they are to numerous to mention.

"I have been treated by the leading physicians of Maine, have also been to Massachusetts to be treated by physicians in Boston, and from all I have received very little benefit. One eminent physician said that I could not be cured, and many physicians examined me and refused to treat me.

"I had given up taking medicine.

"About the middle of December, 1892, my wife had been reading some of the testimonials of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. She told me she wanted me to try one bottle of the Nervura.

"I said to her I had taken all the medicine I should. She sent to A. P. Cram, the druggist at Mt. Vernon, and bought one bottle of the Nervura, and said she wanted me to give it a fair trial.

HON. JOHN R. PRESCOTT, OF MAINE.

"I commenced taking it about the 25th of December. When I had taken it about two weeks the pain left me entirely from my back and bowels, and I can urinate freely without pain and the neuralgia troubles me but very little.

"I gained in weight in the month of January twelve and one-half pounds. I am 67 years old and can work now every day, while before taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy I could not do any labor only a few chores.

"I hope that anyone who is suffering from any trouble with the nerves or liver or kidneys will give Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy a fair trial. I know that they will get relief.

"I can truly say that I thank God that such a medicine as Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy was created, and I still thank Him that I was induced to take this wonderful medicine.

"I write this without any solicitation."

"The cure of so prominent and widely known a public man as the Hon. John R. Prescott has created an immense stir throughout the entire State of Maine. His friends and acquaintances are surprised, nay, amazed, at his cure, for they had long looked upon his recovery as hopeless. People are calling on him from New Sharon, Mercer, Belgrade, Mt. Vernon and Rome, and people are writing him from all over the country inquiring about the remarkable facts of this cure by this truly wonderful health-giver, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

It is purely vegetable and harmless and all druggists sell it for $1. We would add also that it is the discovery and prescription of a well known physician, Dr. Greene of 35 W. 14th Street, New York, who can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Department and Dancing.

Department and dancing are synonymous terms as comprehended in the course of instruction of every thorough teacher of dancing, and the time occupied in the practice of the proper carriage of the body, in walking and the different movements of entree, exit, salutation and the minor suggestions should not be looked upon as it often is, as tedious, unnecessary or lost. The excellent music, systematic methods of instruction, comforts of their new academy and the patronage of only families of the highest respectability have placed Mr. and Mrs. Granger's school second to none in the state. 84

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills Prove Their Merit.

"I think I would have been in my grave several years ago had it not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was a United States soldier; served three years in the Union Army and was with Sherman in his

March to the Sea.

While in the service I contracted asthma, bronchitis and catarrh, which have become chronic diseases. I find that Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills are the best medicines I can use for these complaints. They have certainly prolonged my life. I earnestly recommend the medicines as just right for what they are advertised. I am satisfied they save many lives every year." Rev. S. S. Thompson of the M. F. Church, Attila, Illinois.

The occasion was the first of the kind and was a very pleasant one. Mrs. Prof. Trueblood entertained the guests with some delightful recitations and Miss Cole sang a number of songs.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

It was halloween Tuesday night and there was the usual amount of noise, senseless deprecations and tomfoolery generally. Result, four arrests and three boys in jail over night. It would seem that boys ought to have a little sense by the time they are old enough to enter college, but alas, many of them don't.

The U. of M. Daily gave a half column article last Friday to co-operative associations at colleges. Wonder if the U. of M. Daily wants a "co-op." formed in Ann Arbor. That paper would run about a week after the formation of such an organization and the business men had withdrawn their advts. from its columns.

An important case to the university authorities was decided by the state supreme court last Friday. One Weinberg had sold material to a sub-contractor on the university hospitals. The sub-contractor failed to settle his bills and Weinberg sued the board of regents. The supreme court held that the sub-contractor only was liable.

Coldwater has had her mineral water examined by Prof. Prescott, of the University. The professor pronounces it "an interesting water." Professional fee $50.—Adrian Press. A $500 fee would probably have secured a more elaborate statement of the analysis of this interesting water found at Coldwater, but then the worthy dean of the pharmacy department is—well he's only American.

"This court is not a theater!" sternly remarked Judge Kinne, the other day in rebuking a spectatorial titter. A court may not be a theater, but it is the scene of many a rank farce. Still, there should be "order in the court." The late Judge Wilson of Lenawee, once fined a man $20 for misbehavior in the court room, remarking as he did so: "I'll show you, by—sir, that this court has some dignity!"—Adrian Press.

On last Saturday evening the first of a series of informal teas, to be given each week during the year, by the Women's League, was given by Mrs. Dr. Martin. A number of the ladies of the town have consented to open their homes for these little gatherings. As the hour is to be early and the costume strictly "school garb," it is hoped that no stiffness or formality will mar the enjoyment. All the members of the League will be included during the winter, among the invited guests.

There are 85,782 volumes in the University library, and 16,000 unbound pamphlets.—Argus. Is this inclusive, or conclusive, of the epics of E. P. Johnstone?—Adrian Press. Neither, the librarian is waiting for a new gilt edged record book in which to enter up the gift of one of these volumes of poems and also a bound volume of the Adrian Press (which some day he hopes to receive as a gift) in order that pathos and humor may be made close companions and within suitable surroundings.

Last Sunday, a student in search of geological specimens made a ghastly find in a gravel pit north of town. It was no more nor less than the body of a human being. Tuesday morning the coroner called a jury and viewed the remains which had evidently been buried over a year, but which had become exposed by the late rains. It is questionable as to how the body ever came there, some thinking that it had been stolen by medical students, while others believe that it is due to foul play. The remains have been interred in the north side cemetery.

A desperate fight took place between two section hands on the Ann Arbor road Monday. The men were at work in Northfield when a difficulty over some trifling matter arose between Mike O'Connor and Ed. Winters. O'Connor struck Winters a terrible blow with an iron wrench knocking him from the handcar. O'Connor followed this up with another. Winters was brought to his home in this city where he did not recover consciousness until a physician arrived. He now lies in a critical condition but will very likely recover.

Three Men Killed. The wreck on the Ann Arbor Road on Wednesday night of last week was a horrible affair. A freight train going north was wrecked near Hamburg Junction due to the engine being thrown from the track by a new embankment giving way. Immediately following the engine was a tank car filled with oil and a carload of coal. These at once took fire. The three missing men were burned to a crisp. It is not known whether they were instantly killed or were burned to death. The men, the engineer, fireman, and a brakeman, all lived in Owosso. The two former had families.

Women Taxpayers. Julia H. Pond, a member of the Board of World's Fair managers for Michigan has issued a table of statistics showing the number of women in Michigan who pay taxes to be 79,419. The assessed value of their property is $134,506,179.00. They pay taxes on this to the amount of $2,052,750.00. This shows that the per cent. of the taxes paid by women is 11.9 per cent. of the entire taxes paid.

A Bonanza for the Poor!

A Snap for the Rich!

Is what our purchase of THE TWO SAM'S stock means. You all know they have been wanting to dispose of their business for some time. They wanted too much money for it, besides the times did not warrant new ventures or the spreading out of old firms. We have been figuring on the stock for some time—but could not get it cheap enough until now, and we have bought it at 40c ON THE DOLLAR!

That is the way we do business, buy it cheap, sell it at a low price, clean it out, and the surplus, be it small, will warrant the investment. We have a good sized job on our hands now—
Nearly Ten Thousand Dollars Worth of Gents' Furnishing Goods and Hats.

To sell in five weeks. We want the last article closed out by December 1st. We rely on the citizens of Ann Arbor, Students of the University and the people of Washtenaw Co. to buy goods that are desirable, seasonable and just what they need when they can buy them at a price cheaper than merchants pay for them at wholesale. Cheaper we say and cheaper we mean. We fully appreciate the lack of currency these days and that should be all the more reason why this stock should be sold quickly. Your money will go nearly three times as far with us as with others. You get the best makes, best quality and most desirable goods sold. Even competitors of The Two Sams acknowledge that they always bought the best goods to be found in the markets of the East. We cannot give you gold dollars for 50 cents, but we will give you Underwear, Hose, Working Shirts, Dress Shirts, Gloves, Night Shirts, Neckwear, Hats, Caps, Dressing Gowns, Smoking Jackets, and Dress Suits, cheaper than you have ever bought them in your life.

These are the Prices the Stock will be Sold at. All Goods in the Same Proportion!

SHOT TO DEATH.

Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of Chicago, Murdered.

Patrick E. Prendergast, an Insane Newspaper Carrier, is the Assassin—Story of the Crime—Life of the Dead Official.

KILLED AT HIS HOME.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Carter Henry Harrison, mayor of the city of Chicago, was assassinated at his residence, corner of Ashland and Jackson boulevards, Saturday evening. Three of the four shots fired by the assassin took effect in the body of the mayor. One bullet entered the abdomen, another pierced his body to the right of the right nipple, plowing its way through the axillary region, and a third lodged in the palm of the left hand.

Gave Himself Up.

Forty-five minutes later Patrick Eugene Prendergast, excited, out of breath, and panting from his long run, bounded up the steps of the Desplaines street station, and handing a revolver across the desk to Sergeant Barber, admitted the crime and was locked up for it.

Undoubtedly Insane.

The story of the murder seems to indicate that it was committed by an insane or partially demented man. The act was cold-blooded and deliberate. The man had come to the Harrison mansion bent on murder, and whether actuated by motives the birth of an unbalanced mind or not, he did his fiendish work well.

Death of the Mayor.

In the meantime a sad scene was being witnessed at the home of Mr. Harrison. Attracted by the shots Preston Harrison hastened from his room on the upper floor of the mansion to ascertain their cause. He found his father lying on the floor his life blood pouring from the gaping wounds. Almost at the same instant neighbors arrived and an attempt was made to raise the prostrate man. He was still conscious and moaning in his agony. He asked his son not to move him, saying that he knew he was dying. His friends tried to reassure him, but he was firm in the belief that the end was near. In a few minutes he lapsed into a state of semi-unconsciousness, not, however, before requesting that Miss Annie Howard be sent for. This request was repeated twice—in fact, his dying words were a desire to see her. Miss Howard was Mayor Harrison's affianced, and they were to have been married at Biloxi, Miss., November 16. She came to the house on being informed of the tragedy, but before reaching the side of her betrothed he had passed away. Her grief on realizing her loss was deep and the scene when she was shown his dead body was pathetic in the extreme, as was that on the appearance of his daughters, Miss Sophie Harrison and Mrs. Heaton Owsley, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carter Harrison, Jr. The sons, Carter, Jr., and Preston, bore up bravely for a time but finally succumbed as the sense of their terrible loss dawned fully upon them.

The Assassin.

After giving himself up to the desk sergeant at the Desplaines street station Prendergast refused to talk. He was disarmed and placed in a cell. He was dressed in a shabby-genteel manner, is about 23 years of age and weighs about 125 pounds. His aspect is forbidding. Insanity was written both in his features and in the restlessness of his manner. Inspector Sheason arriving, the prisoner was placed in a patrol wagon, and heavily guarded, was transferred to the central station, located in the city hall. Around this place an immense crowd of angry citizens had gathered. There were loud threats of lynching passing from mouth to mouth as the patrol wagon with Prendergast arrived. The officers, however, had little trouble in forcing the crowd aside and entering the building.

Why He Did It.

The prisoner was ushered into the presence of Chief of Police Brennan and a corps of shrewd detectives, where he was submitted to a cross-fire of questions which were calculated to secure from him the story of his crime, and detect whether or not his insanity was real or feigned. He was a most abject-looking person as he faced the officers, and his every look, word and action gave evidence of a disordered brain. At the conclusion of their examination of Prendergast the universal conclusion of officers, reporters and others who were present was that Mayor Harrison's assassin was undoubtedly an insane man.

Intense Excitement.

As the news of the assassination spread throughout the city crowds flocked to the city hall, the newspaper offices, club rooms and hotels eager to hear the horrible details. The utmost excitement prevailed among the angry people, and expressions of indignation and horror and dire threats against the assassin were heard on all sides. A big force of policemen guarded the entrances to the city hall and kept back the excited crowds which pressed forward, loud in their denunciation of the mayor's murderer. No scenes of violence occurred, however.

Verdict of the Jury.

The coroner's jury after hearing the testimony of several persons and the report of the physicians gave as their opinion that Mr. Harrison died as the result of the wounds he had received, and without discussion voted to hold Prendergast to the grand jury on a charge of murder.

His Career.

Carter Henry Harrison was born near Lexington, Ky., on February 18, 1855, and may be said to have inherited his taste for political life. His great-grandfather was the ancestor of President William Henry Harrison, his grandfather a cousin of Thomas Jefferson and he himself a cousin of John C. Breckinridge.

His father died when he was 8 months old, and he was left to the care of his mother—a daughter of Col. William Russell, of the United States army, one of the pioneers of the northwest, of which Illinois is now a part. From his mother Mr. Harrison inherited those principles which in 1859 placed him in the front rank of the emancipationists of Kentucky. Most of his education, preparatory to entering the sophomore class of Yale college, he received from Dr. Marshall, brother of the chief justice, the father of Tom Marshall, the great orator. Graduating in 1875 he commenced the study of law, but did not enter into practice at once, as his mother needed his company and comfort.

In 1881 he went abroad, traveling for two years in Europe, Asia and Africa. He commenced a prospecting tour through the northwest, but reaching Chicago became so impressed with the young city that he invested all his means in real estate, expecting also to enter into the regular practice of the law, but his acute business foresight induced him to confine his efforts entirely to real estate transactions, thus laying the firm basis of an ample fortune.

Mr. Harrison did not actively engage in politics until 1879, being elected during the preceding year a member of the first board of county commissioners. He held office until December, 1874, when he took his seat as a member of congress from the Second district of Illinois. His term in congress was marked by an earnestness and ability which made him one of the most prominent members in that body. A resolution, introduced by him, to fix the presidential term at six years with ineligibility for reelection and making the retiring president a senator for life, drew the attention of the country to him as a man of broad and radical views. His efforts in behalf of the centennial appropriation bill exhibited him not only as an energetic worker and ready debater but as a brilliant orator.

Mr. Harrison spent the summers of 1874 and 1875 in Europe with his family. He was elected mayor of Chicago in 1879, 1881, 1883 and 1885. Against his own desire he was nominated for governor of Illinois in 1884, and during the fall of that year conducted a most energetic and brilliant canvass which resulted in cutting down the republican majority of 37,000, enjoyed by Gov. Cullum, to 12,000.

Mr. Harrison was married on April 12, 1855, to Miss Sophy Preston, who came from a distinguished southern family. His wife dying in Europe in 1876, he married in 1882 Margaretta E. Stearns, daughter of one of Chicago's oldest and most respected and wealthiest citizens. The second Mrs. Harrison died in 1884.

Mr. Harrison had received and accepted the nomination for mayor in 1887, but before the campaign had fairly opened his second wife died and, bowed with grief, he withdrew and started on his tour of the globe, leaving Chicago in the hands of Mayor Roche. His travels began July 25, 1887, and ended in November, 1888. Everything of importance in connection with them was recorded by Mr. Harrison in his newspaper letters and his book, "A Race with the Sun." Returning, he was received with a popular ovation unique in its way, and retired to private life, devoting himself to literature and business interests.

Re-entering active politics in 1891, Mr. Harrison was nominated for the mayoralty by his personal friends, although Dewitt C. Creger had been renominated by a democratic convention, and began a canvass against Hempstead Washburne, Elmer Washburne and Mr. Creger. He was defeated, and Hempstead Washburne was declared mayor of Chicago.

The election of Mr. Harrison as mayor last spring, in spite of the most fierce opposition he had ever encountered, was fresh in the minds of all, since his campaign was closely watched all over the country. His life ended in the midst of what Mr. Harrison considered the crowning honor of his career—the dignity of the chief magistracy of Chicago during the World's Columbian exposition.

The announcement of the wedding of Miss Annie Howard and Carter H. Harrison at Biloxi, Miss., November 16, was publicly made a few days ago, and one of the most distressing features of the tragic death of Mayor Harrison is the terrible grief of the fiancée.

Of ten children born to Mr. Harrison by his first wife four survive, the others having died in infancy or in early youth: Mrs. Lina Owsley, the wife of Heaton Owsley; Carter H. Harrison, Jr.; William Preston Harrison; and Miss Sophie Harrison, all residents of Chicago.

Indicted.

Patrick Eugene Prendergast was on Monday indicted for murder. The grand jury was in session, and acting in accord with the universal wish that the assassin be brought to speedy justice, it took up the case and in a short time a true bill was found. At 11 o'clock Inspector John D. Shea appeared before the jury, filed his information and related briefly the circumstances of the crime. No other witnesses were asked for. The verdict of the coroner's jury and the written testimony of the witnesses examined on Sunday morning were reviewed and a true bill was returned charging Prendergast with the murder of Carter H. Harrison.

Want to Colonize.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A committee appointed by a convention of negro lawyers recently held in Chattanooga, Tenn., has arrived in this city to urge upon congress the recommendation of the convention, in case the government does not protect the negro, that $1,000,000,000 be appropriated with which the colored people of this country may be colonized. They seem to favor some part of South or Central America.

"Doc" Taylor Executed.

MORTON, Va., Oct. 28.—"Doc" Taylor was hanged Friday afternoon at Wise Court House, Va., a few moments after 2 o'clock for the murder of the Mullins family. He met death boldly, dressed in a suit of pure white linen, and preached his own funeral sermon to the crowd of assembled witnesses of his death.

The Clearing Houses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The exchanges at the leading clearing houses in the United States during the week ending yesterday aggregated $928,141,581, against $934,566,636 the previous week. The decrease, compared with the corresponding week in 1892, was 20.8.

Off for the Arctic.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 28.—Capt. Aaron Kingston with a party of ten left this city yesterday in three boats on a voyage to the Antarctic and Arctic seas. They expect to be gone one year.

Death of Sir John Abbott.

MONTREAL, Can., Oct. 21.—Sir John Abbott died at 5:30 Monday evening. He was at one time premier of Canada, succeeding Sir John Macdonald.

Fire in a Prison.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 27.—A fire in the foundry house of the state penitentiary yesterday caused a loss of $100,000.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

WOMEN CANNOT VOTE.

The Supreme Court Says the Legislative Act Is Unconstitutional.

In a unanimous opinion the supreme court declared unconstitutional the act of the legislature conferring municipal suffrage upon women. The court says the general rule is that the source of all authority to vote at popular elections is the constitution; that the electorate is constituted by the fundamental law; that the qualifications of electors must be uniform throughout the state, and that wherever the constitution has prescribed the qualifications of electors they cannot be changed or added to by the legislature, or otherwise, except by an amendment to the constitution.

New Railroad for Michigan.

The Menominee & Northern Railway company was organized at Menominee with a capitalization of $500,000 to build and operate a line from Menominee to the iron range and through the lumber districts, a distance of 55 or 60 miles northwest of Menominee. A survey is being made on the Wisconsin side of the river down to a point where a suitable crossing can be effected, and a terminal will be made in Menominee for the necessary ore docks.

Marble Company Organized.

Near Foster City, in Breen township, Menominee county, is an immense deposit of beautiful white and variegated marble, which has been pronounced by experts who have examined it to be equal to the best Georgia marble. For the purpose of placing it in the market the Northern Michigan Marble company has been organized, with a capital stock of $50,000, and work will be begun immediately.

Health in Michigan.

During the week ended October 21 reports sent in by sixty-four observers in various portions of the state to the state board of health indicated that typhoid fever and neuralgia increased and inflammation of the bowels decreased in area of prevalence. Typhoid fever was reported at fifty-eight places, diphtheria at thirty-seven, measles at four and scarlet fever at forty-one places.

It Didn't Pay.

C. S. Behan and Frank Linsman, of Grand Rapids, jumped a board bill at the Roberts house at Fenton during the fair at that place. Officers who went to Grand Rapids after Linsman captured him after a lively chase, and took him back to Fenton. The original bill was $12.50, but it cost him $65 to settle the case.

For Mutual Protection.

The association formed by the milk dealers of the two Bay cities for mutual protection against deadbeats and low prices has elected officers as follows: President, W. A. Wilder, West Bay City; vice president, A. Lacroix, Bay City; secretary, Thomas Green, Bay City; treasurer, E. Fargo, Hampton.

Found Ancient Bones.

Several bones of a human skeleton were unearthed at a depth of 12 feet by laborers who were digging in the gravel pit at Fenton. Near the bones was found a keystone, or pocket piece, on which were legibly engraved various emblems and the date 1790.

Couldn't Tell Why.

C. H. Rudel, who claimed to the West Bay City police that he had been knocked down on Henry street and robbed of $105, admitted to the police shortly after that he was not robbed at all, and that he did not know what possessed him to make the claim.

Short But Newsy Items.

The Ingham county savings bank at Lansing has effected a reorganization. The new officers are: H. J. Downey, president; E. L. Robertson, vice president; J. A. May, cashier.

Three miners were imprisoned in the Lake Angeline mine at Ishpeming by a fall of earth. Two were rescued alive. Another large paper mill will be built at Menominee.

C. H. Hudson's store at Marcellus was broken into by burglars, who blew open the safe and took $300 in notes and money, besides $50 worth of goods.

Practical miners now estimate that the course of the Michigamme river can be permanently turned, the bodies of the dead recovered and the Mansfield mine placed in a condition for the resumption of operations.

The Upper Michigan Brewing company, organized at Iron Mountain three years ago with a capital stock of $150,000, failed with liabilities of about $80,000 and assets of $100,000.

John Pennoyer, the first white person born in Ottawa county, died at his home in Grand Haven.

The Grand Haven Ship Building company's sawmill was destroyed by fire, the loss being $3,000.

Grow Brothers, clothiers at Bay City, filed chattel mortgages aggregating $38,748.

Ingham county will have to raise $71,789.83 tax, $35,859.83 being state tax. Diphtheria has appeared in Tawas township and caused considerable alarm.

The Dexter mine, 5 miles west of Ishpeming, which suspended operations three months ago, has resumed, employing thirty men.

Mrs. Celia Law, widow of the late David Entrican, died in Northville, aged 90 years.

Holzhay, the highwayman who held up a train near Ellis Junction and robbed the passengers, and who is now serving a life sentence in the upper peninsula prison, has been made prison librarian.

A head-end collision at Clare wrecked two locomotives of the Flint & Pere Marquette.

A confidence man tried to swindle a Greenland man out of $185, failed in his endeavor and was sent to the upper peninsula prison for a year.

Charles Bateman committed suicide at Grand Rapids by taking poison. He was under arrest for forgery in a real estate deal and out on bail.

THE SENATE VOTES.

The Silver-Purchase Clause of the Keppel Bill Defeated.

A Majority of Eleven Against the Measure—The Vote in Detail—Other Proceedings in the Senate and in the House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The senate yesterday adopted a joint resolution requesting the president of the United States to communicate to each foreign government that has participated in the quadri-centennial exposition held in Chicago in commemoration of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus the acknowledgment of congress for its contribution. The silver repeal bill was further discussed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Each day adds new evidence of the completeness of the surrender of the silver forces. But they are dying hard. Most of the senators believed that the vote would be yesterday, but Senator Stewart was still speaking when the senate closed and there is no telling when he will quit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—In the senate yesterday Senator Peffer's amendment to the repeal bill providing for silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1 was defeated by a vote of 39 to 28, which was taken as meaning that the Voorhees bill would become a law. The measure was further discussed and Senator Teller in the course of his remarks against repeal said: "To me this is the most terrible moment of my legislative life." He had tried to keep back the tears, but they forced themselves out and ran down his face. The senators bent over their desks and tried to busy themselves with trifles. There was not a man in the senate chamber whose heart was not wrung by this unaffected anguish. They knew the sincerity of Senator Teller's motives and how deep was his regret when the actual voting showed him that the silver cause was lost. His closing words were pathetically eloquent, as he said that it filled with terror to see the senate commit an act which, in his judgment, would lead to the enslavement of the American people.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The senate Saturday passed the urgency deficiency bill. Various amendments to the silver bill were defeated, and Senator Sherman closed the debate, saying, during his remarks, that the further purchase of silver and making it the standard of value would, it was believed, work irreparable injury to the business of the whole country, to the wages and property of every citizen of the land.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Unconditional repeal has carried the day in the senate. At 7:30 o'clock last night the Voorhees bill was passed by the decisive vote of 43 to 32. It remains now only to reconcile minor differences of phraseology between the senate and the house, and, this being done, President Cleveland's signature will make the repeal bill a law. The full vote is as follows: Yeas—Aldrich, Bristow, Caffery, Camden, Carey, Culbert, Davis, Dixon, Dolph, Faulkner, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Hawley, Higgins, Hill, Hoar, Hutton, Lindsay, Lodge, McMillan, McPherson, Mauderson, Mills, Mitchell (Wis.), Morrill, Murphy, Platt, Proctor, Quay, Ransom, Sherman, Smith, Squire, Stockbridge, Tappan, Vilas, Voorhees, Washburn, White (La.)—43.

Nays—Allen, Bate, Berry, Blackburn, Butler, Call, Cameron, Cookrell, Coke, Daniel, Dubois, George, Harris, Irby, Jones (Ark.), Jones (Nev.), Kyle, Martin, Pasco, Peffer, Perkins, Pettitrew, Power, Pugh, Roach, Shoup, Stewart, Teller, Vance, Vest, Walcott, Wolcott—32.

An analysis of the vote shows that it was passed by twenty-three republicans and twenty democrats, while the negative vote was cast by ten republicans, nineteen democrats and three populists. From this it is apparent that both parties were badly divided.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Bills were introduced in the house yesterday for the retirement of national bank notes and for the issue in their place of United States notes, and providing that no pension claim heretofore or hereafter allowed shall be annulled, suspended or set aside unless it is shown that the pension was obtained by fraud or perjury. The bankruptcy bill was further considered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—In the house yesterday the death of the chaplain, Rev. S. W. Haddaway, of Maryland, was announced, and a committee of seven was appointed to attend the funeral. The senate resolution extending the acknowledgments of the United States to foreign governments for their participation in the world's fair was concurred in. The bankruptcy bill was further considered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The time of the house yesterday was entirely taken up in discussion of a resolution calling for information as to state banks, friends of the repeal of the state bank tax declaring that the resolution was an attempt to throw an obstacle in the way of the measure. Being brought to a vote, a roll call showed no quorum present, and the house adjourned until Monday. The vote is considered by both the friends and opponents of the repeal of the state bank tax a pretty good test as to the sentiment of the house on the main question.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—In the house Saturday the bankruptcy bill was further discussed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Mr. Oates (dem., Ala.) called up his bill in the house yesterday to amend the naturalization laws, and said the object of the proposed law was to resist the looseness existing in the naturalization of aliens. The bankruptcy bill was further discussed. Mr. Hunter (Ill.) submitted a resolution, which was agreed to, expressing the astonishment and sorrow at the news of the violent death of Carter H. Harrison, mayor of the city of Chicago and formerly a member of the house.

Fatal Explosion. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 28.—News has just reached here of a boiler explosion in Boone county, in which James Huffman, engineer, and Charles McDermott were instantly killed. Charles Barker was fatally hurt.

THE FAIR ENDS.

Official Closing of the World's Columbian Exposition.

At the Sound of Cannon at Sunset All the Flags Are Lowered—A Total Paid Attendance of 21,477,212—Receipts Over $14,000,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The World's Columbian exposition came to an end Monday night. Six months ago it opened with splendid pageantry, and a thousand bright new banners were unfurled while a hundred thousand spectators cheered. Monday these weather-stained banners were pulled down almost in silence. Those that represent foreign countries will not be raised again. None but the American flag will float over the buildings to-day.

The Day Had been one of the most quiet since the opening. A few more than 200,000 persons paid for entrance, and these were not demonstrative. At Festival hall the Harrison memorial services were held. Few of the large crowd in the park knew when the time had come for the end. At 4:30 o'clock men could be seen crawling up to the flagpoles around the Court of Honor. Fifteen minutes later there was a little puff of smoke from the United States steamer Michigan which lay at anchor off the grounds. Twenty more peals followed. All day the flags had been at half-mast, but when the twenty-first gun was fired they were pulled simultaneously to the flagstaff's peak, and after fluttering there for a moment, as if in farewell, they went down for the last time, and the official announcement had been made that the World's Columbian exposition as an international affair was at an end. Taps were sounded by Bugler Wiley and Innes' band played "The Star Spangled Banner." This was a spontaneous demonstration and for the first time the people cheered.

Only an Official Closing. But the gates of the world's fair are not closed. They were officially closed Monday night at 11:30 o'clock, but they will be open again this morning, and there will be the usual band music during the day and the illumination and playing of the fountains to-night. This afternoon the executive committee of the board of directors will meet at Jackson park to determine how much longer and under what conditions the fair may be continued open. Their action will depend largely upon the state of the weather when the meeting is called and the crowd in attendance about the grounds. If both are favorable the exposition will doubtless be prolonged for a short period. Many of the directors favor such a course.

The Attendance. Since the first of the world's fair entrances to open began business at 6:30 a. m., May 1, 21,477,212 men, women and children have passed through the turnstiles after dropping paid admission tickets into the tin boxes. Children to the number of 1,253,938 purchased tickets to enter the grounds. The attendance by months does not vary except by moving forward and upward in an accelerated degree. May's attendance was 1,050,037; June, 2,075,113; July, 2,700,263; August, 3,515,493; September, 4,659,871; October, 6,816,435. The total attendance including passes, was 27,529,400.

Cash for Stockholders. When Chairman Peck, of the finance committee, figured up with Treasurer Seeberger Monday noon he found the exposition had just $2,515,000 in bank and in the souvenir coin fund. Estimating the receipts at $150,000 more than the cost of administration for the day the balance on hand at midnight was nearly $2,750,000. Of this sum nearly $1,500,000 is in souvenir coins, which are counted at their face value of fifty cents.

The total revenue from concessions for the six months was in the neighborhood of $3,750,000, from which deductions were allowed amounting to about $250,000 for improvements paid for by the concessioners. Receipts from admissions and minor sources aggregate about $10,500,000, not including salvage. Altogether the treasury has received over $14,000,000 since the first day of May from gate receipts, concessions and incidental sources of revenue. Against the income from all sources, including $4,500,000 of bonds and $5,000,000 of stock, there has been a charge of $10,000,000 for construction and the operating expenses have been about $7,000,000. Up to and including the closing day the stockholders have a prospect of a dividend of between 15 and 20 per cent. on their subscriptions. Whether the dividend will be paid in the end depends on the cost of removing the buildings and closing up the affairs of the corporation.

Victim of Deadly Gas. CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—John Miller and his son Lewis, of Duquaque, Ill., went to bed Friday night in the Reeper hotel, Blue Island and Oakley avenues. When the father awoke he found the room full of gas. His son was dead and his own condition such that recovery was first thought to be impossible. He is now out of danger. Another case of blowing out the gas.

Married a Colored Man. NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Mildred Hill, the daughter of one of New York's prominent dry goods merchants and one of the leading society men of Harlem, has been married to a coachman lover. The man in the case is Frederick Mansfield. He is a coachman in the employ of Charles F. Bates.

A Famous Church Burned. LONDON, Oct. 28.—The Fyfield church near Abingdon which was built in the thirteenth century, and which was considered an important historical monument, has been destroyed by fire.

Quick Passage to Bombay. BOMBAY, Oct. 28.—The steamship Himalaya has made the passage between this port and Brindisi in 10 days and 23 hours, which beats all previous records.

BUSINESS IS BETTER.

Factories Starting Up and a Revival of Trade Is Noted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "Port is in sight after a long and stormy voyage, and the prospect of a speedy end of the struggle over repeal has brought bright hopes to business. It is still too soon to expect much effect in trade and manufactures, and though monetary obstacles are to a large extent removed, there still remain other legislative questions which create uncertainty. A fact of real encouragement is that railway earnings for the third week of October show an increase of 3 per cent. over last year, the first increase for a long time. Wheat rose 2 cents, but corn declined 1/4 cent, with better reports of yield; coffee declined 3-16. Pork products made only slight gains and cotton fell 1/4 cent.

"As yet there is seen only a continuation of the faint and slow increase in distribution of products which has been noticed for some weeks. Nor does even this gradual revival in demand extend to all branches. Most of the increase yet seen in cotton and shoe manufacture may be explained by mere exhaustion in stocks of dealers, as frequent requests for immediate delivery show, but there is also reported a somewhat better demand from consumers, and four more cotton mills have started and seven increased force, against seven stopping or decreasing. A similar demand has increased by six the number of hosiery and knit-goods works reported in operation.

"Two additional iron furnaces have gone into blast, and the present output may be a little larger than at the beginning of the month. Some rail mills have resumed manufacture, apparently to provide for future rather than present wants of their customers, and there is some addition to the number of nail and wire works and machine shops employed. But the demand for most products is small.

"The number and magnitude of failures decreased less than had been expected, the liabilities in three weeks of October amounting to $15,072,000, against about $7,000,000 for the same week last year. This week there have been 82 failures in the United States, against 187 last year, and 44 in Canada, against 20 last year. Including one bank and two western failures for $1,000,000 or more, there were 65 of liabilities including $5,000 each.

BIG FIGHT DECLARED OFF. Corbett and Mitchell Will Not Meet at the Coney Island Club.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The proposed fight between Jim Corbett and Charley Mitchell for the championship of the world before the Coney Island Athletic club, in December, has been officially declared off. Judge R. V. Newton, who succeeded in signing both Mitchell and Corbett, met the former Wednesday night and informed him that the authorities of Kings county had notified the club officials that the fight could not take place at Coney Island. He added that the club would recompense him and Corbett for the time lost in training. Mitchell was greatly disappointed over the failure of the club to pull the fight off, and he intends to start for England in a few days.

IDLE COLLIERIES. Sad Condition of Miners in Parts of Pennsylvania.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Oct. 27.—The bituminous coal trade in the Clearfield and Broadtop regions is duller now than it has ever been before. The largest collieries are idle and there are no prospects of resumption. Fruitless efforts have been made by leading operators to solicit orders from eastern dealers. Information from both districts shows a sad condition among the miners, who dread the privations of the coming winter unless a favorable turn in the mining business shall take place.

Columbian Museum Assured. CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Out of the passing glory of the exposition Chicago will receive a grand museum, and everything indicates that it will be located in the grandest building in Jackson park—the Palace of Fine Arts. Marshall Field set the ball rolling yesterday with a donation of $1,000,000 toward furthering the plan, and George W. Pullman has promised another $100,000.

The President's Choice. WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate: Edwin F. Uhl, of Michigan, to be assistant secretary of state, vice Josiah Quincy, of Massachusetts, resigned; James R. Roosevelt, of New York, to be secretary of embassy at London, vice Henry White, resigned.

One Hundred Women Seek Matrimony. CANTON, O., Oct. 30.—Levi H. Ross, of West Lebanon, Wayne county, two weeks ago advertised for a wife to share with him a fortune of $10,000. Up to date he has received 100 offers. His daily mail is growing enormously.

Struck the Rocks. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The Pacific Mail company's steamer City of New York went ashore on the rocks yesterday in a fog in the bay and was wrecked, the loss being over $500,000.

Lightning Strikes Through Feathers.

A family residing in Washington, Ga., was considerably shocked during an electrical storm a short time ago by the lightning striking the telegraph and electric light wires which pass the house. After the storm had subsided it was ascertained that a large fire bush in the garden had been struck and a hen and three chickens which had sought shelter under the broad leaves killed.

VIOLETS. Near the shady solitude Of a flower remembered wood, Where in springtime nature weaves Canopies of vines and leaves, And alone the whippoorwill Deth the nightly silence fill With his sad, insistent call. We have laid the little all Love can give, save vain regrets; Underneath the violets.

A WARWHOOP. In one of the quiet, pleasant, picturesque valleys of eastern Connecticut nestles the pretty, old fashioned village of Windham. A century ago this was one of the most important towns in the state east of the Connecticut river.

Colonel Dyer was a different kind of a man in every respect. In person he was short and stout. He had a merry blue eye, a beaming countenance and a good word for every one. Few could tell a better story or more surely make one laugh without knowing the reason why.

The spring and early summer of 1758 was a season of intense anxiety for the settlers of New England. The memorable French and Indian war, with its unparalleled atrocities, was at its height.

Windham had been especially stirred up by the bloodcurdling reports that were frequently borne from the north. Several times rumors of threatened invasion by the warlike savages and their more savage allies aroused the town to a wild pitch of excitement.

One dark, sultry night of this memorable year the long looked for and dreaded crisis seemed at hand. Late in the evening an excited alarm was given by the village parson's slave. The negro was badly scared and rushed from house to house, wildly shouting: "The French are coming."

The excited villagers ran to their windows and doors were met with a din and roar that filled them with amazement and terror. Such shrieks! Such yells! The very heavens seemed filled with unearthly sounds. The earth seemed to quake beneath the tread of the coming enemy. "We will have Ker-nel Dyer. And El-der-kin too. We will have Ker-nel Dyer. And El-der-kin too. Ker-nel Dyer Elderkin, too," shrieked the hideous voices in unison.

Orders were immediately given to advance, and the Windham villagers marched up the hill to the east to check the enemy. The shout for "Colonel Dyer and El-der-kin, too," steadily grew stronger and stronger, and the gallant colonel was reported to have shown unusual caution on this occasion.

A mile and a half to the west of the village was a large millpond, which furnished water for power to grind the grain for the surrounding country. The miller reported that he had been awakened by the outlandish noises in early evening and on going to the pond found the frogs in a great state of commotion.

The state of mind of the townspeople the next morning can better be imagined than described. All seemed sick with humiliation at the ludicrous ending of their frantic flight of the evening before.

On one occasion Squire Elderkin was said to have been making a very learned and eloquent plea, when some buffoon raised the shout of "Colonel Dyer and Elderkin, too," in the long drawn tones which the frogs had made famous.

The humiliation of the Windhamites, however, soon passed away, and they regained their native shrewdness. Colonel Dyer was the first to turn the tide. He adopted the bullfrog as a coat of arms. He had a metal frog made for a door knocker and in various other ways showed his disposition to accept the situation good naturedly.

The memorable fright had one good effect. Colonel Dyer and Squire Elderkin became fast friends. Peace and good will reigned throughout the community, and the little village has since become noted for the spirit of neighborly kindness and brotherly love which seems to hover over it and pervade the very air.

A LEGAL COMPLICATION. Michigan Law Gives the Mineral Range Train Robbers an Unusual Chance. In the case of the people against Dominick and Edward Hogan, William Butler and others, accused of the Mineral Range express robbery near Houghton, Sept. 15, the prosecution is in a quandary.

The specific charge against the five prisoners is robbery. The Michigan statute defines robbery as the theft of property by means of violence to the custodian or owner thereof, or intent to do great bodily injury or to kill in case of resistance.

On the other hand, if he was a party to the theft and feared no injury, then no robbery was committed, and none of the prisoners can be convicted of a more serious offense than larceny, the maximum penalty for which is five years' imprisonment.

A Colored Man With No Legs and One Arm Makes Things Lively. City Jailor Tola Canova says that "if they ever send him out again to arrest a one armed, no legged man he ain't going to go."

It seems that Peter Moody, a colored man, who lost both legs and one arm in a railroad accident, filled up on pure unadulterated cussedness at a cost of 5 cents a drink, and proceeded to paint East Jacksonville in bright vermilion.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which flattered almost incessantly. A BALLAD OF LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING.

'Tis a subtly sweet suggestive phrase,
But the simple soul who is lured thereby
Will make a sorrow for many days.

It means all little transparent ways
To hide away from the common eye
The fact that your bread and butter stays
In your desk, that you bake and boil and fry

It means to shirk 'neath the stern amazement
Of the lordly butcher's and baker's eye,
Apologizing in meek disguise
For your modest wants. To rave or sigh

To pray a strong, heav'n reaching prayer
For the meal a man pronounces "square,"
And to be once more in life below
Free from that peace destroying snare.

NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

The Chelsea Standard says that Mrs. Fred Glenn of that place lost a gold watch while visiting in Ann Arbor last week!

Died, at her home in Lima, Oct. 23, 1893, Mrs. Laura Yager. Mrs. Yager was born in Germany in 1812, and was married at the age of 18, and came to this country in 1834.

The linemen stringing the wires for the long distance telephone are slowly but surely making their way towards this place. They are now between Dexter and Chelsea.

The Ypsilantian says that an effort is being made to organize a "Social Club" at that place. We always supposed that our neighbors down the Huron were a reasonably social set, but, alas, it seems that even they themselves have come to realize that sociality needs a stirring up in those parts.

The supervisors at Ann Arbor Wednesday, allowed the bill of Dr. Gibbes for chemically investigating Hand's clothing. It was only $500, but the stipulation is that he shall appear as a witness and give testimony at the next trial.

Friend Warren of the Saline Observer gives notice that the L. O. T. M. of that place will give a social and that the refreshments will be charged for, the adults being 25c and to children under 12, 10c.

The Livingston Democrat says farmers who complain of the low price prevailing for wheat might follow the example of a Peunshah farmer who weighed out 25 bushels of wheat and at the same time weighed his stock of hogs.

The numbers from this city attending theatrical entertainments in Ann Arbor ought to admonish our people of the demand for an Opera House here, and encourage our capitalists to take hold of it and provide one.

And when they get more familiar with the class of entertainments we have in Ann Arbor, and the amount of entertainment we can give for the money more of your people will come.

The state editor of the Detroit Free Press is trying to make out that Washenaw county ought to be called the dark and bloody ground, and says that twenty-one murders have been committed in this county during the past year.

That's all right Bro. Hoover, but what if the Free Press does apologize? People read about murders but who reads apologies?

LESSON VII, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 12.

Text of the Lesson, II Cor. viii, 1-12. Memory Verses, 7-9—Golden Text, II Cor. viii, 9—Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

"Mo-over, brethren, we do you to wit (make known to you) of the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia."

Philippi, Thessalonica and other places in Macedonia were the first in Europe to hear the gospel through Paul (Acts xvi, 9, 12; xvii, 1).

These churches became noted for their faith and works (I Thess. i, 3, 8; Phil. iv, 15, 16). And Paul loved to tell of every manifestation of the grace of God that thus others might be quickened to works of faith and labors of love and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ.

After his return from his first lecturing tour in this country, the late Matthew Arnold visited old Mrs. Proctor, the widow of the poet, "Barry Cornwall," and mother of Adelaide Proctor.

Mrs. Proctor, who was then 80 years old, in giving Mr. Arnold a cup of tea asked him: "And what did they say about you in America?"

"Well," replied the literary autocrat, "they said I was conceited, and they added that my clothes did not fit me."

"Well, now," retorted the old lady, "I think they were mistaken about the clothes."—New York Mail and Express.

A MAN IN PETTICOATS

THE QUEER NOTION OF AN OLD-SOLDIER CITIZEN OF MAINE.

He Has a More Costly Feminine Wardrobe Than Any Woman in Town—Visions of Lace, Ruffles, Etc.—Weighs 180 Pounds, but Wears a Woman's No. 6 Shoe.

Commander James Robbins of the local post G. A. R., Cooper's Mills, Lincoln county, in this state, is one of the prominent men of his community, a citizen generally esteemed as a man of integrity and intelligence. Mr. Robbins has a brilliant war record as a member of the Thirtieth Maine. He has lived in the village since 1838 and is a jeweler. His house is a neat cottage house on the brow of the hill as one drives into the Mills. In the narrow front hallway is Mr. Robbins' bench, lathe and tools, and here you will find him placidly working away at the tiny wheels and springs.

If you are on sufficiently intimate terms with Mr. Robbins you will find him indulging in his hobby. He has one, like the most of us. In his case the hobby is startlingly picturesque, and it may be safely said that he is the most original man in the state of Maine, so far as his curious fancy is concerned. He wears petticoats. Not when he goes down street for the mail and to do his marketing. At these times he slips on the masculine pantaloons. Yet he does not wear his trousers, even, like ordinary masculinity. No suspenders for him. He wears a sort of dress waist, and his trousers are buttoned tightly about his hips. He always wears a woman's number six shoe, with high heels and graceful, slender shape. Mr. Robbins weighs something like 180 pounds, and the effect produced by those shoes peeping coyly out from beneath manly trouser legs is startling, to say the least. Mr. Robbins doesn't mince or toddle, and his shoes seem to fit him pretty well.

He reserves his petticoats for the sanctity of the home circle, for the partial retirement of his orchard and for calls upon neighbors with whom his acquaintance is close. Mr. Robbins isn't squeamish about showing himself in petticoats. He enjoys wearing them, he has worn them when opportunity has presented all his life long, and he wears them scientifically too. In the first place, there's no half way business about it. Every detail of feminine attire is there, and Mr. Robbins is rightly fussy about the details.

There is no woman in Cooper's Mills who owns so many dresses of such excellent material as does the commander of the Cooper's Mills post. He takes pride in having only the best. His lingerie is elaborately tucked and ruffled, edged with lace and fashioned according to the most approved models of any lady's wardrobe. The material is of the finest quality, and when Mr. Robbins lifts his skirts the eye gets a vision of ruffles, lace and "all such like" of dazzling whiteness and immaculate smoothness.

He is very particular about his ironing. Everything must be starched "up to the handle," whatever that is, and sometimes Mrs. Robbins finds her hands full and her clotheshorse loaded down like a pack donkey. Amazed neighbors, who were not fully aware of the extent of Mr. Robbins' hobby, have been obliged to ask for more details, when Mrs. Robbins has laconically informed them that "it is Jim's ironing." Mr. Robbins' hobby is of the long sort, and it is currently rumored that the stockings are hitched up at the sides. His corsets he has made especially for his girl, and these he wears continually. His shape is fairly good, especially when he dresses up for afternoons.

In the morning he wears print gowns, for he assists in the housework. Almost every morning Mr. Robbins in his print gown is seen sweeping off the piazza and whisking about the kitchen. He wears petticoats at home almost exclusively, putting on his garb as soon as he enters the house. For afternoon wear his gowns are elaborate. Some of them are made by Mr. Robbins, and some are fashioned by local dressmakers. One cashmere dress is quite a favorite, and this is frequently worn by Mr. Robbins when he promenades in the orchard. He has lots of these good clothes, all of fashionable cut, puffed sleeves, and with all the fixings that go to lend grace and dignity. Usually he wears an apron and especially so when at his bench. The apron is white ordinarily and has a bib with ruffled straps and pockets. Therefore does Mr. Robbins present a somewhat unique appearance as he works away of afternoons or sits and converses with his wife.

Look at the gown and you see a stylishly attired woman, but the face is very mannish indeed. Mr. Robbins would be marked in any crowd. His face is full, and he wears a jet black mustache that possibly owes its color to art. His hair is long, black and curly, his voice is deep and full, and there's nothing effeminate about him except his attire.—Lewiston Journal.

Soapstone in China. The Chinese in utilizing soapstone, which is found in their country in large quantities, make of it trays for pens, slabs for rubbing ink, flower vases, incense boxes, sandal wood burners, flower baskets, candlesticks, chessmen, cups, bowls and lamps, all sorts of emblems, animals and the idols which the disciples of Confucius revere with so much favor.

A Hard Problem.

A certain debating society is discussing the question as to which is the angrier—the husband who goes home and finds that the dinner is not ready or the wife who has dinner ready and whose husband does not come home. It is believed that the debate will end in a draw.—Worthington's Magazine.

Just the Time.

Jack—How would it do for me to speak to your father tonight?
Jess—Best time in the world. He got the bill for my new bonnet just before we started for our drive.—Exchange.

A QUAIN CEREMONY.

A Wedding Which Was Conducted In Accordance With Quaker Rites.

At noon, in the prim meeting house of the Society of Friends at Rutherford place and Fifteenth street, Miss Elizabeth Willets and Dr. Samuel W. Lambert married themselves. No minister officiated, for none was needed. No prayers were said, and no music greeted their approach to the altar. Ceremony and display were lacking.

Half an hour before the ceremony was to take place the little meeting house was crowded to the walls. Three thousand invitations had been sent out, but only about 400 could gain entrance.

Everything had a subdued character—the pews painted in soft yellowish brown colors, the ceremony, the decorations and the people. No flowers were displayed, but the rostrum and the choir seats were banked with a mass of palms. Especially noticeable among the people were the young women, clad in soft colored cloth gowns, wearing big hats, which drooped in unexpected turns and crept out over their foreheads and had soft veils twisted about the brims, which shaded the eyes and the brows. These young women as they entered kept their eyes right toward the pews where they were going to sit. Scattered among the crowd pressing into the church came a few Friends dressed in their old time attire—wearing smooth black coats, with velvet faced standing collars and broad topped lapels, and broad crowned, wide brimmed black hats.

Miss Willets reached the church, accompanied by her father, shortly before noon. A few minutes later the ushers led the procession up the aisle. Following were the two bridesmaids. The bride advanced leaning on her father's arm. She wore a white satin gown trimmed with point lace and a tulle veil. The bridesmaids were attired in delicate green and white striped gowns, made with full skirts and adorned with black velvet bows.

The procession was received at the rostrum by Dr. Lambert and his best man and Dr. J. W. Markoe. Dr. Lambert advanced and took Miss Willets by the right hand. They stood facing each other, scarcely looking at their assembled friends, as Dr. Lambert said:

"In the presence of the Lord and these, my friends, I promise to take thee to be my wedded wife, promising through divine assistance to be a faithful and affectionate husband till death."

Then Miss Willets spoke a few hurried words, inaudible to the people. What she said was:

"In the presence of the Lord and my friends I promise to take thee to be my wedded husband, promising through divine assistance to be a faithful and affectionate wife until death."

No prayer was offered, but after a moment's pause Mr. Howard J. Wright, the white haired clerk of the meeting, unrolled a large certificate. Dr. and Mrs. Lambert walked a step or two to the left, where he was standing, and then seating himself in a chair Dr. Lambert signed his name to the certificate. Then Mrs. Lambert signed the document, writing not her maiden name, but her new name.

Then Mr. Wright stood up and read the certificate, which recounted that on the 21st day of October the two parties in the presence of witnesses had pledged themselves to be husband and wife. To this certificate is appended a list of witnesses giving testimony that the ceremony was performed. The marriage is recorded in the birth, marriage and death book of the society.—New York Letter.

HE PRIZES THE BANDAGE.

The Life of a Young Man Saved by the Petticoat of a Fair Texan.

Arthur Kauffman, a young Memphian who was in the wreck on the Wabash road, arrived home with his head bound up in a bloody white bandage, which he regards as his most precious possession. He says gold and jewels couldn't buy that strip of cloth. Kauffman says that when the collision came something hit him, and he lost consciousness. When he regained his senses, he was lying beside the wreck of the car, bleeding copiously from a deep cut on the head and unable to help himself. Just as he was about to faint again from weakness, an awfully pretty girl came up and spied him. She was Miss Taylor of Jefferson, Tex., who had escaped injury in the wreck.

She realized at once that the young man would bleed to death if not attended to. Without a moment's hesitation she whipped off her petticoat and tearing out a strip bound it tightly on Kauffman's head. The bleeding was checked and his life saved. To say that he feels deeply grateful to the fair Texan would be drawing it very mildly, and he vows he will keep the bandage as long as he lives.—Memphis Cor. St. Louis Republic.

Did the Queen Know?

Newspapers here recently announced with a great display of type that the queen had been graciously pleased to present many bottles of wine to various London hospitals for the use of poor patients. The same papers have carefully refrained from giving currency to the report published in reputable provincial journals to the effect that most of the wine in question was the refuse of the royal cellars and unfit for use in hospitals. It was in very bad condition. Many of the bottles were half empty, and others were so badly corked that the contents had turned sour. It is charitably suggested that her frugal majesty was ignorant of these defects.—New York Sun's London Letter.

Wheat Production.

A visitor in Washington at present is Ivan Otlik of Buda-Pesth, councillor in the royal Hungarian ministry of agriculture. His journey to America is for the purpose of investigating American agricultural economics. He has traveled largely in the west and believes that our farmers are overproducing wheat and that this course is also exhausting the soil.—Washington Dispatch.

PREMIUMS HIGH ARM SEWING MACHINE

READ BELOW HOW TO OBTAIN ONE OF THESE ELEGANT SEWING MACHINES FREE

This SEWING MACHINE is undoubtedly the equal of any $50.00 machine on the market. It is offered fully guaranteed exactly as represented, and with the assurance that it will more than equal the expectations of all who receive one.

This Sewing Machine has a tight and loose wheel, self threading shuttle, automatic bobbin winder, side drawers, center drawer and drop leaf. The wood work is of the finest finish, in antique oak or walnut, as desired. The needle is straight and self setting and of great strength. The pressure on the sewing foot is adjustable; when the foot is raised the tension on the thread is released, and the work can be removed without bending or breaking the needle.

IMPROVEMENTS. Arm one inch higher than Low Arm Machine. Self-setting Needle. Self-threading Shuttle. Automatic Bobbin Winder. Automatic Tension Release. Bed-plate Countersunk in Table, etc.

We claim for this machine all the good points found in other machines. All old, worn out ideas have been discarded, and it has been so improved and simplified that today it stands at the head of the list of high grade machines. The cut above shows how the machine looks. It is in thousands of homes throughout the United States. Our Machine is specially adapted to the wants of

TAILORS, DRESSMAKERS and SEAMSTRESSES.

Our instruction book is profusely illustrated, showing how to do all kinds of fancy work with our attachments. Each machine is furnished with the following full set of best steel attachments in a plush lined case: Six bobbins, 12 needles, oil can (filled), wrench, guide and guide screw, foot hemmer, feller, ruffler, tucker, binder, set of 4 hemmers and instruction book.

WARRANTY.

We not only lay claim to the BEST SEWING MACHINE in the world, but substantiate our claim by giving a guarantee with each Sewing Machine, agreeing to duplicate any part that proves defective in FIVE YEARS, free of charge (Shuttles and Needles excepted), thereby proving conclusively our confidence in our own Sewing Machine.

WE WILL GIVE THIS SEWING MACHINE FREE

and Full Set of Attachments complete, freight paid to any railroad depot east of the Rocky Mountains, to any one sending us 60 new paid-up yearly subscriptions to this paper; or for 50 new paid-up yearly subscriptions and $18.00 in cash added; or we will sell it complete to a subscriber for $19.00 in cash, which is less than half its retail price—railroad freight paid besides. Sewing Machine Agents sell this Machine for $55.00 and $65.00.

TESTIMONIALS.

We add in conclusion a few testimonials to the manufacturers from parties who have bought the Premium High Arm Sewing Machine: Mr. H. T. PARISH of Coody's Bluff, Ind. T., writes: "We are using one of your High Arm Sewing Machines, and have been for over three years, and are pleased to say it is everything you recommend it to be. We received the machine in June, 1883." Mr. BURTON JACKSON of Blufford, Ill., writes under date of September, 1891: "I have received the High Arm Sewing Machine and am well pleased. For beauty, strength and simplicity of work it is unexcelled." Mr. H. H. UTTERBACK of Florida, Mo., writes: "We bought a High Arm Sewing Machine from you in March, 1889, and are well pleased with it in every respect."

PREMIUMS RIFLES

Under this head we offer our subscribers and readers the Celebrated Breech Loading Remington Rifle, latest improved pattern. This Rifle is made by the REMINGTON ARMS CO., who supply Rifles to the United States Government.

This Rifle is made in several sizes. We can supply it in 32, 38 and 44 calibre. Winchester centre-fire cartridges can be used. The REMINGTON has octagon barrel, oiled walnut stock, case hardened frame and trimmings, sporting front and rear sights, and shell ejector. It is the best Hunting Rifle made, and will give perfect satisfaction.

We will Give one FREE of these Rifles to any one sending us 32 new paid-up yearly subscriptions; or for 12 new paid-up yearly subscriptions and $7.00 in cash added; or we will sell it to a subscriber for $11.00 in cash. The Rifle weighs about seven pounds, and will be sent by express in all cases.

REVOLVERS.

This Army Revolver is also made by the REMINGTON ARMS CO., and is similar to the one used by the United States Cavalry. It is a splendid weapon, and of very long range; does not get out of order, and is reliable in every respect. It is made in 44 calibre only, has six chambers, full grained stock, and 5 1-2 and 7 1-2 inch barrel, at purchaser's option.

Our readers must not be misled by the cheap, trashy cast-iron revolvers which now flood the market and are sold at any price; but remember that this is a high class arm, made from the best material by the leading makers in the United States.

We will Give this Revolver FREE to any one sending us 30 new paid-up yearly subscriptions; or for 15 new paid-up yearly subscriptions and $8.00 in cash added; or we will sell it to a subscriber for $9.00 cash. Sent by express in all cases.

PREMIUMS EVAPORATE... YOUR FRUIT... AT HOME

WITH THE U.S. COOK STOVE DRYER.

We think this is one of our most attractive offers to our subscribers, anyway to those who have a few fruit trees or an orchard.

To the ladies of the household in town or country it is a little gold mine. Thousands of careful, prudent household managers, who have no time or necessity to engage in evaporating fruit for market as a business, but who have frequent use for just such an article as this for making smaller quantities of dried fruit, berries and vegetables for their own use or for sale, will find it the most satisfactory and profitable investment they could make. A lady can easily lift it on and off the stove, as it weighs about twenty-five pounds. It has interchangeable galvanized wire cloth trays, which will not rust or discolor the fruit, etc., and will last for years. It is made of iron, except tray frames and supports. Can be used for broiling, beefsteak, fish, etc., using the lower tray for this purpose.

This shows the Dryer set on an ordinary Cook Stove.

The "U.S." COOK STOVE FRUIT DRYER OR EVAPORATOR. THOROUGHLY TESTED AND APPROVED. LATEST - CHEAPEST - BEST. WEIGHT, 25 POUNDS.

Handsome metal base. Can be used on any kind of stove. Dimensions—base, 22x16 inches; height, 28 inches; eight galvanized wire cloth trays, containing 12 square feet of tray surface. No extra fire. Always ready for use, and will last a lifetime. Easily and quickly set on and off the stove as needed, empty or filled with fruit.

As a great Economizer and Money Maker for Rural People it is without a Rival. Has it ever occurred to you that, with a little labor, wasting apples, berries and vegetables can be quickly evaporated and are then worth a pound for pound for flour, sugar, coffee, butter, rice, oatmeal, etc.?

HOW TO OBTAIN ONE FREE. To any one sending us 16 new paid-up yearly subscribers will be sent FREE, securely packed and crated, one of these U. S. Cook Stove Dryers, with outfit complete; or it will be sent you for 5 new paid-up yearly subscriptions and $3.50 in cash added; or it will be sold to subscribers for $5.00 in cash. The regular price of this Dryer is $7.00.

In all cases the Dryer will be sent by freight, securely packed and crated; freight to be paid by the receiver, but as the Dryer only weighs 25 pounds the freight charges will be trifling. Read what people say who have a Cook Stove Fruit Dryer:

TESTIMONIALS. BROCKVILLE, N. Y. SIBS.—The U. S. C. S. Dryers sold by us this season have given good satisfaction. Mrs. Andrews of Ellington, N. Y., says she can easily dry 2 bushels a day. Yours respectfully, Mrs. F. PIER. LAIDIG, Fulton county, Pa. GENTLEMEN.—We did not get the Cook Stove Dryer until the drying season was nearly over. It is a gem to any one who wishes to dry all kinds of small fruits, and also all kinds of fruits on a small scale. It is marvelous the rapidly with which it prepares green fruit for the sack. No one can describe its merits unless they try one. It is worth the price asked for it for corn alone. Yours truly, JNO. F. JOHNSON.

INDIVIDUAL SALT AND PEPPER SET. This Set is a new design in Triple Plate, Salt and Spoon Gold Lined. Complete in satin lined case. Makes a beautiful present.

We will give this Set FREE, delivered to any address, for 4 new paid-up yearly subscriptions; or will sell it to a subscriber, delivery prepaid, for $1.50.

25c. BOOKS FOR 8c.

TO OUR READERS AND SUBSCRIBERS. Those of our subscribers who like good reading will fully appreciate the Book Offer we make below. Read the Coupon carefully. Two of them with 8 cents will entitle any reader to one of these books. No books given unless two of these Coupons accompany each order. If you want two books four Coupons must be sent, and so on.

LITERARY NOTES.

Some of the many interesting articles of the last two numbers of Littell's Living Age, numbers 2571 and 2572, are: A Mosaic Factory, Leisure Hour; and John Ruskin, Church Quarterly Review; La Fontaine by J. C. Bailey, Temple Bar; The Limits of Animal Intelligence by C. Lloyd Morgan, Fortnightly Review; Fin de Siecle by A. Symons Eccles, National Review. This does not include a number of clever pieces of fiction and a number of poems. Published every Saturday by Littell & Co., Boston, Mass. $8.00 a year.

The frontispiece of the October Magazine of Art is a very pathetic one reproduced by photogravure from Sir J. E. Miller's painting, "The Blind Girl." There is also a very instructive series of eleven portraits of Cardinal Manning the text being by Wilfred Meynell. An article on Decorative Sculpture at Chicago has seven illustrations and is full of favorable comment on the colossal statuary at the Fair. The usual departments are of the customary excellence and fully illustrated. Cassell & Co., 104 and 106, 4th-ave, New York, N. Y.

Two articles in the November number of the Atlantic Monthly will be of particular interest to teachers. These are Horace E. Scudder's School Libraries, and Ernst Hart's Spectacled Schoolboys. Mr. Scudder sketches the growth of the movement resulting in the establishment of such libraries all over the country, relating in particular the very successful system which obtains in Wisconsin. Mr. Ernest Hart, a distinguished ophthalmologist of London, writes a very optimistic paper showing how the general use of glasses by young people often proves curative of defects which would otherwise become fixed or aggravated in later years. Among other articles may be mentioned Bradford Torrey's Along the Hillsborough; Sir Edward Strachey's Talk at a Country House; Owen Wister's Catholicity in Musical Taste, and the final part of William F. Apthrop's Two Modern Classicists in Music. The book reviews are particularly interesting, and the Contributors Club furnishes the usual amount of entertaining reading. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston, Mass.

A famous man is always interesting when he tells how he did the thing which brought him his reputation, and there is a particular charm about Frank R. Stockton's narrative, which opens the November Ladies' Home Journal, of how he conceived and wrote his famous story, "The Lady and the Tiger," what came of its writing, and the condition of his own mind at the present time of the correct solution of the story. The inner personality of Mr. Howells has, perhaps, never been brought so close to his public as in the many-sided sketch of the novelist which Professor H. H. Boyesen writes of him in this number of the magazine, under the title of Mr. Howells at Close Range. Amelia E. Barr, also has a strong article in answering the question Why Do Not Literary Women Marry? which Octave Thanet cleverly supplements in a brief article, But They Do Marry. Robert J. Burdette is at his best in pointing out what in his opinion, is the Taskmistress of Women, while Will Carleton suggests his best poems in Captain Young's Thanksgiving. Curtis Pub. Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Zoology, electricity, education, hygiene, philosophy, mathematics, and meteorology are all represented in the November Popular Science Monthly, education leading in number of titles. Henry L. Clapp contributes a thoughtful essay on The Scientific Method with Children, in which he maintains that schemes of scientific teaching constructed for college students are useless for children, as they do not take account of the child's standpoint nor of his way of thinking. An Argument for Vertical Handwriting, illustrated with cuts and facsimiles, is presented by Joseph V. Witherbee. Charles M. Langren's illustrated account of Electricity at the World's Fair is concluded this month, electric welding, cooking, heating, and the telantograph being described in this number. Lady W. Paget writes in favor of Vegetable Diet, and other articles are Laplace's Plan for Perpetual Moonlight, by Daniel Kirkwood; Immaterial Science, by E. S. Moser; Origin of the Mississippi Valley Rainfall, by J. B. Patton; Mathematical Curiosities of the Sixteenth Century, by V. Brandicourt; and a Sketch of John Ericsson, with Portrait, The World's Fair and the Congress of Evolutionists are made subjects of editorial comment. New York, D. Appleton & Co. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

The Nation for Oct. 19, has in its department, "The Week", interesting and thoughtful comment on the recent leading political events both national and state. Judge Cooley of this city is quoted as having given his opinion concerning the present disgraceful deadlock in the Senate. Mention is made of an interview with Gov. Flower. Tammany and its boss are given their usual drubbing, while all topics of current interest receive appropriate and well advised consideration. Under "Correspondence" J. H. Dillard, of New Orleans, points out the interesting fact that in the requirements for admission to Southern Colleges, the principal ones of which are given, there is a marked contrast to those in the North, the tendency being toward a reduction of this contrast and a gradual approach to similarity. The book reviews are edited with the usual ability and good judgment characteristic of this department. The strongest article is one of the editorials entitled "Constitutional Government" in which it is clearly shown that the disgraceful situation of affairs in the Senate threatens not only repeal but the constitution itself. The Nation, Box 794, New York, N. Y. Published at 208 Broadway.

GREELEY AND RAYMOND.

A Philosophical Dissertation on the Merits of the Two Great Editors.

There is not a paper in all this country that possesses the individuality that characterized the New York Tribune when Horace Greeley was its editor or The Times when edited by Henry J. Raymond.—Kansas Commoner.

The day of great newspapers, edited by great editors, such as Horace Greeley and Henry J. Raymond, has passed away.—Chicago Tribune.

We had the pleasure of knowing both Greeley and Raymond. We were more intimate with the first named of these contemporary editors than with the other. They were able, sincere, energetic, public spirited Americans. Neither of them was a cherub. Mr. Greeley, good man! said "damn" more than once as we regret to remember, and when he called Raymond "the little villain" that cool headed man retorted in language which many people have forgotten. The two did not get along very well together when one was editor of The Tribune and the other among his assistants, nor afterward when they were editors of rival papers, though both were of the same party. Neither of them was an "ideal editor," or a very deep thinker, or a first class statesman or a notable scholar.

Greeley was a stronger and more stirring writer than Raymond, but Raymond was a far more skillful editor than Greeley. Greeley was more fervent in mind than Raymond; Raymond was more judicious and nimble than Greeley. Raymond, when he was a member of the legislature, and the speaker of the assembly, and the lieutenant governor of the state, and a member of congress, and a delegate to state or national conventions, gave evidence that he was greatly more ingenious in politics than Greeley, who, indeed, during the brief period of his service in congress, did not win distinction. Raymond always kept up a close intimacy with those astute political managers, Thurlow Weed and William H. Seward, while Greeley was unable to stay long in the "political firm of Seward, Weed & Greeley," in which, as he said when he left the concern, he had been a "junior partner."

Greeley was more of a philosopher than Raymond, who, in turn, was more of a man of affairs than Greeley. Greeley was often compared with Benjamin Franklin, though he did not possess Franklin's scientific quality; Raymond might be compared, in many respects, with Franklin Pierce, though he was not of Pierce's politics. Greeley had certain eccentricities of manner and action; Raymond was always regarded as a very level headed man. Both of them belonged to the antislavery school in politics; but Greeley's fervor in the cause far surpassed Raymond's. Greeley had in his earlier years been a champion of "social reforms" which were bitterly denounced by Raymond, who, however, in the latter years of his life, began to look with favor upon certain theories of socialism. Greeley was negligent in his dress; Raymond was natty. Both Greeley and Raymond were founders of New York daily papers which still exist, but neither of which is now characterized by the traits of its founder.

We agree with The Kansas Commoner that none of the New York papers now possesses the individuality of Greeley's Tribune or Raymond's Times, and no one of them can possess it, for both of these memorable individuals long ago departed for "the undiscovered country from whose bourn no traveler returns" after it had been their lot "to grunt and sweat under a weary life," but that is not a reason why we should despair of the American press. We may yet have editors not unworthy to be compared with the greatest and best we have ever had.

A true man was Horace Greeley, strong, earnest and good—honored by his memory! An able man was Henry Jarvis Raymond—clear headed, quick witted, reasonable, temperate, genial and highly accomplished—let his name shine in the editorial galaxy!—New York Sun.

A Dance Without a Smile.

They have a singular kind of dance conducted on the greens of country villages in Russia. The dancers stand apart, a knot of young men here, a knot of maidens there, each sex by itself, and silent as a crowd of mutes. A piper breaks into a tune, a youth pulls off his cap and challenges his girl with a wave and a bow. If the girl is willing, she waves her handkerchief in token of assent. The youth advances, takes a corner of the handkerchief in his hand and leads his lassie round and round.

No word is spoken, and no laugh is heard. Stiff with cords and rich with braids the girl moves heavily by herself, going round and round, and never allowing her partner to touch her hand. The pipe goes droning on for hours in the same old key and measure, and the prize of merit in this "circling," as the dance is called, is given by spectators to the lassie who in all that summer revelry has never spoken and never smiled.—New York Ledger.

A Mother's Way. When the Rev. Horace Bushnell was a boy, he was very desirous of knowing something about music. No one in the family could teach him, however, and his mother, with that divine patience and insight which belong to mothers in general, found that if the lad was to have his wish at all it must be through her. She obtained a book and soon taught him all she knew—the scale, the keynote and how to find it, and the time of the notes.

This was only "book learning," however, and the question was to adapt it to the use of the voice. Little Horace wanted to sing by note, and that his mother could not teach him. She could sing by ear, however, and the two hit upon a species of reverse process. The mother sang familiar tunes, and the boy watched the notes, observing how the intervals and time ran along, and, as he expressed it, "soon began almost to sing with us."

And from singing airs they knew into notes that bore no meaning they finally learned to sing airs they did not know out of similar notation. The method had been unlocked, and further progress was easy. The mother's heart had found out the way.—Youth's Companion.

Great Men.

The greatest men are those who have done the most for the good and advancement of the human race. The man who stands most prominently before the public today in the cure of disease, is Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York, the discoverer of the wonderful remedy, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. He is the founder of that great system of giving consultation and advice by means of letter correspondence, free of charge.

Write him a description of your complaint, or send for his symptom blank, and he will send you an exact description of your disease. He gives most careful and explicit attention to all letters, answering all questions and thoroughly explaining each symptom so that you will know exactly what your complaint is; and for this he makes no charge. Dr. Greene is the most successful specialist in the cure of all nervous and chronic diseases and he gives you the benefit of his valuable advice with no expense to yourself, and by thus writing him about your case, you will undoubtedly regain your health.

A Parisian Newspaper Novelty.

A farthing newspaper is the latest novelty in Paris. It is called La Vie and is edited by Pol Martinet, an anarchist, who has spent no inconsiderable part of his life in prison for his violent writings. As a farthing, or, to speak more precisely, a 24 centime piece, is unknown to the French currency, the new venture is faced at the outset by a serious practical difficulty, but the projector gets over it in a rather ingenious fashion. The paper is to be printed in two different colors, each color being used on alternate days. Purchasers of a paper of one color will be charged a halfpenny, but they will get in exchange for it on the following day, without further charge, the paper of the other color.—London Daily News.

Money in Honey.

Some of the beekeepers in Skagit county, Wash., will take 100 pounds from each of quite a number of their colonies this season. This means $20 per swarm, gross, which is regarded as better than 100 per cent interest on the investment.—Tacoma News.

"A Back Number."

This is the slighting remark that is often applied to women who try to seem young, though they no longer look so. Sometimes appearances are deceitful. Female weakness, functional trouble, displacements and irregularities will add fifteen years to a woman's looks. These troubles are removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Try this remedy, all you whose beauty and freshness is fading from such causes, and no longer figure in society as a "back number." It's guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it returned. See guarantee on bottle-wrapper.

The Ruling Passion.

Mr. Theosoph—Speaking of the mysterious, I knew an adept who predicted that he would be taken sick on a certain day, at a certain hour, and would die exactly 2 hours and 10 minutes later. Everything occurred just as he foretold. What do you think of that?

Mr. Hardhead—He must have been a New York man who had lived in Jersey and had become accustomed to doing everything on schedule time.—New York Weekly.

She'll Know Him Again.

When the king of the Belgians stopped in tavern at Spike during a recent rain-storm he overheard the hostess remark: "I've seen the mug of this tall fellow before." Ere leaving the place the king presented the hostess with a bust of himself and later forwarded a large photograph, with his autograph.—Exchange.

Improving the Breed.

"Why do you cut up such antics when you feed your turkeys, Mr. Farmer?" "Oh, I'm trying to make game of them."—Washington Star.

Nobly Said. "Ho! You say your prayers every night and morning, do you?" jeered the bad little boy.

"Yes, and so would you if you had to do it or take a Heikin'," replied the good little boy, firmly.—Chicago Tribune.

A Hen Story. Jones—I think the colored people of the south have been basely slandered. Smith—What makes you think so?

Jones—Here is a Georgia paper that says that a man down there has a hen twenty years old.—Texas Siftings.

Her Suspense Happily Ended. Frank—Were you actually surprised, as you said, when I proposed?

May—Yes, indeed; I really had all but given you up!—Vogue.

And Peace Reigned. "What do you mean by calling my dog hybrid, sir?" "I did not call him that; I said high-bred."—Truth.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Watson—"Harvey is full of good traits. What do you like best about him?" Clar—"Well—er—oh, his money is good enough for me."

A stimulant is often needed to nourish and strengthen the roots and to keep the hair a natural color. Hall's Hair Renewer is the best tonic for the hair.

It is now that the street front limits of property may be told nearly to the with of a hair. Just observe how the snow is shoveled.—Oil City Derrick.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Where She Hesitates.—Suffragist—"I tell you, woman has got to the point where she succeeds at everything she undertakes." Sufferer—"No, she doesn't; she is a rank failure as an oldest inhabitant."—Truth.

Feminine Economy.—Mrs. Bargain—"Henry, I saved a clean twenty-five dollars to-day. I bought a winter coat for twenty-five dollars, which had been reduced from fifty." Bargain—"But, my dear, the season is over for winter coats, and the moths will eat it up before next winter." Mrs. Bargain—"Ah, I was too sharp for that! I added five to the twenty-five I saved, and bought a cedar chest to keep it in!"—Puck.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
