shocked last Sunday to learn that the and even in Ann Arbor. The contents to a tree in Mr. Whitlark's woods about two miles west of Ann Arbor. The discovery was made by Chauncey Orcutt, while out driving Sunday, morning. Coroner Clark was at once notified and Oliver Martin was sent to bring the body to town. The coroner's inquest developed the following facts: The man's name was John Christian Krause. He was about 48 years of age. He had first come to this country in 1882, and had spent most of the time until 1886 working for his half-brother, Jacob Krause, who lives near the village of Dexter. The latter, in order to abused his brother's family, bought and also a passage from Ann Arbor to ber, law '94, (illustrations by the auhis home in Wuertenberg, Germany. and again did work for his brother Jacob and for other farmers in his vicinity and near Dexter. During all this time he became more and more dissipated. About eight months ago he left the community and it is supposed that he was working on a farm near Grand Rapids. About two weeks ago he put in an appearance in Ann Arbor. From what he told various people it seems, when he came back to Ann Arbor he had about sixty dollars in money, but he was, however, very dispondent and told Mrs. Zuern, whose husband keeps a meat market on Washington-st, that the times were so hard and work so difficult to get that when what money he had was gone the best thing for him to do was to buy a rope and hang himself. His money by some means all disappeared within the two weeks as he had but little over a dollar upon his person when his body was discovered. This will be an event of more than common interest for the chorus work will be well done, the soloists ex- ported marketed in the four months ceptionally fine, in fact everything will be on a level with the finest work ever done by the Choral Union. Again, a great deal depends upon this concert for it must be confessed that the future of our musical interests is at stake, that is, in so far as the Choral Union Series is concerned. Such a series can not be a full average. Stock is practically conducted without a much larger sale of tickets. It should be remembered that these concerts employ none but the greatest artists, in proof of which assertion a glance at the Musical Year Book of the United States (a standard refer- Bank, and the Ann Arbor Savings ence book) will suffice. Every dollar contributed by sale of tickets goes into the concerts and not one penny is expended for salaries or perquisites.

The same remark holds good in respect to all the musical activities of the University Musical Society. To return to the concert after this nupleasant digression. Miss Bishop is always at her best in the Messiah, it is her favorite part. WE are indebted to Mr. Geo. C. Maynard, of Washington, D. C., for a copy of a letter of the late James Turner Allen, giving an account of the manner of his arrival on the site of this city in October 1824. We have handed the letter over to Mr. Ten Brook, who will doubtless make use of its contents when he shall resume his account of the early settlement here. Mr. Maynard, however, if he refers in his note enclosing Mr. Allen's letter, to the articles in the REGISTER, has evidently misread some parts of the articles. Mr. Ten Brook has made as yet no reference to the journey of the Autumn of 1824, described in Mr. J. T. Allen's letter; he has only noticed the arrival in February of that year of John Allen with the family of Elisha J. Rumsey, and has, we think, made no mistake. He has not hinted that anyone came from Virginia vice-commander, Frederick Pistorius; in a sled.

So far as any violation of the state constitution is concerned we cannot see that the act of the Univeosity authorities can be so construed. No act has been passed by the legislature specially favoring any one sect above another. There has been merely the permission given by the University to make use of a certain reom whore it was clearly evident that no other place in the city would accommodate the people. And this was not done with any idea of favoring one class or one religious sect above another. We have no doubt that should our friends in the Unitarian church find at any time that University Hall was the only place in the city that would hold the people whom it was certain would attend some meeting or meetings which they had arranged to hold, they would be granted the privilegs of occupying the Hall

The conditions here are peculiar. Here is a hall standing empty and here was a meeting being held for a strictly legitimate purpose and with more people wishing to attend than it is possible to accommodate in any other room in the city. What harm can there be in its use for this purpose when the privilege to use it is not granted because those wishing to occupy it are of any particu-Fifteen Cents per Year additional to Sub-scribers dutside of Washienaw County. seen fit to build a hall here or at any other place for the use of any particular class of religious worshipers or had the University authorities indicated that they would allow the use of the Hall for the Mills meetings but would not allow any other than the particular sects interested in that meeting to have the same privileges the case would have been different and there would have been just cause for complaint.

XI. OUR GERMAN PEOPLE.

Readers will better understand our German immigrants here when they are a little better informed as to the institutions under which these people were reared in the Fatherland. I will give a few salient features of these with anecdotal illustrations. I shall set out from Old Bayaria under the reign of Maximilian II., of the Wittelsbacher family, during five years of whose reign I lived with my family in the capital of that kingdom. The first point I shall notice is the restriction upon marriage under Bavarian law; nor shall I inquire what modifications of the marriage laws may have existed in other principalities, since these were probably not such as Frieze Memorial Hall to-morrow night to render my illustrations generally in-

The case of Margarehta Schnapp will serve my purpose. She applied for service in our family, and to the question usually put to such applicants-"have you others dependent upon you?"-she answered in the negative; we found, however, that she had a nephew, already grown up, who was about as dear Riley to her as a son. The youth, a year or two afterwards was taken very ill, and in fear that he would be taken away from her as a punishment for her deception, she confessed in her stress to a nearer relationship. She was retained in service from the conviction that she would be more likely to behave herself honestly than would any one who might Moszkowsk be obtained in her place, and was in the family in all eleven years, five in Munich and six in Ann Arbor.

I do not remember that I ever before helped any one to evade the demands of the law, and if any shall be disposed to critisise my conduct in the matter, I will bear their censure; for the satisfaction I have already felt in what I did will outweigh a thousand adverse criticisms.

He did not know the people. Let the following picture of a German rural hamlet be taken, for the people do not live generally on the strips of ground they cultivate, but are huddled together around a little bakery and inn. The baker will bake the bread of all the families of the hamlet cheaper than they could heat their ovens, if they had such to heat. The innkeeper will do their other cooking cheaper than they could do it. What shall the women do in a country where it requires the labor of all to make out a living? They have but a room or two to take care of. "But the children," says an objector, "who takes care of them?" Suppose there are a dozen families in the place; one or two women will take care of all the little children and receive as much for it as each of the others receives for her labor in the fields. Thus all the resources of the little community are exhausted in making the ends meet.

I see a Klafter of wood ($ of a cord) driven up to a house and along with it, or soon after it, come a man and his wlfe, carrying the tools to be used in converting it into stove wood. How did this happen? Simply in this way; a servant girl was sent out to buy the wood and obtain a man to do the work. Perhaps this man pays her six Kreutzers (four cents) for giving him the job. He takes upon himself the heaviest part of the work, the sawing; his wife splits and piles the wood in the little wood-room Now the legislation which was re- off the kitchen. ## The Japanese E. F. MILLS & CO. Bazaar Opens Saturday Morning, December 9th, and remains open until Christmas.

No place on the "Midway" at the World's Fair was so continually thronged as the "Japanese Bazaar."

No exhibit in the Manufactures' Building attracted more attention than the Unique and Beautiful display of Japan

Prices for Japanese goods were based on "World's Fair ideas" and as a result comparatively small quantities were sold.

In consequence of this a very large quantity of "Japanese Goods" were thrown on the market at the close of the FAIR and bought by Japanese Importers at very low prices. We have secured a large lot of these goods on this basis and can sell Japanese goods at prices which will be a revelation to those who have priced them in Chicago.

Our Regular Holiday Goods including Handkerchiefs, Fans, Fancy Goods, Plush Goods, &c., are now on sale and we shall be pleased to have our customers call and examine this line before the holiday rush sets in.

PARTS OF THE M'KINLEY BILL RE-

ENACTED. Section 3, which follows the free list, is subsection a, which follows the Free list, is substantially the same as section 4 of the McKin-ley bill. Section 4 practically re-enacts section 5 of the McKinley bill. Section 5 follows section 6 of the McKinley bill so closely that even the date, March 4, 1891, when it is to go into effect, is inadvertently retained. A similar remark applies to section 8 which is section 7 of the applies to section 6, which is section 7 of the McKinley billi, with the date (1891) anchanged. Sections 7 and 8 are the same as sections 8 and 9 of the McKinley bill. Section 9 is the same as section 10 of the McKinley bill. Section 10 is the same as section 11 of the old law, Sec-13 and 14 of the old law. Sections 14, 15 and 16 are the same as sections 17, 18 and 19 of the old law. Sections 17 and 18 are sections 20 and 21 of the McKinley bill. Sections 19, 20, 21, 24 and 25 respectively are the same as the old law. Chairman Wilson's Summary of the Bill. Mr. Wilson, chairman of the committee, gives the main features of the bill as follows: "First-The adoption, wherever it seemed racticable, of ad valorem instead of specific Percussion caps, 30 per cent; blasting caps, 35 per cent (present duty, 40 per cent).

They always bear heavily on the common article used by the masses and lightly by the expensive article consumed by the rich, as a tax of $30 on all houses would be little or nothing on the great mansion and very high on the humble home.

"And, contrary to common belief, specific duties lead to greater trauds in administration, for counting and weighing at the custom house are done by the cheapest and most easily corrupted labor, while ad valorem rates are as-rupted labor, while ad valorem rates are as sessed by the best paid and most responsible appraisers. The advalorem system has worked well in practice, is essentially the fair system. because it is a tax upon the actual value of an article and was declared by Mr. Clay himself cent (present duty, 30 cents).

lumber, salt and iron ore on the free list, and reduces the tariff on sugar from 1/4 to 1/4 of a cent per pound; it also provides for the extermination of the bounty by degrees. As a rule the tariff has been made lowest upon the cheaper goods of necessary use and left high-est upon the more expensive articles. The wool schedule will, perhaps, attract most attention. We have left no duty higher than 45 per cent on manufactures of wool, and that only on ready made garments, the average being less than 40 per cent. The cheaper qual-ities of blankets and flannels are only taxed 25 per cent, and the lower grades of carpets only 20.
"We have also applied a gradual reduction to the woolen schedule, so that at the end of five years the highest duty will be 40 and the average near 30 per cent. Very material reaverage near 30 per cent. Very material reductions have been made on the cotton schedductions have been made on the cotton schedule. We have placed iron ore on the free list, and made a large cut all along the metal schedule. The duty on steel rails is reduced more than 50 per cent. Free lumber will be a great benefit to the people of the prairie states, and free salt will give to those who need salt for their cattle or for curing meat the same advantage which has been secured benefit for advantage which has been secured heretofore by means of rebate to those who have cured fish. Agricultural implements have been placed upon the free list in order to enable the length when stretched to their full extent—namely:

CIVIL SERVICE.

The Commission Makes Its Annual Report on Work Done.

Some Differences of Opinion Between the Members-The Classified Service to Free Delivery Post Offices Causes Division.

A LONG DOCUMENT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The majority report of the civil 'service commission for the present year is a voluminous document of about 15,000 words —as long as the president's message. The portion of special interest is that bearing on the extension of the classified service to free delivery post offices, by order of President Harrison, January 5, 1893. It is from this portion that Commissioner Johnston dissented, causing his removal by President Cleveland. The majority report says of this extension:

"This act brought into the classified service 584 offices and since its promulgation the free delivery service has been extended to fine other offices, thus making the total number of classified post offices at this time 6,110, including the fifty-three classified prior to this extension.

The salary limit to the classified service in the custom houses is condemned and classification by grade recommended. Changes in the New York custom houses are cited as examples. The satisfactory result of the classification of the railway and mail service are dealt on at length. The work of fourth-class postmasters subject to removal for partisan cause is cited in comparison with that of railway mail clerks to show the advantage of the system of choosing the latter. The report closes with a statement showing that the number of persons connected with the civil service in the United States is about 200,000, and giving in detail the regulations governing hours of labor, compensation, promotions, etc.

Commissioner Johnston in his minority report takes issue with his colleagues as to the extension of the classified service ordered January 5, 1893, to include free delivery post offices. He thinks that under the circumstances, with the commission crippled for want of clerical force with which to do even the regular work of the commission, it was ill-advised, unfair and harmful to the cause of civil service reform. He says:

"The American people realize that the extension of the classified service does not necessarily mean civil service reform. When that extension increases by thousands the representatives in office of a party whose members already in classified places outnumber the members of the other party in classified places in the proportion of probably three or four to one, and when such extension is ordered by an administration and goes into effect shortly before the government is turned over to another administration of different political faith and party affiliation known to be friendly to the cause of civil-service reform, it is difficult to reconcile it to fair-minded men of all parties as a non-partisan measure, and as difficult to reconcile it to believers in genuine civil-service reconcile it to believers in genuine civil-service reform as a helpful contribution to that worthy and good cause."

ARMY WILL RESIST.

Provisional Forces in Hawaii Will Oppose the Queen.

They Will Yield to Nothing Less Than United States Troops—News Brought by the Latest Steamer from Honolulu.

WILLIS IS WAITING.

Honolulu, Nov. 19 (via schooner Transit to San Francisco, Dec. 9) .-During the afternoon the Alameda sailed Minister Willis made a statement that nothing definite would be done here until he had received a reply to dispatches sent to Washington by the Alameda. This statement was published in the Star. Thursday the Bulletin published a letter from Minister Willis in which he said he wished his remarks in the Star to apply to the entire press of Honolulu. The stand taken by Minister Willis in his interview with the Star, which was revised in proof by him before publication, caused considerable anxiety in government circles, owing to the intimation that any breach of the peace would be punished by the American minister. To a reporter his words were that any trouble precipated on the other side would be stopped at once by United States forces.

President Dole Satisfied. On the morning of November 17, the day after the Alameda left, President Dole called upon Minister Willis to learn how far the authority of the United States was expected to be carried in case of emergency. Upon his return it was learned that the provisional government was fully satisfied with the explanations and limitations made by Minister Willis.

It is the general opinion that the original language used by the United States minister conveyed more than he intended it should. It is understood provisional government command-ed the situation and would re-quire no aid from the United States unless it was called for. President Dole assured Minister Willis that any was settled.

Protection for the Queen. Since advices by the schooner Transit, which sailed three days ago, the exqueen has applied to the provisional government for protection, claiming that she fears violence from foreign residents. The government at once granted her request and a detail of six policemen was ordered by the marshal. The government has informally inti-mated to the American minister that it is amply able to repress any disorder and wishes no troops to be landed. Provisionals Resolute. YOKOHAMA, Dec. 12.—The steamer China, which left San Francisco No-vember 21 and Honolulu probably about November 28, has just arrived here. MUST FEED THE STARVING. Gov. Rich Has a Plan for Bringing the Mine-Owners to Time. Gov. Rich says that unless the mine-owners show a disposition to immediately give the upper penin sula miners work at sufficient wages to keep them from starvation he will issue another proclamation on the subject of relief for the des-titute. He believes it is the duty of the mine-owners to furnish such employment, and in case they refuse to do so he maintains that means should be devised for bonding the counties in which the mines are located for money to eare for the starving men and their families, thereby compelling the mine-owners to pay four-fifths of such tax, they owning that proportion of the property.

Measures of Importance Being Considered in the Senate and House-A Summary of the Daily Proceedings.

THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Senator Voor-hees introduced a bill in the senate yesterday which declares a pension a vested right, regulates suspensions of pensions and grants appeals to the supreme court of the District of Columbia. WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. - Bills were passed in the senate yesterday to amend the railroad land grant forfeiture acts and granting a pension of $100 per month to Frances Corse, widow of Gen. John M. Corse. Adjourned to Monday.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Senator Hoar (rep., Mass.) introduced a resolution in the senate yesterday calling upon the president for information concerning the authority under which Commissioner Blount was appointed and by what authority he took testimony and submitted his reports on the Hawaiian situation. He said:

"The appointment of a commissioner with paramount' authority as a representative of the United States in these islands was as gross a violation of the constitution of the United States as was ever charged upon or imputed to any public official. If it is true that the president the senate being in session, authorized an officer to express paramount diplomatic officer to exercise paramount diplomatic authority in another country with which the United States was at peace, directed the con-sul and the resident minister to promote his success by every means in his power, placed the archives under his complete and untram-meled control, authorized him to employ at his discretion the naval power and to land or with-draw the forces of the United States at will, and gave him the title which was enumerated as one of the titles of the diplomatic officers in the act of congress, the president is standing upon very slippery ice."

Senator Gray (dem., Del.) said he did not intend to be drawn into a discussion of the Hawaiian matter even if the senator from Massachusetts could not restrain himself from an indulgence in his habit of scolding an administration belonging to a party the opposite of his own.
In the House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 .- Mr. Grosvenor offered a resolution in the house yesterday containing 1,900 names of Ohio pensioners who were dropped from the rolls between March 4 and October 1, 1893, and requesting the secretary of the interior to furnish the house a detailed statement as to the reasons for these suspensions. Mr. Hitt introa resolution relative to Hawaii and declaring it is the sense of the house that the intervention by the government of the United States, its representatives or armed forces, in the affairs of a friendly recognized government to restore or overthrow and substitute a monarchy therefor is contrary to the policy and traditions of the republic and the spirit of the constitution.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 .- In the house yesterday the general debate on the bankruptcy bill was closed. A bill was passed to increase the force of capitol employes. A bill was introduced to repeal the provisions of the last army bill prohibiting the reenlistment of privates who have served ten years or more who are over 35 years of age.

LESSON XIII, FOURTH QUARTER, IN-TERNATIONAL SERIES, DEC. 24.

Text of the Lesson, Rev. xxii, 8-21 (A Missionary Lesson)-Memory Verses, 16, 17. Golden Text, Rev. xxii, 17-Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Impressed with the fact that in this so called missionary lessen we have also called missionary lesson we have also a grand Christmas lesson, bringing before us His coming again, which draweth near, we make choice of this.

8. "And I, John, saw these things and heard them." Then he tells us that he fell down to worship before the feet of the angel. He actually saw these wondrous sights and heard these faithful and true words. It was probably before this that he wrote, "That which we have seen and heard declars we unto you that we also were heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us" (I John i, 3). How do the things of God which we see and hear

9. "Then saith he unto me, See thou do it not, for I am thy fellow servant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book—wor-ship God." Compare xix, 10. Only satan of all creatures seeks to be worshiped (Luke iv, 7). Let us remember it when tempted to destre applause, and may it be our whole aim to honor God. See how this book is honored in heaven.

10. "And he saith unto me, Seal not the sayings of the prophecy of this book, for the time is at hand." Contrast Dan. viii, 26; xii, 9. In view of the command of this verse, how great must be the sin of those who virtually seal up this book by never reading it or preaching from it, but even going so far as to advise people not to read it. This I know ministers to be guilty of. The Lord will see to it.

11. "He that is unjust let him be unjust still, and so with the filthy or the righteous or the holy." When the end of this stage of our life comes, whether it be death or the coming of Christ, as we are then found so shall we continue, whether unjust or holy. This verse, however, may teach that we are to proclaim the truths of this book whether it make people more holy or more unholy.

12. "And behold, I come quickly, and my reward is with me, to give every man ac-cording as his work shall be." Compare verses 7, 20, and chapters i, 7; ii, 25; iii, 11, and note the oft repeated "I come" and the admonitions. Salvation is all of grace, but reward is according to work. See I Cor. iii, 8, 9; Luke xix, 16-19. These rewards are not given at death, but at resurrection, when Jesus shall come (Luke xiv, 14;

11 Pet. v, 4; II Tim. iv, 8).

13. "I am alpha and omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last." When our souls can say, Lord, Thou art all this to me, first and last in everything, be-ginning and end of everything, then all is

14. "Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life and may enter in through the gates into the city." The R. V. says, "Blessed are they that wash their robes." "Blessed are they that wash their robes."
Well, we cannot keep His commandments till we have washed in His blood and received the new heart which only can do His will. If we, like Abram, are looking for the city (Heb. xi, 10), we will delight to be found doing His will.

16. "For without are dogs," etc. Compare chapter xxi, 8, 27. And if you are glad that your name is in the book of life, and that by His grace you are neither and that by His grace you are neither fearful nor untruthful, then seek those without.

16. "I, Jesus, have sent Mine angel to testify unto you these things in the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David and the bright and morning star." The first clause of this verse, taken in connection with verse 6, seems to me one of the clearest proofs that the Lord God of the tone soft and clear, with plenty of power when desired, case neat and nicely finished. The instrument is one of credit to the Ann Arbor Organ Company who are the manufacturers and for whom we will hereafter speak a good word.—Saline Observer.

soever will let him take the water of life freely." The first clause seems to be the cry of the church to her Lord to come in response to his "Behold, I come quickly." The others—or at least the last two—are invitations to the sinner to take the water of life freely. They remind us of Isa. lv, 1; John vii, 87; Rom. iii, 24. There is nothing to hinder those who hear but their own will.

18, 19. "If any man shall add. If any man shall take away." Now comes a most solemn warning to any one who would and according to that reckening He has been gone scarcely two days yet. We must look at things from His standpoint. Do our hearts say, "Come, Lord Jesus?" If we understand that things will grow worse and worse both in the world and in the pro-fessing church till He come; that we can-not have our glorified bodies till He come; that we are to come, and show forth. His not have our glorified bodies till He come; that we are to occupy and show forth His death till He come; that satan and antichrist and Babylon will rage till He come, then we will surely pray, "Come, Lord Jesus," Otherwise not.

21. "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen." What a precious ending to a most precious book—yea, to the whole book of books—for we are saved by grace, we stand in grace, and there is more grace to be revealed (Eph. ii, 8; Rom. v, 1, 2; I Pet. 1-13). It is favor for the undeserving from first to last.

A Wise Answer.

K. J. ROGERS,

A shah once asked a group of his courtiers whom they thought the greater man—himself or his father? At first he could get no reply to so dangerous a question, the answer to which might cost the courtiers their heads. At last a willy old courtier said, "Your father, sire, for though you are equal to your father in all other respects, in this he is superior to you—that he had a greater son than you have."

PRINCESS KAIULANI.

Her Full Name Is Victoria Kawekia Kaiulani Luanlio Kalaninuiahilapalapa.

It was a strange decree of fate that made the daughter of an enterprising Scotchman more interested in the recent course of events in Hawaii than any other person in the world except perhaps the deposed Queen Liliuokalani. Yet the heiress to the throne of Kamehamehathe Princess Kaiulani, daughter of Princess Likelike and niece of the late Kalakana-is half Scotch in blood, her father being Archibald Scott Cleghorn, a man of no little prominence and influence among the dusky natives of the beautiful tropical islands. There is nothing Scotch about the name, however, the full force of which can only be apprehended when she is diplomatically addressed as Princess Kawekia Kaiulani Luanlilo Kala ninuiahilapalapa.

The princess is very near her nineteenth birthday and is still at school in England, whither she was sent in 1889 by order of Kalakaua to be educated. The constitution which was forced upon Kalakaua by the revolution of 1887 proclaimed her heir presumptive to the throne, as her mother, Princess Likelike, would have been the natural successor of Liliuokalani, who was then declared heir apparent and who succeeded to the throne upon the death of her brother, as the world has been moderately well informed of late.

Princess Kaiulani is tall and slender, with black hair and eyes and a skin which reveals only the faintest trace of swarthiness. She wears eyeglasses, and her manner is retiring and unpretentious, though she sometimes gives evidence of the possession of a finely devel-oped Scotch persistence and determination that may yet be of immense advantage in her future career. She has twice visited the United States—once in 1889, when she was on her way to England to school, and again for about three weeks in March last, when she came to protest to the American people against the overthrow of the monarchy of which she was the constitutional heir.

A WASHINGTON BELLE.

Interesting Matrimonial Rumors Concern ing Miss Mary Leiter, the Heiress.

Although Miss Mary Leiter is said to be a favorite in Washington society, the gossips seem very anxious to marry her off. Her name has been at various times mentioned in a matrimonial way in connection with Lispenard Stewart, the millionaire ex-state senator of New York, and George Barclay, an attache of the British legation at Washington, and the latest rumor credits William C. Whitney, secretary of the navy in President Cleveland's former cabinet, with winning her heart and hand. It is in vain that the members of Miss Leiter's family deny the report. The gossips will talk, and the belles and matrons of Washington apparently experience great delight in speculating on the brilliant social possibilities of a union between two such wealthy and accomplished in-dividuals as Miss Leiter and Mr. Whit-

The family has resided in Washington for the past 10 years or so, and Miss Leiter's beauty and accomplishments have made her ex ceptionally popular in society there. She was an inti-mate friend of the late Mrs. Whitney and was that lady's guest on numerous occasions, so there is nothing remarkable in her being sufficiently intimate with Mr. Whitney to suit the purposes of the gossips and set their tongues wagging.

Unless something is done to prevent, the catarrh will follow the mucous membrane into the lungs, where it will be followed by cough, night-sweats, rapid loss of flesh, and the other dread symptoms of consumption. How few people seam to realize this truth! Who has not seen the victim of consumpion struggling for life in the fatal grasp of its last stages? The unnatural brightness of their glasey, anxious eyes, the hectic flush of their sunken cheeks, the dilated nostrils, and deep, sepulchral voice, the panting breath and fluttering heart, the frightfully emaciated form, the hopefulness of the patient and the hopelessness of the attendants -all make a pathetic picture which is far too common. A slight cough, a little hoarseness, or only a sore throat, was the beginning, which, being neglected led to an end so disastrous that no pen can give it adequate descriptian. Peru-na taken in time never fails to avert such a sad result. Those who desire further particulars should send for a free copy of 'Climatic Diseases," one of the latest and best books published on catarrhal diseases.

Compliments Even.

"I heard you when you came home last night," said Landlady Snapshort to a lodger who had attended a protracted smoking concert the previous evening, "and it was ever so late. And let me tell you, Mr. P., that if you were my husband I should make you come home earlier, so I should."

"Indeed," said Mr. P., "and let me tell you, madam, that if you were my wife I shouldn't come home at all."-Boston Globe.

A Hint.

Mamma-Bobby, why do you make such faces every moment? Bobby-On account of the nasty medicine I took this morning.

Mamma-But didn't I give you a lump of sugar after it? Bobby-Yes mamma, you did, but I think such awful medicine as that must require two lumps.-Harper's Young People.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to fluenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co. Opera Co.

HOW TO MAKE ATTRACTIVE GIFTS AT SMALL CASH OUTLAY.

boll's Head Penwipers That Will Please Most Anybody-The Possibilities of Crochet Rings-Handsome Tobacco Pouches For Your Friends Who Smoke.

It is not improbable that more women than usual will this year of hard times fabricate with their own hands many of the holiday gifts they send out, and it is high time for every one of my sisters who has Christmas work to do to begin it. Some who, for the first time this year, make instead of buy will be surprised at the small amount of money they will find it necessary to expend in the purchase of materials from which they can duplicate some of the daintiest things to be found in the stores.

The doll's head penwiper, of which a picture is herewith given, is one of the most attractive novelties of the present season. It was discovered in one of the big stores of an interior city some time in November by a woman who was at her wits' end to know "what to do" for an impending church fair and for Christ-

The price marked upon the trifle was 98 cents, and she bought it, took it home and dissected it forthwith. Here is a list of its component parts: One bisque head, one piece of black cloth elliptic in form, 10 inches long and 5 inches wide; two leaves of chamois skin, also elliptic in form, slightly smaller than the black cloth base; four pieces of yellow felt for hood and cape, 11 little brass bells, 21 dozen spangles, one-half yard of narrow black ribbon.

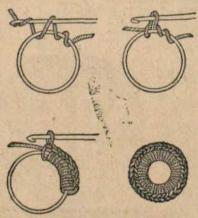

It was not easy to find the bisque head, but diligent search among the wholesale stores discovered them at last, and by the dozen they sold for 75 cents, or 61 cents apiece. The bells were found at 3 cents a dozen, the spangles at 9 cents a package containing 360. Examination of her scrapbag by the woman in question showed that all the other materials needed in making up a half dozen penwipers were to be found among its resources, but some of her friends who decided to make penwipers also had material for each penwiper when purchased was:

Bells. Spangles. Felt, 12 to ½ of a yard. Ribbon, ½ yard at 4 cents a yard.

A woman with nimble fingers can make one of these penwipers in a half hour. Some of the women who have followed my friend's example and included them among this year's Christmas work have made a dozen in a day and attended to whatever social or other duties came up. At the fair where they were offered at 75 cents apiece they went off "like hot cakes," and there was a lively demand for more.

A great variety of things can be made, as many of 'my readers doubtless know, from "crochet rings." The accompanying cut will show to such as have not already mastered the mystery of their making just how they are gotten up without verbal explanation. The rings range in price from 6 cents to 18 cents a gross, or from 1 cent to 11 cents a dozen.

The cost of the thread with which they are covered varies of course with its quality, but it would be hard to make a lozen finished rings cost more than 4 cents, and it ought not to take more than half or three-quarters of an hour to cover them. Some very pretty baskets have been made of these rings by some of my friends this year to be used for buttons, bonbons, hairpins, matches or any sort of small articles. I give no cuts to illustrate this use of crochet rings, but any ingenious woman can adapt the design of any sort of box or basket, and by the exercise of taste in contrasting or blending shades and colors produce really artistic effects. Quite a basket could be made of three or four tozen rings, costing when completed 3 cents a dozen, and, so far as I know, these attractive baskets are compara

Crochet rings will be found very use ful also as decorations for shopping bags I have sketched such a bag as made b, a friend of mine who is as enthusiasti this year concerning the uses of the cra chet ring as ste was last year concerning embroidery. She holds that the rings are quite as decorative as the embroidery, while they are much more lenient on the eyes and require vastly less time. I have also sketched a very simple photograph holder, which is own by the side of the shopping bag in the cut. Each of these articles is 14 inches long. The materials used in the shopping bag are: Half yard black satin at 75 cents a yard ... 37160 64 crochet rings (5)/6 dozen) at 3 cents a dozen.

2 yards ribbon (shirr string) at 5 cents a

Such bags, especially if a little embroidery is added to their decoration, are marked at from $1.50 to $2 apiece in the stores. It would take a good half day to make one of them, so that they are not so cheap, so far as time is concerned, as the doll's head penwipers. The details of the making of the photograph holders are as follows:

Three-eighths yard 5 inch satin ribbon at 40

It ought not to take more than three hours to make one of these at the outside. They are priced at 75 cents each at the art exchanges and stores and sold readily at that figure at the same fair for which the doll's head penwipers were made.

Some of the other uses to which crochet rings may be put are in making sleeveholders, table scarfs, handkerchief bags, needle books, scissors chatelaines, etc. The methods of using them will suggest themselves to most women without my help. The sleeveholders, or "Miss Nancys," as they are sometimes called, are, in the language of the saleswomen, "charmingly useful articles." They are composed of two rings and a long cord of crocheted silk. One of the rings is slipped over the forefinger, another over the thumb, while the cord is wound closely around the sleeve and serves to hold the garment in place while the coat is being drawn on.

All of the articles I have described so far are suitable for presents to women although the penwiper may also be considered acceptable by a man. But some of my friends may desire to make something that a man will appreciate and carry with him. Purses such as women can make are not specially desirable in these days of paper money; slippers and slipper bags, etc., are probably possessed by every one of your male friends, but here is something that will be hailed with joy by every man—that is, every man who smokes. Don't be afraid that in making it you will be offering undue encouragement to smokers, for in these days if a man already has the habit you may be sure he will continue to be a smoker unless ordered to stop by his doctor, and perhaps even his peremptory order will not stop the habit. The to-bacco pouch I am about to describe was made as follows, and it and its duplicates have taken the place of bad smelling, ill looking rubber pouches:

In appearance the pouch is somewhat like a shopping bag, with a shirr string (drawstring, the men call it) at the top. to buy everything. The total cost of Three pieces of plush, square at the top and pointed at the bottom, were used. From top to point each piece was 4 inches long, the top was 3 inches across, and the sides from top to the beginning of the bias cut, making the point, were also 3 inches. The top of the bag is of satin, 9 inches wide and 6 deep, doubled. The inside of the bag below the satin is lined with chamois skin. The color of the plush of the bag I have in mind is deep wine; the satin is brown. One of the three pieces of plush is embroidered with a design of a horseshoe and daisies, another with crossed pipes and the third with a monogram. The total cost of material was about 25 cents, and it took half a day to make it.

Bags of all sorts are pretty good Christmas presents. Very pretty ones for but-tons can be made of chamois skin, ornamented and lettered in water colors and gilt or in liquid india ink with a fine drawing pen. Cloth, silk and satin shoebags, stocking bags and a multitude of others are acceptable in many quarters, and patterns for their making can be bought by such tyros as have to make presents for the first time this year because of the monetary stringency.
