BUSINESS IS BETTER. The Demand Increases in Several Trade Lines-The Situation.

NEW YORK, March 17.-Bradstreet's review of the state of trade says:

"The unusual prolongation of mild, like weather during the early portion of March has greatly stimulated consumptive demand in almost all staple lines. Corroboration of this is found in almost unanimous reports of in creased sales from six of the larger distribut-ing points in the New England and Middle states. where general trade has heretofore been re-ported barely steady. At Pittsburgh and at Chicago and at other iron centers competition has further reduced prices for shaped as well as raw iron and steel. "Chicago reports a continuance of last week's very favorable statement regarding trade, this week having been the best thus far in the sea-son, with many buyers in the city and some dry goods houses working nights to keep up with orders. Dealers in clothing, millinery and shoes report a heavier demand, although there is an improvement in request for light hardware as well. Similar advices are rehardware as well. Similar advices are re-ceived from St Louis jobbers of dry goods, millinery, hats, shoes and textiles."

Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade

Says: "The volume of business represented by all clearings this week is 31.2 per cent less than a year ago, and at all cities outside New York 21.4 per cent less, against 17.4 per cent last week. Prices of com-modities are this week on the whole the low-est of which there is any record, having de-clined 1.2 per cent in March, and averag-ing 11.3 per cent lower than a year ago, so that more than a third of the decrease in volume of all payments is due to de-cline in prices of things consumed. Six more iron furnaces have gone into blast this month, in part because prices of finisned products are a shade lower and further con-tracts have thus been secured. Pittsburgh says: tracts have thus been secured. ### EOGUS DOLLARS.

A Half Million Put in Circulation by Counterfeiters.

Their Product Hard to Detect from the Genuine Article, Yet They Make Fifty-One Cents "Seigniorage" on Each Dollar

BAD DOLLARS IN OMAHA.

Омана, Neb., March 20.-Half a million perfect silver dollars in circulation, unauthorized by the government, is the subject over which many detectives and Omaha bankers are disturbed. Last week the headquarters of the United States secret service bureau at Des Moines was combined with the Omaha station and all the special agents in both are in a hot chase after two gangs of counterfeiters who are flooding this city with the product of their work. It has been necessary to secure reinforcements and four special agents of the government, in addition to Marshal White's forces, have been cooperating with the division chief.

Hot on the Trail.

A good clew to one gang has been found and some arrests will be made within a few days; in all probability. This latter clique has been making a clamsy imitation of silver half dollars, which indicates that its members are amateurs in the business. But the other gang is regarded as a professional one, and its scheme is one money making magnitude. It has practically established a little mint in Omaha right under the nose of Uncle Sam, and is working so smoothly with such clever product that the secret service men are mystified as well as amazed at the extent to which this monetary deception has been practiced. Coined Over $500,000.

For months Omaha and vicinity have been the hotbed of a smooth crowd of "minters." They have coined, so it is said, $500,000 or more of dollars which contain the same amount of silver and alloy placed in the regular dollar by the government mints. These men have simply started an opposition to the government and their money cannot be detected from the genuine. They are making money figuratively and literally.

Seigniorage of Fifty-One Cents.

It is said they realize fifty-one cents profit on every dollar they turn out. So cleverly have they worked that the cash drawers and banks of this city, Council Bluffs, South Omaha and elsewhere have been receptacles for thousands of these home-made dollars. It is a "seigniorage" on the sly, and has finally attracted the attention of the government.

The purchase of several thousand dollars' worth of silver at the Grant smelter in Omaha weekly by persons unknown to the trade gave the authorities the first clew to the affair. The dollars are exactly like those coined by the United States mint.

There is often the deepest interest felt in early religious services. These people, if any of them knew the English language for business or social purposes, could not as yet have had the least enjoyment of it as a medium of religious teaching, and would have felt no unction in listening to its empty words. Nay, these would have but mocked the deep hunger of their souls for that which they had left in the Fatherland. We can conceive then how the little company must have felt when the young pastor discoursed to them for the first time in the schoolhouse from the words: "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ," Of the hymn from Hiller's collection, sung in harmony with the import of the discourse, I translate a stanza, imitating the measure and rhymes of the original, as follows:

"The ground on which I firm will stand, Is Jesus Christ, God's only Son; Rise heights, sink depths on either hand,

Jas. A. Hearne's domestic Irish rama, "My Colleen," written for the drama, written for the Tony Farrell, is one of the successful attrac tions of the present season. It is a well constructed and natural comedy in which pathetic and comic phases of Irish nature are beautifully blended. "My Colleen" will be put on with all the scenery of the original production and a most capable company, headed by Mr. Farrell and a remarkably precoclous child actress, Baby Clare. The Chicago Times says of its recent pro-duction in that city: Another week will be devoted to "My Colleen." Unquestionably the greatest society event in University circles during the past week was the oratorical contest held in University Hall last Friday evening. Mr. F. P. Sadler, an exceptionally bright young man, carried off the honors of the evening. The contest was a rare treat, and a great many from town and gown availed themselves of the opportunity of witnessing an intellectual battle between young giants. -A great society event will be an Easter party which the Sir Knights will give in their spacious halls in Masonic Temple next Tuesday evening. Only the very select of society of the Athens will be in attendance. The men will array themselves with all the gallantry at their command, while the ladies will bestow their sweetest smiles. The party promises to be one of the great society events of the year .- It is said that the cantata of the "Holy City," rendered by St. Andrew's church choir on Thursday evening last, was a grand success in every particular. The work of the choir was excellent.-The exhibition of the junior class of our high school on Friday evening last was another of those beautiful events in the history of our schools, which teachers and graduates delight to attend and of which they delight to speak. The parents, the relatives and friends of the boys and girls, who are about to say good-by forever to the teachers, who have been so kind, to the dear old school and its surroundings, are there to witness an exhibition of knowledge which the boys and girls have succeeded in gathering. When the exercises are over, the curtain falls upon a beautiful past-the beautiful dream of youth. A broader stage, a wider theatre of action now confronts them, and the fierce struggle of life will soon begin. Hard- and by the time the first game is played ships and strife will appear, and when engaged in a conflict with them, it is then that the happy, happy school days -the sweet dream of youth - become a fond recollection of by-gone days .-About 500 people sat down to the tables at the St. Patrick's banquet at the rink last Saturday evening. The speeches were excellent. In the absence of Col. John Atkinson, Rev. Fr. Kelly responded to the toast, "The Day We Celebrate," in a very happy manner. F.G. Campbell responded to "Michigan," Rev. Fr. Goldrick, to "Wearing of the Green," Mayor Thompson to "Our City," and M. J. Cavanaugh to "Gladstone." These banquets remind Americans and others that the liberties of the people of Ireland are still being ruled with an iron rod and with prison bars. Poland, her liberties and her ancient glory, are wiped from the face of the earth. Hungary is bleeding and Kossuth has died at Turin. America, the land of the free and the home of the brave, extends her sympathy. Especially does America sympathize with the land of Burke and of O'Connell, the home of Moore, the little isle of poetry and song. With her sons in America and with all Irish-Americans, we hope soon to see the day when Ireland will be free !-The concert of the Ann Arbor Banjo perhaps the strangest that should be the three seals under Captain Weston's guidance show that even a fish can do wonderful things. Those now performing every day are the oldest seals in captivity. Seals are extremely delicate, and they rarely live away from their native sea and rocks for more than a year, and yet these seals, Bobby, Bibby and Tommy, have been performing regularly for six years. Their longevity is undoubtedly due to the fact that they receive great care.

The exact spot of the birthplace of these seals is not known, but when they were youngsters they were found on one of the islands off Coxshaven in Germany. The German government does all it can to protect its fisheries, and as seals are a constant menace to fish the government pays a reward of 5 marks for the capture of each seal. There is a famous seal fisherman in Germany named Worthman, and when Captain Weston, who had been on many sealing and whaling expeditions in the North sea, determined that he would give up the Toledo or Detroit. seals would be novel and profitable. He the month. went to Worthman, and together they captured the three sleek little fellows. D. B. TRACY, Northern Pass, Agent, 155 Jefferson-ave., Detroit, Mich.; JOHN BAS-TABLE, District Pass. Agent, 5 Bridge-st., Toledo, O.; D. G. EDWARDS, General Pass, Agent, Cincinnati, O. There are many islands outside of Coxshaven, and one of the smallest was chosen. In describing the capture Captain Weston said: ILLI & REULE,

We stretched the net on one side of one of the smaller islands and then went to the others and shot off pistols and made a noise, driving many seals into the water and against the net. We had to work very quickly, because the seals dived down and became entangled in the net, and a seal will drown if kept five minutes under water. When we finally pulled them up, we found that we had about 20 seals, but when they found themselves altogether they became enraged and fought among themselves, biting, scratching and tearing, even killing one another, until there were only three left, and these three are the same three I have today.

One has only a faint idea of the amount of patience which it requires to teach a fish, for such a seal really is. It looks easy to see one of my seals play the banjo or a harp, but it took me three months of hard work every day to teach them to do this even in an imperfect manner, and the only reason that I can give is that they have been at it long enough to learn.

I have never before known a seal to live in captivity over one year, and yet I have had mine many times that. I am often surprised at their intelligence. Especially is this true of Bobby, the clown. I believe that that fish understands humor, because he does things at times which actually make me laugh, to say nothing about the audience. He is the best seal I ever had, the best I ever will have, and I think that he has

While we all angrily opposed the silver repeal, we are rapidly coming to the conclusion that it is to prove a bessing in disguise. It has not per-manently hurt silver, while it has already revived our comparatively dormant gold mining industry to the very verge of a boom. In this time of great verge of a boom. The established veins which it will make profitable again are estimated to contain $200,000,000 of gold. The great gold belt of Colorado, reaching from Long's Peak to beyond the southwest corner of the Sta e, is over 200 miles long by eighty miles wide. All over it every ten or twenty miles, gold has been found generally in low-grade ore. There are in the State perhaps five thousand opened veins in old or aban-

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney. With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

It may surprise some people, but it is nevertheless a fact, that these three seals eat 500 pounds of fish a week. They will only eat seafish, such as herring or flounder, and I attribute their long life to the fact that I am very careful with their food. The fish are washed and cleaned and the heads cut off just as carefully and just as cleanly as though going on a hotel table. The seal does not chew a fish, but swallows it whole, and it would surprise you to see how a great mass of fish will disappear when three seals get at it. All the accomplishments of these seals are not shown. They have been taught water tricks. I can throw a 10 cent piece into a tank of water, and, small as the piece is and flat as it lies on the bottom, at a word of command any one of my seals will dive for it and

Aluminium Instruments.

A physician who got rid of some of his steel instruments and bought others made of aluminium says that he is sorry that he changed. The aluminium probes, sounds, tongue depressers and that sort of thing do not oxidize, to be sure, but he finds that they are deficient in elasticity and stay bent after pressure. He declares, moreover, that he likes to feel as if he had a hold on something when he uses an instrument, and aluminium is so light that it makes him feel as if he could put no trust in it.-Exchange.

transportation and improved mining 1894 machinery have probably reduced the cost of mining one-half, the triumph of the gold standard has apparently doubled the value of gold, and all the mines are starting up. A mine with vast deposits of low-grade ore worth $18 ton had to stop because the cost of production was $20. But now, wh n production costs only $10, and the purchasing power of $18 is raised to $36, the profit in resuming is very clear. It is not extravagant to say that there are in Colorado a thousand millions of gold in the low-grade ore in sight, most of which will pay for working under existing conditions. The new gold mining revival is less than four months old, and yet it increased the old st,000,000 per annum to $7,802,453 for 1893. Experts estimate the gold out-put for the incoming year at $20,000,-000.

It is a nut for both free-traders and protectionists to crack that Colorado manfacturing industries are all prosperous and ranning full force and time, whereas there seems to be everywhere else a partial shutdown. Aside from the $43 336,385 worth of precious metal ores, one-third of which was from other States, which our smelters handled in 1893, and which was an increase over any previous year, the manufac ories proper of Denver alone produced $20, 000,000 of goods which found a market all the way to the Pacific. It is not likely that the missionary make no exertion themselves. Relig-ract exaggerates much, so I take it for ion, love of God, belief in divine provitract exaggerates much, so I take it for granted that these statistics are approximately correct. We expend two hundred and fifty-three millions more for liquors and tobacco than for nearly all the necessaries that we buy.

In the city of Iron Mountain, in the the northern peninsula of Michigan, with a population of about ten thousand, nearly all laboring men, according to a careful estimate by the Chicago Tribareful estimate by the Chicago during ine, there was spent for liquors during of $600,000. If 1892 the enormous sum of $600,000. If it was only half that sum, it would be $120 per year for each head of a family. This sum saved yearly during the past years, and carefully invested or deposited in reliable savings banks, would and when you have nothing else to do and when you have housing these easily carry these people through these hard times. These figures present a financial problem that is worthy of a careful consideration by all good citi-zens. There is a special phase of this problem that we ought carefully to con-act when super ider.' I refer to the fact that men will not allow women to smoke and drink. We have now in this nation about sixtyfive millions of people and of these, less ca ing liqu rs, etc. Men must be taught than thirty millions are adults. One-half of these adults are women. This leaves fifteen million adult men. Certainly less than ten million of these adult men smoke, and drink intoxicating liquors. That is, one-sixth of our sixty-five millions of people spend for tobacco and liquors (certainly useless luxuries) more than the entire people spend per annum for the majority of the necessaries of life. The men, simply by their united thought, force women to abstain from the use of these useless luxuries. Why and how? It is self evident that men prohibit smoking and drinking by women, because they know it would injure them; it would make them less desirable mothers, wives and daughters — less desirable citizens. Men do not discuss the matter in the press, from the pulpit or in the legislative halls. No laws are passed upon the subject; none are needed. Women subject; none are needed. have just as good a legal right, nay money, and effort to improve the humore, just as good a moral right, to smoke on the streets, and drink in the public saloons, as men. But here comes the strange feature of the problem. Men simply think that women should not drink Women think just as earnestly, just as unitedly, that men should not indulge Until within a very tew years, men held all the property, and if a man married a woman he married all of her estate. Men had most of the intellectual culture and the control of the learned professions, and they had the ballot or the con-trol of the law-making power. They controlled the sources of bread winning, and all laws and governmental affairs. If the women wish to enforce their united thought, and make prohibition prohibit in regard to the men, they must obtain intellectual culture, must acquire property and other sources of bread winning, and must have the bal-lot. If the women of this nation wish to stop the enormous expenditure of money for these useless luxuries, and turn it into the channels of useful industries, they must obtain all these sources of power, that men have used so successfully to force them upon the high moral plane, that it is conceded they ow occupy. I find in the reports in the leading I find in the reports in the leading newspapers that there was lost and won in bets on a few of the leading race horses in this country in 1893, over one million of dollars, and from this we may safely estimate, that at least six mil-lions were lost and won upon horse races during 1893. It has also been estimated that the laboring classes in this nation expend about three millions of dollars per month for lottery tickets. We have then for 1893 the following lean so heavily on the Lord, that they dence, faith in prayer, were not given to paralyze human action, but to stimulate, encourage and restrain human action. If this world is made better, if man is levated and improved, you, with your fellow men and women, must do the work Remember, man must elevate himself God finished his part of our creation untold ages ago, and now has left the completion of the work mainly to us. If you wish to see the race improved, en go to work practically and improve Do not dream or theorize too much. Jse all the plain, common sense practi tical methods for improving your fel-low men that are within your reach,

First, as to reason. Reason can only act when supplied with knowledge of evils to be avoided. Men are constantly making discoveries in s ience. They iscovered opium, tobacco and intoxi the proper and improper use of these articles, or reason will not aci, and protect the individual. When ignorant savages are brought in contact with civilization and the discoveries of science, they are destroyed, because the controlling powers have not been de-veloped by knowledge and experience. But knowledge alone will not prove effective. As large, if not a larger, proportion of pny-icians are addicted o the improper use of tobac o, opium and intoxicating liquors than in the other ca lings among men. Their superior knowledge is not alone a protection. Practical physiology and hygiene, and the evils of the use of tobacco, opium, intoxicating liqu rs, etc., should be taught thorougaly in our public schools and colleges. The requirements in regard to these subjects should be as exac ing as in r-gard to other s udies.

When we expend as much time, and man family as we now expend to im-prove domestic animals, we shall need many less poor houses, asylums and prisons. The human conscience should also be cultivated and developed. It is or smoke and they obey. related that a carefully reared young man in England longed to go to Paris, and be free from the restraints of home, in these things, but it has little or no effect. Why is this? It is simply be-cause men have the power to enforce their demands, and women have not. that he did not was because his con-science would not let him. science would not let him. The careiul father and the faithful mother had developed within him a power so strong that he could not break over it. Indeed, he said that these evils seemed so great as he approached them that he would as soon have entered negligible iter iterations in the perdition itself as to have gone in the forbidden way. Conscience needs prop-er cultivation, as much as any other human faculty. When improperly cultiva ed and directed, it has often led men to commit the most heinous crimes and offenses. We need, sadly need, a department in our schools and colleges to educate and properly develop the reason and conscience. But what shall we do with the relig-ious nature of man? Theologians often tell us that the religious nature of man is weak; that men are prone to be irre-ligious; that it is one of the weakest Ingious; that it is one of the weakest faculties in man. A greater error could not possibly be conceived or uttered. The religious nature of man is one of the s rongest, if not the strongest fac-ulty that he possesses. This has always been true of man. This is conclusively shown by the fact that when this fac-ulty is improperly cultivated and devel-oned it leads man to do things that no It has also been estimated that the laboring classes in this nation expend about three millions of dollars per month for lottery tickets. According to these statistics and estimates, the non-Christians outnumber the Christians almost three to one.

These may be uncomfortable facts for us to contemplate, but it will do us no good, and infinite harm, to close our eyes to any facts connected with these great questions. It is half the battle to bravely face the actual condition of affairs connected with any cause in which we have a deep and earnest in-terest. When we consider this large portion of our race who have already embraced different religious belief and have for long ages been established therein, we must conclude that any change will necessarily be slow. Dir et effort will accomplish something, but is it not worth while to consider whether it would not hasten our efforts f we would spend more time and labor in the endeavor to practically improve our civilization at home, before we send it to other nations. If we could send less greed for gain, less gambling, less rum and immorality, along with our missionaries, would we not make more rapid progress? According to the World Almanac for 1893 (page 247), the Caristian sects are divided as follows, in round numbers: Coptie Church..... 120,000 Nestorians..... 80.000 70,000 Jacobites .....

From statistics on page 248 of the World Almanac, we find that there are in the United States 43 different main religious denominations or sects, and about 170 main and subdivisions of the principal or main religious sects.

What I wish to call atten ion to is the great diversity of religious opinion, even in Christian lands, upon religious questions. These different religious sects do not all of them have serious differences of opinion upon what are called essential doctrines; still, many of them are almost as far apart as Mo-hammedanism and Christianity. The main point that I wish to call your attention to is the fact that many of these sects must necessarily be in some measure in error. Two directly opposite beliefs in regard to the same mat ter cannot both be correct. All cannot, in the nature of things, be exactly right; somebody mu t be mistaken.

Granting all this, still could we af ford to destroy any of these different religious sects? I say most emphati-cal y no; we could not. Concede that they all contain some measure of error, and that some of them contain radical errors, still we cann it afford to destroy We have little enough religious them. instruction and culture in this nation as it is, and we cannot afford to lose any portion of it, even if radical errors are maintained along with the great good accomplished. It is a question whether anything human will ever be entirely free from error. Man is finite, and has very limited powers. He is very apt to err, even when endeavoring honestly and conscientiously to study and follow the laws and teachings of the Infinite. But with all this he has the infinite. But with all this he has the power to grasp and understand aright the great moral laws and relig-ious principles that are necessary to guide his action and promote the gen-eral welfare. If you see radical and dangerous error, seek to correct it, but be careful not to destroy the entire in-stitution that contains the crumb of would seem to be outcoach. The end error. I firmly believe that a man is a better man with the Mohammedan re-ligion than with no religion, and so on through the long list. A man is much more likely to be a good man and a more likely to be a good man and a good citizen who entertains correct views upon the great leading moral and religious principles, and adopts them as his controlling guide in actual every-day life, although with these he may have much error, than the man who is without religious convictions or cul-ture of any kind. The good and wise citizen will not expect too much of his fellow men, will not expect a heaven upon earth, but will do all he can, by precept and example, to develop within his fellow men all of the restraining powers which an all-wise Creator has made it his duty to cultivate and devel-op, by all the means within his knowledge and power. edge and power. There are other matters in this con-nection that we frequently overlook or fail to see. I refer to the actual relig-ious cond tion of the people of this nation. We ought to consider these matters and face the facts as they actually exist, in order to intelligently consider the problems that actually confront us, and if evils exist, provide the remedies so far as we are able. In making these comments I simply take the position of a reporter, and give you such general facts as I have ascertained from an acquaintance with a large number of those who are not members of any of our churches. Our own city is probably a fair sam-ple of the communities in this nation. I have estimated that there are nine tion. churches in Ann Arbor, whose mem-bership will average 400, which would bership will average 400, which would give us 3600 church members in Ann Arbor. This would hardly be one-half of the adult population of our city. Here is one-half of our adult population who do not belong to any church or-ganization, and receive little or no re-bring out ure and development. figious culture and development. A few of them may attend church ser-vices occasionally, but many of them do not attend church at all. What is the remedy for this condition of affairs? the remedy for this condition of affairs? To determine this we must consider the beliefs, and the religious convic-tions and opinions, of this important half of our people. I think it is safe to say that a very large portion, if not a majority, of these people are substan-tially Unitarians in their religious be-liefs. There is, of course, a great di-versity and variety of opinions among them, the same as among members of churches. churches But first, do these people refrain from joining the churches because they are wicked, and wish to avoid religious restraint and obligations? From a very intimate acquaintance with a very one end large number of them I answer most emphatically NO. It is not with them, that is, most of them, a matter of self-there are more praying men and women among this class of people than the members of our churches suppose. Do they believe in the Bible? Yes, in their conducted, can be attended without way. Some of them believe that the Bible is the grand result of the religious development of untold ages and generations of religious people. They believe in the theory of progressive development as applied to the Bible, similar to the theory of Darwin as ap plied to the development of man. They believe that it is the result of the best minds and hearts of the untold ages of the past; that it is a record of moral and religious truths, discovered and good and pure men of great spiritual genius and power. They believe that so much time, labor, thought and genius, for so many ages, have been be-stowed upon this great and grand book that it now contains at least the germs and leading principles of all moral and religious truth.

Do they believe in the inspiration of the writers of the book? Yes, if by in spiration you mean the superior capacty and power that comes from native genius and goodness, and from long years of patient and untiring study and contemplation of moral and religious truths. They believe that they were inspired the same as all the great theologians of all ages, such as Martin Luther, Dean Stanley, Archdeacon Farrar, Henry Ward Beecher and Phillips Brooks.

If they thus accept the Bible, then why do they not accept it as a guide and follow its teachings? A truth is no more a truth because it was written by an inspired man. Discovered truths are just as valuable as inspired truths. The one is as much a fact as the other, just as valuable, just as much God's truth, because all truth is God's truth. In a great measure, consciously or unconsciously, this class of men and women are governed, and in a large measure influenced and controlled, by the moral and religious teachings of the Bible. But is there any way for this so-called submerged half of our people to obtain a larger portion of religious culture and development? We annot expect the churches their beliefs, so as to come to the con-scientious convictions of these people. Adults seldom change their beliefs, l-ast of all their religious beliefs. fhese are so strong by nature that when developed around a certain theory it is almost if not quite impossible to change them. There are some things, however, that the members of our churches can do. They can refrain from thinking and expressing the thought that this class of people are any less conscientious, honest and sincere in their religious beliefs and views than themselves. They can believe and act as though they thought the e people were unselfish, sincere and honest in their religious convictions. They can cease to charge them with refusing to accept their views, and to conn-ct themselves with the churches, merely because they wish to escape religious restraints and obligations. The fact that they do not join some of the many churches is a statement of the most emphatic kind that they do not accept the fundamental doctrines and creeds of these churches. Let the churches give these people the same credit for incerity and honesty that they claim for themselves. If you cannot respect he unbelief, at least respect the sincerity and integrity of the unbelievers. One of our greatest theologians has tentions possible among themselves, and reserve all their force and united strength to overcome well known and admitted evils. Use all possible means to get the masses to attend some church and obtain some religious instruction and development. I think greater ef-fort should be made to get people to attend some church than to join the churches Is it not barely possible that church conducted, can be attended without fear of persecution or annoyance, and they are all eager and anxious to admit all that will come, without reference to social standing or religious belief. In this condition of affairs it ought not to be difficult for any person to obtain from some church the social and relig-ious culture and development that all surely need. I only wish to make one additional suggestion in regard to these matters, and that is in regard to the lack of plain and direct moral and religious instruction in most of schools and universities, which should be remedied at once. In the University of Michigan we need and ought to have a chair devoted exclusively to moral and religious ethics and principles; and every student from every de-partment of the University, before he is permitted to graduate, should be re-quired to present a certificate that he had passed the examinations in this department.

We do not need theology. That may be left to the theological seminaries. We can live without it, but we cannot properly maintain and preserve a civilzed society without religion, and religious instruction and development.

The main principles of morals and religion should be taught in all of our district schools and public schools, that the youth may have at least the necessary knowledge to guide them aright. Each man and woman is an independent, self-guided and self-controlled will is God-like, and places us in the scale of being next to the Creator. Whether this grand power shall work for us good or evil, will depend upon what we do ourselves to properly educate and develop our reason, our conscience and our religious natures, and the reason, conscience and religious natures of our fellow men.

On the other hand, what should this great submerged half of our people do on their part in regard to these impor-tant matters? They ought, first of all, to do one of two things—either unite and establish a church of their own in accord ance with their beliefs and convictions, or else attend some of the churches already organized. The religious nature is one of the strongest and best of the restraining and guiding forces placed in man, but it will not perform its functions effi-ciently unless properly developed. To properly develop this faculty requires, thought, study, association with others, instruction from others who can develop instruction from others who can devote their entire time to these matters, mu-tual discussion and interchange of views, practical work in developing the moral and religious nature of others, and some study of the recorded results of the best thought of past ages upon these great questions. When properly developed, this religious nature is one of the most reliable and strongest of the sustaining and restraining powers placed in man. In spite of the muddy condition of the reads in that part of the state, the attendance at the ser-vices was large. In the evening many were unable to find seats, and had to stand during the whole of the exercises. The church was very prettily decorated, the ladies of the town presenting their youthful pastor with many boquets of roses and other choice flowers. One beautiful bunch found its way to his mother at Dexter, and decorated the platform at Mr. Wallace's lecture Friday night.

At the Nice Race Meeting.

A race meeting is much the same all the world over, and the Nice gathering can hardly be called the exception. There is the same noisy crowd and crush at the railway station-the races are held at Le Var, some few miles out of Nice proper-and the familiar line of beggars, blind, halt, lame and more so, as ready with curses as blessings-all the way from the station to the course. The three card trickster, the fortune teller and the whole brotherhood of the ring, each with bag and board, the latter bearing an English name, as a rule, are to be seen, each in his appro-priate place. The sun may shine with greater regularity and brilliance and the landscape with its slim rows of eucalyptus trees look more delicate and fragile than we are accustomed to, but otherwise all has the appearance of the 'correct card."

It is a charming little course at Le Var, and in fine weather it would be difficult to find anywhere a more representative gathering of beauty and fashion than may be seen in the paddock on

Missionaries.

Archdeacon Farrar sets forth forcibly the large debt of science to missions in these words: "Is it nothing that through their labor in the translation of the Bible the German philologist in his study may have before him the grammar and vocabulary of 250 languages? Who discovered the great chain of lakes in central Africa, on which will turn its future destiny? The missionaries. Who have been the chief explorers of Oceanica, America and Asia? The missionaries. Who discovered the famous Nestorian monument in Singar Fu? A missionary. Who discovered the still more famous Moabite stone? A missionary. Who discovered the Hittite inscriptions? A missionary.' -Exchange.

A Possible Derivation of "News."

The word is not, as many imagine, derived from the adjective new. In former years-between the years 1595 and 1730-it was a prevalent practice to put over the periodical publications of the day the initial letters of the cardinal points of the compass, thus:

But springtime has come at last, and now is the time for all catarrh sufferers to begin a sys-

The greatest difficulty in the way of treating chronic catarrh is that the patient is so liable to catch cold during the treatment, and thus delay a cure. This liability at this season of the year is, in a great measure, removed and no one should neglect the opportunity to begin treatment. Send for free catarrh book.

As a spring medicine, Pe-ru-na is a never-failing remedy. It cleanses the blood through digestion, and gives tone to the whole system by increasing the nutritive value of the food. Who are the most famous writers and artists of both continents? The Cosmopolitan Magazine is endeavoring to answer this inquiry by printing a list from month to month-in its contents pages. This Magazine claims that notwithstanding its extraordinary reduction in price, it is bringing the most famous writers and artists of Europe and America to interest its readers, and in proof of this claim, submits the following list of contributors for the five months ending with February : Valdes, Howells, Paul Heyse, Francisque Sarcey, Robert Grant, John J. Ingalls, Lyman Abbott, Frederick Masson, Agnes Repplier, J. G. Whittier, (posthumous,) Walter Besant, Mark Twain, St. George Mivart, Paul Bourget, Louise Chandler Moulton, Flammarion, Tis. sandier, F. Dempster Sherman, Adam Badeau, Capt. King, Arthur Sherburne Haröy, George Ebers, De Maupassant, Sir Edwin Arnold, Spielhagen, Andrew Lang, Berthelot, H. H. Boyesen, Hopkinson Smith, Lyman J. Gage, Dan'l C. Gilman, Franz Von Lenbach, Thomas A Januian Henthicid and Thomas A. Janvier. How this is done for $1.50 a other remedy I ever saw.-Rev. Cephas year, the editors of The Cosmopolitan alone know.

Color and Warmth.

The color of materials has some influence on the warmth of the clothing. Black and blue absorb heat freely from without, but white and light shades of yellow, etc., are far less absorbent. This difference can be demonstrated by experiment. The same material, when dyed with different colors, will absorb different amounts of heat. In hot counthries white coverings are universally worn, and sailors and others wear white clothing in hot weather.

With regard, however, to heat given off from the body the color of the materials used as clothing makes little if any difference. Red flannel is popularly supposed to be warm, though it is no better in this respect than similar materials of equal substance, but white er gray in color. Dark clothing is best for cold weather, because it more freely absorbs any heat that is obtainable .--Fortnightly Review.

A Boston Love Affair "Miss Winthrop-Winthrop," he said, gingerly, as if her name were an exquisite piece of china, "will you be my wife?" She drew back on the instant. "I hardly expected this, Mr. Common," she responded, "but since you have mentioned it so frankly permit me to say as frankly that I will not." "No?" he exclaimed, in astonishment. "No," she said; "your ancestors did not come over in the Mayflower, as mine did, and I cannot marry you." At this su-preme moment he forgot all about the potent factor of wealth, and his mind dwelt on the possibility-nay, probability-that he, too, must have had ancestors some time in the past, and his bosom swelled with pride and resentment. "And do you know why they did not, Miss Winthrop-Winthrop?" he asked, in lofty tones. "Do you know why they did not? I'll tell you. They were not the kind of people who traveled with excursions." And he strode from the house in imperious disdain .- Boston Common.
