NEWSPAPER WOMEN.

A Congress of Women of Brains

WILL SOON HONOR OUR CITY WITH A VISIT.

Memorial Day Celebrated in This City; Imposing Ceremonies in the 5th Ward Cemetery; Patriotic Speech by Col. Dean; All Honor to the Soldier Dead.

The Michigan Woman's Press Association will hold its fifth annual meeting in Newberry Hall in this city June 5, 6 and 7. Some of the brightest women of Michigan, women who have become famous by the productions of their pen, are members of the organization. Gertrude Buck, the brightest young lady in the U. of M. and one of the most graceful and versatile writers in the land, is an active member of the Michigan Woman's Press Association. Among others who are deserving of mention are: E. Cora DePuy, the novelist, who enjoys an envious reputation in the literary world, whose short stories are highly interesting and are greatly in demand by publishers of story papers and magazines; Emma E. Bower, the ready speaker, who can discourse at length on most any subject, a woman of considerable business ability, who can do more work at a desk than any woman in this or any other state; Mrs. M. K. Buck and Mrs. Ada Iddings Gale, whose poetical productions compare favorably with the best poems of the present day; Belle M. Perry, of Charlotte, whose articles are subjects of interest to women, and are reprinted in nearly all of the papers in the country; Mrs. May S. Knaggs, the editorial writer, who never comes out second best in editorial discussions on social or political topics of the day; Florence M. Brooks, of Jackson, who can write as good a description of anybody or anything as the best reporter on the Detroit News or the Chicago Inter Ocean; Mrs. Kate E. Ford and Mary E. Childs, whose novelettes are the delight of hundreds of thousands of readers of newspapers and magazines; Mrs. Gertrude Sprague, who knows as much about the "running" of a country newspaper as anybody anywhere, a woman who can write local news, editorials, and manage a country newspaper with success; Mrs. Ina T. Jones, a journalist of ability; Winifreda Gale, of Albion, the noted reader and elocutionist; Carrie M. Jackson, of Milford, who has made a study of job printing and who can tell how a job should be "set," what quality of paper, color and grade of ink should be used, as well as an expert printer in the employ of Rand McNally & Co., of Chicago; Agnes L. d'Arcambal, Mrs. L. H. Stone and Mrs. M. E. C. Bates, who are newspaper women in the highest sense of the word and who allow nobody to think for them. The most difficult work in a newspaper office is to write appropriate head lines for articles in daily newspapers. Mrs. Kate E. Ward excels in this kind of work. A proof-reader on a metropolitan daily is, like a general, supposed to know everything. If "copy" is written unintelligibly and the intelligent compositor is unable to decipher parts of it, the proof-reader must know and usually does know how the copy reads. Mary Stewart Myrta B. Castle is a proof-reader who can fill any position on any newspaper or magazine anywhere. Ethlyn Clough, the editor of the spicy Brooklyn Exponent, knows how to canvass for advertising, how to write an ad. and how to get pay for it. She is business. Mrs. A. E. Bartlett, of Detroit, is second to none as an after dinner-speaker. She can think on her feet. She never takes no for an answer, and can debate at length. The Association has chosen her to respond to the Mayor's address. Mrs. Kate E. Ward, of Lansing, has read the Journal and Republican so much that she can write a saucy editorial herself when the occasion demands it. Everybody knows that condensed cream and saucy editorials are manufactured at Lansing. Mrs. Ward comes from Lansing and knows Rowley and the Republican man well. Aristine Anderson and Sarah J. LaTour know how to preside at large gatherings and like E. Cora DePuy, of this city, knows all there is to know about parliamentary rulings. They are good writers and good speakers.

We have endeavored to enumerate some of the women of brains who will come from all parts of Michigan to the Athens next week. They are some of the ablest writers in the newspaper world of Michigan. They glory in the work of their chosen profession. They are women who believe that the press is the civilizer of the world and who delight in doing their part in the ranks of this great general of the modern world. They are of that band of noble women, who, when life's work is o'er, delight in looking back at a life well spent and silently saying to themselves, "I believe that the world is better for my having lived."

THE REGISTER, in conjunction with the press of the city and in conjunction with our citizens, extends the hand of welcome to the noble and able women of the press, who will next week honor us with their presence.

THE SOLDIER DEAD.

Memorial Day Celebration in Ann Arbor.

"History records but two wars which were just," said John Bright in the English parliament, "the war for the American Union and the war for the preservation of the American Union."

The old heroes of the greatest war of all the ages, which was begun at Marathon and which terminated at Gettysburg, which has given liberty and independence to the lovers of freedom, which has given the children of men the power to carry out one of the laws of Almighty God, a law which teaches us that "All Men Are Created Equal"—the old heroes of that war, who have made Ann Arbor their home, and fought and bled for that home, marched to the silent city of the dead and decorated with the sweetest flowers in the realm the graves of their sleeping comrades in arms.

What mighty changes have been wrought in thirty years! These old veterans, who are wearing the scars of honor which they received on fields of glory in the South of our beloved country, whither they went to fight, to bleed and die, if need be, for its preservation—these old heroes were boys then, in the full vigor of their youth. They donned the coat of blue, when Abraham Lincoln called on them to face danger and death upon the field of battle. But let us not dwell on that sad, sad picture of by-gone days. Let us pull down the curtain. Let us gaze upon another scene. Let us look upon the flowers of the garden and the fields and let us march with the good old soldiers under the white wings of the angel of peace, sweet, holy peace to the mounds of green of our soldier dead. Let us with them do him honor. It is Memorial Day! Let our hearts be grateful. Let us this day embalm his memory in our hearts. Let us pause, and let us place a flower or drop a tear upon the tomb of our most honored dead. Then let us return home and give thanks to God Almighty, who rules over the destiny of our nation; let us give thanks that we live under the shadow of the old flag which has piloted us through the mist and storms, the old flag, the gallant ensign of our country, which was blessed by Heaven and kissed by Washington. Let us be kind to the little handful of the brave, whose ranks are growing thinner and thinner with each departing year. Let us by our kindness make them feel that we are appreciative of their deeds. Let us remember and honor and love the boys living and dead. Let us do honor to Memorial Day!

Benediction.

The ceremonies on the 5th ward cemetery were very imposing. Mr. Childs was master of ceremonies and Col. Dean delivered an able address. He directed his remarks principally to the children.

He said that thirty years ago these men standing around this monument, which was erected in honor of the soldier dead, left their homes, their kindred and friends in defence of their country that our government might live. It now remains with you children, the coming generation, into whose hands we are soon to place the reins of government, whether this Nation, the grandest on earth, shall be preserved. Twenty years ago this monument was erected in honor of the soldiers of the fifth ward, many of whom are sleeping the last sleep in these mounds of green. Three noble women, members of the relief corps, collected the funds with which this imposing monument of stone was erected. Two of them, Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Seabolt, have joined the army in the Great Beyond. Now, children, I did not come here to make a long speech. The day is cold and the weather threatening, and I shall conclude my remarks by again admonishing you to remember the duty which you owe your country. Be steadfast in the right, love your country, help preserve our good government, and always be true and loyal American citizens.

Six old veterans of the war then fired a salute in honor of the dead comrades and the remaining band of the Grand Army of the Republic left their comrades, who are sweetly sleeping under the sod, and departed for another camping ground of the dead, to do comrades honor who are resting there. Yes, year by year the veterans are growing grayer, the strong and determined men of '61 are marching with feeble step onward toward the great final re-union, where they will join their comrades. The great war will then be a matter of history only. None will be left to tell the tale of roaring cannon, of clashing of swords, of the tramp, tramp of mighty armies.

We noticed the pleasant face of Hon. James O'Donnell, of Jackson, among the veterans. He was a soldier and felt at home with the boys in blue. Mr. O'Donnell was born and lived in Connecticut and hunted up Capt. Herman Danser, who fought all through the war in a Connecticut regiment and who is literally covered with ugly scars, which he received in battle. He found him shoving a pencil on a German paper. Both the old soldiers and newspaper men spoke of the terrible days of blood and carnage, and both said that they would be willing to fight the battles all over again, if necessary, for the preservation of the Union.

In the evening Mr. O'Donnell made a grand speech at University hall to a large audience. It was a brilliant effort of a brilliant man—one of the great men of our country.

Death of Adam Seyler.

Another of Ann Arbor's prominent business men has put aside all earthly cares, trials and tribulations. Adam D. Seyler, who has conducted a boot and shoe business in this city, died about noon on Thursday, the 24th inst. Mr. Seyler was born in Canada about 56 years ago, and has been a resident here since early manhood. He leaves a widow and four children—Julius V. Seyler and Mrs. W. G. Fowler, of Detroit, and Edward L. Seyler, and Miss Bena C. Seyler, of this city.

Mr. Seyler was elected an alderman in 1870, and city recorder in 1873 and 1877, and county treasurer in 1880 and 1882. The deceased was a member of the Maccabees and of the Masonic bodies, belonging to Golden Rule Lodge, No. 156, F. & A. M., and Washtenaw Chapter No. 6, R. A. M. He was treasurer of the Presbyterian church society of this city. The funeral of the deceased was held Sunday afternoon under the auspices of Golden Rule lodge F. & A. M., assisted by the Maccabee lodge. A large number of citizens followed the remains to the grave.

Annual Meeting of the Washtenaw Pioneers.

The next annual meeting of the pioneer society of Washtenaw county will be held in the new Methodist church at Ypsilanti on Wednesday, June 13th, 1894, at 10 A. M., for the election of officers for the ensuing year and transaction of other business.

Addresses will be delivered by Judge W. D. Harriman and Robert Campbell, of Ann Arbor; Chas. Woodruff, editor of the Ypsilanti Sentinel, and Geo. Gill, of Ypsilanti. Clark's quartette, of Saline, will furnish excellent music and sing the good old songs.

The citizens of Ypsilanti and adjoining townships will furnish the banquet. All those intending to furnish provisions for the banquet will please notify Erastus Sampson or Wm. H. Lay, of Ypsilanti, as soon as convenient.

BLOODSHED AT MINES

FIGHTING AT THE COAL MINES IN ILLINOIS.

Troops Called Out to Prevent Further Bloodshed.—Coke Strikers and Deputies Have a Fierce Battle in Pennsylvania in Which Five were Killed.

Strike Troubles in Illinois Coal Regions.

Lasalle, Ill.: A mob of 1,000 coal strikers, none of them English speaking, raided the shaft of the Lasalle County Carbon Co. here. Sheriff Taylor warned them that they must keep back, but the mob with a wild shout rushed forward, throwing a volley of bricks and stones at the deputies. Sheriff Taylor was knocked down and badly beaten and kicked. Two deputies were wounded by bullets and one may result fatally. Three strikers were arrested, but one of them was released on the men threatening to tear down the jail and burn the city hall. A wild scene followed the liberation. The mob marched down First street with the rescued man ahead, and amid cries of "Vive l'anarchie" and similar expressions, decried the respectable citizens and sought defiance to the officers.

Centralia, Ill.: About 500 striking miners from Dequoin and the St. Johns mine arrived here and proceeded to the Big Four mine in the northern limits of the city. They demolished considerable machinery and filled the shaft with about fifteen feet of debris. Every glass and sash in the buildings were smashed. The total damage is about $3,000. The Big Four mine has for the past three days been running with about 30 men.

The striking miners held a meeting and left for Odin, eight miles north, to shut down the mine there. The sheriff and about 50 deputies equipped with Winchester rifles, a special train and reached the scene ahead of the strikers who were given a warm reception. Several shots were fired and the mob retreated. About 80 of them were captured. No one was injured seriously.

Larvis.—Centralia, Ill.: Despite their defeat and the capture of a quarter of their number at Odin the strikers made another attack on the Centralia mine. Just about 2 o'clock in the morning about 50 of the strikers crept stealthily toward the mine which had been left lightly guarded. Suddenly there was a tremendous fusillade of bullets against the mine company's office. The guards returned the fire with their Winchester rifles, and the strikers fled. During the day five companies of militia arrived and went into camp. The presence of the troops had a quieting effect upon the strikers, but there were many small outbreaks and as the excitement is by no means past a serious conflict seems to be the only possible outcome.

FOUR STRIKERS KILLED.

More Bloodshed in the Pennsylvania Coke Regions.

The determined strikes of the coke workers of Pennsylvania has again been the cause of bloodshed. The Washington Coke company at Sledge Hollow, on the Monongahela river, secured enough men to start their plant, and had been running several days when about 2,000 strikers, with flags and bands, and most all armed, marched to the works and camped over night. At early dawn they accosted the workers going to the pit and a number were about to comply with the appeals when a force of deputies armed with Winchester rifles made a rush for the men. In this part of the performance a deputy sheriff fired a shot, which opened up the battle. There was volley after volley fired by each side at close range. The strikers stood their ground while their comrades were falling one by one, but their ammunition giving out, and it requiring too much time to reload the shotguns and rifles, they were forced to give up the fight and flee to escape the rain of bullets from the fifty Winchester. The wounded men, who fell under the first volley from the deputies, were taken off the field by the retreating strikers. Four dead strikers were left on the field. One deputy was fatally wounded. From all reports it seems that the assault by the strikers was entirely unprovoked, but they had been instructed by the company to shoot to kill.

Sixty-six strikers were placed under arrest and put in box cars, which were closely nailed up, and kept there until evening, when they were brought to the jail in charge of deputies. The men arrested are nearly all native-born citizens, intelligent looking, and several of them are known to be men of influence and good reputation in the district. The situation at the mines is alarming and more serious trouble is expected.

Kansas Town in Danger.

The Missouri river at Atchison, Kan., rose six feet within 48 hours. There was great damage in East Atchison. The town has been protected heretofore by a strip of land known as the "point," and which extended for several yards into the river. This "point" has been cut away, however, and the main current of the stream strikes the town almost directly from the north. Great excitement prevails there, and a great many persons have moved to the other side of the river for safety. Store buildings and houses which stood in the north end of the village are being torn down or moved by their owners.

Anthracite Mines Flooded.

The anthracite coal trade, like the bituminous trade, is at a standstill though from vastly different causes. The floods throughout the anthracite region in Pennsylvania have flooded many of the mines, forcing a suspension of work until the flooded mines can be relieved of the surplus of water. The result of the enforced stoppage, together with the curtailed production of the anthracite mining companies for several months past, has produced a scarcity of hard coal. Especially is this the case with the Reading company, which has been compelled within the past few days to decline orders.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

SENATE.—13th day.—Senator Gorman's speech was the feature of the session. Mr. Gorman and Mr. Bruce have been credited by opposition with the joint authorship of the compromise amendments which consolidated the Democratic side, and Mr. Gorman especially has been subjected to much criticism both in and out of the senate. This speech, relying in a measure to the attacks that had been made upon him, explaining the necessity for the compromise and defending the party which the modified bill, now before the senate, was constructed, attracted intense interest. It was regarded as an exceedingly able exposition of the position of the conservatives in answer to the charges of the Republicans. Mr. Gorman asserted that the bill had been constructed on the Democratic theory of a tariff for revenue with such incidental protection as could be given consistently to the industries of the country. It followed strictly the course marked out by President Cleveland in his time of office, upon which he was re-elected, and the Democrats were entrusted with full power. Senator Gorman denied that any trust had dictated any part of any scheme of this bill. Justice to Louisiana had required the retention of the sugar bounty. Upon the subject of the income tax Senator Gorman said: "In the matter of internal revenue, I may say that, personally, I am in full accord with the sentiments so ably and so eloquently expressed by the senators from New York and Ohio, in opposing the income tax. Like them, I consider that it served its purpose as a war tax and has no fitting place in our fiscal system at a time of peace. I could not but feel that I voted conscientiously and consistently with my judgment and convictions to make this method of taxation a part of our settled public policy. Mr. Aldrich followed Mr. Gorman, commenting sarcastically upon what the latter had said regarding 'compromise.' Mr. Teller began a speech. He said he was listening in the belief that the Democratic party was standing, not on the Chicago platform, but on Mr. Cleveland's platform. He had known that the party had abandoned the Chicago platform and his paper was concerned at Mr. Cleveland's dictation, but he had now learned for the first time that Mr. Cleveland's utterances were not intended to cover the party platform on the tariff. Still, even after what Mr. Gorman had said, he was in doubt as to the condition of the Democratic side. The Maryland senator then proceeded to all the Democrats would support. He had said that a majority of the Senate would support it. How many Populists were counted on by Mr. Gorman to make a majority of the Senate? Were there any backsliders among the Democrats? These were all interesting questions and in order to make every senator show his cards he moved to lay the tariff bill on the table. Mr. Teller's motion was like a bombshell. It created consternation on both sides. The bill was now in jeopardy. Mr. Gorman moved to carry the bill through the corridors to draw up every available Senator in order that the full strength might be pooled on the event. The result of the day's session was as follows: HOUSE.—Legislation.—Approved bill. Nothing of importance introduced.

SENATE.—13th day.—Mr. Kyle urged the passage of his resolution declaring that it was not the purpose of the United States to use force to restore Louisiana as queen of the Hawaiian Islands, and that any foreign interference with the Hawaiian Islands would be regarded as an act of hostility to the United States. An action of Mr. Hale of Maine, scored the tariff bill as now before the Senate, saying it had no revenue, was a political measure. Amendments to the tariff bill were rejected excepting the Jones "compromise" amendment, 11-3 cents per pound. The purpose of the bill was the accession by the income committee of an amendment offered by Mr. Allen, the Nebraska Populist, to place barred goods in the hands of the public. Mr. Gorman opposed it, but did not carry their opposition to the extent of demanding a record-making vote upon it. An ultimatum from Mr. Ross that free trade was to be the basis of the bill was indignantly denied. Mr. Teller's amendment to insert a clause in the tariff bill that no tariff should be levied on goods imported from any country until the tariff schedule was adopted. HOUSE.—After clearing the table of routine business, the committee on the civil service bill, which was voted down. Mr. Stone of Kentucky offered an amendment, striking out the provision for assistant attorney to defend the government against war claims, and it was defeated. The committee of the whole completed the consideration of the bill and it was reported to the house. Senator's votes were 21-19. Mr. Hayes amendment declaring the laws repealed, authorizing the docking of members' names and discharging them from office, the appropriations for the civil service. The Hayes anti-docking amendment was defeated. The amendment of Mr. Enloe striking out the appropriation for the civil service commission was lost amid Republican applause. The legislative bill was then passed. The House bill to incorporate the Supreme Court of Knights of Pythias was passed. A resolution was adopted setting aside Saturday, June 22, for eulogies on the late Representative Howell, of Ohio.

SENATE.—13th day.—The report of the Senate committee appointed to investigate the charges of attempts to bribe Senators to vote against the tariff bill and the charges of improper influences being used in connection with the sugar schedule was submitted so far as concerns the attempted bribery of Senators Benton and Kyle. This report, after reciting the facts of Butts's proffer of money to the Senator from Kentucky and to Senator Kyle, says: "Your committee are abundantly justified in stating that the facts have been established by the evidence, notwithstanding the denial on the part of Charles W. Butts. There is no evidence to show the truth of Mr. Butts's statement to Senator Kyle and to Mr. Kyle, that there was an agent of such a syndicate in Washington for that purpose. Butts denies that he had any such statement or that he had or has any knowledge of the existence of such a syndicate, or that he was the agent or representative of any one. He further denies that he has any money in his possession. The bill debate was resumed and considerable progress made with the medal schedule. The time being spent in committee of the whole on private bills.

SENATE.—13th day.—Senator Hill, of New York, made a speech attacking the proposed duty of three-fourths of a cent per pound on lead ore and lead silver-bearing ore, and generally arraigning his Democratic colleagues for their refusal to stand by the Democratic doctrine of free raw materials. Mr. Vest, of Missouri, and Mr. Dubois, of Idaho, supported Mr. Hill. His amendment was lost by a vote of 3 yeas to 32 nays. Mr. Hill rose, as if desirous of making an extended speech, but contented himself by remarking that he desired to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland upon the fact that he was now leading the both sides of the Senate chamber with great unanimity. Senator Gorman, at whom this point was aimed, was absent from the chamber, and nothing was said in response to it except by Senator Aldrich, Republican, who replied that he had never had any doubt that upon a test the Maryland Senator would be found standing for protection. The same intense animosity existing the rate on lead ore at three-quarters of a cent per pound was then agreed to without division. The schedule was completed and the Senate adjourned. HOUSE.—No session.

SENATE.—13th day.—Eight hours were spent in debate on the question of free lumber, principally upon Mr. Hale's proposition to transfer lumber to the dutiable list at the rates fixed in the act of March 3, 1878. Senators Frye and Hale, of Maine; Peckins, of California; Mitchell and Dolph, of Oregon, whose states are most particularly affected by the lumber industry, occupied the major portion of the time in the support of Mr. Hale's amendment. Mr. Walsch, the new Senator from Georgia, made a general declaration for tariff reform, in which he came tax, free coinage of silver, and the repeal of the tax on state bank circulation. He then moved that the Democratic party owed it to the people to place these measures on the floor upon them that the party was placed in power. HOUSE.—District of Columbia day, and nothing else of importance transacted.

M. Peytral, the radical, has declined to form a cabinet for France. Mrs. Libbie Surplice, well-known Newwaygo lady, was arrested by U. S. Marshal Platt for using a cancelled stamp to mail a letter. The Washtenaw County Teachers' institute will be held at Ann Arbor July 9 under the direction of Prof. F. A. Barbour. The countess of Aberdeen left Ottawa for New York, en route for England. She will rejoin Lord Aberdeen in Halifax in July. The Minneapolis council has decided to issue bonds to the amount of $100,000 at 2 per cent to furnish funds for extensive public improvements, in order to assist the city's unemployed

They Didn't Want to Go to Prison.

One of the boldest jail deliveries occurred at Cleveland at the county jail. Robert Clark, Geo. Anderson and Charles Snow, who had just been sentenced to the penitentiary for burglary, sawed through iron window bars an inch and a half thick and by means of a blanket let themselves down to the roof of the court house annex, from which they easily made their escape. Snow and Anderson had just been sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary for robbing the Home Security of $10,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry.

Protection Causes a Failure.

London: The Standard says: Bradford & Craven, worsted spinners of Craven, have failed with liabilities amounting to £200,000. The assets are unknown. Several large failures are expected as the trade of the town has been half ruined by the McKinley bill and the delay in arranging a new American tariff.

The men who bought the government building in the World's Fair ground from Secretary Carlisle for $3,250, now ask $25,000 to sell it to the state of Georgia, for use at the Atlanta exposition.

DOINGS AND HAPPENINGS IN MICHIGAN.

Michigan Woman's Christian Temperance Union Convention Held at Ann Arbor. Supreme Court Strikes a Blow at Tax Title Speculators.—Items.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The twentieth annual meeting of the Michigan Woman's Christian Temperance union was held in the Presbyterian church at Ann Arbor. There were 400 delegates present, including all the leading temperance workers of the state.

President Mary T. Lathrap found considerable to object to in the result of the unions' work and offered several recommendations, among which were the following: That we oppose the local option, state regulation and Gothenberg systems as having within them the permission and partnership of the nation and state; that we seek closer alliance with other societies of women...

The election of officers was practically unanimous. All the old officers excepting the treasurer, who refused a re-election, were elected and were as follows: Mrs. Mary T. Lathrap, Jackson, president; Mrs. Julia R. Parish, Bay City, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lizzie M. Johnson, Flint, recording secretary; Mrs. Jennie Voorhees, Ann Arbor, treasurer; Mrs. Emma H. May, Clio, was elected delegate-at-large to the national convention to be held in Cleveland in November.

Democrats, Grand Rapids, June 28.

The meeting of the Democratic State Central committee for the purpose of naming the time and place of the state convention was held at the Hotel Cadillac, Detroit. After a great deal of debate Grand Rapids was selected and June 28 named as the date. The committee was instructed to include in the call the nomination of two candidates for United States senator. Chairman Campan therefore issued a call for the convention at the above place and time. Every county in the state is entitled to one delegate for each 500 votes cast for governor at the last general election, and one additional delegate for a fraction of not less than 250 votes. But each county is entitled to at least two delegates. All delegates must be residents of the counties they represent.

Hard Blow at Tax Title Speculators.

Tax title speculators, who have been in clover for some time, received another heavy knockout in the Michigan supreme court. The effect of the court's decision will be to render thousands of tax title deeds for the years 1887, 1888, 1889 and 1890 invalid. The court holds, in brief, that the tax laws under which lands were sold in the years mentioned required the personal service of subpoenas on residents of the state wherever possible, and it is a matter of common knowledge that in many cases the only notice given was by publication.

They Let Him Die.

Thomas McClough, aged 65 years, a farmer residing near Romulus, died from self-administered poison. An inquest was held. From the condition of the stomach it was evidently arsenical poisoning. From testimony taken from the members of the family it seems that they were aware that he had taken poison, but complying with his request, they neglected calling a physician until too late. The jury returned a verdict of suicide.

Sad Suicide at Brighton.

Miss Mame Judd, aged 28, of Adrian, committed suicide at the Eastern hotel at Brighton, by hanging herself to the bedroom door knob. The woman has been engaged in the millinery business at Adrian, and it is supposed her mind was affected by overwork. Miss Judd was taken to Brighton on a visit by friends, who have carefully watched her movements. She eluded them for not over 15 minutes when she committed the act.

Small-pox Fatality at Bay City.

The six-weeks-old child of Mrs. Clark, Bay City's first small-pox patient, died from the disease. The body was buried by the authorities, every precaution being taken to prevent contagion.

A span of horses owned by William Schmulz, of Detroit, were frightened by a squealing pig at Wahjamega, Tuscola county, and ran away, taking part of the fence with them. They ran down the hill and entered the Cass river. They went down the river with wagon and were drowned.

Senator Voorhees has introduced an important pension bill. It provides that all persons who receive pensions rated by existing laws at less than $12 per month shall have their pensions increased to that amount. Special provision is made that no widows' pension shall be less than $12.

A portion of the C. & W. M. railroad, a mile from Petoskey, suffered a land slide, which carried 300 feet of the track into Lake Michigan. While men were at work another slide carried 25 men a hundred feet into the lake, but no one was injured.

Snow commenced falling at Marquette and continued for several hours. About three inches fell. Escanaba also had a young snow storm, causing the mercury to drop about 30 degrees. Cold weather this late in the season is blighting the crops of that section.

The prevailing strike of coal miners is proving a good thing for the Sebewaing mines. One year ago the men there were out and assistance was refused them by the unions. Now the men are not unionists and business is brisk. More orders are coming in than can be filled.

A man in Chelsea has struck a scheme that ought to pay not only there, but in all villages or cities. He has started a ten-cent stable, where farmers or anyone else can have their horses taken care of, instead of having to tie them up to some hitching post where they will be exposed to all sorts of weather.

A FEARFUL WRECK.

Express Train Dashes into a Rock—Two Men Killed—Cars Burned.

An express on the B. & O. near Myersdale, Pa., being half an hour late, was making up time; as it rounded a sharp curve it dashed against a 50-ton mass of rock which had been loosened from above the track by heavy rains. The engine and tender and three baggage cars were demolished. The engineer, William Nicholson, of Glenwood, Pa., was so badly crushed and burned that all of his remains to be found were gathered up in a bucket. William H. Reinhart, fireman, of Glenwood, was burned and scalded to death. O. E. Stahl, express messenger, of Baltimore, was badly scalded and sustained severe internal injuries. He will probably die. Fortunately no passengers were killed, although some were bruised. The cars were fired and entirely consumed. About 150 feet of track were torn up.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

NEW YORK.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Storms and floods, prolonged strikes and large exports of gold have done their utmost to give business a vacation. But the weather, instead of increasing depression, has belated and much lessened, and yet greater than those of any other nation, have caused a volume of trade quite large for the season. Prices of commodities are generally lower, but speculation. It is not surprising that farmers retain wheat at present prices where they could not have done so a few weeks ago. Standing large receipts and insignificant exports. Cotton has recovered a shade, though receipts for the week were much smaller. Pork products all declined with heavy receipts, and coffee is also lower. The astonishing cheapness of wheat and cotton will affect the activity of movement in the fall, and will also directly lessen the amount of money required in moving the crops. While the iron industry, especially, and many others to some extent, have been restricted by scarcity of coal and coke, the number of works resuming has been greater than the numbers stopping to other causes. But it is a symptom not to be overlooked that the demand for manufactured products instead of increasing appears for the moment rather smaller than before. The number of failures reported the past week is 183 in Ohio, 125 in Michigan, 102 in Pennsylvania, Canada 28 against 14 last year, and again there are noted scarcely any of importance.

NEW YORK.—Bradstreet's trade review says: The unfavorable conditions prevailing in commercial and industrial circles throughout the country, together with the prospect of material improvement during the summer, marks the present season as probably the dulllest relatively for 25 years. At no time since panic and business depression manifested themselves last year have reports as to the sales of merchandise, the manufacture of staple goods and the industry of merchants generally been so unpropitious except for absolutely immediate wants, but so pronounced and so general throughout the country as during the past few weeks. Superficial examinations of business conditions leading to unwarranted optimistic conclusions as to the nearby future of trade have not been wanting, but, as a matter of fact, based on comprehensive and careful examination, the next few months promise a continuance if not an intensifying of existing conditions of extreme dullness and depression. The total number of industrial employees idle as a result of coal scarcity is placed at 210,000. In other industrial lines 25,000 men are reported idle as a result of strikes, making the total number now idle 235,000. An encouraging industrial feature is the probable settlement of next season's iron and steel wages scale without a strike. The price movement as to staples continues to be slightly from former depressions, while wool, sugar, lard, coffee and live stock all show declines.

Owing to the cut in the naval estimates submitted last year to congress, the department is much embarrassed, and cannot pay the contractors to whom the government owes money.

A strange fire occurred at Ottawa, O., which burned one of the largest henneries in Ohio. It was the property of Mr. W. Reed. The building covered over 900 square feet. Over 2,500 chickens were roasted. Ten incubators filled with hatching eggs were also consumed. The loss will be about $3,000. The burning of the flesh and feathers was a stench, and could scarcely be endured by the firemen.

SMALLPOX has broken out in Detroit. The patient is a colored woman and resides on Hastings-st. The cholera boat, Milton D. Ward, is being prepared for the reception of the patient.

Gov. RICH has appointed H. A. Conant, of Monroe, paymaster of the state navy, with the rank of major. Mr. Conant was consul to Naples in 1880, and served as secretary of state for two terms.

THE Democratic State convention will be held at Grand Rapids, June 28th. Washtenaw will present the name of Frank Howard for the office of State Treasurer. Mr. Howard is a good citizen and an able financier—but this is a Republican year.

EDITOR Rowley, of the Lansing State Journal, declares that the meeting of the Democrat state central committee was characterized by the most shameless usurpation of autocratic power that ever disgraced the annals of the party in this state. Whoop!

ANN Arbor Democrats figure it out about like this.

Campaign calls the state convention early, before the populists call their state convention.

Democratic state convention nominates Pingree.

Populists' state convention indorse Pingree and the fight is on.

The editor and the publisher of the Democrat are women. They have repeatedly said so in its columns. They both are able journalists and women of more than ordinary business ability. They never said so—we say so. Now, here is what we wanted to say when we started out. The Grass Lake News man persists in addressing the editor of the Democrat Mister, which is, as the dictionary informs us, incorrect. We have now had our say. Next!

The heavy frost of Sunday night did a great deal of damage to crops and fruit of all kinds in nearly all parts of the state. Many fields of potatoes, corn and clover are ruined. The berry crop, strawberries, vegetables, etc., potato plants, early corn, celery, asparagus, cabbages, sweet corn, beans, etc., are entirely destroyed in many sections. Old inhabitants say that it was the most severe frost that has visited Michigan in over twenty-five years.

The carrier service of this city is a very poor one. We should have three extra carriers, and if Postmaster Beakes does his duty he will see that three men are appointed. Gorman, who claims to have more influence with the administration and in congress than anybody, might lend his "influence." This city should have at least three more carriers. Let's have them. A Democratic administration is slower than molasses in January, and should get a "move on."

HON. John F. Lawrence is a graduate of both the literary and law departments. He is a man of fine intellectual endowments and would make a valuable member of the Board of Regents. Supporting the people of Ann Arbor start a boom for him. He is too modest to ask for the position so let our citizens do the asking for him. We understand that Col. Dean is also a candidate. If so, and it comes to an Ann Arbor man, we may be sure of an excellent regent.

WHEN a factory or an industry of any kind closes its doors, the Democrats say: the McKinley bill did it. When a factory or an industry of any kind in England closes its doors, the Englishmen say, the McKinley bill is the cause of it all. The London Standard of the 27th inst. says: "Craven & Craven, worsted spinners of Bradford have failed with liabilities amounting to $200,000. The assets are unknown. Several large failures are expected as the trade of the town has been half ruined by the McKinley bill."

WE hear that a large edition of last week's Ypsilanti Sentinel, with its editorial endorsement of Breckinridge's candidacy for Congress, has been ordered for use in the Blue Grass campaign. Such endorsements are rare enough to bring a high price, if the law of supply and demand can have anything to do with it.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

ATTORNEY General Ellis has deposited $5,218.05 with the Ionia bank, which is the amount of additional salary drawn by him since the supposed adoption of the amendment increasing his salary. He has addressed a letter to Auditor General Turner, with a copy of the certificate of deposit and memoranda of agreement, intimating his willingness to have his right to retain the same determined by a jury.

A WORD ON EXPORTS.

The Free-Trader is always telling us that under protection we are not able to sell our goods in foreign markets, but that if we have free-trade we shall be able to sell in every market in the world. During the last twenty years England has been a free-trade country while America has been protected. We can see how the exports of the two countries have increased from the following figures:

Table with 2 columns: Period, Increase of exports over preceding ten years. Rows: 1870-1880, 1880-1890, Average increase.

It thus appears that during these twenty years the average increase of exports has been only 24 per cent. in free-trade England while it was 84.3 per cent. increase in America. This fact is calculated to upset another free-trade theory.

THE Times would suggest that if Washtenaw is to have a candidate that the only way in which he can develop any strength in the congressional convention is to have the solid Washtenaw delegation. Mr. Spaulding will have the solid Monroe delegation and the Wayne delegates. Mr. O'Donnell will in all probability have the solid Jackson delegation and Lenawee will probably be divided. For Washtenaw to go into the convention divided over her own candidates is simply to give up the fight. The Times suggests that the friends of the Washtenaw county men get together and agree to abide by the vote of the convention as a whole and have the delegates instructed to vote solid for some one.—Times.

IN its report of the Prohibition county convention, held in this city on Friday, the Detroit Free Press speaks of the convention as having nominated a Democratic ticket. The Free Press must have come to the conclusion that the Prohibitionists are Democrats from the fact that E. Cora DePuy, the efficient editor of the Democrat, was making a speech before the Michigan Woman's Temperance Union about the time the Prohibitionists were holding their convention. Miss DePuy said that she preached temperance in her paper and expected to conduct it on this line until the Democrats were imbued with prohibition principles. Wonder if there isn't a mistake somewhere? Can Democrats really quit drinking long enough to become prohibitionists? Evidently Miss DePuy thinks so and the Free Press ditto. But, then, this is the age of wonders. Every child can name the seven great wonders of the world. If the Democrats can stop drinking whiskey, not get drunk anymore and become good prohibitionists, then the close of this century will witness the eighth wonder of the world.

I MET Joseph T. Jacobs, of Ann Arbor, walking up Woodward-ave. yesterday, apparently as serene and happy as if he were not an active candidate for Congress, with all the worry that that fact would naturally imply. Jacobs isn't a man to borrow trouble anyhow, but I think his present peace of mind is due to his confidence in the outcome of the fight. Jacobs is a prosperous business man and would be a valuable representative. Some of his opponents urge against him the fact that he cannot make a speech, but I am inclined to the belief that this should not count against him. He could doubtless put up just as good a campaign and look after his district as well as some more forensic fellow and then he might acquire the gift of speech-making just as many public men have done after their entrance into public life. Ex-Congressman Lacey, while not a brilliant orator, is nevertheless one of the most effective speakers that ever stumped this state, yet he had little or no experience until he was sent to Congress.—The Politician in Detroit Tribune.

THE W. C. T. U.

Prominent Temperance Women Gathered in this City.

THURSDAY, MAY 24.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Ella S. Hopkins, of Bear Lake, vice-president of the ninth district. There are about 250 delegates in attendance, but all had not yet reported to Mrs. G. S. Barnes, chairman on credentials, and she was unable to make her report at the opening session today. This delayed the election of officers and a department conference was held, short papers on organization, prevention and education being read by representatives from different sections of the state. This was opened by Mrs. E. R. Greene, of Detroit, who detailed the work of the Loyal Temperance Legion. She was followed on various topics of interest by Mrs. M. S. Van O'Linda, of Holland; Mrs. Lillian Hollister, of Detroit; Mrs. M. M. Weeks, of Laingsburg; Lydia J. Newcomb, Spring Lake; Mrs. Samuel Dickie, of Albion; Mrs. G. S. Barnes, of Bay View; Mrs. Sarah J. LaTour, of Detroit, and Mrs. G. S. Bradley, of Hillsdale, all of whom are department superintendents. These papers showed the development of W. C. T. U. and auxiliary work during the past year.

Mrs. Mary B. Dickie read a paper to the assembly on the question, "Does the Multiplicity of Departments tend to Divide Interests and Carry the W. C. T. U. away from the Objects for which it was Organized?" in which she entered into each branch of the work thoroughly and drew a final conclusion that where some unions might be led away by the multiplicity of work, the general work of the W. C. T. U. was best served by the present methods.

The election this morning was practically unanimous. All the old officers excepting the treasurer, who refused a re-election, were elected and were as follows: Mrs. Mary T. Lathrap, Jackson, president; Mrs. Julia R. Parish, Bay City, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jennie Voorhees, Ann Arbor, treasurer. Mrs. Emma H. May, Clio, was elected delegate-at-large to the national convention to be held in Cleveland in November. The regular officers of the state union and the district presidents are ex-officio delegates, making a total of thirty-four.

At the afternoon session under a general subject, "Our Organization; Why is it and What is it?" the following district presidents read short papers on sub-topics: "Why Did Our Women Organize?" by Mrs. Irene S. Clizbe, of Coldwater; "The Story of Our Organization, Twenty Years Ago," by Mrs. A. J. Sheppard, of Parshallville; "Constitutional Form of Our Organization, Can it be Improved?" by Mrs. C. E. Brown, of Kalamazoo; "What Are the Chief Hindrances to Organic Effectiveness?" by Mrs. T. E. W. Adams, of Chesaning; "Our Auxiliary Organizations—Y's, and L. T. L's," by Miss Catharine Birrell, of Lapeer; "The Proper Relation of the Department to the Organization," by Mrs. Ella S. Hopkins, of Bear Lake.

The evening meeting was a pleasant literary and musical session, in which local musicians furnished some excellent vocal selections and a short address was made.

FRIDAY, MAY 25.

The twentieth annual meeting of the Michigan Woman's Christian Temperance Union ended to-day and has proven one of the largest gatherings the association has ever held. In numbers the delegates present outclassed all previous meetings, there being 238 delegates who registered.

At the morning session the executive board recommended the following list of department superintendents, which was ratified by the convention: Organization—State organizer and secretary for the Y's, Mrs. E. Norine Law, of Baraga; work among foreign speaking people, Mrs. Anna T. Selden, of Steinhilber; work among colored people, Mrs. J. C. Ford, of Grand Rapids; juvenile work, Mrs. Jennie McClurkin, of Fair Grove, L. T. L., and W. C. T. U. organizer and state superintendent; preventive, health and heredity, Dr. E. Hofma, of Grand Rapids; educational, scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. Stella B. Roben, of Big Rapids; higher education, Mrs. Samuel Dickie, of Albion; Sunday school work, Mrs. G. S. Barnes, of Petoskey; the press, Mrs. Sarah J. La Tour, of Detroit; narcotics, Mrs. G. S. Bradley, of Hillsdale; evangelistic, Mrs. Rhoda Smith, of Hillsdale; honorary superintendent, Mrs. L. M. Boise, of Grand Rapids; bible reading, Mrs. B. B. Hudson, of Detroit; prison and police stations, Mrs. Helen M. Wilson, of Ionia; work among railroad employes, Mrs. Charlotte D. Pittee, of Battle Creek; almshouse work, Mrs. R. A. Campbell, of Northport; work among soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Alice M. Phillips, of Grand Rapids; work among lumbermen and millers, Mrs. W. E. Aldrich, of Fenton; purity in literature and art, social purity, Helen M. Thomas, of Albion; Sabbath observance, Mrs. Annie Andrus, of Detroit; social flower mission, H. M. Newman, of Jackson; state and county fairs, Mrs.

Margaret Taylor, of Lapeer; parliamentary usage, Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, of Portland; franchise, Mrs. R. M. Kellogg, of Ionia; legislation and petition, Mrs. J. M. Kinney, of Port Huron; labor and capital, Mrs. S. E. V. Emery, of Lansing; Union Signal reporter, Mrs. C. H. Johnson, of Flint; superintendent of department of mercy, Mrs. Ida E. Roberts, of Shelby.

E. Cora De Puy, editor of the Democrat, made a short speech to the ladies on the necessity of establishing free beds in the University hospital.

Mrs. Julia R. Parrish, editor of the W. C. T. U. organ, spoke on the necessity of giving the paper a better support, and was rewarded by securing about 100 new subscriptions.

Rev. John Bosworth, of Ypsilanti, and Rev. Mr. Fairfield, ex-minister to France, who laid claim to being among the first temperance workers in this country, each made short addresses, after which Mrs. A. S. Benjamin gave a short course of instruction in parliamentary law.

The remainder of the morning session was spent under the general heading "Our Principles: What Are They and How Can They be Applied," in which the following papers were read: "The Normal and Social Basis of Total Abstinence," by Mrs. Jennie Voorhees; "The Moral Quality of Any Form of Regulation," by Mrs. A. S. Benjamin; "What Right Have Women to Demand the Legal Overthrow of the Saloon?" by Mrs. Julia D. Stannard; "If the Saloon is Overthrown, is It the Duty of the Sober Citizen to Provide a Substitute?" by Mrs. P. J. Howard; "What Our Organization Has Done for the Advancement of Women," by Mrs. C. C. Faxon; "Is It Reasonable for Us to Ask That the Church Stand for These Principles With Vote as Well as Resolution?" by Mrs. E. N. Law.

Rev. Bosworth pleased the ladies by prophesying absolute prohibition and a woman president of the United States during the next twenty years.

Mrs. S. E. V. Emery, of Lansing, at the afternoon session, enlightened the sisters on the great financial questions of the day, answering a number of questions sent up by the audience. She was in favor of free silver, and favored increasing the volume of money. Unless the government carries out these two plans this country must deteriorate. She favored government issue of small non-interest bearing bonds. She spoke of the conversion of Republican congressmen to free silver.

On public good roads improvement she took a Coxeite stand, and spoke in favor of "Coxey." She holds the present administration responsible for the present financial trouble.

Mrs. Boise, of Grand Rapids, thought the ladies could better spend their time discussing temperance than trying to figure out great questions which are puzzling the great minds of the nation. The fifth district unions presented a Bible to the state union.

Mrs. Lathrap, in answer to Mrs. Boise, said that a large part of the ladies present want to vote and will go into politics, and launched into an advocacy of woman's suffrage. She was supported by the delegates who applauded her several times.

A novelty was presented in the shape of two young Chinese ladies and two boys of the same nationality. The ladies, in native costume, were Miss Ida Kalm and Miss Mary Stone, both sophomores in the medical department of the University. The young gentlemen were Messrs. Taiyin Cheo and Yung Peng Cheng, who are also being educated here.

The report of the committee on resolutions was about the only exciting feature of the afternoon. Some discussion was brought out on the resolution of the committee relative to woman's suffrage, the committee on resolutions wanting a ballot to suppress the liquor traffic, but the sentiment of the convention was that women wanted to vote for other reasons also.

Resolutions were adopted pledging the influence to the political party that will pledge itself to annihilate the legalized saloon; recommended W. C. T. U. members to co-operate in securing the ballot for women; thanking the press; recommended pushing of work for social purity; use their efforts towards Sunday observance and protest against Sunday excursions on railroads and boats; discountenancing military instruction to the youth.

After a lengthy discussion the committee which provided for the organization taking initiatory steps in getting a prohibitory amendment before the people was knocked out and a substitute adopted which recites that recent developments in political circles in Michigan furnish added proof that the people lost by fraud their prohibitory amendment in 1887 and pledged the union to support a similar movement if started by other parties.

Mrs. Emma E. Bower, editor of the Ann Arbor Democrat and great record keeper of the Michigan L. O. T. M., was introduced, and on behalf of the Ann Arbor hive L. O. T. M. extended to the members and delegates of the W. C. T. U. a hearty greeting. She especially commended the work being carried on by the W. C. T. U., as being along the same line of work pursued by the L. O. T. M.

He will be pleased to have them call again at any time and will try to deserve the warm reception accorded him.

NEW BAKING POWDER TRICKS.

The Way in Which Makers of Adulterated Powders Impose upon the Public—An Easy Means of Detecting the Fraud.

Some of the baking powder companies are operating a cunning trick upon housekeepers in sending canvassers around, trying to impose upon the unwary what is called the foaming test.

A chemical analysis has recently been made of the baking powders in whose interest the fraud is being worked, and is found that a drug has been introduced which makes a froth like the syrup in soda water.

Pure cream of tartar and soda never produce a froth like this; but the trick is well calculated to deceive those who do not know the action of a pure baking powder in producing leavening gas. If any lady is sufficiently interested in the matter to prove the fraud, let her buy at the drug store two ounces of pure cream of tartar and one ounce of soda, mix them thoroughly, and put a portion in a glass and add water—this will reveal the action of a pure baking powder. Any powder that froths or foams differently from what the pure materials do is sure to contain some form of adulteration.

A baking powder manufactured in Chicago, and the one most actively used in humbugging the housekeepers lately, is known to contain albumen introduced for the special purpose of deceiving the eye in these tests. This adulterant has no leavening power whatever; it is a filthy substance, procured from the slaughter houses in Chicago, and is nothing more or less than decomposed blood. It is used simply because it makes a great show of froth—to deceive the housekeeper.

Persons to whom this so-called test is shown will do well to be careful, before using any such power, to ascertain the extent of its adulteration.

Pure cream of tartar never froths in water; its action is to liberate leavening gas in the dough. It is a scientific fact that alum powders, and those composed of blood albumen, are the worst forms of adulterated powder. But these can always be distinguished by the froth they give off, instead of that natural effervescence which takes place with a cream of tartar baking powder.

No Takers. "I am informed that Buffalo Jim Gorman has been offering the Indian commission, now being held by Mr. J. T. Jacobs, to a number of Democrats of this city, but none of the faithful seem to care for the job," said a Democrat to THE REGISTER a few days ago. Of course he will succeed in finding somebody after a while to take it, in fact he already has somebody—it is the postoffice fight over again. He is offering the Indian commission to parties who he knows would not accept it. But everybody is on. The Buffalo racket may work in dealing out post-offices, but it will not work in the Indian commission business—there isn't enough in it. Buffalo Jim has a long head, as big as a buffalo's, and its swelling all the while."

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Christopher Goodwin, an Ypsilanti pioneer, died Thursday at University hospital after a lingering sickness of dropsy. He was born October 7, 1814, at St. Albans, Vt., and has, with the exception of a short residence in California in 1849 and a two years' residence in Brooklyn, since made his home at Ypsilanti. A scheme, broached sometime ago, has fruited at the Ann Arbor M. E. church, which now has a baby asylum where infants are checked by the mothers and left in the care of a nurse, competent to know just what the youngster requires during the maternal absence and how to minister to it. The check enables the mother to get back the same baby she left. Fraud is thus impossible and everything "on the square."—Adrian Press.

June 12th Miss Emma E. Bower will deliver an address at a basket picnic to be held by the Knights of the Macca-bees of Michigan and Northern Indiana at Cassopolis. Miss Bower is a brilliant writer and is gaining a wide reputation as an able speaker. The lady is well educated, is a graduate of the U. of M., has her own ideas about things and can express them. Judging from the number of invitations she receives to make speeches, people like her ideas.

E. A. Matteson, the popular outfitter, of the firm of Bowdish and Matteson, is the announcement goes, is engaged to Miss Marie Gilbert. Miss Gilbert's home is at Hamilton, Ohio. She has been in Ann Arbor since January taking a special course in elocution under Prof. Trueblood. Miss Gilbert has made many warm friends during her stay here, besides acquiring a life interest in one of our most successful and highly esteemed young business men. THE REGISTER desires thus in advance to congratulate the young people and predicts a happy future for them.

These stories are told by a former Ann Arbor student: "One day the professor called Crosscut down, for being out of his seat during a recitation. 'I am not out of my seat according to law,' said the law student. By what system of law are you out of your seat?" "By that natural law which says no two bodies can occupy the same place at the same time. Some one is in my seat." That corked the professor. One day Prof. Blank was hearing a recitation when a dog entered the room, ran up on the rostrum and began to bark. Some of the students imitated the dog to the professor's annoyance. Finally Mr. Blank said with his cutting brevity, 'Hold on, gentlemen, one at a time!'—Fowlerville Observer.

A Practical Joke.

Two traveling men decided to have a little fun with a fellow knight of the grip on Monday.

The trio walked to the corner of Main and Huron-sts. in the morning. One of the jokers said to the victim, "Say Jim, I'll bet you can't ride this bicycle from here to the postoffice."

"How much is the bet?" inquired the victim.

"Four dollars."

"I'll take the bet."

The victim mounted the wheel.

"Better take the walk."

"All right."

He took the walk but before he reached the postoffice, Marshall Banfield stopped him and took him before Justice Pond for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk, which is against the city law.

The astonished drummer "tumbled" and paid a fine of $2.10, and the jokers let him off with the payment of $1.90, saying the fun was worth the amount of the fine and more too.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

The Dear Creature is Already Pretty Well Provided For.

It is not quite easy to explain the vitality at the present hour of certain old questions affecting what are called the rights of women. Men have been patiently and, on the whole, conscientiously trying to give due recognition of these rights for the last quarter of a century. Women, married or single, can do in these days with their property very much what they please. The husband has ceased to have any legal control over his wife's earnings, and in testamentary disposition a woman is rather more free than a man to do what she likes with her own. The learned professions are opened to women, and the universities have at least furnished them with "annexes" and admitted them to competition for degrees. They can give their minds to the study of Greek or the making of puddings; they can become journalists or take to fencing with the small sword; they can sit on school boards or bet on the horse races, and nobody has either protest or comment to offer on the emancipation of the sex.

But it seems that all this is not enough, or rather, that it has merely created an appetite for more. Feminine familiarity with occupations hitherto pursued by men appears to have developed a certain contempt for the male intelligence. Man, it seems, is a sad bungler whom women "have allowed to arrange the whole social system and manage or mismanage it all these ages without ever seriously examining his work with a view to considering whether his abilities and his methods were sufficiently good to qualify him for the task." But now that she has begun the long-deferred process of examination and judgment, man is found wanting and must take a back seat.—Boston Herald.

Found the Bonds.

At the time of the death of Mrs. Eliza Marsh, two or three years ago, there was considerable search for government bonds which her friends had reason to believe were secreted in her house. The aged woman made many efforts to communicate something that troubled her, and seemed to be trying to indicate where something should be found, but was unable to make herself understood; and all search was unavailing. She deeded the property to her nephew Mr. Houghton, of Cleveland, who was here at the time of her death, and whose mother had cared for her during her illness.

Mr. Houghton lately sold the place, 204 Cross-st. east, for $1000, to O. E. Thompson, who is repairing the interior of the house. In the process of the work, tearing the paper from the north wall of a living room, disclosed a secret compartment, formed by an old-fashioned clock case set in the wall and concealed by the paper. Within that were papers, said to be U. S. bonds, but Mr. Ben Thompson, who was present, superintending the work, and Chas. Hubbard who tore off the paper, decline now to state what was found. To the properly authorized parties they will of course disclose the contents of the secret cranny which they found, and until then the very natural public curiosity will have to wait.—Ypsilanti Commercial.

Two Policemen Sufficient.

"I cannot for the life of me see," said a citizen to THE REGISTER yesterday, "the necessity of having two extra patrolmen added to the police force. When Beakes was mayor the police force of the city consisted of two men, the marshal and a patrolman. Two men can do the work just as well as five, six or more. Under the Douglas administration the police numbered eight men and there was more devilry going on then than there was when we had but two men on the force. Times are hard and expenses should be kept down—yes, cut down. Supposing you agitate this matter a little in THE REGISTER."

Huge Treasury Deficit.

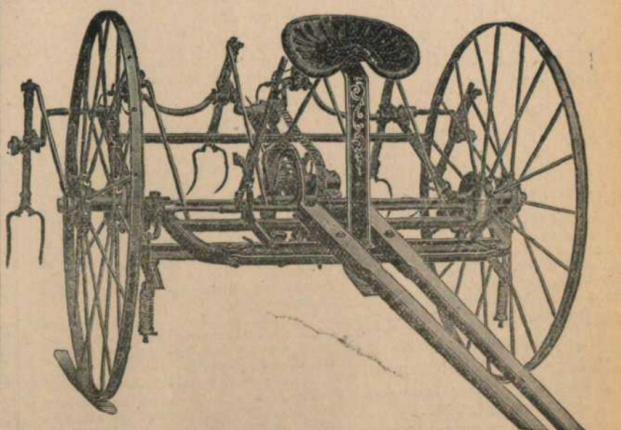

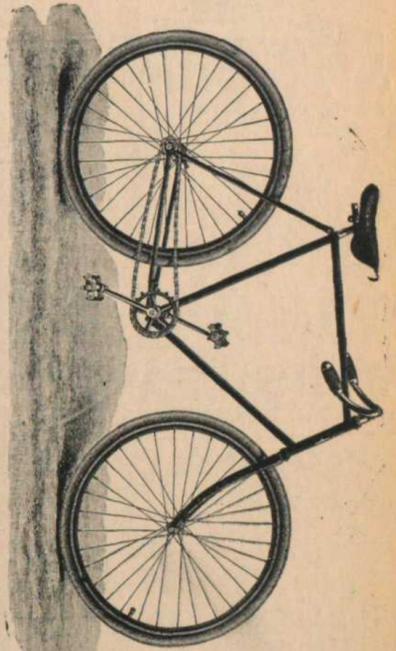

Washington: The present depleted condition of the treasury and the discouraging outlook for the future are a source of considerable anxiety to the officials of the treasury department. Already the gold reserve, which had been brought up by the last bond issue to $107,390,842, has been reduced by exportations since March 10 to less than $80,000,000, with no indications that the foreign demand will cease until it has reached a much lower point. With the exception of the gold reserve, and counting every available dollar in the vaults in the treasury, the government has less than $80,000,000 with which to meet its obligations. Nor does the future show any signs of encouragement. On the contrary, the probable deficit of $8,000,000 for the month of May is likely to be increased by $15,000,000 during the two succeeding months. The closest calculation that can now be made shows that the deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30 will be approximately $74,500,000.

On Saturday, May 26th, John Rane, 84 years of age, who has lived here since 1841, departed to that bourne from whence no traveller returneth. Mr. Rane on Saturday decided to visit his daughter at Hamburg and as he was delighted in walking around for his health insisted on walking up the T. & A. A. R. R. track against the wishes of his son Charles, who wanted to drive him over. He got as far as the Hamburg yards and saw a T. & A. A. train coming and he stepped over on the M. A. L. R. track, where a switch engine was at work and he being somewhat deaf did not hear the engine as it bore down on him knocking him down and cutting his body in two at the pit of the stomach, also cutting off his right arm. He was buried on Monday from his son's residence in Green Oak, along side of his wives, of which he has had two. Deceased was born July 15th, 1810, in New York State, his mother dying when he was two years old. He was brought up to the age of 20 by his uncle when he married and moved to this place where he purchased a 100 acre farm of heavy timbered land, which he with indomitable energy chopped, logged and cleared up into a beautiful and valuable farm. Later on he added 40 acres more to it, which made him a farm of 200 acres which he owned at his death along with his village property here. In all his dealings he was noted for his honesty and integrity and was identified with Whitmore Lake in all its different stages from the howling wilderness of 52 years ago until the magnificent and noted summer resort of the present. His remains were followed to their last resting place by a very large concourse of friends. The funeral corlage being over a mile long. Deceased leaves three children by his first and six by second wife, two of whom live here. Charles, with whom we were here, and Wm. B., who is in the mercantile business.

REIGN OF TERROR.

Cripple Creek Mine Strikers Explode a Load of Giant Powder—11 Killed.

Eleven men killed, with a strong probability that the number of dead will be increased when all is known, is the record of the first day of trouble in the gold mines at Cripple Creek, Col., where a strike for better wages is on, although real fighting had not yet begun, as the deputies were awaiting reinforcements before beginning active operations. Eleven started to work in the Strong mine, on Battle Mountain. Shortly afterwards a large party of strikers blew up the shaft house with powder, causing a loss of $25,000, and then dropped 100 pounds of giant powder down the shaft, which was also exploded, killing all the inmates. Sixteen men who had been engaged to work in the Independence mine were surrounded and forced to surrender. They were all heavily armed and strikers took possession of their weapons.

When the full force of deputies are finally massed and the two forces come together a most desperate battle will doubtless be fought.

Later News From Cripple Creek.

The natural outcome of the strained relations between the strikers and deputies occurred; a fight was inevitable and the inevitable happened. The trouble was precipitated in an endeavor on the part of the deputies to make a night march and gain possession of the city of Victor with the intention of using it as a base of operations in future attacks on the miners. They were watched by the miners and when a favorable point had been reached the latter met the deputies with a full force. The fight commenced at 3:30 a. m. and lasted over an hour. Winchester and heavy revolvers were used mostly, but owing to darkness much of the firing was wild. Both forces finally retired and the inventory showed that two deputies and four miners had been killed and five miners and six deputies had been captured by the respective opposing forces.

It is now positively known that no lives were lost by the blowing up of the Strong shafthouse. Samuel McDonald, superintendent; Charles Robinson, foreman, and Jack Vaughn, a workman, were in the second level of the mine at the time of the explosion and remained there in safety until the next day, when they were brought out by union miners, taken under guard to Bull Hill and released on parole.

Every known newspaper representative has been ordered away from Battle Mountain and Bull Hill and told not to return again at the peril of their lives. The order has gone forth that not a line of information shall go out if it can possibly be prevented.

Gov. Waite issued a proclamation calling upon all armed bodies in the disturbed district to lay down their arms and disperse. He also prepared to call out the state troops to enforce the order. A few hours later he recalled the order, giving as his reason that there was a fair chance for arbitration.

A great strain has been lifted from the community by a plan of arbitration of the troubles in the mines, and it looks now as though all hostilities were at an end; at any rate they have been temporarily suspended. A delegation from Colorado Springs, consisting of Dr. Slocum, president of Colorado college; Mr. C. G. Collais, president of the Trades assembly; Mr. L. W. Bates, president, and Charles Geisler, secretary of the Carpenters' union; Mr. T. D. Hogan, and Rev. E. Evans Carrington, all of Colorado Springs, went to Cripple Creek, with the hope that something might be done to settle the controversy.

The principle of arbitration is one of the fundamental ideas of the union and it is now believed that an understanding can be reached. Prisoners are to be exchanged and it is most earnestly hoped that this unfortunate affair will be speedily settled and a new era of good feeling and prosperity brought to the camp. If the miners accept the proposition they will appoint two men, the mine owners two men and the four select a fifth. In advance, it has been stated that eight hours shall constitute a day's work and all that will have to be arbitrated is what shall be received therefor.

THE BLUE RIBBON RACES.

PROGRAMME FOR THE GREAT JULY MEETING AT DETROIT.

It should be the Grandest Conclave of Trotters and Pacers in the Annals of the Turf.

With the finest equipped race course in America, and a splendid list of entries for the special events which closed during the early spring, the prospects for the annual Blue Ribbon meeting of the Detroit Turf Club, never was the outlook so cheerful as it is this year, and with everything new and attractive the club believes the enviable record of past triumphs will have its greatest addition in this year's meeting.

The arranging of a programme for so important a meeting is a matter which occupies much more time than the average spectator imagines as he watches the sleek-limbed trotters rush down the broad stretch. Records are gone over, successful programs of 1893 reviewed and at last the program was ready for the conclave which begins July 19. A feature of the presents itself on the first reading is the fact that there are to be six days of racing this year instead of five, and for the 15 events the enormous sum of $70,000 is offered, probably the greatest amount in substantial purses ever given by an association. The five purses and stakes which have already closed have 141 entries and this time the club has made a departure in its set purses. In the first place $2,000, a free-for-all, is offered, and this time there are pacers for 212 trotters and also for pacers of the same class. This is to give a chance to horses whose owners do not feel like entering them in company where the Directors, Alicks, Fantases or the Mascots, Flying Jaws and Hal Pacers are eligible.

Sheriff's Sale.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias, issued out of the Circuit Court for the county of Washtenaw, in favor of Charles F. Kayser, against the goods and chattels and real estate of Adolph Hoffstetter, in said county to me directed and delivered, I did, on the 23d day of April 1894 levy upon and take all the right title and interest of the said Adolph Hoffstetter in and to the following described real estate, that is to say:

THE HOLY OFFICE.

A Religious Body Composed of Many Celebrated Roman Theologians. There are two different tribunals at Rome to which is intrusted the judgment of books, pamphlets, articles, and other writings referred to them as liable to a charge of endangering faith and morals.

It is not my business to defend it in my present paper. I would only remind the reader that it is most unfair to impute to the Roman inquisition the cruelty and injustice of the Spanish tribunal, against which the popes again and again protested.

Alone of all the Roman courts it has for its official president the pope himself, although in reality fact his multitudinous duties rarely permit his presence at its meetings.

Very often the disease is of irregular recurrence. Maybe the trouble only comes once or twice a year. Even so, it unfits a man for business while it lasts.

The discovery of Pyramid Pile Cure has made suffering unnecessary, even foolish. By its use relief is instantaneous.

How A Nevada Cowboy Propitiated a Lady.

"On my overland trip to San Francisco I was treated to the exhibition of a rough ranchman put very much on his good behavior," writes a New York lady visiting California. "We had got out at one of the stations in Nevada for dinner. I have forgotten the name of the place, if ever I noted it, but if it wasn't Poverty Flat it was misnamed. Not feeling hungry I leaned back in my chair, idly looking at the sandhills through the open window opposite, unmindful of the knives and plates around me. A rough voice at my very ear startled me from my dream.

"Here, why the hell don't you pass me the butter?"

"It came from the nearer one of two stalwart, sunburned men, who seemed to be ranchmen or miners. They sat beside me in dusty, high-top boots and rough peajackets, with their broad brimmed hats on, and were eating as if they had long arrears to make up in the way of square meals.

"Imagine my astonishment at such a summons, which I have no doubt was addressed to me. But I was too much intimidated to be indignant, but hastily handed him not only the butter, but everything within my reach. At this he looked around at me for the first time, and his look of amazement showed that he was worse taken back than I had been. He did not thank me, but took his hat off and put it under his chair, and nudging his companion, said in an awestricken stage whisper:

"Say, Jim, take your hat off; she's a lady."

"Then, evidently wishing to make further amends for his discourtesy, he again turned to me:

"Say, marm, hev yer ever seen a live wild cat? 'Cause of yer ain't, I've got one outside here. I caught myself, an' I'll take ye out after we get through eatin' an' show it ter ye."

"I thanked him, and said I would be very glad to see it, as I had never seen one. After dinner, having still ten minutes to spare, we went to see the wild cat. It was in a rough wooden box with wooden bars, crouching as far back as it could get, with its eyes steaming like coals of fire.

When one of the fellows offered it a piece of meat on the end of a stick, it made a spring that seemed as if it would break through the bars; but the stick had a sharp point that made it beat a hasty retreat, though not before it had secured the meat, over which it snarled viciously. Its owner told me he had brought it to the station to send to a friend who kept a 'club house,' whatever that is, in Carson City. I asked him to tell us how he caught it, but before he could answer the conductor called out, 'All aboard.' As the train got under way I looked back and saw my two friends lying across the country on their mustangs."

Make the Horses Lie Down.

There are some horses that have never been seen to lie down. Some horses that continue to work for years always sleep standing, but their rest is not complete and their joints and sinews stiffen. Young horses from the country are liable to refuse to lie down when first placed in a stable in town, and the habit may become confirmed unless special pains are taken to prevent it. Sick horses are very apt to refuse to lie down. They seem to have an instinctive fear that if they lie down they will never be able to get on their feet again.

Too Much Wagner.

The holders of season tickets at the Milan opera house raised a tremendous row because there was so much Wagner. At the twentieth performance of "Walkyrie" they prevented the orchestra from playing, drove the musical director from the hall, threatened to break up the stage and organized a resistance amid the most terrible hubbub. They drove the police from the theater. At last the place was closed.

AFTER THE NEXT SEA FIGHT.

The Victor liable to be embarrassed in Disposing of His Prize.

When one battleship captures another in midocean in the next naval war, what is she to do with her prize, asks the Philadelphia Times. In the old days of wooden walls there was no difficulty in the practice. If the captured ship could float a prize crew was put aboard and all practicable sail was made for the nearest friendly port, while the victor continued on her cruise; or if both ships were badly injured, both put into harbor. But nowadays the position of a prize crew would be far from commanding. The captured vessel could not be managed by her captors—she would have to remain in charge of her own engineers and her own firemen, and the victors, instead of sailing the ship, while the prisoners remained under hatches, would be reduced to the status of a police. And thus would the opportunity for a recapture be greatly increased. For, while in the old days the entire captured crew were disarmed and imprisoned, the non-combatants of a captured battleship would have to be given their liberty, practically speaking, and much might be accomplished by a couple of second engineers with their wits about them. For instance, would it be so difficult to superinduce a slight explosion in the port engine and under cover of the confusion to liberate the prisoners? Again, the armament of a modern battleship would complicate affairs. Relatively to the power of a machine gun the prize crew would be greatly disproportionate in strength, since the chances for the prisoners to obtain control of one of these engines would be increased by the freedom of their noncombatants. Altogether the number of men required for police duty on a captive battleship would be very large, and a victorious ship would have to reduce the efficiency of her own gun crews to an unpleasant extent. It would probably be found necessary in almost every case for the captor to stand by and accompany her prize home across the Atlantic or the Pacific, as the case might be. And this would be a double incentive to the conquered to effect a swift and noiseless recapture of their own ship, for if they did so one unexpected torpedo or discharge of a 12-inch gun, carefully aimed, might very easily turn the fortune of war entirely in their favor. In other words, and not to define too closely upon the possibilities of the case, the capture of a battleship in an ocean duel in the next naval war will by no means ease the mind of the successful commander. He will have a leviathan on his hands that it will tax all his energy and cleverness to bring safely into port, and there may be moments when he will be tempted to look up every mother's son of her engineers and firemen in the military tops and run her home under jury sails.

Too Much Diluted. Never was there a greater enthusiast over his own countrymen than Sir David Wilkie, the celebrated Scotch artist. One amusing story connected with this trait of his character was told by Henry Thomson. "Thomson! Ye maun be a Scotch Thomson, I'll warrant," said Sir David, as they sat together for the first time at an academy dinner. "I am of that ilk," was the reply; "my father was a Scotchman." "Was he, really?" exclaimed Wilkie, grasping the other's hand warmly. "And my mother was Irish." "Aye, aye, was she, really?" and the hand relaxed its grasp a trifle. "And I was born in England." Upon that, Wilkie dropped his new friend's hand, and almost turned his back upon him. His disappointment was so evident that Thomson actually felt regret instead of indignation at this treatment, and later on endeavored to counteract the effect of his unfortunate nationality. But from that day Wilkie had no further desire to talk to him, and showed it plainly.—Argonaut.

An Erroneous Impression. Elopement—We can go no further! Your father will overtake us in a moment—but do not fear; I will face him—he shall never separate us! Her Father—I just came after you to bring a few things that Melinda forgot to take—and when you get settled her mother and I would like to come and spend the fall and winter with you.—Puck.

A Boarding-House Salut. Landlady—Poor Mr. Lightweight died last week, and if anyone ever deserved to go to heaven he did. Mr. Heavygaul, who is slightly in arrears—Why? Landlady, weeping—He always paid his board in advance, never complained if his bed wasn't made up, and, oh, such a delicate appetite as that poor saint had!—Harper's Bazar.

A Popular Amendment. In the gardens of a certain nobleman's country house there were fixed at different spots painted boards with this request: "Please do not pick the flowers without leave." Some wag got a paint brush and added "s" to the last word.—London Tit-Bits.

Unique Art. Mrs. Earle—Your daughter has been studying painting, has she not? Mrs. Lamoy—Yes; you should see some of the sunsets she paints. There never was anything like them.

Tax on Beards. Nearly every workingman in Italy wears a beard on account of the cost of shaving. Now it is proposed to aid the barbers by putting a tax on beards.

ABOUT PUTTY.

How It is Made and its Many Tints and Uses.

Pure putty is made of whiting and linseed oil. Whiting is made from chalk which is imported from England and ground in this country. Barytes, mixed with the whiting, is used as an adulterant of putty, and cottonseed oil is mixed with the linseed oil. Cottonseed oil is cheaper, and a slower dryer than linseed; its use is advantageous to small customers, for putty mixed with part cottonseed oil keeps longer.

Linseed oil putty is used more by decorators and painters and other large consumers who use up putty quickly. Putty sells at wholesale from one and a half to two cents a pound. It is put up for the trade in barrels of 800 pounds, kegs of 300 pounds, tubs of 100 to 110 pounds, in cans of one to 100 pounds, and in bladders; it keeps best in bladders, and the bulk of the putty goes in that form. Putty made in the eastern cities of the United States is sold on the Atlantic seaboard and in the South, but not much Eastern putty is sold in the West, for there are putty manufacturers in the Northern and Western cities.

We export putty to Canada, Mexico, the West Indies, South America and the Sandwich Islands, says the New York Sun. Manufacturers make colored putties to order, and white, brown and black putties are kept in stock. Putty has a variety of uses besides those already mentioned and the very familiar one is setting glass. Brown putty is used to point brown stone buildings and putty is sometimes used in pointing up brick buildings. Black putty is used in stove foundries. Plumbers use putty and put it on canvas to paint over. There are three or four putty manufacturers in New York and more in Brooklyn. A single firm of manufacturers in this city has sold more than 17,000 tons in a year. These seem like large figures, but they are less surprising from the fact that there are few articles of more common use.

House Proceedings. Mrs. Jones—John, I— Mr. Jones—I object. "Object to what, you fool?" "The deductions are not germane." "But you haven't heard what I was going"— "Object! Object!" (Goes on reading)

"John, this is important!" "Regular order r-r!" "What in the world is the matter with you?" "Previous question! Wow-w!" "Mr. Jones, can I speak with you, or are you a regular, driving idiot?" "Let the words be taken down. I demand that the words be taken down!" "Mr. Jones"— "Bject! Bject prev's ques'n! Wow-o! Waugh Yee-ooop! Owoof! Mr. Speaker, move 'ajourn! Wa-a-gh! Whoop!"

John slammed down his paper and fled. His good wife glanced at it and found the cause of his unusual interest. LIII Congress—house proceedings.

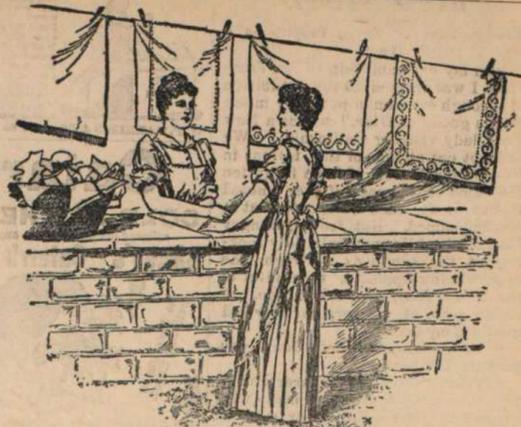

Agreed to Dig Each Others Graves. The recent death of Jack Odell, the oldest grave digger in Passaic county, New Jersey, brought to light an agreement entered into fifty years ago, when Undertaker Hiram Gould interred the first body in the Sandy Hill cemetery. Odell, who was then the only grave digger in the neighborhood, agreed with Mr. Gould to dig his grave and drive his hearse if the undertaker should die first. Mr. Gould made the same agreement with Odell, and also said he would pay the funeral expenses if Odell died poor. Odell visited Gould's establishment about a year ago and said he had saved enough to pay for his funeral, and turned the money over to the undertaker. Odell died a few days ago. Mr. Gould, who is nearly 80 years old, dug the grave digger's grave and drove the hearse to the cemetery.—New York Press.

A Life-Saving Castle. Bamborough castle, Northumberland, England, which has been purchased by Lord Armstrong from the trustees of the late Lord Crew, dates from the year 547. To sailors on that portion of the perilous northern coast it is what the convent of St. Bernard is to the traveler in the Alps. A constant watch is kept in the top of the ancient tower, whence signals are made to the fishermen of Holy Island as soon as any vessel is discovered to be in distress. By these and other means many lives are saved, and an asylum is offered to shipwrecked persons in the castle for a week or longer.

Of Course. Year after year, and all the time, the criminal reports of the city are vastly more favorable to women than to men. The law-breakers of the female sex are but few here, in comparison with those of the other sex. After examining the police returns for the first quarter of this year, and comparing them with the returns of various terms of other years, we are able to say that there is statistical proof that the moralization of women is far superior to that of men.—New York Sun.

Boarding House Item. Visiting Friend—So you married a total stranger from Boston. I always expected you would marry the star boarder. He is such a nice, quiet gentleman. Mrs. Hashly—That's the reason I didn't marry him. I don't want to lose that kind of a boarder. They are too scarce.—Texas Siftings.
