REV. MR. SHIER

SAYS THE UNIVERSITY DOESN'T TURN OUT CHRISTIANS.

Schooling Here Tends to Infidelity and Loose Morals-Liquor, Billiards, Poker and Dancing Are Popular With Students.

[From the Detroit Journal.]

Rev. Henry F. Shier, of Whitmore Lake, was a guest of the Methodist Ministerial association at the regular meeting this morning, and by request read a paper prepared by himself as a result of his own observations at the University of Michigan. The paper created a stir among the ministers present, and resulted in a long and animated discussion.

"Although I am a university man," said Rev. Mr. Shier, "I am of the opinion that denominational institutions are superior to state institutions. The general religious trend of our own university is decidedly liberal toward universalism. The great mass of student Christians at the University of Michigan are to be found in the Students' Christian Association and while ten years ago a student must be a member of some church to be admitted to the association, today even a Universalist or Unitarian can be admitted, and are allowed to lecture in the halls of the association, and their doctrines are eagerly seized upon by the students. The leading men of the institution are men of unsound theology, some of them not even knowing where they do stand on the religious question. Even in the Students' Christian Association there are many dangerous doctrines advanced and accepted."

The speaker cited four instances of students who entered the university in the class four years ago, and who, he said, were ruined in their religious views by the liberal ideas advanced and taught them while there.

"So far as I am able to ascertain the same condition of affairs is in existence at the other state institutions. Contrast the conditions surrounding the student at our denominational colleges. Here the leaders are Christian men filled with Christian zeal and courage. Christians not only in theory, but in practice. A majority of the leaders at the University of Michigan are avowed infidels, skeptics or agnostics, and the Christian members have only a passive interest in Christian work. The sentiment at all of our universities is in favor of dancing and card playing and theater-going, while at our church schools all this is forbidden.

"At our church schools little or no liquor is used, and such a thing as drunkenness on the part of a student in such a school is unknown, while at the University of Michigan the drink habit has an extensive hold, and drunkenness is common. Billiards is another popular amusement of the university student, and poker is indulged in by a large class. In the church school this is almost unknown, and even the use of tobacco is limited. At the church school we figure that two-thirds of the students are active Christian workers, while at the University of Michigan the week, was a pleasing novelty in the only about three-eights of the students are even professed Christians.

"At the University of Michigan the Christian youth is held back by the habits and practices of society, and a child with intellect thoroughly deyet having a personal knowledge of the Father; a child whose religious who is prepared for the future, and with a pure life before him? It would seem that the intelligent man would say, 'Give me my son's salvation.' "

Senator Harris Confident the Measure Can Be Disposed of by That Time-Anti-Option Bill to Be Pressed in the WASHINGTON, June 19 -Senator Harris said when the senate adjourned on Saturday that the tariff bill would pass the senate by next Saturday, and when Senator Aldrich, the leader of the opposition to the bill, was asked what he thought of Mr. Harris' prediction he expressed the opinion if it should not be entirely realized it would come near it. "I think," he said, "that by next Saturday night we shall be on the fag end of the bill." Both declined to state whether there had been any negotiations for an agreement as to the time for the final wote between the leaders on the respective sides of the chamber. It is known, however, the situation has been canvassed more or less in the numerous conferences which have taken place between Senators Coekrell, Harris, and Jones on the democratic side, and Senators Aldrich and Allison on the republican. It is also known that they have not agreed on a time, because of the difficulty on the part of the republicans of determining what time might be required for speeches by senators on that side. They have, however, canvassed the question sufficiently to feel assured there will be comparatively few more long speeches.

There are, however, some republican senators who do not exactly agree with the joint prediction of Senators Harris and Aldrich, and who say that while they do not consider the time for the final passage of the bill is far distant they think considerable time will be required for consideration of the income tax and for the votes on various features of the bill, as well as probably some speeches when the bill shall be reported from the committee of the whole. When it is considered it is probable the income tax can be disposed of in less than two or three days at the outside. There is also a probability that Senator Lodge's amendment for retaliation upon England will be revived by the silver republicans, which would have effect of at least briefly reopening the silver question in connection with the tariff.

The only tariff schedules which have not been disposed of are: Silks, which are now under consideration, papers, and sundries. These, with the free list, the income tax and the administrative features of the bill complete the measure. The wool question will be revived when the free wool item shall be reached in the free list, and while the contest will not be so prolonged as it was when the subject was taken up on the wool schedule it promises to be quite animated for a

It still seems strongly probable the administrative part of the bill will be withdrawn and the present administrative law allowed to stand. Sena-tor Jones said that he favored this course for the purpose of expediting the passage of the bill, and his judgment will most likely be allowed by his democratic colleagues to control

MEASURES BEFORE THE HOUSE.

Anti-Option and Deficiency Bills Are

Struggling for Precedence. Washington, June 19.—The anti-option bill will be pressed to the front in the house of representatives and Mr. Hatch, its author, is confident that he can secure consideration for the measure to-day and a vote on it about Wednesday. He will yield today for several minor measures which may be brought up under suspension of the rules, but will insist that antioption is to be the first discussion of any length. The deficiency appropriation bill, which is the last of the appropriation bills, will be reported from the committee to-day. Unusual interest attaches to the deficiency bill, owing to the position of Representative Breckinridge of Kentucky as chairman of the deficiency subcommittee. He has been present at the meetings of the committee during the last week and has evinced an interest in the bill and a desire to take charge of it. A leading member of the committee said there would certainly be no clash on this personal aspect of the bill, but he added that no definite conclusion had been reached as to who would have charge of the measure. The New Mexico statehood bill and the Cooper bill to tax greenbacks are also struggling for an early meeting

A second party descended into the mine and bravely entered the galleries. They found all the first rescue party dead except Kohout. The rescuers continued their explorations, and, although they were badly burned, recovered some bodies, most of which were unrecognizable.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

SENATE.—150th day.—No progress was made with the tariff bill. Mr. Quay, of Pennsylvania, gave another four-hour installment of the speech which he began somewhere away back in the dim and distant past. Others whe made speeches were Messrs. Pettigrew, of North Dakota: Powers, of Mortana, and Peffer. of Kansas. House—Two hours were consumed over a bill reported by Mr. Outhwaite setting aside $100.000 from the fund belonging to the estate of deceased colored solders of the civil war for the purpose of erecting in the District of Columbia a national home for aged and infirm colored people. The bill was passed. The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up, but the House adjourned without completing its consideration.

Senate.—151st day—A resolution offered by Mr. Morgan was passed, calling on the secretary of the treasury for information. First, what amount of gold coin has been received by the treasury department since Nov. 1, 1893; second, how much was received from the sale of bonds, and to what persons or banking institutions such bonds were sold; third, what outstanding obligations have been redeemed in gold since that date. Mr. Hoar offered a resolution calling on the President to inform the Senate what, if any, representations, written or oral, have been made to the government of the United States by the representatives of any foreign countries as to any contemplated retallation on account of the proposed imposition of a discriminating duty on sugar against bounty-giving countries; also, the facts as to the probable exclusion of our agricultural products from Germany or Guatemala, and also any information in his possession relative to any proposed retaliatory legislation by the cortez of Spain on account of the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty under the tariff act of 1890. There was no objection, and the resolution was adopted. There were several warm speeches against the free wool schedule by Messrs. Sherman, of Ohio: Dubois, of Idaho; Stewart, of Nevada; Hansbrough. North Dakota: Shoup, of Idaho; Mitchell, of Oregon, and Frye, of Maine. Mr. Quay gave the eighth installment of his serial speech. Mr. Harris tried unsuccessfully to obtain unanimous consent to consider the wool schedule under the sive-minute rule. House.—The Indian appropriation bill in committee of the whole, and but little progress made. A slight diversion was caused by Mr. Linton (Rep., Mich.,) who replied to the charges against him connecting him with the A. P. A., contained in Mr. Weadock's speech a few days ago. He denied all the allegations made and asserted that they were utterly untrue. He declared that they were SENATE.—151st day—A resolution offered by Mr. Morgan was passed, calling on the secre-

SENATE.—154th day.—The fight over the woolen schedule was ended and that schedule as well as the schedule on "silk and stik goods," was disposed of in quick time. The Republicans had been lighting for certain modifications of the woolen schedule and were partly successful. They succeeded in having the rates on woolen and worsted yarns valued at over 40 cents per pound increased from 35 to 40 per cent ad valorem and the dividing line on women's and children's dress goods decreased from 30 to 50 cents, a duty of 40 per cent being imposed on goods valued at less than 50 cents per pound, and 50 per cent when of greater value. The other modifications of the schedule were such as had been proposed by the finance committee or by the Jones compromise amendments. On ready-made clothing the rate was nixed at 45 per cent ad valorem (the present duty being 80 per cent.). Mr. Aldrich and other New England Republicans protested that these rates in the woolen schedule were entirely inadequate and gave notice of their intention to continue the struggle for higher rates when the bill was reported to the senate. The next schedule is "pulp, paper and books." HOUSE—The Indian appropriation bill was passed by the House substantially as it was reported from the committee. A determined effort was made to kill the bill by a motion to recommit, with instructions to strike out the provision for a contract school and to provide for the erection of government Indian schools, but it was unsuccessful.

Senate.—155th day.—A few private and minor bills were disposed of before the tarif SENATE.-154th day.-The fight over the SENATE.—155th day.—A few private and minor bills were disposed of before the tariff bill was taken up. "Pulp. papers and books" was the schedule, and Mr. Frye promptly made a fight for the retention of the specific duty on wood pulp. The production of wood pulp, said Mr. Frye, was an enormous industry employing 70,000 men. turning out a product valued at $55,000.000 annually and paying an annual wage of $23,000.000. Under the operation of the present duty the cost of paper had greatly decreased. Wood pulp had decreased in price from $45, cents per pound to $14, cents in the last ten years. It was produced in $25 states, but principally in Maine and New York. The "compromise" amendments went, however, and then the "sundries" schedule was pushed through and the Senate came up against "coal." Here the opposition made itself seen, heard and telt. The House bill placed coal on the free list. The finance committee amendment placed a duty of $40 cents per ton on bituminous coal and shale. Is cents on slack and culm and Is per cent ad valorem on coke. Senator Hill: of New York, was recognized, and he sent to the clerk's desk an amendment to relegate bituminous coal and shale to the free list. He supported his amendment with a speech. He wanted to call the attention of his Democratic colleagues to the fact that the country expected a Democratic congress in any tariff reform measure to place coal on the free list. It had been demanded by the Democratic platform and by every Democratic Senator who had spoken during the campaign of 1892. If there was anything to which the party was pledged it was free raw materials, and if there was any raw material it was coal. Mr. Peffer followed Mr. Hill in support of free coal. A vote was taken on Mr. Hill's amendment, and it was lost, 7 to 51. Mr. Hansbrough moved that a proviso be added to the paragraph placing bi uninous coal on the duthable list to admit coal free of dutysto countries imposing no import duty o Senate.-155th day.-A few private and

Many Mills There Resume Operations as the Result of 15,000 Miners Returning to Work-Hundreds of Iron and Steel Workers Are Busy.

PITTSBURG, June 19 -With the settlement of the great coal strike and the return to work yesterday of 15,000 of the 20,000 miners in this district, a great impetus has been given to all kinds of business, particularly to the iron and steel industries, and the situation is more hopeful than at any time for many months.

Among the large plants in this city which resumed to-day after long idleness were the Corbon Iron and Steel company's works, Oliver's Twentysixth street works, Zug & Co.'s works, Shoenberger's and Howe Brown and company. The Laying of the Cornerstone of Detroit's Chamber of Commerce-Upper Peninsula Iron Miners Refuse to Quit Work-Several Deaths by Lightning.

The citizens of Michigan's metropo-lis are proud of the enterprising spirit which promotes the erection of such buildings us the splendid structure now going up in the heart of business De-trooit and known as the Chamber of Commerce, as was plainly shown by the attention given the ceremony of laying the cornerstone of the building. The laying of the cornerstone was pre-ceded by a monster parade of military and civic societies in which the Michigan National Guard and the Knights Templar commanderies made the best impression. There were also displays of various sorts representing some of Detroit's industrial institutions. The brewers were represented by a magnificent float of an allegorical char-

"Detroit's Commercial Importance in the Future" was the subject assigned to James T. Shaw, of the Board of Trade. After letters of regret had ten read from Hon. G. V. N. Lothrop, Gov. Rich. ex-Govs. Begole and Gov. Rich, ex-Govs. Begole and Jerome, Congressmen Griffin and Weadock and Senators McMillan and Patton, the ceremonies proper were begun. Grand Master Mason of Michigan, W. An event in Marine City was the launching of the steamer Unique, built by Alex. Anderson for Hon. C. McElroy. The Unique is calculated to make 25 miles an hour. She will run between Detroit and Port Huron, making two trips each day. Her build is some-thing novel and her builders feel con-fident she will show remarkable speed. She is 175 feet long, 26 beam over all. Her lines are as perfect as any boat that ever was set affoat and her entire build is a great credit to Alex. Ander son, the builder. Hon. C. McElroy, the designer and principal owner, made the model himself. Although not an architect, he has advanced some great ideas as regards boats being built for speed. He was the first to discover the vast salt deposit along the St. Clair river St. Clair river.

Refused to Strike.

For a time it looked as though there | probable. was to be a big strike in the Gogebic range in the upper peninsula. About 250 miners at Ironwood went out. FOR THE LEGISLATURE—JOHN

F. LAWRENCE. (From the Ann Arbor Democrat.)

In Republican circles there are many interesting situations, but Mr. John F. Lawrence will certainly be urged by his friends to accept the nomination of Representative to the Legislature. The sentiment prompting the nomination of Mr. Lawrence should be the basis of all political affairs. When the office seeks the man, not the man the office, the people may expect fair and impartial egislation.

All prejudices aside, we need men in the State Legislature whose knowledge of the affairs of government will enable them to frame bills from an intelligent standpoint, not partisan dictation. In this respect Mr. Lawrence will have superior intellect, a liberal education and a ripe experience at the bar, he has a vast fund of information from which to draw upon, and which, combined with his mature judgment and keen perceptive qualities, will enable him to discharge the duties of the legislator with candor and precaution. While the honor is unsought, those in a position to know affirm that Mr. Lawrence will receive a unanimous nomination, and we warn our constituents that it is their duty to bring forward the ablest available man in the Democatic ranks to compete with so powerful an opponent.

VERY few, if any, Democrats of Ann Arbor intend to join Coxey's army.

OF course the weather is quite warm, but we would appreciate for a change a poem on "Mending the Highways."

HERE we have it, right here. The Owosso Press says that every Democrat that does not voice the sentiment of Grover Cleveland is a Coxeyite or a

THERE were at least two things noticeable about the Democratic county convention held Wednesday. Its fear of putting its feet on any platform and its imperfectly concealed antagonism to the renomination of Gorman for congress. - Adrian Times.

WILLARD Stearns was asked to-day whether he would enter the race for the congressional nomination. He replied that he was inclined to think he would if he could get a solid delegation from Lenawee, and not have any factional antagonism. - Adrian Times.

just because Ann Arbor has one. By all means get one as soon as possible. There is nothing like it anywhere. A political equality club makes men docile and women independent-mankind's true estate.

THE Allegan Gazette in its last issue proceeds to lecture our own and only Mr. Platt as follows:

To begin with, who is Mr. Platt? He lives at Ypsilanti, and was for two terms state oil inspector under Gov. Luce. Two years in that lucrative office were none too many for him, but he is able to see that one term is ample for the governor. He is recognized to-day as Mr. Luce's representative in this sorehead combination; he is prom-inent in state grange circles, and almost fills the bill as a farmer for politics only. The "gall" displayed by this old

MR. Chas. E. Townsend, of Jackson, announces that he is not a candidate for congress and never has been. It is said that Mayor Brooks will withdraw, as he only entered the race to defeat Townsend, against whom he has a personal grudge. This will give Jim O'Donnell a clear field in Jackson

THE Democratic county convention held in Muskegan Tuesday broke up in a row. The referee delegates could not run things to suit themselves and retired from the hall. They elected a set of delegates to the state convention and eulogized Dickinson and Cleveland, while the antis also elected delegates, denounced Dickinson and censured Cleveland.

A PETITION is being circulated and largely signed by the seniors and graduates of the University of Michigan asking that in the future appointments, women be given representation among the professors and instructors. This is not a plea that women as women be put on the faculty, but that the students be given the opportunity of that broad education which can be obtained only from cultured and able teachers of both sexes. Women have already been given ing for the attorney general and he will places in the faculties of the Universities of Chicago, Missouri, Kansas and THE next governor of Michigan will Iowa with most gratifying results, and be nominated at Grand Rapids July 31st. it is to be hoped that Michigan will soon follow their lead. Certainly the agitation has begun and points to im portant results.

WEDNESDAY evening, June 13th. about 100 leading Republicans of this State held a meeting in Detroit and declared that henceforth and forevermore they could only conscientiously support a Republican for governor of Michigan for one term only. The idea is a capital one, and will meet with the approval of many thinking Republicans throughout the State. The oneterm-for-governor-idea has also permeated the Republican ranks of Washtenaw and many companies shout Hurrah and Amen! THE REGISTER loes not desire to cast reflections on Governor Rich-he has made an excellent governor-but it takes pleasure in saying that one term in the governor's chair is sufficient for any man.

FARMERS and fruit growers are complaining of the ravages which a small black worm is doing in their apple orchards. ACCORDING to Rev. Mr. Shier, of Whitmore Lake, the University of Michigan is not an institution for the manufacture of Christians. The Reverend gentleman is correct in his views. It never was intended for that purpose. The State never would have appropriated a dollar for that purpose. He also says that the leading men of the univeroffice-beggar all the way through, is of such refined quality as to excite admiration for its perfection, however it may body's but their own. The leading men sity are men of unsound theology. body's but their own. The leading men of the university are employed by the State to teach and not to preach. The University of Michigan is an institution of learning where the arts, the sciences. ete., etc., are taught, and not a church where creeds are promulgated and religious doctrines quarreled over. The Rev. Mr. Shier should get a little ice for his head or take a few baths in Whitmore lake. It's pretty hard these days to go without either one or the other of these tonics. It's dangerous.

AMONG THE POLITICIANS.

"Say, gentlemen, say!" said an enthusiastic Democrat to a company of men about town on Thursday morning last, "I wonder what Buffalo Jim Gorman thought when he read the report of the Adrian convention in the Detroit papers? You know he informed a reporter of the Detroit Tribune that there would be practically no opposition to his re-nomination for congress. Wonder what he thought when he read in the Free Press that the congressional delegation, while it had no choice, was almost solid against Gorman for congress. The next Detroit newspaper which he took up to read must have been the Evening News. An account of the Adrian convention in that paper said: 'About twenty delegates are against Gorman for congress, while five are for him!' Wait until he hears from Washtenaw, gentlemen. When he reads the names of the Washtenaw congressional delegation, he will think that there are more Buffalo hunters to the square inch in Washtenaw than there are in a genuine Wild West

"Speaking of Buffalo Jim." put in another Democrat, "reminds me of a report I heard the other day, and, I guess its true, because the man who circulated it knows whereof he speaks. Gorman is endeavoring to have Gen. Cutcheon removed from his fat job on the military commission and have Lester H. Salsbury take his place, so the papers say. But this is all Buncombe. Gorman does not want to see Cutcheon removed at all-not at present, not until his (Gorman's) term expires, when he will apply for the job himself and get it, too. He merely uses Salsbury as a catspaw to get Salsbury's influence in the congressional convention. Salsbury is not a delegate to the convention, I see, but he can get a proxy. If Salsbury makes any propaganda for Buffalo Jim in that convention we shall sit down on Salsbury so heavily that the Port Huron convention will not be in it for business."

"Yes, and do you know what I think, gentlemen?" interpolated another Democrat who stood near. "I think Gorman will work the Buffalo racket among the congressional delegates and so secure a re-nomination. There will be more proxies in that convention than there have been in any convention since the Garden of Eden."

"It's a funny thing, gentlemen, it's a funny thing," remarked a gentleman of leisure to a company of down-down statesmen a few days ago, "that some of our newspaper fellows will use such big dictionary words and air there education in this hot weather and during these hard times. There is Mr. Hammond, of the Argus, for instance. He uses words as long as a butcher knife when he has something to say in his editorials, and then the majority of his editorials are often as long as a fullgrown tape-worm. Brown, of the Times, is almost as bad on big words. Fred used to think there was nothing like a big word. He used to say that big words made people think that a fellow was a h-l of a fellow, and he hasn't gotten over it yet, and the chances are he never will. Hammond and Brown expect a fellow to carry around a dictionary with him when he reads their editorials this hot weather, and they expect a fellow to pay them for their paper besides! There is nothing like gall. For pure, unsophisticated gall with a good sized hair in it, givê me an Ann Arbor newspaper editor every time." "So Ez Norris is spreading his wings for congress, is he?" said an Honorable in the Germania hotel yesterday. "Well, I'm pleased to see Ez come out and declare himself. Ez knows more than any of them, and he has a faculty of getting most anything he wants when he sets after it. He is a shrewd cuss and the cheekiest man in ninetynine counties. Now-a-days cheek and brains are great requisites for congressional timber. The present congressman has cheek-lots of it-but few brains. I hope Ez will accept the nomination. He would be a big card, sure.'

"They have the greatest method in the world of trying a law suit in Ypsilanti," said a lawyer politician to a company of lawyers and politicians yesterday. "In one of the justice courts in the Grecian city the other day the jury disagreed, whereupon the justice, the lawyers and the jury and the whole business walked out before the jury was discharged. I guess everybody thought that it was pretty hot to try law suits and went out to get some refreshments, such as ice cream, soda, lemonade, strawberry short-cake,

"I notice that George Clarken is being boomed for sheriff on the Republican ticket," said a politician to a number of men about town yesterday. "George would make a great run for sheriff. He has a host of friends who would be only too pleased to give him a vote to make him sheriff. I should like to see George nominated. I do not know of a better man and a better votegetter than Clarken; our party could not do a wiser thing than to place him on the ticket."

"What has become of our board of health?" inquired a man about town of a number of politicians at the corner of Main and Washington-sts. a few days ago. "I haven't seen one of them in some time, not even to say how do you. If I could place these eyes of mine on one of them for about two minutes I would take him down on one of our alleys and hold him there for a second and make him take a good whiff at the stench which emanates from our alleys lately. The board should attend to our alleys. I know it's pretty warm to work still the board of health should do a little work occasionally. They'll have work on their hands if small-pox should break out."

"I understand that there will be a little fight in the Republican representative convention this fall," said a down-town politician to a gang of Statesmen in front of the court house yesterday "They say that G. Frank Allmendinger is a candidate for representative, and the friends of John Lawrence are determined to nominate John. No matter which of the two are honored with the position, the people of the first representative district may be assured of good representation. Both enjoy the esteem and confidence of the community and both are able to protect and further the interests of their constituency in the legislature. The Democrats will not carry off the representative plumb in the first district this time, sure."

"It is exceedingly amusing to me to read the Argus' editorial opinion of the new postmaster at Chelsea," said a Democratic politician a few days ago. "For once the Argus is correct. I have resided in Chelsea nearly all my life and I always knew George Laird as a Republican attending Republican caucuses and Republican conventions. The first Democratic caucus he ever attended was last April. Yes, the Argus is correct. For a young Democrat, George Laird is certainly a hustler."

"I read in the papers last week that Ed. Smith, of Lenawee, is a candidate for congress on the Democratic ticket," said a politician to a number of gentlemen of leisure on State-st. Tuesday last. 'If Smith gets the nomination none of the present candidates mentioned on the Republician side of the fence may be honored with the nomination. You know Smith was the Democratic elector in this district in the last presidential campaign, and Chas. E. Hiscock, who was the Republican elector, might want to try conclusions with Mr. Smith again. I understand that Charlie is whooping her up for Joe T. congress. All this might take a different phase in case Ed. Smith should be nominated for congress, and Joe might be whooping her up for Charlie. Charlie is one of the slickest politicians in this district. He is a good listener and in a conversation with him he never gives anything away. After a fellow has let himself out to Charlie, and you expect him to reply, he gets on that broad grin of his, and tells you he must go. I tell you, gentlemen, he's slick and a mighty good fellow."

"I wonder if Tim McCune and Tommy Mac, of Chelsea, will attend the Democratic county convention tomorrow?" inquired a Democrat of a number of down-town politicians in the court house yesterday. "When I see Tom and Mac I'll have a good laugh at them. They worked unrelentingly like tigers for Gorman whenever he was up for office, and finally when the time came for Gorman to appreciate their work by doing a little something for a friend of theirs, he insulted them by laughing at them. I remember well when Tim and Mac came down to Ann Arbor to pour oil on Gorman's troubled waters in this city; they both gave me fits for not whooping her up for Gorman. I endeavored to explain, but they would have no explanation. I informed them that the time would come when Gorman would deceive them as he had me and others of his friends. But they would not believe it. Wonder if they believe it now! Hope they'll come to the convention tomorrow. I want to take them out and have some fun with

"What has become of our Political Equality Club, ladies?" inquired a gentleman of leisure of a coterie of pretty woman suffragists yesterday. "I haven't heard of the club lately. I should think they would send a representative to bleeding Kansas and help the good cause along there. The Populists have put a woman's suffrage plank in their platform, and Mrs. Lease is sick and can't talk. Now is the time for the Equality Club to show their hand if they intend to aid their bleeding sisters in bleeding Kansas."

[Continued from page Four.] formerly known as the Board of Review, is holding its sessions in the court house," said a citizen to a number of tax-payers yesterday. "The appearance of the board reminds one a great deal of a famous picture of the Counsel of Revenge in the Chamber of Justice at Parisduring the French Revolution. John Miner looks exactly like Robespierre, George Pond resembles Marat, John Bennett resembles Danton, Eugene Oesterlin resembles Mirabeau and Patrick O'Hearn looks precisely like the President of the Chamber in that great picture. Go up there once and if you think I'm lying about it and if you don't smell blood and fancy you see the guillotine and see pale and determined men, I'll eat my hat."

"I'll not vote for Gorman this year for Congress," said a Democrat to a company of gentlemen of leisure yesterday.

"Because he's not a Democrat."

"What is he?"

"A Revenue Collector at the Port of Buffalo.

"Say, gents, have you read the roast that Rev. Mr. Shier, of Whitmore Lake, gave the University in Detroit a few days ago?" said a down-town Statesman to a gang of lawyers in the opera house yesterday. "I wonder if this Mr. Shier is Dan Shier who used to be a lawyer and then went to preaching. If he is the original Dan, then the roast he gave the University must be taken as a joke. Dan was a practical joker and joked so much that when he made a plea to a jury, the jury would think that he was joking and would render a verdict accordingly. I wonder if the Whitmore Lake preacher is the original Dan?"

STUPENDOUS HUMBUG.

Making Food Tests with Doctored

We are informed, says a Detroit paper, of a remarkable scheme by which some Chicago baking powder makers are endeavoring, through the practice of a chemical trick, to humbug unsus-pecting housewives. The object is to defame the baking powder used by the housewfe and to induced her to buy that carried by the peddler. These agents perform their tricks from house to house or make them in connection with a baking exhibit, where they can get permission, in the grocery stores.

One of the women who was employed in the performance of these tricks, and who resigned her position when she found out their fraudulent character, thus describes the methods she was taught to use: A small quantity of the baking powder found in the kitchen and a similar quantity of the baking powder which the tester was trying to powder which the tester was trying to prove superior, were mixed with water in seperate glasses. The first being pure would foam up quickly, like a glass of champagne, while the other would rise slowly, frothing like yeast, the foam perhaps standing over the top of the glass. This the tester was taught to claim as an evidence of the superiority of the powder she carried. She had found out, however, by a rather unpleasant experience, that she had been deceived and was likewise deceiving the housekeeper. A lady said to her the housekeeper. A lady said to her one day when she was performing this test that she believed it was a fraud; that the extra foam upon the tester's powder was caused by the introduction of an adulterant. The housekeeper then procured a small quantity of flour, which she thouroughly mixed with her own powder before adding the water. When the mixture was stirred, exactly the same slow foam resulted as with the the same slow foam resulted as with the other powder. This showed the woman that the whole test was a humbug, and that the result was an evidence that the new powder carried by the tester contained an adulterant.

There is another dishonest feature in this business. The baking powder which these fakirs are trying to sell by these methods, is actually shown by reports of official chemists to have in its composition lime, alum and sulphuric

"Gentlemen-My mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Wolfe, at the age of 72 years, was attacked with a violent form of salt rheum; it spread all over her body, and her hands and limbs were dreadful to look at. It appeared in the form of large sores under each side of her neck; had the attendance of the family physician and other doctors for a long time, but seemed to grow worse. A Remarkable Endorsement. In the financial column of a New York daily, says the Troy Budget, there appeared recently the following item:

"One result of the Vanderbilt control of the old New York & Northern, now the New York & Putnam, is seen in the fact that the bonds of the company are about a 105. As the ny are selling abroad at 105. As the company does not earn enough to pay interest on its bonds, the high price now ruling is the direct result of the property having become part of the Vanderbilt system."

Hardly a stronger endorsement of the general policy of the Vanderbilt lines could be made: the careful but progressive management of the New York Central is so fully understood in Europe, as well as in America, that the fact as well as in America, that the that a piece of railroad property has come under the control of the great fourtrack trunk line, is prima facie evidence that it will be improved and made better, not only in its physical condition and for its owners, but also for the people and the teritory served by it. The above item speaks volumes for the management of the New York and the Donkey an Old Offender. It is a noisy city, not with the heavy rumble of Broadway, but the clatter of light vehicles and the patter of little feet of horses and donkeys. The shout oh-a-a-a of drivers rings through the streets like the cry of an avenged demon, and the incessantly cracking whips sound like the Fourth of July. Everybody talks loud on a high key as though in a war of words. Venders hawn their and freedom from dust contribute to wares with a yell, which, though in musical tones, is piercing.

One exception to the general noise is in the barber's shop, where a half dozen men work in solemn silence, not discussing weather, politics or scandal with their victims. It seemed unnatural and gruesome. have heard only one hand-organ, and that was an antique; probably the others have emigrated to America. One unusual noise will attract attention. I exploded one of my dynamite sneezes on the Toledo one day. It made a sensation in the midst of the busy traffic, perhaps because there has been so much said about anarchist bombs lately. My cab-man jumped a little but quickly re-covered himself and said: "Vostra salute, signore." Sometimes the church bell rings violently as though for a fire; one looks for the engines, but it is only for a funeral, and the white-clothed bearers, with holes cut for eyes in their masks, come round a corner with the painted or embroidered catafalque on their shoulders, preceded by the priests and acolytes. Above all noises the donkey's frequent bray prevails. I can not get used to it. It always sounds like something else. In church one Sunday I thought I heard an old well windlass groaning and squeaking with its roughly turning axle. Poor, dear little donkeys, if they get any comfort out of their braying they are welcome to it, for it is about all the comfort they have. When one sees a little fellow, the size of a calf, pulling a good load of furniture and a big two-wheeled cart, or nine heavy trunks and two men, or another with paniers and a boy twisting its tail, it seems like a very human voice of patient woe and rebuke that comes out in that bray. It Gave Its Would-Be Smoker an Idea

I saw a young man light a long Hungarian eigar the other evening and throw himself back in a chair to enjoy the smoke and conversation. The Hungarian eigar is something like a l'ittsburg toby, only it is twice as long as the Pittsburg article, and before you get through with it also twice as strong. The young man was more interested in the conversation than in the cigar, apparently, for he laid the latter down on the edge of the table for a moment as he talked. The waggish gentleman next to him slyly took the cigar and cut off about three inches of the fire end and began to through with his story, got glanced at the end of it and saw it face of the story teller when he picked up that cigar and again essayed to smoke, was something too funny to describe. He gave two or three vigerous pulls at it, then stopped and looked at the fresh end. while the other fellows were interdirectly to the next town, he let off ested in almost anything else at the As soon as the would-be smoker saw that his cigar had not been lighted he turned a little pale, and with a hasty apology and a story of an alleged forgotten engagement, bolted for the street, amid the demoniacal glee of the cruel men left behind. Thus doth conscience make cowards of us all.

XXXIV. EARLIEST STEPS TOWARDS

THE UNIVERSITY. It has been made clear by my last few papers that Ann Arbor had a kind of predestination to schools of the higher grades. How it became the seat of the state university shall appear in its place. But we should first learn how it came to pass that we were to have a state university at all. I pointed to this in the second article of the present series. The justly celebrated ordinance of 1787, the real constitution of dinance of 1787, the real constitution of the northwest territory, giving to the new confederation of states the first domain it ever had to govern contained domain it ever had to govern contained the germ of a school system, to embrace all grades of schools, from the primary to the university, and to be extended by grants of land to all the territory which remained to be formed into states of the Union. The Reverend and Manasseh Cutler, of Ipswich, Mass., was the chief force in getting up the bill for this ordinance and urging it through congress. Its spirit is condensed in the inscription over the rostrum in University Hall: - Religion, morality and knowledge, being necessary to good government, schools and the means of education shall be forever encouraged."

In the ordinance abundant provision was promised in the form of land-grants for common schools and universities, and also for religion and in case of the Ohio colony on the Muskingum the sections for these purposes were designated; but the promise, so far as religion is concerned was not kept. Although the colony on the Muskingum had in it the best material that the country could supply - Washington

I have already and received for his services $87.50. in one of the earliest papers of this ser Reverend Gabriel Richard, Roman ies mentioned the names and positions Catholic prelate, held the other six of some of these. I repeat several. didaxia and received $75 a year for his Lewis Cass, William Woodbridge and labors. Thus began our university; for the brothers Austin E. and Warner the supreme court has decided that the Wing, all came from the Muskingum colony in Ohio. These men, with of this institution. others who came to their aid, formed a force sufficient to do something towards repairing in Michigan the mistakes which caused the failure in Ohio.

The University of Michigan is now in Ann Arbor; it did not, however, origi- number of that periodical an interestnate here. The reader will doubtless ing four-page illustrated description of and surroundings of its birth; if so, let ton and a pen picture of the librarian, Standing Cured by Pyramid Pile Cure.

There are plenty of pile cures which give relief and sometimes cure a mild case of piles, but there is only one which can be depended upon with certainty to cure obstinate long-standing cases, and that is the Pyramid Pile

Endorsements and testimonials are received daily from men and women whose integrity and reliability are above question and in this connection a letter received from the Rev. Jas. H. Wesbrook, of Bowne, Mich., may be of sought in vain for a cure. He says:

I have used the Pyramid Pile Cure and I know that it is all that is claimed for it. I have been troubled with piles more or less for about eighteen years and I have tried other remedies, but the piles grew worse until about ten months ago I used the Pyramid Pile Cure. It gave almost instant relief and I have been free from piles ever since. Rev. Jas. H. Wesbrook.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co., of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere.

A TINY BABE.

It Figures as a Party to a Big Diamond Robbery.

"It is not often a baby is made a party to a crime," said Anthony Peckham, of Boston. "A few years ago, however, I came across a case where a baby helped its parents escape detection for the moment by means of its opportune hunger and thirst. There had been a robbery of diamonds, and suspicion pointed to a man servant in the house, who, on being closely questioned, resigned his position as a mark of his resentment at the insult. He was carefully watched and it was soon learned that he was about to leave the city, and had given notice to vacate the flat his wife and infant child occupied. After consultation it was decided that the evidence was sufficient to justify the arrest of the man and his wife, and it was thought well to execute the warrant just as they were leaving the house, the detectives thinking they would be sure to take the diamonds with them if they had them, there having been no chance to dispose of them in the ordinary way.

"Just as they were starting out they were met at the door by two officers in plain clothes, told they were under arrest and asked to go quietly back into the house to be searched. They agreed, and were held until the female searcher arrived, when man, wife and baby were all three carefully examined. Nothing was found about the clothing or in the flat, and, acting on instructions from the chief, the detectives did not hold the prisoners. Within a week the man was captured in New York trying to dispose of the diamonds to a dealer in precious metals and stones. The explanation as to how the searching had failed to discover the gems was that they had been put in the baby's bottle, which had been receiving most praiseworthy attention at the hands of the infant at the very time tu earch was made."

SNAKE-KILLING RAZOR-BACKS. The Hogs May Be Utilized to a Very Good Purpose.

"Talk about snakes," said Edward T. Atherton, of Boston, "there are more of them to the square acre in Florida than in any other part of this glorious country. But, as numerous as they are now, they are not half as abundant as they were a few years ago, before any organized effort was made to annihilate the whole serpentine breed.

"It seems that a bright idea, involving the wholesale extinction of snakes, entered the mind of one William Jones, who, up to that time, had been a poor farmer struggling to support a big family. Now he is one of the solid men of the county, and he made all his money by the successful execution of that idea. He knew that the ordinary razor-back hog of Florida was a great natural enemy of snakes, and he set to work to systematically train a whole drove of hogs to hunt down and destroy the reptiles. In a little while he had his swine as thoroughly trained in their part as setter dogs are drilled to point quail. He first cleared his own farm of a vast quantity of big ones, and then he began to hire out his hogs to his neighbors who were snake-afflicted. The men who were clearing up new land sent for Jones' hogs.

"This is no romance, for I talked with Jones himself, and he told me all about it and exhibited his book of 1 engagements, which also contained a record of all the snakes slain for the past twelve months. I have every reason to believe he was stating the facts, for he gave me a warm invitation to visit his place, and promises to give an exhibition that would demonstrate the skill of his snake-killers."

It Is Being Rapidly Supplanted by the White Crystals.

Many roots are tolerably rich in sugar-everybody must have noticed its presence in carrots, from which, indeed, it has even at times been commercially extracted. But sugar is still more abundant in the beet, whose juice contains about fifteen per cent of crystallizable sucrose. As an industry, the production of beet-sugar has a curious history. originated in France under Napoleon I., when the English blockade prevented communication with Martinique and Haiti. It grew rapidly after the emancipation of the slaves in the British dominions; and being fostered by governments on the continent, it is now beginning to drive the poor; antiquated and superannuated cane entirely out of the market. Of recent years, by far the larger part of the sugar employed in England is of French origin, or "made in Germany."

That, says the Cornhill Magazine, is one of the reasons why brown sugar has gone out and white sugar come so largely into fashion. The sweet and pleasant muscovadoes, produced by simple boiling of the crude cane juice, could be employed for sweetening coffee, for the domestic rice pudding, for the use of infancy, and for a great many other household purposes. The half-refined moist sugar, commonly known as Demerara, still holds its own for these daily purposes. But raw beet-root sugar displays its origin by an unpleasant earthy flavor. it smacks of the soil too much, and carries with it reminiscences of a somewhat turnlpy character. On this account brown sugar has gone out, especially in those coarse and treacty forms which delighted the palate of our unsophisticated child-

Refining is at present almost universal, and the flavorless, insipid, loose-grained beet-root sugar, sawn into oblong bricks, has invaded our breakfast tables. The light, moist sugars now so much employed for cooking purposes are refined sugar of insufficient purity to be crystallized into loaves. Cube sugar, on the other hand, which is so fashionable that it can afford to present the country with new national galleries of British art, is made up from the most crystallizable syrup, which runs away earliest from the charcoal cisterns of the refineries; but it is especially treated in peculiar molds, from which the remaining molasses is driven off with rude violence by centrifugal machines. The result is pure grains of transparent crystal.

PERILS OF THE WHISTLING FAD.

Lips Frequently Puckered Will Ere Long Begin to Show Wrinkles.

There is one fad which has lately found much favo among many young society ladies, notably those of San Francisco, which if long-continued will make many pretty lips, which are so charming when in pucker, anything but beautiful when in repose. This is the whistling fad. The mouth is very susceptible to molding influences, and readily falls into lines of beauty, or the reverse; and the full sweetness of the prettiest upper lip which is kept constantly in a pucker will very soon show a weakening of elasticity in the rounding curves, and a quick falling into habits of perpetual, perpendicular or slightly stanting lines, which the world will call wrinkles. Or, perhaps later, when the habit has become more popular, the world may learn to think there. think them beautiful and call them lines of whistling culture. One lady known to a writer for the Evening Wisconsin has a horse which she takes great delight in driving. The horse, being of a leisurely turn of mind, needs constant urging. The lady fell into the habit of whistling and chirping continually at the animal, until after a few months she noticed that her upper lip was beginning to show the effects of so much puckering in an unpleasant manner. Now she clucks at the horse, or uses the whip, and is patiently trying to pinch the wrinkles out of her upper lip. So, young ladies, do not whistle. Men may whistle to their heart's content, and if it does spoil their lips nobody is the wiser, for their mustaches hide all such defects.

LESSONS IN THRIFT.

How the Public Schools in England Are Made Into Savings Banks. am not an Anglomaniae,' said L. W. Hitchcock, of New York, to the Globe-Democrat man, "but I am interested in an attempt that is being made in the East to introduce into the public schools object lessons in thrift, such as are taught in the English board schools. Up to within a few years ago the anomaly existed in England of persons in all classes of life being compelled, under threat of imprisonment, to send the children to school, although fees varying from four cents to sixteen cents per week had to be paid, no matter how poor the parents might be. When free schools were established in England a plan was devised whereby those parents who could a ford to pay fees could teach their children habits of thrift, and at the same time accumulate sums of money for them in a very easy manner.

"Arrangements were made with the Postal Savings bank whereby children could take their fees to school as usual, purchase penny postage stamps with the money, attach these stamps to special slips provided for the purpose and then deposit the slips in the banks as soon as a shilling or twenty-four cents had been accumulated. The idea took so well that the government allowed penny banks in connection with the postoffice to be established in the schools, and there are now over 4,000 of these. Nearly one half the children bring their fees and make use of these banks, nearly 1,000,000 forms for sticking the stamps on being supplied every year. The number of depositors in these school penny banks is now enormous, and the annual savings are nearly $10,000. The adoption of this plan in this country, where so many children who attend the free schools could take with them every Monday a dime or a quarter, would result in object lessons in thrift which would prove a national blessing.

THE SOCIABLE MOOSE BIRD. He Camps With Hunters, and Shares Their Meals.

I have had other but more brief experiences with this interesting bird of the north woods. He is a nomad. He claims no particular locality, save the great green forests as his home. The impulse of migration is evidently an un-known experience to him. You camp down for the night and he quietly greets you, spending the night near by, that he may lose no time in gleaning over the remains of your breakfast, writes Frederick How-your preparations for departure, and, if he can spare the time from his search for a breakfast, will come down to the canoe to see you of, as well as to get an idea of the way you are heading, and when you are greeted at your next camping place in a similar manner you are at a loss to know whether it is the social individual of the previous night or counterpart

The woods of Maine, dear to me by pleasant associations, would lose half their charm to me without this bird. He is in keeping with the somber shadow of the spruce and hemlock. Persistent in his presence as the giant tree that rears its lofty form above your "shakedown," yet as unobtrusive as its shadow, closely does he harmonize with the spirit of the silent wilderness.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently dest eyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which c etions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which is usually the exciting cause of pulmo-nary disease. The brilliant results by its use for page years its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure. Call upon duggist

Squirrels.

Squir els, which are often supposed to hibernate, retire to their nests only in very severe and prolonged frosts A slight fall of snow merely amuses them, and they will come down from their trees and scamper over the powdery heaps with immense enjoy-ment. What they do not like is the snow on the leaves and branches, which falls in showers as they jump from tree to tree, and betray them to their enemies, the country boys. During a mili winter they even neglect to make a central store of nuts, and, instead of storing them in big hoards near the nest, just drop them into any convenient hole they know of near.

HIS LOST RING.

Magician Herrmann Recovers It in a Strange Manner.

not generally known that Herrmann, the magician, is a mesmerist as well, and that he has has often stood him in good stead, too. During his last engagement in Brazil, several years ago, he was presented by Dom Pedro with a magnificent solitaire diamond ring. While doing his famous gold fish trick one night in the midst of the audience this ring slipped from his wet finger and rolled out of sight under the seats. A thorough search was instituted and large rewards offered for the missing gem, but without avail. Finally the thought struck Herrmann that he would try his mesmeric powers, put a subject to sleep and try to locate the lost jewel in that manne: Accordingly he advertised for a clairvoyant and found one in the person of a beautiful Spanish lady. With a few passes of his hands he put her to sleep and then proceeded to question her in Spanish. The lady put her hand to her fo chead in a bewildered manner and after a short pause said:

"The diamond was stolen by a man who had charge of horses.' That was absolutely all the information Herrmann could get from her, but the clew was sufficient. He thought of a brigandish looking Spaniard from whom he had often hired horses, and whom he recollected was in the auditorium the night he lost the ring. He went straight to the stable, and, looking the man straight in the eye, said:

"You stole my ring. I roduce it!" The fellow turned as white as a sheet, but protested his innocence. The next day, while at breakfast, Herrmann was handed a package which he found contained the missing ring. He des not pretend to explain how the clairvoyant knew of its whereabouts or who had it, but it was a wonderful case of mind-

The Oldest Timber in the World.

Probably the oldest timber in the world which has been subjected to the use of man is found in the ancient temples of Egypt, in connection with the stonework which is known to be at least four thousand years old. This, the only wood used in the construction of the temples. is in the form of ties, holding the end of one stone to another. When two blocks were laid in place, an excavation about an inch deep was each block, into which a tie shaped like an hour-glass was It is therefore very difficult to force any stone from its position

A simple-Minded Woman.

Mrs. Josiah Fender is a very simple sort of a woman. An old gentleman by the name of Ryckman and his wife moved into the vicinity of the Fender mansion on Fifth avenue. Mrs. Fender, who is very neighborly, baked a nice cake and took it over to the new arrivals.

"I have brought over' some cake for Mr. Ryckman's children," said Mrs. Fender.

·But we have never had any children," said Mrs. Ryckman.

"Well, then, give it to your grand-children," said Mrs. Fender. "It must make them sad never to have had any parents."

After trying many remelles for catarrh during past twelve years, I tried Ely's Cream Balm with complete success. It is over one year since I stopped useing it and haven't had return of catarrh. I recommend it to all my friends.—Milton T. Palm, Reading, Pa.

Froof That Sparrows Can Count.

There is no doubt but that birds can count, and an incident I wit- starch to sugar with malt, adding nessed several years ago illustrating this fact amused me not a little. A sparrow, with four of her young, had a nest in a sparrow house under the verandar of my dwelling. One day the old bird flew up to the nest with four living worms in her beak. The four little birds reached out their heads with the customary noise and were each fed a worm. sparrow then flew away and after a time returned again with four worms less cats. A HORRIBLE MISTAKE.

He Had Gone on the Floor of the House of Commons.

Many years ago, the late Sir Walter Barttelot was in his usual place at the end of a bench in the house of commons, when a gentleman, leaning across the passage, inquired: "Sir, will you permit me to ask you who is the person now addressing the house?" Sir Walter gazed at the man with horror and amazement, and said, with scant courtesy: "What do you say?" 'I beg your pardon, sir, but I do not know the gentleman." At this the Sussex blood of the Barttelots was roused. "Sir, are you a member of this house?" "Oh, no, The pay of a boy servant in England sir." "Then what on earth are you doing here?" "Well, I was under the gallery and could not hear very well, so I stepped over." Sir Walter Barttelot's face assumed an expression of judicial severity, but he mixed kindness with judgment. He said to the wretched man: "Don't move; listen attentively to what I am going to say. You have incurred fearful penalties by doing as you have done, and if the speaker had happened to receive a number of petitions while you were you would have to pay here, five hundred pounds for every time he said, 'Is it your pleasure that this petition do lie on the table?" The stranger turned pale. "Now," said Sir Walter, "attend to me. Get up quietly the moment I have done speaking to you; walk behind me, and go out at the little door that you see not far from my left shoulder; go down to the di-vision lobby to the door of the house, and don't stop for a moment till you get to your abode, and never, under any circumstances, divulge the horrible offense which you have committed." The man feebly thanked him, with tremulous knees rose to his feet, and vanished. Having given the stranger ample time to escape, Sir Walter related the incident to his friends with much relish.

HOLIDAYS IN ITALY.

Numerous Enough to Make Life Enjoyable for Everybody.

The Italians let pass no opportunity for celebrating a holiday, writes a correspondent from Milan. The slightest pretext is seized upon to don his best clothes, and, with a silk hat upon his head, a flower in his coat lapel, "fare una bella figura" on the principal thoroughfares to see and be seen, admire and be admired.

"Ah, those were happy days," I heard an Italian bookkeeper say, when I received 150 lire a month. Then every Sunday, for twenty cents an hour, I could drive up and down the Bastoni in a cab, with a cigar to puff, a carnation in my button-hole, a friend beside me-how happy I was! I enjoyed it all day Sunday and enjoyed thinking about it all the week.'

The holidays are denoted on the calendars by red letters, and in glancing over a calendar one is led to think there are more holidays than workdays. I desired a piece of work done and called in the pertenaja and told her to do it immediately. But she informed me that she could not do it that day, for it was a festa. "Well, to-morrow then," I said. But to-morrow was a festa also. "The next day!" But that was a festa, too. Three holidays in one week, and the woman refused to work on those days, even though she might starve in conse-

A WOMAN'S WAY.

She Forgot to Be Cross When There Was a Drive in Prospect.

"Queens of creation!" scoffed a girl. "I'd like to know who called us that! Then I'm a queen, and yet when I want to indulge in a little recreation like being cross I'm not allowed to!

"I quite lost my temper the other day," she went on. "I felt that I should enjoy being real cross for a while all by myself, you know-I didn't want to be cross at any one—and all my family spoiled it. 'Poor child, said my mother, 'you're not feeling well, are you?' 'Do let's read this book out loud,' said my sister. 'I've often feltas you do,' sympathized a friend who dropped in. I thought I should scream or pull some one's hair, they exasperated me so! And then my cousin came in and put on a climax by jovially remarking that I needed waking up, and must come for a ride. In tearful despair I went, and was so angry at them for not letting me alone that I forgot to be cross. I think it's a shame!"

Not a Depew.

It was a surly tramp, to whom the cook had given something to eat, and more than once while he was putting it away she felt like pouring a teakettleful of hot water down his neck, but the feeling of charity which had prompted her to feed him restrained her from getting even with him. He got through after awhile and was starting off without so much as a "thanks" or "good morning" or any-"haven't you got anything to say "Naw," he retorted, "d'yer think I'm reds. Tulips come nearer to covering | Chancy Depoo?" and what the cook said to him was much more appropriate in its application than it would be for the columns of a public print. Yellow-A Curiosity Among Colors.

It is a curious fact that the color of yellow, whether it be vegetable or animal, is much more permanent than any other hue. The yellow of a flower's petals is the only color known to botanists that is not faded or entirely discharged upon being exposed to the fumes of the sulphurous acid. Take the viola tricolor (heart's ease), as an illustration. If exposed but a moment to these fumes the purple tint im-mediately takes its flight, and in the wall-flower the yellow shines as brightly as ever after all other colors have fled.

The German Stove.

The stove in Germany is constructed entirely of white tiles, and reaches from the floor almost to the ceiling, perfectly straight and plain, with no opening except a small brass door at the bottom. In this opening a fire is kindled with wood, and pieces of something black, called presskohle, are laid upon it. These pieces are about six inches long and one inch thick. The brass door is left open, leaving a little door inside with a grate in it closed until the presskohle is thoroughly kindled and crumbles a little, then the whole thing is closed up and left for the rest of the day. The stove gradually becomes hotter and hotter and gives out a good heat. This fire is a curious thing. If you open the door and look in it seems to be entirely out, not a spark being visible; it looks like a mere heap of ashes, but the fire is there, just the same, and goes on heating all day. The cost of fuel is almost nothing, being about $2.25 per 1,000, which makes the fire for one day amount to a little over

FASHIONABLE FEES.

A Doctor Gets $60,000 for Taking a Yacht Trip With a Vanderbilt. There is a great deal of talk, particularly among physicians, concerning the fee which Dr. Keyes received for his four months' trip on the Valiant. Mr. Vanderbilt's faith in Dr. Keyes is absolutely unlimited, and it is known that he brought very strong pressure to bear upon the doctor, who, by the way, is as prominent socially as he is in the world of medicine, to go with him. Dr. Keyes had accompanied the Vanderbilt party upon a previous trip on the Alva before she was sunk and lost forever. For that trip it is said Mr. Vanderbilt sent him a check for $60,000. This amount, it may be mentioned, is reported to be the yearly income of New York physicians who are talked about as widely as Dr. Keyes. But there is always a great deal of mystery about the income of the fashionable and prosperous New York physician. In London the fees of even the most famous doctors are fixed at a stated price, which is seldom or never deviated from. It costs two guineas to visita acetor of the first class and one guinea for each subsequent visit. Only two of the titled physicians in London charge more than this. They have been made famous by attending the queen and the royal family, have handles to their names, and charge four or five guinby a French Physician. At the Bicetre hospital, in Paris, the well known surgeon, M. Landry, has performed a curious operation on a workman of Belgium nationality. The Belgian, it appears, got drunk a short time ago, and was taken to the police station at Gentilly when in a state of utter helplessness. While he was in the cells another drunkard, a mechanical engineer named Machant, was brought in in a state bordering on delirium tremens. Machant was in a terribly excited state, and he attacked his fellow prisoner with extraordinary ferocity, striking him and, horrible to relate, biting off both his ears. When he came to himself Machant became very penitent, and asked to be taken to the bedside of his victim, who was now in the Bicetre hospital, in order to ask his forgiveness. Landry, who was there, said: "Should you like to give him back his ears?" "Certainly," said the man. "Then," said the doctor, 'let me cut a couple of small slips of flesh from your arm, and it can be done." The man consented and the doctor did as he had suggested. The pieces of flesh he shaped as well as he could to the likeness of a pair of ears, and joined them to the wounded places. According to the latest accounts the operation has been a complete success.

The single plunk he intended to drop into the contribution plate at church, while the double X he intended to press upon his constituent to help him tide over his hard luck.

But in some way he got the bills mixed, and the twenty went into the collection plate, and when he reached his constituent's residence he had only the solitary samoleon to offer

The politician did the square thing next day, however, by enclosing a check for $20 in a letter and mailing it to his needy constituent, so that the latter lost nothing, while the church is just $19 ahead.
