THE LATERAL SEWERS.

The Land Valuation of the Liberty St District Will Be $300,000.

City Assessor O'Hearn has about completed the assessment of land values in the Liberty St. lateral sewer district cler's Club Rooms. and is now at work on the Washington St. district. The assessed valuation will foot up close to $300,000. As the sewer will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000 or $6,000 the assessment will be about $20 per $1,000, thus if a lot is valued at $2,000 the sewer tax will be about $40 and if it is valued at $500 the sewer tax will be about $10.

SENATE -206th day.-A lively time occurred over the attempt of the Democratic majority to fill the vacancy on the finance committee necessary to act on the free coal. Iron ore, barbed wire and sugar bills. Mr. Harris (Dem. Tenn.), moved that the senator from California (Mr. White) be appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Vance, of North Carolina. Mr. Chandler (Rep. N. H.) jumped to his feet and interposed an objection. This precipitated a lively tilt between Harris and Mr. Chandler. Then Mr. Hill (Dem., N. Y.) got the floor and plunged immediately into a criticism of the legislation which the filling of the vacancy was designed to expedite. So far as the bills placing coal, iron ore and sugar on the free list were concerned. he had voted, he said, for them when they were legitimately before the Senate and he was not trying to escape from his record now. Mr. Harris then put his motion in the form of a resolution which finally went over under the uses.

SENATE.-207th day.-When Senator Harris' resolution for appointment of Senator White, of California, to the vacancy on the finance committee was lid before the Senator Manderson said there would be no objection to the resolution, and explained that the opposi-tion of the previous day contained no reflection on Senator Maiderson. The resolution was then adopted without division. The Murphy resolution declaring against further tariff legislation went over at the request of Senator Gorman. The resolution of Senator Gray in-structing the finance committee to report back the free sugar bill with an amendment to strike out the one cent differential on refined sugar was laid before the House. Senator Mander-son offered an amendment instructing the com-mittee to report an amendment providing for the sugar bounty of existing law. Senator Gray demanded a division of the question, Some debate occurred on the parliamentary situation. The Murphy resolution was adopted.

Lundho'm Arrested

Ex-Deputy Secretary of State August W. Lindholm, who fied the country late last March after embezzling $2,000 of the funds of the state, was arrested at Gothenberg, Sweden, and held to await the action of Gov. Rich. This information was conveyed to the governor in a telegram from Secretary of State Gresham, who had been advised by Minister Ferguson at Stockholm. The governor at once telegraphed Seeretary Gresham that Lindholm was wanted here, and will have him extra-dited. Ever since Lindholm's depart-ure the authorities have been quietly searching for him, and through the postal officials learned that on July 5 a letter had been mailed by Lindholm at Keil of Holstein to his wife in Lan-sing. Deputy Sheriff Wright and Chief of Police Sanford immediately contained and official to the second official to the second se sent circulars, offering a reward of $100 in gold for information leading to his apprehension. The telegram is the first heard from them. Prosecuting Attorney Gardner said that Lindholm will be promptly prosecuted on the embezzlement charge, and also that he undoubtedly knows all about the sal-aries amendment frauds, and that his testimony in the pending cases is of great importance.

State F.ir at Detroit.

There promises to be an unusually large display of farm implements and vehicles at the state fair, which opens on the Detroit Exposition grounds September 10, and continues until September 21. W. P. Custard, of Mendon, is superintendent of farm implements, and H. R. Dewey, of Lansing, has charge of the department of vehicles. The fair will not be open evenings, the hours being from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. The admission will be placed at 50 cents, a project to make it 25 cents having been discarded as not feasible. There may be one or two special 25-cent days, however. No ad-ditional charge will be made for any exhibit inside the grounds. The horse and bicycle races are exciting much interest. Six days will be given up to the trotters, pacers and running horses —September 12, 13, 14, 17, 18 and 19. There are 26 premiums offered in the children's department, for hand and machine sewing, patching, darning, embroidery, crochet and knit work, doll's wardrobe, painting on various materials, paper flowers, collections of postage stamps, scroll sawing, wood carving, drawing, samples of canned goods, etc.

Terrible Mistake.

Frank Proteous shot and instantly killed his wife. The tragedy occurred in Portage township, seven miles south of Kalamazoo. During the night rain commenced falling and Mrs. Proteous awoke and went to close an open win-dow. In the meantime her husband aroused and saw his wife coming through the open door leading to the bedroom. He had not missed her from bed, and mistook her for a burglar. bed, and mistook her for a burglar. Reaching for his revolver, which was near at hand, he fired. The shot was fatal, the ball passing through Mrs. Proteous' body near the heart. She exclaimed: "Frank, you have shot me," and sank to the floor. The hus-band is prostrated with grief.

Doings of China and Japan.

Mail advices from China show that the Chinese government has prohibited the exportation of horses. Horses are regarded as contraband of war by Japan. Urgent orders have been sent from the northern to the southern arsenals for powder and other muni-tions. Recruiting is pushed. Japanese have fortified the passes leading from China into Corea and established elaborate defenses at Seoul, the capital. One hundred and sixty thousand men have been mobilized by Japan and the reserves have been called upon for ser-vice in Corea. Sickness prevails in both the Chinese and Japanese armies. China has accepted the offer of Lui Yung Fi, the celebrated ex-chief of the Black Flags in Tonquin, who is now a naval commodore at Canton, to recognize the Black Flags to fight against Japan.

Write Them a Letter Tonight, Don't go to the theater, lecture or ball, But stay in your room tonight. Deny yourself to the friends that call, And a good long letter write-Write to the sad old folk at home, Who sit when the day is done

With folded hands and downcast eyes And think of the absent one. Write them a letter tonight.

Don't selfishly scribble: "Excuse my haste. I've scarcely time to write," Lest their brooding thoughts go wandering back

To many a bygone night, When they lost their needed sleep and rest, And every breath was a prayer That God would leave their delicate babe To their tender love and care. Write them a letter tonight.

Don't let them feel that you've no more need Don't let them feel that you've no more need Of their love and counsel wise, For the heart grows strangely sensitive When age has dimmed the eyes. It might be well to let them believe You never forgot them quite— That you deemed it a pleasure when far away Long letters home to write. Then Write them a letter tonight.

Don't think that the young and giddy friends

Who make your pastime gay Have half the anxious thoughts for you That the old folk have today,

Oh, write them a letter tonight!

Reductio ad Absurdum. I had come from the city early That Saturday afternoon. I sat with Beatrix under the trees In the mossy orchard. The golden bees Buzzed over clover tops, pink and pearly. I was at peace and inclined to spoon.

We were stopping awhile with mother At the quiet country place Where first we'd met, one blossomy May, And fallen in love, so the dreamy day

Brought to my memory many another In the happy time when I won her grace-

Days in the bright spring weather, When the twisted, rough old tree Showered down apple blooms, dainty and

That swung in her hair and blushed at her

Sweet was her face as we lingered together And dainty the kisses my love gave me.

'Dear love, are you recalling The old days, too?" I said. Her sweet eyes filled, and with tender grace She turned and rested her blushing face Against my shoulder. A sunbeam falling Through the leaves above us crowned her head.

And so I held her, trusting

"Married for ages-it's just disgusting-Such actions-and, Fred, they've got our tree!"

We want to know why persons who believe in wizards, or, at all events, consult wizards, nearly always prefer to believe in men or women who are of a race inferior to their own or in circumstances which prove that their occult powers are of no use to themselves. The rule is not invariable, for there have been great wizards like Paracelsus, Roger Bacon, Michael Scott or Cagliostro, who were acknowledged by those who consulted or feared them to be in all ways their superiors, but it is seldom broken. In all the letters on country superstitions which we have published, and the much greater number for which we could find no room, the "wise" man or woman has always gypsy blood or some peculiarity of appearance marking out him or her unfavorably from their kind. The wizard of India is usually a naked savage, while those who resort to him are civilized beings clothed carefully in muslin. The reverence of the whites for the black Obeah man or woman in the West Indies is the subject of countless narratives, especially in the French islands.-London Specta-

A Deserted Camp.

The closing of Camp Rich after one of the most successful encampments ever held, furnished many scenes as unique and interesting as any during the five days' outing. While officers were hurrying about each other's headquarters to say good-bye, the men took advantage of the relaxed discipline to indulge in good-natured jokes. Capt. Henry C. Dummer, of Company B, Fifth regiment, against whom charges were preferred by Col. Frank B. Lyon, handed his resignation to Gen. Owen. Col. Lyon appointed Lieut. Fred M. Hodskin to take command of the company on the return trip to Manistee.

Peach Trees Affected by Yellows.

Peach Yellows Commissioner Albert Southworth makes public an an-nouncement that has more serious re-sults wrapped up in the non-acceptance of its importance than any six months' drought that might overtake this entire peach belt. He has marked 67 peach trees in one orchard to be cut down and burned at once, as they are badly affected by the yellows. Every fruit grower knows from sad experi-ence of 15 years ago that unless this terrible fruit scourge is dealt with as vigorously as though it were smallpox their entire orchards in two years will be dead, and none but sickly fruit will be yielded in the meantime.

About

Knives.

A cheap Pocket-knife can be bought at every Store, but it is not the kind you want.

One dollar is the lowest price that a really good knife can be sold for. This column is placed in this paper to advertise the very best Pocket-knife ever-sold. It is J. C. TIDMARSH'S Sheffield Steel Knife.

Never buy a knife only because it looks well. If blades are not the best Sheffield steel they will soon bend, no matter how they will look. Still, you want a fine-looking knife.

The United States law provides that only samples to agents and to the trade will be admitted free of duty. You can, therefore, see the advantage that I have in sending samples to agents over those who deal in Sheffield goods in America.

I am an advertising agent! I am entrusted with a certain amount to spend advertising these knives (the best value ever seen in America at One Dollar each). Now, the knife is its own best advertisement.

** Imagine a Pocket-knife (3‡ inches long) with the most beautifully-grained ivory handle—genuine African ivory —and with two blades of the very best Sheffield steel that will last a lifetime and cut like a razor. The tips of the handles are heavily plated with sterl-ing silver. And then a very nice chamois leather case goes with each knife. Now, would it not be easy work selling this knife at One Dollar each? I know it would, for it looks as if it were worth two dollars. were worth two dollars.

And so it is if you compare it with the value offered in the ordinary Store.

Is not this knife its own best advertisement,

You can make $4 per day selling these knives. This is a genuine and straigtforward statement. This is counting that you show it to only twelve buyers every day. And every one that sees it will say it is good value for $1. The knives are sold to you at $8 per dozen; you sell them at $1 each. each.

I determined to use large sum of ad-vertising money entrusted to me in ending out free samples to those who promise to act as agents for the sale of hese knives

I will send you  $\frac{a}{a}$  free sample, but you must sign the promise at the foot of this column, and make a deposit to show that in asking for the knife you are acting in good faith.

The deposit that I ask of you is 44 cents about half the wholesale cost of the knlfe, and less than one-third what you would have to pay for a knife like it, if you bought one.

Send the money by a Postal Order or one-cent stamps for 44cts., and put a five-cent stamp on the letter, which must not weigh more than one-half ounce.

The deposit of 44 cents will be placed to your credit, and will be deducted from your first order at the dozen rate.

I am an advertising agent, contractor and publisher with one of the largest Advertising businesses in the world, and absolutely guarantee to send, postage paid and duty free, the knife described above free to anyone who signs the promise below, and sends it with the ber of the paper has come out will, if he likes, have his name printed in this space as agent for these knives.

Story of a Strange Coincidence Which Looks Like an Answer to Prayer.

We have in our possession a photograph of one of the strangest and most remarkable accidents that ever came to our knowledge. It lies on the desk as we write and was handed to us by M. E. It is the bust of a man, with curly hair and dark beard, and several to whom it has been exhibited at once recognized a resemblance between the engravings usually seen of Christ.

It seems that some time since a Mrs. Timmerman of Piedmont, S. C., where graph business, suffered the loss of a favorite daughter. The bereavement left the mother broken hearted. She is a Christian woman, and she prayed that God would give her some token by which #### Vaccinated Sure Enough.

A lad of this town is now suffering from being vaccinated 47 times, and his case is regarded as about as serious as smallpox would be. His name is Werts, and his home is on Mulberry street. Recently the school board ordered all the school children vaccinated, and Werts' little sister was one of the victims. The virus in her arm caused an itching sensation, and on the sly she used her hairbrush to alleviate it. At the same time she accommodated her brother, loaning him her brush, which he used in lieu of a regular flesh brush to rub his back. The virus on the brush was effectually introduced in the lad's system, and his parents becoming frightened sent for a doctor. He came, shook his head doubt fully and sent for Health Officer Richter and two other physicians. It looked like smallpox, but the little sister di vulged her secret, and the whole matter was explained. Among the thousand or more temples and shrines with which the holy Hindoo city of Benares is endowed, visitors generally find the great temple dedicated to the worship of the goddess Durga one of the most interesting. It is known to Europeans as the monkey temple, because in and around its precincts many hundreds of sacred monkeys roam about without interference. The temple is situated in the southern extremity of the city. It was erected during the last century by the Ranee Bhawani of Natre, in honor of Siva's wife, the terrific goddess who is supposed to delight in death and slaughter, and of whom the poor believers in the various attributes of the deities comprising the Hindoo pantheon stand in the greatest dread. A correspondent of the London Graphic writes as follows regarding the place:

"The Durga Kund is conspicuous in this city of temples for the grace and simplicity of its architecture. It adjoins a tank which is the finest in Benares and occupies the central portion of a quadrangle, the walls being stained red with ocher. The sacred portion of the temple consists of 12 finely carved pillars standing on a marble platform and supporting a heavy roof. The platform is about four feet from the ground and is ascended by a flight of low steps on each side of the square. The temple is well provided with the necessary instruments for creating the frightful noises which emanate from these abodes of fdolatry all over India. Drums of huge dimensions, gongs, bells and tomtoms are all at the service of the priests in performing the rites required of them. But the antics of the monkeys which make this temple their home are, next to its architecture, the most attractive feature of the place.

"The goat's blood with which the walls are sprinkled and the sacrifices that are known to take place here to appease the wrath of Siva and his terrifying spouse are rather revolting to a Christian, but the grotesque play of the monkeys, their importunate begging, the pranks they enact on one another and the graceful agility they are constantly displaying supply a perpetual source of amusement which one is apt to think must prove rather distracting to the devout Hindoos who come here to worship. These sa-cred monkeys are of the genus Semnopethecus entellus, popularly known as the long tailed Indian monkey.

"A few years ago, as no one dared to molest these animals, they not only increased rapidly in numbers, but, growing to be extraordinarily bold, developed alarming thieving propensities. The annoyance they caused amounted to a public nuisance, for no house in the place was safe from their depredations. At last the trouble grew so serious that some reduction in the number of these adept thieves became a necessity, although the prejudices of the people were against any such steps being taken. In the end the government was requested to interfere, and waiving aside all other considerations but that of public polity the authorities had many hundreds-report says many thousands-captured and sent away. Nevertheless there are plenty of them left, and they certainly constitute one of the sights of a city that is probably in many respects the most interesting in the world.'

"FOUR TRACK SERIES" ETCHINGS.

The Unexampled Offer of the New York Central.

Art lovers will find one of the best bargains placed before the public for many a month in the offer of the Pas-senger Department of the New York Central, to sell at a merely nominal figure a collection of etchings, which have become famous all over the coup have become famous all over the coun-tay as the "Four-Track Series."

The titles of the etchings are "The The titles of the etchings are "The Washington Bridge," "Rock of Ages, Niagara Falls," "Old Spring at West Point," "Rounding the Nose, Mohawk valley," "No. 999 and the DeWitt Clinton," "The Empire State Express," "Horse Shoe Fall, Niagara," and "Gorge of Niagara River."

These etchings are all printed on fine plate paper, 24x32 inches, and the absence of any objectionable advertising feature renders them suitable for framing and hanging in one's office, library or home.

Copies may be secured at the office of W. B. Jerome, General Western Pas-senger Agent, 97 Clark Street, Chicago, for fifty cents each, or will be mailed in stiff tubes, secure from injury, to any address, for 75 cents each, or any two of them to one address, for $1.30, or any three or more ordered at one time to one address, 60 cents each, in currency, stamps, express or postal money order. 27

The Ink Plant.

In Colombia there grows a plant whose popular name is the ink plant. Its juice is a ready made ink. At first the writing looks reddish, but it becomes deep black in the course of a few hours. It will not harm steel pens; and letters written with it, if soaked in water, even for a long time, will be quite legible when dry. The plants are poisonous, however, so that this natural ink will never take the place of the common or finger staining

A MILLIONAIRE'S CHECK.

Written on a Piece of Board About Eighteen Inches Square.

They were talking about queer checks, drafts, etc., in the bank, and a gentleman from Kansas City, Mo., finally told the following:

"I was once employed," he said, "to collect a balance of $470 which was due a well-known building firm of Kansas City from an eccentric old millionaire. How he made his money I don't know, for it is said he could neither read nor write, but he had it all the same.

"Well, I found the old boy down in his cellar, and was gratified to hear him say that he could pay the bill at once. 'I haven't that much cash with me,' he said, 'but just wait a minute.'

"He felt around as if looking for a piece of paper, and I was just about to offer him some, when his eyes lit on a piece of board about eighteen inches square.

"Just the thing,' he said, and with that he picked it up and made a lot of queer-looking marks on it.

"There,' he said, 'take that to my bankers and it'll be all right.'

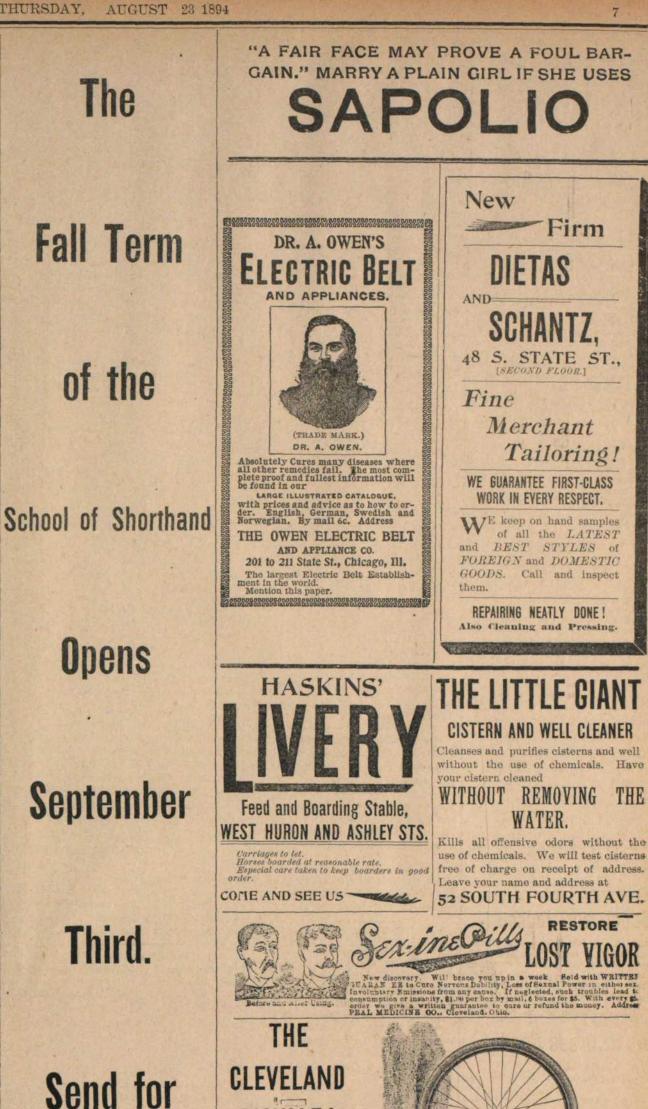

"I protested, but he insisted, and finally I did as he said. I handed the piece of plank, dubiously enough I tell you, to the paying teller, but what was my relief when he merely smiled, studied the hieroglyphics a moment, and handed me $470. Then he laid the board up on a shelf, and that was all there was to it.

"It transpired that the old man had a system of signs all his own, which his bankers had agreed to respect. All the same the plank check seemed curious even to them, and it is hanging up in the office of their establishment now."

The Lovely Agrippina. The younger Agrippina, the daughter of the widow of Germanicus, was a widow of entirely different species from her mother. When a young girl she married a Russian gentlemen, who oon after died unde cumstances. She next captured a rich old patrician, who also died soon after the union. She then fascinated her uncle, the Emperor Claudius, and persuaded him to marry her. She is believed to have had a hand in his death, as also in that of several persons who opposed the accession of her son Nero to the imperial throne. After innumerable crimes she was finally put to death by command of her equally infamous son.

cently recorded the arrival in the city of Thomas Godbepraised of Barrow-in-Furness, England. Being approached upon the subject of the oddity of his surname, Mr. Godbepraised said:

"Yes, I suppose the name does sound very odd to Americans, although such names are not altogether unusual in England and especially in Lancashire, which was a stronghold of the Roundheads or Puritans in Cromwell's time. My home is in Barrow-in-Furness, which is in Lancashire. My ancestors prior to Cromwell's time were all royalists. The family name was Elliot. A younger son renounced the religious faith and political opinions of his forefathers and became a Puritan. As was usual in such cases he abjured his carnal name of Charles Elliot and took the inspired one of Ezekiel Godbepraised.

"There is quite a romance connected with this ancestor of mine. He fell in love with the only daughter of a Colonel Fielding in the Cavaliers' army, and not being able to obtain her father's consent to their marriage Ezekiel abducted her and for two years kept her hidden in a dreary house that stood near the little town of Formby, where a son was born. After a battle a little to the south of the River Mersey between the Cavaliers and Roundheads her brothers discovered her and carried her off to old Furness abbey. In the hurry the child was left behind, but as a result of the mother's pleading one of the brothers returned to Formby to get it.

"In the meantime Ezekiel had discovered his loss and removed the child. Then the followed the brother back to Furness abbey, but arrived too late. The brother and sister had set sail from Barrow beach for the isle of Man. A storm came up, and Ezekiel arrived just in time to see the boat founder. He returned to his child more bitter against the royalists than ever and brought the child up with the same sentiments.

"At the close of the war Ezekiel adopted the trade of a weaver and settled in Barrow-in-Furness. Thus the name was perpetuated, the stern commands of the father forbidding the son to throw off the fanatical nickname when the heat of Puitanical zeal had given away."-Philad lphia Times.

The fire department was called out at midnight last Saturday by a fire at the house of Mr. Ed. Kent in the Fifth Ward. It was discovered by a trainman on the M. C. who gave the alarm. About $500.00 damage was done. As Sunday it seemed that the majority of nobody lived in the house it is generally supposed to have been the work of an incendiary Some people even go so far as to declare whom they think did the deed.

The fire department was called out Monday afternoon by an alarm sent in from 33 N. University-ave. It proved to be nothing but a burning chimney. An hour later another alarm was sent in. This time it was from Hunter's foundry on W. Huron-st. A spark from the chimney had caught in the roof. Before it had burned more than a small hole in the roof the company had the water upon it and extinguished it.

"Pub. Docs."

Professor Edward S. Morse writes to The Popular Science Monthly justly complaining of the way in which our gov ernment publications at Washington are distributed. Of each of these, 1,900 copies are issued. "From this edition 50 foreign governments and the larger libraries and institutions are each supposed to receive a copy." What becomes of the rest Professor Morse tells as as follows: "It would be paralleled by the pension bureau issuing a certain number of checks to congressmen and senators to scatter where they pleased or to realize on them if they were so inclined. In the rural regions the public documents are used as scrapbooks by the children, and there is scarcely an attic in the land that does not contain a few " Yet, if congressmen's constituents only knew it, these publications, heavy as they are, are in some instances worth almost their weight in gold. The books issued by the bureau of animal industry may be mentioned especially as containing information that would be priceless to farmers and live stock breeders. Yet only the fewest of these ever set eyes on the reports of the government agricultural department. The reason is found in faulty distribution. Congressmen dump the things into their wastebaskets or send them to the junkshops very often instead of taking pains to distribute them among those of their constituents whom they will benefit. Professor Morse says he rescued lately seal fisheries was so grateful for one book that he learned its contents at once and then gave it to the librarians of Harvard college, who were as glad to get it as he had been. No pains or expense has been spared in all the departments with which they deal that is needed by many. The truth is that a list of the government publiernment issues a bulletin of its publications occasionally, but nobody pays much attention to it. The trouble is that the people do not understand how valuable the documents are.

The Seventh Day Adventist brethren have lately held a great revival meeting at Battle Creek. So earnest and effective was it that many families have given up their homes and property and gone to preach the gospel of the new advent to all the earth.

One of the fixed tenets of these believers is that the end of the world is near. They interpret in their own way the prophecies of Daniel, and they declare that the end of the world as we are accustomed to see it is at hand. Storms, raging fires and awful tempests will descend upon the earth. There will be such destruction as none ever witnessed, and in the midst of it the second advent of the Redeemer will take place. One of the signs that the judgment is near is the covetousness and heaping up of riches by all mankind. This, they say, is distinctly foretold for the last Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup has days. ### An International Currency.

Mr. Franklin B. Head, secretary of the Chicago Bimetallic league, is sure that the way out of the money troubles of civilized countries at present is for them to establish a gold and silver international currency. Perhaps Mr. Head is right, but how is he going to do it? The United States would be only too willing, but how shall we bring England, the world's great creditor nation, to our point of view?

Mr. Head puts forth in connection with his discussion of the silver question in The Forum an idea that will be new to most of his readers. It is nothing less than that the fall of the Roman empire was due to the contraction of her currency. The principal supplies of gold and silver came in Roman days from Greece and Spain. Their mines became exhausted, and ruin overtook the Roman empire. Her prosperity was greatest when her currency was largest. With the giving out of the mines the currency contracted and continued to do so till it was only one-eighth its former volume, Rome was beggared. The imperial city became infested with hordes to kindle a fire in a locomotive. This of tramps. The people lost public spirit and patriotism. "It was not the lack of bravery in the depleted legions, but the lack of means efficient to maintain them, which led to the extinguishment old waste is thrown on top of it. Upon of Roman civilization." Public and private morality had been just as corrupt 400 years before as it was when ed. Then the fire is lighted. The oil Rome finally fell. It was not either till spray answers the purpose of kindling Columbus discovered the western world, with its vast gold mines, that civilization took a fresh start and went on again, says Mr. Head. He writes:

"The wise and permanent settlement of the silver question is today by far the most momentous problem which confronts the statesmanship of the civilized world. Upon it hinges possibly even the fate of civilization itself. I firmly believe that the only lasting adjustment of the currency of the world must be based on an agreement between all the great commercial and therefore civilized nations for the free coinage, upon some agreed ratio, of both gold and silver. As matters now are, no single nation can safely act upon this theory, from the certainty of drifting thereby into silver monometallism. The picture of a ship representing the bearrepeal of the silver purchase law at the present session of congress was wise and absolutely necessary to guard against a depreciated currency. If any one of the great commercial nations should alone have been in your blood for years, may be thoroughly expelled by giving Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial. be paid to that nation in silver, while the other nations would refuse to take it back when the balances were reversed. Silver can be restored to its proper money positions only by the concurrent action of Europe and America-in other words, by international bimetallism. "The present depression in all branches of trade throughout the world and the enforced idleness of millions of workmen are attributable in part to other causes, but far more to the demonetization of silver than to all other causes combined. There is a worldwide feeling of impending disaster, a conviction broad and deep that causes at work are more deep rooted and serious than the ordinary fluctuations of trade. The conviction, too, is becoming general that the root of the evil is the increasing scarcity of gold in proportion to the wants of commerce, and the change in the relative value of gold and silver, in consequence solely of the mistaken legislation of the last 20 years."

Goodby to flattery's fawning face; To grandeur, with his wise grimace; To upstart wealth's averted eye; To supple office, low and high; To crowded halls, court and street; To frozen heart and hast'ing feet; To those who go and those who come-Goodby, proud world, I'm going home.

I'm going home to my own hearthstone I'm going nome to my own nearthstone. And vulgar feet have never trod-A spot that's sacred to thought and God.

Oh, when I'm safe in my sylvan home, I tread on the pride of Greece and Rome, And when I'm stretched beneath the pines Where the evening star so holy shines I laugh at the lore and pride of man, At the sophist schools and the learned clan, For what are they all in their high conceit When man in the bush with God may meet —Ralph Waldo Emergen.

George IIJ and Our Flag.

Elkanah Watson of Philadelphia, a distinguished patriot, visited England soon after the close of the Revolution. Having won money on a wager, he decided to use the sum for a picture of himself to be painted by Copley. In the course of time the picture was finished, with the exception of a background, which the painter had reserved for a ing to America of the news of the recognition of the United States of America The ship was finished, and nothing remained but to paint a flag at her mast. Watson dined with Copley on Dec. 5, 1782, and after listening to the speech painted in the flag while the words of acknowledgment were still warm from the lips of the king. He had refrained from doing so before because his studio was the resort of royalty and nobility. This painted flag is said to have been the first American flag seen by George III, who visited Copley's studio soon after the picture was completed .- New York Sun.

STARTING HORSES.

SOME OF THE REASONS WHY THIS IS A DIFFICULT BUSINESS.

Why It is Harder Here Than In Other Countries-Bother of Short Dashes-Popular Misunderstandings of Good and Bad Starts.

Starting race horses is a fine art, and the man who fancies it isn't will never be convinced until he stands, flag in hand, facing 10,000 persons, and with a dozen or so thoroughbreds, ridden by anxious jockeys, upon the track, each rider doing his best to get an advantage over his fellows. In 19 cases out of 20 it is not the thoroughbred that is to blame for the trouble at the post, nor is it the jockey directly, but it is the owner. trainer or some speculator in the background who has told the jockey to get off in front, no matter what happens, and who has promised to pay his fine or reimburse him for any penalty he may incur in carrying out instructions. It is all very well to sit in the grand stand and criticise the work of the starter. One must try the business himself to appreciate its difficulties and its trials.

It is a much harder task to start race horses as we race in this country than in England, France, Austria or Australia, where the pace is very slow at the start, and a length or two advantage when the flag falls does not count for much. With us, and especially of late years, since the system of short dashes has become so popular with horse owners, which, by the way, has had such a depressing influence on the improvement of the blooded horse, the style has been to ride pellmell from the start, and races are won and lost very frequently when the flag falls. Judgment of pace is fast becoming a lost art, and even our best jockeys now, with very rare exceptions, have no more idea of race riding than to get away well and the stage, to say: 'Unhand me, ruffian! quickest possible fashion. Consequently | such as thou I'd cast myself from yonevery boy becomes imbued with the der battlement into the foaming flood idea that to win he must get off in front.

The reader can easily picture to himself the scene at the post when there are 15 or 20 horses, many of them ridden by boys not 16 years of age, all of whom have been told-some of them with threats and others with promises of large rewards-to get the best of the sword? start. Any visitor to our race tracks is familiar with the scene at the post. Half a dozen horses will rush away at a false break when there is no possible chance for an equitable start, and when they come trotting back and before they have had time to wheel and get into line those that remained behind the first time will dash out and run perhaps a hundred yards, leaving the first squad in their places. This goes on indefinitely. The public is also familiar with the sight of one or more horses standing motionless some lengths behind their competitors. The starter asks the riders of the horses in advance of the laggards to wait until they have taken their positions. Each boy seems to think it is his bounden duty to walk his horse when those in the rear attempt to move up at a walk and to break away madly if an attempt is made by those behind to come up at a run.

A starter should have a thorough of a high degree of intelligence, be across his face. quick of eye and hand and, above all, e of unimpeachable integrity. The issue of many thousands of dollars, oftentimes hundreds of thousands of dollars, is decided by the fall of his red flag, and it is his duty to see that every horse, no matter by whom he is owned, has an equal chance when he leaves the post. Every effort is made to catch the horses in motion and on as nearly even terms as possible. The eye must take in the field in a twinkling, and if the judgment is that the start is satisfactory the hand will act in unison with the eye and the brain. Very often horses are in bad places, and what might look to be a good start from the grand stand would be a poor one in the judgment of the starter, and the flag does not fall. Criticism follows, and generally it is of the harshest and ding blossom hugged against his torn most unjust character. Some horses are waist, and Uncle John was left with quicker on their feet than others and will make a good start look like a poor in the world as beautiful as flowers. one through their ability to get under way much more rapidly than their competitors. A good start when the flag drops becomes to the unthinking and ignorant a poor start, and abuse is heaped upon the head of the official. From time to time mechanical appliances for starting race horses have been invented, but they have not been practical and have not achieved success. A swinging gate to be raised by electricity was spoken of some time ago, but fractious thoroughbreds could not be got near it. There are, again, horses that are not to be controlled at times, and collisions with the obstacle would undoubtedly be of daily occurrence. Then, too, it would take months of drilling to get horses to overcome the idea. that they were not going to run into the gate. This and many other objections can be raised against this system. A western inventor has patented a gate to be lowered before the horses while they stand at the post, which may be moved away from them at a rapid rate of speed by electric power, the barrier time.-New York Sun.

HER DILEMMA.

To and fro, back and across the rose bestrewn carpet of the drawing room in a Victoria street flat swept and rustled the laces and silks of Mrs. Venning's newest Paris tea gown.

"What shall I do? Whatever shall I do?" cried Mrs. Venning as for the hundredth time the writing table barred her progress and turned her footsteps back to where the carved mantelpiece and bibelots of every description.

pausing gazed with a self pitying smile a guiding hand and a strong arm. at the pretty profusion that met her

"Roses at Christmas!" she said aloud. "That's the text of the old sermon. For the three years of my widowhood I've had roses at Christmas and everything else to match. Laura Marindin spent French brocades. I ran in debt as many thousands by doing up my rooms with old embroideries. I suppose she's got a demanded perusal. receipt for her money. I have a county court summons for mine."

She dropped into the writing chair I've read all these?" and leaned her chin, dimpled and round as a baby's, in her palms. "It seems to be about $30,000 the horrid people want from me. I can't make it any less, and me-kind regards. How Scotch! I've added everything together a dozen times. Of course I know I have been extravagant; but, then, I'm young-and-not bad looking"-which was Mrs. Venning's way of considering her undoubted beauty—"and a widow into the bargain. And widows are expected to be so very smart nowadays.

"Still the tradespeople should not have given me such unlimited credit. Ah, that's the real root of the whole matter! The credit system is the ruin of women, who, like myself, must have pretty things about them.

"Thirty thousand dollars, and most of it to be paid almost at once. I am worth-nothing-in cash. These things" -she looked about her luxurious surroundings with appreciative eyes-"I wonder what they would fetch if it came to a sale? I paid-at least I owean awful lot for some of them. But it mustn't, it shan't, come to a sale. A rich marriage. Now, let me think who

Gluckstein wouldn't marry a penniless the fates to win me; would wait for me, and in their different ways expressed a perfect readiness to fall in with my views if ever I could persuade myself to reconsider my decision."

Yet all the time a curious hesitancy mingled with her air of determination. Twice she laid her pen on the paper, as though to add a ninth name to those already written. The third time her fingers traced the letter R, but she scratched it through hastily.

"I think I must be mad. The idea of my offering to marry Reginald Beresford! Reggie, with whom I quarreled. Reggie, with whom I played in my baby days. Reggie, to whom I was engaged when I was still in short frocks, before he was first sent to India.

"I was married to Mr. Venning when he came back, and then-then poor Reggie began to racket and spend his money and ruin his health. Heaven forgive me! I laughed at him-he was so poor -for, though my heart ached for him, my head was too light to remember any. thing but that I was young and pretty. It serves me right that, after all, I am obliged to marry some man I hate any way. Now for it!"

In her slender writing she penned eight letters to the men who within the last few months had wooed and tried to win the prettiest widow in positively groaned under its load of London. "Colonel Dingwall is engaged to a young girl-all blue eyes and golden hair-going to be married next week. How foolish he must have felt when he read my letter! Well, four of them are out of the running."

A slight flush rose to Mrs. Venning's cheeks as she opened the fifth letter, which she quickly tore across and across.

And so, with crinkled brows and a slender forefinger that ticked off each victim to Mrs. Venning's charms as he came in view, the prettiest and most popular woman in town passed before her mind's eye such men as, by their station or fortune, could alone save her from social and financial annihilation.

The Earl of Wessex she had openly snubbed a month ago, and only a week back his engagement to a Chicago pork packer's daughter had been announced. Hon. Bertie Shorthouse was a nice boy, and his prospects truly grand, but he had been very wild on his own account, and a marriage with him might scarcely be satisfactory-from the point of view of the clamorous tradespeople.

The young Duke of Woodford was highly eligible, but the old duchess, his mother, kept a sharp eye on the lad and had openly expressed her detestation of widows.

The bishop of Barchester was rich and a well preserved man, but, oh, so prosy and so dreadfully intolerant of the ways of the world!

"Reggie! You? Where have you been, poor boy, and what have you been doing?

"I have been at the Cape, and I have been making my fortune. And you?" "Oh, I"-

"I hear you are free?"

"Yes!"

"Going to marry again?" "Perhaps. Is that what you came back from the Cape to say?'

"Yes. Any chance for the, Lulu?" "What will you do if I say no?" "Go back to the Cape."

"I could not send you back there again, Reggie."

He caught her perfect form in his strong arms; her beautiful head rested on his shoulder; he kissed her many times. He called her by name, but she only sobbed, for she was very happy. Women are strange things.—Pick Me Up.
