Rev. Minot J. Savage.

Rev. M. J. Savage who opens the Unity Club lecture course next Monday evening, has been in Boston eight years, having gone there from Chicago. From the first he took rank there with Phillips Brooks, at the head of the Boston pulpit. Since the death of Brooks, Savage has been confessedly the leading preacher of New England, while for freshness and strength of thought combined with convincing power of statement he has no superior in America. He has done extensive work as a writer as well as preacher and lecturer. He has published two volumes of poems, one novel, two theological works, and seventeen volumes of ser mons. Several of his books are reprinted in England. For the past fif teen years his Sunday morning sermon has been published every week in pamphlet form, under the title of lot by Moses Seabolt, the groom's "Unity Pulpit," and has a circulation father and the same elaborately furb "What may be done." One dollar is the lowest price that a really good knife can be sold for. This solumn is placed in this paper to adverse the very best Pocket-knife ever sold. It is J. C. TIDMARSH'S Sheffield Never buy a knife only because it tooks well. If blades are not the best Sheffield steel they will soon bend, no matter how they will look. Still, you want a fine-looking knife.

The United States law provides that only samples to agents and to the trade will be admitted free of duty. You can, therefore, see the advantage that I have in sending samples to agents over those who deal in Sheffield goods

Imagine a Pecket-knife (3t inches long) with the most beautifully-grained extravagant in expenditures and has exceeded all former administrations in the lavish outlay of the people's money. Every handle—genuine African ivery—and with two blades of the very best

DEMOCRATIC HANDBOOK

FULL OF ERRORS AND OUTRAGEOUS FALSEHOODS ABOUT MICHIGAN.

Dishonest Jazging With Figures by the Fisher Advocates, their guard. Every honest man should tonstitute himself a vigilance committee of one to rum down and head off Democratic campaign lies and never relax his activity until the ballots are cast, honestly counted and safely re-

The Republican party is entitled to a rousing victory in Michigan this year. No half-way victory will suffice. It would be almost a defeat. The Democrats do not expect to carry the state, but they are straining every nerve to take the edge off of the Re-publican victory which is sure to come. They wish to keep the majority down They wish to keep the majority down to so low a figure as to deprive Michigan Republicans of any real cause for rejoicing. In their anxiety to accomplish this the Democratic managers have resorted to the most shameful misrepresentations about the relative expenses of the Winans and Rich administrations of the state. They are endeavoring to convince the people that the present Republican administration of the state has been criminally extravagant in expenditures and has

The Democrats have just issued a "Campaign handbook, 1894," filled full of misrepresentations well calculated to cheat the honest voter out of his vote. They present for his considera-tion the following array of figures:

State taxes levied during Winans

The first of these sums is correct and so is the second. But the conclusion is false. It may seem an appears that from two truths a falsehood may be deduced, but it is no novelty in Democratic ampaign reasoning. The fallacy here consists in a half-truth, which is well known to be worse than a lie, especially in Democratic mouths. The Democratic "handbook" keeps out of sight the fact that, in addition to the taxes levied during Winans' term, the Republicans turned over $603,515.76 and got back only $345,-878.88, a difference of $257,636.88, which was all spent and must be charged up to the Winans' administration. The book also ignores the fact that the Democrats received from the United I determined to use large sum of adwertising money entrusted to me in sending out free samples to those who promise to act as agents for the sale of these knives.

If will send you a tree sample, but sum ust sign the promise at the foot the foot and must sign the promise at the foot be $3.541,553.76.

The Republican administration, on the contrary, is entitled to a large de-duction from the taxes levied during Rich's term, in estimating the cost of The deposit that I ask of you is 44 cents about half the wholesale cost of the knife, and less than one-third what you would have te pay for a knife like it, if you bought one.

duction from the taxes levied during Rich's term, in estimating the cost of his administration. The sum of $402,-423 was raised for repairs, improvements and new buildings, made necessary by Democratic neglect. This is Send the meney by a Postal Order or one-cent stamps for 44cts., and put a five-cent stamp on the letter, which must not weigh more than one-half ounce.

Send the meney by a Postal Order or state government. When this deduction is made, it shows that the Rich administration cost the people only $3,217,027.58, or $323,626.18 less than Winans' admistration.

The deposit of 44 cents will be placed to your credit, and will be deducted from your first erder at the dozen rate.

The Democratic "handbook," by telling only part of the truth, is expected to deceive the people into repudiating the best and most economical state

After representing the total receipts of the Republican administration at $3,-620,350.58, it charges the administra-tion with a total disbursement of $7,-139,757.40. This leaves a discrepancy in the Democratic statement of $3,519, After the sample they can only be supplied to you by the dozen as there is funds, arising under constitutional provisions from the collection of special to you be paid. 406.82 to be accounted for. Nothing better shows the dishonesty of Democratic campaign work more than this one fact. In the first place the "handbook" exaggerates the total of disbursements far beyond what it can possibly be and then includes in the disbursements for running the state government the disbursement of the educational funds, which are in no way connected with the running of the state government. A moment's reflection shows the dishonesty of such a charge against the Rich administra-tion. The specific taxes are turned into the primary school fund by the express provisions of the constitution and are expended for educational purposes alone. The receipt and expenditure of specific taxes, being thus expressly dictated by the constitution, is EARS,

One of the most amusing instances of the capicity of the average Democratic campaign writer to juggle with figures was found in the "handbook" as it was first published. It contained the startling assertion that the legislature of 1893 appropriated $1,856,000,000. That is more than all the legislatures, both Democratic and Republican, have appropriated together since the state appropriated together since the state was born. The assertion was thought to be a trifle too strong and after conwiltation by the Democratic managers, the book was hauled off and a revised version run off But the incident well Illustrates the capacity of the Democratic party for misrepresentation and downright falsehood.

That Income Tax.

After howling through several campaigns about the injustice of "war taxes in times of peace" and "class legislation" the present Democratic administration has resorted to one of the The voters of Michigan must be on their guard Every honest man should their guard Every honest man should their guard Every honest man should the income tax. Without stopping at present to quote the eloquent de-nunciation of that form of taxation made on the floor of the senate by no less a Democrat than Senator Hill, or to note the many other objections that may be urged against it, let us notice the Detroit Free Press' recent account of how it worked during war times. It was an interview with an old internal revenue officer. After alluding to the temptation which existed ander the old conditions for capitalists to underrate their incomes, which dwindled fearfully when they were confronted with the obnoxious tax, the account proceeds:

"Some rather close-fisted millionaires received a pitiably small income according to the sworn records. But a time came when there was a change; the newspapers began to publish the incomes and several persons went before the public as comparatively poor men. One capitalist had his in-come published and it caused general comment. The capitalist came tearing comment. The capitalist came tearing up to the office.

"'How is it those figures went into the paper that way?' he demanded.

"That is the way you swore to them on the record."

"That is impossible. Why, those figures are ridiculous. What do you suppose the public thinks of them? Really, sir, it was very wrong in you to permit such figures to go in print."

"We can settle that by referring to your statement,' was the reply.

"The statement was produced and "You can send in an amended return.'

"This was done, and thereafter a tolerably fair estimate of the old gentleman's income was received. But if a few wealthy persons underestimated their incomes, insolvent men threw the balance the other way by declaring quite handsome incomes and reluctantly paying the taxes rather than to be considered bankrupt."

But the Democratic income tax law takes away this safeguard against false swearing—newspaper publicity—for, UNDER THE NEW LAW THE RECORDS ARE PRIVATE. Dishonest millionaires may swear falsely to reduce their taxes and have their perjury hidden from the public, and dishonest bank-rupts may hide their insolvency from their creditors—all through the grace of Democratic law.

What do the people think of this kind of legislation?

One of the most important duties of the commissioner of the state land office is to look after the trespassers on state lands. There is a constant temp-tation to dishonest lumber and timber operators to make raids on the rich fields of operations owned by the state. and the keenest vigilance is necessary to protect the people from being robbed by this class of operators. It may be interesting to the people to know how much better their interests have been watched by the present administration than they were by the Democratic ad-ministration. The following table shows the amounts collected from tres-passers on state lands under the Democratic administration of the land office and under the Republican administration up to October 1:

Trespass collected under Democratie administration:
For 1891 $618 00

present state land commissioner, and the Republican candidate, there has been collected for trespass, $5,891.40. During the Democratic administration the trespass agents, under the di-rection of Land Commissioner Shaffer, were so zealous in their attempts to cover money into the state treasury, in order to meet the rapidly diminishing surplus left by the Republicans, that they did not hesitate to extort money from persons who were found cutting timber on their own land, and $400 was squeezed from the Presque Isle Lumber company of Hammond's Bay for alleged trespass on land belonging to the company. The report of this collection may be found on page five of commissioner's report for 1892, and in state state treasurer's report for 1892, page eight, and on page 460 of public acts of

In order to right this wrong, as far as they could do so, the legislature, by joint resolution No. 32, approved June 1, 1893, provided for a settlement with the Presque Isle Lumber company for the damages sustained, and such adjustment was subsequently made by the board of state auditors.

The Franchise Fee Law.

Among the important acts of the legislature of 1893 the amendment of the franchise fee law must not be overlooked. The legislature of 1891, on the recommendation of Gov. Luce in his retiring message, passed an act to require all corporations filing articles of incorporation in the state department to pay a certain percentage on their capital stock as a fee for incorporation. The law was so imperfect that the The law was so imperfect that the The law was so imperfect that the largest corporations, those organized in other states but doing business here, had to pay no tax. The last legislature amended the law so as to include all such corporations, as well as all increases of capital stock by corporations already for med, so that a corporation could not evade the law by organizing with a small capital stock and then imwith a small capital stock and then in mediately increasing it. The result has been that, even in these hard times, the amount received as franchise fees, from foreign corporations and increase of capital stock of all corporations since May 13, 1893, when the new law went into effect, aggregates $10,678.57. This is but one act out of many beneicial to the state passed by the last

XLI. MORAL AND RELIGIOUS POWER

OF THE CHURCHES.

The point of greatest moment in regard to any institution, be it ecclesiastical, scholastic or whatever else affecting civic life, is that of the moral force which it brings to bear upon the people, and this is the more difficult to estimate to the satisfaction of readers, in its application to churches especially, as few know ought of places quite destitute of these, with which to make comparisons. Savage and pagan life is distant and known to most of us only through literature. Places where church influence is feeable are common, as also places where it is strong, but has relatively strong counter attractions to hold its way against, all which complicate the difficulties of the estimate here proposed. Ann Arbor offers one of the best illustrations of what I mean by counter attractions, and this has been so ever since the place was a village of two thousand people. Nor by counter attractions, do I mean influences really adverse to sound religious teaching; I have reference rather to the indefinetely multiplied entertainments, be they lectures on scientic or social topics, social amusements, locally gotten up, or brought hither by some intineraut troupe. Some of these may be in themselves good, others at worst simply neutral and bad only as shutting out something better, while still others are positively bad, as generating a love for mere amusement and filling the mind with pictures which render sound religious teaching distasteful. Against these influences, which naturally rush to university towns, the ministry of this place has ever had to contend. How they have acted and how well succeeded, may be

There are three attitudes which the churches of a place, as represented by their ministry, may assume towards each other:

briefly indicated.

1. That of mutual hostility, illustrating itself in polemie discourses on points wherein they differ. In disruptive movements, like that which broke out so violently in the sixteenth century, religious polemics become inevitable and so are really natural and this state of polemic agitation will continue until the elements shall have become separately agregated and organized according their affinities. So far it is necessary, and indeed wholesome. This state of things existed of course when our country was new, whether as a whole, or in its several sections. Settlers were then rushing in, their ecclesiastical preferences had either not been formed, or were unknown to others, and conflict was unavoidable.

2. The several churches of a place may without hostile feeling simply ignore each other in the prosecution of their leligious work. This may occur even without intention and from causes which do not admit of easy control. We have in this city a note-worthy illustration. Our population has a large German element, originally separated from a majority of the community by the im. passible gulf which lies between two languages that are foreign to each other. People seldom appreciate the formidableness of this obstacle to relig. ious intercourse. A foreigner soon acquires such knowledge of the language of those around him as to understand and employ the current terms of the streets and the shop and yet may receive no distinct impression from a plain sermom or even from a personal conversation on a religious topic, if this shall be carried on in any language other than that in which religious thought had been previously conveyed to him. This, without the aid of any hostile feeling, has proved an obstacle to religious co-operation between the Christian churches and pastors of the place and the fault, so far as it is a fault, belongs quite as much to the English speaking as to the German element. If a German family, knowing no English, has settled next to one which knows no German, attempts at social intercourse between the two prove very unsatisfactory, of course are not continued if even begun, and so the German speaking settlers have naturally restricted their social relations to their own people; and when they have become familiar with our language, we do not take measures to extend our social relations among them. To do this would in time lead to cordial co-operation in moral and religious enterprises in which these elements now stand apart, A difference of views as to what constitutes a scripturally organized Christian church has led to what I have called an ignoring of each other by the various religious denominations. The Roman Catholics and Protestant Episcopalians do not of course acknowledge the other churches to be truly oganiz. ed. But this has not, so far as I know, led to any religious polemics.

3. The remaining attitude indicated of the Christian denominations towards each other is that of cordial co-operation in the grand framework of religious truth. This has been very romarkable in the history of Ann Arbor. Having settled in the place in 1844, and the files.

having been here most of the time since" I have never yet heard here a controversial sermon. When ministers have held forth the tenents in which they differ from others, they have generally done this without attacking those who held other views. Indeed, it seems quite absurd that any one who has a great truth to teach should give much time to teaching that something else is not true. If something is really proved to be true, then all that is contradictory to it is false and will tall if the truth is established.

To illustrate historically, I well remember a series of revival meetings held in the Presbyterian church in the winter, as I think, of 1845, attended indiscriminately by people of all religious affiliations. The converts of these meetings were distributed generally through the churches, some, as I remember very well, uniting with St. Andrew's church.

In the days heated religious controversy the terms odium theologicum were invented to indicate this overheated zeal. The words could never have been properly used of pastors or people in this place. We could here more properly say odum medicum; for at one time so heated was the strife between the ures were taken to establish a school of homoeopathy in the institution, all the old professors wrote thier resignations; the matter has not been fought out yet, and in the mean time the people are paying taxes to support rival schools. So in general, Christians are growing into harmonious co-operation, while endless debates and irreconcilable differences are left to scientific conventions.

The Christian ministry in Ann Arbor have generally been able, and have worked well towards the solution of the difficult problem which the complex life of the place offers. It is to be hoped that they, in co-operation with their churches, will gradually bring about some such state of things as Mr. Stead has pictured under the name of organic independence, they shall combine and organize as a moral force, drawing into this organization all those who are with them in the great moral questions and still do not identify themselves with any of the churches. Only by some such combination can those great moral movements, which are the common desire of all good citizens, be carried on successfully.

LITERARY NOTES.

The September Overland contains a striking story of Indian life at the Agencies, by Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen, entitled "Zee Wee." Overland Pub. Co, San Francisco, Cal.

Prof. Sully will discuss The Questioning Age, that perplexing period for parents, in the October Popular Science Monthly. This is the third of his Studies of Childhood, and is no less delightful than the two that have preceded it .- D. Appleton & Co., New York.

The September Century has a most attractive frontispiece entitled 'Revery," from a painting by Cecilia Beaux, an artist of Philadelphia, whose career is briefly sketched in "Open Letters." A very practical paper of the same number as entitled "Play Grounds for City Schools," which shows how great are the needs in the matter of sunshine For full particulars write and fresh air. All educators will be interested also in reading the initial article descriptive of "School Excursions in Germany," a novel method of impres. ing historical truth.-The Century Co., New York.

"An Intra-Mural View," a very artistic brochure, has been received from The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia, publishers of The Ladies' Home Journal. As the title indicates, the booklet gives us glimpses of the interiors of the Journal's offices, and some idea of the work carried on there The numerous illustrations, showing the commodious and well-fitted offices, THE SHORTEST AND QUICKEST TO COLUMBUS, ATHENS, POMEROY, and all CENTRAL and SOUTHERN OHIO POINTS. MARLETTA. PARKERSBURG. ROANOKE. NORFOLK. RICHMOND, and the VIRGINIAS and CAROLINAS and the accompanying text, giving us some insight into the work in the different bureaus, requiring a force approximating four hundred employes, indicate the wonderful success which The Ladies' Home Journal has achieved in an almost incredibly short time. "An Intra-Mural View" will be sent to any one who will address The Curtis Publishing Co., Phila., and inclose tour cents in stamps for postage.

A Startling Admission.

In New York City, for five consecutive years, the proportion of Deaths from Consumption has been three in every Twenty Persons.

Epidemics of Cholera, Vellow Fever and other diseases of similar character, so ter-rible in their results, occasion wide spread alarm and receive the most careful consid-eration for their prevention and cure, while alarm and receive the most careful consideration for their prevention and cure, while consumption receives searcely a thought, yet the number of their victims sinks into insignificance when compared with those of consumption. Comparatively few people know what to do for their loved ones when they see them gradually lose strength, lose color, manifest feeble vitality and emaciation, or develop a cough, with difficult breathing, or hemorrhage. Cod liver oil was for a long time given in all such cases, but the poor success attending its use coupled with its nauseating taste has led many practitioners, as well as the public at large, to place their main reliance in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It deserves early attention and will prove effectual not in every case but in a large percentage of cases, and we believe that fully opperent of all cases of consumption can, if taken in the early stages of the disease, be cured with the "Discovery." Dr. Pierce does not ask people to believe until they have investigated for themselves. A pamphlet has been published having the names, addresses and photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarri and kindred maladies which will be mailed free to those sending for it with their name and address upon a postal card, or you can have a medical treatise, in book form of 160 pages, mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write those cured and learn their experiences.

EVEN in Georgia, one of the most rock-ribbed Democratic states in the union with a usual Democratic majority of about 80,000 we get the following: at the state election this week by 20,000. according to their figures, and by 10,ulists, who fused with the Republicans. Two years ago the Democrats won by 81,056 for President, and 71,502 for Governor in October.

FISHER says: If railroads were made to pay their proper proportion of taxes it would reduce the rate of state taxes in Michigan to one-third what it now is. He figured this on the present apportionment of taxes. He forgot that thinking people could see that a reduction of the apportionment to one-third would make the railroad tax too two-For Secretary of State-Rev. Wash thirds less than it now is. How is Spencer O. going to run the state government on such a plan? Or is he making a bid for the support of the railroads.

> THE reports which appeared in the Detroit papers last Saturday of a revolt against S. O. Fisher on the part of such prominent Democrats as the Hon. Tim Tarsney and at least two members of the Democratic state central committee created a genuine panic in Democrotic ranks all over the state. It is difficult to tell where the row will end. The breach already made is too broad to be bridged in any possible way while there is every indication that the row is only just begun. It begins to look very much as if Rich would carry the state pretty nearly unanimously!

THE Republicans of the second representative district in this county did a wise thing when they nominated, at Saline last week, Mr. J. B. Wortley, of Ypsilanti, as their candidate for the state legislature. Mr. Wortley is one of the most popular and best known young men in the southern part of the county and will make a lively canvass. We shall be surprised if he does not receive a majority of the votes in his district this fall. The people of that district could not do better than to accept the choice the Republicans have made

THE Sentinel kicks because Miss E. Cora DePuy had her story "The Workingman's Tariff," printed by the Register Pub. Co. The well posted editor of the Sentinel has evidently made a new discovery of late, when he stated that Miss DePuy is patronizing a concern which advocates protection. This is the first instance we have met with where a concern doing a general publishing and printing business, but issu. ing no publication of its own, could advocate any doctrine. Better seek some enlightenment and try again, Mr. Sen-

ONE of the points which Mr. Fisher, the Democratic candidate for governor, made, or attempted to make, in his speech in the opera house last Saturday Georgia was carried by the Democrats night, was that the Republican party was not taxing the railroads of Michigan nearly as much asthey should be taxed, 000 according to the figures of the Pop- Put the Democrats in power and they would be taxed much higher, he said Mr. Fisher neglected to mention the fact that the Democrats were in power in Michigan a few years ago and that nobody ever heard of any attempt being made to increase the tax on railroad property. The REGISTER would like to ask Mr. Fisher what reason we can have for believing that if in power again they would do any better.

Total Depravity in Washtenaw.

A very shocking case of depravity developed here this week. Stephen Harvey, a worthless vagabond, whose mother lives near the Peninsular mill, and works in the mill, when she is able, was complained of by her for entering the house late at night and eating food sent in by sympathizing neighbors to keep her from starving. She is sick and helpless, and entirely destitute, and that great hulking brute, who is about 22 years old and too lazy to provide for himself, had in that way repeatedly robbed his poor suffering mother of the last mouthful of food she had. Officers investigated the case, and promptly hauled up the unna tural son and sent him to the house of correction as a vagrant, which is all the charge that could be brought against him. When in custody he used the foulest language against his mother, and said he hoped she would die.-Ypsilanti Commercial.

High Government Authority.

No authority of greater experience on food products exists than Dr. Henry A. Mott, of New York. Dr. Mott's wide experience as Government Chemist for the Indian Department, gave him exceptional opportunities to acquaint himself with the qualities and constituent parts of baking powders. He understands thoroughly the comparative value of every brand in the market, and has from time to time expressed his opinion thereof. On a recent careful re-examination and analysis he finds

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder superior to all others in strength, purity, and efficiency: Dr. Mott writes :-

"New York, March 20th, 1894. I find Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder to be superior to all others, for the following reasons :-

ist. It liberates the greatest amount of leavening gas and is consequently more efficient.

and. The ingredients used in its preparation are of the pufest character.

3fd. Its keeping qualities are excellent.

4th. On account of the purity of the materials and their relative proportions, Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder must be considered the acme of perfection as regards wholesomeness and efficiency, and I say this having in mind certificates I have given several years ago respecting two other baking powders.

The reasons for the change in my opinion are based on the above facts and the new method adopted to prevent your baking powder from caking and deteriorating in strength.

WHAT I SAW

AT THE STATE FAIR.

LARCE ATTENDANCE AND MACNIFICENT DISPLAY.

Notes on Notable Exhibits.

DETROIT, Mich.-The State Fair of 1894, held from September 10 to 21, was crowned with success. The location—the Exposition Grounds is not surpassed for beauty and convenience in the country.

The very first thing I noticed just under the main entrance was the magnificent display of the celebrated "Lillian Russell" cigar, of which Berdan & Co., Toledo, are sole agents. This firm had a most advantageous location, and the arrangement of their goods was in keeping with the excellent quality thereof. Berdan & Co. are 60 years old, do a business of over $4,000,000 a year, and their trade is constantly increasing. The business world wonder at the novelty and lavishness of money expended in placing the merits of the "Russell before the smoking public, but the unprece dented sales justified the enterprise. To Mr. H. T. Sinclair, of the firm, and general manager, is due the great increase in their trade for the last five years. The taste displayed in arranging the exhibit was highly creditable to Mr. F. E. Parsons, the manager of the cigar department. Nowadays, when nearly every man smokes, it is a pleasure to find a cigar which has good tobacco in it, is properly made up and smokes evenly and clearly to the end That such a cigar is the "Lillian Russell," its success since it was first placed on the market is a sufficient proof. Some people would sooner miss a dinner than a good smoke.

I don't know that I would, for when I saw the 50 or 60 or maybe more—for I couldn't count them all—kinds of biscuits, crackers and so forth displayed by the Vail-Crane-Depew Bakeries of the U. S. Baking Co., of Detroit just to the right of the main entrance, my mouth watered. Such crisp, and fruity and toothsome eating, and arranged in so strikingly attractive a manner! Reel ovens and other exact machinery, with gas for heat and the best ingredients in the pans are sure to produce something good. The Vail-Crane-De-Ohio, which had scarcely been saved pew Bakeries ship all their varieties of crackers all over the west. It pays to make the best redeemed herself and gave that noble exponent of protection, Gov. McKinley, other. The demand for plain and fancy crackers in America is enormous, but there is no deterioration in the quality or variety. In the came to the front with the big mafirst rank of leading bakeries stand the Vail- jority of 7,500. Out of 108 members of

And now for a lunch, where delicious lunches were served. W. J. Gould & Co., of Detroit, were served. W. J. Gould & Co., of Detroit, had the two most popular booths at the State Fair. And what is more, they served a delicious luncheon to everyone that called upon them. Near the center of the building the largest display was made. Here a number of them. Near the center of the building the largest display was made. Here a number of young women were kept busy serving coffee and hot biscuit. Their famous "Jamo" and "Bismarck" brands of coffee were served and their delicious flavor made friends of every coffee drinker. Both are mixtures of the best coffees and have become great leadure. coffees and have become great leaders with the trade. On Friday more than 5.00) pounds of "Jamo" were purchased by retail merchants in Detroit. "Jamo" retails for 35 cents per pound, and the "Bismarck" for 30 cents. Their quality, however, as compared with other cof-fees would warrant them in asking a much higher price. A little further along came the tea booth, which was in charge of Mr. Tamaki Watanabe, the son of one of the largest tea and the cases and counters. producers and purveyor of tea to His Imperial Majesty's Court of Japan. Every woman will be interested to know how Mr. Watanabe makes such delicious tea. Well, he showed me most popular tea used in Michigan today. One of the most interesting exhibits at the Ealr was made by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., city office II Fort street west. Detroit. The booth was-filled with large photographs of scenery on the "C.P. R.", which for beauty and grandeur is not excelled. In the world. Visitors were eagerly reading the elegant books describing with pen and pencil the ing to pay. Don't ever let an issue of many features of the great railway. The "C. P. R.", besides being a great scenic route, is not surpassed on this continent in all the re- your advertisement, quirements of safety, speed and comfort. It is thoroughly built, has the finest equipments for day and night travel of any line in America, and the employes are courteous, civil and attentive to the wants of the travelers. The exhibit opened the eyes of not a few to the merits. The last ad, of a series is of this great railroad. To those who know its merits the exhibit was not necessary. To all it was interesting

Nature has been very kind to Mr. Griffith, his handsome mobile face, his dark flashing eyes, his tall, lithe, strong and graceful figure well fit him for the task of representing the satanic "Prince of Darkness." If he did nothing else but walk on the stage and speak his lines Mr. Griffith will command attention and respect. Magnetic, intelligent and thoroughly well trained in the technique of the stage, he makes his points legitimately and without effort. It is claimed by competent critics that his success will be due to the simplicity and naturalness of his methods and earnest and conscientious work, rightly directed by su-perior intelligence. The production is staged with a magnificence that boarders on the sublime, every attention having been given to the most minute detail, so that this weird spectacle will remain as a pleasant memory in the minds of its beholders. This popular play will appear at the Grand Opera House, Friday. Oct. 12.

To the Young Ladies

Of Ann Arbor and Vicinity:-

We have addressed this letter to the young ladies, but we mean it for the young men as well. We are confident that the young men will read it, if for no other reason than because it is addressed to the ladies. We want you to send to us or call for one of our circulars giving you a few points concerning Shorthand. We know that we can interest you. At least drop us a postal, and we will do the rest. We can tell you how to fit yourself for a nice position in a short time and at small expense. Why continue to work at manual labor for a mere pittance when you could, in a few months, fit yourself for a nice situation that would pay you all the way from forty to seventy-five or one hundred dollars per month. You can do what others, no smarter than yourself, have done, if you will only have a little "spunk". Come and see us or write us anyway. We like to hear from people who are interested in the subject of Shorthand as we are intensely interested in it our selves.

Very respectfully yours,

ADMINISTRATION HAD IN MICHIGAN.

than Has the Present Administration of Gov. Rich.

Facts and Figures of Interest to All Taxpayers. -Democratic Falsehoods Refuted.

A Saving to the People of Michigan Under Republican Rule of $323,626.18.

Since Gov. Rich's two years' administration has drawn nearly to a close, it is a good time to compare the relative cost of Democratic and Republican management in Michigan. It is safe nam, Pease and George of the Normal, attended the funeral of Prof. Estabrook, comparison, will want no more of Democratic management.

The following statement, taken from the books of the auditor-general's Attorney General Ellis was in the city office, shows the total amount of money expended by the Democratic administration of 1891-2:

Tax levy for 1891-2 $2.863.051 22
Received from the United States 420.865 66
Reduction in treasury 247.636 83

Total cost of Democratic adminis-

The first item is the amount estiment, as Michigan's share of the direct war tax refunded to the states. This was done by a Republican congress in spite of the solid opposition of the Democratic party. The third item Democratic party. The third item shows the reduction in the working capital of the state, accumulated in the treasury by Republican foresight, economy and good management. This statement shows how the general fund was reduced:

Reduction under Democratic rule. $257,636 88 With the large sum of money left in the treasury by the Republicans and the other large sum received from the United States the Democratic administration had a start of $1,024,381.42, and yet it cost the people far more money than the present administration

Now let us take a look at the cost of the administration of John T. Rich. The following statement shows the tax levy for the expenses of that administration:

The Democrats made little or no provisions for buildings, improvements CHELSEA STANDARD.

Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock, a man was discovered lying beside the railroad track about two and track about the great state institutions, but allowed them to run down and deteriorate. The Republicans had built the road at great expense. The superior track about the scription of provide for. Every day's neglect when ally decided that the Bois Blanc land once repairs become necessary adds greatly to the cost of putting large buildings in order. Every institution had been turned over to the Democrats well stocked with provisions, fuel, etc., but was returned to the Republicans stripped of everything and run-ning from hand to mouth.

Not an item which goes to make up the sum of $402,423.00 can be fairly criticised as unnecessary, and since the sum represents permanent additions to the property of the state, it is no part of the actual expense of Gov.

Rich's administration.

We are ready now to compare the cost of the two administrations, and here is the comparison:

Cost of Winans' administration ... $3.541.553 76 Cost of Rich's administration .... 3.217.927 58 Difference in favor of Gov. Rich's. + 323.628 18 These figures come from the books of the auditor-general and can be de-pended upon. They show what the Democratic administration of incompetence and extravagance cost the people—$323,626.18 more than the clean administration of Gov. Rich.

As soon as the Democrats came into power they made a great flourish of trumpets about a low tax levy and detrumpets about a low tax levy and decreasing the burdens of the people. In this connection appears the demagogy of the Democratic combination perhaps more plainly than in anything else. Having over a million dolars to start with, they thought they could levy low takes and get all the credit for it. They made gross underestimates of the expenses of running the different institutions and departments of the state government. Here are of the state government. Here are some of their estimates for 1891-2 compared with the actual expenditures:

Estimated expense	1891. 840.000 00 72.000 00	1802. $40,000 00 64,000 00
Deficiency		$24,000 00
Estimated expense	1891. $25.000 00 51,000 00	$25,000 00 41,000 00
Deficiency		$16,000 00
Estimated expense	1891. $325,000 00	1892. $325,000 00

$55.516 48 $82.783 90 Deficiency ... Cost of Legislature. Estimated expense......

Deficiency..... $12,435 87 And so it went, until the deficiencies aggregated as follows: Deficiency for 1891......
Deficiency for 1892..... Total deficiency ...... $206.711 14 ment, demagogy and incompetency, in the attempt to deceive the people into the belief that the Democratic administration was cutting down state taxes, what was the result?, The Democratic administration still cost the people $323,620.18 more than the present one. And what else? The treasury was so depleted on account of inadequate tax levies and Democratic deficiencies, that the present Republican administration, by loan and advances of specific taxes not vet due the round sum of $400.000 In that way they kept the wheels of government going and maintained the credit of the state.

Are the people ready for any more Democratic "retrenchment and re-

An additional word right here as to the comparative cost of the two legislatures may be of interest to the thinking voters of the state. We have shown how the Democrats overran their estimates for legislative expenses and made the total cost of "squaw-buck" legislation $152,435.87. The following statement shows more clearly the economy of the present administration:

Republican economy ..... $ 35.863 32 It adds no little to the disgust with which the people view the above figures to think that the cost of the extra session was due entirely to the attempt of the Democrats to steal the next legislature. The supreme court declared their gerrymander unconsti-tutional, and they had to pass a new law before election; $13,560.59 spent for Democratic partisanship!

Certain Democratic papers have been making a great ado over increased ex-penses in running the different de-partments under Republican rule. The principal attack is made on the auditor-general's department, the state de-partment and the board of state audi-

It certainly costs more to run the auditor-general's department at present than under the Democratic administration. The new tax law of 1893 restores the state system of sale of lands for delinquent taxes. All work of collecting such taxes is done in the auditor-general's department, which, under the county system, was done in the 84 counties. It costs the people just so much to do the work, whether done by the state or by the counties. The relative advantages of the two systems are not at issue between the parties, for honest Republicans and honest Democrats differ among themselves. It may be added here, however, that there are not 120 clerks in the auditor-general's depart-ment, as has been falsely asserted, but the last pay roll shows just 105 names, including Auditor-General Turner

Every honest Democrat knows that. the state census of 1894 is being compiled in the state department, requiring the work of 30 extra clerks. This is what makes the state department cost more than it did under the Dem-

Thomas E. Mays took a contract for building a state road in the upper peninsula and was to take his insula and was to take his pay in swamp land scrip. He was informed by the Democratic land commissioner that the swamp lands on Bois Blanc were in the lower peninsula and could not be taken for the construction of roads in the upper peninsula. There were no available swamp lands up there and Mr. Mays was out. The legislature referred the matter to the board of state auditors for adjustment. The board at first hesitated to pay cash on a swamp land contract, but Attorney-General Ellis filed an opinion holding, first, that Mays' claim was a just one against the state and, second, that it could be paid in cash. Then the board allowed the claim.

Even if the supreme court had not held the Bois Blane lands to be lower peninsula lands, Mr. Mays would have been left on them, for they were needed to provide stealings for the Democracy. Every square inch of them was gobbled up under the auspices of Demo-cratic "economy and reform."

But after all these necessary in-creased expenditures are taken into consideration the fact stands out in bold relief that the present adminis-tration cost the people $323,626.18 less than the Democratic administration did. That speaks volumes for Republican economy.

Democratic Batred of Pensions.

Gen. William Shakespeare, of Kala mazoo, a life-long Democrat, declares that the present Democratic pension department and local federal officers all over the country are in league against the Union veterans, to reduce their pensions, if not to wipe them out altogether. In proof of this he cites s well authenticated copy of a letter he has seen written to the pension department by the postmaster in Ionia, in which the names of twelve pensioners were furnished whom he said he were furnished whom he said he thought were illegally drawing pen sions. The department began an investigation, but found the cases so deserving that the whole thing was dropped. The eager postmaster offered if given a list of pensioners in his section, to check of the names of those that he there is no said to be said to said to be said t that he thought might be reached by the department.

When postmasters, who legally have nothing to do with pensions, are not only permitted but even encouraged, by the administration, to play the spy on the patriotic pensioners of the Union, it is time for the people to cry a halt. This hounding and running down of the old soldlers is a relic of the old Bourbon spirit that used to hunt down with bloodhounds the poor slave escaping from oppression. Will the people stand it longer?

Pitcher's Castoria. Children Cry for

of France way Do. M. Paul Deschane, deputy of the Eure et-Loir in the French chamber, and an eminent constitutional lawyer. has sent a statement to the Figaro defining the duties of the president of the republic. The president, he says, chooses his ministers and prein order to meet the heavy demands on sides over them. He participates the treasury early in 1893, had to secure in the framing of laws. He has the light of issuing a message to the people and the right of veto, but this right is less absolute than that enjoyed by the president of the United States, who enforces it so frequently and with such success, because in the United States at the second deliberation a majority of two-thirds is necessary, whereas in France a bare majority suffices. He can adjourn the chambers for a month twice in one session. He can, with the approval of the senate, dissolve tne chamber of deputies. This right becomes even a duty when a chamber without a majority is unable to impart life to a government. But this dissolution is of benefit only in such cases where the premier, as in England, calls on the country to vote for a more or less definite program, and the electors can clearly distinguish between the > political alliances independently of the chambers. It is, therefore a constitutional heresy to consider the presidency of a republic as an inert wheel or to regard the president as resembling a constitutional monarch. An elected chief can never be, like a hereditary prince, the impassive arbiter of parties. Such an idea is contrary to the letter and spirit of the constitupartisans and opponents of the cabinet. This has never happened in France, where they vote in the dark.

and where, by a strange paradox,

the influence of the administration sition. Finally, the president has a right to conclude treaties and effect

Between 1879 and 1893 it is easy to understand how, while there existed a powerful monarchical opposition to the chamber, the president of the republic remained simply the personification of the republic. But today, since the appearance on the scene of a socialist party and the practically total extinction of dynastic parties. it is clear that such a policy would be an anachronism

AN ARTIST'S TRIAL

Showing How Favesdroppers Tarely Hear Good of Themselves.

The impressionist was standing close to his own picture. 'Looks sort of soaked in." he said to himself, gazing at the orange and red high lights and the greenish-purple shadows, that showed a prodigal use of the broad brush and palette-knife. The title read, "Before the Fire." This was a change made at the last moment from "After the Bath," but the word "fire" explained the high lights much better.

As the impressionist backed away, still gazing through the hollow of his fist, he almost bumped into a rather interesting couple who were approaching with the gallery stroll their every movement. It was evident that they had come to talk the pictures over, says Harper's Magazine.

The impressionist dropped behind to listen.

The young girl (she was still young and quite pretty) gazed at the denuded walls with a frank and critical air, sometimes measuring proportions with half-shut eyes and an extended thumb and forefinger. "Well done, I should say," said the young man, looking from the title to the red, startling picture, "I mean done to a crisp," he added. "Y-e-s," answered the girl paus-

all professions; not the least so in ness in the newspapers as a merchant does his wares; if he does he grace. Neither is he disposed to seek him. Doubtless the great majority of lawyers do not seek business, except through family or club or political influence; but not so all of them. There are many lawers who make it a regular business to seek accident cases, says the New York Advertiser, and it is safe to say that every man who is sufficiently injured to be taken in charge by a policeman and conveyed to a hospital is bewildered by the array of legal talent placed at his service for the purpose of recovering "damages" from somebody.

The son of a man recently killed by a street car informed the writer that he was besieged by no less than 10) lawyers who were anxious to begin an action against the railway before the breath had left his father's body. They came to him personally, they wrote him letters—stereotyped letters—of sympathy and condulence, and offering to relieve same by bringing action at once on a basis of 50 per cent or 331 per cent of amount recovered. Several followed him to the funeral and tried to claim the deceased as an old friend.

Some lawyers actually employ shrewd solicitors who do nothing but follow up all sorts of accidents and propose to the victims to pay all advances in court costs, etc. Two or three firms have organized themselves into so called "benevolent associatious," and woe betide the wight who retains their services. The majority of these lawyers are miserable fellows who would not hesitate to sell out their clients for a few dollars, though there are many -young men of good parts-who are faithful to their trusts. Of course obtaining clients in this manner is nothing more or less than barratry and champerty, but it is difficult to prove the charge; consequently the number of barrators and champertors increases yearly. It is said that the pioneer lawyer of this class in the city is now a millionaire and a member of one of the swellest law firms on William street.

BRUIN IN WINTER QUARTERS. Sometimes Frozen in by His Own Breath

-An Easy Prey to Hunters. One of the most curious things about the black bear (and the grizzly and the cinnamon also) is the way he goes into snug winter quarters. when winter has fairly set in, and lies dormant in his den without either eating or drinking until the next spring, says a writer in St. Nicholas. This is called hibernation, and during this period the ordinary process of digestion seems to be entirely suspended. In our semitropics bears do not hibernate. but nature undoubtedly planted this instinct in the brain of the bear of the North to enable him to survive the severe winter period when snows lie deep, and all food is so scarce that otherwise he would be in danger of starvation. This period of hibernation is from the middle of December to March. It has been stated that if bears have plenty of food they will not hibernate, even in the North but that is a mistake. I know of at least two instances wherein bears in captivity have "holed up" in December and remained dormant until March, in spite of all temptations of offered food. The natural instinct was so strong that it refused to be overcome by appetite only. There is another very curious thing about the hibernation of the black bear. His den is usually a hole dug under the roots of either a standing tree or an uprooted tree, it may be in a hotlow tree, a hollow log. or more frequently a miniature cave in a rocky hillside. Sometimes he makes a bed of leaves and moss for himself, but often he does not. In .. holing up" under the roots of a tree he is frequently completely snowed in, and under such conditions the warmth of his breath keeps the snow melted immediately around him. This moisture freezes on the inside of his den, and presently he is incased in a dome of snow, lined with ice, the hard lining of which ever grows thicker from the frozen moisture of his breath. As a result he often awakes early in March to find himself a prisoner in a hollow dome of snow and ice, from which he cannot escape for days, and where he is often self-trapped and shot without the privilege of even striking a blow at his assailants.

The department of Greek and Roman antiquities, British museum, recently secured by purchase one of the choicest examples of ancient art in solid gold which even that great collection possesses. It is a vase of this metal in its purest condition, without sculptures, measuring nearly eight inches in height and about four inches in diameter. It is of Roman origin, perhaps of the period of Augustus. An inscription on the bottom of the vessel indicates that its weight nearly corresponds to two pounds of troy of the modern scale. It was lately found by a sponge-diver in the sea off the island of Samos, and may be all that remains of a wreck which occurred there nearly 2,000 years ago.

The ice man still persists in having his little fiction about the scales, says Hardware. Some of them go to the dealer, and after obtaining the standard article deliberately pass on to the grindstone and weaken the spring. One cartman not long ago, who was not satisfied with this comparatively slow process, hooked his scale to the cart rung and weakened the spring in that manner. The English use nothing but balance scales, but they are no more honest than we. They have two sets of weights-one light for ordirary use and the other for the government inspector who regularly appears to see that the majesty of the law is upheld.

Lincoln's First Tariff Speech Abraham Lincoln's first speech or the tariff question was short and to the point. He said he did not pretend to be learned in political economy, but he thought he knew enough to know that "when an American paid $20 for steel to an English manufacturer, America had the steel and England had the $20. But when he paid $20 for steel to an American manufacturer America had both the steel and the $20." That was the sum and substance of the tariff question as he viewed it.

HAWAII'S USEFUL TREE.

In all the valleys of the Hawaiian

Leaves, Bark, Wood and Blossoms Utiliized by the Santwich tstanter.

isles the tourist notices a tree with a quivering leaf which is a light green on the under side and dark on top, which he is told is the kukui, or the candle nut. It is so named from the fact that in ancient times the kernels of the nuts were strung on the midrib of the cocoa leaf and used as torches. As the uppermost kernel burned off the next ignited, and so it burned until the last was consumed. The tree was a very useful one to the Hawaiian, not only in furnishing light at night, but for many other reasons. The nuts are encased in a husk like our walnut, but it frequently occurs that two are formed in the same husk. The kernel is extremely rich in oil, which has been expressed and used for house painting, although it is but a poor substitute for linseed, in that it is difficult to get it to dry and it always has a peculiar odor. The natives, says the Hawaiian Gazette, use the oil as an external remely for some diseases and especially as an aid in partarition. Should you collect some of the nuts you will find them good eating, but I should advise you to stop at one or two or you will find you have an emetic and a cathartic which will certainly respond muy pronto, as the Mexicans

The natives reast the nuts in the ashes, and, having removed the shell, crush the kernel to a paste, mixing them with salt and pepper. This is one of the most delicious and appetizing zests imaginable, and is an essential element to a good feed of raw fish and poi. It may be that if some of our enterprising capitalists would go into the manufacture of inimona, as the natives call this paste, they might find an ever-increasing market for it. It certainly is preferable to the suspicious Russian caviare. The burnt shell of the kukui was used for the making of an indelible ink, with which tat-tooing was done. The green husk contains an acrid juice, which has a reputation as a remedy in diseases of the throat.

From the bark of the tree there. exudes a gum cal'ol piale, which is as useful as gum arabic or gum tragacanth for many purposes. It was also used as a medicine by the Hawaiians in cases of dysentery. Being harm ess, it would be useful in confections in making gum drops and jujubes. The wool of the tree is somewhat like our bass wood, and is of little value in building or in fencing, as it rots very speedily. Sometimes the natives made causes of it, but never considered them of any value. As the trees die off in the forests their trunks and limbs are found to be covered with an edible fungus, called pepeiao, which was formerly exported in great quantities to the Chinese markets. To-day the kukui nut is largely used in the manufacture of jewelry, which is much prized by tourists as mementoes of a visit to the paradise of the Pacific. The shell is quite hard and takes a brilliant polish, and can be had in black and brown.

A PHANTOM SI

The French maritime chronicler Jal gives an account of her; so, likewise, does Thorpe in his work on "Northern Mythology." She was so gigantic that her masts were taller than the highest mountains. The captain rode about on horseback delivering his orders. The sailors going aloft as boys came down respectable, middle-aged men, and in the blocks about her rigging were dining halls where they sustained life during their heavenward wan-derings. When passing through the strait of Dover on her way northward she stuck, but the captain, with ready invention, ordered her sides to be liberally besmeared with soap, and she slipped through, leaving the cliffs of France and England white forever afterward.

Down to within a century ago this gigantic ship was known among English sailors by the name of The Merry Dun of Dover, says Chambers' Journal, but she seems quite to have disappeared from the maritime lore of this country. The seamen of Normandy still believe in her existence, and call her the Chasse Froude. They say that she is so immense that it takes her seven years to tack. On one occasion, in turning, her bowsprit swept away a whole battalion of soldiers from the Dover cliffs; while her stern boom was demolishing the forts of Calais. When she rolls, whales are tossed high and dry b; the swell. Many extravagant particulars of this colossal fabric are given by Jal; and in "Les Traditions Populaires" of Sebillot exaggeration runs into wild ab-

HIS NAME NOT NEEDED. Mine Host and Madame Knew Him Only

by the Number of His Chair. " or the last five years," said an observing man to a New York Sun reporter, "I have been taking most of my luncheons at a little German restaurant in the Swamp and my dinners at a little French restaurant up-town. During all that time I have said 'Guten tag' to my German host and 'Eon soir' to madame. Occasionally we have exchanged remarks about the weather and have in other ways given evidence of mu-tual esteem. Yet neither of them knows my name. .. When I first went to the German's I wondered how he kept an account of my indebtedness. I sat ta a long table with twenty others, and ordered what I wanted. There were only two whiters, and they had half a dozen tables to attend to, while the proprietor tended bar and acted as cashier. When I finished my meal I called for my check and was directed to the proprietor. He glanced at a little slate and told me what I owed. As I was a stranger, as my order had not been written down, and as he had not even seen me at the table, I could not see how he had identified me or how he could tell what I had had. Later I learned that each chair was numbered, and the waiters would bawl out to him as they would give an order to the kitchen the number of the chair to which the order belonged. As, for instance, Roast chicken and lettuce salad. No. 9. Consequently all the diners were known simply by the number of the chairs they happened to occupy. I might be No. 1 one day and No. 30 the next. My name was not required. "At madame's the system was similar. There checks were used, but she redntified them only by the numbers of the tables to which they referred. Recently I noticed in the garden, which was utilized in summer, that numbers are painted on the posts against which the tables are placed. This is a new departure. "It is not altogether agreeable to my vanity to have my identity thus disguised and belittled as though I were a convict or a South African diamond miner, but as long as the excellence of cooking and service is maintained I suppose I must not grumble."

MANNERS IN JAPAN.

Etiquette Has Become Second Nature in the Land of the Mikado. Given a highly imitative race like the Japanese and let one undeviating standard be set before them. Then, says the Christian Register, for gene ation after generation will no change be witnessed. The standard will act like that of the French academy on the language of France. Now, at home, in America, we have fifty standards of manners-the reserved and reticent New England manners, the slap-you-on-the-back far Western manners, the demagogue's manners, the drummer's manners, the cut-and-dried business man's manners-these and dozens of others might be pecified. And it must be admitted by even the most patriotic that the man who should try to model his deportment on all the e schools at once would come to a Tall as a Mountain and With the Cap- somewhat mixed result. Nothing of this bewildering perplexity has The old Norsemen had a curious ever existed in Japan. From mikado and vague tradition of a phantom at the top to coolie at the bottom of the social scale one undeviating standard has always prevailed. Originally an importation from China, it has been elaborated through centuries of study of the most elaborate ceremonial etiquette, till at last through constant practice it has become second nature. No one ever saw anything else, ever dreamed of anything else. There was one way of saluting a superior. one of saluting an equal, one way of saluting an inferior, and one's head would have been cut off if he departed from it. No Japanese child ever saw a drummer - saw only prostrate artisan saluting Saumari, Saumari saluting Daimios, Daimios saluting Shotguns. The whole ceremony became organized into them as much as their instinctive habits into our setter- and pointers, perhaps the best manns-2d of our population. Little girls of 10 will one see here whose finish of breeding would have awakened the envy of a duchess at the court of
