

SUKEY ARRESTED.

A FULL SET OF REPUBLICAN OFFICERS.

For the first time in the history of the new Court House has there been more than one Republican in Office at a Time Now There is Only One Donovan—Besides the Janitor.

SUKEY ARRESTED.

Last night at a late hour a number of the bondsmen of Mr. Sukey decided to have him arrested, and roused Justice Pond from bed and got out a warrant and sent Sheriff Judson after him. Mr. Sukey's friends learned of what was going on and got Justice Gibson up at 3 this a. m. and secured two bondsmen, J. R. Miner and Dr. Kapp, who will pay $5,000 if Mr. Sukey does not appear before Justice Pond at 9 a. m. today.

Another State Street Burglary.

Last Monday morning at 4 o'clock the night watchman tried the doors of the various business places on S. State-st. and found them all locked. Three hours later when the clerk came down to open Sheehan's bookstore he found that the rear door had been forced open by burglars and the established raided. But little, however, was taken. All Mr. Sheehan could find missing was $150 worth of goods, consisting of gold pens, some silverware Christmas presents and about thirty dollars worth of sweaters. The work had evidently been done by an unexperienced man. One thing that indicated this was the fact that he put a lot of gold pens in his vest pocket and then took off his coat and vest to fit himself out in the sweater line. Then in his departure he forgot to put on his vest, thus leaving the larger part of the gold pens that he meant to take. So far no trace of the burglar has been found except the vest. This, however, may lead to the discovery of the right man.

Monday James A. Linen was arrested on suspicion. It is said that Marshall Banfield remembers seeing young Linen wearing the vest found at Sheehan's store, and farther that it matched a pair of pantaloons Linen was wearing. Linen is out on bail. He will have his hearing Jan. 8.

Ann Arbor Number.

The January number of the Song Journal, of Detroit, will be an Ann Arbor number. It is published by J. C. Wilcox who is its editor and manager. On the cover will appear a large cut of the Columbian organ. The history of the organ will be given stating when the organ was built, what great organizations think of it, how the University got it and how they paid for it; also a review of the doings at the dedication, and many other things of interest in connection with it.

This number will be embellished by the pictures and biographies of Profs Stanley, Jonas, Lamson, Zeitz, Cole, Kempf and other well known musicians. Sample copies can be obtained at the Ann Arbor Organ Co. upon application.

A Chance to Make $25.

Lew H. Clement, president of the Clifford Piano Co., said to THE REGISTER yesterday, that he is receiving a great many letters containing catchy phrases. It is a good chance for some bright minded person to make a little money. The following is the way it can be done:

The Ann Arbor Organ Co., of Ann Arbor, Michigan, sole agents for the Clifford Piano, are willing to buy ideas and pay cash for them. They offer $25 in cash for the most desirable catch line for the Clifford Piano. Competition is open to everybody and ideas are solicited. If there be a second catch line of special merit the sum of $10 will be given for it. The following are the conditions: By catch line is meant a phrase, such as 'You press the button, we do the rest' of the Kodak Co.; or 'Good Morning, have you used Pear's Soap?' These lines should not be less than five (5), and not more than ten (10) words. The following ideas are offered: 'Keep your eye on the Clifford Piano'; 'Best because built best'; 'The Clifford tone is the tone you have looked for.' Any person can submit as many lines as they choose. Each catch line must be enclosed in a separate envelope and signed by a fictitious name and addressed to the Ann Arbor Organ Co., Ann Arbor, Mich. Another envelope containing the fictitious name and the correct name and address of the sender shall be addressed to the Clifford Piano Co., Ann Arbor, Mich. The envelopes containing the fictitious names will first be opened, the others remaining sealed. When the best line has been chosen, the second envelopes will be opened and a draft sent to the author of the best line. A two-cent stamp should be enclosed in each envelope for return reply.

Michigan Academy of Sciences.

The first annual meeting of the Michigan Academy of Sciences was called to order in the Pioneer hall at the capitol last Thursday afternoon by President W. J. Beal, of the Agricultural College. A large number of enthusiasts in the scientific field were present, and from yesterday's proceedings it would seem that the academy will be a success. The association was organized last June at Ann Arbor for the promotion of fellowship among the scientific men and for science research in the state. The branches to which the association will direct greatest attention will be that of natural history. The total membership of the society at present approximates 100.—Ex.

New Tenants.

With the exception of the Judge of Probate and the Janitor, the court house of Washtenaw County is now occupied by republican officers. Such a change is this from what we have all been familiar with for these many years that it will take some time to become thoroughly accustomed to it. In the clerk's office Mr. Dansingburg will preside with his son Frederick as deputy. Register of Deeds, McKinstry, has appointed Geo. Alexander, of Ypsilanti, as deputy. Sheriff Judson has not yet appointed all of his deputies. The following, however, have been called. Messrs. Canfield, turnkey, and J. A. Wood, of Chelsea, under sheriff. Mr. Wood has already moved into the jail. For Ann Arbor, Zenus Sweet, W. E. Eldert and Fred. Huhn, have been chosen deputies.

The business of the county is certainly in as good hands as it has ever been heretofore.

HERE'S T'OTHER SIDE.

A FORMER STUDENT OBJECTS TO SUMPTUARY LAWS.

Would Rather Have the "Blue Laws" of New England—Says He Went Through the High School and Did Not Learn to Smoke—The Exception Proves the Rule.

(To the Editor of THE REGISTER.)

In your last issue of your ever welcome paper appeared an unsigned article professing to be from an interested parent who objects to the fact that the High School Teachers of your city indulged in the "nawsty weed." It is his or her desire that the School Board demand the resignation of those teachers who refuse "to quit forever the use of tobacco in any of its forms, privately or publicly." Carried away we trust by sincerity, he or she forgets that we live in America, and that sumptuary laws was somewhat out of date. There are some people who rush into public print in order to see how their views will look in black on white, forgetting in the meantime to question themselves as to the consistency and logic of their wasted ink. The interested parent is waiting for some one else who also has "backbone enough" to speak out against the pernicious habit. Will he or she kindly furnish the necessary regulations as to what said wicked male teachers shall wear and eat and drink? Having been in the classes of these wicked pedagogues I gladly confirm that their habit of smoking so affected me that to this day I do not smoke. Proper solicitude of parents as to the influences brought to bear upon their children is not commendable but natural and necessary. However parents should not be too ready to shift blame upon the overworked and usually ill-paid teachers. If parents will take more interest in their children and the development of their minds and characters, so bringing them up that they will of their own accord observe the fifth commandment, then the children will have "backbone" enough to resist all reasonable temptations. The State is a combination of families, but has no authority to exercise that which the Romans called patria potestas. There are certain lessons in ethics that should be taught in the sanctity of the home. If the school board of your city should so far exceed its authority as to prescribe that no teacher shall seek solace in a cigar or a pipe, then let it be said as a counterpiece to the oft repeated and alas too true saying that in this country, "Liberty is often converted into licence," that our liberty to do, to act and to think depends upon the construction of the most selfrighteous citizen. Let us rather reenact the Blue Laws, as a golden medium.

Truly Yours,

A STRIKE AT FOOT BALL.

OUR CORRESPONDENT CONTINUES HIS STORY.

And Gives the Innocent Game of Foot Ball a Black Eye—Johnnie Goes Back to School and Learns Several Funny Things and Speaks Right out in Meeting About Them.

II.

To the Editor of THE REGISTER:—

I took Johnnie home with me. When there we talked the whole matter over with his mother, and held a family council to determine what was best to do. Johnnie is a strong, vigorous, hearty boy, full of vitality and fun, and really cannot live without companions. He is very sincere and honest and always sticks to the truth. He cried bitterly at the thought of having to give up his school and college course, and earnestly promised never to touch tobacco again. We finally told him that he might return to Ann Arbor for another trial, if he would sign the anti tobacco pledge. He eagerly agreed to this and signed the pledge, returned to Ann Arbor, and had been there about a month when, at the earnest solicitation of his mother, I again went down to Ann Arbor to see how John was getting on.

I arrived in the evening as usual and went up to Johnnie's room. He was alone and in a very talkative mood. It was just after the great football games, and he seemed to be full of the subject, and the following conversation ensued.

F. I see by the papers Johnnie that you are having great times down here at football lately.

S. Oh yes, we have been having a glorious time.

F. I see by the papers Johnnie, that Pres. Angell thinks that the western teams have wholly abandoned slugging, and other objectionable practices in their football contests.

S. But pshaw, father, Prexy—I mean Dr. Angell—is really, I think, talking for effect.

F. But surely, now Johnnie, Dr. Angell would hardly do that.

S. Oh well, father, I don't know about that. Dr. Angell does not really know much about these games of football; I never have seen him present at one of them and I don't think he ever attends these games. Then too, you know the Doctor is a world-renowned diplomat. He is very much interested in the affairs of the University financially as well as in all other respects. Nearly all his family are instructors in the University, and they all together receive, of course, over $10,000 a year from the University, so that on this account as well as many others, the Doctor wishes to avoid all friction, remove all agitating and aggressive elements, and get on peaceably and smoothly with the boys.

F. But, my son, that is what they would call nepotism in national politics, and according to all your reports these valuable additions, do not after all seem to render all the faculties angelic in every respect.

S. No, but everything goes on the hill you know, and no one ever thinks of questioning what they do.

F. Well, my boy, let's go back to football. Did you attend the game with the Oberlin boys?

S. Why yes, of course I did.

F. Was there any slugging in that game?

S. I should say.

F. What would you say, my son?

S. Why, that there was slugging, of course. It would not be a football game if there was not. You might as well say you could have a pugilistic contest without any blows. I stood at the north end of the grounds, and the big fellows rushed up our way, and all at once they went into a big pile, then the pile rolled over, and they got untangled, there lay one of the Oberlin boys, and they were fanning him with their hats. He got his breath after awhile, but had to be carried off the grounds totally disabled. I said he was slugged, the other boys hooted at me for making such an insinuation. A few days afterwards I asked one of the big fellows who tackled the Oberlin boy how it happened, and he replied, that the Oberlin chap had kicked one of our boys, and when he tackled him he punched his knee into his stomach so that he was not good for any more kicks in that game. They carried the Oberlin boy off and I didn't see him afterward.

In the second part of the game they got rushing around near the grand stand, that was nearly filled with ladies. I didn't understand the game very well, but they were in a general skirmish of some sort very near the grand stand, when a lot of them commenced to swear like pirates. I could hear a volley of oaths where I was, although I was several rods away. But then, our fellows beat them, and we had a glorious shout and hurrah for them.

NEWS OF ALL KINDS.

EVENTS OF GENERAL INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE.

United States and Spain on the Verge of a Hot Fight Over the Tariff Question.—Seven Negroes Killed in a Race War in Georgia.

Tariff War With Spain.

Washington: Interesting developments are expected soon as a result of the strained relations between the United States and Spain over the tariff. In levying duties Spain arranges countries in two columns. The first column includes those who have not entered into satisfactory treaty arrangements with Spain. Until recently Brazil was the only country on the globe which Spain had put into this column, all other countries being in the second column, which includes those having satisfactory treaties. The United States now joins Brazil in Spain's "first column." Secretary Gresham has rejoined, directing Minister Taylor, at Madrid, to notify the Spanish government that if the United States is not removed from the "first column" this country will retaliate. If the secretary carries out his threat, President Cleveland will issue a proclamation closing American ports to the products of Spain. The first effect of this will be to shut out the enormous shipments of raw sugar which Cuba makes to this country, which is seven-eighths of all the raw sugar used in American refineries. The other eighth comes from Louisiana and Hawaii, but it is said that it would be impossible to make up this seven-eighths. It is asserted, therefore, that the retaliation would cut refineries off from their supplies and close them up, throwing 20,000 employees out of work. The ultimate effect of the warfare would be, it is said, to advance the price of sugar from three cents to six cents per pound, thus making the public bear the burden.

The immediate effect of Spain's action has already proved disastrous to the American trade in flour and this trade has passed almost exclusively into the hands of Canada. Under the old reciprocity arrangement with Spain American flour was shipped to Cuba in great quantities. But when the United States tariff raised the duty on Cuban sugar, Spain responded by raising the duty on American flour. The "first column" duty on flour is $4.75, while the "second column" is $4. As Canada is in the second column she enjoys an advantage of 75 cents a barrel on flour and this has proved ample to allow Canada to wrest the Cuban flour trade away from the United States.

Bloody Race War in Georgia.

Joseph Isom, one of the most prosperous farmers and best citizens of Brooks county, Ga., was murdered by a party of Negroes, and it leaked out that the killing of Isom was a part of a plot to kill all the whites who were in the posse which a few weeks ago arrested Jesse Jeffreth for the killing of T. Moulton. Isom was one of the most popular men in the county. He lived in a part of the county where the Negroes outnumbered the whites, and the killing created a great deal of excitement. When it developed that the same gang of Negroes had sworn to kill other white men, the whites gathered together and the work of death and destruction began. Seven Negroes were killed by one posse of whites and four by another, and as a result the whole county is in arms, the whites against the blacks, and a bloody race war is imminent.

LATER.—The trouble in Brooks county, Ga., is over. The Valdosta Videttes were ordered to Quitman by the governor. They found peace restored and the citizens assured that there would be no more trouble, and they returned to Valdosta.

Michigan Man Wants Out of the Heaven.

James Ogilvie, an old man who sold his property at Alpena, Mich., eight years ago for $2,500 and went to Rockford, Ill., with his wife to spend the balance of his life in luxury at the Schweinfurth "heaven," turning the cash over to the bogus lord, quit the place for good, although his wife refuses to go with him. Ogilvie tells startling stories of the life led by the 30 or more angels at the "heaven." He complains that in his case, as well as with 20 other men, discrimination is made in their food, barely enough being given them to subsist on, while Schweinfurth and a few of the favored ones live on the fat of the land. Ogilvie holds Schweinfurth's notes for $1,500, given two years ago, and he is now looking for his cash.

Burlington, Vermont, Badly Scorching.

A fire which started in the lath shed connected with a big lumber yard owned by J. R. Booth, at Burlington, Vt., was not got under control until it had done damage estimated at $150,000. From the lath shed the flames spread to the surrounding lumber and about six acres was burned over. A heavy wind carried the fire to the mills owned by W. & G. E. Crane, which were burned. Twenty cars standing on the Central Vermont tracks, loaded with lumber and merchandise, and the Central Vermont engine house were also burned. Almost 2,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed.

Tonghaks Burn Korean Towns.

Yokohama: Although Japanese rule is accepted by the Koreans generally, the Tonghaks are still active. They have captured Lai Jui, capital of the province of Haido. They expelled the governor and installed one of their number in his place. Three towns in southern Korea have been burned by them. Their numbers are increasing, they getting reinforcements from the Tiger hunters.

Dentist Charged With Counterfeiting.

A. D. Cady, a dentist formerly of Toledo, was brought from Kenton on a charge of counterfeiting. In his office there the officers found molds for casting halves, quarters, dimes, nickels and $5 gold pieces, and spurious coins were on his person. He practically admits his guilt, but is not believed to have had accomplices.

Dr. L. E. Jones and James Dalton, while driving from Whitehall to Montague, missed the bridge and drove into the river, drowning the horse and barely escaping themselves.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

Ann Arbor is to have a $20,000 opera house.

The dry, freezing weather is killing wheat near Flushing.

Mrs. Glen Carr, a bride of four days and only 19 years old, died suddenly at Centerville.

George Robertson, of Detroit, has been appointed keeper of the stationery room at the state capital.

Dr. A. M. Hume, of Owosso, has been appointed surgeon of the Third regiment M. N. G., with the rank of major.

Lumbering operations near Indian river are at a standstill for want of snow, and camps have discharged their crews.

Five Negaunee ruffians pitched into Policeman Piggott and nearly killed him. Help came in time to save Piggott's life.

Alpena's lumber cut during the year past was 102,900,000. The cut has declined steadily from 1889, when it was 219,915,000 feet.

The Michigan Police and Sheriffs' union will meet in Grand Rapids, January 22. They will discuss methods of divorcing the police system from politics.

Grand Rapids is getting excited over the cigarette curse. All the small boys in town are smoking them. A uniform tax of $200 a year on dealers is projected.

There is an abundant supply of fire clay just north of Flushing and Saginaw parties have purchased a portion of the land and have a gang of men at work on it.

A sensation has been created in Rush township, Shiawassee county, by the alleged elopement of Adam Truax, a well-to-do farmer, with Nellie Hayes, the family domestic.

It is alleged that the latest move on the part of the law and order league at Ann Arbor is to have the names of all the beer drinking students published in the local paper.

Nett Streeter, a Grand Ledge business man, was postmaster three years ago at Delta. A short time ago he received word from Washington that at the time of his settlement he owed the government one cent. Mr. Streeter renitted, and his bondsmen again breathe easy.

Frank Barto, a deaf mute, was found unconscious in a lumber yard at Dundee. His head was badly cut and bruised, several teeth were knocked out and there is probable fracture of the skull. Barto said he was robbed, but he had $15 secured in his clothes which was not found.

Emmet Burley, while crossing the Rogue river railroad bridge at Childs-dale, was struck by a passenger train and thrown upon the ice below. He probably suffered agony for some time and then expired. The accident was not discovered until the dead body was found. Burley left a family.

Charles B. Haigh was arrested at Allegan charged with forging a draft for $35 on the Commercial Savings bank of Marshall. The young man flew rather high and bragged of the money he was making as a singer in Chicago. He is a son of ex-Deputy Oil Inspector Haigh, of Kalamazoo.

Port Huron bakers declare they are content to allow the price of bread to remain at 2 cents a loaf, where competition brought it. They say they are making greater profits than at 5 cents a loaf, because the people are buying their bread now instead of making it themselves.

Henry McGill, a farmer living six miles south of Traverse City, was struck by a C. & W. M. north bound express and instantly killed. Alfred Robbins, a lad riding with him, jumped and was bruised but not seriously injured. The wagon was smashed and one of the horses badly hurt.

Grand Rapids furniture manufacturers complain that while they have sent out as many carloads of goods during the past year as the year previous, the result in dollars and cents has been vastly different. They have hope for a good trade now, however, as stocks are everywhere reported low.

The State Horticultural society was in session at Lowell. Four new societies have been organized the past year making 19 in all. The following officers were elected: President, R. Morrill, Benton Harbor; Secretary, E. W. Reid, Allegan; members executive committee, C. G. Monroe, T. T. Lyon, both of South Haven.

A woodsman, locally known as "Dead-eye Dick," while in a fit of delirium tremens, got out of bed at Lake City wearing only a shirt, and ran through the streets a quarter of a mile to Dr. Hill's house. He was met by the doctor but brushed by him into a parlor full of ladies and gentlemen. He was arrested and properly clothed.

Mayor Fisher, of Grand Rapids, has returned from an extensive eastern trip. He visited all the large cities and is loaded to the muzzle with municipal government statistics. He gave special attention to the study of electric lighting. While in New York the mayor was an interested listener to the proceedings of the Lexow committee.

The Big Four will enter into a contract with Benton Harbor to gain the right of way through the center of the business section to reach their property in the Big Four marsh, along the St. Joseph river. The company will establish smelting works, car shops and other improvements, employing regularly not less than 500 men. The citizens will now withdraw their protest against the right of way.

Mrs. Maggie W. Ferguson, who keeps a large millinery store in Jackson, reports the loss of a case of diamonds worth $2,500, including two earrings, each containing a stone worth $600. The jewels were taken while Mrs. Ferguson was in church. That night she missed them and has been conducting a still hunt ever since without success. Several parties have been arrested on suspicion.

George W. Stone, receiver of the Central Michigan Savings bank at Lansing, has resigned. He says he is tired of the kicks of depositors, who think the dividends are not coming in fast enough.

STATE NEWS NOTES.

A CHAPTER OF THE DOINGS OF MICHIGANDERS.

Michigan Knights of the Grip Meet at Grand Rapids.—State Teachers' Association Meeting at Lansing.—Alcohol and a Match Nearly End a Man's Life.

"De Boys Wat Sells De Goods, See."

The sixth annual meeting of the Michigan Knights of the Grip was held at Grand Rapids, with a large attendance. The business houses were handsomely decorated with banners and bunting in honor of the visitors and bands were at the depots to greet them as they arrived, and committees were there to escort them to the hotels. Reports read at the business session showed that the knights now number 1,549, a gain of 522 during the year; the death benefit fund receipts were $1,600, and expenditures, $4,000; general fund receipts, $1,896.83, and disbursements, $1,615.87. A banquet in Locksley hall was attended by nearly 1,000 persons.

At the second day's session the proposed change in the assessment from $1 to $2 was pigeon-holed. Resolutions were adopted favoring 5,000 mile interchangeable books. The parade turned out well and was applauded all along the line. The election of officers was spirited: President, Maj. R. W. Jacklin, Detroit; vice-presidents, one from each congressional district, A. S. Degolia, Detroit; M. J. Moore, Jackson; L. D. Dickinson, Hillsdale; Grant S. Bennett, Kalamazoo; Jerry Woltman, Grand Haven; D. C. Slaght, Flint; Frank Mosher, Port Huron; George W. Shaw, Saginaw; J. H. Cummings, Muskegon; J. J. Evans, Bay City; Scott Woodward, Traverse City; Otto H. Degrenes, Marquette; secretary, G. F. Owens, Grand Rapids; treasurer, J. J. Frost, Lansing; directors, Saml. Simons, Saginaw; J. P. Hamill, Jackson; F. M. Tyler, Grand Rapids, John R. Owen, Detroit.

Better Protection for Game and Fish.

About thirty sportsmen from various sections of the state attended the meeting at Lansing at which the organization of the Michigan State Fish and Game Protection League was perfected. President Judge John J. Speed, of Detroit presided. As the result of the session, the bills will be prepared and presented to the legislature prohibiting all spring shooting; making a uniform open season for deer in both peninsulas from Oct. 10 to Nov. 1; making the open season for grouse, quail and partridge from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1; prohibiting the killing of rabbits; save in the month of October, and prohibiting the use of ferrets in hunting rabbits; making violations of the game laws circuit court offenses, prohibiting shooting from sail or steamboats or naphtha launches; providing a penalty for killing more than two deer a season by any one person and prohibiting the shipment of deer unaccompanied by the person who killed them; fixing the open season for trout from May 15 to September 15; providing that bass shall be taken only by hook and line; requiring the meshes of nets to be large enough to permit the escape of under-sized fish; prohibiting spearing in inland waters; prohibiting the selling of brook trout or grayling; prohibiting the use of nets in St. Clair river and calling for the repeal of all local fish laws.

Boy Blew His Head Off: Father a Maniac.

Henry Gillespie, a farmer residing at Tompkins' Center, went to Jackson with some friends to purchase a coffin for his 14-year-old son, Guy Gillespie, and became a raving maniac. His suffering was frightful, it requiring several strong men and two physicians to hold him.

Grief over the shocking death of the son is the cause of Mr. Gillespie's insanity. The youth was preparing to go out hunting and borrowed an old shotgun at a neighbor's. He loaded the gun in the kitchen, bade his mother an affectionate good-bye and went outside, where an instant later the gun was discharged and blew the whole top of his head off.

Wielders of the Birch.

The forty-fourth annual meeting of the Michigan State Teachers' association was held in Representative hall at Lansing. President Grawn's address dwelt upon the need of more strict compulsory education laws, and the need of the provision of free text books, etc., by every school district in the state so that education may be free. He said 174,361 children of age, in Michigan alone, are growing up in ignorance and these will some day be a menace to our free institutions. Judge Grant discussed the question "Do Our Public Schools Prepare for Citizenship." Numerous other addresses were made, one by Rep.-elect Donovan of Bay county.

Want Michigan to Annex Mackinac Island.

Col. J. S. Rogers, of Orchard Lake Military academy, has a plan for the annexing of Mackinac Island to the state of Michigan, to be used as a military and naval camp for the state troops. The scheme is to obtain the transfer of the island from the United States to the state. The colonel speaks of a precedent in the transfer of Baton Rouge, La., and has little doubt as to the ultimate success of the plan. It has been said by Surgeon-General Hammond of the army that the island is one of the healthiest spots in the country, and it would make an ideal place for the state troops, arranged with fortifications, etc., as it is. Several military men of the state are interested in the project.

His Head Cut Off by An Elevator.

William Morgan, a carpenter at the Morton house, Grand Rapids, was instantly killed in a new freight elevator. He was on the elevator and started it upward, put his head out and was caught by the floor above and decapitated. He leaves a wife and six children.

The Sand Beach division of the F. & P. M. railroad is doing an enormous business. This branch is said to be one of the best paying lines of railway in the state, and it is authoritatively reported that it will be made a standard gauge during the coming summer.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Farmer Kills His Wife With a Stick of Wood and Then Cuts His Throat.

The residence of Mathew Palmer, near Millington, was the scene of a bloody murder and suicide. Palmer having struck his wife Sarah with a piece of stove-wood, crushing her skull, took a jackknife and cut four gashes in her throat, and then cut his own throat from ear to ear in two strokes. His two youngest boys were witnesses of the double crime and in their endeavors to prevent the crazed father from accomplishing the deeds both were completely covered with their parents' blood.

Palmer was owner of 80 acres of good land entirely free from debt. He was 48 years of age, and the wife 49. They were the parents of four boys and three girls. The cause of the deed seems to be known to the family and friends, but they are trying to keep it a secret. One of the most common theories is that Palmer thought his wife and children were trying to ruin him financially, and, thinking thus, had become partially insane.

Circuit Judges of Michigan.

The State Association of Circuit Judges met in the supreme court room at Lansing and discussed methods of improving the administration of justice in the state. The president, Judge F. J. Russell, of Hart, said that better provisions should be made for the care of prisoners between the ages of 16 and 21, so that they will not be compelled to associate with older and more hardened criminals. He also put forth the idea that sentences for similar offenses should be more equalized. When juries were present Judge Russell would have the court hold its sessions seven hours per day and hold the lawyers down to business. Gov. Rich made a few remarks, recommending that judges and prosecuting attorneys be required to prepare a full statement covering the case of every prisoner convicted and sentenced, which should be filed with the governor, to enable him to judge the case correctly when pardon was asked for. Judge E. D. Kinne, of Ann Arbor, spoke, and Judge Carpenter, of Detroit, advocated more careful work on the part of the courts in granting naturalization papers. Judge Frazer, of Detroit, urged his associates to give the selection of juries more careful attention.

Saloonists Want a Sunday Opening Law.

The saloonkeepers of the state, members of the Michigan Liquor Dealers' Protective association, have several amendments to the present liquor law which they will offer for the consideration of the legislature. According to Thomas J. Navin, attorney for the association, these amendments will ask for a uniform $300 tax and permission to sell liquor on civic holidays. Two years ago the liquor dealers failed to pass their amendments and since that they have been steadily working towards securing influence enough to pass the bill. Frank Kirsch, the treasurer of the Detroit union, said: "We will ask for amendments permitting us to keep open on all holidays excepting Christmas and Thanksgiving Day. We will also ask that our places of business be permitted to be kept open on Sundays after 1 p. m. until 7:30 p. m. These amendments are already prepared and will be placed immediately in the hands of the Detroit delegation for presentation at the legislature."

Priests Cannot Control C. M. B. A. Affairs.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Foley, of Detroit, has rendered a decision of importance to the C. M. B. A., in which he is sustained by Mgr. Satoli. At the recent election of officers of Branch No. 17, C. M. B. A., of Kalamazoo, T. P. Gleason, of the Kalamazoo Daily News, was elected president. Rev. Frank A. O'Brien, pastor of the parish, informed Mr. Gleason that he would object to his installation unless he did his full duty toward the church by sending his children to the parish school. Mr. Gleason appealed to the bishop and the papal delegate, submitting his case. He declared that he took his children from the parish school because their progress was not satisfactory to him, but that they received proper religious instruction both at home and in Sunday school. Bishop Foley has decided in favor of Mr. Gleason.

Escanaba's Chief of Police in Trouble.

Charges have been filed with the city clerk of Escanaba against Chief of Police Ehnard. He is directly charged with shielding houses of ill-fame and refusing to arrest the keepers after charges had been preferred against them. The matter has stirred up quite a sensation, and before the investigation ends several prominent business men are liable to be mixed up in an ugly scandal. The charges were filed by Night Policeman Campbell, whose relations with the chief have been strained for some time.

Business Troubles Cause a Suicide.

Lester Baldwin, a well-to-do farmer near Hillsdale, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. He was living on his father's farm with his father. He was at work in a tool house near the dwelling when he committed the deed. His father, in a field near by, heard the shot and hastened to the spot, but his son was dead when he reached him. Business troubles supposed to be the reason for self-destruction.

Saginaw Minister Arrested for Libel.

Rev. Wm. Knight was arrested in his study at the First Congregational church at Saginaw, by Sheriff Messner, on a suit instituted by Mayor W. B. Mershon, charging him with libel, spoken from the pulpit, the writ being indorsed by Judge McKnight allowing him to be held to bail in the sum of $500.

The people generally hardly realize the splendid work being done for the blind of Michigan by her state institution for their training. Blind children are boarded and taught free of charge. During the convention at Adrian of the state board of corrections and charities, a most interesting exhibition of the work of pupils from the school for the blind at Lansing was given, and four pupils gave illustrations of their learning. Anyone knowing of a blind child, or one so nearly blind as to be unable to learn in the public schools, should encourage the parents or guardians to send the afflicted one to the school at Lansing. Tuition and board are free.

THE RENOWNED CHEMIST.

W. H. Morse, M. D., F. B. S. Sc., also Editor of the Westfield Leader of New Jersey.

Prof. Morse, who is also author of a medical work entitled "New Therapeutic Agents," writes: Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio, has commended itself to medical men and their patients as a specific for la grippe and its sequels. It fully approves itself for this purpose, and is remedial for all bronchial troubles. Its action is both local and constitutional, and it is entirely harmless. The distinction accorded to it belongs to no other remedy of which we know.

PROF. W. A. MORSE,
Westfield, N. J., Dec. 29, 1892.

No matter at what part of the mucous membrane the irritation of acute catarrh is located, Pe-ru-na is the only remedy that will, under all circumstances, effect a cure. In acute catarrh the dose of Pe-ru-na is a teaspoonful every two hours during the day, which will invariably effect a cure in from seven to ten days. In chronic catarrh Pe-ru-na should be taken, teaspoonful before each meal and at bedtime. This dose should be gradually increased to two tablespoonfuls at each dose. If not cured by end of one month write Dr. Hartman. Answer free.

Every one should have a free copy of the latest book on catarrh. Sent free to any address by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio.

A MATTER OF DISCIPLINE.

The Difference Between the Regulars and the Militia.

"The difference between the regulars and the militia," said an officer of the First regiment of the Illinois national guard, "is only in the matter of discipline. We cannot observe the iron discipline of the regulars because we are not in this game for our livelihood. The regulars are in the army for business, while we are in the militia for glory and pleasure. I saw something the other day up in the camp on the lake front which would have caused trouble if it had happened in our regiment. One of the officers there was showing me around. Through some oversight he forgot his hat, and he didn't want to walk around the camp without one. 'What will you do for a hat?' I asked. 'Never mind,' he replied, 'I'll get a hat.' He then approached a man who was standing guard and said simply: 'Give me your hat.'

"The order was given in the same tone as if it concerned a movement of troops, and the soldier handed over his hat without a word or without changing the expression of his face once. It was the prettiest thing I ever saw done in the way of discipline. The officer put on the private's hat and continued his rounds with me. That one incident was a lesson in soldiery to me that I will never forget. At the same time it would never do for a militia officer to try it, for the simple reason that the relation between us and our men is an entirely different one from that prevailing between the officer and the soldier in the regular army.

Ornaments.

The women of certain African tribes distort their countenances by thrusting pieces of wood and crystal into their upper lips. They begin with small pieces, and gradually increase the size until pieces of incredible dimensions are thus carried, and their lips are transformed beyond recognition. The muscles are so affected that when they smile the lip is drawn upwards almost to the eyes, producing an effect that is most horrible.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

and a careful microscopical examination of the urine, is a valuable aid in determining the nature of many chronic diseases, particularly those of the nervous system, blood, liver, kidneys, and bladder. These aids make it possible to treat such diseases successfully at a distance, without personal examination of the patient. Thus Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, Gravel, and other Diseases of the Urinary Organs, "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Dropsy and many other maladies are successfully treated and cured without personal consultation with the physician.

Nervous Debility, whether resulting from over-study, worry, disappointment, or from exhausting drains upon the system caused by precocious secret habits contracted in youth, through ignorance of their ruinous consequences, is successfully managed, through correspondence, the necessary medicines being sent by mail or express. Write for question blanks, or describe your case, send sample of urine for analysis and enclose to cents for postage on treatise, which contains reproduced photographs and full names and addresses of vast numbers of people who have been cured in this way. THE success of those in favor of a secret ballot at Lansing tonight when a candidate for senator Patton's seat in the U. S. senate, will be chosen is certainly a winning stroke for the Olds men. Whether or not it will result in giving the nomination to Olds cannot, of course, be told. One thing is certain, it will greatly enhance his chances.

THE poor people of the city will certainly rejoice at the reduction in the price of bread. If, it reach the three cent basis, it would be at a point where a great many less people would need to go hungry this winter than otherwise would be forced to do. A drop of 40 per cent. in the cost of the staff of life would certainly place it in abundance within the reach of all.

THE situation at Lansing in the senatorial contest grows more and more interesting as the time for holding the caucus, especially for the short term senator, approaches. The contest, however, is different from almost all the former contests for senatorial honors in this state, in that, so far, it has been almost, if not entirely, devoid of any bitter feelings among the principals or their supporters.

WE regret to learn that Mr. E. J. Smith, who has practically been "The Argus" for the past six months has severed his connection with that paper. Mr. Smith has no other business in view just now, but will probably be filling a chair in some newspaper office in Michigan at no distant day. In the loss of Mr. Smith from its ranks, the newspaper fraternity of Ann Arbor loses one of its most versatile and brainy men.

THE MICHIGAN CLUB.

Mr. Henry A. Haigh, of Detroit, secretary of the Michigan Club has sent out a new year's greeting to all the members of that club congratulating the Republicans of Michigan upon the splendid success of the party last fall, and inviting all who are not already members of the club, but who are interested in the success of Republican principles to correspond with him with a view to becoming an active member of this organization. This club is one of the strongest organizations in the state and has been a power for the good of the party. Every active worker should affiliate himself with the club and help to further its purpose.

F. Well, my son, that looks a little like slugging to me. And then what did the ladies think of such swearing? You know your mother and I never allowed you to swear, and we had supposed that the young gentlemen in the University were above such things.

S. Well, I didn't like it I confess. It didn't sound nice at all, but then I suppose the boys got so excited and angry at each other in the contest, that they forgot all about the ladies.

F. Yes, possibly swearing may be, a some very exceptional instances,ardonable, still a game that makes young men so angry at each other, that they utter a volley of oaths in or out of the presence of ladies, hardly tends to develop the highest order of American citizenship. But did you attend the game at Detroit, U. of M. against Cornell?

S. Why certainly I did; wouldn't have missed it for a farm.

F. Well, was there any slugging here?

S. No, I think not, they all said that it was a very fair game, and no slugging to speak of. But then the boys got hilarious after the game.

F. What do you mean by hilarious, my son?

S. Oh, I mean two or three hundred of them visited the saloons and got pretty full, some of them were run in by the police of Detroit, but they let them go again because they were college boys. On the midnight train that I came home on, there were about two hundred, more or less intoxicated, and some of them so drunk that they had to be carried off the train.

F. Well, my son, this looks a little to me as though slugging at football, was not wholly confined to the New England states and eastern colleges.

I have just seen in one of the Detroit newspapers a report showing the list of football casualties in the United States during the past year. This newspaper reports, that it had previously published a list of twenty-four fatalities which have occurred in the prize-ring since the year 1888. In the list of football casualties given by this newspaper, there were sixty-one seriously injured during the past year in the United States, most of these were serious internal injuries or broken bones. Three were killed, and one is now in the insane asylum, as the fruit of this noble game during one year. These games are not confined to New England and her Universities, but are scattered all through the New England states, the western states and the south about equally in each section. Pugilism in this country has never exhibited any such record as this, and it is doubtful if pugilism can show any such record of brutality among its contestants, or any greater amount of brutality developed among those who attend and witness the contests.

I am enthusiastically in favor of athletics, and I believe that they should be encouraged in every way possible. I should like to have you take a regular course in the gymnasium, but I am inclined to think that you had better avoid pugilistic encounters and football teams. Young men cost a good deal, and are of great value to their parents and to the community, and it is hardly worth while to have a half dozen of the brightest and strongest in each university, crippled or ruined every year.

S. But father, the members of the football team were perfectly sober at Detroit, conducted themselves like gentlemen, and were not responsible for the two hundred or more boys that got drunk. I don't think it is fair to charge all the sins of the boys up to football. These fellows would probably get drunk about so often any way.

F. Yes, but it is quite apparent that the football contests form a frequent excuse for a general drunk. The nature and excitement of the contest leads directly to such results. As to the slugging, there are dangerous elements enough in contests of this sort, without the additional element of intentional brutality, and if these elements cannot be eliminated from western as well as eastern games, the Regents and faculties of the University should prohibit them, if they find that they cannot reform them.

S. I said father, that the football team didn't get drunk at Detroit and that I believe is true. I heard, however, from good authority that after the contest at Chicago, the team had a night of it and used up a large quantity of benedictine and had a rousing time all night long.

F. What is benedictine my son?

S. Well, I don't really know, but I have heard that it was composed of very strong whiskey and some kind of drug that adds to the power of the whiskey to make men drunk.

F. Well, my son, from your report I am inclined to think that I shall have to add an anti-football pledge to your anti-tobacco pledge, if you get through the University with a whole body and a sound moral character.

ON EVERYBODY'S LIPS.

What the Beautiful Girl Herself Says.

SURPRISING STORY OF THE DAUGHTER OF A NOTED PROFESSOR.

How She Excited the Curiosity of All Her Friends.

One of the best known and most interesting men in Brooklyn, N. Y., is Professor J. M. Elmwood, residing at 43 Cornelia St. He is a noted scholar and professor. His charming daughter is a young lady of most estimable character and has hosts of friends everywhere.

She became fearfully nervous and run down, and this was followed by a most severe attack of St. Vitus' dance. She grew worse and physicians could not cure her. She finally got well, however, by a method which astonished all her friends.

"It affords me the greatest pleasure," said the professor, "to state that my daughter, who was suffering from nervousness and St. Vitus' dance, and who was treated for same by prominent physicians in Brooklyn without result, was completely cured by using two bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy."

MISS ELWOOD.

Such strong evidence as this must convince everybody of the genuine worth of this great medicine. Mr. Elmwood's word is as good as gold. When he makes a statement people know they can depend on it. Just such reliable statements about Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy are constantly appearing, and the people everywhere have the utmost confidence in this wonderful medicine.

They take it, and perfect health results. The popular Miss Elwood thinks it is indeed a wonderful remedy when it will cure what all the skill of other physicians cannot benefit.

Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City. If you take this medicine you can consider yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case, freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that this remedy will cure, possessed by no other medicine in the world.

Wortley Can Get on the Band Wagon.

Rep. Wortley, of Ypsilanti, says he will be the happiest man in the senatorial caucus when the voting begins. His name is the last on the roll in alphabetical order, his town is the last in alphabetical list of towns, and his county is pretty near the last in the alphabetical list of counties. Consequently he is popular of knowing how everybody else votes before his name will be called, and if he wants to get into a band wagon he will make no mistake in locating it.—Evening News.

For that matter anybody can get on to the band wagon, and be right in it by joining the Old's contingent.

Passing.

The moon hangs low in the south southwest. The air is still and cold; Earth is sleeping in winter rest. And the year is very old.

We gather around his dying bed. For the Christmas chimes are done; Quietly lies the old white head. And the hours go one by one.

Listening close for the last, short breath; Feeling the hearts soft beat. We stand in the awful shades of Death. With motionless, spell-bound feet.

Opens the Old year's dying eye. Flashes his soul's last light; And he lifts his hand to the bending sky. And the calm, clear stars of night.

He struggles for breath; a love sweet song floats, like an echo lost. From the Christmas bells, o'er the world so long. Asleep in the arms of frost.

A clear, glad hymn; the gates above That long have waiting been, Swing back to the sesame of love. And let the New Year in.

Zea Mays.

Cleanable Collars and Cuffs.

"Celluloid" collars and cuffs are one of the greatest blessings that were ever brought to mankind by the geni of invention, especially the man whose occupation demands that he wear his Sunday clothes every day, as Bill Nye puts it. A daily change of linen runs into a considerable laundry bill in the course of a year. "Celluloid" makes it possible to add this item to the year's savings. Many men when buying waterproof collars and cuffs make the mistake of believing that it's all the same so long as they are called "celluloid." This is a grievous error. The genuine "Celluloid" collars and cuffs are peculiarly made, being in reality a linen collar or cuff covered on both sides with pure waterproof "Celluloid." This prevents cracking, and increases the durability of the article. When soiled, it can be wiped off with a damp cloth and made to look equally as well as the most skillfully laundered linen. All dissatisfaction with "celluloid" collars and cuffs can be avoided by looking for the trade mark, "celluloid" stamped on the inside of every piece.

Do you cook? If so, Prof. Bress has something to say to you on page eleven of his week's issue.

Not What You Pay, But What It Pays You.

There are two values to every purchase. What it Costs you, and what it Pays you. Cork costs 8c. per pound, but its value to a drowning man is not a matter of dollars and cents.

Suppose you buy a piano. Dozens of dealers say, "buy our's," "we undersell all competitors," "our piano is the cheapest one," all of which is not worth one cent to you after you've paid your money.

When you have bought your piano the question, "how much did I pay," does not satisfy your desire for a good piano. It's what the Piano pays you in satisfaction, in tone, in durability, in musical quality that counts.

The Mehlin Piano

We do not claim it's the lowest priced nor to "undersell all competitors."

We claim though that in over two-hundred Mehlin Pianos sold by us—not one has ever proven unsatisfactory or given the purchaser a moment's uneasiness.

You can afford to pay a little more if you must do so to get what you want.

It Is Pleasure

To tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was troubled with neuralgia in my stomach and with dizziness and shortness of breath, also kidney and inward weakness. I wanted something that would be a permanent cure, so my husband thought I best that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before I had used one-half bottle I felt like a new person, and I am glad that I can say today that I have not had a bad spell since I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Formerly my health was so poor that I was not able to do my housework. Now I am perfectly well and hearty.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

I owe all the praise to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. SARAH C. TRULLINGER, Fairbury, Ill. N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

Hood's Pills should be in your home. They are a reliable family cathartic. 25c. per box.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Fact or Fiction about Two Great Fair Awards.

A newspaper paragraph denounces as "false" the claim of a baking powder company to award at the World's Fair.

Who can it mean? Certainly not Dr. Price's. Why? Because, as the records show, Dr. Price's exhibited, competed and received the highest award, both at Chicago and the California Midwinter Fair. The award in California included a Gold Medal.

The official examiners pronounced it the strongest, the purest, the most wholesome and efficient of all the baking powders. Its title to confidence is unquestioned.

Can it be the manufacturers of a New York powder, fictitiously labelled "absolutely pure" who are making "false" claims? That would be strange indeed, inasmuch as they were not even considered in the awards.

Was it Ammonia in the New York powder that prevented its makers from competing? If not, what?

Death List for 1894.

Program for Week of Prayer.

The meetings to be held during the week of prayer which begins next Monday have been arranged as follows:

Monday night, English Lutheran church.

Tuesday night, First Baptist church.

Wednesday night, Regular services in all the churches.

Thursday night, Men's meeting Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Thursday night, Ladies meeting Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Friday night, Congregational church.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Auspicious Opening

The opening of the new rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on New Year's day was a very pleasant affair. The members of the Y. W. C. A. received between 4 and 9 p. m. Nearly 200 people called.

In the evening a brief but delightful program was rendered consisting of some musical selections by Mr. Gillespie upon the banjo, and songs by Mrs. Kedzie with Miss Minnie Davis at the piano.

Pres. C. W. Wagner was presented with a beautiful willow rocker by members of the association. Mr. W. B. Phillips made the presentation speech.

Harvard University has just issued its calendar for the current year. It shows a large increase in almost every direction. The attendance has increased nearly 200 making the enrollment this year 3,295. The number of professors is 338. A large number of new courses are offered. Harvard evidently does not intend that Michigan shall outdo it in any respect at least not yet awhile.

The twenty-second Judicial Circuit in Chancery. Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw in Chancery at Ann Arbor, on the 31st day of December 1894, wherein, Augustus L. Webster, trustee, is complainant, and Scottie A. Wood and Mary E. Phillips are defendants.

In this cause it appearing from the return of the sheriff of said County of Washtenaw and from affidavit on file, that said defendants, Scottie A. Wood and Mary E. Phillips, are not residents of said State of Michigan, but are residents of other States in the United States. Therefore, on motion of Noah W. Cheever, solicitor for complainant, it is ordered that said defendants, Scottie A. Wood and Mary E. Phillips, enter their appearance in said cause on or before four months from the date of this order, and that within twenty days the complainant cause this order to be published in the ANN ARBOR REGISTER, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said County, said publication to be continued once in each week for six weeks in succession. Dated, Dec. 31, 1894.

Webster young folks held a watch meeting last Monday evening at Mr. Latson's. The new year seemed nothing different, except it may have been ushered in with tumultuous vociferations.

The Webster Congregational Sunday School elected the following officers for 1895. Supt. Walter Tubbs; assistant, Supt. Will Burnett; Secretary and Treas. Miss Rebecca Tubbs; organist, Miss Vida Pierce.

DELIHI MILLS.

Mr. Gilmore entertained his brother from Gaines, Mich., Christmas.

Mrs. Nelt Marsh is in Ann Arbor with her sister, Mrs. Roost for a few days.

The school Christmas tree and exercises were very nice, the children did their part well.

Mr. Eiselman and sister from Freedom were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Strehle last week.

Mr. Estabrook went to Onondago, Mich., to visit his father and other friends Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Kinquist returned from North Lake last Saturday. They had been called there by the death of an uncle.

Everything in Delhi is decidedly dull. The mill is standing still, the coopers are laid off. There is nothing to break the monotony of things but the hammering of the bridge gang on the bridge.

EMERY.

The horse that was raffled by Thomas Burd was won by Charles Kittle and Fred Fames.

The Christmas tree was well attended. Music was furnished by the Northfield Orchestra.

The Sunday School at this place presented its superintendent, Rev. O. C. Bartlett with a fine rocking chair Christmas.

It was stated in last week's issue that the K. O. T. M. Dance would be on New Years evening and the bill 50c. It should have read New Years eve and bill 75c.

LIMA.

Mrs. E. Keyes is visiting in Clinton Co.

Miss Joe Hoppig's school gave an exhibition last Friday, which done both scholars and teachers credit.

Simon Winslow was called to Williamston last week by the death of his brother, Nathan, who died Dec. 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairchilds, of Swartz Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. VanVleet, of Flint spent Christmas with Mrs. Lewis Freer.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Calendar for 1895 is out and may be obtained at the drug stores. It is one of the most beautiful that the firm has ever issued and the edition was the largest ever printed by any one concern, being over ten millions copies. There are two faces on the calendar, both of children, presenting "Summer" and "Winter." The design was by one of the most gifted artists in the country, and the coloring is most exquisite.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage executed by Mitchell Robison and Diana Robison, his wife to Adah Z. Treadwell bearing date November 5, A. D. 1889, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw County, Michigan, November 5, A. D. 1889 in Liber 73 of Mortgages on page 336, by which default the power of sale contained in said mortgage became operative, and no suit or proceeding in law or equity having been instituted to recover the debt, secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and the sum of fourteen hundred and five dollars and forty-one cents ($1,405.41) being now claimed to be due on said mortgage, notice is therefore hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the mortgaged premises therein described or some part thereof, to wit:

All of the following described land situated in the township of Ann Arbor, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, viz:

Beginning at the South East corner of the West half of the South East quarter of section No. one, in township No. two, South, in Range No. six East; running thence North on the quarter line to the North East corner of said lot; thence West on the line sixty rods; thence South parallel with the east line to the south line of said section; thence the Forest road thence East sixty rods on the line to the place of beginning containing sixty acres of land more or less.

At public venue on Friday, the 29th day of March next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the East front door of the Court House in the city of Ann Arbor, in said County of Washtenaw, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court in said County.

Dated January 2, A. D. 1895.

ADAH Z. TREADWELL, Mortgagee.

FOR LOVELY WOMEN.

Famous Men Who Were Chock Full of Love and Lost Good Judgment.

A large number of the world's eminent men have made fools of themselves for love of women. Holofernes lost his head—in two senses—by accepting the caresses of Judith. Antony was a lunatic to have sacrificed everything to his love of the charming Cleopatra. Paris, son of Priam, ought to have been put in a straight-jacket for having tampered with the matrimonial preserves of Menelaus, the result of which poaching on his part caused the spilling of oceans of human blood, as well as the destruction of Troy.

Petrarch spent his crazy life penning sonnets to the eyebrows of a portly married woman, the mother of a large family, while he utterly neglected his legitimate wife and would not permit his daughter to live under his roof.

Dante, in his maudlin love of Beatrice says: "So powerful was the spell of her presence that I had to avoid her. From thinking of this most gracious creature I became so weak and lean that it was irksome for my friends to look at me."

Love found ready victims in the knights and troubadours of the middle ages. Ulrich von Liechtenstein, a medieval German cavalier, loved a woman with all the intensity of a lunatic. He used to roam over hills and valleys in quest of other knights, whom he challenged to duels if they dared to doubt that his Dulcinea was the fairest of the fair. On one occasion he amputated one of his fingers and presented it to his patroness as a proof of the torture he could endure for her sweet sake. And meanwhile his wife pined alone in her chateau in the forest.

HUNTERS, LOOK OUT.

The Old Man Proposes to Stop Them in Their Gay Paper Chase.

The old man laid aside his paper and got up with an air of determination.

"I've heard tell o' them things," he said, as he got out his cowhide boots and began pulling them on.

"What things, Ezekiah?" asked his wife, anxiously.

"Never you mind what things," he returned gruffly. "It ain't nothin' for women folks to worry about. Now, Henry, where's that there new pitchfork I bought last week?"

"Out stickin' in the strawstack," replied the boy.

"Get it an' put it by the barn door where it'll be handy," instructed the old man. "Then take the old pitchfork down to the gate to the ten-acre lot and leave it there."

"Mercy, Ezekiah, what be you goin' to do?" asked his wife, in alarm.

"Don't you fret about me," he answered, as he reached for the old muzzle-loading shotgun that had hung on the wall for twenty years. "I reckon I can't do any damage with this, but it's good to scare folks with. I'll get the scythe and the axe, too, an' put them at the head of the long lane so's I can get at 'em quick if they come that way. I heard from Hiram, Mirandy, down there by New York, an' he's had his farm all torn up by some of those smart Eastern folks 'bout a week ago. He told me all about it, and arter that I reckon I ain't a man to go to sleep when I see the Western people has got the fever, too, and are preparin' for one o' them cross-country paper chases. Not much I ain't."

THE LADY OF THE PLAINS.

She Thought the Young Man Was Drawing the Long Bow.

A young woman from the treeless plains of the West had gone to Boston to a music school on her first trip East, and among the first persons she met at her boarding house was a youth from Bangor. As their acquaintance ripened, she told him of what had interested her on the journey.

"Why," she said, with an exultant spirit, "I saw at one place in Pennsylvania a hundred sawlogs in one pile."

"A hundred?" he asked, with a tinge of a smile.

"That's what they told me. You know, we don't have sawlogs where I came from."

"Is that so? You ought to come to Maine once."

"Do you have them there?"

"Do we?" he replied magnificently.

"Do we? Why, my dear young lady, sawlogs grow on trees in Maine."

"Really?" she asked in open-eyed astonishment.

"It's a literal fact," he asserted positively.

"Well, I don't believe it," she contended, and do what he could, he could not convince her that he was telling plain, unadorned truth.

They Were Numbered.

The sultan poured forth the tender old story in passionate phrases. "You are the—" He paused and pressed his hand to his brow. Turning to his faithful attendant he whispered hoarsely, "I'll trouble you," he said, "for the reading of the turnstile. How? Oh, yes. Thank you. You are—" Again he addressed the blushing maiden he had asked to share his fortune. "The one hundred and thirty-seventh girl I ever loved," which goes to show that all things may be reduced to a system.

Free and Untrammelled.

One of the most independent poets in the South is Dr. O. T. Dozier of Alabama, formerly of Georgia. In a recently published volume of verses, entitled "Fables of Fancy and Rhymes of the Times," the poet throws down this challenge to the critics:

"I do not care one addlestick for what the critics say. I've paid the printers for the job—So let 'em kick and bray!"

THE DEARMAN MYSTERY.

A Story of Mistaken Identity Involving the Dead and the Living.

"I have heard of a great many cases of mistaken identity," said an Ulster county lawyer to the New York Sun man, "but never of one quite as remarkable as that of John Dearman of Old Hurley, in my county. Ten years ago John Dearman married Katherine Crispell, a well-to-do farmer's daughter. Soon afterward he took to drink, and in time abused his wife shamefully. Five years ago she determined to have him arrested for ill-treating her, but he disappeared before she carried out her intention.

"Mrs. Dearman heard nothing of her husband after she went away, but a year or so later she read in a newspaper an account of the discovery of a body of a man in the Hudson river, near Newburg. The description of the drowned man was so much like that of her missing husband that she went to Newburg to see if the body was his. She showed to the coroner, the physicians who had held the post mortem, and to others who had seen the body a photograph of her husband, and everyone at once pronounced it that of the dead man.

"Mrs. Dearman had the body disinterred in order that she might herself see the face and make sure that it was her husband. She recognized the body at once, and the further fact that the dead man had two front teeth missing, just as her husband had, made the identification the more positive. She removed the body to her home and had it reinterred.

"A year or so ago Mrs. Dearman married John Branthover and removed with him to Albany, where they now live, prosperous and happy. One day last week, to the amazement of everybody who had known him, John Dearman, long supposed dead and buried, returned to Old Hurley. There could be no mistake as to his identity. Too many circumstances proved that he was the true John Dearman. The story of his supposed drowning was told to him and the grave where it was believed he had been lying these four years was shown to him. He also learned that his wife had remarried and had moved away and he said:

"It's all right. I deserve it."

"Then he walked away and hasn't been seen since. But who was the man who was drowned, identified, and buried as John Dearman?"

An Amusing Oversight.

An amusing incident occurred at a fashionable wedding in London. One friend, who determined to save her money and credit at the same time, took a broken ear-ring to a famous jeweler of Bond street and ordered the little stone to be set as a scarf-pin for the groom. As she sagely remarked: "It does me no good, and, coming from such a famous establishment, they are sure to prize it and think I paid a lot of money." When the package was returned from the shop the wedding guest failed to examine her proposed present, and merely dispatched it with her card and compliments. Imagine her disgust when strolling through the rooms where the bridal gifts were displayed, to find a dozen people about her offering, and each one smiling. For a moment she hesitated then pressed forward, and lo! there was the precious white satin covered box, bearing the prize name. It is true, but, alas! below: "From the repairing department." And, even worse than all, resting on the blue cotton beside the pin, was an old broken bit of earring returned by the conscientious firm.

The Kaiser's Little Kick.

During his last visit to England Emperor William was much disappointed because the entire regiment of the Dragoon Guards, whose chief he is, was not brought over from Dublin to Aldershot to meet him. He went so far as to point out to his uncle, the prince of Wales, and afterward to the queen herself, how on the continent it is the invariable practice to bring a regiment to greet its honorary colonel if he is a foreign royalty on a visit to the court. When it was politely intimated to the German monarch that there would certainly have been an unpleasant discussion in the house of commons upon the question of the enormous expense of removing the whole regiment from Ireland to England merely for a few days and sheer display, William II. remarked: "May be you are right," but he added that the next time he would himself review the Dragoons at Dublin.

Endurance of Indian Runners.

An Indian has been known to carry a letter from Guazapares to Chihuahua and back again in five days, the distance being nearly 800 miles. In some parts where the Tarahumaris serve the Mexicans they are used to run in the wild horses, driving them into the corral; it may take them two or three days to do it, sleeping at night and living on a little pinole. They bring in the horses thoroughly exhausted, while they themselves are still fresh. They will outrun any horse if you give them time enough. They will pursue deer in the snow, or with dogs, in the rain, for days and days, until at last the animal is cornered and shot with arrows, or falls an easy prey from sheer exhaustion, its hoofs dropping off.—Scribner's.

In constructing its snare the antlion begins by pushing itself backwards in a circular direction so as to trace a shallow furrow varying from one to three inches in diameter. A succession of these furrows is formed one within the other until a funnel-shaped pit is at last constructed with very loose sides. The insect then encloses itself at the bottom of the trap in the sand, leaving its enormous jaws alone exposed and widely extended. Ants are distinguished for an insatiable curiosity, and should one spy the cavity when it is abroad on the outlook for food it would never hesitate to approach the edge. The treacherous sand gives way and the helpless thing goes rolling down into the jaws of the antlion.

Daughter of Supreme Commander of the Knights of the Maccabees OF THE WORLD.

HELEN MAY DICKINSON.

Disease of the nerves, vitality at low ebb, nervous prostration and all attendant evils and troubles are the result of the high nervous strain, the everlasting hustle of the American people. High authorities say it is the air, the climate that seems to intoxicate the people with such a mad desire for wealth and position, that they never know when to rest. This unremitting work, push and energy has made the United States the richest country on the face of the globe, but work, worry and a peculiar climate has made the American people a nervous race.

"Now as well as ever."

Mr. George Dickinson, Deputy Supreme Commander of Knights of Maccabees of the World, whose residence is Emporium, Pa., writes:

"Dear Friends:—I feel grateful to you for the great good your valuable medicine—Dr. Miles' Nervine—has done my little girl. She was almost blind from amaurosis, (disease of the optic nerve) and could not tell daylight from darkness. We were in despair that our rosy, baby girl should not be able to see out of her round, blue eyes. It seemed impossible, as they looked as well as ever, but it was true; she became worse. After several prominent oculists and physicians had failed, we finally decided to try Dr. Miles' Nervine. I restored her eyesight. I bought two more bottles and she is now permanently cured. I hope you will publish this letter for the benefit of others. I recommend it wherever I go. I also hope that your wonderful medicine will become so well known that every house will keep it as a standard remedy. Its merit only needs to be known for this to become an established fact."

DR. MILES' NERVINE is not a chance discovery, but the result of 20 years study, careful investigation and experiment by Dr. Franklin Miles, the great specialist in diseases of the heart, brain and nerves. It is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit you. Should it not you may return it and obtain your money. This allows you to give it a fair trial without any risk. This proves our confidence in the medicine. This proves that it is made to cure. This proves the merit of the remedy, if it was an ordinary medicine, this unparalleled offer could not be made. It is a specific for all nervous diseases such as Nervous Prostration, Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Convulsions, Backache, Nervous Dyspepsia, St. Vitus Dance, etc. Sold by all druggists at $1 a bottle, six bottles $5, Pills 25 cents.

JACK FROST IN THE SOUTH.

$6,000,000 Damage to the Florida Orange Crop—Coldest Weather Since 1835.

The cold wave which swept over the south caused a loss of fully $6,000,000 to Florida. Young orange groves from one to four years old are ruined all over the state and many older trees killed. The winter crops of vegetables are killed outright and the strawberry vines and pineapple plants very seriously damaged. Reports from 51 correspondents in the orange districts of the state indicate that at least 1,800,000 of unlicked oranges are solid globes of ice and more than 300,000 boxes of oranges in warehouses and lying in bulk, preparatory to picking are frozen. About 5,000,000 boxes of this season's crop were still on the trees. Reports from the interior of the state show that the cold weather has been general and the extent from one end of the peninsula to the other. Tomatoes, cabbage, peas and all vegetable in the northern end of the state are ruined except the pineapple plantations. There was hardly a house in Jacksonville in which the waterpikes were not frozen solid. All the shrubbery and tropical plants in the public parks and private gardens was killed and many trees blighted. The temperature was the lowest since 1835.

Birmingham, Ala.: The worst snow storm ever known in Alabama came with the blizzard. Six inches of snow fell. The weather was very severe and much suffering among the poor is reported. Many cattle are starving in barren sections and two Negroes were frozen to death at Attala. At Birmingham snow most blocked traffic. It is feared that much damage will be done in the mines by the bursting of water pipes and flooding the mines.

Memphis, Tenn.: From six to eight inches of snow is reported from the middle and West Tennessee, Arkansas, North Mississippi, Louisiana and West Alabama, with a steady drop in temperature.

Spain is Backing Down.

Washington: The government of Spain, in an earnest desire to avert the threatened tariff warfare between Cuba and the United States, has under serious and favorable consideration the cession to Cuba of the privilege of arranging her own revenue budget, including tariffs with the United States. This Cuban budget is to be subject to the approval of Spain. The negotiations now progressing at Madrid are partly on these lines, but the state department authorities are proceeding nevertheless with their retaliatory plans as they do not believe Spain's concession to Cuba can be carried out and made beneficial to us for some months to come. The great importing houses of the Atlantic cities are clamoring at the doors of the state department and threaten to appeal to congress for some speedy action to protect their business. They represent that at present the United States is losing a trade of 700,000 barrels of flour per annum, all of our commerce in machinery, formerly purchased by the Cubans exclusively in the United States, all of the hardware and a large proportion of the potato trade, a very important part of our exports to the West Indies.

STARVING AND FREEZING.

Special dispatches from Western Nebraska tell of the destitution and distress prevailing among the inhabitants of the drought-stricken districts. Terrible destitution exists in Perkins, Chase, Dundy, Lincoln, Hayes, Hitchcock and Frontier counties, and the worst feature is the people in several localities are afflicted with scurvy for want of wholesome food. Railroad men report that since the cold snap no less than 12 people have perished in these counties for want of food and fuel. Hundreds of families are without coal, and the poor people have a hard time to keep from freezing to death. In Perkins county destitution is complete. Over 600 families are appealing for help. Very few farmers have any stock left, having let their horses and cattle roam or driven them out of the state to prevent starvation.

Turkey Says Uncle Sam Can't Investigate.

Constantinople: The Sultan of Turkey has made final reply to the application of United States Minister Terrell for permission to have Consul Jewett make an independent inquiry into the Armenian troubles. The Sultan positively declined to allow the consul to accompany the commission. Hon. A. W. Terrell, the American minister, and the grand vizier had a conference on the subject of Consul Jewett accompanying the Turkish commission to investigate the Armenian atrocities with this result. The French delegate has resulted for Erzerum.

13 Men Killed in a Collision.

London: By a collision between the Manchester express and a goods train near Chelford, 13 persons were killed and 70 injured, 17 of whom were severely hurt. The express train was proceeding at high speed for Chelford. The high wind started a freight car down grade on a side track and sent it on the main line as the Chelford express passed. The freight car drove two carriages off the track and the next three in the express were tumbled after them.

New Steel Works to Employ 3,000 Men.

General Manager Supper of the Johnson company's steel plant at Lorain, O., authority for the statement that a deal has been closed between his company and the Carnegie Steel company, by which the latter acquires a large amount of land adjoining Black river, Lorain, opposite the Johnson plant, on which immense steel works, employing over 3,000 men, will be erected during the coming year.

Convict Shot by a Guard.

J. S. Temple, of Columbiana county, guard in the penitentiary at Columbus, O., shot and killed Joseph O'Grady, a prisoner of Cleveland, in a fight. O'Grady and two other prisoners assaulted the employe because he reported them for infraction of the rules.

The miners employed at the Anderson, O., mines have declined to accept the rate of 60 cents per ton fixed by the arbitration committee and are idle. It is thought that all the miners in the Massillon district will soon cease work.

41 BURNED TO DEATH.

A Christmas Entertainment with an Awful Ending.

A most horrible accident occurred at Silver Lake, Lake county, Ore., at a Christmas entertainment in which 41 persons were burned to death and 16 badly injured, five of whom will die. A large crowd had assembled in Christmas Bros.' hall to attend a Christmas tree festival. While the festivities were at their height, some one climbed on a bench from which point he expected to get a better view of what was going on. In doing so his head struck a lamp hanging from the ceiling, overturning it. The oil immediately caught fire and everything in the room being dry and of an inflammable nature, the room was soon a mass of flames. The confusion was so great that the people began scrambling in a wild endeavor to reach the door. Women and children were trampled under foot and as there was only one exit to the hall and the fire being between the majority of the crowd and the door many rushed headlong into the flames.

Silver Lake is a small village in Lake county, Oregon, of about 100 inhabitants and it is 150 miles from the nearest telegraph office.

Superintendent Byrnes Resigns.

The Lexow investigating committee, which has unearthed so much corruption in New York City municipal affairs that the whole United States has been shocked, has adjourned subject to call of the chairman. Among the last officials examined was Superintendent Byrnes, the famous head of New York City's police, and he, at the conclusion of his inquisition, sprung one of the biggest sensations of the entire session, by handing a letter to Chairman Lexow and said that it was a copy of one that he had sent to Mayor-elect Strong early this month. It was his resignation from the force—of which he has been a member for the last 33 years—owing to the continual conflict between the commissioners and himself in his endeavors to secure absolute discipline. The department is honeycombed with abuses which had been growing for 30 years, and they could only be remedied by radical legislation. Local politicians, he claimed, were the cause of the department. Although he had done his utmost to procure substantial information as to corruption and bribery, he was unable to get it and the whole department was impregnated with the belief that promotion had to be bought and merit was of no avail. He claimed to have done a good deal toward helping to bring about the exposures. He paid a tribute to Dr. Parkhurst. Mr. Byrnes' wealth, which he estimated at $350,000, was made by speculation, he said, in Wall street, through the Goulds. His purchases of real estate were also very profitable.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

NEW YORK.—Bradstreet's trade review says: The conclusion of the holiday trade brought a moderate reaction and this emphasizes the dullness noted in preceding weeks. Jobbers claim the outlook for trade during the late winter and early spring is for very conservative buying. But in some lines, notably heavy machinery, the recent cold weather has stimulated sales, and reports from retailers west and south indicate that stocks are low almost beyond precedent. Traveling salesmen, with few exceptions, are now on the road. Industries are shut down in many instances to make repairs and take stock, and owing to extremely low prices for industrial staples, the wage movement leads downward. Quotations for staple merchandise show more firmness, with sugar, cotton, wheat, corn, steel, tin, copper and tobacco more confined to useful articles, thus anticipating ordinary trade. The volume of business represented by clearing-house exchanges is 7.7 per cent larger than in 1894, but 21.8 per cent less than the year before. The market for iron and steel is weak, but the reduction in wages at the Edgar Thomson works, averaging 15 per cent, plainly indicates the same difficulty which is seen in other quarters, that the demand in consumption does not answer to the increase in production. Failures last week were 360 in the United States against 511 in 1894.

NEW YORK.—Dun's weekly trade review says: Holiday trade met expectations. Purchases have been numerous, but smaller than usual amount and more confined to useful articles, thus anticipating ordinary trade. The volume of business represented by clearing-house exchanges is 7.7 per cent larger than in 1894, but 21.8 per cent less than the year before. The market for iron and steel is weak, but the reduction in wages at the Edgar Thomson works, averaging 15 per cent, plainly indicates the same difficulty which is seen in other quarters, that the demand in consumption does not answer to the increase in production. Failures last week were 360 in the United States against 511 in 1894.

Joseph Bidwell and Wm. Findley, prominent farmers of Union county, were killed at Swickard Crossing, about 25 miles west of Columbus, O., by a Pan Handle train.

Money for Everyone.

I can't understand why people complain of hard times, when any woman or man can make from $5 to $10 a day easily. All have heard of the wonderful success of the Climax Dish Washer; yet we are apt to think we can't make money selling it; but any one can make money, because every family wants one. I made $478.36 in the last three months, after paying all expenses and attended to my regular business besides. You don't have to canvass; as soon as people know you have it for sale they send for a Dish Washer. Address the Climax Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio, for particulars. Go to work at once, and you will very soon have a full pocket book and a light heart. I think it a duty to inform each other of such opportunities, and I also think it a duty to improve them while we may. Try it at once, and publish your experience so others may be benefited.

A Traveled St. Bernard.

A St. Bernard dog whose acquaintance any one might be proud to make has lately given evidence of unusual canine intelligence. Once or twice he has accompanied his master to Newtonville, the latter riding out on his wheel, and both returning by rail and getting off at the Huntington avenue station. The other day the dog in some way missed his master in the park and proceeded on to Newtonville as had been his wont. Whether he did not enjoy his call, or perhaps, felt anxious about the one who always looked to his welfare, is uncertain, but after waiting a proper time Mr. Dog trotted off to the station, jumped on the first inward train that stopped, and when it reached Huntington avenue got off and went home like other folks. The only thing about the performance that reflects discredit on his dogship is that he didn't buy a ticket, but just "hooked" his ride.—N. Y. Herald.

Order for Appearance.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, ss.
COUNTY OF WASHTENAW.
The twenty-second Judicial Circuit in Chancery. Suit pending in the Circuit for the County of Washtenaw in Chancery at Ann Arbor, on the 31st day of December 1894, wherein, Augustus L. Webster, trustee, is complainant, and Scottie A. Wood and Mary E. Phillips are defendants.

In this cause it appearing from the return of the sheriff of said County of Washtenaw and from affidavit on file, that said defendants, Scottie A. Wood and Mary E. Phillips, are not residents of said State of Michigan, but are residents of other States in the United States. Therefore, on motion of Noah W. Cheever, solicitor for complainant, it is ordered that said defendants, Scottie A. Wood and Mary E. Phillips, enter their appearance in said cause on or before four months from the date of this order, and that within twenty days the complainant cause this order to be published in the ANN ARBOR REGISTER, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said County; said publication to be continued once in each week for six weeks in succession. Dated, Dec. 31, 1894.

NOAH W. CHEEVER,
Solicitor for Complainant.
E. D. KINNIE,
Circuit Judge.

Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, ss.
COUNTY OF WASHTENAW.
At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Monday the seventeenth day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four.

Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Claudius Mansfield, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of George S. Hotrum, administrator c. t. a., praying that he might be licensed to sell the real estate whereof said deceased died seized.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the 15th day of January next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the devise, legatees and heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted: And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the ANN ARBOR REGISTER, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A true copy.) J. WILLARD BABBITT, Judge of Probate.

Chancery Sale.

In pursuance and by a virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, in Chancery, made and entered on the third day of December, A. D. 1894, in a certain case therein pending wherein William Marquardt is Complainant, and William L. Marquardt, Marie Marquardt and Henrietta Seigman are defendants. Notice is hereby given that on Saturday the 19th day of January A. D. 1895, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, I shall sell at public auction or vendue, to the highest bidder, at the Huron street entrance to the Court House, in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County of Washtenaw, that being the building in which the Circuit Court of Washtenaw County is held, the following described land and premises, situate in the city of Ann Arbor, County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, viz: The North eleven feet of lot two (2), block five (5) R. S. Smith's second addition, and the south forty-four feet of block five (5), of R. S. Smith's second addition, being on the east side of Forest Avenue, so-called in said city.

Dated Ann Arbor, Dec. 6th, 1894.
PATRICK MCKERNAN,
Circuit Court Commissioner, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

SILAS B. SPIER,
(47) Solicitor for Complainant.

Real Estate For Sale.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, ss.
COUNTY OF WASHTENAW.
In the matter of the estate of Maria E. Godfrey, Incompetent.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of an order granted to the undersigned guardian of the said incompetent by the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Washtenaw, on the twentieth day of November A. D. 1894, there will be sold at public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor in the County of Washtenaw in the said State, on Tuesday the eighth day of January A. D. 1895, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day (subject to all encumbrances by mortgage or otherwise existing at the time when said Maria E. Godfrey was declared an incompetent person by said Probate Court) the following described real estate, to-wit:

It seems hardly possible, but nevertheless it is true, that on an average every fifty-fifth person you meet wears W. L. Douglas Shoes. Did you ever realize what an immense undertaking it is to supply one article of wearing apparel to over one million people.

If all wives and mothers could fully realize how apt each one is at all times to be bereft of the protector and support of themselves and their children, they would be more fully able to appreciate the real benefits of a life insurance policy. As an investment it is as safe and profitable as a savings bank while in case of accident or fatal illness the return is much larger. Persuade your husband to lay by something in a life insurance policy and be protected in case of misfortune which sickness or accident may bring. A policy in the old reliable New York Life Insurance Company is unequalled for protection and investment.

There is one perception which a horse possesses to which little attention has been paid, says Tait, and that is the power of scent. With some horses it is acute, as with the dog, and for the benefit of those who drive at night, such as physicians and others, this knowledge is invaluable. I never knew it to fail, and I have ridden hundreds of miles of dark nights, and in consideration of this power of scent this is my simple advice: Never check your horse at night but give him a free head, and you may rest assured that he will never get off the road, and will carry you safely and expeditiously. In regard to the power of scent in a horse, I once knew one of a pair that was stolen and recovered mainly by the track being made by his mate, and that after he had been absent six or eight hours.

The late Leopold de Meyer, of Dresden, a brilliant and popular pianist in his day, was once summoned to play before the sultan at Constantinople. Going thither he borrowed a grand piano from one of the Austrian secretaries of legation and had it set up in a large reception room at the palace. There he awaited the coming of the sultan; but when that intelligent monarch entered the room he started back in alarm, and demanded of his attendants what that monster was standing there on three legs. Explanations followed, but were in vain. The legs had to be taken off, and the body of the instrument laid flat on the floor, and Leopold de Meyer, sitting cross-legged on a mat, went through his program as best he could in that awkward attitude and without pedals. But the commander of the faithful was delighted, and when the last piece was played gave the artist over a thousand pounds as "oaksheesh."—Answers.

CHILDREN'S CROOKED LEGS.

The Three Processes by Which They May Be Straightened.

It is the fault of a child's mother to-day if either boy or girl is allowed to reach maturity with distorted limbs, says the St. Louis Republic; knock knees or bowed legs are unnecessary evils.

Both these deformities can be cured and cured permanently. There are three ways in which physicians undertake cases.

First, by what they term "expectant" treatment; next, mechanical and, lastly, operative treatment. The little boy or girl (and no child is received over 14 years of age) is placed on brown paper and the outlines of his legs are traced; this determines how serious the defect is. If the baby is young, 8 months to 2 years, and its bones are soft, the first method is prescribed, which consists of keeping the little one in bed and rubbing the legs with firm pressure until the bones yield and take their normal position. This can be done only with those still in infancy.

If the child is 2 to 4 years old mechanical treatment is given; the legs are either put into steel braces, which correct the misplacement in the bones by continual pressure; or, if the defect is slight, shoes are built up on the soles to throw the legs into the right angle.

After 4 years the bones usually are hardened, and it would take a tedious time to straighten them by braces, so the operative treatment is given. The legs are broken.

This seems a startling statement, and sounds very cruel for the child, but the doctors think nothing of the operation, and parents have begun to realize how harmless it is, and do not protest so violently as at first.

The child is put under ether, the body laid on the operating table, the legs strapped, and the bones broken by a chisel and mallet. A keen knife is used to open a little slit in the skin, and the small chisel is inserted delicately in between the arteries, reaching the bone easily and quickly, for the large bone is near the skin below the knee, and when securely resting on it the chisel is hammered through.

The bones are then placed in their correct position with the least trouble, a dressing put on, and the legs incased in plaster of paris. Of course both legs are operated on in the same manner. Scarcely any blood is shed, there is no danger, it being unnecessary that even fever should result, and in four weeks the child is sent home cured. For awhile he wears braces, but soon discards these, and finds himself as straight and supple as any of his comrades.

When Waris Declared

Against a man's happiness by his stomach, the enemy may be pacified and brought speedily and easily to terms. That potent regulator of digestion, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, disciplines the rebellious organ thoroughly. Indigestion arises from weakness of the stomach, and the food in it, for want of the power to digest, decomposes and acidifies, given rise to heartburn, flatulence and pain, besides a multitude of symptoms both changeable and perplexing. But peace soon reigns when the great stomachic is resorted to and used with persistence. Dyspepsia gives rise to morbid discomposure of mind, and even sleeplessness hypochondria in chronic cases. To the complete dismissal of these the Bitters is fully adequate. Liver complaint, constipation, debility, rheumatism and malaria are completely subdued by this genial medicine.

newspaper Advertising

The development of the modern newspaper has done more for public enlightenment generally than any other means of diffusing knowledge. It has occurred simultaneously with the spread of education, to which it owes its impulse. The readers of newspapers now comprise practically the whole population, for illiteracy, proportionately trifling in this country, is fast passing away altogether. Hence the opportunity for advertising business furnished by a great newspaper is one of the most valuable features of the advanced civilization.—New York Sun.

Wines for Debilitated Females.

Physicians have used Speer's wine, and having applied to it the strictest test known to chemistry, they do not hesitate to pronounce it a pure wine of medium strength, and recommend it to be of great advantage to the aged and infirm, also low and typhoid fevers. Speer's wine will be found very superior.

Curlett's Heave Remedy is a sure cure for Heaves in the earlier stages, and warranted to relieve in advanced stages. Guaranteed to cure Coughs and Colds.

Chas. Dwyer, ex-Sheriff of Washtenaw Co., Mich., says, "I cured two different horses two different years of Heaves in early stages by use of Curlett's Heave Remedy."

J. M. Allen, proprietor of the Dexter Leader says, "I have used Curlett's Thrush Remedy with perfect satisfaction, having permanently cured a very bad case of that disease with his Thrush Remedy."

Curlett's Thrush Remedy is a sure cure for Thrush and all rotting away diseases of the feet of stock. One application cures ringworm on man or beast and removes lameness of calked or cracked hoofs. Applied once a day grows them out.

Curlett's Pinworm Remedy, for a man or beast, is a compound that effectually removes these troublesome parasites, which are such a great annoyance to stock. If bowels are bound up, one or two doses will put them in proper condition.

Curlett's Remedies for sale at H. J. Brown's and B. & M. Drug Store.

For Sale.

A $21.00 Humphrey's Homeopathic Medicine Case for family use, will be sold at a bargain at John Moore's Drug Store. It is something every family ought to have. Here is a bargain for the first purchaser who applies. It will be sold at a big discount.

OLD SUBSCRIBER.

With His Communication Nearly Paralyzed the Editor.

In an Ohio town thirty years ago lived an old fellow worth a couple of hundred thousand dollars or so, who was given to writing "pieces for the papers." They were good, too, and the old fellow took a just pride in them, and often had them printed in the local papers of the town. One time he made a visit to Cincinnati, and took an extra good one along with him to see what the city papers would do with it, says the Detroit Free Press. The first city editor who read the article accepted it on the spot, and wanted to pay him for it, though he had never seen him before, and didn't know him from Adam's off ox.

"What pay do you accept for this?" inquired the editor.

"I don't know exactly," hesitated the old man, thinking it was a pretty good joke.

"Have you ever been paid for any of your writings?"

"Some," replied the applicant for literary honors, with a twinkle in his eye as a new idea came to him.

"How much, for instance?"

"Well, on one occasion," smiled the old gentleman, "I received $25,000 for ten words, not counting the signature."

The editor almost fell off his chair. "What?" he exclaimed, dropping the article he was negotiating for.

The visitor repeated his statement.

"Great Caesar man," asked the editor, "how did you get that much?"

"Simply by writing: 'Pay to the order of John Blank $25,000.'"

The old gentleman laughed vigorously, and the editor blushed and begged his pardon and invited him to dinner.

Food Adulteration.

The question of Food Adulteration is now occupying public attention more than ever before, and organizations are being formed in almost every state to prevent the sale of adulterated food or drink. The following letter voluntarily given, speaks volumes for the purity of Speer's Port Wine:

N. Y., June 3, 1884.

Mr. Alfred Speer, Passaic, N. J. Dear Sir:—The result of my investigations of your Wines convinces me that they are perfectly pure and free from foreign or deleterious substances; the best I have ever tasted, and is all that can be desired in a pure Port Wine. The Unfermented is especially nourishing, and where the action of alcohol is not required it is well adapted for invalids. I speak as a physician. Your Climax Brandy fills a want long felt in the profession, for pure brandy can only be obtained with great difficulty.

A. S. COZNER, M. D., Analytic Chemist of Food and Drink.

In Fear.

Enoch Arden, after an absence of forty years, approached his humble cottage from the rear, but the most casual observer could not fail to notice that Enoch's suspenders were fastened with shingle nails and that there was a dearth of woman's care throughout his make up.

"Ah!" he sighed as he faltered on the back door step.

He raised his hand as if to knock, hesitated, covered his face and shrank away.

"I dare not!" he exclaimed. He had suddenly reflected that he had forgotten to buy saleratus, as she directed upon the occasion of his departure long ago.

After he had gone the gibbous moon rose grandly above the tree tops just as if nothing had happened. —Detroit Tribune.

The Guesser Mutter Makes

Miss Ada Skinner won the premier prize at the recent butter-making competition in Belgium in connection with the Antwerp exhibition. There were a large number of competitors, but they were reduced to twenty-one before the final trial, which was watched by an international jury of experts, organized and presided over by the Belgian minister of agriculture. Each lady had to provide her own churn and worker, and the contest was most severe one. By her success Miss Skinner stands in the proud position of champion butter maker of the world.

The Sun's Three Motions.

The sun has three known motions: 1. An axial rotation, which is plainly shown by the appearance and disappearance of well-known spots upon his surface. The mean period of this axial motion is 23 1/3 of our days. 2. A motion around the center of gravity of the whole solar system—a motion which can only be ascertained by the use of very delicate instruments on account of his great mass, which is greater than the total of all the other bodies of the system combined. 3. A progressive motion through space in the direction of the constellation of Hercules. The rate of speed of this last named motion is not known, but it is estimated to be 150,000,000 miles per year, and some investigators even think it possible that the rate will exceed the above estimate by at least half.

Three Wants

Live in three words, health, peace, and competence."

So says the poet. Competence counts for little when one is sick, and peace is disturbed when health is upset, so that the poet rightly places health first. To have good health you must have pure blood. From the blood the system receives all its material of growth and repair. The best blood-purifier is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is world-famed and sold everywhere. It is a sovereign remedy for all diseases due to impoverished or impure blood, as consumption, bronchitis, weak lungs, scrofula, old sores, skin diseases, and kindred ailments.

Delicate diseases of either sex, however, induced, promptly, thoroughly and permanently cured. Send 10 cents in stamps for large illustrated treatise, sent securely sealed in plain envelope. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Chinese Bride.

The Chinese bride, like the English one, is richly dressed on her wedding day. "Lily-Shoot," as she is called, braids her hair with a silken cord and wears a little sprig of evergreen on her head. When the ceremony is over the wedded pair go solemnly forth to pray before the tables erected to the memory of the bridegroom's ancestors.

Good News.

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities, as Otto's Cure. Thousands of bottles of this great German remedy are being distributed free of charge, by druggists in this country, to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and all Throat and Lung diseases, giving the people proof that Otto's Cure will cure them, and that it is the grandest triumph of medical science. For sale by John Moore, Druggist. Samples free. Large bottles, 50c.

In French Schools.

In France, in recent years, much attention has been given to school hygiene. Not only is physical culture made compulsory in all public schools, but the plans of all scholastic buildings, both public and private, must be approved by the public authorities, and all schools are subjected to systematic medical inspection.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the "NEW GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN KIDNEY CURE." This new remedy is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys, back and every part of the urinary passages in male or female. It relieves retention of water and pain in passing it almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is your remedy. Sold by John Moore, Druggist Ann Arbor.

Canoes.

The Alaska Indians, in the absence of suitable birch, make their canoes of spruce bark. A measured section of bark is first peeled from the tree after it has been ringed at both ends and scored longitudinally. The ends are then doubled and sewed with roots, and a suitable gunwale and frame of willow are fitted and sewed to the bark. Two Indians can build one canoe in a day.

Itch on human, mange on horses, dogs and all stock, cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by John Moore Druggist, Ann Arbor.

Little Drops of Water.

The childish ditty beginning "Little drops of water" is very forcibly in the mind of a Boston printer. He occupies rooms just over a dealer in fancy goods, on a side street that runs from Tremont, off the Common. About two weeks ago one of the devils employed by the printer was taken with a fit while he was washing at the sink, and fell in a heap on the floor. The result was that the plush department of the down-stairs merchant was deluged, the glove boxes, photograph albums, etc., being badly warped. A storm followed, which was cleared away by the payment of nominal damages. Last week the proprietor of the printing office himself was in the office one evening, and being thirsty went to the faucet. But the water had been shut off, and no stream following the opening of the stopcock, he forgot to close it, and went home. The water was turned on before morning, and then came a repetition of the former experience. It was no use for the type-man to point to the fact that the second flood had warped the plush goods back to their original shape. The printer was moving when last heard from.

Did you ever see one of the famous waterproof Interlined Collars or Cuffs? It's very easy to tell, for they are all marked this way

They are the only Interlined Collars and Cuffs, and are made of linen, covered with waterproof "CELLULOID." They'll stand right by you day in and day out, and they are all marked this way

The first cost is the only cost, for they keep clean a long time, and when soiled you can clean them in a minute by simply wiping off with a wet cloth—that is the kind marked this way

SUPERSTITIOUS MUSICIANS.

The Producers of Sweet Sounds Have Some Fanny Prejudices.

"Well, I believe in some signs," said jolly Charlie Warner, when asked whether he, in particular, and musicians in general, were superstitious. Professor Warner in his lifetime has been connected with all the famous musical organizations of this country. He played E flat cornet with Gilmore's band, was leading violin in various symphony orchestras, besides having had a long experience with circus and minstrel bands.

"If musicians are superstitious," said he. "It is because their dealings with the show people have made them so. Take, for instance, the man with a yellow clarinet. He couldn't get a job even with a barnstorming outfit. I remember when I was a member of Forepaugh's circus band, when Tony Franks was the leader, Alexander Fischer, now solo clarinetist at McVicker's Chicago theater, was one of our men, and he joined with three yellow clarinets.

"The other members were very much alarmed at this doleful occurrence and importuned Fischer upon every occasion to get rid of those box-wood instruments. The circus performers 'got on' to the color of the clarinets, and came running to Leader Franks with alarm pictures on their countenances.

"If the old man sees those clarinets," said Franks, "we'll all get discharged," and he told Fischer to either buy instruments of another color or paint the ones he had black. Alexander, however, did not have money enough to make the requisite change and told the leader so.

"Driven almost to distraction, Franks sent and bought three handsome buffet clarinets and hid them in his music chest. He then told one of the canvas men to take Fischer's yellow clarinets and drive them in the ring bank for stakes. The man did as he was directed, and the first thing that Alexander saw that night was his clarinets' mouthpieces and all being driven into mother earth by lusty blows from a twenty-pound sledge.

"Here, what are you doing with my clarinets?" he yelled; but the brawny circus attache paid no attention to him, but kept on until nothing more could be seen of the three 'tuners' but their yellow bells. Fischer hastened to Franks with tears in his eyes, but was instantly mollified when Tony placed in his hands the new black clarinets.

"A yellow base viol is also considered the harbinger of bad luck. I recall one instance where a corpulent German engaged at a Louisville theater persisted in coming to work with a 'bull-fiddle' the color of a sunflower. Business at the house kept going from bad to worse, but the obstinate bass player continually refused to make a change in the color of his instrument.

"When the curtain went up one Friday night there were but five people in the house, and the members of the orchestra decided that something must be done with that yellow fiddle. After the show they began arguing again with the German, but he replied that it was all 'tam fool business.' This so exasperated the men that they threw the German and his yellow bass from a second story window into the street below, and he never came back."

FAST STEAM LAUNCH.

A Thames Pleasure Boat Said to Be the Swiftest Small Boat Afloat.

The Hibernia, a small boat which plies on the river Thames, England, is said by the New York Advertiser to be the fastest boat of its size afloat, and a trip in it is an experience. At ordinary speed the Hibernia behaves like an ordinary boat, cutting her way through the water and leaving a moderate impression in the form of shore waves. With a slight touch of the regulator she leaps forward, and as the speed increases she gradually sinks a little by the stern, rises a little by the head, until at a certain speed the bow rises clean out of the water, and the boat flies along at the top of it, throwing a double wall of spray, between which she flies at a speed of about twenty-nine miles an hour with the stream and twenty-six and a quarter miles against the stream.

Some idea of the power of this boat may be gathered from the following statement of dimensions and engine power: The length of the boat is 43 feet 3 inches over all; breadth, 7 feet 3 1/2 inches; draught 1 foot 4 1/2 inches, and depth of propeller below the water line 1 foot 5 inches. The boiler is of steel, locomotive pattern, with barrel five-sixteenths inch thick, quintuple riveted in longitudinal seams. The engines are two-cylinder, both high pressure, 7 1/2 inch diameter, stroke 6 inches, revolutions about 750 per minute up to 1,050 revolutions per minute when doing the highest speed. The propeller has three blades of hammered double shear steel, with carefully prepared surface and knife edge, keyed in a wrought steel boss and accurately balanced. The engines are of small dimensions, except in the wearing and hard working parts, and here the dimensions are very large, and at first glance disproportionately strong.

Every detail has been most carefully designed, and carried out with equally careful workmanship and excellent finish. The boat was built chiefly for umpire work at regattas and coaching university crews, and has run over 3,300 miles without the touch of a spanner.

Plaintive.

"A human life," said the sentimental young man, "is a poem—tragic, comic, sentimental, as the case may be."

"Yes," sighed Miss Passeigh, "and so many of us are rejected manuscripts."

SHIFTED RINGS.

And Almost Broke a Pawnbroker's Heart.

Another clever trick that came near being successful was that of a man who went into a pawnbroker's with a magnificent ruby ring.

"How much do you want?" asked the pawnbroker.

"What will you give?" answered the customer.

After examining the ring the pawnbroker offered $300, which, considering the jewel was a gem, wasn't too much.

"No," answered the man, "I must have $400."

This the pawnbroker refused, and the man replaced the ring on his finger. Just as he reached the door he turned back, saying: "Oh, very well; I only really needed $300." He handed back the ring, and the pawnbroker counted out six crisp fifty-dollar bills. He was just on the point of handing them over when a clever assistant whispered: "Examine that ring."

The pawnbroker took the hint, and upon examination found the ring to be in every respect the same as the one previously inspected, except the ruby, which was mere glass. The setting and the diamonds were genuine.

During the moment, for it wasn't longer, that the man had turned he had substituted one ring for the other. The pawnbroker, not satisfied with having escaped a serious loss, had the man arrested. When searched he had three similar rings in his possession. The judge, however, had no sympathy with the prosecutor, and after stating that there was no evidence against the prisoner in such a case, discharged him.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

Forty-Five Years of a Man's Life a Dull Blank.

A Portland narrator has a story to tell of scientific as well as popular interest, bearing upon the little understood machinery of that most wondrous organism, the human brain. "In the village of Luba," says the Portland raconteur, "lives Clem Wallis. When he was a boy about 15 years of age he went out to his father's pasture to catch a frisky colt. As he was about to place a halter around his neck the colt kicked him in the head, making a ragged wound. The wound healed, but in soon became apparent the man was slightly demented, and his hallucination took peculiar forms. He would travel up and down the bay on the steamboats, claiming proprietorship of the latter and refusing to pay fare. The steamboat men humored him, as he was considered daft, and he was the butt of the small boys' jokes and banter. He has lived in the village since and is now 60 years of age. About six weeks ago the local physicians determined to experiment on his case. They found that a portion of his skull had been forced into contact with the brain by the blow, and by a skillful operation removed the pressure. Strange to say, the man has now recovered his reason, and the first question he asked when he recovered from the operation was, 'Did the colt get away?' Wallis is perfectly sane now, but forty-five years of his life are a perfect blank to him."

ON A CHERRY STONE.

Gesa Berger, the actor and newspaper man, has a picture in calligraphy that has a remarkable history. It is in size 30x42 inches, and is the work of Joseph Loew the most noted counterfeiter that the Austrian government ever knew. When an application is made for a pardon in Austria the red tape policy of that country compels the applicant to address the emperor with all his titles. Emperor Ferdinand had about forty titles.

Loew engraved all of these names, together with his petition for a pardon, on a cherry stone. The letters were so fine that it required the aid of a powerful microscope to decipher them. One day when the emperor visited the prison Loew in person presented a cherry stone to the emperor and told him what it contained. The emperor made an examination, and was so amazed at the work that he gave him an unconditional pardon.

Not only did he pardon him, but gave him a position as a detective to trail down counterfeiters. Loew was a well-informed man in all the arts and rascalities of counterfeiters, and in less than two years after his pardon he ran to the earth almost every counterfeiter in Austria, and died a few years ago covered with detective honors. The picture, although made fifty years ago, is in a remarkable state of preservation.

Seeing What They Do Not See.

A firm whose place of business is in the Bowery has devised a novel scheme of attracting people to its show windows. The window panes are large and costly. On the inside of the glass a number of lines of green paint have been put on, so that they represent a broken window plate. Every detail has been so cleverly perfected that the deception is complete, and the curiosity of the wayfarers is so excited that they step to the window and touch it, only to find that it is a mockery.

A Long-Felt Want.

A druggist's clerk in Boston has succeeded in making a medicine which will deprive a cat of its voice without injuring it in the least. Seven large Tom cats were experimented upon last week. They sat on the peak of a roof and made frightful faces at each other for four hours without uttering a sound.
